

DAY (or night) anticipated for quite some time will be realized Friday night when the new football field for the Iuka school will be the scene of the first varsity game ever to be played on it. This is an important occasion for a large group of interested persons and patrons of the school who have worked, managed and maneuvered to get the field in shape and lighted for these games. It should take notice of the illumination of the sky when the lights are turned on. . . . These lights may be construed as one of the many signs of progress that Iuka is now making.

PHILOSOPHICAL friend states that "A brain is no stronger than its weakest think!" To which might add: "Be careful with your thoughts. They may break into words at any time."

Creation of woman from the rib of man: "She was not made out of his head, to top him; nor out of his feet to be stamped upon by him; but out of his side, to be equal with him; under his arm, to be protected; and near his heart to be loved."

Education Is A Companion which no misfortune can decrease, no crime destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave; at home friend, abroad an introduction, solitude a solace, in society an ornament. It chastens vice, guides virtue, and gives grace and government to genius. Education may cost financial sacrifice and mental pain, but in both money and life it will repay every cost one hundred fold—(Arthur unknown).

VOICE OF THE MULTITUDE—Zoro Neale Hurston, a highly articulate Negro writer, who decided long ago that she would have nothing to say about desegregation—law, has found it impossible to keep silent on the subject. She keeps off on what has always seemed to us the crucial point of the whole issue—but one which we are happy to repeat since any comment would come more gracefully and far more forcefully from a member of the black race than from the white.

The whole matter revolves around the self-respect of my people," writes Zoro Neale Hurston in the Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel. "How much satisfaction can I get from court order for somebody to associate with me who does not wish me near them? The American Indian has never been spoken of as a minority and chiefly because there is no white in the Indian. Certainly he fought, and valiantly for his lands—and rightfully so. But it is inconceivable of an Indian to seek forcible association with anyone. His well-known pride and self-respect would save him from that I take the Indian position."

In the matter of the educational rights of Negro children in the South, Writer Hurston denies that she is "one of those 'handkerchief-niggers' who bow low before a white man and sell out my people out of cowardice." If Negro schools in Florida were inadequate, or if white schools possessed some advantage "impossible to duplicate," she says, she would be the first to insist on it. "But if there are adequate Negro schools and prepared teachers and instructors, then there is nothing different but the presence of white people."

For this reason, I regard the ruling of the United States Supreme Court as insulting rather than honoring my race." Writer Hurston derides the long-held misconception that "there is no great delight to negroes than physical association with whites." She is this the "doctrine of the white mare", explaining that those familiar with the habits of mules are aware that any mule, not restrained, will automatically follow a white mare.

Writer Hurston's opinion the segregation issue was politically inspired and a grave mistake "just as the nation is exerting itself to shake off the evils of communization." She warns that the "important things" may lie ahead and that the ruling may be a trial balloon. "If it is off fairly well," she says, "a precedent has been established. Government by fiat can replace constitution."

Indeed, to have a Negro writer, they will be reassuring to those who have always considered the Negro race to have been endowed with its own "instincts"—and a race that is as proud as any other.

First Home Football Game To Be Played On New Field At Fair Grounds

Iuka School's first home football game will be played on the new football field at the fair grounds Friday night. This will be the first time patrons of the school will get to see their team perform in their home territory and it is expected that a large following will be present to give the boys needed encouragement.

Kossuth is the invading eleven. Reports have it that they are a large and powerful outfit—their line averages 215 pounds. Iuka's team is new. This is the second season regular scheduled games have been played and "the boys are shaping up nicely," Coach Grezaffi said.

Possible line-up for Iuka Friday night will be Wynn at center; Bugg and Vess at Guard; Yow and Cooper at tackle; Gaines and Rhodes at end; Clark or Oaks at quarterback; Tucker at right-half; Moore at left-half; McCauley at fullback; Guber, because of an injury sustained in the Pontotoc game, will be unable to play.

Coach Grezaffi says his boys are working hard and that for their size—about 150 pound average—showing a lot of spunk.

Pee-Wee Team Tangles With Booneville

Iuka's Pee-Wee football team had the pleasure of participating in the first game to be played on the newly constructed field at Fair Ground Stadium, Tuesday night, between Iuka and Booneville.

Although the Iuka eleven was defeated 26-0 in their first contest of the season the boys displayed some fine teamwork. The Iuka team was handicapped due to the fact they had only been practicing about two weeks. Tuesday night's game was the third for Booneville's team.

Buddy James, Jim Chambers, Ellett Allen and Connie Jones displayed some excellent playing while Clark and Enlow did a good job in the line.

"Tuesday night's game revealed some excellent playing and possibilities of having a good team," Coach Holley said, "and I do hope the people of the community will not get discouraged after Tuesday's game, but will encourage and support the team as they are capable and I am sure they will come through with a number of victories."

The next game scheduled for the Pee-Wees is Shannon here on Tuesday night. However, due to the fact that the county fair will be in progress, the game will be switched and this game will be played at Shannon, beginning at 7 p.m. On October 11th the return game will be played here at 1:30 p.m.

RESIDENTS EXTEND HEARTY WELCOME TO NEWCOMERS

Citizens of the town are beginning to realize changes that take place when industries move into their midst. With new industries come new families. Residents of the town extend a hearty welcome to the newcomers and hope they find living in Iuka a pleasure.

Among the families moving into the community recently and who will be affiliated with General Shoe Company are: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Boyd and son, of Ripley. They are occupying the new home built on Gaines; Mr. and Mrs. Clois Brown and daughter, Beth, of Pulaski, are occupying a home in Jones' sub-division; Mr. and Mrs. Reese McAlister and children of New Albany have moved into the Kimberley house on hwy. 72 west; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Eubanks and son have moved into the new home now under construction on hwy. 72 west; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Vaughn and children of Nashville have moved into the Curtis home located on hwy. 25 north; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pendygraft and children of Nashville have moved recently into the Carlton Woodley apt; Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Norton and children are making their home on 5th street in one of the houses recently remodeled by Wayne Spinks and Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Edmondson are occupying a new home located at the intersection of hwy. 72 and 25 north. This was built by Jim Jourdan.

