The Parson Ponders

Lloyd L. King

Parson Ponders is thinking strongly about starting a Society For The Prevention of Cruelty To United States Senators. If there was ever a time when Senators need sympathy and less kicking around, it is now. Take the case of Senator Blank? Why not? Here goes!

You will remember Brother Blank when he was running for the nomination. That was a fine talk he made that day. He kissed all the sticky babies; shook the hands of all the old citizens. Right there, over the loud-speaker, he called a spade a spade. His opponents were backed by the vested interests who had spoiled Mississippi and the Nation for years. With his nomination and election, by thunder, this was going to stop. There would be economy; less taxes; more honesty in government! Bigger and better pensions to the aged and veterans. By all the eternal, your town was going to have a post-office building worthy of the sterling character of its citizens! Mr. Average Citizen went to the polls and elected Our Hero!

Senator Blank has been up in Washington for some time. Mr. Average Citizen is now good and mad! He's saying that Blank is a blankety-blank as far as being a keeper of election promises. Just you wait until next election; out will go Brother Blank. Next time, we will send a man to Washington who WILL do what we send him there to do.

What Mr. A. Citizen does not understand is what the Senator has been up against. Blank, not a bad fellow at all, is a man who has to face what every senator has to face. Our political system makes it necessary for a candidate to make promises which he knows he can perform only in part. It, at the hustings, he told the simple truth, Mr. Average Citizen would not vote for him.

The Senator had political debts to pay. People spent good money on his election campaign; others spent time and talent in working for his election. Both expect something in return; the former, certain bills to be passed, their interests to be safe-guarded; the latter, with but little expectations, wanted jobs and appointments. Brother Blank had to fire many in order to appoint many friends and workers. This makes enemies back home. In order to square those who backed him financially, he had to draw up and get passed a lot of local bills. To get his bills passed, he had to back the same kind of bills for his fellow senators. More projects means more money; more money means higher taxes. Higher taxes means more howls from Mr. A. Citizen.

Then Brother Blank has to satisfy the National Administration. The Administration has pet projects; sectional obligations; party prestige to preserve. Many matters of this sort will cost a lot of money; much of them will hurt Senator Blank's people back home. If Blank plays wi / he Administration, "votes right", his projects will be favored, and his appointments approved. If he does not play ball with the Brethren of the Boodle, his projects will die in the committee-room; his appointees won't get to first base. Mr. Average Citizen will either froth at the mouth because taxes went higher with each Administration preject, or will threaten Blank with political oblivion because Blank could not get certain things for his people back home.

PRODUCTION GROUP MEETS QUOTA

Mrs. Leslie Moser, chairman of the Production, for American Red Cross, stated today that her group had met their quota for the past six months, in this county. The garments have been finished, and shipped to headquarters. Belmont supplied 20 sweaters, and 30 skirts. Paden, 20 sweaters, and 5 girls dresse. Tishomingo, 2 sweaters and 23 boys shirts. Other rural districts supplied 7 dresses, 21 girls skirts and 35 other garments. Iuka, meeting its quota, supplied 40 sweaters, 25 boys overalls, 30 girls dresses, 15 rompers, 20 convalescent robes, 20 girls skirts, 4 mittens, and 4 mufflers. The grand total of this sewing for Red Cross is 363 garments. Mrs. Moser has assisted with organizing two new units, at Belmont and Golden, and made 94 calls in the interest of Red Cross. She expressed deep appreciation for the assistance of all who had a share in this worthy work.

Don't forget the Pressure Group, each with highly paid Washington sharp-shooters. The farmers, the vets, the unions, the pension-grabbers. The sharp-shooters visits the Senator's offices. The various groups flood Blank with letters and telegrams. If he has the courage to tell them to go take a jump in the lake, when they want something unreasonable and expensive; they threaten him. If he gives in, these pressure groups ask for more. Mr. Average Citizen, not knowing this, burns the poor Senator to a crisp.

If you could read Senator Blank's mail and telegrams for any given twenty-four hours, you would see his constituents making a glorified errand boy out of the man they elected. They ask him to do things he cannot do; they ask him to do more than any man could possibly do. If he asks for an X-Card, to give him enough gas to run a small part of their errands, he is criticized without mercy. If he happens to be at a banquet (where he had to go to make necessary contacts, or make a talk he did not want to make!) and the newspaper photographer took a shot which indicates booze was served, (tho the Senator never took a drink in his life!) Mr. Average Citizen, seeing the published picture, condemns the Senator without a hearing or request for explanation.

If Mr. Average Citizen goes to Washington with his wife, calls at the Senate Office Building to see Blank, and Blank happens to be out getting some needed exercise playing golf; Mr. A. Citizen knows he was mistaken in voting for the brother!

Who says there is no hell? Blank knows different! And when next election rolls around, Blank goes out, another Blank makes the same promises, gets elected, is made the same kind of goat. Who says perpetual motion is impossible?

Throw your scrap into the fight.

EASTLAND GOT RESULTS IN SENATE

Jim Eastland is making campaign history in his race for United States Senator just as he has made history during his 3-month term in the United States Senate immediately following the death of Hon. Pat Harrison.

Refusing to sit back on the wornout Senate custom that a young Senator should be only seen and never heard, Jim Eastland went to work and he got results.

No one expected Senator Eastland to accomplish a great deal for his state or nation during this interim period of 88-days, nor did he, himself dream of events destined to break about him, nor his part in them.

However, into the background of Jim Eastland had gone a great deal of preparation, study on the problems of Mississippi, of the South and the nation, coupled with experience of five-sessions in the Mississippi Legislature representing his home county of Scott.

Events threw Jim Eastland across the national stage of action and brought to him a degree of national recognition rarely accorded any

ANNUAL CAMP MEETING IN SESSION

Pentecostal Church Holds Meeting Near Pickwick

About twelve miles from Iuka, on Highway 25, the Pentecostal Church is holding its annual Camp Meeting with a large number enrolled. Rev. A. D. Gurley is district superintendent and Rev. R. G. Jackson is the local pastor.

Preachers from several states are delivering messages to the session, which will run through the 16th. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend this meeting.

WANT TO RAISE R.R. RATES

The Public Service Commission has been in session this week and heard a number of cases, most of them asking for permission to raise passenger rates on train and Pullman service. It seems almost certain that rates will be raised.

man of similar age and experience. His prompt and successful fight to prevent the dumping of government-owned stocks of cotton on the market in competition with farmer-owned crops prevented a break in the cotton market last year of $20.00 a bale.

Jim Eastland was credited by the Press for bringing $50,000,000 to Mississippi last Fall.

His fight to remove the threat of a ceiling price of cottonseed was successful. Cottonseed immediately rose from thirty to fifty dollars a ton.

He fought to remove the $25.00 per thousand price ceiling on pine timber. Jim Eastland locked horns with Leon Henderson. The ceiling went back to the prevailing price of $31.00 per thousand. Every saw-mill and timber man in Mississippi knows that Jim Eastland got results.

