Mississippi's Present School System

(Editor's note: The article below by Supt. H. L. Shook very clearly defines Mississippi's present school system in relation to other Southern states. This article is presented in an effort to enlighten the general public on the plight of Mississippi's schools. We hope to publish more of these discourses dealing with proposed legislation to help remedy the situation.)

On November 3, the Mississippi Legislature will be convened in extraordinary session to consider the problem of the State's Public School system. It is generally accepted that one of the major considerations will be the matter of equalization of the races from the standpoint of facilities and opportunities. As the existing school program comes under observation, two conclusions are immediately obvious: (1) that the state is providing equal facilities and opportunities neither between the races nor among the various sections of the state, and (2) that Mississippi falls far behind her sister Southern States in her system of public school education.

The Mississippi Economic Council has done much to define the problem and to bring it into focus. From a pamphlet published and distributed by MEC, the following comparisons are taken:

1. From the standpoint of daily expenditure per pupil in average daily attendance, Mississippi ranks last among nine southern states, spending 50c while Tennessee doubles this figure and Louisiana spends three times as much.

2. While, in the last ten years, Mississippi was increasing its expenditure per pupil in average daily attendance 159 per cent, Tennessee, Alabama, and Florida were increasing theirs by 200 per cent or more. Louisiana leads the nine states with an increase of 278 per cent. Again, our state stands at the bottom of the list.

3. In the matter of the value of school property per pupil in average daily attendance, Mississippi ranks last. The figure for our state is $152; we are now doubled by Florida and Alabama.

4. The expenditure per pupil, white and colored, whether considered as individual races or taken together, is less than any other southern state.

5. From the standpoint of the percentage of total income spent on education, Mississippi occupies the cellar position among the southern states and ranks about 30 in the Nation, while Louisiana and North Carolina devote from 3.25 to 3.5 per cent of personal income to support of the public schools, Mississippi contributes 2.24 percent (1949-1950).

6. Mississippi tops the list of southern states in the number of one-room schools. In 1949-50 11.4 per cent of Mississippi teachers were in one-room schools; the majority of these were negro.

7. Mississippi also tops the list in the number of school districts with a total of 2139. Georgia ranks next with only 215, while Florida and Louisiana have only 67 each.

8. Mississippi, during the decade ending in 1950, increased her teachers salaries by 50 per cent. This was the smallest per centage increase in the south. Arkansas increased her teachers' salaries by more than 82 percent; Louisiana, by 75 percent. It is not surprising, therefore, that 51 percent of the education graduates of 1952 deserted Mississippi classrooms, going to other states to teach or leaving education for a more lucrative or attractive field of endeavor.

In view of these assertions what seem indisputable, every Mississippian should become informed regarding the place for equalization and education reform as proposed by the Legislature Recess Education Committee and to be submitted to the Legislature in the forth-coming special session.

Three Men Tried For Telephone Fishing In Lake

Mack Goode, Vernon Goode, and E. C. Shackelford, charged with "telephone" fishing, were tried before a six-man jury in Justice of the Peace court at the Courthouse in Iuka Monday morning.

Trial was conducted by J. C. McCulloch, Justice of the Peace, and the defendants were fined $150.00 and costs each. An appeal was made and the cases was carried over to the January term of Circuit court. The men are out under appeal bonds.

The men were arrested by Buster Marlar, Sixty Yarber, Erra Holland, and Mr. Malone, an officer from Alabama who co-operated in apprehending the offenders.

Telephones In Service In Mississippi

Telephones in service in Mississippi during July were 5.2 per cent higher than the same month a year earlier, according to the current issue of the Mississippi Business Review, monthly publication of the Business Research Station of the School of Business and Industry at Mississippi State College.

Total telephones in service used in these comparisons were as follows: July 1953, 255,922; June 1953, 254,966; and July 1952, 243,881.

Telephones in service were equal to 321 per cent of the 1939-40 average at the close of July, one point higher than the previous month.

Iuka's Football Team Making Progress

According to Coach Mercer, Iuka's newly formed football team is making fine progress with the boys putting forth a real effort toward learning the fundamentals of the game.

A scrimmage game is being planned with the Kossuth team which in all probably will be played before October 9th; definite date has not been set yet. Also games are being tentatively planned with Booneville and Baldwin. All the games will have to be played on the opposing team's field since the Iuka field is not ready for use.

