Tishomingo County's third annual fair and livestock show will be held September 19 through 24. Plans are in the making for this year's fair to be the biggest and best ever.

Two special events have been added to this year's program which is expected to create quite a bit of interest. First and second prizes will be awarded for the oldest article on exhibit. It must bear proof of its age. Highlighting Friday's program will be a dog show to be held at seven-thirty in the evening. A carnival will turn the midway into a brilliant setting where a variety of rides, shows and concessions will be found.

Program:

Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 19-20 will be devoted to the arranging of exhibits with the official opening of the fair scheduled for Tuesday evening at seven-thirty. Wednesday, Sept. 21, has been designated as Forestry day. Official judging of women's and girls' division and community booths will begin at 8:30 a.m., with the judging of crop exhibits beginning at 1 p.m. On Thursday, Sept. 22, the judging of all dairy, livestock and poultry will take place. Friday, Sept. 23, Dog Show; and the official closing of the fair will be on Saturday, Sept. 24.

(2) Premium money will not be paid to any exhibitor outside Tishomingo county. (3) Where there is no competition, premiums will be paid according to the judges' rating. Fire Destroys Will West Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Will West and its entire contents was completely destroyed by fire Friday morning about nine o'clock.

The origin of the fire was undetermined as no member of the family was at home when the blaze was discovered.

The flames spread rapidly soon engulfing the entire building.

Mr. Jim Jourdan has extended the West family the privilege of moving into a small house located back of Elmo Davis Feed Store with rent free for one month. Mrs. Paul Skinner has been named chairman of a committee to round up furnishings for the house. Assisting her are Mrs. E. E. Murrah, Mrs. J. C. Robbins and Mrs. J. D. Finch.

Necessary items needed are: two mattresses, two springs, cook stove, dishes, silver, cooking utensils, dresser, chairs, clothes and bed linens.

Anyone in the community having in their possession some of the above mentioned items that are not in use and would like to help this family get back on their feet are asked to get in touch with one of the above named committee.

Some of the clothes were saved but were damaged by scorch and water causing them to be unusable. There are 4 children, one boy and three girls, who will be entering school Friday.

Vote Recount Shows Wilson To Be Winner; Gained Votes

Re-count of the ballots cast in last Tuesday's Second Primary election gave Whit Wilson, candidate for sheriff, a new lead of 21 votes.

Request for the re-count was made by Henry Marlar, defeated candidate for sheriff. The request was made purely on the possibility of errors and with no thought of irregularities in the election. According to figures from over the county as given by the various election holders, Marlar got 2406 votes and Wilson got 2454 and it was also because of the closeness of the vote that the request was made.

In the recount held last Saturday in the circuit clerk's office, Wilson gained 21 votes—the final score being: Marlar 2406; Wilson 2469.

Citizens recounting the votes were W. R. Nettles, George Harris, Miss Effie Green, Charlie Trimm, D. F. Frederick, W. B. Lindsey, Walter Wynn, W. J. Pyle, C. L. Trimm, and Roy P. Allen.

Iuka Shirt Co. Dedication Ceremonies Held Last Thursday In Mineral Spring Park

The Iuka Shirt Co., Inc., was extended the welcome mat last Thursday by business, civic and professional people of Iuka in the form of a dedication ceremony held in Iuka's Mineral Springs park.

The program began with a tour of the shirt factory at 3:30 in the afternoon. After the tour, workers in the factory, business and civic leaders and invited guests gathered at the park where a program was presented.

Bill Pyle very ably served as master of ceremonies for the occasion. Rev. Carmon Savell pronounced the invocation. Welcome address was made by Mayor John H. Allen and response was given by Bernard Lukoff, president and general manager of the company.

Other guests introduced were J. E. Sherman, chairman of the board, of New Albany, Albert Feldman, secretary-treasurer of the corporation, Booneville, Alvis Rowland, vice president of the company, and a number of local citizens who aided the shirt factory in locating here. Miss "Sis" Brown, Iuka's Miss Hospitality for 1955, was first introduced by the MC.

