Mr. George W. McRae of Tishomingo, came to Belmont last Wednesday, May 24th to see a physician. Both doctors were out of their office on calls. He walked down the street to the hotel and sat down in a chair in front to await the return of a doctor and died suddenly from heart attack.

He was 70 years of age, and leaves his wife, Mrs. Blanch McRae, two sons, Lieut. Dayton W. McRae, Ft. Duris, Mass.; K. O. McRae, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Nonetis Thorn.

CORINTHIANS BOW TO CHIEFS IN DEBUT

CHIEFS BEAT CORINTH 11-4

The Iuka Chiefs continued their winning streak last night by slugging their way to a 11-4 victory over the Corinth team in the Park-Opening game. The Chiefs collected 16 hits and sent pitcher 'Hixon to the showers. Manahans relief pitcher with his slants coming from all directions looked at first like he would silence the Chiefs bats, but finally gave away to a barrage of hits before the game ended.

Every Chief got at least one blow except Vinson, who only played a part of the game. Pitcher Elledge lead the attack with three safties including a triple and double. Bryom, Hudson, both Burnetts and Godwin all got two hits each.

Don't forget the big game Sunday with the Florence Raiders at Dean Field at 3 p. m.

SERVING HOSPITALITY

Iuka's semi pro baseball team is composed of some of the best baseball talent of this area. The team has taken on the old team name of the Iuka ball club which was known at that time as the "Chiefs." The team has not seen defeat thus far this year and has played the best clubs of the country, such as the Reynolds team of Florence, the Muscle Shoals team which is composed largely of college players, Selmer and Corinth. Some of the players left over from last year's team are playing a great game.

James Robert Carter collected four for five against Selmer Sunday, while "Bully" Burnett and "Abbie" Vernon both hit for the circuit.

HOSPITALITY MONTH IN IUKA A BIG EVENT

Governor Wright Proclaims
State-Wide Event

Governor Fielding L. Wright has proclaimed June in Mississippi as "Hospitality Month" and is calling on all citizens to participate in this second state-wide program to encourage increased tourist business.

The observance, being conducted by the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board in cooperation with various community and servicing agencies, not only will serve to emphasize to Mississippians the importance of the state as a tourist attraction, but will help sell the nation on its scenic, historic and recreational advantages.

As part of the month-long program a "Miss Hospitality" will be selected from representative entries of the various communities of the state. She will be crowned at appropriate coronation ceremonies at Biloxi June 12-15th.

A total of 54 communities have to date organized Community Travel Committees which have been asked by the A. & I. Board to carry out a planned year-round tourist promotion program, which will emphasize the conducting of Travel Host Schools for training service personnel.

Special window display cards, posters, and guest car stickers will be utilized by places to business, service stations and members of the Highway Patrol to bring attention to the importance of out-of-state visitors.

The Governor's proclamation, which sets aside June as "Hospitality Month," reads as follows:

"Whereas, the State of Mississippi has a major stake in the Nation's big and growing tourist industry, from the standpoint of both economics and improved neighbor relations; and

"Whereas, Mississippi is rapidly gaining popularity as a tourist and vacation state with increased visitor trade reported from all sections; and

"Whereas, Mississippi, its communities and its people possess an inherent attitude of friendliness and hospitality which plays a vital part in making these tourists feel welcome and 'at home' while within the state and good salesmen for Mississippi after their departure; and

"Whereas, it is of paramount importance that these desirable qualities be recognized as valuable tourist assets and that all Mississippians be made to realize

IUKA WOMEN WIN
NATIONAL CONTEST
AND $10,000 PRIZE

BOSTON, May 31.—The National Federation of Women's Clubs announced here Wednesday night that Iuka had won the national $10,000 sweepstakes award in its "Build a Better Community" contest.

The award went to Iuka's Twentieth Century Woman's Club, which is affiliated with the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs.

Community projects sponsored by the Iuka club during the past year were judged the best and most worthwhile over any other of the numerous projects entered in the contest by clubs throughout the "ation."

