SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR

(EDITORIAL)

A basic American evil, is the attitude of the people, who, theoretically at least, are the government of these United States, toward any national problem that could be handled by a united attitude.

The spiralling cost of any purchasable article is the talk of every group, yet the American people as a whole are doing nothing about it. Even the spurt of protests that existed a few weeks ago by American housewives failed because too many continued to buy meat at any price. Right here in Tishomingo County merchants told this paper "we're selling more meat than at any time since we've been in business".

Every national magazine, paper or other publication has statistics on the present costs, all ending with the warning that the top has not yet been reached. A simple solution to this condition would be a nation-wide protest from every citizen, through the house of congress. If enough people put pressure on those representing the people in Washington, something would be done. The politicians all assured the voting public that they would stand firm for the Farmer's parity, and most of us just took that as supporting the poor farmer, without really studying the issue to know whether the parity was a good thing or not. Do you know for instance, what the government is paying for potatoes, that are being sold to the liquor interests for as low as .08 per bushel? Do you know the difference between eight cents and a top of $3.50 for those present potatoes. You are, dear tax paying citizen, of Tishomingo county, and every other hardworking, struggling citizen of this country. The current American Magazine has an article on this: "The more wheat that is harvested this year, the more the government subsidy is," then one wonders where this subsidizing will take us. It would be well for us to look into these governmental subsidies, and seriously decide if it is really what we want, and what we need.

ANOTHER IUKAN WHO MAKES GOOD IN CHOSEN FIELD

The Marshall Johnsons Cited In Norris(Tenn.) Paper For Success

Editor's Note: The following item was published in the Norris, Tenn. Courier News. Marshall Johnson is the son of Joe Johnson, Route 4, Iuka. The Vidette takes pleasure in reprinting this fine article about Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, and their outstanding accomplishment in gardening and canning.

ABOUT TOWN

A record for gardening and canning the produce therefrom has probably been hung up by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Johnson, who already have more than 1200 quarts of vegetables and expect to reach 1500 before the summer is over. In addition, Mrs. Johnson has put up 49 quarts of peaches and 19 of apples, and over 300 pints of jelly.

String beans heads the list in quantity, they estimate, with black-eyed and English peas, tomatoes, corn, butter beans, squash, cabbage, pickles, sauerkraut, soup stock and what have you filling the shelves. With the bushels of potatoes they have grown, they will have just about enough food to see their family of seven children through the winter—and they've sold a little on the side.

Mr. Johnson, who is with TVA's maintenance staff, puts in a new crop as soon as the old one is garnered. They have somewhat less than one acre under cultivation.

LIBERTY CASH GROCERY CELEBRATES 2nd ANNIVERSARY

FEATURES BARGAINS TO SHOW APPRECIATION

The Gann brothers, T. H. and H. C., made a quiet entrance into the business field of Iuka, just two years ago, when on September 19th, they took over the Liberty Cash Grocery, which had been in operation only a few months.

Both veterans, the young business men are natives of Oxford Miss., where they gained valuable experience in the grocery field. Herman Gann, who had married a Louisiana girl, was making his home at Minden, La. before coming here, while Thurman had married and was still living in his home town.

It wasn't long however, before the "quiet" entrance, was beginning to create its own noise. The sound of public interest in the store that was giving service in an increased stock of merchandise, and in prices made possible by the buying power of the Liberty stock rooms. Regular advertising is a "must" with the Gann brothers, who, through experience knew the value of keeping the public informed about their merchandise and their prices.

For their anniversary sale, which starts tomorrow, Gann brothers are featuring some remarkable bargains, with prices throughout the store that will cause their friends and customers to want to stock their pantries with an abundance of staple merchandise.

In discussing the Anniversary Sale, Mr. Thurman Gann said, "we are bulging at the walls, with stock purchased for this sale and will have deliveries during the sales days that will guarantee a complete stock in every department. We are putting on real bargains, to show our appreciation to the people of this county, for the wonderful support they have given us during these two years."