Congressman Thomas G. Abernethy of Oklaoma was speaker for the occasion. His remarks were appropriate in that they praised the ingenuity of these people who are exercising their rights under our free enterprise system to promote industry and create prosperity for the peoples of this area. "Nowhere else in the world," Mr. Abernethy said, "do men have the opportunity and the right to do what can be done in this great country of ours where a man, through his own knowledge and skill and management can finance, build and operate a manufacturing establishment." As a word of warning the speaker urged everyone to sit down and talk their grievances over together; to keep the northern influences out of our midst, and to earnestly make an effort to work together and cooperate one with the other.

Barbecued Chicken Served

At the conclusion of the program, workers in the factory, owners, guests and civic and business leaders of the town were served barbecued chicken from a table set up in the park. Approximately 400 were in attendance. The committee responsible for contacting the business firms to take up collections to pay for the dedication program, reported a 100 per cent response, and wish to thank every business man and woman of Iuka for making their participation a pleasure. The Iuka high school band furnished music at various intervals during the ceremony.

Factory Now At Capacity

Mr. Lukoff states that the factory is already at capacity in number of employees. Operations were commenced on June 24 of this year and today the factory has employed 130 people. The regular weekly payroll amounts to approximately $4,800.00. "We have reached 75 per cent of our quota in production and within a very short time we expect to be doing our full quota," Mr. Lukoff stated. "We have lots of work to do and lots of contacts to get more work," he said.

"We started out manufacturing ladies' shirts and blouses," Mr. Lu-koff continued, "but we have switched over to men's sport shirts exclusively. We make a quality garment that is competitive with any average-priced shirts made anywhere in the country.

"Ninety per cent of our workers are from the county," the general manager continued. "We are fortunate in locating in a good town that has plenty of room to grow and where the people are willing to cooperate.

"I appreciate the cooperation shown by the citizens and civic and business leaders. And more especially do I appreciate the workers for the loyalty they are showing. I thank everyone who had anything to do with the nice dedication given us. We appreciate this very much and in return we will try our very best to be an asset to the Town, the community and the county," Mr. Lukoff concluded.

Paring off pounds these days isn't limited to Dad's bay window or Mom's midriff . . . even New York's 42-story Socony-Mobil building went on a weight-saving diet of stainless steel! According to the Republic Steel Corporation, one of five suppliers of the building's gleaming metal walls, the direct weight saved over ordinary stone and cement construction figures out to 22,500 tons . . . just about the 22,500-ton heft of the SS Queen of Bermuda, shown alongside. Stainless steel, which is being used more and more on building exteriors for such things as roof gutters and downspouts, is also the material of which this skyscraper's 3200 window frames and sash are made.

"School's Open" Campaign To Alert Motorists Begins

The Miss. Automobile Club's annual "School's Open—Drive Carefully" campaign to alert motorists that they must once again be on the lookout for children crossing streets on the way to and from school begins today.

Bill Pyle, director, pointed out that while schools in the Iuka area do not actually open until Sept. 2, the motor club will start placing large posters near all schools today so that motorists will have a short "conditioning period."

The eye-catching red and black poster will be the major "tool" that the motor club will use in bringing the opening of school to the attention of motorists.

"The two principal things that motorists should do in connection with the campaign," Mr. Pyle said, "is to scrupulously obey special speed limits around schools and be extra alert for young children who are not yet safety-wise darting into the street at unexpected places."

"During the school year, the motor club official added, "the club will work with school officials to train children in safe walking habits, but past experience has shown that it takes time to really fix safety in the minds of new students. Meanwhile, it's the motorist's responsibility to watch out for children—even if the children are at fault."

Mr. Pyle also asked motorists to give every cooperation to School Safety Patrol boys and girls. "These volunteer safety guardians are on duty to protect their school mates and to see that they cross streets only when it is safe, and their job can be much easier and effective if motorists learn to recognize them and cooperate with them," he added.