A possible line-up for the locals and positions they will play is: Billy Kinard, center; Eugene McAnally, and Harold Kent, guards; Wayne Yow and Kermit Rushing, Jr., tackles; Gene Waddy and Jackie Bryant, ends; Donald Davis, quarterback; Charles Kay, fullback; Eugene Reynolds, halfback, and Dickie Robinson, halfback.

Coach Mercer said new boys were coming out, some of them new pupils in the school, and there is a total of 26 men now engaging in practice.

All residents of the entire county are invited to a public meeting to be held next Thursday night at the Iuka school auditorium for the purpose of discussion of the proposed legislation concerning education that is to be brought before the state legislature when it convenes in November.

The meeting is under the sponsorship of the Tishomingo County Teachers Association of which M. L. Hatcher of Burnsville is president. Speaker for the occasion will be Mr. Halsey E. Whorley of Tupelo who is a member of the Mississippi Economic Council which organization has made an exhaustive study of the education conditions now existing in the state.

Following is an announcement by Mr. Stricklin, county superintendent of education concerning the meeting:

"This is to notify all teachers that there will be a teacher's meeting Thursday night, October 1, 1953, at the Iuka School Auditorium, at which time we shall expect all teachers, and all other people who will come to be present. We shall have for our speaker, Mr. Halsey E. Whorley, Tupelo, Mississippi, who is neither a teacher, nor a member of the Legislature, and who will be presented to the Legislature when it is called in session for November by Governor White. We are expecting our Senator and Representative to be present. We shall expect all teachers, all trustees, all bus drivers, County School Board members, all ministers of the Gospel, all business men, all taxpayers, all club leaders and members, and any and all people who are interested, to be present.

"Reader, you can see that you are included, so please be present. These school bills are already written, ready to be presented to the Legislature for passage, or rejection, and this meeting is called to acquaint you with the merits of this proposed school legislation. Please be present."

H. L. Shook, superintendent of the Iuka schools is also planning to obtain a tape recording of a speech made by the assistant states attorney general explaining the proposed legislation for schools. If this recording and equipment is obtained it will be made available to all clubs, groups, and any organization who desires the use of it to further explain the proposed laws.

Sale Of T. V. A. Lands Brings Handsome Prices

Interest was high in the TVA land sale held Monday at the courthouse with bidders from as far away as Memphis making purchases. A large crowd was in attendance for the sale.

Lands offered for sale were east of highway 57 in Tennessee, east of highway 25 in Mississippi and on the Margerum-Riverton road in Colbert county, Alabama.

Horace Baker of Corinth paid the fanciest price for any one single lot, paying $4100.00 for lot No. 1. Of the entire number of lots sold the price averaged well over $300.00 per acre.

TVA, State Men Sampling Fish In Pickwick

A group of biologists from TVA and the Miss. State Game and Fish commission have been in this area this week sampling the waters for species of fish and quantities of food.

A two acre inlet on Yellow creek near the river was sealed off with a chemical that prevented other fish from entering the area. Chemicals were used to kill the fish in the sealed area. Samples of various sized fish and different species were taken, weighed and measured and the scales placed in an envelope with all necessary data and sent to laboratories in Washington. According to the biologists, fish killed by the chemical were not harmed as to eating qualities.

Game wardens for the area assisted in the work and according to reports, there is an ample supply of fish food.

The Lord's Acre Is Harvested At Dennis Methodist Church

The Lord's Acre project of the Dennis Methodist Church was harvested last Thursday morning. The church committee, composed of Will Young, R. E. Flurry, J. P. Lindsey, and Charlie Flurry, directed the project. These men with the cooperation of the entire resident Church membership are responsible for the success of the Lord's Acre project.

The Lord's Acre was begun in early April, when the Official Board of the Church adopted the program. Mr. J. P. Lindsey donated one acre and half of land to be used. The county agent, Mr. W. C. Hamilton, tested the soil to see what type of fertilizer the ground needed and the amount to be used. On April 19th, the Rev. W. L. Whitener dedicated the ground at the church.

The ground was broken later in the month, and the Lord's Acre was planted about May 10th. Everyone joined in and helped to make the project a success.

Those who are unable to give time in the field made other donations. Some gave the seed and cotton posion; while others hoed, plowed and picked the cotton. The church bought the fertilizer.