Other newcomers to our community include Dr. and Mrs. Louie L. Coker and children. Mrs. Coker and children are already making their home in the Jones' sub-division. Dr. Coker who will finish his internship at St. Joseph's hospital the last of this month will arrive the first of October to assist Dr. Harry Cosby; Coach and Mrs. Toni Grezaffi and children moved to Iuka from Okolona recently and are occupying the Wendell Anglin home on hwy. 72 west.

Cotton Picking Children May Cause Local Farmers To Be Lawbreakers

In a statement urging farmers not to employ children under 16 during school hours, Wallace S. MacNicholl, Field Office Supervisor of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions Office in Jackson, warns Mississippi farmers that wilful disregard of the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act can bring stiff fines.

"With bursting cotton bolls turning the fields whiter by the day, it's time to make plans to get the crop picked, but the importance of today's cotton crop is no greater than tomorrow's school crop," he stated.

The Fair Labor Standards Act prohibits the employment of children under 16 in agriculture during hours for the district where the minor is employed. There is an exemption in case of children working for their parents, but this exemption does not extend to work done on any but the parent's farm or crop.

Mr. MacNicholl emphasized that more education for the youngsters is actually like a guarantee that they will receive extra cash money throughout their life. "The census report tells us that a study made of all men aged twenty-five years and older, those who completed 8 years of grade school received an average wage of $2,533. Those with

James Wasson Dies Of Heart Attack

Services were held Monday at Kosciusko's First Methodist Church for James Lovick Wasson, 20, honor student and athlete at Millsaps College.

James, brother of Rev. R. E. Wasson, pastor of Iuka Methodist Church, was spending the week end in Vicksburg with a classmate, Hugh Johnson, Jr. and died Sunday morning at 9 o'clock with a heart attack while water skiing.

Burial was in the City Cemetery in Kosciusko under the direction of Jordan Funeral Home.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Zachariah A. Wasson of Kosciusko, nine brothers and four sisters.

Unclaimed Driver's License In Sheriff's Office

Listed below are four unclaimed drivers' licenses that may be obtained from the sheriff's office: Harold B. Belue, Donald Ray Belue, John E. Clark and Jimmie Williams.

If these licenses belong to you, please go by the office and get them.

Citizens of the area will have an opportunity all during next week to view the best that has been produced in Tishomingo County during the past year. Farm produce including all kinds of livestock, crops, poultry, household crafts—canning, cooking, sewing and a million and one other things will be on display in the Tishomingo County Fair and Livestock show will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Even though Tuesday has been designated as the official opening date, many items will be on display Monday and the midway show will be open and ready for business Monday and Monday night.

This year the Tennessee Valley Amusement Shows will occupy the midway where amusement for both young and old will be found.

Fair officials and all interested persons are doing all with in their means to bring the biggest and best fair ever to be held in this county.

BENCH DOG SHOW

ADDED FEATURE

An added feature this year will be a Bench Dog Show to be held on Friday night September 23. Mayor John H. Allen is chairman of this event and Ernest Davis, of New Albany, a well known and qualified judge will have full charge of the judging.

Rules and classes of this show are as follows: Fox Hounds, puppy class (male and female) up to one year-derby class (male and female) and all age class (male and female); Bird Dogs, puppy class (male and female) up to one year-derby class (male and female) and all age class (male and female); Pets (all breeds) puppy class (male and female) up to one year and all age class (male and female).

Ribbons for the first through the fourth place in all classes will be awarded and Rosettes will be awarded the grand champion in each division. There will be an entrance fee of 50c per dog.

Another added feature to this year's fair will be the oldest article on exhibit. It must bear proof of its age. First and second prizes will be awarded.

Wednesday has been designated as Forestry day with the official judging of women's and girls' division and community booths to begin at 8:30 a.m. Miss Mamie Brock, clothing specialist at State College, and Miss Addie Hester, northeast district agent, will judge the exhibits. Community booths will be judged by Bill Adams and Jimmy Smith of Corinth and Miss Addie Hester of State College. Beginning at 1 p.m. T. M. Waller, State College extension agronomist, will judge the crop exhibits.

On Thursday the judging of all dairy, livestock and poultry will take place. Beef cattle, hogs and sheep will be judged by W. L. Richmond, extension animal husbandry, of State College. Dairy cattle, W. M. Bost, county agent of Tippah county and poultry by E. W. Garrison, extension poultryman at State College.

POULTRY CHAIN SALE

The 1955 Sears Poultry Exhibit will be judged Thursday, September 22, at 1:00 p.m. There will be 120 chickens exhibited by 4-H Club Boys and Girls in the Poultry Chain Project. Sale of the chickens will take place at 3:00 p.m. September 22. Those interested in purchasing these chickens please be present.

"Every effort is being made to have the booths ready for the exhibits," said county agent W. C. Hamilton. "This is the peoples fair and every citizen of the county is urged to come out and enjoy the fair and see the progress that has been made in agriculture," he continued.

Fourth Iuka Home Burns In Recent Months

Saturday afternoon, at 2:45 a fire was discovered in the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Morrison (Sailor) White. The house is located on Eastport street and is owned by W. T. Dexter.

The White family had moved most of their furnishing to their store located between Iuka and Burnsville, in order that the house might be repaired and rewired.

The interior of the house was destroyed, but none of the few furnishings left in it were burned. It was assumed that the cause of the fire was due to bad wiring.

Bro. T. L. Parker To Preach At Central School

Bro. T. L. Parker of Booneville will preach at Central school building on Highway 25 north of Iuka the 3rd Sunday night, September 18.

Everyone has a cordial invitation.

2nd Week Of School Reveals Increase In Enrollment Over Last Year's 1st Mo.

