Hi-Lites and Topics

By Bob Towery

Enthusiasm and hard work are an "all time" high in this week among the various committees and other workers as they get down to earnest planning for the big event on July 1. The following committees will bear the burden in making the event successful: R. A. McDaniel, Finance; Mrs. B. L. Martin, Program; Mrs. Ben McRae, Jr., Planning and lighting; Prentiss Partridge, Bob Towery, publicity; E. D. Davis and W. H. Hannon, Street; Paul Keller and J. H. Allen, Speakers Platform; J. H. Allen, H. F. Chambers, Jr., Traffic Safety. In the hands of these people lies the success of the program. Mayor Storch has announced a meeting at the city hall for Friday night.

Scheduled Friday night between the Raiders and the Chiefs has been cancelled according to Carol Threest. The game arrangements of the Chiefs. Next Sunday, the Chiefs will journey to Sallis for a game with the boys who can't win at home but they always manage to come out on top at the end of the game in Iuka. Next Thursday, the Chiefs will play at home for a game with the Tennessee. The Tennessee was scheduled for a game last Sunday, but was cancelled and Muscle Shoals were substituted. The Chiefs were over the Muscle Shoals by a score of 11-7. Jack Red Hudson and Gerald were the heavy hitters of the Chiefs. Jack Godwin of his usual good game being the bat, and batted in his of runs.

The fair sex in Iuka are real fans. They attend the game and root for the home team. Between innings they are the Major League games, most any of them can tell how many hits and runs scored in current games, or will pitch tomorrow's game. You'll keep the old "snore" in sleepers, fellows, if you keep these Iuka female bases.

June Designated As 'Rededication Month' In Majority Of States

The month of June, 1950, has been formally designated as "Rededication Month" by many governors throughout the United States, according to copies of proclamations being received by the National Editorial Association, originators of the mid-century rededication idea.

By the first of May, most of the 48 governors had issued proclamations calling upon citizens to rededicate themselves during this month to "the principles of freedom we inherited from our Founding Fathers." The formal proclamations are expected to continue until every state takes cognizance of the important event.

The NEA, taking the lead in boosting the program, will climax the rededication period by visiting Plymouth Rock on Sunday, June 25, and holding a rededication program. Meanwhile, every section of the country will be "reviewing the American scene, pointing to those things which have made the nation great" and rededicating itself to the fundamental principles on which this nation was founded.

In addition to state-wide proclamations by governors, mayors in many towns are issuing their own proclamations calling upon the citizenry to take part in the observance, in order to carry the story to every cross-road.

As those sponsoring the special month see it, the whole program will be good for the "soul" of the nation during these times when so many are "disturbed and unsure of spiritual and moral values."

RESOLUTION

The following resolution, unanimously adopted by the members of the National Editorial Association, touched off the rapidly-expanding "Rededication Month" for June, 1950, across the nation:

WHEREAS, the imprint of war distress upon the world leaves people everywhere disturbed and unsure of spiritual and moral values, and

WHEREAS, a condition of poverty in many lands slowly grinds freedom under the creeping paralysis of socialism, and

WHEREAS, theories foreign to the American way of life cast false light upon the virtue of character based upon self-respect earned by honest toil, and

WHEREAS, these theories threaten to desecrate our appreciation of merit in strong character, thrift, hard work, unselfish devotion to public welfare and fear of God, and

WHEREAS, these American traits were the foundation stones upon which our great country was built,

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the National Editorial Association, in convention assembled this thirteenth day of November, at Chicago, does hereby respectfully urge its members in this Thanksgiving month, to rededicate themselves to the principles of freedom inherited from our Founding Fathers, and

HEREBY BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the National Editorial Association shall make a pilgrimage to Plymouth Rock during its annual meeting in June 1950, for the purpose of re-living those inspiring events which played an important part in the early life of our country, and re-affirming our faith in the ideals of liberty and justice upon which this nation was founded.

N. Y. Consultant On Economics Pays Visit To Iuka

SAYS IUKA HAS GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR GREATER PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY

Dr. Millard C. Faught Talks To Iuka Citizens; Was Judge In "National Sweepstakes" Contest

Iuka was highly honored over the week end with a visit by Dr. Millard C. Faught, President of the Faught Company Inc., New York City, consultant on economics and particularly community relations.