Mr. T. H. Gann is a member of the Rotary Club and the association of Commerce and Mr. H. C. Gann is a member of the Lions Club and the Association of Commerce. Keenly interested in civic improvements, the young men have become substantial citizens, contributing to every good cause, and accepting responsibility in movements that have as their goal, the progressive development of the Town and the County.

Their ad, showing bargains in food products appears elsewhere in this issue of the Vidette.

INFANT DEATH RATE LOWER IN 1947

The decline in the infant death rate, experienced in the last ten years, continued through 1947. The rate, 36.6 per 1,000 live births, was the lowest ever recorded in Mississippi, even with a birth rate which increased 9 per cent over 1946. There were still, however, 2,428 deaths of infants under one year in Mississippi, said Dr. H. C. Crowell of the Tishomingo County Health Department.

The Mississippi State Board of Health has pointed out that during 1947 Tishomingo County is in the group of counties in the state with the lowest infant death rate.

With the additional hospital facilities made available by the hospital construction program now under way, our progressive public health programs, better information about child care among our parents, and with well-child care by own physicians, there will be an even more rapid reduction in our infant death rate.

TISHOMINGO HIGH SCHOOL HOMECOMING A GREAT SUCCESS

LARGER CROWD ATTENDED THAN EXPECTED

Several hundred former students and friends gathered at Tishomingo High School Campus Saturday, Sept. 4, at 10:00 A M to celebrate the Fortieth Anniversary of the founding of the school in a series of meetings, concerts, and picnics which lasted through Monday September 6th.

Our program started with a band concert by the Russellville High School Band under the direction of Holland Abrams; and appropriate to the weather, the first number was stormy weather, after which those present crowded into the school auditorium, welcomed by Alvis Gray and addressed by Mr. W. R. Nettles and Hon. Reese Bickerstaff. The addresses honored the late Dr. J. O. Looney, especially, and present in honored positions were Mrs. J. O. Looney, William A. Owens, and Mrs. Ernestine Looney Fisher of the first graduating class. Mrs. Looney, Mrs. Fisher, and Mrs. Owens were presented with beautiful golden corsages, tied with the black and gold school colors.

At the meeting we were to have had an address delivered by Hon. J. O. (Click) Clark, but owing to the rush of time, his speech was saved for later. However, business deprived us of this pleasure. A novelty on the program was two selections played on an antique Graphonola furnished by Mr. Paul Guinn. As the hour was now late the group was rushed into the gymnasium for picnic lunch provided by the good ladies of Tishomingo.

Saturday Evening the highlight of the social affairs was a dinner at Tishomingo State Park. After dinner speeches, conducted by Alvis Gray as toastmaster, were delivered by former students and teachers. Dancing began at 9:00 P M in the High School Gymnasium. The feature of this program was an acrobatic dance by Anna Kay Bell, daughter of Ada Mae Nagle Bell.

Sunday at 11:00 A M Our memorial service was held under the direction of Mr. Lester Skinner of the class of '20. Rev. J. W. Howell of class '17 delivered the memorial address. In closing his address he praised the character scholarship, foresight, and ability of Dr. J. O. Looney as a great school man and judge of character. For an example he pointed out that Mr. Nettles whom he had appointed as a teacher had followed in his steps for the past 30 years. This was doubtless the most touching, best received address Mr. Howell ever made. During this service Mrs. Looney, her son Cullen, O. C. Moor, Mr. W. R. Nettles, the first graduating class, each of whom made short talks. Several in the audience were also called on for a few words, after which the group was conducted to the "gym" for one of the finest basket dinners ever served.

After dinner the group gathered in the auditorium to select the associational officers for the coming year the following:

Pres. C. A. Crow, class '20. V. Pres. Lawrence Bullard, Class of '26. Secretary Mrs. Eufra Owens Blunt, Class of '27. Board of Directors: Harold Blunt - '30. Bill Owens - '09. Lester Skinner - '20. Miss Gertrude Blissitt - '32.