He introduced an amendment to the revenue bill to impose tariff duties on coconut oil and other fat which would have guaranteed $60.00 per ton for cottonseed as a permanent "floor", year in and year out, and the price of livestock would never decline below present value. This amendment lost by only two votes in the Senate.

The above is a short summary of the phenomenal record of Jim Eastland during his 88-days in the United States Senate. He went to work—he got results.

Today Jim Eastland asks the people of Mississippi to elect him to a full term in the highest legislative body in the Nation. If elected, he promises not to tolerate the too-little and too-late policies that have characterized present politicians in Washington.

A brief summary of Jim Eastland's platform follows:

"He will insist that we, above everything else, speedily equip with sufficient weapons our forces on the land, the sea and in the air.

"He will stand for a continuation of the poll tax as being the surest safeguard of white democratic supremacy.

"He will not use the power of the office of United States Senator to attempt to dictate to the voters of Mississippi.

"He will stand for the right of labor to protect itself from unscrupulous employers and from the greed of labor racketeers.

"He will stand for curbing the activities of unnecessary and non-essential government bureaus which tend to wreck and ruin the small business man and place unnecessary burdens upon the citizens of this nation.

"He will fight for legislation which will guarantee a confirmation pay for service men for at least 6-months after their discharge so that they may find employment and resume their places in our social and economic life without undue hardship.

"He will fight to re-gain our export market for cotton by means of the Eastland-Bankhead gateway through the tariff wall.

"He stands for equal federal per capita distribution of old age pensions.

"He stands for federal aid for the public schools of Mississippi, with full local control under the plan sponsored by the late Senator Pat Harrison.

"He stands for a profitable price for our cotton, cottonseed, fats, dairy and agricultural products and for livestock. Nothing less than a fair parity. And a "floor" under the price of cottonseed.

"He stands for an increase in cotton acreage allotments to eliminate discriminations against small cotton farmers."

BURNSVILLE CEMETERY CLEANING

On Friday, August 21st, everyone is invited to the Burnsville cemetery for the annual cleaning. Bring your lunch and tools.

PROGRAM OF UNUSUAL INTEREST FOR ROTARIANS

At the meeting of Rotary yesterday, the program was in the form of a picture show, presented by representatives of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, showing the use of the telephone, and the position the system holds in the war effort. This very interesting program was under the direction of Mr. L. C. Parker, who was accompanied by Mr. C. W. Galbraith, district manager, of Corinth, and Bill Henry.

Rotarians were hearty in their praise for the feature, and for the system, which is so vital to national unity and action during this emergency. Next week, the program will be of equal interest, when Mr. Ralph Gritz will speak on Russia. Mr. Gritz is a native of that country, and understands the people and their reactions during these difficult days, in a manner that will enable him to enlighten his hearers with his discussion.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

One of the most terrible accidents ever to occur in Mississippi was at Crystal Springs about noon on Wednesday of last week. A Greyhound Bus traveling north from New Orleans to Memphis and loaded beyond its seating capacity was smashed by a fast special train on the Illinois entral line, loaded with soldiers and traveling south to New Orleans. It seems that the bus had waited for a freight train to cross and get out of the way and believing the crossing was clear, started the bus just in time to get on the double track as the passenger train smashed into the bus, throwing it some distance and killing 12 passengers, and two bystanders who were trying to warn the bus driver of the impending danger. At least 39 others were hurt, some seriously. All of the ambulances, doctors and nurses available were called into service and the injured rushed to hospitals in Jackson.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Requisition forms for high school textbooks have been received from the state office and are being completed by school principals. These books should be received soon after the middle of this month.

Conferences with the rural school teachers of the county were held last week at Burnsville, Belmont, Tishomingo, Midway and Iuka. The attendance at these meetings was very good and much interest in the school program for the session was manifested. With the exception of a very few high school vacancies, all the teaching positions are filled. A minimum of teacher-turnover is expected this year.

Keep 'em firing—with junk!

Fifty nine years ago this issue, the young man, dressed only in his "sorong" who made his appearance in this vicinity, was not the New Year coming in, displacing the familiar old man with a long beard, whom we know as Father Time, but the very first copy of The Vidette. That young man, as innocent as the New Year, and as hopeful, came in with a smile, a promise of a bright future, and a perfect assurance of permanence, that no doubt in some of these past years, has put his Master to a severe test to maintain. Never-the-less, with this issue, The Vidette is celebrating fifty nine years of continuous service to Tishomingo County.

J. W. Jourdan and E. S. Candler were the first editors and publishers, and since that time, there have been only five changes in ownership, which is something to be proud of. Reviewing old copies of The Vidette, one is impressed with its consistent attempt to give the community the very best in news, local and national. A community can be measured by its newspaper, and the prosperity, our years, and those years when business was retarding to a marked degree, can be readily ascertained from the files of The Vidette. Your new owner, a former resident of Iuka, has moved here to stay, and fully expects to raise the standard of your newspaper to the highest level yet attained, both in news service and in advertising. Such ambition needs the whole-hearted support of the business men, as well as every reader in the community. And with the county as a whole feeling that The Vidette belongs to them, is here to serve them, and can be utilized not only to publicize every move for the betterment of the community, but in the interest of better merchandising, and building business, every ambition for Iuka, and Tishomingo County can become a reality.

Congratulations to you, citizens of Tishomingo County, for your maintenance of your paper for fifty nine years.

SCRAP ALL DESCRIPTIONS MUST BE COLLECTED NOW

Far Behind—Your Scrap Needed Now!

What would France do is she had another chance?

If your son, brother, or friend was a prisoner and slave of those slant eyed Japs, would you try to help set him free?

Lots of our boys are in this fix. We can and must set them free as well as to make our present freedom more secure.

EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES are necessary to our fighting men as they can't fight with bare hands against guns.

When the snow, ice, mud and cold of winter set in, our steel mills and rubber plants will be idle unless we pile up the scrap and rubber for this time. If o ur mills are idle this winter we will lose this fight and all be slaves. Will every one of you in town and country who read this letter stop putting off and search the whole place for every bit of metal and rubber that you can find and have it ready in a pile for this collection?

The South must supply a large amount of this scrap, and the North, through the years, has sold their scrap closer than we have.

I have been on six farms within the last few days that said they had collected and sold their scrap but after another close going over we found 150-600 pounds of scrap. We have all got more if we will go after it and we must go after it.

Either collect your scrap and sell it, or collect it and have it ready for the WPA trucks so that the truck and men will lose the least amount of time.

Collect this all up in one pile so that whatever collection system is used, no time will be lost in having to lok it up when (Continued on page 8)

Washington, D. C.

WAGE STABILIZATION

You can write it down that the President will use his executive powers to keep wages in check rather than ask congress for any new legislation dealing with wage stabilization.

There are two reasons for this:

(1) Wage control legislation would be sure to stir up another bitter congressional controversy, as bad or worse than the brawl over farm parity prices. It might even require months to get both houses to agree on a bill satisfactory to the administration.

(2) The President believes that the policy proposed by the War Labor board's recent steel wage decision—limiting wage increases to 15 per cent over scales prevailing on January 1, 1941—plus additional rationing of consumer goods, will be sufficient for the time being to brake inflation threats to the working man's pocketbook.