"Throughout the country, the safety record for school children has been very good during the past years, but these first few weeks after school opens are critical ones. Children will learn more about traffic safety in school lessons, but meanwhile motorists will be doing a great service to the community if they will drive carefully," he concluded.

4-H Club Leader Inspires Teen-Agers

Mrs. Wanda Hughes, 4-H Club Leader, Royerton, Indiana, showing how to estimate the cost of canning tomato juice.

When asked to what she attributes her success as a 4-H leader, Mrs. Wanda Hughes, home economics teacher at Indiana, High School, gave the stock answer, "hard work."

Mrs. Hughes said teen-agers must be sold on the worth of a project before they accept it with enthusiasm. For example, a lesson in canning is interesting and important to those who have tomato clubs. And, appreciate the real value of tomato juice when they learn that it is rich in minerals and vitamins needed for health and beauty.

Mrs. Hughes makes bacteriology, arithmetic and economics of each lesson. Bacteriology, when she explains why improper canned foods spoil. Arithmetic, by showing how to figure Economics, when she points out the amount of money to be saved by canning. Learning how to save appeals to teen-agers because many who plan to marry before or shortly after graduating must live on small income.

And, how does Mrs. Hughes figure the cost of canning? She divides the cost of the produce by the yield and adds 24¢ for each quart canned. From Purdue University she learned that a body who has the use of a plot of good earth, in a sunny garden back yard, can raise tomatoes for about 25¢ a bushel, and the average of from 12 to 16 quarts of juice can be canned from a bushel of sound tomatoes. (A bushel will yield from 18 to 20 quarts of canned tomatoes.) A quart Mason fruit jar, based on a life of years, a Dome Lid and fuel cost approximately 3¢. Add 2¢ for raw tomatoes and it adds up to 5¢ for a quart of juice.

Mississippi Farmers Urged To Stop Selling Cotton Less Than Gov. Prices

The cotton farmers of Mississippi were urged today to stop selling cotton for less than the government support price. Charles McNeil, general manager of Mississippi Federated Cooperatives, said that the current price is being sold at and other buying points throughout the State for as much as 5 per bale less than could be obtained on that cotton under the price support program of the Commodity Credit Corporation. The practice of selling cotton less than support prices could result in the cotton farmers of Mississippi losing millions of dollars if followed throughout the season and will only drive the price down below loan level if not stopped. Mr. McNeil said. On the other hand, he pointed out, the price of cotton will be raised substantially above loan levels if the cotton farmers throughout the State put their cotton into the government loan. Mr. McNeil said that cotton farmers at length of strict middling 1 1/32 are being sold on warehouse receipts after paying warehouse charges for 35 cents per pound whereas the loan value of that cotton after paying all loan charges is 35.21 cents per pound. Mr. McNeil urged cotton farmers to find out the support price for their cotton before it is sold and, also, to know the grade and staple length. The best way to make certain that cotton is sold for its actual value is to secure the government class on it under the Smith-Doxey program. The government classing service is offered as a free service to farmers through samples taken at cooperating gins and warehouse County cooperatives affiliated with Mississippi Federated Cooperatives throughout Mississippi, outside the Delta, have complete information on government support prices and can render a complete loan and marketing service for cotton farmers, Mr. McNeil said.

"The entire cotton-producing industry should be alerted to the loss to be suffered if farmers fail to take advantage of the price support program when cotton is being sold on the streets at less than support prices," Mr. McNeil said.

The 1955 price support program will yield the following net prices to farmers after paying all loan charges and warehouse fees on typical grades of cotton: Middling 1 inch, 34.26 cents; Middling 1 1/32 inch, 34.81 cents; Middling 1 1/16 inch, 35.21 cents; Middling 1 3/32 inch, 35.71 cents. These prices apply at north Mississippi points and vary only slightly at central and south Mississippi points.

Pastures And Feed Crops

If you need early grazing, make your first planting of oats or wheat early this month. Put down fertilizer when you do the seeding. Plan to plant only one-half acre per cow at this first planting. Make a second planting in late September and a third in October.