Last Thursday morning, the call was heard, "The Lord's Acre is white and ready for harvest, and the labours are few." But not for long! Because, twenty-five members of the church responded to the plea, and in less than four hours, the cotton was on its way to the Dennis Gin Company where Mr. W. B. Lindsey, ginned the bale. It was a small bale, weighing only 362 pounds, but it brought a profit of about $100 to be used on improving the church property.

The profit of the Lord's Acre is not all seen in the material gain, but in the fellowship that came by the people working together. Plans are already underway to have a Lord's Acre next year.

First place winner of the booths went to the Paradise Community Club. Second place to Belmont Home Demonstration Club. Third place winner was Belmont 4-H Club and Iuka FHA and Pleasant Ridge Community Club tied for fourth place.

Higher Brotherhood

Lesson for Sept. 27, 1953

ONE small note, from one Christian gentleman to another, was saved and a copy of it included in the collection of letters and stories that became our New Testament. The writer, gentleman though he was, wrote from a jail in the capital city; the addressee had never seen the writer, though he must have heard of him. The letter was not mailed, but carried by hand, by a slave named Onesimus, which means "Useful."

It did not seem the right name for this slave, because he had run away from his master and thought he could hide in the great city. Some how or other he got into jail, and had met a more famous prisoner Paul. Through Paul's influence (he never thought any one beneath his notice) this Onesimus had become a Christian, and Paul had persuaded him to go back where he belonged, taking to his master Philemon the little note that bears his name.

Dr. Foreman

How Reform Comes
This little letter, showing Paul at his charming best, suggests thought along three lines. One is the way Christianity comes to transform society. Christian religion, given its freedom, will do more than transform individuals; it will change society. When Paul wrote this letter, slavery was taken for granted everywhere. Some of Paul's best friends were slave owners as Philemon was. Paul had no intention of encouraging Onesimus to stay in Rome. Indeed it would seem he had challenged the slave to prove that his conversion was genuine, by going back and giving himself up. That was (say) around 62 A. D. Nowadays in our America slavery is a thing of the past, so far as law and enlightened public opinion are concerned. Christians north and south are glad it is gone. Philemon, or rather the ideas in the letter to Philemon, sowed the seed that resulted in the vanishing of slavery. There we learn that all Christians are brothers; that even a slave (this would have been news to many Romans and Greeks) was a human soul with human responsibilities and rights. Not even a slave is or can be a thing. Once that idea took hold of people, slavery was done for. It can flourish today only in lands like Russia where Christian religion has been crushed.

Christ and the Individual
Though Christ converts society more slowly than individuals, he converts society through converted individuals. The letter to Philemon shows what happens to one man, now, when Christ takes hold of him. Before his conversion, Onesimus had been a thief, a fugitive from duty. Afterwards, he was willing to go back, make good his theft, and take what was coming to him. Paul pleads that he may be taken back no longer just as a slave, but as a brother-Christian; but Onesimus did not know, of course, whether Philemon would take this advice. But he was willing to take his chance. A pagan owner and a pagan slave made a bad combination. A Christian owner and a pagan slave, or the other way around, would not be a good combination. But when they were both brother-Christians the whole relationship would be different. Once Christianize master and slave, and the end of slavery was in sight.

What Christian Brotherhood Is
People talk of the brotherhood of man; but the brotherhood of Christians is a higher brotherhood, indeed the highest possible. Christians recognize in one another not simply that they are all human, which is true enough, but that they are all Christ's brothers, they accept God for their Father—which goes much deeper than singing about him. Accepting the brotherhood of man, one can look at any man anywhere and think: He too is a man as I am; we belong to one race. But accepting the brotherhood of Christ, one can look at any Christian anywhere and think: He too is a man for whom Christ died as he died for me; we belong to one family. How deeply this enters into the heart, only Christians who have begun to realize this kind of brotherhood can know.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE TO

Millet And Conservation

By Hiram A. Jones
Millet Conservationist, SCS
Skinner of Midway com-
south of Iuka, planted
of Star Millet in the late this year. The field he this millet in lies across in front of his barn and use. For approximately this, 19 head of grown ve gotten most of their from this field. I would their grazing but this
be true, because after
the afternoon the cat-
turned into the pasture
de of the road the barn
l. Mr. Skinner tells me
like the millet, they eat

it well, and it causes them to produce as much or more milk
as any pasture crop he has ever grown.

Now all of this is incidental to the facts I want to point out. My job as work unit conservationist
is to work through the District Commissioners of the Tennessee River Soil Conservation District
in encouraging farmers to use their land in such a way as to prevent erosion.