Inside fact is that the War Labor board is contemplating only one further step in its wage stabilization program, and this is not so much an anti-inflation move as a concession to certain labor groups and a contribution to the prosecution of the war.

Wages in certain industries, including shipyards and tool-and-die plants, are above the 15 per cent increase ceiling set by the board. This raises the question—shall wages in these industries be brought down to conform with scales in other war plants which pay below the ceiling?

The answer is—there will be no reduction in wages. The President has decided definitely against this.

Instead, to prevent piracy and migration of workers away from vital war plants paying below the 15 per cent ceiling, the War Labor board is planning to amend its wage policy to permit the payment of "premium wages" (above the ceiling) in such plants.

Note: One industry sure to be allowed "premium wages" is aircraft, which has lost many workmen, by piracy and migration, to higher-paying shipyards.

NEW ARMY FOOD

To save shipping space, the army is sending food overseas in dehydrated form. Experiments in taste-preserving dehydration have been carried out and tested on a group of army cooks.

At the Chicago depot of the quartermaster corps, the cooks sat down to a meal of dehydrated foods, principal item on the menu being scrambled eggs made by adding water to a yellow powder.

It has been discovered that one pound of dehydrated turnips will serve 28 persons, after water is added.

BEHIND THE AIR CORPS

This war will be won or lost in the air. But despite that fact the air forces will win or lose the war on the ground. In other words, the success of operations in the air depends on ground crews, who outnumber air crews ten to one.

Featured in the headlines and the newsreels every day are the pilots and machine gunners. But the unsung heroes of this war are the ground crews.

Real fact is that it takes only one man to pilot a fighter plane, but it takes eight or ten maintenance men to keep it in shape to fight. A four-engine bomber requires a flying crew of nine, and a maintenance crew of 25. Often a ground crew will be assigned exclusively to one plane, and will become attached to it with the affection a stable boy has for a race horse.

Chief of Staff General Marshall has revealed that the overall strength of the air force is expected to reach 1,000,000 men by the end of 1942, and 2,000,000 by the end of next year. If the war is won in 1943, it will be won by these 2,000,000 men. But 1,800,000 of them will be "fighting" on the ground.

They are the overall-boys, the grease monkeys, the men who spend all day overhauling an engine which has been flying all night, the men who know what heat is like in the deserts of Africa, because they don't set up in the air for relief, as do the pilots.

OVERSEAS CANDY

The quartermaster corps is in the market to buy 2,500,000 pounds of hard candy: peppermint, orange, lemon, lime, anise, and cherry.

The hard candy is being bought for overseas troops, as part of the regular field ration. Official explanation is that candy is an excellent source of energy.

AFRICAN CAMEL CREWS

They are the mechanics, the armorers, the metal workers, the welders—yes, and they are the pick and shovel men who build the landing fields in foreign posts, and repair them after enemy bombers have passed over. They are also the cooks and the mess boys, the pay masters, the doctors, and the truck drivers. In short, they are the men who perform every duty that keeps a plane in the air.

They do everything except replace the African camels.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Red Communiques Admit Grave Peril As New Flank Attacks Harass Nazis; CIO President Proposes Peace Plan; Cargo Planes Get Qualified Approval

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

One of Uncle Sam's newest weapons for the armored force, the M4 tank, is shown on special demonstration at Fort Knox, Ky. Here the 28-ton tank plows through a barn to demonstrate its ability to negotiate obstacles. It has a 75-mm. cannon in a revolving turret and a completely welded hull.

RUSSIA: Flank Tactics

While Moscow's official radio was telling the Germans in their own language that the United States and Russia had come to their agreement on the creation of the second front in 1942, Soviet troops were busy with flank attacks on the Nazi forces all along the 300-mile Don river front.

German drives had pushed far beyond Rostov, toward the Caucasus, but the Russians were claiming that their new flank attacks were netting a terrific toll of Nazi tanks and men. At Voronezh, northern anchor of the Don front, the Russians had been holding out doggedly while their columns were being pushed back in the other sectors.

If Germans in the homeland had been listening to the Russian radio tell of the coming of the second front, they heard too that their country would be confronted with 15,000,000 men, 85,000 tanks, 100,000 guns, and 50,000 airplanes. But this was brave talk for even the official Russian communiques admitted the gravity of their nation's peril. Most feared was a Nazi break-through in the center of the Caucasus front. This would more than likely mean that the so-far orderly Russian retreat would stand a chance of being turned into a rout—a result that would be disastrous for the cause of the United Nations.

Soviet officials had other troubles, too. There were reports out of the Don valley that large rings of fifth columnists had been uncovered. Many of the spies in these groups were quickly executed as they were caught trying to co-operate with Nazi parachute troops who were dropping behind the Soviet main lines. Meanwhile, through England and the United States the cry was getting louder for military officials to establish the much-discussed second front. From widely diversified groups and sections came the urging. There was considerable agitation for this move for many people feared the United Nations would suffer a most severe blow should Russia fail to last the year on the European side of the Ural mountains.

ALEUTIANS: 10,000 Japs

Breaking an official silence, a navy spokesman officially estimated that the Japanese have succeeded in putting "not more than 10,000" troops into the Aleutian island area and at the same time announced there was no evidence that the Pribilof island to the north had been occupied by the Nipponese.

The statement came in answer to a report made by the Alaskan delegate to congress, Anthony J. Dimond, that between 20,000 and 25,000 Jap troops were on the Aleutians and that the Pribilofs had been occupied.

Questioned about Dimond's reports, the spokesman said that "we believe that not more than 10,000 Japanese are in the Aleutians, probably one-half ashore and one-half afloat."

The Japs gained a foothold in the Aleutians on June 3. So far, the navy has confirmed the presence of Japs only on three of the islands: Attu, Agattu and Kiska, at the western end of the chain. The Pribilofs are in the Bering sea, and consist of four islands: St. Paul, St. George, Otter and Walrus. The latter two are small and uninhabited.

PETRILLO SAYS 'NO': To Davis Plea

"I cannot grant your request to cancel the notice that the AFM members will not play for transcriptions or records."

With those words, James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, refused a request by Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, to rescind his ban against the making of new phonograph records or radio transcriptions for commercial purposes by union members.

PEACE PLAN: For CIO-AFL

A proposal that the Congress for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor "initiate discussions regarding possible establishment of organic unity" was made by Philip Murray, CIO president, in a letter to William Green, AFL chief.

Peace proposals between the two organizations have been discussed for several months as a step toward speeding war production. In his letter, Murray proposed the establishment of a committee composed of representatives of both organizations, with an impartial arbitrator, to settle all jurisdictional disputes between the two groups.

Murray named a committee of three to discuss the problem of "organic unity." He named himself, R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, and Julius Emspak, secretary of the United Radio and Machine Worker union.

BEEF: Two Varieties

In butchershops from the Bronx to Boise there was considerable beefing about beef. Beef was high. Beef was hard to get. What was the trouble?