Sunday night each went to the church of his choice. Monday morning the few who remained and those who came late met in the "gym" for a farewell meeting. The feature guests here were Mrs. J. O. Looney, her entire family, the first graduating class Mr. Clifford Long, and the O. C. Moor family. It was unique that a class of 40 years ago was the only one to registrar as a whole, even though members of almost every class were present. The spirit of comradeship was unparalleled throughout this whole happy and successful occasion. Seventeen states and the district of Columbia were represented. We sincerely appreciate the hard work, faithful spirit, sincere

TISHOMINGO HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI

Former Students and Teachers

MY Dear Friends:

I wish to thank those who attended our fortieth anniversary homecoming and those who contributed in any way to the great success. As most every one knows it rained continually. Yet the fraternal and joyous feeling which existed through out was a joy to feel and see. Under the weather conditions we had about all we could care for in comfort. Even though we had prepared on the campus for five thousand. We had hoped and planned for all alumni, former students and teachers. I assure you that to see and talk to old school mates was indeed wonderful. In my efforts to talk to the groups I always was over come by joyful tears. I assure each of you I enjoyed every moment of this get together.

We were indeed fortunate in having Mrs. J. O. Looney and all of her children. Mrs. Looney in her 85th year was indeed charming.

And to think of the first Graduates, William A. Owens and Mrs. Ernestine Looney Fisher after forty years. It was indeed a pleasure to see Clifford Long and to see his joy in seeing old school mates.

The selection rendered by Olen Monroe and his quartette of "Tuscumbia, Ala. Sweet Memories" was enjoyed by all. They sang Sunday during the Memorial Service.

We were also grateful to Cleatus (Dick) Trimm for the effort he gave in preparing the poem. "Twas 40 years ago" and delivered by Mr. Lester Skinner.

Mr. Murk our clown, who marched with the band and entertained was a treat to all. We regret very much we were unable to hear the number Mr. Alton Bickerstaff's children planned for us.

But all in all it was wonderful, wish you could have been with us.

I have enjoyed all the nice letters you have written Mrs. Blunt and myself. You have been grand and Mrs. Eufra Owens Blunt has certainly been a wonderful co-worker. We both thank you for your cooperation.

Looking forward to seeing you at the Banquet next year and the grand Homecoming 1950.

Fraternally yours,

Alvis O. Gray

Dairy Feeding Practices

A "first" in dairy feeding practices in Mississippi was scored recently when H. P. St. John, dairyman of near Brooksville, filled two temporary silos with serecia lespezda.

In these two projects St. John had the assistance of John Moore field service representative of the Kraft Foods Company's plant in Brooksville. Each silo, made of wire fencing and sisalkraft paper, held 16 tons. In one whey powder was used as a preservative for the silage and in the other molasses was used.

More than 75 dairymen, state and county agricultural extension representatives, vocational agriculture teachers and GI agricultural instructors attended the demonstration. The county agents and state representatives believed that St. John is the 1st dairyman in the state to put up serecia lespezda as silage and the first to use whey powder as preservative.

St. John, like other Mississippi dairymen, had lost a lot of hay during recent weeks because of dry weather. However, his serecia lespezda was growing well, as it does in most areas in Mississippi, even on much of the poorer land. He believed that along with Johnson grass, serecia could provide a great portion of his winter feed and keep his dairy herd producing at high levels if only it could be preserved to save more of its feed value.

He took his problem to Moore, who advised the construction of the temporary silos as one of the best and cheapest ways of making high quality feed. Moore supervised the silo filling demonstration.