Dr. Faught was one of the judges in the "Build A Better Community" contest in which the Iuka 20th Century Club won the national sweepstakes award. Although Dr. Faught has lived in New York City for the past 15 years he was born in the very small town of Sunset Pass, Arizona, population 18, in a log cabin and delivered by a sheep herder. He is known as "Tex" Faught. His father was an oil wildcatter in Texas. He still wears ten gallon hats. Dr. Faught is a frequent speaker before business groups on current economic and business problems. He is author of five books, the most recent one on social and economic problems of television, writer for Colliers, Saturday Evening Post, Readers Digest, and on stories like that of the 20th Century Club.

In spite of Dr. Faught's very high position he was able to get on common grounds with local people and as a result what he had to say at the Saturday night meeting to a group of business and civic leaders was not taken with a grain of salt. Dr. Faught did not make an eloquent speech as every one had expected, he made a down to earth grass roots talk that will be remembered, and his converts were many. In his talk he depicted a very peculiar individual known as Johnny Mouse. Johnny Mouse, said Dr. Faught, was a "stem winder" in his community, and that every community has its Johnny Mouse. Before his talk ended Dr. Faught had every one present thinking in terms of Johnny Mouse as a very important individual.

ARRESTED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

J. B. Myrick of Dennis was arrested June 4th on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. According to Sheriff Pace, a 1936 model Ford, driven by Myrick, side swiped a 1948 Model Mercury, driven by Mrs. Everett Hannon, after Mrs. Hannon had driven her car off the roadway to avoid Myrick's automobile hitting her car.

J. B. Myrick, Ray Bennett and Hubert Bennett, all from Dennis, were arrested Friday, June 9th and charged with grand larceny. According to records in the Sheriff's office all three have admitted taking a motor off a hay bailer belonging to Ernest Thorne of Belmont, Routl. They also admitted taking about forty gallons of gasoline from Thorne.

NEGRO EDUCATION VOLCANO ERUPTING OVER SOUTHLAND

ATLANTA, Ga.—Equal education for Negroes is a volcano on which the South slept for half a century.

Now the volcano has erupted into a billion-dollar problem. One billion dollars is the best available estimate of the total difference between educational facilities for whites and Negroes in 17 Southern and Border States today—from kindergarten through college.

The figure raises a cloud for the South in the wake of U. S. Supreme Court decisions last week.

The high court ruled unanimously and emphatically, in Texas and Oklahoma cases that States must provide education for Negroes equal in every way to that for white persons.

If separate Negro facilities are not truly equal said the court, then Negroes must be admitted to white institutions.

Actually, of course, that's no new idea. Southern States themselves enacted laws demanding equality back in reconstruction days.

The problem is that little was done about it for so long. In recent years some States have started big programs to meet the issue. But there's still far to go for the South as a whole.

Each time the Supreme Court flashes its red warning signals enforcing equality uneasiness spreads across the South. More than a dozen equality suits are pending now in lower courts in Southern States.

What can the South do?

Senator Johnston (D-S. C.) said last week, "it's obvious that South Carolina cannot afford to provide separate and equal school facilities for both races."

It's also obvious that South Carolina isn't ready to integrate the races in schools and colleges. Said Editor Ralph McGill in The Atlanta Constitution: "We should have known that we could not solemnly pass laws and then cynically and cruelly ignore them and get away with it forever. Certainly there were vast discriminations. There still are. We are caught in the trap of our own laws."

Increasing the headaches, the South's white schools are superior to Negro schools, but below the average for the nation; the South is the region least able to pay for either.

COUNTRY EDITORS LEAD NATION IN REDEDICATION MOVEMENT

Mutual Network Will Broadcast Plymouth Program

The National Editorial Association program of rededication, to be held at Plymouth, Massachusetts, on Sunday, June 25, will be broadcast coast to coast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Fifteen minutes of the one-hour program will be carried by Mutual to its 500-odd stations at 2:00 to 2:15 P.M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time. The broadcast will originate at Plymouth Rock. It is expected that many stations will arrange to record the whole program on tape and broadcast it later.

The NEA Rededication Committee, who arranged the broadcast, requests that "listener groups" be formed in every city, town, hamlet and rural community. "By doing this, millions can be with us in spirit as we revalue the principles which have made our nation the greatest on earth," Guy Easterly, who conceived the rededication idea, said.