Star Millet is a crop that farmers can use to do this very thing.
Few farmers have so much good pasture that sometime during the year a part or all of it is not severely overgrazed. Grass protects land from eroding only when it is sufficiently thick and tall to entirely cover the ground and protect it from the rain drops that churn it up, and seal up the openings in the soil which causes most of the water which falls on it to run off, taking the best part of the soil with it. It would be difficult to find a pasture in Tish-omingo which sometime in the past has not been overgrazed.

If this is true, we can logically conclude that erosion is taking place on all of our sloping pasture land.

If erosion is to be stopped, on pasture land, overgrazing will have to be stopped. This is where Star Millet comes in. (I say Star Millet because it is reputed to be better than Pearl, and has proved to be an exceptionally fine grazing crop for Mr. Skinner.)

Select a suitable piece of land
—the more level it is the better—not wet soggy land) because it will have to be plowed each year and plant to Star Millet following the recommendation of your County Agricultural Agent.
Plant enough to provide ample grazing for your livestock for periods of two or three weeks at a time. This will take the animals off your permanent pasture and the plants there will have an opportunity to grow.

Now, Gentlemen, if you do this you will like it, and you will learn that in the long run your permanent pasture will improve to such an extent that it will graze more livestock than it has in the past without injury to it or to the land. Star Millet grows only in the summer and has to be planted every year. It is an annual.

finding it out.
Protect your permanent pastures from more overgrazing by turning stock in all crop fields following harvest. They will get a lot of grazing there and will save the permanent pasture areas.

Overdrying can damage cotton.
It will cause the grower to take an excessive loss in bale weight;
shorten staple length; reduce tensile strength; length uniformity and yarn strength; increase ginners fuel costs; and reduce ginning capacity as overdried cotton does not go through the gin stand
as well as properly dried cotton.

The only person who gains from overdrying cotton is the one who buys the dry cotton, allows it to absorb moisture then sells a heavier bale than he bought. Everyone else—the grower, ginner and shipper all lose.

Only enough drying should be used to insure effective cleaning.
Adjustments in air temperatures
should be made to produce ginned lint having a moisture content of five percent or more.

Some October Jobs: Build a coldframe now for planting in late October. Save leaves for a compost pile. Spread manure over vacant areas of the garden.
Dig sweetpotatoes before frost.
Save planting seed from the best and healthiest plants in the home garden. After frost comes, clean out all dead plants and vines.
Clean and store stakes for use again next season.

Extension workers would like to thank each exhibitor and participant in the recent County Fair. We feel that this exhibition was a complete success and are looking forward to a larger and better fair next year.

Oats or wheat should not be planted in sod land until around two weeks before frost. This should be planted 16 to 24 inches apart and should not be planted
up and down and across.

However, cereals should not be planted in sod and left for hay or grain as this will likely damage the sod. The cereals should be grazed off completely.

Protect your frosted grazing and hay stack from fires. One of the best ways to do this is to plow and disk fire lanes around all pastures. Fire lanes are particularly needed between roadsides and pasture and between woods and pastures.

Watch out for second growth of frosted sorghum. It might contain prussic acid. Here are a couple of ways to be on the safe
side in grazing out such fields.
Go in and mow the sorghum
down and let it dry before turning in the cows; or just turn in your worst animal and if prussic acid is present, you won't be long

THURSDAY CLUB OBSERVES CONSTITUTION WEEK

Observing Constitution Week,
September 13-20, as requested by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Thursday
club met with Mrs. T. M. Mc-Donald on September 17th,
which was the 166th Anniversary of the Constitution Adoption.

Stressing the general theme of the Federation, "Working Together to Preserve Our American Heritage", the home was decorated with flags and other patriotic emblems and the program
directed by Mrs. R. J. Brown on Americanism with the salute
to the flag, the American creed,

the history of the constitution,
the signers from the thirteen original states, the photostatic
copy of the Star Spangled Banner, with the history of its composition, all tended to make all conscious of how priceless the American heritage is and how vital it is to preserve the same. Still furthering the aim is the worthwhile project of preserving for all time an American shriner and Independence Hall where the Declaration of Independence was signed as well as the Constitution and where the Liberty Bell is housed. All clubs are asked to help with this project and school children are asked to help by giving a penny a week to the project of restoration. The treasurer took up the individual collections at the close of the program.