Farmers who are interested in planting cover crops are urged to plant a mixture of legumes and cereals instead of just legumes.

Cover crops should be planted to help control soil erosion, put humus back into the soil and for grazing. Sod seeding machines can be used to plant much of the cover crops. This will make the land less likely to erode as the land is not torn up when using this method of seeding.

It is still too early to plant cereals out in sod as there is a lot of growing time left for summer grasses. Permanent pasture sods should be grazed down before planting in sod. Usually the best time to use the sod seeder on permanent pasture sod is in October.

As a general rule, it is not recommended that pastures be clipped this late. However, if your pastures are covered with weeds, which are shading out the grasses, it is recommended that you go ahead and clip raising the clipper blade about six inches.

Timber

High grades logs mean more money to farmers. While as a rule logs do not sell on grade as such, the quality of logs figures into the overall price you will receive.

The timber owner who can grade up his logs just one grade will realize at least 25 percent more income.

Here are some management details that will help you produce more number 1 logs and less of the lower grades:

Product your woods from fire. Cutting out the lower grades and leaving the higher quality logs to grow larger. Thinning to give the good trees room to grow, and the removal of undesirable trees from salable tree stands.

Just one hour a year per acre spent in the woods on your farm doing some timber stand improvement work will help you almost double your income from trees.

Cattle Insects

Watch out for a build-up of cattle lice with the coming of cool weather. These sucking insects seem to vanish during the hot summer time but are always back when cold weather gets here. Now, before cold weather does arrive is a good time to spray your cattle for lice control.

Or you can make use of the homemade back rubber that has kept your cows free from hornfly troubles this summer. A properly treated back rubber will help your cows to rid themselves from lice all during the winter. It will also help you save money. Cattle that are free from lice grow faster and are thrifter. Feed only your cattle, do not include the louse, this costs money.

TCEPA NOTES

By Tressie Gober

Now that school has begun it is time to check on your lighting conditions in your home. Now is the time to arrange a good study center for your child. And an important part of that study center is good lighting for protecting your child's eyes during long periods of use.

Setting up such a study center with good lighting need not be a lot of trouble nor need it be too expensive.

Vic Vet says

VETS STILL TRAINING UNDER THE WORLD WAR II GI BILL CAN RECEIVE NO FURTHER GI BILL HELP AFTER JULY 1, 1955. AN IMPORTANT FACT TO CONSIDER NOW IN PLANNING YOUR EDUCATION

For full information contact your nearest VETERANS ADMINISTRATION office

Below are listed a few of the points to be considered in a good study center that have been worked out by lighting experts:

1. A flat-topped desk or table, 28 to 30 inches high and at least 20 inches wide. Preferred top dimensions are 24 by 26 inches or 24 by 48 inches.

2. Top of desk or table non-glossy, light-finish with high reflectance. Desk woods may be covered with pastel blotters.

3. Desk or table flat against a blank, light-colored wall, somewhat removed from family activity. If wall is dark or heavily patterned, a tackboard or blotter may be hung above the desk, with bottom edge even with the desk top.

4. Chair height should be adjusted to place your child's eyes about 14 inches above the desk top. Cushions may be used to raise a younger child to the proper height.

5. Good lighting. For this important item, you may use a desk or table lamp, two wall lamps, or a fluorescent fixture with diffuser.

Recommended desk or table lamp is 25 inches high and has an eight-inch reflector bowl to give soft, diffused light. It has a light-colored but not translucent shade that measures at least 8 1/2 inches across the top, 16 inches across the bottom, and 10 inches in depth. Distance from the desk to the bottom rim of the shade is 15 inches. Bulb is a 150-watt frosted. Location of the lamp is not more than 15 inches to the left of your child or 15 inches to the right if he is left handed.

The two small lamps have 6 inch diffusing bowls and 100 watt bulbs. Their shades measure 6 inches across the top, 10 inches across the bottom, and 6 1/2 inches in depth. You'll place these on the wall 30 inches apart (measure from the center of the shades, and high enough to put the bottoms of their shades 15 inches from the desk top.