Bill Cunningham Will Broadcast From Plymouth Sunday, June 25th

Bill Cunningham, Mutual ace news-commentator, will broadcast his program from the NEA mike at Plymouth on Sunday, June 25 at 2:30 P. M., EDT. His Sunday programs are not news commentaries as such, but a gathering together of the interesting, the dramatic and the important facts of the week colored by Bill's own explanation of their meaning and his own interpretation of their effect.

Rededication Speaker

County editors of America are going back to Plymouth Rock June 25 under the auspices of the National Editorial Association. They, along with other leaders, are asking the rest of the nation to join with them "in spirit" in the pilgrimage. In fact, many states, cities and towns have entered under way to observe the event.

The editors will, on that Sunday afternoon hold a rededication service and reaffirm "our faith in the ideals of liberty and justice on which this nation was founded."

The idea came from the South, the principal speaker will be from the Mid-West and the program will be in New England. Participants will be Country Editors from every state in the union.

The 5,300 editors in the association have asked ministers to use rededication sermons in each church of the nation June 25. They will stress the theme in their own editorials and ask other publications, radio stations, civic, veterans, farm, women's and youth groups to do the same.

Alan McIntosh, a country editor from Luverne, Minnesota, will be the principal speaker at Plymouth Rock ceremonies which will follow the annual convention. Editors will go in a body from Boston to Plymouth, making it truly a Pilgrimage of Modern Pilgrims.

Lester Williams, of Columbia, Miss., co-chairman of the NEA Rededication Committee, wants to make it a "pilgrimage of Rededication to the Faith of our Fathers." He sees a peril in the "gradual loss of individual freedom" due to the encroachment of "big government, big business and big labor."

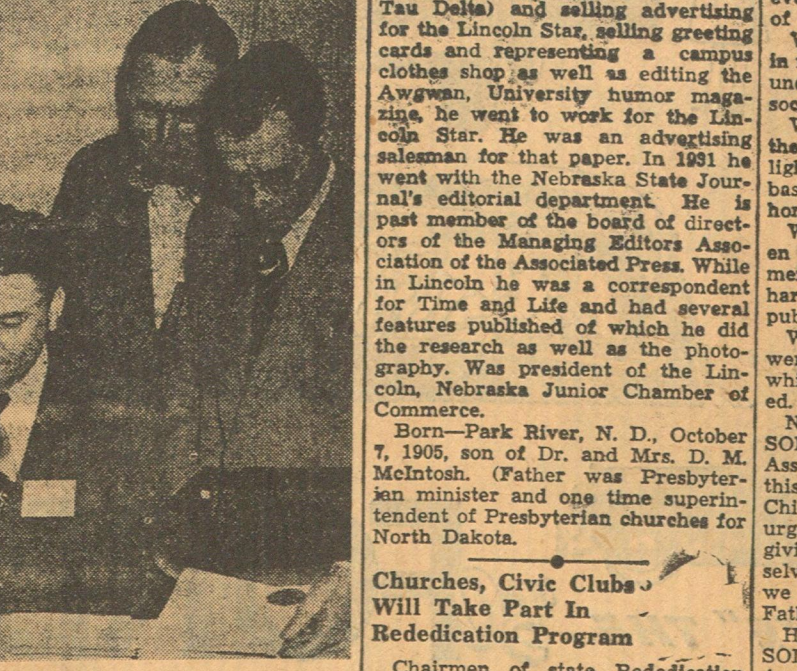

His co-chairman is Howard Fowler, of Mansfield, Mass. The two chairmen will lead the editors on a tour of New England in the days between the end of the convention and the June 25 ceremony.

Alan C. McIntosh, publisher of the Rock County Star-Herald at Luverne, Minnesota, is the immediate past president of the Minnesota Editorial Association. He is a director of the National Editorial Association and a former director of Newspaper Advertising Service, the business affiliate of the National Editorial Association. He is a past president of the Interstate Press Association, (South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa newspaper group.)

Came to Luverne, Minnesota in 1940 and purchased the Rock County Star. Consolidated that paper with the Rock County Herald in October of 1942.