Commenting on the demonstration W. C. Cowser, professor of Dairy Husbandry at Mississippi State College, a long time advocate of grass and legume silage in the state, said: "The dairyman who does not have silage generally does not have adequate feed. St. John will have feed this fall and winter from the silage. Our hot, dry summer last year proved that type of feed is needed on every dairy farm. Mississippi dairymen can cure one of our commonest feed faults, deficiency in carotene, or vitamin A with grass silage and at the same time have feed insurance against drouths in summer and fall.

"When dairymen such as St. John apply the latest methods to problems on their farms, they are putting to practice the experimental work done at Mississippi State College. Only then does our experimental work begin to pay dividends," Cowser said.

Later in the year Cowser will run chemical feed analysis on St. John's silage. Kraft's plant in Brooksville will help carry on the experiment with palatability tests and the effect on production from the St. John herd in records of the plant, of which St. John is a patron.

Steeplejack and Bridge Painter Invents Time-Saving Paint Brush

New Device Tested on New York's Triborough Bridge

A new dipless paint brush was recently demonstrated on the world-famous Triborough Bridge in New York City. This brush was demonstrated by its inventor, Russell C. Engren, steeplejack and bridge painter, who proved he could eliminate much of the time, energy and material wasted in painting.

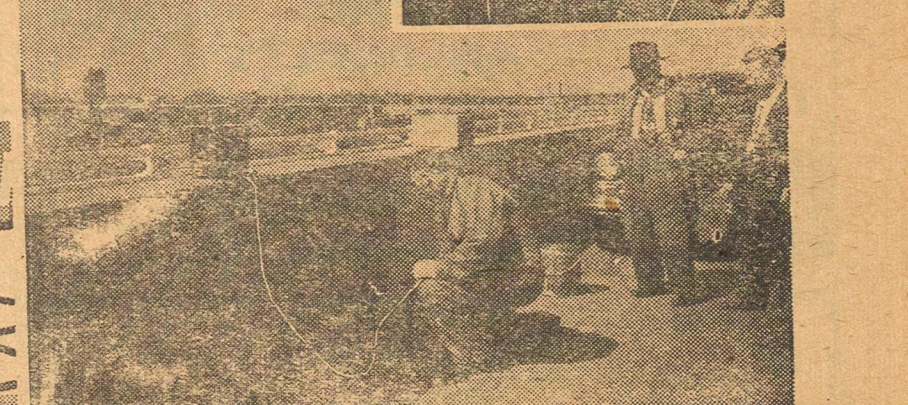

This new brush (Air Flow Paint Flow) puts gravity to work! The paint flows from a gravity-feed bucket through a light, flexible hose directly to bristles of the brush; a simple shut-off clip on hose gives complete control of the paint-flow.

Actual tests in homes, farms, factories, under every working condition where paint is used, show an average saving of 38% in time and paint. These tests were made by housewives as well as professional painters and contractors.

The inventor claims that not only does the brush save time, but also saves wear and tear caused by cleaning of ordinary paint brushes.

This dipless brush is now in production and is being placed on the market in the near future.

The Air Flow Brush Company (57 West 35 Street, New York 1, New York, manufacturers and distributors) are planning an advertising campaign to make the Air Flow Brush a painting "must" in every home, farm and industry throughout the United States and Canada.

By TED KESTING

"I am entirely convinced that the color of a lure does make considerable difference on the many days when they're (bass) not striking well." That is Jason Lucas, well known authority on bass, talking.

He finds that a red-and-white plug brings best results if it's shallow - running. Silver scale and bronze scale are very good on shallow-running lures. But these are also good in deep fishing. The same might be said of orange.

However, in deeper fishing

there doesn't seem to be a rule regarding size, action or color which works consistently. It's a case of trying everything until one finds what they want at the time.

In the hot weather of mid-summer when the best bet of all is to fish the very bottom in quite deep water, Lucas is satisfied with a plain white plug or one mostly white, and one of a dirty-brown color.

You'll find one retrieve is all that is necessary. Let the lure sink clear to the bottom and rest a moment, then sweep it along a little distance, not too rapidly, and let it sink and rest again. Then watch out for the outsize granddaddies!