At the beginning of the second week of school, the present enrollment exceeds by 2, last years total enrollment at the end of the first month.

One hundred fifty four students have been registered in the first three grades. They have been divided between five teachers with the first grade being divided into two equal sections.

Given below is the number of students in each grade: first, 64; second, 42; third, 48; fourth, 45; fifth, 43; sixth, 24. Making a total of 266 students enrolled in the Elementary school.

A total of 310 students are enrolled in grades 7 through 12, with grade seven having 50; eighth, 50; ninth, 57; tenth, 53; eleventh, 50, and the twelfth 50. This makes a grand total of 576.

"With the expectation of new families moving into our midst we anticipate the present enrollment to increase as our school year continues," stated Supt. H. L. Shook.

Mrs. R. W. Carter, supervisor of the school lunch room, reports Wednesday, Sept. 7, as a record feeding day for Iuka students. She and her assistants served 467 children on this particular day and 440 on Thursday.

Important Projects Discussed At Monday Night Meeting Of Community Beautiful Commission; Contests Named

At a meeting of the City Beautiful Commission held on Monday night of this week many important projects aimed at the beautification of the town in general were discussed.

The Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the Town were special guests at this meeting which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Spinks. Aldermen present were Felix Dugger, E. E. Murrah, Joe W. Thompson, and Nolan S. Pruitt. Members present were Mayor and Mrs. John H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Spinks, Pete Byrom, W. J. Brinkley, Mrs. Ruth McKnight, Mrs. J. L. Dean, Mrs. Dayton Pruitt and W. J. (Bill) Pyle.

One of the new projects to be sponsored and put over by the commission is a home improvement contest. This contest will be open to all residents of the town with two divisions—one for whites and one for colored. The town will be divided into four sections with a chairman being appointed for each section. Mrs. Ruth McKnight discussed this project at length during the meeting and she stressed the fact that residents may enter their homes on either inside or outside improvements and that prizes will be awarded. Points will be given on painting, repairing, checking of wiring, repair of old fixtures, improvement of yards, fences and outbuildings. Material including rules and regulations of the contest will be in the hands of residents by the first of October, it was stated. Chairmen named for sections of the town were Rosemary Clark and June Pruitt for the south side and Montez Edmondson and Ruth Dean for the north side.

Another project the Community Beautiful Commission will sponsor and put across is the landscaping of the main highways that bisect Iuka. This plan is to be worked in conjunction with the state highway department who will do most of the labor. The commission will be expected to furnish the plants and fertilizer, see that they are watered and cared for. For the sum of $58.00 106 plants can be purchased that will be sufficient to landscape four or five blocks. These plants will include 16 magnolias, 34 crape myrtle, 22 tulip trees, 18 lilia, and 16 pyracantha. Bill Pyle and Wayne Spinks were appointed to seek methods of obtaining money to pay for these plants. "Any contributions to this worthwhile effort will be appreciated," they stated.

The Community Beautiful Commission is continuing its efforts toward the improvement of Jaybird park. At a recent meeting an effort was made to center the attention of the business people on this unsightly area. Pete Byrom has accepted chairmanship of this project. Mr. and Mrs. Spinks have agreed to contribute a wrought iron plaque that will commemorate the late Luther Brown who was always intensely interested in beautifying Jaybird park.

Another project of the Community Beautiful Commission is a Christmas tour that will be held during the Christmas season of some of the homes in the community. Each home toured will feature some particular decoration, such as mantle, door, tree, etc. Advance tickets will be sold for this tour. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Community Beautiful Commission.

Also, in line with the Christmas tour will be a group of carol singers. Plans are for the chimes to play and when they stop singers will start out, stopping and singing at each house where a front light is kept burning. After carols are sung residents of each house that indicated they wanted the singers to sing will give a donation. This donation will go to the Community Beautiful Commission.

Sept. Cotton Estimate Report

The September 1 forecast for cotton production for Mississippi is one million six hundred thousand and bales. The September 1st estimate is one hundred bales above August 1 forecast and is twenty-nine thousand bales larger than the 1954 crop. The September 1 forecast for Northeast Mississippi is one hundred seventeen thousand and bales.

Loan Cotton
For cotton to be acceptable for the Commodity Credit Corporation Loan, specific requirements must be met.

Each bale of cotton must weigh not more than 700 pounds and not less than 300. Farmers are advised to strive for standard 500 pound bales.

The cotton must be adequately packaged. The heads of bales must be covered. Material for packaging cotton bales must be new, except that used jute and sugar bagging may be used if it is clean and in good condition.

It is estimated that more than 3,000 bales of the 1955 cotton crop will fall in the too small or too heavy group. This will make such bales ineligible for the loan.

Second growth sorghum will make good silage. It should be left in the field to grow just as long as possible before frost.

Clipping Pastures. This is not generally recommended this late in the season. However, if weeds

A Study In Search of Means and Methods of Improving Family Operated Farms

The Agriculture Committee of the House of Representatives will begin a study this fall in search of means and methods of improving and strengthening family owned and operated farms. A special Subcommittee, known as the Small Farms Subcommittee, has been appointed by Harold D. Coolidge (D-N.C.), chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, to make the study. Members of the Subcommittee are as follows:

Rep. Thomas G. Abernethy of Mississippi
Rep. Clark W. Thompson of Texas
Rep. George M. Grant of Alabama
Rep. John L. McMillan of South Carolina
Rep. Harlan Hagen of California
Rep. Ross Bass of Tennessee
Rep. D. R. (Billy) Matthews of Florida
Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa
Rep. Paul B. Dague of Pennsylvania
Rep. Ralph Harvey of Indiana
Rep. Harold O. Lovre of South Dakota
Rep. Clifford O. McIntire of Maine
Rep. William R. Williams of New York

Field hearings will begin October 6 and will be held at various points in the Nation, including Fulton, Mississippi. The Fulton hearing is scheduled for October 11. Small farmers and others interested in their problems will be afforded an opportunity to testify before and submit recommendations to the Subcommittee.