President Roosevelt told his press conference there were three main reasons for the current meat shortage: (1) this is the off-season for beef; (2) people have more purchasing power now, with which to buy better cuts of meat; and (3) around 4,000,000 men under arms are now eating much more meat than they ever ate on their own dinner tables at home.

Meanwhile Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard reported that there may be some relief in the temporary beef shortage this fall when more cattle are brought in off the range. But other sources looked with disfavor on what effect this would have on the normal spring beef market.

GIANT PLANES: From Shipyards

There was a new answer to the shipping problems of the United Nations looming on the horizon. It was an unofficial agreement from the War Production board to give the "green light" to plans of Henry K. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder, to build giant cargo and troop transport planes in nine of the nation's shipyards.

First hitch to be overcome in the suggested set-up was the granting of authority by military officials to release engines and other parts needed in the building of aircraft for the army and navy.

Donald Nelson, WPB head, appeared to be willing to proceed with the plan if these materials could be obtained without hampering the war effort. This came as a surprise as WPB first voiced skepticism on the plan.

Kaiser's idea calls for the conversion of three shipyards on each coast to produce 5,000 flying boats a year. The ships would be of 100-ton design fashioned after the 70-ton flying boat Mars, now in active use. Support of Glenn Martin, Baltimore bomber builder, Tom Girdler, steel magnate and all others with knowledge of production problems of plane building would be sought, according to Kaiser.

After Kaiser had discussed the idea with Nelson he appeared before a senate military subcommittee to testify and Nelson later issued a statement stating that the WPB was willing to "co-operate to the limit in any practical way for increasing the effectiveness of our transportation systems."

At the same time, James H. R. Cromwell, former U. S. minister to Canada, was proposing that Kaiser be made "czar of air transportation." He said: "If we can't get supplies to the fronts by air transport we are going to lose this war."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Onion juice should be added after a mixture is cooked rather than cooked with the mixture if the best flavor is desired.

Sweet corn, green string beans, green peas, pumpkins, squash, celery and greens are best vegetables for home drying. Apples and berries are adapted to drying in the home among fruits.

To keep bread in the best condition, store it when cool in a clean, well-aired, covered, ventilated container and keep in a cool, dry place.

That fish may be sealed much easier by first dipping them into boiling water for a minute.

Food bought in season will help to keep that part of the budget within reason.

To protect garden shoes keep them well greased or oiled with neat's-foot oil or cod or castor oil, tallow or wool grease. Let dry in a warm place.

Rancidity in lard can be prevented by keeping it away from air, light and warmth. Store in tin or crockery containers in a cool place.

Sheets and other linens should be ironed in different folds each week so the creases will not break through.

ISAAC PRACTICES PEACE

GENESIS TEXT—Genesis 26:18-31.
OLD TESTAMENT—Blessed are the peace-
makers: for they shall be called the children of God.—Matthew 5:9.

To talk peace in a warring world
is almost futile, and so it is, but it is the peace of God. In a world largely dominated by the philosophy that might makes right,
and in which men demand what they want by their rights, taking them even
by lawless and violent methods, it is increasingly difficult to proclaim truth that patience and meekness are not weakness, but are Christian virtues worth emulating.
The story of Isaac is interesting from beginning to end. He was an ordinary man, one of the common people. He had come through various experiences of victory and defeat before the time of our lesson.
Facing a famine, and apparently trusting God at the moment,
he had gone down from the promised land to the country of the Philistines, there redigging the wells
which his father Abraham had
dug. The result was that he prospered. Ere long, however, envy on the part of his enemies taught Isaac

Peace in This World Is Tem- porary (vv. 18-21).

Isaac had prospered, but he was not out of the promised land, and while he was in the land of Philistines
he could expect no permanent peace.

We are in the world. We long for peace, and would throw all our influence and service into the cause
of bringing a righteous peace to the turbled peoples of the world. But it is not to be misled by that desire to the support of unscriptural and impossible peace programs. This world is a sinful world, and as long
as that is true, there will be strife
and war, that men (as James puts
it) may have the gains thereof for their own pleasure.

Our business in such a world is to preach the gospel of grace, winning men to Christ, that they may become men of good-will. Isaac was such a man, willing to yield even that seemed to be his right, rather than cause contention.

Undoubtedly there are times when we must defend his name and his possessions, but all too often those who "stand for their rights" have wrecked homes, churches, and nations, and have gained nothing
but an empty victory.

The peace of this world is temporary. Is there then no real abiding peace and joy?

II. Abiding Joy Is Found in Fel- lowship With God (vv. 22-25).

When Isaac came up into Canaan,
the land which God had promised
him, he found real peace and
an abiding joy in renewed fellowship with God. Even so, the Christian man and woman who will step
out of a spiritually destructive fellowship with the ungodly world and come over wholeheartedly into the spiritual Canaan of full consecration
and separated living, will find
true peace and satisfying communion with God.

Our thought, however, has wider
application—one much needed today.
There is to come a time when this world will have true and abiding
peace which shall cover the earth
like the waters cover the sea. When the One who has the right to reign,
the Lord Jesus Christ, returns to take His throne, then, and not before, will there be true peace.

We await that day with longing
which grows more intense as men
grow more violent in their hatred.
But is there nothing more we can do? Yes, we learn from Isaac's experience that—

III. A Godly Life Is a Testimony to Warring Men (vv. 26-31).

These men were wicked men,
even speaking falsehood in their claim of friendship toward Isaac (v.
26). Now that they perceived that God was continually blessing Isaac
in spite of their repeated injustice
toward him, they decided that it could be well to make a covenant of friendship with him. Even those who follow the way of war and aggression cannot deny the effectiveness of true Christian testimony.

Observe also that by his patience
and kindness Isaac ultimately made friends out of his enemies. "It is better to turn enemies into friends
than to beat them, and have them
enemies still." And so this man with the patient, self-sacrificing spirit brought peace not only to himself, but to those about him, because he believed and trusted God.
When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies
to be at peace with him" (Prov.
6:7).

What can we do to bring peace
today? We can pray that God will help America and her allied nations
to turn to Him in repentance of sin,
and in a desire to so honor His name
that He may be able to give His blessing. When Hezekiah spread before the Lord the threat of his enemy, God undertook for him in a mighty way, because his heart was right toward God (Isa. 37:14-20).
Will he do less for us?

Lynn Says:

Household Tips: Are you wondering how those pots and pans
are going to last for the duration?
Since the production for these has been sharply curtailed, you will want hints on keeping them in
"cooking" condition:

Aluminum: Leaving food in aluminum longer than necessary,
soaking the utensil before washing and alkalies such as soda spell short wear for this metal. If you want to clean aluminum without endangering its wearing period, use very fine scouring powder or steel wool for discolora-tions. Or, cooking acid foods like tomatoes, rhubarb and apples will do the trick.

Iron: Wash in hot, sudsy water. If this doesn't clean it, use hot soda and water. If rusted,
use scouring powder or steel wool. Always dry completely and wrap in paper for storage.

Tin: This metal does not keep shiny indefinitely. Remove burnt foods by boiling in soda and water for five minutes, never longer. Rinse and dry thoroughly.