Seven members of the Iuka club were here to receive the national honor. They were: Mrs. Minor Nixon, outgoing president and recently named Iuka's Woman of the Year, Mrs. Everett Cutshall, new club president; Mrs. Kermit Rushing, treasurer; Mrs. O. T. Gaines, secretary, and Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Mrs. P. L. Sweeney and Mrs. T. B. Collum, club members.

Iuka had previously won the state contest in Mississippi and Governor Wright of Mississippi has proclaimed July 6 "Iuka Day" in honor of the club's work.

Specific projects which won the honor for Iuka were:

The year-long eye, ear, nose and throat correctional clinic for Iuka children; a citywide clean-up campaign; installation of a dial telephone system; obtaining new playground facilities for city school, and playground equipment for the city park.

The Twentieth Century Club was organized in 1935 by the Thursday Study Club and since its organization has worked untiringly for the improvement of the town and county.

Only a handful of Iuka housewives and mothers originally banded together to form the club and now there are only 19 members.

But during the 15 years of its existence the club has raised hundreds of dollars for its projects. The finances came from pie suppers, dances sponsored by the club, and other fund raising ventures.

The club's principal project has been its work for underprivileged children. It has sent dozens of youngsters to out of state specialists who have corrected eye, ear, nose and throat defects.

During the past year the club has given almost $400 worth of books to the school and has furnished a library for the Negro school. It has also sponsored an artist concert series and established a parking lot for business men in downtown Iuka.

that hospitality can pay by bringing tourists our way, thus adding to the general welfare and prosperity of our state;

"Now, therefore, I, Fielding L. Wright, Governor of Mississippi do hereby proclaim the month of June, 1950 "Hospitality Month" in Mississippi and urge all Mississippi communities, our people, the various organizations of the state, and local and state officials to take part in the programs and activities which have been planned for this period, to the end that the entire nation may come to realize that Mississippi is truly the "Hospitality State."

Missing in canine circles is the most popular little pooch known as "Wags." Wags has been missing for several days according to his mistress, Mrs. Sybil Edmondson. If anyone knowing the whereabouts of Wags will notify his mistress I'll wager she'll be willing to donate a cleaning and pressing job on that new Sunday suit or dress.

SOCIALISM A DEGRADING PROCESS

Socialism is a devious process of equalization. It kills the incentive of the top half and removes any desire for initiative in the bottom half. The inevitable result is a lower standard of living, which is determined by the units of wealth we produce and not the amount of dollar income we receive. The amendment to our Constitution equalize incomes and provide the means and method to socialize this Nation. A confiscating, unequal tax rate to protect Federal Gov. the financial corner-stone of Socialism which is the support of the people by the Government. There ultimately overthrow our inherited form of Government, which has proven the best governed are least governed without continual interference from the Federal Government. In order to remove financial support for socialistic experiments, Federal income tax laws should be used to reduce the Federal Government Debt; and that deficit it belongs on a business basis. Could you expect the present vote-buying administration to curtail its vote-buying power?

The prevailing wise-crack that "this Nation has the only lunatic asylum in the world run by the inmates and it is in Washington, D. C." is a sad commentary. A mere formal oath to uphold our Constitution will not do the job. It requires a political rebirth in States Rights.

I believe these few words represent the consensus of opinion in this area, and it is the duty of every citizen to express their views on our trend toward Socialism, which is only one step from Communism.

"Little feet can lead to big trouble!"

That was the warning issued by Chief L. C. Hicks of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, as balmy weather lured droves of Mississippi's small fry into streets, highways and playgrounds.

"Sheer childish exuberance and thoughtlessness," he said, "its nice weather, a hazardous time for children, an anxious time for parents and a responsible time for motorists."