The Subcommittee, accompanied by a professional staff and agricultural leaders, will arrive via bus in Fulton on the morning of October 11 from Troy, Alabama, after a night lay-over in Columbus, Mississippi.

In connection with the hearings, Congressman Abernethy today issued the following statements:

"I think the majority of the people realize that the greater the number of economically operated, family-size farms we have in America, the greater will be the strength of our institutions, our free enterprise system and the security of our Nation."

are crowding out your good grasses that you will need for this fall's grazing, go ahead and clip. Make sure that you raise the mower blade high enough to prevent taking off the good grasses. A general rule to follow is to raise the mower blade around six inches above ground.

Soybeans. Watch your soybeans closely. When these are ready to harvest, go on and harvest them. Sometimes farmers who wait until other jobs are finished before harvesting soybeans, lose as much as 25 percent of the crop due to shattering.

Sod Seeding. Do not use sod seeding principle in heavy sod this month. Wait until October. September planing with sod seeders should be done on areas where silage has been harvested, hay areas, and where early corn has been pulled.

Plant cover crops in orchards this month or early in October. Prepare the soil thoroughly by disking under all grass and weeds now. Re-disc at time of planting.

ity of the Nation.
"The fading away of the family owned and operated farm is of great concern to me. In recent years, we have seen a steady lessening of the number of small farms. This has resulted in the deterioration of many prosperous farm communities and many rural churches, schools and other institutions have been closed as the farm population dwindled away. This is a development warranting the attention of the President and the Congress."

"I am delighted that the Subcommittee has agreed to come into my Congressional District and get a first hand look at the problem confronting the small farmers of Mississippi and the Mid-South."

NORTH ALABAMA
FAIR TO BEGIN
MONDAY SEPT. 19

The North Alabama State Fair is set to open its gates in Florence on Monday, September 19, for the usual six days and nights.

It will be the twentieth season for this popular event and those attending will see a greatly enlarged and much improved Fair this year, the management states.

Notable among the improvements is a new building to house the exhibits of 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers. This addition is located west of the Exhibit hall and adjacent to the Agricultural building.

The old swimming pool property nearby has been converted into space for parking hundreds more cars and this should make for a much easier and better controlled flow of traffic into and from the fair grounds.

A better growing season promises many fine agricultural displays as well as a preponderance of blooded livestock from throughout the Tennessee Valley and nearby states of complete for the many cash premiums offered.

With the famous Braly Circus bringing its splendid array of grandstand acts and the well known Buff Hottle Shows on the midway, the 1955 edition of the North Ala. State Fair should leave nothing to be desired for an afternoon or evening of matchless entertainment.

Methodist Circuit Rally Day

Methodist churches of Iuka, Iuka Circuit, and Tishomingo Circuit are making plans for a united observance of Church School Rally Day on September 25. Their goal is to have as many present in each Sunday school as there are enrolled. A special program will be presented at every church.

On the Iuka Circuit the following have taken responsibility for directing the special program in the various churches: Spring Hill, Mrs. J. T. Gurley and Mrs. A. P. Randle; Snowdown, Mrs. J. R. Wingo; Rocky Springs, Mrs. R. B. Dean; Camp Ground, Mrs. N. N. Gray; Patrick, Mrs. Kinzie Milligan and Mrs. Kenneth Milligan; Harmony, Mrs. L. N. Dean and Miss Elsie Dean. Further information about programs in the other churches will be announced later.

Mr. W. E. Ludiam of Iuka and the Rev. W. F. Appleby of Tishomingo attended the meeting of the District Committee on Evangelism at Booneville the night of September 8.

Boggs' Chapel Church has recently organized a church school. Mr. Edward Thorne is superintendent. Increasing attendance and interest are reported.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE
AT LAKE STEPHENS

The Rev. Garland Knott of Iuka Circuit took part in the meeting of the conference Camp Committee at Lake Stephens Methodist Camp September 12 and 13.

The Rev. G. R. Williams, New Albany District Superintendent, visited on the Tishomingo charge last weekend. He preached at the Indian Springs church rally Sunday morning, and at Tishomingo Sunday night.

Brother Williams also addressed the Methodist Men's Club Monday night. It was "ladies' night" at the Club, with the men providing a fish fry.

Practices That Aid Proper Land-Use

BY A. Jones, Work Unit Consultant, USDA-SCS

Year 1955 has been a good year for most of the farmers of Iuka County.

Yields of cotton, corn and soybeans have been produced on most farms. We feel blessed and we are about the high yields of crops our land has brought this year.

Time of harvest is now at hand. This is the time to determine if mistakes were made in planting this crop. The producer should ask himself questions at following:

1. Did I plant my corn, cotton or soybeans on the right kind of land?
2. Did I plant good seed of the right kind?
3. Did I use enough fertilizer?
4. Did I prepare a good seedbed to plant in?
5. Did I plant in such a way as to get a stand?
6. Did I have enough to control the insects?
7. Will I harvest my crop in time to insure good quality grain?
8. Do not exhaust the questioner might ask himself: "If errors were made, can he benefit by his mistakes and under favorable conditions may produce more than he did this year?"

Other things being equal, the man who produces 60 bushels of reduced acres-planted to cotton on most farms. In fact row crop acres have been reduced and more sod crops established on many farms in the county. Always the most fertile acres with the least slope and planted to row crops and a pasture and permanent hay are being planted on the steeper, poorer slopes. This is the general trend. Also some farmers are setting their steeper idle land to pines.

It is a fine thing for the farmer to plant their more level fields to row-crops and tie down their steeper slopes with hay crops, pastures or pine trees. This is exactly the recommendation of Planning Technician for the USDA Soil Conservation Service. Too, it is approved by the Tennessee River Soil Conservation District Commissioners. This way of using the land is fine, but your County Agent is right when he talks to you about good planting seed, balanced fertilization. Lining the soil, insect control and all the other things he and the other agricultural men of the county recommended.