Prepare butterscotch pudding as directed on package. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Line bottom and sides of mold or loaf pan with waxed paper. Arrange layer of lady fingers on bottom and sides of mold.
Turn 1/2 of pudding into mold; cover with layer of lady fingers. Turn remaining pudding into mold and place another layer of lady fingers
on top. Chill 12 to 24 hours in refrigerator. Unmold.

Bermuda Appetizers.

Chop Bermuda onion finely, marinate and drain. Spread on crisp crackers and cover with slice of Liederkrantz cheese. Thin slices of rye, pumpernickel or whole wheat bread which have been buttered
may be used instead.

You can do all sorts of things with cheese as a last course and serve it

in place of fruit.
Camembert has an affinity for

crackers served
with a bowl full
of summer's lus-
cious fruits or,

made equivalents of Roquefort and

Boston brown bread tossed with after dinner coffee in place of dessert.
Serve a cheese tray for refreshments and spare the sugar ration.

This spicy apple sauce cake requires only 1/2 cup of sugar.

*Apple Sauce Cake.

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup molasses
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 cup apple sauce
1/2 cup raisins

Cream shortening; add sugar
slowly, beating in well. Add well-beaten eggs and beat until well blended; add molasses. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with apple sauce to first mixture. Add raisins. Bake in greased square baking pan in moderate oven
at 350 degrees about 1 hour. Frost with:

Raisin Nut Frosting.

1 egg white
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup chopped seeded raisins
1/2 cup chopped pecan meats
Beat egg white until stiff. Add syrup slowly, beating constantly.
Add vanilla and half of raisins and nuts. Spread between layers and on top of cake. Sprinkle with remaining raisins and nuts.

*Lemon Smothered Chops. (Serves 6 to 8)

2 pounds pork or lamb chops,
cut thick
Put in a large covered skillet or chicken fryer. Cover top of meat closely with:
2 unpeeled lemons, sliced
1 large sweet onion, cut in rings
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 teaspoon salt
Pour over all:
2 cups tomato juice

Dot with flakes of fat cut from meat or butter. Cover and cook on top of stove 1 1/2 hours or until done.
Lift onto a hot platter, being careful
to keep lemon, onion and pepper slices in place. The meat cooked
this way acquires a chicken texture
and color, while the lemon, onion,
pepper and tomato make a delicious
sauce accompaniment.

Farm Building Must Have Board's Permit

WPB Recognizes Need of Limited Construction

County war boards of the United States department of agriculture
will co-operate with the War Production board in handling applications for authorization to begin construction work on farms, the War
Production board announced.

The United States department of agriculture is co-operating with the WPB in formulating policies under which county and state U. S. D. A. war boards will make recommendations covering farm residential and agricultural construction. Projects recommended by these boards will be forwarded to the War Production
board for final approval.

Order L-41, issued by the War Production board, prohibits the start of unauthorized construction projects which use materials, labor and construction equipment needed in the war effort, and places all new publicly and privately financed construction under rigid control.

The War Production board
recognizes that a limited amount
of construction by farmers is necessary to maintain and increase production to meet agricultural goals and that certain
off-farm facilities are also needed for the production, handling and processing of farm products.

A farmer planning to begin construction which needs authorization
should consult his county United States department of agriculture
war board.

All farm projects, including residential, agricultural, and off-the-farm construction, such as warehouses, processing plants, creameries, etc., will be considered first
by the United States department of agriculture county war boards. Applications for projects recommended by these boards will be sent to state war boards and then to the department of agriculture.

The department will consider the recommendations and send to the War Production board for final approval those which are deemed essential.

So far as residential construction
is concerned, farm dwellings are covered by the same regulations
as other residential construction. If farm residential construction, during any 12-month period, costs less than $500 per farm, no authorization is necessary. Likewise no authorization is required for construction begun prior to April 9, 1942;
for maintenance and repairs; or
for reconstruction or restoration of farm residential construction damaged or destroyed after December 31, 1941, by fire, flood, tornado,
earthquake, act of God or by public
enemy.

Take Care of Your Milking Machine as Parts Are Hard to Get

The milking machine is essential to wartime agricultural production,
and must be cared for properly because shortages of rubber and metal
will not permit normal replacement.

The following rules for the care of rubber milking machine parts are suggested:

Use two separate sets of liners,
alternating them each week. Rubber needs "rest."

Keep liners tight in teat-cup shells.

Keep milker rubber parts clean
and free from all butterfat, which causes deterioration.

Rubber cuts easily when wet. Use care in assembly and disassembly
of units.

Do not use chlorine solutions of a strength exceeding 250 parts per million, for excessively strong chlorine solutions will injure rubber.

If lye is used in the care of rubber parts, be sure that it does not remain in contact with the metal parts.

Battling Soil Erosion

Legume crops such as alfalfa, clover, soybeans and lespedeza are being used with increasing success as
"heavy artillery" in fighting the battle of soil erosion. Legumes keep the topsoil in place, deposit nitrogen in soil and provide it with needed supplies of organic matter. To do their best work, legumes should be reinforced by intelligent soil management such as the use of fertilizers high in phosphorus and potash.

PRIVATE PURKEY IN LOVE AND WAR

(Harriet Joins Up With the WAACS)

Dear Oscar—

Don't look now, but I'm in the WAAC. If you're in an army who not me? I got to thinking of you doing your bit as a soldier and I thought I would feel better about it if I was following your example. Well, anyhow, here I am out in Des Moines
and already I appreciate all those complaints you used to make about your feet. Right now the girls have made the army reverse the usual
routine and give us a light noon meal and the heavy one at night. At noon we just get salads and drug store quickies but I wasn't here
three days before I saw it was all a mistake as the work gives me an appetite like a horse. And I don't mean an ordinary horse.

Mess Sergeant Harry Decker says we will all be shouting for big meals at noon in no time and I admit he is right. I guess the girls all figured that they must take care of their figures but this was so much wasted worry. This army routine
will take care of their shapes.

The army has figured it out that a girl soldier needs 2,700 calories a day to a man's 4,000. But it must have reached that conclusion after watching you eat. It will take 4,000
a day to keep me at normal weight.
For years I have been nipping at lettuce leaves to keep my weight down
but in the WAAC I can see my worries are over. They can pass me
mashed potatoes from now on.

A man is boss of us. He is Colonel Faith, which is a pretty name for a colonel and he will have to live up to it if he is to get any results from this army. He is reputed to be a strict disciplinarian but the news should never have leaked out.
You know how a woman reacts when she hears that any man who is to tell her what to do is a disciplinari-
an. He has two strikes on him
from the start.

Quite a few army men are out here in general charge. They try to be stern but they look pretty uncomfortable. I can tell they would rather be anywhere but here. Susie Graham says they must have been detailed here as punishment for some army crime. The first big laugh
came when army men showed us
how to make beds and insisted that we make them their way and no
back talk. They made them pretty good at that but we made 'em all over again as soon as they finished.
We have steel lockers at the foot of our beds and you are my hang-up boy, of course, dear Oscar. One of the girls asked me if it was a snapshot of Abbott or Costello. It was just because the picture was taken in too bright a light.