A bass seems to prefer to hide behind weeds, stone, or logs and spring out on passing prey. He usually strikes in the middle or toward the head. For that reason, in bass fishing Lucas removes a spinner placed well ahead of the lure; too many will strike the spinner and miss the hooks.

Contrary to common belief, a bass rarely strikes a plug hard, but generally takes it lightly in his lips. The usual angler works his lure far too rapidly to be aware of this. A slow lure will nearly always get more strikes than a fast one. But there can be no daydreaming. The angler must be wide-awake and ready to set the hook in a flash. This is particularly true in surface fishing.

In surface lures color doesn't seem to matter much. It appears to be the action, the ripples and little splashes that count most. But here, as elsewhere the longer a plug remains within feeding range of a logy bass the more likely he is to take it. It should be moved or twitched occasionally to let him think it is alive — something that has fallen on the water and is partly stunned.

County Agent's News

What happens to cotton today, next year, ten years from now will have a lot to do with the number of cotton dollars you have in your pocket.

You have a vital interest in the future of cotton and it is up to you to participate and to act as its voice and agent in an effort to increase cotton consumption.

The National Cotton Council is the only central organization representing the twelve million people who make up the cotton industry. The Cotton Council is run by representatives who are selected by the Nations cotton farmers, ginners, warehousemen, merchants, spinners and cotton seed crushers.

We all know that cotton has plenty of competition now. The National Cotton Council conducts a vigorous program of research to find new uses and new markets for cotton. The chemical industry spends millions of dollars each year to promote the uses of synthetics to take place of cotton. The cotton industry must, therefore, have some organization to do the same for cotton. The National Cotton Council does this for cotton and it costs money to do the job.

This is one time we can't say it costs too much. The farmer, the ginner, the compress, the warehousemen, the buyer, the spinner and the seed crushers are all asked to pay one dime a bale on what they grow or handle. (If you grow five bales it would cost you 50c) This is a voluntary program. If we don't want to take part in promoting our own industry, we can say, "Well, I let the others pay my part to help find new uses and markets for cotton." Then if we don't all chip in and get the job done we can not blame anyone but ourselves.

If you want to help to promote your industry, just pay your dime a bale to your ginner and he will forward it to the Council Office.

Paul Keller,
County Agent.

Tea Table Chatter BY TINA

Tina draws a rapid breath, "they're the best" — Now for happy to make a brief stop-over at home where kind friends are saying "we missed you" and plunges into editing another issue of The Vidette — Florida, Tina's beloved "home" state was as delightful as ever, and amaz-ing in it's development, since the last state-wide visit—Be-cause tourists are finding that state as perfect for a summer visit as for winter, beaches and resort towns were as crowded as mid-season, the last week in Au-gust, and The Riviera, that de-lightful, quiet, homey hotel, just north of Daytona was crowded throughout the week—The din-ing room there serves wonderful meals—Tina recommends it to any discriminating visitor—mak-ing a short run over to St. Aug-ustine, the family had lunch at the "Bay Gull", charming place out on the pier, where seafoods are prepared in the native man-ner, and a strong ocean breeze makes the time spent there most pleasant—On down the state and between Bradenton and Sara-sota, Zinn's caters to the most exacting, and is worthy of a note in your "little black book" for future pleasure in eating—back to Tampa for the highlight of any trip, and dinner in the patio at the "Columbia" which re-mains Tina's choice for a Flor-ida visit—with the Tampa bro-ther, Kenneth Cross and his strapping, over six foot son, Ken-neth Jr., we ate Pompano Pap-ilot, one of their specials, and found that memory fades from one year to the next, as it is al-ways better than even the mem-ory—Under the gracious atten-tion of Manuel, who makes every guest feel that he is "special" the atmosphere of that place is out-standing in anyone's experience—No particular appearance from the front, the authentic spanish architecture of the Patio is won-derful—An old world experience like actually making a journey into Spain—Every visitor should go to Tampa just for this ex-perience in dining graciously—The Las Navedados, another traditional restaurant there, has moved, dressed itself up, and somehow has lost some of it's "atmosphere" which Tina re-members from the first dinner, eaten there as a girl in '21, when we were entering the state to make our home—my Father or-dered many of their special dis-hes, for Tina's experience, (and his amusement), particularly, the cuban coffee that literally could be cut with a knife—Now you who plan to make a trip soon, hide these names among your files, and you'll avoid the dis-appointment many people exper-ience when down there, in eat-ing in places that care more for the income than the quality of foods—Those of you who have been, and have eaten at these places, will join Tina in saying