Chief Hicks explained that when Spring first invites children's outdoor activities four or five months of pent-up energy are unleashed suddenly and safety training learned in the Fall may have been largely forgotten. "Motorists must realize that children are likely to be unpredictable and irresponsible," Chief Hick said. "Responsibility must, therefore, be assumed by motorists and parents."

The knowledge that he may not be legally responsible for an accident involving a child would be small consolation to any driver, the Highway Patrol pointed out. The parents' remorse will always stem not from what he did, but from what he did not do. It is the parent's obligation to teach his child safe traffic habits, and the motorist's responsibility to give the child the benefit of his most careful driving.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
SCRIPTURE, Habakkuk
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 67: 1-7.

Questioning God

Lesson for June 4, 1950

HABAKKUK has been called the prophet who dared to ask God questions. If he had not asked these questions he would not have had his answers, so we ought to be thankful for him. If he had meekly "taken it" without (so to speak) talking back to God, he himself might never have become a prophet and we might have missed the truth which he was enabled to see. If there had been morning papers in those days, Habakkuk would seldom have read anything good in them.

As for local news, it was all scandal. Murders, judges dispensing justice in the courts, good people having a very hard time of it. Abroad, things looked dark. The giant nation of Babylon was on the march westward, and it did not look as if the nation of Judah had what it would take to stop an invasion.

Habakkuk, a deeply sensitive man, could not brush it all off. He could not say, "Oh well, what can you expect?" or "I see the boys are at it again." He could not think of what was going on around him as if it were all a story, a murder-mystery to be enjoyed in an easy chair. He could not say "It is fate" and let it go at that.

He was desperate in his mind about it all. "Under mine eyes outrage and injury go on," he said (1:3, Moffatt's translation). He dared to ask the question, Why? Why does God permit such things?

God's Terrible Answer

GOD HAD AN ANSWER for Habakkuk, but it did not satisfy him at first; indeed it disturbed him deeply, for the answer looked worse than the original problem. The essence of it was this (Hab. 2:5-11): God had indeed seen the wicked ways of the nation of Judah, and was going to punish the whole country by defeat in war. He was bringing up against them the Babylonians (Chaldeans), an aggressive, fighting, ruthless nation. Sooner or later Babylon and Judah would clash, and then—Smash!

The Prophet Still Asks Questions

HABAKKUK KNEW very well what the Babylonian armies were like and what they had been doing. But could it be true that God would actually make use of a wicked nation like Babylon? God was "of purer eyes than to behold evil," how then could a good God use the cruel violence of godless armies, even for a righteous purpose?

The Babylonians were not God's people—they did not worship him or know him. How could God use his enemies to punish his own people? Does God justify the means by the end? Does God do evil that good may come?

Habakkuk, in short, was troubled by exactly the same kind of questions that have always arisen when men who believe in a righteous God ponder the meaning of the power of evil.

Faith Comes Through

HABAKKUK never did get a complete, logical answer to his doubts. What he did get was something more valuable. It was a two-fold answer. First, WAIT AND SEE. (2:1-3.) The crushing of Judah by Babylon would not be the last chapter of history. God has yet to settle his account with Babylon, and "God does settle all his accounts in October."

The other part of the answer is: THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH. The meaning here (2:4) is that there are two kinds of life, two types of character, two sorts of men. One is the man of pride and unfaith, the other is the man of faith. Unfaith kills, faith makes alive. Unfaith trembles and falls, faith endures.

So it is with men and nations. At that time you might have thought, Babylon will survive, Judah has no chance. But in the light of history, we know it was Babylon that perished, Judah that endured. Godlessness may have terrible power, but since it is godlessness, it has no final power against the real God.

So Habakkuk who began by asking questions, came out into glorious faith. The great poem with which his book closes is a bold confession of faith. No longer complaining, he cries out, "The Lord God is my strength!"