Profitable high per acre yields is the key that will open the door to better land-use and greater soil and water conservation in Iuka County.

Other things being equal, the man who produces 60 bushels of corn or a bale of cotton per acre is doing a far better job of soil and water conservation than if he produced only 15 bushels of corn or a half bale of cotton per acre.

Let us determine how to apply all the good agricultural practices to our land, so as to check erosion and conserve as much of the water that falls on it as possible. The good farmers take care of their land and it in turn takes care of them.

Make Your Living Room More Attractive and More Useful With the Right Lighting.

Today it is both fashionable and good sense to use the right lamps to give your living room that hospitable, lived-in look that is so comfortable. And with the wide variety of good lamps on the market now, it is easy to achieve just that.

By choosing your lamp styles carefully, you can change your living room's individual quality in much the same way that you change a basic suit with accessories.

With the right lamp, you can create a warm mellow feeling of informal living. Or if you prefer the light airy atmosphere of the modern ranch style, lamps fashioned to fit in with this type of house and furnishings will give it to

Take The "Fall" Out Of Fall Cleaning

American homemakers can save themselves about 100,000 broken bones this month—just by taking the "fall" out of Fall housecleaning. That's the estimate of the Sal Soda Institute, which says studies prove women are never so reckless of life and limb as when pursuing their old arch-enemy—dirt.

Sal soda concentrated, the washing soda cleaning compound, has been a housecleaning standby since before Grandma's day—which explains the Institute's interest in housecleaning safety practices.

Here, based on the Institute's statistics, is an ambulance driver's eye-view of the housecleaning carnage in the United States during an average year:

Thirty-two thousand are killed, 130,000 are permanently injured and 4,750,000 are sufficiently injured to require a doctor's attention. Falls, alone, kill 16,000. Homemade, or bootleg cleaning compounds kill about 6,000 more through poisoning, explosions and fire.

These national death and injury statistics are culled from police reports and other public records. The figures have remained roughly the same for the past five years.

Here are some of the Institute's recommendations to homemakers for a safe Fall housecleaning:

Keep ladders at a safe angle to the wall and directly in front of the area in which you are working. Never stand on the top rung. Never lift more than your common sense tells you is a safe weight. Don't carry objects so bulky they block your vision. Keep little children from under your feet during rush work periods. Use games and toys to keep them amused. Put mops, brushes and other equipment away when not in use. Don't leave them where they can be tripped over. Read all warning labels on cans and bottles. If you are warned to keep cleaning fluid away from fire—do it.

Run no risks with homemade cleaning compounds which might burn or poison. Too many safe and inexpensive compounds (such as sal soda concentrated) are available for the homemaker to take any unnecessary chances.

you. For a more formal living room you should choose traditional lamp styles.

Good lighting is most important, of course, and you should choose lamps for each seeing task. To give enough lighting for the usual living room furniture arrangements, the lighting experts have set the minimum number of lamps at five. This may sound like a lot, but good lighting for eye comfort is necessary beside all favorite seating locations in your room.

Your first consideration in lighting your living room is a good overhead fixture for soft, overall lighting. This may be a central ceiling fixture, or it may combine a ceiling fixture with valance or cornice lighting.

Then comes lighting for a variety of activities. This is where your portable lamps enter the picture. Since these are to provide lighting for eye comfort as right touch in your living room, you'll keep these two functions in mind when shopping for the floor and table lamps your living room needs.

From the decoration angle, you may choose lamps that match, shades that match, or lamps that are related in design. But for that all-important function of good lighting, there are several points to look for.

First you will want diffused, soft light for eye comfort. To give this kind of light, your lamps need a diffusing bowl. Next you will want enough light at the right levels. This means looking for lamps that take three-way bulbs to adjust your lighting to your various seeing needs.

Height of your lamp is important, too. They must be high enough to give a good spread of light on your seeing task—but not so high that you see the light bulb.

Last item is the shade. For table lamps, you will need shades at least 14 to 16 inches across the bottom to get good light distribution; for floor lamps, shades from 18 to 20 inches. The shade may be opaque or partly transparent, depending on its purpose and suitability to decorations. To reflect maximum light, these shades must be white or near white on the inside.

If they are semi-transparent, they should also be soft, pastel tones. Light through a strong color like green, for instance, is most unflattering to skin tones.

If you want your living room to look larger, use medium to light wall finishes. Light colors reflect light and give a feeling of spaciousness. Dark colors absorb light and give a dull feeling to your room.

"School Days Are Happy Days," Unless

Seventeen Tennessee school children were killed recently when a fast freight plowed into the side of the school bus in which they were riding. None of the 26 other tiny passengers in the bus escaped injury.

And it could have happened here.

The driver of the ill-fated Tennessee bus stated that he did not see the on-rushing train until too late. Perhaps, he didn't; certainly, he would not have driven the bus onto the track had he seen the approaching freight.

But the big question which will always bother the parents of those 43 tots — and the unfortunate driver, the only person in the bus who escaped injury — is: Why wasn't the train seen?

Mississippi Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong states that Mississippi school bus drivers are required by law to undergo extensive, supervised training before being permitted to transport children to and from school. The driver training program, supervised by the state Department of Education, is an excellent one and driver trainees are carefully selected.

But there is always danger that a driver may become careless, and those who do should be reported to school authorities.

After a child has been killed or crippled through some negligible act on the part of the driver, it is too late. The school bus driver has learned his lesson — yes — but the lesson was far too costly. We must keep our school bus drivers constantly aware of their responsibility.

A. P. Smith, assistant director of school buildings and transportation, Department of Education, points out that Spring City, Tennessee, tragedy could have been averted had the bus driver used a school boy patrolman to flag the bus through the "blind crossing". Smith urges Mississippi school bus drivers to use Patrol Boys on their buses, and, at blind railroad crossings, have the Patrol Boys step in front of the bus and to check for approaching trains. Such caution pays.