The fluorescent fixture is 25 inches long and takes two 20 watt tubes. It is mounted on the wall so that its center is 9 inches from the front of the desk edge and 15 inches above the desk top.

What a study center based on these points, your child will probably form study habits that will have a lasting influence both for learning and for eyesight protection.

Rogers Celebrates 61st Anniversary

North Alabama's largest department store, Rogers of Florence, Alabama, is celebrating its 61st year of service to the people of the Muscle Shoals area.

Rogers was founded September 4, 1894, by Major B. A. Rogers, Sr., and his two sons, Thomas M. Rogers and B. A. Rogers, Jr. Initially the store was known as "The Surprise Store," because to stimulate trade, premium merchandise was given with each purchase.

Rogers is a home owned business having been successfully operated by three consecutive generations of Rogers. During the past 61 years Rogers has served many Tennessee valley families through several generations, and looks forward to a continuing service for many years to come.

For buying purposes, Rogers is affiliated with the New York office of McGraw-Hill, Werring and Howell. Dozens of highly-trained buyers cover the wholesale markets each day and advise Rogers of the availability of the latest merchandise at the lowest prices.

Many special events have been planned for Rogers 61st Anniversary Celebration, including Double Due Punch Day and a special Founders Day Event.

Rogers skilled staff of buyers in Florence and New York have searched the wholesale markets for months in preparation for this 61st Anniversary Event. As a result of this concerted effort, Rogers has assembled the largest selection of merchandise in their 61 year history.

One of the highlights of Rogers 61st Anniversary Celebration will be the presentation of Miss Joan Cunningham, Lauderdale County "Maid of Cotton" in The Fashion Shop, Second floor, on Friday, September 2. Rogers annually awards the Lauderdale County Maid of Cotton a complete fashion outfit which she wears in the State Maid of Cotton eliminations in Birmingham during the State Fair in October.

In a statement released by T. M. Rogers, Jr., president of this firm — "Rogers anticipates the greatest volume of fall business in 61 years of operation. Our business volume for the year 1955 will break all previous records," Mr. Rogers continued.

Speaking of PUBLIC SAFETY

Modern street lighting is a powerful force for safety after dark, according to reports from cities throughout the nation to the National Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau. For example:

• In Dayton, O., service and buildings director George F. Baker said, "A lighted city is a live city." Last year, when Dayton's extensive street lighting modernization program was nearly complete, traffic deaths during the hours of darkness dropped 41 per cent.

• Police Chief Frank Evans of Peoria, Ill., reports, "Crime definitely is down in Peoria. There are no shadows for the criminal to hide in with the modern lighting system. There's no doubt of its effectiveness."

• Total traffic accidents in six Connecticut communities, after modern lighting of streets, dropped from 253 to 192, instances of property damage fell from 203 to 163, and the cost of these accidents declined from $105,000 to $46,000.

• From El Paso, Tex., Police Chief Risinger declares, "We don't need statistical evidence to show the value of street lighting on the south side. You drive the holdup men and the assassins off the street as soon as you light them."

• Police Chief Roland R. Kelley of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, believes modern new street lighting will reduce traffic accidents to a minimum. Relighting the main traffic artery through town reduced accidents on that street more than 50 per cent!

The experience of these and many other cities, the Lighting Bureau declares, establishes the tremendous importance of modern street lighting for protection against night crime and traffic accidents. David Baldwin, National Safety Council spokesman, says, "Properly designed, properly installed and properly maintained street lighting will save lives, and we need much more of it than we have now."

In many years, coupled with expected industrial expansion and larger construction payrolls in the area this fall—Rogers is looking forward to the future with confidence.

A Nation's Worship

Lesson for September 4, 1955

IT WOULD be very nice to wake up some Sunday morning and find that everybody in America had decided to join our church. Suppose that up to now you had belonged to the First Universal Church of All Angels, and there was only one congregation of that denomination in your town, along with maybe six or eight other denominations. But suppose that on this Sunday morning as you walked to church you would find the Universal Church of All Angels sign on every church building you passed. Suppose you learned by the morning paper that this was because the President of the United States (himself a prominent member of your denomination) had issued a Directive ordering all churches to come over into this one—or be abolished entirely. Well, you would know that was a dream... because this is free America, and there is not and constitutionally can never be an official, government-supported, national, established religion.