On account of the business meeting which was held the week before very little business was presented at this time by the president, Mrs. J. D. Finch.
Mrs. L. M. Matthews of Memphis, a former active and now honorary member was guest of the afternoon.

TALL ORDER

MISSISSIPPI has grown fast during the past 7 1/2 years, economically, industrial and agriculturally — and with this growth has come an unprecedented demand for telephone service.

Of the many thousands of applications
for telephones received by Southern Bell since January 1, 1945, most have been filled. Mississippians now have over a quarter of a million telephones—more than double the number in service in the State in 1945.

This expansion and improvement has made telephone service more valuable. You can call more people and more can call you
— yet the cost of service has advanced less than most things you buy.

Since 1945 we have constructed 13
new central offices and 45 buildings;
installed huge quantities of cable, poles and other equipment and increased the number of employees by 44%. Serving Mississippi's telephone needs is a tall order—but one we are proud to fill.

A 30-Year Dream Coming True!

He used to stand on the curb in front of his father's house—and watch the Cadillacs sweep majestically
by—carrying fine ladies and gentlemen on happy excursions.

That's when the dream started in his heart—and refused to leave.

Six times, before today, he has signed his name to an application for a motor car title—and, on every occasion, he knew it was a compromise.

But not this time! He is taking the keys to a beautiful 1953 Cadillac—and his 30-year-old dream
is coming true.

And what a fulfillment it will be, as he rolls out into the highway and takes the longest way home!

First of all, he'll get those quick glances of approval which tell him the dream he dreamed for so many years is still in the hearts of others.

And then the car's great performance will begin unfolding itself.

... almost complete silence—just the soft
sound of the wind slipping by ... the quickest,

easiest response to the accelerator he has ever imagined ... steadiness and roadability and handling ease that remove all but the merest effort
from managing the car.

And, oh, what marvelous comfort! It's like sitting in the easiest chair conceivable—and moving smoothly and effortlessly through space.

And then, almost before he knows it, he'll be home—and in the driveway—with the family
rushing out with the final voice of confirmation.

Man—this was worth waiting and working for!

And, of course, the years and the miles will add their proof as to the wisdom of his choice: dependability—long life—economy of upkeep and operation—and unusual resale value.

Yes, there is every practical reason for owning a Cadillac—as well as every personal one.

Better come in and see us today. It's probably easier than you think to make your dream of Cadillac ownership come true.

Methodist Parish
News

The Iuka MYF subdistrict meeting was held at Rocky Springs Monday night with nine MYF's represented. Jimmy Burns, president, presided. Karen Gober thanked the subdistrict for helping her go to the youth conference at Lake Junaluska, N.C., and gave an interesting account of her trip.

Snowdown MYF had charge of the program with Ella Jean Moore chairman of the program area of Christian Faith, as the leader. The topic was "Deepening the Spiritual Life Through Prayer". Talks were made by Angela Thorn, Joan Daugherty and Leon Lomenick. A solo was sung by Angela Thorn.

Refreshments and songs were enjoyed during the fellowship period.

The interesting worship center was composed of the picture Praying Hands, a pair of scales and candles. As each person made a pledge to have daily devotions he wrote his name on a slip of paper and placed it on the side of the scales for the Kingdom of God and received a copy of the youth devotional book Power.

The revival at the Tishomingo Methodist church began last night. The messages on the first three nights of this meeting are to be brought by the Rev. Wilson Ray of Belmont, Rev. Garland Knott of Iuka, and Rev. G. R. Meaders of Iuka. On Sunday the pastor will begin preaching twice daily, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The gospel singing will be led by Mr. Don Sanford, District minister of music.

Saturday has been set as the day to pick the cotton on the Lord's Acre at Paradise. If it should rain the next pretty day will be used.

Last week the revival was held at Boggs' Chapel. There was good attendance and interest. There was one addition to the church by vows.

The revival is in progress at Burnsville this week with the pastor bringing the messages. It will continue through Friday night.

The Snowdown MYF will have a Membership Service Sunday night at 6:45 p.m. As this is the first service of this kind to be held all members will be taken in. Special robes have been made and also plans to make this a most effective service. Everyone is invited.

At 7 p.m. Rev. Garland Knott will conduct his regular preaching service at Snowdown. All night services on the Iuka Circuit will be at 7 p.m.

More Trees Planted Than Harvested In State Last Year

Mississippi's progressive forestry laws and "grassroots" ownership and development of a large portion of its timberland is beginning to "pay off" in a balancing of the ratio of harvest to growth.