It is as equally important that the parents be aware of their responsibilities when driving in or near school zones or approaching school buses loaded with children. Mississippi law forbids a motorist from passing a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children, and this is one law which MUST be observed.

The Highway Patrol last winter used all its facilities to apprehend a motorist who sped by a school bus, barely missing a child stepping from the bus. "We will do this every time a child's life has been endangered," Commissioner Birdsong promises.

School zone speed limits should be observed at all times, and when a motorist nears a playground, he should be more than "just Careful". He must think many times for the little boy chasing his ball or for the little girl stepping from the curb to join her little friends across the street.

"School days are happy days" only if they are safe days. Do your part in keeping them happy by driving safely and alertly through school zones and by letting the yellow school bus be your signal to drive cautiously.

Government Loan Program To Help Farmers Get High Price For Corn

Farmers with corn to sell from this year's splendid crop should consider the price advantages offered through the government loan program, according to Dr. Clay Lyle, director of the Agricultural Extension Service.

"Mississippi farmers can secure the greatest net income from this recordbreaking crop by feeding it to their livestock, but if one has surplus corn it should not be sacrificed now at 85 to 90 cents a bushel when corn grading No. 3 of better can be stored for a government loan of $1.30 a bushel in all counties of Mississippi. On a few hundred bushels or more, the saving will pay the cost of providing permanent storage facilities will be available for future crops."

"Farmers can then take advantage of any increases during the winter or spring in the price of corn. If the market price does not become attractive, they can be sure of getting at least $1.30 by delivering it to the Commodity Credit Corporation."

Delivery's as early as April 1, 1956 to the CCC of corn stored under the loan will be permitted. Farmers wishing to do this will apply through their county ASC committees.

This possible April 1 delivery date is earlier than heavy insect damage is likely to occur, Dr. Lyle pointed out.

"The maintenance of the quality of corn stored on the farm under the CCC is the responsibility of the farmer, and he should be sure that he knows how to store the corn and protect the quality before he applies for a loan," he emphasized.

Although there are no specific requirements for farm storage facilities, such structures must be approved by the ASC county committees. The committees will determine whether these structures will adequately protect the corn against the weather and permit control of insects and rodents.

Loans to help finance storage structures are available through ASC committees.

See the local ASC office for details about the loan program.

County agents of the Agricultural Extension Service can furnish detailed information about constructing storage facilities treatment of grain to control insects and related problems.

CLUB NEWS

The Thursday club's annual project is the sponsoring of the local library and in connection with it the club, each year during the month of August, conducts a weekly story hour in Mineral Springs park.

Members of the club would like to publicly acknowledge the wonderful cooperation and help rendered by Mrs. Wayne Spinks, Miss Brenda Sue Gober, Mrs. Bob Brown and Miss Karen Gober who gave of their time each week which contributed largely to the success of the program.

MRS. JOHN H. ALLEN IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Members of the Thursday Study club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John H. Allen for the first meeting of the new club year.

Mrs. Elmus Curtis, president, presided over the regular transaction of business.

The Story Hour, sponsored by the club and held in Mineral Springs park during the month of August was reported as being a huge success by Mrs. Victoria Gravette.

Mrs. T. M. McDonald, international relations chairman, was in charge of the program which stressed the theme, "Searchlight For Free Europe."

Mrs. Wayne Spinks gave a very interesting report on her recent visit abroad. Moving pictures were shown of the most interesting countries they visited including Switzerland, Italy, France and Holland.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Spinks for the most gracious manner in which she presented this review.

Mrs. R. E. Wasson was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Roscoe Rhine was a welcome guest.

The hostess served a delicious ice course at the close of the program.

Miss Haynes is a graduate of the Birmingham School of Nursing and Dr. Robinson is a graduate of the University of Tennessee Dental college. The wedding will be an event of Sept. 25 th at 4 p.m. in the First Baptist church of Haleyville. The couple will make their home in Iuka where Dr. Robinson is practicing his profession.

was hostess to the meeting.

The tables were attractively decorated with center arrangements of lavender and purple bachelor buttons and glads.

Mrs. Clea Gann read the constitution, amendment and by-laws of the club.

A business meeting was held at this time with members voting to buy an instrument for the band, towels for the blind, each member buying two, and deciding to let the band sponsor the Halloween carnival, assisted by club members.

The club voted to meet at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30. They have been meeting in a home each time, but will meet in the dining room of one of the cafes throughout the year.

LUCY ROWE CLUB MEETING HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

The private dining room of the Country Club Cafe was the scene of the Lucy Rowe Study Club's business meeting held Thursday evening at seven-thirty with Mrs. W. C. Hamilton hostess.

Following the discussion of a number of important issues presented by members of the Club the hostess served a delicious sandwich plate with cokes.

More Vegetables, More Ways

There's no excuse for vegetable monotony at the family table. The wide variety of vegetables, fresh, frozen and canned, plus the myriad of free recipes for preparing them, make happy eating as easy as the proverbial pie.

From now through autumn, fresh vegetables are at their best, in super market cases or at roadside stands. Several varieties of squash make delicious (and inexpensive) main dishes. (Golden-meat acorn squash, bright green zucchini or delicate yellow crookneck summer squash take to tasty ground meat fillings like poultry to celery stuffing.) The recipe below specifies acorn squash, but zucchini or crookneck varieties may be substituted. The latter probably will take less baking time, depending on size and maturity. They should be baked only until just done, not soft or mushy. Flavor Hints when preparing squash as a vegetable:

Use Ac'cent along with salt in the cooking water or at serving time. Mash squash with lemon juice, butter or margarine and a touch of cinnamon and sugar, for new flavor interest.