Well, dear, I hope all is well with
you. How I wish we were in the same army! Your Yankee Doodle girl never stops thinking of her Yankee Doodle boy. I love you.

Harriet.
P. S.—Send me a mousetrap.
I just heard some funny noises.

Keep Smiling

Do, in a Pinch
An official, completing the records of a young woman volunteer
for war services, asked who was her next-of-kin.

"I haven't any," she said.
"What!" said the official; "no
father, mother, aunts, brothers,
uncles?"
"No," she said, and then, after
a pause, she added, doubtfully:
"There's my husband, if he'll do."

It is generally conceded that women are the fair sex. But does that imply that the men are unfair?

That Kind
"In my time I've had a dozen
men at my feet," she boasted.
"Chiropractors?" inquired her friend.

One Called For
A blushing young woman handed the telegraph clerk a telegram containing
only a name, address and one word—
"Yes."

Wishing to be helpful, the clerk said:
"You know, you can send five more words for the same price."
"I know I can," replied the young woman, "but don't you think I'd look too eager if I said it six times?"

That Sort of Fellow
"Is that man annoyed with you?
I notice he didn't return your greeting."
"Oh, he lives next door to me.
He never returns anything."

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from
the blood if good health is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache,
persistent headache, attacks of dizziness,
getting up nights, swelling, puffiness
under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages
are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment
is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys
get rid of excess poisonous body waste.

A TRIBUTE

To Mrs. Fannie McDonald and Miss Lillian Traylor
From W.S.C.W.

"I have fought a good fight,
I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.

Henceforth there is laid up
for me a crown of righteousness
which the Lord, the righteous
judge shall give me at that day,
and not to me only, but unto
all them that love His appearing,
II Timothy 4:7, 8.

Surely no more fitting words
could be said of these two lives
and no higher tribute paid their memory.

We who knew them and felt
their influence, know how steadfastly they fought this "good fight" and how loyally they
"kept the faith" in every relation of life.

We know how willingly they served in any capacity to which they were called as members of our organization; how faithfully they attended each service through all the years, as long as they were able, and even in their last days how they longed to be with us and to take a part in the work of the church again.

We are grateful that their
lives were spent among us,
that for a little while we felt
the beauty and strength of their religion, and that we were so often cheered and encouraged by their optimism and their determination to follow Christ.

We have missed them, during the days of their illness. Yet
we felt always they were with us in spirit. So let us remember them during the years ahead. Let us rejoice that for them there is no more suffering,
no more parting, no more night.
For "they have gone to receive their crown of righteousness,
which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give them, and not to them only, but unto all of us who love His appearing."

MISSISSIPPI ROADS

Speaking to the Rotary Club
in Jackson last week Doug Kenna, Director of the Mississippi Highway Commission,
gave some interesting data on the development of Mississippi roads. When Mr. Kenna became director in 1932 the state
had, he said, 700 miles of paved road, and now at the end of ten years, it is 3,298 miles of paved road, and said to be the very highest quality of pavement,
none better, in fact, in the United States. During the ten years Mr. Kenna has been director the highway department has spent the sum of $120,000,000. Mr. Kenna stated that 145 men had left the Highway Department to enter war service.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our very deep appreciation for every expression of sympathy and understanding, by word, card or floral offering, during our recent bereavement. Sorrow, however deep, is made easier by the knowledge of friends, who not only reach out to sustain us,
but who suffer with us.

WAKE UP MISSISSIPPI!

On Tuesday, August 25—Keep Those Who Have FAILED AMERICA at Home!

—BY THEIR DEEDS YOU SHALL KNOW THEM—

ROSS COLLINS—The too-little and too-late Candidate—FAILED AMERICA:

—Ross Collins FAILED AMERICA when he fought the preparedness plans of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the General Staff, the American Legion and other patriotic organizations.

—Ross Collins FAILED AMERICA when he voted against the two-ocean navy; when he voted against chartering Alaskan waters for the Navy; when he did not want us to develop the BLIMP.

—Ross Collins FAILED AMERICA when he tried to amend the constitution to prevent giving help to our allies.

—Ross Collins FAILED AMERICA when he worked and voted against expansion of the American air force.

—Ross Collins FAILED AMERICA when he spoke against the Selective Service Act and failed to vote either way on its final passage, or on its extension.

—ROSS COLLINS FAILED TO VOTE AGAINST THE PEN-SION for CONGRESSMEN!

WALL DOXEY—the do-nothing-pension
voting Candidate—FAILED AMERICA:

—Wall DoxeY FAILED AMERICA when he spent 12 years in Congress and never once raised his voice for an adequate Army and Navy.

—Wall DoxeY FAILED AMERICA in November 1941 when,
in reply to a letter from a Mississippian asking him to DO SOMETHING about strikes in defense industries, DoxeY replied: "I am a young senator and there is an old respected custom with reference to a young senator sounding off . . .
I am inclined to respect that custom."

—Wall DoxeY FAILED AMERICA when on January 19, 1942,
less than six weeks after Pearl Harbor, he VOTED FOR
THE PENSION BILL for Congressmen and Senators and RAISED HIS VOICE IN A VIGOROUS SPEECH IN DE-FENSE OF THE PENSION.

Vote for JIM EASTLAND for U.S. Senator

JIM EASTLAND—in 88 Days in the Senate SERVED AMERICA and the South:

—JIM EASTLAND served America and the South by his prompt and successful fight to prevent the dumping of government-owned cotton on the market in competition of $20.00 a bale. Jim Eastland was credited by the Press, of bringing $50,000,000 to Mississippi last Fall.

—JIM EASTLAND served America and the South by his successful fight to prevent importation of 400,000 bales of Brazilian cotton.

—JIM EASTLAND served America and the South by his successful fight to remove ceiling price on cottonseed. Cottonseed immediately rose from $30 to $50 a ton.

—JIM EASTLAND served America and the South by preventing disastrous ceiling prices on southern pine timber.

—JIM EASTLAND went to work—he got results. Farmers, small businessmen, all Mississippians need an aggressive man like Jim Eastland in the Senate.

Elect Jim-You Can Depend on Him!

DEEP WATER ISLAND

by ALAN LEMAY

W-N-U-RELEASE

Charles Wong went straight to the desk . . . "Yes," Dick answered the unspoken question.

INSTALLMENT SIX

THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Waterson, convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she has a claim to the island estate of her grandfather, Garrett Waterson, has come to Honolulu to attempt to gain control of the property. Then through a strange circumstance and somewhat against her will she finds herself on the very island, Alakoa, with Richard Wayne or Tonga Dick, as he is known. He is a member of the Wayne family which has been in control of the island since the disappearance of her grandfather. They have found that Dick's uncle, James Wayne, who has been managing the property, is very sick. Dick tries to get Karen to work out a compromise settlement to her claims but she refuses. Late during the night Illua, a native house girl, comes to Dick's room and tells him she has strange foreboding of evil. As they talk a rap is heard at the door.

Now continue with the story.