That is disclosed in a report on Mississippi's forest products industry and its value to the state's economy by L. T. Hinton, chief of the timber severance division of the State Tax Commission.

"For the first time since our reforestation program was inaugurated, we have planted more seedling trees than we have harvested in any given year," he said. "Planting for 1952 totaled 75,242,000 seedlings and constitutes a record of which every citizen should be proud."

Mr. Hinton said 1952 plantings over usage in manufacturing were 1,384,000 trees.

On that premise, the official commented that "Mississippi's forestry work, if continued on the present level, will result in a never ending supply of timber for our No. 1 industry, with a continuation of the economic benefits to all of its citizens."

Referring to timber as a "Green Gold Resource," Mr. Hinton said its benefits "enter all levels of our economy and is second highest income producer, exceeded only by agricultural products, and is the highest industrial income."

The tax official said the 1952 harvest had an estimated value of $351,337,000, with most of it entering directly into the economy of Mississippi. Timberland owners, made up mostly of small farmers and individuals in all walks of life, received $162,152,000 for their product, with labor being paid $64,677,000 in harvesting and processing. State and local taxes in 1952 amounted to $5,134,000, in addition to sales taxes paid on $11,695,000 worth of supplies and repairs.

"Those economic benefits serve to emphasize more strongly the value to Mississippi citizens of their forest resources whose benefits enter all levels of our economy," Mr. Hinton said.

The official said the ratio of harvest to growth in 1918 was 5.8 feet cut to 1 grown, while in 1950 it had declined to 1.53 feet cut to 1 grown. For the first 6 months of 1953, Mr. Hinton said the decline in harvest is 10 percent compared to the same period in 1952.

"That indicates a great deal of progress has been made by forestry efforts and in all various phases of reforestation works by our forest services, federal, state and private," he said.

Proper Care For Curing And Storing Sweetpotatoes

Miss. sweetpotato growers are advised by Chesley Hines, Extension horticulturist, to make preparations now for curing and storing their top quality sweetpotatoes for later marketing and their seed supply.

Due to an indicated increased yield of high quality sweetpotatoes, growers who properly cure and store a large part of their crop can be assured of profitable returns on this year's production, he said.

Now, well in advance of the harvest season, is the time to make the necessary preparations for proper curing and storing facilities.

Growers who do not have access to commercial storage facilities or do not have adequate farm storage houses still have time to build new houses, enlarge their present facilities or convert other buildings into storage houses, Mr. Hines advised.

A suitable sweetpotato storage house should provide the necessary insulating, ventilating, rat-proofing and heating features. Blueprints for different sizes of storage houses along with latest recommendations on construction and operation of these houses can be obtained from local county agents or from the Agricultural Extension Service at State College, Mississippi.

Growers who do not have satisfactory and safe heating equipment for curing of the potatoes and for maintaining a uniform storage temperature, are reminded that such installation is a profitable investment.

Electric strip-heaters with thermostat control are especially recommended to provide most uniform heat distribution at the curing temperature of 85 degrees F.

These electric heaters, thermostatically controlled, will more easily and more safely give the desired storage temperatures of 55 degrees F. to 60 degrees F., he added.

These are placed under false or slatted floors to give the best distribution of heat and to make for use of all space in the house, Mr. Hines stated.

At harvest time, growers should make certain that an adequate supply of storage crates are on hand.

If old crates are used these should be disinfected by spraying or dipping in a solution made by dissolving one pound of copper sulphate (bluestone) in 25 gallons of water. This, the horticulturist said, is a safeguard against the possibility of black rot infection. Walls and floors of storage houses should also be disinfected.

THE ASSOCIATIONAL VOICE

Dr. Lawrence T. Lowrey, President of Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain, Miss., brought the messages in the regular services at the Iuka Baptist church on last Sunday. All who heard this great christian scholar were praising God for the blessings that came to them through this man of God.

The Pulpit Committee of the First Baptist Church of Iuka attended services at the Okolona Baptist Church this week in order to hear Rev. D. D. Satterwhite, pastor of the Rolling Fork Baptist church, who is assisting Rev. B. L. Mohon, formerly of Iuka, in a series of revival services in Okolona. Rev. Satterwhite has done a very fine piece of construction work at Rolling Fork, Mississippi. He served the Houston Baptist Church for several years before going to Rolling Fork.