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

COTTON INSECT CONTROL

Many farmers are uneasy about boll weevil damage. This is the first year we remember so many weevils at this time of the year. The reason for so many weevils now is that so many of the insects hibernated and went thru the mild winter. If you remember we had a late fall and plenty of pink green cotton for the weevils to get in fine shape for the winter. Early harvesting and cutting the green stalks early will destroy most of the weevils before they are ready to hibernate for the winter. This practice will destroy ten to one more weevils than burning the woods. The weevils spend the winter in the cotton field or very close to where they are. The weevils that are here now may do some damage to the cotton but they will die in ten to twenty days after they come out of hibernation. Thrips, Aphids and Flea Hoppers often do a lot of damage. There is no need of poisoning for boll weevils until squares begin to form. Be ready to poison when the time comes. Order poison early. It is too late to order poison after the damage is done and local dealers cannot stock enough poison to meet the needs of one at the same time.

For boll weevil control spray or dust when the first squares appear if weevils are present. After squaring begins, make weekly counts of punctured squares.

All materials recommended for cotton insect control are poisonous and should be handled with care. Be careful not to breathe fumes from concentrated sprays. Wash hands well after handling the material.

Do not apply any of the organic dusts during the middle of the day. Late afternoon and night is the best time to apply. If you are using tractor equipment, may be applied at the same time you are cultivating where you are using tractor equipment.

The popular dust used with good success last year was the three percent Benzene Hexachloride and five percent DDT with or without sulphur mixed with them. This 3-5 mixture will control most all cotton insects when used at the rate of ten pounds per acre on medium to large cotton. This is effective and cheaper to use with alternate sprayings of Calaium Arsenate and is cheaper when one spraying of the 3-5 mixture is used then one spraying of Calcium Arsenate about five to six days apart.

We may not have the favorable boll weevil weather we had last year and may not have to use so much poison. It is good insurance to have some poison on hand if you need it.

Horn Flies and Screwworms

Horn flies, if not controlled during the next three months may cause cattle to lose as much as one-half pound of beef per day. On dairy cattle, milk production may be lowered as much as 15 to 20 percent.

Control horn flies by spraying. Wet the back, shoulders, neck and in hot or rainy weather, the under part of the body.

For dairy cattle, use methoxychlor, mixing one pound of 50 percent methoxychlor to each 12 gallons of water. This same rate is one cupful to three gallons of water. Control be for three or four weeks.

For beef cattle and cattle not being milked, use a one-half percent spray of either DDT, toxaphene or methoxychlor. Spray using any one of these materials is made by mixing one pound of the fifty percent wettable powder to 12 gallons of water, or about one cupful to three gallons of water. The same amount of DDT will do the work if the solution is kept well stirred as the powder soon settles to the bottom of sprayer. Spray the stable and inside barn walls with these materials so that you leave a white residue or white spots on the wall when it dries. A little time and money spent on fly control will pay back many times in weight gains and in milk production.

Livestock farmers can expect an outbreak of screwworms this summer. The screwworm is a fly maggot that eats living tissues of warm-blooded animals, occasionally killing the animal.

Any open wounds are likely to become infested with the maggots.

All cuts and wounds should be treated with a good disinfectant. Pine tar is good to prevent infestation. Keep the wound and hair around the wound painted with this material to prevent egg laying by screwworm maggots.

FARMERS CAN

GET INSURANCE

Farmers can now get satisfactory hospital and medical insurance. Farm Bureau members are eligible for Blue Cross group insurance.

Hospital insurance is a cheap and excellent protection.

Enrollment through Farm Bureau will close June 30. Then certain periods will be designated for enrollment in Blue Cross.

Farm Bureau also has automobile and Casualty Insurance and Life Insurance. It is all sound. The Farm Bureau had 20 million dollars life insurance on the books to start off. This has never been done in Mississippi before.

You can save your membership dues several times if you participate in this insurance program. One membership includes the entire family.

Drive On To Aid War Veterans Who Are Permanently And Totally Disabled

World War veterans have reason to be interested in another "big push" - the state-wide drive on the part of all veteran service officers to aid all eligible veterans who are permanently and totally disabled and unable to earn a living.