At the door when Dick opened it was the tiny figure of a kimonoed Japanese girl. Her hair, usually as neat as polished ebony, was down all about her face, and through it her eyes stared so widely that they showed the whites.

"Mister Dick—you come!"

"What is it? What is it now?"

"I tap on Mister Wayne door—I take Mister Wayne him milk. Mister Wayne, he not answer."

"Well, did you go in?"

"No, no, no!"

"Where is he? In his office?"

"Yes—office. Plenty light but no speak. Something moves in there—I hear something move! But nothing in there will speak."

Dick Wayne drew a deep breath, and the air of the hall was as if he had breathed in the outer rain.

"All right."

Once more he went striding through the house, the broad old floorboards speaking under his tread, and the tabs of the Japanese girl pattering behind him.

There was a line of light under the door of James Wayne's office; but as he reached for the latch the Japanese girl flattened herself against the wall, fearful lest she accidentally see into the room, and Tonga Dick Wayne himself hesitated. He knew what was within.

James Wayne still sat in the chair behind his vast desk, in the same place he had sat during so much of twenty hard driving years. But now his head was forward upon the desk, and by the slack emptiness of his uncle's hands Dick knew that this was the end.

All over the floor were scattered the ginger blossoms of a broken lei.

When Dick Wayne had made certain that his uncle was dead, he picked up the scattered ginger blossoms, and, opening a casement, threw them out into the night.

He went to the door. The Japanese girl looked smaller than ever, standing there with her back pressed tight against the koa-wood wall, as if trying to hide herself from things unseen. "Send the Missey here," he said.

"Missey Lilua?"

"No, no! The haole Missey."

"Yes, Mister Dick."

"As soon as you have sent the haole Missey to me, bring me Charles Wong."

As Dick turned back into the room he spotted one more of those inescapable ginger flowers under the corner of the desk. He picked it up and put it in his pocket. Then he went and stood at the window, looking out into blackness, unmindful of the cold spit of the rain. It seemed to him a long time before Karen came.

"Is—something wrong?" Her words were faltering. "Has anything happened?"

Dick Wayne stared, astonished. Deep in his pocket his fingers were still rolling between them the petals of that last ginger flower; but Karen's eyes were uncommunicative and he saw that she did not so much as glance at the floor to make sure that the flowers were gone. Suddenly a terrible pity for this girl got the better of him and he shut his jaws.

"Dick," Karen cried out, "what is it?"

He was unable then, pitying her as he did, to tell her that he knew she already had the answer to that.

"James Wayne is dead," he answered.

"This—this is a terrible thing."

"Perhaps not."

"What do you mean?"

Dick's voice was hard and bitter. "If you are going to take this island, perhaps it is better that you take it from me and from my brothers—not from the man who made it what it is."

Karen Waterson stood staring at him blankly. Until now it had seemed to Dick Wayne that nothing he had ever said to her had reached her completely in its full meaning; but now he knew that he had hurt her as definitely as if he had struck her across the face. The silence that followed had a strange hopeless quality about it, empty, yet singularly acute. Dick was glad that Charles Wong now appeared, moving quickly into the room.

Charles Wong went straight to the desk, but his eyes were questioning on Dick's face.

"Yes," Dick answered the unspoken question.

A wave of swift emotion crossed the Chinese secretary's face; he raised one hand and his fingers ran through his heavy hair.

"Get the doctor on the phone; get him up here at once. That is necessary for the proper reports. When that's done, get my brothers in Honolulu on the wireless phone; tell them what has happened; and that I will be in Honolulu tomorrow night, regardless of whether they will be here by then or not. Then get me John Colt; I think you already know where in Honolulu he is."

"And—what shall I tell him?"

"I'll talk to him myself."

The Holokai did not weigh her hook until after dusk of the next day; but as she beat her way slowly out through the reefs, half an hour after sunset, Dick Wayne was glad that the day was over.

Tonga Dick had respected and admired his uncle, had understood what his uncle meant to Alakoa. Everything productive that Alakoa possessed had existed first in this one man's mind. They had all depended upon him and been guided by him; all of them except Dick himself had been controlled by him.

A careful conference had been necessary with James Wayne's physician. Being already familiar with the case, he had no trouble describing, in technical terms, the failure of James Wayne's heart.

"Could this have been caused by shock?" Dick demanded.

"A shock," Shimazu said with an oddly humorless location, "would not have been necessary; but it would have helped."

Dick Wayne experienced no relief at this declaration. He was certain that Karen Waterson had been with James Wayne when he died, and that she had sought to conceal this. And he knew that almost anyone else, knowing these facts, would leap at once to a dark and savage suspicion. He found, however, that for himself he did not need Dr. Shimazu's report; he was already convinced, beyond any shadow of present or future doubt, that Karen Waterson had not killed James Wayne.

When they had communicated with Dick's brothers and with John Colt, Tonga Dick Wayne threw the radio cut-off switch.

What remained was a full day with Charles Wong, repeatedly interrupted by the visits of cane field bosses, mill superintendents, cattle foremen. It was turning dark before Dick and Karen Waterson at last drove steeply down the mountain toward the anchorage of the Holokai.

Later, after the Holokai had put out from shore, Dick and Karen found themselves sitting face to face across a completely set table under the cabin's skylight. The main cabin of the Holokai was trim and well lighted, but necessarily very small; here not even the hovering of the Chinese mess boy could spare them a sense of being shut in, very close together.

Karen's eyes rested unhappily upon her plate. Her fork fiddled with broiled pakii, but she was unable to eat. Her clear-cut poise had returned in the form of a reticent withdrawal; but behind the thin shell of that poise Dick Wayne was able to perceive that the girl was nervously distraught.

Tonga Dick Wayne ate, for no other reason than that he had not eaten in more than eighteen hours, and waited for Karen to speak. Now, surely, he thought, she would have something to say about her presence at the death of James Wayne.

Then presently he became aware, with a slow amazement, that Karen was not going to speak. She must have known who had picked up the broken ginger blossoms that would have given her away. But did she? Dick suddenly recognized that Karen perhaps did not know.

He let his eyes rest with some deliberation upon her face, and saw that she was uncommonly pale; it gave her an exceptionally fragile look. "It seems to me," he began, "that you might tell me—"

He let the question he had begun lose itself in the black race of the sea past the lee porthole.

"We're making fast time," he said. "We'll be in Honolulu before very long."

Karen murmured, "I'm glad." A little shiver ran across her shoulders, so that her two words made

Honolulu seem a long-sought haven, for her.

"There's something I want to tell you, Karen."

She waited, relaxed and impassive except for that sense of strain behind her pale composure.

"I'm sorry I shanghaied you. I didn't realize what I was letting you in for."

"I'm not exactly used to being pushed about," Karen said.

"After all," he reminded her, "when you came aboard you believed me to be deceived even as to your name. And though your visit to Alakoa was against your will, you yourself, and your friend, John Colt, were partly responsible, I think."

Karen was silent.

"But I'm not all sorry," Dick said. "In spite of everything, I know you better now; and that has been worth while."