Calling all Men! All the men of the Tishomingo Baptist Churches, and all others also, are being urged to attend a Men's Rally at the Iuka Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, September 29, at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. W. R. Roberts, State Brotherhood Secretary for Mississippi will be the featured speaker for the occasion. We remember the fine service we had when he was with us some time since, and we look forward to this service next week.

Thanks to those who responded to our call for minutes of the Association. We can now say that Tishomingo Association is one of the Distinguished ones in the state. We have a complete file in the Library of the Baptist Historical Society. However, let us

Smokey Says:

Big fires and small fires—all kill growing trees!

say, that we would still like to get some other old Associational minutes for our own files. So, if you have any of them, please let us have enough of them to complete our files in our Associational Library. We will not only take care of them but will see to it that they are preserved for posterity.

It is with deep regrets that we learn of the resignation of Bro. J. W. Kitchens, Pastor of the Burnsville Baptist church. Bro. Kitchens has done a great and good work at Burnsville and in our Association. We hate to see him go from us. Here is a good and great opportunity for some church in search of a good pastor. Let's keep him up in this section of our state. He has done a good work in the Music phase of our work. His place will be hard to fill.

Associational time in the south is time when many churches call pastors for another year. We do not believe in the so called, "Annual Call", but it is time to be much in prayer for those churches who will be calling pastors or who will be changing pastors for another year. Great good or great harm can be done at this time of the year. It is indeed a serious time in the life of a church when they come to call a pastor. Let us be much in prayer for these churches and for these men of God who will be making changes.

Bro. E. L. Monroe, we have been informed, has been called to serve the South Cross Roads church for the coming year. We have not heard of his answer.

Bro. T. R. Bonds supplied the pulpit Sunday at Paden last Sunday and reports two good services there.

Rev. R. B. Patterson, Area Missionary, spoke at the Alcorn County Baptist Association at Bethlehem Baptist church this week. He will preach at the North Cross Roads church next Sunday morning.

HOME AGENT NOTES

By IMOGENE BYNUM,

The larger supply of beef on the market is giving the housewife a chance to buy more beef with the same money or as much beef with less money than when she bought the higher grades of beef.

Since all beef is nutritious, the essential difference between grades is the degree of tenderness and flavor. The cooking methods differ, too, for the various grades of beef.

Low grade beef is still beef minus of the fat you buy with the better grades. You can rest assured that you have good proteins, B vitamins and minerals in the lower grades of beef.

It's true you can't expect the fork tenderness and special mouth-watering flavor you get from top quality grades of meat, but just pitch in and learn to like these less expensive dishes that depend on moist, slow cooking to produce any number of palatable stick-to-the-rib treats, the Extension Specialist says.

A Professional Touch for Home Sewing

Smooth edges on a finished garment show good sewing techniques.

Trim collars and belts at the points. Trim seam edges to even width. On heavy materials it pays to trim one seam edge narrower than the other, however.

Overlapping and bulkiness often occur on the outside of round collars. Notch the seam to prevent this. On curves, such as round neck lines clip the seams to allow for spreading of the seam of the edges. Straight stitching and sharp turning of seams on the line of stitching are important.

New Designs From Old Picture Frames

Been wondering what you were going to do with that old oval picture frame you've been saving? Here's an idea. Make a tray out of it.

Cut a piece of plywood to fit the entire back and fasten it securely. Then paint it a color that fit your color plan. Maybe coral is the color you will choose. You can make it by mixing Chinese red and white in equal parts. Then you might decorate the edges in a black wavy line and white dots.

Or antique the frame, if you wish. There are mimeograph directions for antiquing picture frames and furniture available at the home agent's office.

Other suggested uses for old picture frames are shadow boxes to make a tea table or a bulletin board.

Your home agent can also supply you with a mimeograph sheet of suggestions and instructions for making uses of old picture

Big Repair Plans For County Homes Seen During Year

Tishomingo county home owners will spend an estimated $234,000 during 1953 on repairing and modernizing non-farm dwellings.

"As the great postwar home building boom begins to slacken, home repair and reconditioning will assume major importance to the building trades in every community," said Robert Bailey, chairman of the residential construction committee of the Tile Council of America, which released the estimate.

Nearly two of every three home owners here will make some expenditure during the year to improve their property, according to the report. Painting of either the exterior or interior will be most common repair, with replacing or repairing roofs second.

One of every 11 homes in the U. S. has water pipes repaired, a bathroom tiled or a shower installed in an average year, the report revealed. Six of every 100 have carpentry work done.