The Nucleus

So when we talk of "a nation's worship" in America we can't mean what we would mean in a country where everybody is dragged into one single kind of church, a country where to be born into the nation is to be born into the church at the same time. Still, there is sense in talking about the nation at worship, for take us by and large, we do worship; the church is too prominent an object in every landscape to be overlooked. And even in free America where church and state are separate, we can learn something from the ancient Hebrews who combined church and state in one. The first thing we learn is not to be discouraged by the fact that many people don't go to church at all. The whole story of Ezra and Nehemiah, the prophecies of Haggai and of Zechariah, show us that there were great masses of indifferent people in Judea after the "Return" and the restoration of the worship at the high altar in Jerusalem. There were the same difficulties with a building program that we have; preaching fell on many a deaf ear, just like now. Worship is now, and has always been, carried on, in the true sense, not by the masses but by a nucleus of devoted men and women.

The Opposition

The Jews who returned to Palestine to get their religion organized and under way again, with public services and all, found out another thing which we Americans might as well learn,—indeed, we have learned it. That is, not only is there indifference to religion, but it has many enemies. It is nothing but prettified nonsense to suppose that everybody in the world means well, that we all desire the welfare of society. It is contrary to the facts to believe that even those who do not worship with us and will not join us nevertheless wish us well. Don't deceive yourself. There are in America, as there are everywhere, people who are "plain mean." There are businesses that injured people, businesses that contribute to crime, indeed some businesses that even a not-to-moral police force labels as crime. Those who live by the profits of these enterprises just hate the church; let's face it.

Can Government Help?

Now in ancient Palestine, say Zechariah's time, not to mention earlier times, church and state helped and supported each other. King and high priest might even be related. Especially after the Exile, church and state became practically one. In our free America—and we would not wish it unfree, for a moment—can the government do anything to help the church? Readers who belong to Sunday school classes can start a very interesting discussion by asking that question. How can Government help the church? Ought Government to try to help us? One way, surely, by which the State can aid the church, is by laws which will keep the Lord's Day free, so far as possible, from work-day necessities. Another way is by setting an example. When leaders in government set an example of sharing in the public and private worship of God, the nation is all the better for it.

E. Morton Plants Bermuda

of the land he has cultivated for years is too steep to plant to row crops. "In fact it should never been cleared" said Claude. "But since it is cleared and it is all I have I want to use it in such a manner as to keep it from washing away and at the same time get a profitable return from it." Years ago he retired some of his steeper land from row crops by setting it to Kudzu. He likes the Kudzu as a grazing and soil conserving crop, but he says it requires more attention than he likes to give it. Everyone knows Kudzu can be killed by overgrazing.

Just east of Mr. Horton's house is a field of productive Ruston soil, too steep for cultivation. This spring Claude set two terraces of this field to Coastal Bermuda, the rest of the field he planted to corn. Apparently every spring of this bermuda grass lived and some of it has grown as much as 5 feet or more.

From this small beginning Claude plans to establish Coastal Bermuda grass on about six acres. He does not expect to harvest ten (10) tons of hay from each acre as some have from this land, but he does hope to have six acres of good pasture and cut same hay from it too.

The Tennessee River Soil Conservation District Commissioners are very much interested in finding suitable plants to grow on steep sandy hillsides. They want plants that will hold the land and return a profit to the farmer. Coastal Bermuda is not poor land plant, but it may grow on this Ruston soil which is fairly fertile even though it is steep.

As Farm Planning Technician for the USDA Soil Conservation Service, I am very much interested in the results Mr. Morton will obtain from Coastal Bermuda on this type of land. He has a good crop of corn on this field this year and the Bermuda is doing fine so far.