Working with service officers of the counties as well as all county welfare officers, the State Veterans Commission has prepared and distributed a comprehensive bulletin on this type of benefit to living disabled veterans. As to veterans who are eligible, it states: "A veteran of World War I or II, released from service under conditions other than dishonorable, determined by the Veterans Administration to have one or more non-service - connected disabilities which permanently and totally prevent him from earning a livelihood, may be awarded a pension of $60 monthly, provided his income is not over $1,000 annually if single or $2,500 annually if he has a wife or dependent child."

Age of the veteran is an important factor in qualifying, and requirements are relaxed materially at ages 55, 60 and 65. Disabled veterans who think they may be eligible for this benefit should visit their County Service Officer, Post Service Officer, County Welfare Officer immediately, or write to the State Veterans Affairs Commission, Jackson, Mississippi.

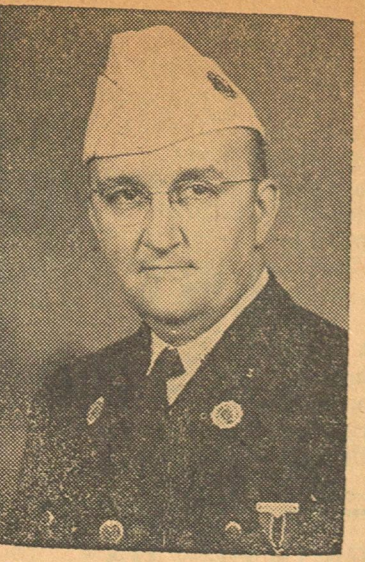

Boys Conservation School At Roosevelt State Park July 31, August 4

Two hundred or more boys from the 62 hill counties of the State will swoop down on Roosevelt State Park for the 9th Annual Session of Boys Conservation School July 31.

This promises to be an event worth waiting for since some of the boys slated to come had made their plans to attend last years school which was postponed due to polio epidemic. Selection of the boys is now being made in the various counties by the County Agents, State Game Warden, Vocational Teachers and Forest Rangers, and the names of boys and sponsoring agents are coming into the office of the Mississippi Forestry and Chemurgic Association, who operates the school.

Jack Stuart, Chairman of the Boys Conservation School Committee announces that elaborate plans are complete for entertaining the boys and visitors. A public program will be held on Tuesday evening, August 1. An outstanding speaker will be secured and the customary chicken barbecue will make the occasion an enjoyable one.

Boys who attend these schools and are interested in carrying on a planned forestry project under the guidance of their 4-H Club work or F. F. A. work will have an opportunity to compete for the College Scholarship of $500 annually by the Mississippi Forestry and Chemurgic Assn. and will also have a chance to compete in 1951 for a trip to the Five Day Free Forestry Training School sponsored by pulp mills of the State and conducted by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association and the Mississippi Forestry and Chemurgic Assn.

Ralph M. Goodwin, Jr., of Jackson, unanimously endorsed by his home post for Department Commander of the Mississippi American Legion, has begun an active campaign for that office, subject to the will of the delegates to the 32nd annual convention here in July.

The Henry H. Graves Post, largest in the state, is proud of the record of its former Commander, who at present is serving as Central Vice Commander for Mississippi, and as Chief de Gare for Voiture 247 of the 40 at 8 here.

In a letter directed to all posts in the state, Commander D. B. George, of the Jackson post urges support for Godwin.

He relates that Godwin holds the distinction of having visited 50 of the 63 posts in his district this year, a mark unequalled by any other Vice Commander. He has traveled some 10,000 miles in keeping these obligations.

The Henry H. Graves Post's candidate for Department Commander is one of the most energetic and loyal Legionnaires in the state. Under his guidance the membership of the post climbed, and similarly, the central district of Mississippi is leading the state in 1950 membership. Goodwin can claim some 12,000 of the 26,500 1950 memberships for the central area.