Foil-Baked Acorn Squash
3 medium acorn squash ½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter ¼ teaspoon pepper
Salt and pepper ½ teaspoon Ac'cent
¼ teaspoon Ac'cent Pinch poultry seasoning
1 cup finely-cut cooked ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs chicken or pork 2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup chopped celery Aluminum Foil

Cut squash in half; remove seeds; slice off tip ends. Brush squash inside with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper and Ac'cent. Combine remaining ingredients; blend well. Fill squash with mixture; round up top. Cut 4-inch rounds of aluminum foil; brush one side with oil. Place oiled side over filled squash. Cup and shape foil over squash to act as cover. Place in baking dish. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 40 to 60 minutes depending on size of squash. Makes 6 servings.

returning home Tuesday night.

Mrs. Icie Lomenick spent the week end in Sheffield with Mr. and Mrs. James Lomenick and Miss Patsy Lomenick.

Mr. Herman Gann accompanied by his brother, Thurmon, of Booneville, attended a luncheon and dealer's meeting at the Chisce hotel in Memphis Sunday.

What Is Right?
Lesson for September 18, 1955

THE most dangerous notion in the world is that "right" and "wrong" do not mean anything at all but "I like it" and "I don't like it." When people begin to think along that line, all the walls are down, they have made the surrender of their character. Right and wrong do mean something, and all the slippery philosophies to the contrary notwithstanding, a person who is blind to these green and red lights is headed straight into trouble. Even when people are professing not to see any sense in those great words, for themselves, however, they do see how important they are for others.

Doing As Everybody Does
One of the wrong ways to find out what's right and what's not, is the simple, easy, and foolish method of counting noses. That is, some people will think anything at all is right if enough people do it. At the lowest level, take some primitive tribe in Borneo where men are admired in proportion to the number of heads—human heads—they have cut off and brought home. The "best citizens" of such communities are the most murderous! Now it has not occurred yet to some of those people that this killing is wrong; everybody does it, everybody has always done it, so it must be right. At the upper level, or at higher levels anyhow, take some American school or college where more than two-thirds of the students cheat on examinations. Everybody does it, the freshman is told, so it must be all right. In the same community, perhaps, people who should know better will indulge in liquor just because "everybody" does it. But you cannot make a wrong thing right by addition.

Doing As You Like
Another mistake about right and wrong is to suppose that if a thing appeals to you strongly enough it must be right—for you. One man's meat is another man's poison, you will be told. If it is pleasant, that is a sign it is good; if it is unpleasant, that is a sign it is bad, or wrong. Now everybody knows how silly this is, when they see some one else putting up this kind of excuse. But when it comes home to one's own self, one sings a different tune. We hear talk like this: "I have a right to be happy, haven't I? . . . You can't expect me to sacrifice my own interests . . . Something I want so much can't be very wrong . . . I'm in the grip of something too big for me . . . After all, I've got myself to consider . . . If you knew how much this means to me you wouldn't blame me . . ." and so forth and so forth. Now there is a grain of truth—no more than a grain, mind you—in this kind of philosophy of life. Certainly the opposite is wrong, too: if the pleasant is not always the same as the good, the unpleasant is not always good either. Stuff you hate to eat may be good for you (like spinach) or it may be bad for you (like underdone sausage). In an ideal life, a person would love to do what is right to be done, he would not hate it. Still it does not follow that duty is always delightful, or that the "kick" we get out of something is a measure of how right it is for us.

Doing What God Likes
Malachi the prophet many centuries ago said pretty plainly, in the name of God, what is the real difference between right and wrong. (And of course this is not the only place in the Bible where this comes out.) The righteous (the good man) is one who serves God; the wicked man is the one who does not serve him. Now that is not so simple as it is true. The will of God cannot be read off like a blueprint. God does not stand at a man's elbow all day long dictating to him moment by moment what he must do. Nevertheless in the Word of God we have the main lines of God's will plainly shown. We are never to be saved the trouble of thinking our problems through. But yet we do have some course-lights, some beacons on our way. We have the Ten Commandments. We have the Golden Rule. We have the inspired word, "He that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law." The will of God—the right for men and women—is as simple, and as profound, as love.

of us have the problem of getting with a cinder in our eye or other. You will find the recommended remedy in the paragraph of what to do to it.

You may remove a speck of something in your eye by inserting the corner of a clean wet kerchief in your eye, or by holding the eye, using an eyecup with cool boric acid solution. The particle is gritty, a drop of oil in the eye will help prevent irritation.

For a black eye, apply something cold — ice, a cloth soaked in cold water immediately after accident. This is the only time to prevent discoloration and swelling. Act promptly, and keep the eye closed as the cold cloth is pressed against it.

Storing Mildewed Leather

As you take shoes, luggage and other leather articles from the closet or other storage, you often find them coated with mildew. Don't think they are permanently ruined. You can restore them and bring them back into use by wiping with a cloth wrung out in diluted alcohol.

Use 1 cup denatured alcohol to 1 cup thick suds made of a mild, neutral soap or use saddle soap. Wipe dry with a damp cloth and dry in an airy place.

To kill molds that have grown into leather goods, use formaldehyde candles. "Fumigation" will kill any molds at the time, but it will not protect articles from future attacks.

Pointers for Freezing 'Main Dishes'
Preparing main dishes, as Beef pie or chicken, corn casserole to store in the home freezer can be a real time-saver and convenience, if you look out for a few "do's and don'ts."

DO - leave vegetables and Macaroni slightly underdone for freezing. If cooked well-done, these foods are likely to be soft when reheated.

DO - freeze meat pies and turnovers with pastry crusts unbaked. Crusts baked after freezing freezer in recent experiments had fresher flavor and were more flaky and tender than those baked and then frozen.

DO - cool quickly a cooked main dish that is to be frozen by sitting the uncovered pan of food on ice or in very cold water. A metal pan is better for cooling as it conducts the heat away from the food rapidly and is not likely to break.

Quick cooling stops the cooking and so helps to keep the natural flavor, color and texture of the food. It also retards or prevents growth of bacteria that may cause spoilage.

Don't - add a crumb or cheese topping to a food before freezing. Such toppings are best added when the food is reheated.