It is possible that some of his good neighbors may think he is crazy because he is setting Bermuda grass in his corn field while some people spend most of their life trying to dig it out of their fields. Perhaps this is a sign the times have changed.

At least Claude has shown he is willing to do something different from the rest of his neighbors. He is not doing this just to be different, but because for him and the land.

We are all for Claude in this new venture and we hope he succeeds.

Social Security Act Became Law 20 Years Ago, Aug. 14

It was 20 years ago, on August 14 1935, that the Social Security Act became law. Mrs. Mary King Temple, district manager of the Sheffield, Alabama, social security office reminded people in this area today.

Generally, when people refer to social security, they are talking about the old age and survivors insurance program under the Social Security Acts, he said in commemorating the 20th Anniversary of the signing of this law, Mrs. Temple indicated how it is now affecting the lives of almost all of us. She stated that almost 8 million persons are now receiving over 400 million dollars every month in benefits under the program. Over 70 million people are now insured under the law so that in the event of retirement or death, they or their families will be eligible for benefits.

The average retired worker is now receiving about $60 a month. However, the average for those who have retired in the past few years is $80 a month and their wives' benefits average $41 a month. Moreover, Mrs. Temple stated that an important part of the old age and survivors insurance program is the protection given to widows and children in the event of the workers' death.

Today, the average benefit for a young widow with two minor children is $185 a month. Total family benefits can be as much as $200 a month. In addition, lump-sum death payments range from $90 to $255.

Looking ahead twenty years to 1975, Mrs. Temple predicted that by then 93 million Americans will be insured under the program. It is expected that of the 20 million persons over 65 at that time, 4 out of 5 will be eligible for benefits.

Plentiful Foods
Headlining the U. S. Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list for September are "good" grade beef, pork and broilers and fryers.

These main meats should be reasonable in price due to the abundant supply.

To go along with the meats are rice and large summer crop of Irish potatoes.

Fresh lemons and limes, canned and frozen fruit juices for making lemonade or limeade; and milk and milk products also continue in plentiful supply.

Also plentiful in September will be large supplies of canned tuna. Vegetable fats and oils and lard will be in large supply.

Picnic Special

Labor Day weekend is around the corner. This year that's pleasant after effects.

Let's have an idea. Buy a supply of plentiful broilers, split in half and refrigerate. Keep the poultry cold is a must.

Then get some roasting ears, with shucks on. A jar of pickles, bread or rolls, cookies and a freezer of ice cream. Use some of the plentiful fresh or canned limes or lemons to make your picnic beverage.

Pack the perishable foods in an ice box and take them uncooked to the picnic site.

Do your cooking right on the scene. Broiled or barbecued young tender chicken, corn-on-the-cob roasted on the grill right with the chickens assures your picnic of success.

Here is how to fix the corn. Peel back the shuck and remove the silk from the ear. Then moisten the ear, shuck and all, and wrap in heavy duty aluminum foil. After the fire has burned down to the desired bed of hot coals, place the foil wrapped corn on the grill and let them cook while the chicken is cooking.

Serve the hot chicken and corn on paper plates to save on cleaning up. Then finish the meal with the cookies and ice cream.

Keep It Safe

Here are some rules to follow in helping to assure an accident-free Labor Day Week-end:

Driving - Make sure first of all that your car is in good safe condition. Have it checked thoroughly before leaving home and entering the busy highways. Obey all traffic rules. Be a coupe your High speed, but watch your fellow. Be alert at all times. If you are doing any night driving, remember to carry a flashlight in the car with you.

Swimming - Don't dive into strange water, first find out the depth and whether or not any obstructions are present. Never swim alone. "Rough stuff," or other "horse play" have not place among swimmers, either in pools, lakes or "swimming holes."

Boating and fishing - Always step into the center of boats. Do not overload the boats. Standing up in boats is inviting a ducking.

Non-swimmers have no place in small fishing boats. Even accomplished swimmers should have life preservers when in fishing boats, and especially in motor boats.

Follow these rules and your free outing will be greatly improved.