After graduating from the University of Nebraska where he worked his way thru school by waiting on tables at his fraternity house (Delta Psi Delta) and selling advertising for the Lincoln Star, selling greeting cards and representing a campus clothes shop, as well as editing the Awwan, University humor magazine, he went to work for the Lincoln Star. He was an advertising salesman for that paper. In 1931 he went with the Nebraska State Journal's editorial department. He is past member of the board of directors of the Managing Editors Association of the Associated Press. While in Lincoln he was a correspondent for Time and Life and had several features published of which he did the research as well as the photography. Was president of the Lincoln, Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Born—Park River, N. D., October 7, 1905, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. M. McIntosh. (Father was Presbyterian minister and one time superintendent of Presbyterian churches for North Dakota.)

Churches, Civic Clubs Will Take Part In Rededication Program

Chairmen of state Rededication Committees report that many churches, civic groups and other organizations are planning to take part in the Rededication Month program. Ministers will hold rededication services in the churches and clubs will have Americanism programs during the month of June.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

By Paul Keller

June has been called Dairy Month, partly because of high production. We have low consumption of milk in Mississippi. We are fast becoming a dairy state but the average person does not consume enough milk products.

Milk a Most Nearly Perfect Food: Because of the essential nutrients contained in milk it has been called, "natures most perfect food." There is the essential energy giving assimilated fat, muscle tissue building, minerals for bone building and repair and large quantities of vitamins for growth and protection against diseases and infections. Probably there is not any food known to man that will do more to hold off aging as the years stack up. Milk is a most important source of calcium, a most important component of teeth and bone. Calcium is not obtainable from most foods, a fact which gives milk one of its great nutritional values.

While the food values of milk can be gotten from other foods, they cannot be gotten so readily or economically as in milk. Milk at present prices and when compared to other food prices, is one of our cheaper foods.

Tell Consumers: Dairy farmers and handlers of dairy products have the best "selling values" of any product on the market. Have they told anybody about it? How many producers help relieve the crowded market by consuming more dairy products themselves? How many call for milk or its products at the breakfast, dinner and supper table, also between times at the soda fountain? If the people back of some of the products, drink, etc., advertised over the radio from daylight until late at night, in the daily press, on roadside billboards, on the screen and everywhere people look, read or here, had the background of values to human beings found in milk and milk products, they could make a noise sure enough. Had the people back of these other much advertised, less valuable, if not harmful products, had been as quite about their products as have dairy farmers and the dairy industry generally, who would have heard of their products, who would be adding his bits to the billions spent for them each year? The answer would be, not many. Why not help tell people about the real values in a bottle of milk, a pound of butter, a serving of ice cream, a pound of cheese, cottage cheese, evaporated milk and other milk products.

Suggestion for June: The following are some of the things that may be carefully considered in June.

1. Clip the weeds and tough grass off the pasture. We see many pastures over the state where dock and thistles have been permitted to mature seed. They will make many, many more to grow next year where grasses should be growing.
2. Plant sudan or millet or some other grazing feed crop at once on oat stubble or other open fields. If not needed for grazing in August and September, it will be needed as hay or silage next winter. Do not hesitate to fertilize heavily with 200 pounds ammonium nitrate per acre.
3. Haymaking season is here. Do not forget that over-mature and over-exposed discolored hay has lost much of its palatability, feed nutrients and digestibility as well as minerals and vitamins.
4. There is still time to put in a silo of some type and to plant a crop to fill it if these have not been done already. A barn full of good hay and a silo full of good silage is the best insurance known against failure of grazing.
5. Quality products is the basis for profitable advertising and a good marketing program. Keep the milk clean and cool, and keep the herd healthy.
6. Do not overlook good calf care during the busy cropping season. Careless feeding and housing practices may cost a seasons calf crop either in stunted undersize cows for the future or in actual loss of the calves. Calves by production bred sires and from the best cows are a part of your yearly income from the herd. They are worth the best of care.

Fly control is very important now, on the cows and around the barn walls. A new material has come out and is on the market. Methoxychlor and Lindane are both good. The cows can't fight flies and do a good job of producing milk.

Some of our local farmers tell us that they don't have a milk route to keep cows profitably. J. A. Coker of R-2, Iuka, says he is selling $50.00 worth of cream a month from three cows. J. C. Starkey of Iuka R-1, is milking six cows and selling them.