TISHOMINGO ALUMNI
I wondered to the village, Tom, I sat beneath the tree
Upon the school house play ground, that sheltered you and me.
But none were left to greet me, Tom,
And few were left to know who played with us upon the green,
Just forty years ago.
The old School House is altered some,
The benches are replaced by new ones, very much the same
Our jack-knives had defaced
The old bricks are still in the wall; the bell-swings to and fro—
'Tis the same sweet tune, dear Tom,
As 'twas forty years ago.
The spring that bubbled beneath the hill close by,
The sprawling beach, 'twas once so high;
'Tis very low that we can hardly reach;
And kneeling down, dear Tom, it starts my soul to think,
How much we change,
Since forty years ago.
Nearby the spring upon the elm, you know I cut your name,
Your Sweetheart's name beneath it, Tom;
And you did mine the same.
Some heartless wretch has peeled the bark!
'Tis dying sure but slow, just as the one whose name you cut,
Died forty years ago.
Some in the church yard sleep, some sleep beneath the sea,
But none are left of our dear old Class,
Except you and me.
And when our time has come dear Tom, and we are called to go,
I hope that we will meet with those we loved,
Just forty years ago.

Named to Head March of Dimes

Dr. Felix J. Underwood

Dr. Felix J. Underwood, prominent Jackson physician, has been appointed Mississippi State Chairman of the 1949 March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today. Dr. Underwood has headed the fund raising campaign in Mississippi since establishment of the National Foundation in 1938.

The March of Dimes, conducted nationally each January, is the sole support of the National Foundation and its 2,800 local county chapters. Funds contributed to the annual drive pay costs of medical care and treatment for polio victims and finance the scientific research and professional education programs sponsored by the National Foundation. The 1949 appeal will be held January 14-31.

Dr. Underwood, long prominent in the field of medicine and public health, is Executive Officer of the Mississippi Board of Health. He is past president of the American Public Health Association, the State and Provincial Health Authorities, and the Southern Medical Association. He is a member of the American Red Cross Health Survey Committee as well as of the Health Advisory Council of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. O'Connor, in announcing Dr. Underwood's acceptance of the March of Dimes chairmanship, revealed that when complete incidence figures for this year are tabulated the toll of infantile paralysis in the United States from 1943 through 1948 may well exceed 100,000 cases.

"While the final answer to the mystery of poliomyelitis—the discovery of a cure and a preventive for the disease—lies in the research laboratory," Mr. O'Connor said, "the generous support of the American people is now more vital than ever before if victims of polio, children and adults alike, are to receive the care they must have to achieve maximum recovery."

Miss Edna Mae Brown of Memphis was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Aldon Maxwell last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Medley of Clarksville, Tenn., were guests last week of relatives here.

Glad to report that Mr. Whit Haines is able to be home and much improved. Also Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Maxwell and son, Leroy, are able to return home from the hospital and doing very well.

Mrs. Byrom Kelly and daughter of Tupelo visited her father, Mr. Jim Sparks and Mr. Tom Sparks and children last week.

Mrs. Jinnie Waters spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Pittman Gurkin at Collersville, Tenn.

Mrs. Clarence Martin Jr., and son, are visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kay, at Marks, Miss., this week.