If elected Department Commander, Ralph Godwin's announced program includes:

- Increased Community Service programs;
- Enlarged Veterans Hospital Service programs on Post, District, Area and Department levels;
- Greater delegation of responsibility and authority to District Officers and Department Vice Commanders;
- Strict enforcement of all Department and National Convention mandates with full facilities at our disposal;
- All Department Committee appointments to be made on the basis of "Is this the best man for the Legion in this job?"

If elected, Ralph Godwin will always seek and welcome "counsel, guidance and advice, but will be subject only to the will of the majority of Legion membership in Mississippi as expressed through the duly elected Department Executive Committee.

The Air Force experimental two men room system has been installed in one of 3463rds barracks, T-550. After being in operation for over a month there is every reason to consider the project a success. Only outstanding airmen may occupy the barracks and they have proven their pride and high morale in every way.

This barracks operate with 48 men one barracks Chief and 47 Pfc's. The one man not a Pfc is Cpl Starkey who acts in a informal way as supervisor of the barracks. His job consist of, detailing men to their small details. These Airmen do not pull any fetuige duty or K P. He is also flight marcher of his squadron, Marching students to and from school, and generally seeing that the barracks is functioning according to the expected standards.

A peerless Airman in his own rights Cpl Orien N. Starkey re-enlisted for six years last December and is definitely making the Air Force his career. Hailing from Tishomingo, Miss., Starkey is presently on detached Service from Craig Field, Ala., and will return there as soon as he completes his Clerk-Typist course at Warren.

Standing 6 feet 4 inches weighing 185 pounds Cpl Starkey reaction to the model barracks and the Airman it houses in typical of the reaction of all the men in the barracks.

"The idea and plan of this barracks is a definite boost to the morale of the Airman, stated Cpl. Starkey, and I believe wholeheartedly that the outcome will be a tremendous success.

Cpl Starkey is leader of his school class and is well liked by who have known him.

PRAIRIE TRAINING INSTITUTE IS SUPPLYING INDUSTRIAL NEED

Mississippi's trend toward greater industrialization has received an added boost through establishment of the Trades Training Institute of Mississippi State College at Prairie.

Harnessed to the soil for generations, people of Mississippi are today enjoying greater opportunities to free themselves from agriculture as the only means to economic security.

Occupying the site of the wartime Gulf Ordnance Plant, T.T.I. was the brain child of a group of far sighted Mississippians who saw the need for an institution to offer technical training to that vast majority of young men who would never go to college, either because they did not have the educational background to enter or an interest in college training. A large number of ex-servicemen made this need stand out as it had never done before.

At the end of the war 36,465 Mississippi World War II veterans indicated their desire for some type of technical training, but, as in many states, only junior colleges and private vocational schools—all too small to meet the tremendous demand—offered any such courses.