Don't hold main dishes too long in frozen storage. For tip-top quality and economical use of freezer

by Alicia Joyce

Furniture today offers a greater wealth of function than ever, in any fashion, for any purpose, and in any size.

Large or small, most every item of furniture is inter-changeable from one room to another, and functions decoratively and practically wherever there is a specific need. New emphasis is given to storage requirements in many of the current furniture fashions.

Fashionable styling is such that traditional pieces will fit in with modern decor, and modern will fit in with traditional themes.

For beauty's sake, as well as convenience, shown above is a smaller item of furniture which has storage news. This petite and lovely commode adds just the right formal note to a room. With its tasteful styling comes an unusual note of function. Designed with a bin compartment, it will store knitting equipment, magazines, records, or other recreational articles, attractively and within reach. It gives you deep storage for bulky items.

It is a small item that fits well anywhere in the house, yet it has new storage attention to add greatly to the functional comfort of your home.

The facade is a simulated drawer design, and the finish is a rich deep gleam mahogany.

space, 2 or 3 months in frozen storage is long enough. Most of these dishes, however, will hold quality fairly well for 6 months.

Winter Arrangements

Now is the time to gather various plant materials for use in winter arrangements. Keep an eye open for interesting curves of branches and for seed pods, burrs, pine cones, grasses and cattails.

A light coating of shellac will make them easier to dust during the winter. If color is needed, lightly brush materials with paint.

To starch nylon canans use:

- 1 envelope plain gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- ¾ cup hot water

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water to soften. Add hot water and stir until thoroughly dissolved.

After cancan has been washed, dip in the above starch. Hang out to dry. Do not iron.

Medical Center To Have Dedication Monday, Oct. 24

Mississippi's new University Medical Center in Jackson is to be dedicated on Monday, October 24.

The formal ceremony is to be held at 2:30 p.m. that afternoon, Chancellor J. D. Williams announced last week. After the 30-minute program, the $9,000,000 building completed just this summer, is to be open for guided tours.

Speaking at a dedication committee luncheon-meeting in the Medical Center Sept. 8, Chancellor Williams said, "We want everyone in Mississippi to see the wonderful institution the state has built for educating its doctors."

"On October 24, citizens of the state will have an opportunity to inspect a typical wing in the 350 bed teaching hospital, to visit the medical school and to see the services on the first floor, including the huge out patient clinic." Governor Hugh White will make

June 1955 Had 4% Increase in Money Order Sales Over 1954

In Iuka money order sales were 4 per cent above July 1954 while Ripley reported a decrease of 3 per cent. Postal receipts lagged by 16 per cent in Iuka, but showed a gain of 2 per cent in Ripley. Telephones in service were up in each of the cities.

General business activity in the Corinth area was in excess of both July 1954 and June 1955, according to the current issue of the Mississippi Business Review, monthly publication of the Business Research Station of the School of Business and Industry at Mississippi State College. The comparison with July 1954 gave a 9 per cent increase, while that for June 1955 gave a 1 per cent gain.

Corinth had 11 percent more business activity than a year earlier and 4 per cent more than in June 1955. Bank debits were 17 per cent in excess of July 1954, and money order sales were up 9 per cent for the same comparison. Telephones in service were 6 per cent more numerous than a year earlier. Postal receipts dropped by 10 per cent for the city's only decrease.

The general index for the city of Corinth dropped two points during July 1955. It fell from 135 per cent of the 1947-49 average to 133 per cent.

Milk Receipts Totalled $73 Million In 1954

Mississippi's milk production went up 12 per cent in the past decade even though the total of milk cows increased only 7 per cent during the same period, W. V. Lyons, Miss. representative of the American Can Co. said today. The 1.6 billion pounds of milk produced on Mississippi farms in 1954 helped set an all-time national record of 123.5 billion lbs., said the official of the can company which annually produces hundreds of millions of paper milk containers. Mississippi farmers shared in milk receipts totaling about $73 million, he said.

Improved feeding and dairying methods bringing about greater productivity per cow were advanced by Lyons as one of the major reasons for the increased output.

The national record, he said, was produced by twelve per cent fewer milk cows than were on America's farms in 1944, when the cow population was at a record total of 25.6 million cows. However, Lyons pointed out, the 22.4 million cows in 1954 produced an average of 5,512 pounds of milk each, almost a thousand pounds more than the 1944 cows.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Thompson spent Sunday and Monday in Birmingham on business.

Woman's Society Of Christian Service Observes 15th Anniversary Monday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Iuka Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, September 12, for a special program and fellowship hour in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

A special prayer was offered for the pastor, Rev. R. E. Wasson and family who were called to Kosciusko, Sunday afternoon because of the sudden death of the pastor's brother.

Following a brief business session presided over by the president, Mrs. Sam Kimberley, Mrs. Joe Thompson, secretary of promotion directed a program which reviewed the progress of the past fifteen years in the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Choosing for the worship theme, "Working Together for God," Mrs. Thompson emphasized the value of co-operative work in the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Arnold closed the worship period with the appropriate hymn, "Bless Be The Tie That Binds."

"Why the Anniversary" was discussed by Mrs. Sam Kimberley. She was followed by Mrs. Leslie Moser who called the roll of the presidents for the past fifteen years, each giving the highlights of the work during her term of office.

The names of the fourteen members who have died during the past fifteen years were read as the group stood in silent meditation and prayer as a tribute to the remembered services of these former members.

Miss Lillian Bostick, recording secretary, read the names of the charter members and each was asked to make a wish for the organization.

Mrs. W. J. Sanders was the pianist for the afternoon.

At the conclusion of the inspirational program, a social hour under the direction of Mrs. B. L. Martin, Mrs. Victoria Gravette, and Mrs. J. L. Odom was enjoyed.

On the refreshment table which was covered with a pink lace cloth, a beautiful floral arrangement of zinnias interspersed with princess feathers made an attractive setting for the two tiered birthday cake and the bowl of fruit punch which were served to the 27 members present.