The kitchen is the area most families want to improve first. The resulting demand for new major equipment, clay tile for counter tops and drainboards, and kitchen cabinets means prosperity in the community for many concerns and for skilled workmen, the report points out. Home repair expenditures throughout the nation will total almost $4 billion in 1953, the Tile Council report estimated. This will be one of the heaviest outlays in U. S. history for such work.

There's a world of difference between accusation and proof.

When idle gossip meets an idle rumor, they both go to work.

HIGH-SPEED LIVING

The main trouble with our high-speed living is that too many folks want to take three basis on a bunt.

One advantage of living a righteous life is that the prospect of having it investigated doesn't cause a nervous breakdown.

MISSISSIPPI NOTEBOOK

by TOM ESTERHISE

"THE UNION FOREVER"

"Name one thing the Republicans ever did for the South," a rock-ribbed Democrat challenged a visitor from Chicago at a local party the other night.

The Republican smiled. "Well for one thing, we persuaded you Rebels to give up Slavery."

BE CAREFUL, MEN.

In talking to your wife or girl friend, always remember there is a big difference in words, even if their meanings are similar.

For instance, you can call a woman a kitten but never a cat; a mouse but not a rat; a chicken but not a hen; a vision but not a sight, etc., etc.

GREASE AND HAIRNETS

Speaking of women, we understand that a bunch of fellows at a bull session recently were complaining of the way wives look at bedtime. While slick chicks in movies and television shows wear slinky black lace negligees and an attractive hairdo, the average wife seems to prefer plain old cotton pajamas or faded nightgowns.

To make matters worse, the husband lamented, their wives smear themselves with grease or oil and sleep in curlers or hairnets, presenting a gruesome spectacle not at all like glamorous screens of screen and TV.

Consensus of opinion at the bull session was that there would be fewer marriages if ye average husband-to-be could peer into the future and get a peek at his intended better half, as she normally looks when attired for bed. OLD JAYCEES NEVER DIE

The accepted age limit for members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is thirty-five years. Looking over some Jaycee publicity pictures in various state newspapers, we note quite a few bald heads and thinning locks among these energetic and worthy citizens.

In some cases, it seems, "Old Jaycees never die. They just stay in the organization."

HELL HATH NO FURY—

Lowly creatures are capable of high courage. Take for example the runty neighborhood mama cat, Little Sheba, which recently gave birth to a six-kitten litter in our garage. The tiny kittens were romping and tumbling in our hedge the other day when a large dog appeared suddenly, barking loudly.

Quick as a flash, Little Sheba dashed out of nowhere, darting between her terrified babies and the canine menace. Spitting fiercely with arched back, she stoog her ground until the confused dog wisely remembered he had business elsewhere.

Yea verily, hell hath no fury like an angry female.

THEIR CIVIL RIGHTS

After all, those "Progressive" irations are entirely within their constitutional and civil rights in accepting Communism, as supreme court judges William O. Douglas, Hugo Black, Felix Frankfurter et al will probably tell you in a hurry.

And has anybody checked the State Department to make certain those "Progressives" are receiving plenty of good Communist literature, as per our policy

Keeps its value better than any other car

Used car dealers report that Fords return more of their original cost than any other car—and there are 41 reasons why.

Take POWER

Ford's two high-compression engines are real leaders in their class. Ford's the only car in the low-price field to offer you the smooth power of a V-8 engine. And no other car in any field has so modern a Six.

Take BUILD

Ford's Crestmark body gives you style-setting beauty with rugged "build" underneath. Where many cars are bolted Fords are welded hull-tight to keep out rust-causing weather and dirt.

Take VISIBILITY

Ford gives you the "all-around" view you need in today's fast-moving traffic. A curved one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and large "picture windows" all around make sure you have Full-Circle visibility.

F.D.A.F.

Take RIDE

Ford's wonderful, new ride reduces front end road shock up to 80%. And Ford's new spring and shock absorber action gives you the comfortable easy ride you want without gas-eating extra weight.

Take DRIVES

Only Ford in its field gives you a choice of a completely automatic drive, Fordomatic, the finest, most versatile automatic you can buy... fuel-saving Overdrive... or easy-shifting Conventional Drive.

Take SAVING

Ford's Automatic Power Steering saves you money on every trip. It automatically adjusts steering, ignition and makes every drop of gas at that work its best.