"I shouldn't have tried to fool you about who I was," Karen said. In spite of her concealed nervous tension, she seemed very tired, so that he could hardly hear her words. "That was a very silly mistake."

"There have been other mistakes," Dick said.

She met his eyes for a moment, and he wondered if she was thinking about a silent room, and a broken lei. He wanted to tell her that there was no reason for her to think about that; and that he believed in her completely.

Dick said morosely, "You and I ought to be able to talk to each other more easily than we do."

"Do we have to go into all that?"

"We can work these things out," Dick Wayne said. "You and I are the only ones who can."

Karen Waterson stiffened and sat back. "I can only say this—if there are to be any negotiations at all, they will have to be carried on with John Colt, not with me."

"If the case came to trial as it now stands," Dick Wayne said, "I have no doubt that you could win. After that would follow appeal after appeal, delay after delay; and even if you won in the end you'd be a white-haired old lady before your victory ever paid out. The Waynes won't give in because they can't give in."

"Neither," said Karen, looking at him directly, "do we intend to give in."

"What you mean is that John Colt won't give in."

"It's the same thing."

Dick Wayne looked at her queerly. "Is it, Karen? Are you in love with Colt? Are you going to marry him?"

CHAPTER VII

Karen looked at him steadily a moment.

"There isn't any reason why I should answer that," she said at last. "But I will. I have no intention of marrying John Colt. What I mean is that I believe I have a sound claim, and I am perfectly willing that the court should decide it. If your uncle had lived—"

She stopped, and a silence fell between them, so that they noticed again the voice of the ship, and the rush and slap of the sea. Later, Tonga Dick began talking to her again, trying to tell her what his uncle had been, as Dick saw him.

He was trying to make her see a man who had lived not for personal conquest, but for a dream. He was trying to make her understand that James Wayne had been a man who did not know how to use anything, for himself, beyond the bare necessities; one who took less from life than the salary of Charles Wong commanded. He showed her his uncle breakfasting at 3:30 in the morning, so that he could be at work by a quarter of four. He was trying to make her see twenty years of labor, in which James Wayne had given every hour of his time, every resource of his mind, to making Alakoa what it had become.

She interrupted him, after a while.

"Why do you tell me all this?"

"I'm trying to make you see that there is something there that cannot be measured in dollars and cents; and that even though James Wayne is dead, the fight for the things he stood for will have to go on."

BLUE MORNING GLORIES IN APPLIQUE DESIGN FOR CURTAINS AND TOWELS

WHATEVER the limitations that priorities may place on new bathroom fixtures there is no limit to the gay color and good cheer that you may have with brightly painted cupboards and towels decorated with pieces from your scrap bag. In this bathroom a morning glory applique design is used for towels of two sizes and for curtains.

The handy towel and lotion cupboard is painted white outside and morning glory blue inside. The sides, top and bottom are screwed together at the corners. Use half-inch metal angles as shelf supports, or make grooves for a neater job. As shown in the sketch, the cupboard is trimmed and made rigid with plywood scallops secured with half-inch screws.

Englishman Wouldn't Take Chance on Blooming Bomb

An enemy plane passed over a certain district in England one night, and the following morning a man told his neighbor that an unexploded incendiary bomb had fallen into his bedroom.

"Throw it into the garden?" inquired the neighbor.

"Can't do that," was the reply. "It's six feet long."

"Good gracious," gasped the neighbor, "that's not an incendiary—that's a high explosive! Have you been sleeping in the bedroom with that thing all night?"

"Not bloomin' likely . . . I slept on the couch in the drawing-room!"

Recorded Acts

Someone has said that everything that is done is photographed. In morals that is a truth of great moment, but it is not a high motive to right-doing. The great Photographer records our acts, and preserves the record; but we must love the right because it is lovely, and do the right because of its loveliness.—Dr. J. Duncan.

WOODS PROFITS

The woodland on Mr. B. O. White's farm at Holcut has earned its way. After selling the present stand for what he has been offered, Mr. White will have averaged over one hundred dollars per year in cash for his woods. Besides the cash returns, the woods have furnished all the lumber, fuel wood, and post needed around the farm.

In 1920, Mr. White bought 85 acres of the farm on which he now lives. The place had been cut over to furnish timber needed in the last war. Every tree that would make a 2x4 had been cut. He started out, you might say, with 85 acres of land with no timber on it. With careful management this land has raised timber worth $1 per acre per year, ever since. The timber has been sold at various times, each time only the stumpage was sold. After this last crop of timber has been cut, the land will be in better shape than it was 20 years ago, as Mr. White has learned that cutting very small timber does not pay. On 4 acres White is cutting the timber on a selective basis thus leaving a crop growing on the land at all times.

Timber can and does add to the income on the average farm. Yet every year a good deal of the farm woodlands burn over through carelessness. Every fire decreases the value of the woods and kills the seedlings which would produce a new crop. Let us follow the example of Mr. White, who has protected his woods for many years. The income he has realized from his woods prove that it pays to protect them from fire.

Meat Shortage

Beef and pork are scarce just now. Men in uniform eat more meat but civilian supplies are expected to increase within 60 days....OPA has slapped a price ceiling on lamb and now controls all meat items except poultry.

It's no longer necessary for a fellow to have a string of academic degrees to become an army officer....The metal in burned out light bulbs is worth saving....OPA has warned drug stores to discontinue the new practice of charging a penny for paper cups in addition to the price of a drink.

COLLECT SCRAP

some one calls to collect it.

In walking over a farm recently we found 5 worn out plow points under the weeds on ditch banks; horseshoes, broken chain, broken clevises, buck heads on stumps; old axe head, and broken bolts at the post—at the wire gap to the pasture, and one old casing for a flower bed, one old casing with grass growing over it in a ditch below the barn; an iron rod being used for a gate latch to the yard where a short wooden latch would serve. This is mostly true all over this county in towns and country homes.

Every saw mill operator has shafts, pulleys, wire rope, unusable old saws, etc., that is needed. Will we wait until the slant eyed Japs, dominating Germans, and low down Italians invade this country and make slaves of us and force us to collect scrap for their use, make slaves of us as they have France, Greece, Poland, Belgium, and all the others, or will we do all that we can NOW? This is little enough now, but we will be called on for more and more, and will have to do without more and more as the struggle goes on, but don't forget that when we are called on for so little our boys are called on for their all. We can't afford to do less than what we are called on for, as we can't and won't let our boys give their all without full equipment and full supplies for an even fighting chance.

What would the conquered nations give if they had our chance now? Only bitter experience teaches these lessons and let's all do our best while it is yet time and not let more of our boys be captured, killed and made slaves of because we did TOO LITTLE TOO LATE. Collect that scrap NOW and have it ready.

Let's blast Japan—and Germany—and Italy—with the chain lightning of destruction that can be built from the scrap in our cellars, attics and garages, on our farms and in our places of business.

Scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials. It will all be used to make tanks, ships, planes and the fighting weapons our boys must have. It is needed at once.

Sell it to a Junk dealer—give it to a charity or collection agency—take it yourself to the nearest collection point—or consult the Local Salvage Committee...