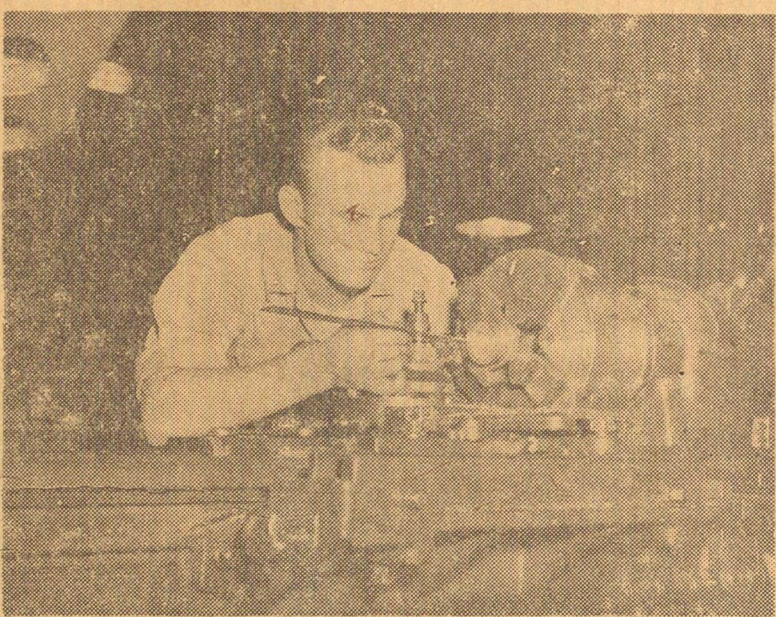

President Fred T. Mitchell and his staff at Mississippi State College, together with the late Governor Thomas L. Bailey, and other far sighted Mississippians, saw in this abandoned war plant the possibility to bring to these returning veterans the opportunity that had never before been theirs within their own state. Lack of education would not be a handicap. Plans for the Institute's organization included related and remedial study courses to enable these veterans to raise their educational level at the same time they were learning to become skilled craftsmen. To date, twelve students have learned to read and write at Prairie while they were becoming proficient in their chosen trade.

After many set-backs the Trades Training Institute finally became a reality on November 15, 1946. W. J. Breit, with over 30 years' experience in trades and vocational training, drew the task of organizing the Institute, and became its director when the school was established. From a modest beginning of seven courses, he and his staff expanded the school's program until today training is offered in 17 fields of study. At its first registration the Institute enrolled 234 students in its seven course curriculum which included automotive mechanics, cabinet making, carpentry, machine shop work, industrial electricity, welding, and office management. The institution was able to utilize facilities previously operated by the Gulf Ordnance Plant to commence the teaching of these courses.

As other courses were added it became necessary to expand the available facilities, convert buildings used for other purposes, and assemble materials not already available. In 1947 courses in refrigeration and air conditioning, automotive body and fender repair, painting and interior decorating, office machine repair, farm mechanics, electrical appliances, and radio repair were added to enlarge the Institute's program.

In 1948 courses were begun in cafeteria management and Diesel mechanics and a radio repair course was revised to include training in television. This completed the school's present curriculum.

By reason of its location, the Trades Training Institute at first attracted students mainly from northeast Mississippi. As it became better known students from all over the state as well as adjoining ones applied for admission. Today 70 of the 82 counties of Mississippi are represented as well as Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Florida, Iowa and Virginia. Courses vary from 12 to 36 months in length. To date there have been 699 graduates. Of this number approximately 150 have re-entered to take additional training. According to a survey conducted by the school's Information Department, an on its graduates, they have been well received by the employers. Approximately 80 per cent reported having found employment immediately or very soon after graduation.

One convincing example picked from a number of similar files is that of Luther Dravin Drake, 21, of Smithville, Mississippi, Drake, a married veteran, entered the industrial electricity class with this background: farm laborer with an eighth grade education, discharged seaman first class, U. S. Navy. Eleven months after Drake entered the 18-month maximum course his record read as follows: graduated, instructors remarks, good, grade average of "B", employed by a well-known mid-South firm with a beginning weekly wage of $54.22.

Included in the school's related and remedial study program are such subjects as mechanical drawing, blueprint reading, basic English grammar, physics, basic and advanced mathematics, business law, typing, civics, shorthand, bookkeeping and class room theory for the applied shop courses.

The school is open throughout the year and students may enroll the last Monday of any month. In general, four hours each day are devoted to production work in the shops and two hours to related and remedial studies. Students are assigned to remedial courses according to their needs. Housing facilities and dormitory space are available to accommodate 1200 to 1500 students. In addition, facilities common to the average college campus such as a cafeteria, hospital, gymnasium and athletic fields are a part of the Institute's campus.

The Institute's student body has been composed almost 100 per cent of veterans. Contrary to the trend among most of the colleges and universities today veteran enrollment at the Institute has yet to decline. The school has grown continuously from the date of its establishment. Its present capacity is approximately 1200. A majority of the courses have already been filled and approximately 200 applicants have had to be turned away in the past two or three months for those courses that have reached a maximum.