Living Longer and Enjoying it

The average length of life in the U. S. today is 67 years—nearly double what it was at the time of the nation's founding—and 18 years more than at the beginning of this century. And thanks to our enterprise system, we have more leisure time after work to enjoy life, and a multitude of things to enjoy it with!

Help for Our Times

Lesson for June 18, 1950

FOR TIMES that are dull, times without hope, Malachi is the prophet. When he lived the exile was over; but it was no golden age. In the dingy little city of Jerusalem, rich and beautiful no longer, lived only a comparative handful of rather poor people, dragging out a monotonous existence. To these people, living in discouraging times, Malachi had, and has, a message from God.

Better Leaders
SPEAKING DIRECTLY to the leaders of the people, namely the priests, Malachi condemns them for not really taking stock in the thing they were doing. How we need that today! If the church today in any place is dead, you may be sure there are some dead leaders.

Dead from the neck up, that is. And not necessarily the preachers. Many a good preacher breaks his heart for lack of support. How many men and women, in your church, can the minister count on to fill in where they are needed, without making up a dozen reasons why they "can't" do it?

Why do Christians talk and pray as if their religion were all-important, but act as if everything else came first?

Law Observance

ANOTHER THING for which Malachi pleads is law observance. (Eg. 2:8; 3:5) They did not need new laws, for they had good ones. What they needed was to obey the laws they had. This again is what our times need. We have so many laws now that only an expert can keep up with them. No civilized nation could live, to be sure, under the unchanged statutes of a generation ago.

Nevertheless, if all the legislatures in America were to resolve to pass no more laws for five years, and if for five years the energy, time and money spent ordinarily on getting up new laws were put in on educating the people in the laws now in existence, and in fostering law observance and in preventing and punishing crimes, ours would be a better country.

The Unbroken Home

AGAIN, Malachi stands for the unbroken home. He knows that no country can be strong when its homes are weak. (2:10-17). In the year 1948 there were about 420,000 divorces in the United States, and 1.30 million marriages. That is a divorce rate of about 23 per cent. In some states the percentage of divorce is even higher. Indeed, in one large midwestern city it was announced in the papers about two years ago that the marriages had "caught up with" the divorces, i.e., they were at last having more marriages than divorces! This was an extreme case.

To say nothing else about it, 420,000 divorces and 12,000 desertions means that in the United States alone there are at least 432,000 persons who have no regard for the most solemn promises.

Support The Church

FIRST AND LAST, Malachi asks better support of the church. You need the church, of course; but then the church needs you. There is need for better leadership in the first place, and better support from the common man. Few persons want to live in a community without churches; yet a mere church building will not effect community life in the least. A beautiful building and a tall white spire are not a church.

The only church which will help a neighborhood is one in which the neighborhood takes an active part, a church where neighbors together worship God and where they are inspired to plans and acts of service for their fellow-men.

The main object of the church is not to shore up the country; still if you want a better country, one of the best ways to support it is to support the Christian church. For of all the institutions in the nation, the church is the only one devoted to the purpose of transforming human lives.

Women Compared To Newspapers

Girls are like newspapers. They are healthier and stronger than they used to be. They have many type faces. They are worth looking over. Back numbers aren't in demand. They aren't afraid to speak their mind. They can make or break a man. They have influence. They carry news wherever they go. If they know anything they tell it. Every guy should have one and leave his neighbor's alone. Rock Rapids (Iowa) Lyon Co. Reporter.

Electric Kitchen on Wheels

Complete all-electric kitchens and home-laundries, duplicating those found in prize winning homes, have been placed on wheels for a tour that will take them into thousands of towns and villages across the nation. As shown above such glamor innovations as the pushbutton electric range, the front opening automatic dishwasher and the two-door refrigerator will be demonstrated by home economists who will accompany the exhibit from Chicago's Hotpoint factories. While the project is planned to ultimately utilize many complete "kitchens and laundries on wheels" in all parts of the country, the pilot run is being made to 50 farm and home equipment shows at points in Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee.

A spokesman said that besides the fairs and other crowd-events, special showings of the equipment would be held for dealer and electric company customers.

In addition to the full size electric kitchens and laundries, the Fruehauf trailer which carries the exhibit has installed two "planning nooks" where women may design and build their own kitchens out of miniature scale models. Hotpoint dealers have arrangements by which the miniature appliances and the design selected may be duplicated in a new or remodeled home kitchen.
