4-H Junior Council Meeting Held On January 14

The 4-H Junior Council Meeting was held in the Educational Building of the Iuka Baptist Church, January 14, 1956.

A record attendance of sixty two 4-H club members, twelve adult leaders, and two extension workers participated in this meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Betty Coker. Nell Robinson and Martha Dean led the group in singing 4-H club songs. Roll call and minutes were read by Nancy Robinson, council secretary.

The Council voted unanimously to hold quarterly meetings at the Tishomingo State Park Lodge.

The Assistant County Agent, Grady Geno, discussed judging and demonstration contests to be held during 4-H Club Congress at Mississippi State College. He said that he would be delighted to work with any 4-H Club member and their adult leader, who would be interested in participating in any of these contests.

Mr. Cecil Brown, an employee of the Tishomingo County Electric Power Association discussed the electric project. He informed the 4-H club members that the Electric Power Association would sponsor again this year the county electric project, awarding prizes, based on completed records, to first, second and third place winners.

The Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Leola S. Gardner, discussed the corn meal project, which is a new project. She encouraged enrollment in this project.

A demonstration on Protection of the Eyes was given by Nancy Robinson of the Snowdown school. Recreation was led by Junior Council recreational leaders, Brynda Sue Guber and Harold Dean Wade. Refreshments were served by Junior Council Members.

The meeting adjourned by the group saying the 4-H Club Pledge.

The girls game was easily won by a 50-18 score. Parsons was high scorer for the winners with 31 points while Mayo scored 8 for Belmont.

The heavyweight game was close until the last quarter when Midway pulled out in front and went on to win by a 47-29 score. Webb and Aldridge scored 19 and 16 respectively for the winners. For the losers, Ivy scored 12 points.

Research At State Paves Way For New Industry

A research laboratory at Mississippi State College is the nucleus for a new agricultural industry that may soon bring $20,000,000 a year into the state. The regional seed research laboratory was established seven years ago under the authority of a 1948 legislative act. It is now the world's most complete seed processing plant.

There are now more than 600 growers in Mississippi producing certified seed for about 18 crops. Seedmen from over the western hemisphere visit the campus annually to observe treatment processes there.

Mississippi Takes Lead In Number Of Tree Farms

Mississippi has vaulted past Texas to take national leadership in the number of certified Tree Farms. Recent certification by the Mississippi Tree Farm Committee of 80 new and supplemental Tree Farm acreages—many of them held by small landowners brought about the new title. New properties recognized raised Mississippi's total of Tree Farms to 791.

Morrell Hatcher Hogs Graze Sericea

By Hiram A. Jones Work Unit Conservationist SCS

Mr. Morrell Hatcher, superintendent of the Burnsville high school is a successful hog grower. On his 35 acre home farm near Gravel Hill school Mr. Hatcher finds that Sericea lespedeza makes a good pasture for hogs.

Mr. Hatcher owns several tracts of land. He keeps his hogs on the 35 acre tract on which he lives. Most of this land is hilly and not to well suited for pastures. Because most of this land is steep and drowthy Mr. Hatcher seeded 25 acres of it to Sericea lespedeza four and five years ago. He fertilized it well, and was fortunate in getting a good stand.

Last year Mr. Hatcher grazed 175 head of hogs on this 25 acres of Sericea and is most pleased with the results he obtained.

"Well fertilized Sericea makes a good pasture for hogs," said Mr. Hatcher as he explained his farm program. "It seems that about the best pasture crops to grow on steep dry land like this are: sericea lespedeza for late spring and summer grazing, and rye grass for winter and early spring grazing. I find that the hogs I buy as well as those I raise graze the Sericea well and seem to relish it" continued Mr. Hatcher.

Because the commissioners of the Tennessee River Soil Conservation District advocate the use of sericea as a pasture, hay, and soil conserving crop I was most interested in the results Mr. Hatcher was getting from it regarding these three uses.

He had said it made a good pasture for hogs, he was sure it had slowed down the erosion, and had, to some extent, improved the land. For hay, he liked it. He said it should be clipped twice to three times a year to keep it tender and good for grazing, and that it can be stacked around a pole in the field, or hauled in loose or baled as preferred.

"To get the best results from sericea keep it well fertilized with basic slag and potash, and above all cut it while it is tender; don't wait until it is waist high and tough or woody," continued Mr. Hatcher.

In concluding his remarks Mr. Hatcher said, "My hogs and cows graze Sericea for pasture, and when cut at the right stage of growth makes good hay. It is a good plant for the farmers of Tishomingo county to grow on their steep dry upland soil."

If you have sericea and you are not pleased with the results you are getting from it as a pasture and as a hay crop there may be a reason. Most likely you are not fertilizing and keeping your Sericea clipped as you should.

Sericea seed are cheaper this year than they have been for a long time. This will be a good year for you to plant some. Mr. R. C. Tice and I represent the Soil conservation service in Tishomingo county, and we will be glad to discuss with you the selection of land for Sericea, as well as the planting and management of it.

The Churches Of Christ Salute You

Whom Will You Believe, God or Men?

Men teach that baptism is not essential to our salvation from sin. If that is true it means that Peter commanded a non-essential! "And Peter commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ" (Acts 10:48). It therefore reduces the commandments of God to absurdities if any of them are not essential.

2. It means that remission of sins is not essential to salvation. "Peter said to them, repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38). Jesus said in Matthew 26:28 "For this is my blood of the new testament which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Notice that Peter said, "be baptized for the remission of sins," and Jesus said his blood was "shed for the remission of sins." Certain it is that baptism and the shedding of Jesus' blood are for the same purpose, or unto the same end, the remission of sins. Then to say that baptism is non-essential is to say the shedding of Jesus' blood was non-essential. That is tantamount to saying that Jesus died for naught.

3. It means that not one single command of God can consistently be construed as obligatory upon man. By the same rule of reasoning by which baptism is deemed unnecessary to salvation every other commandment can be so deemed. Faith is commanded, so is baptism. Jesus said, "Except ye believe that I am he ye shall die in your sins"; he also said "Except a man be born of water and the spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (John 3:5). For every argument that faith is essential the same argument may be offered in behalf of the essentiality of baptism.

4. It means that Ananias deceived Paul when he told him, "Arise and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16). If Paul's sins had already been washed away prior to his baptism, Ananias did not correctly represent the case to Paul. The fact is that Paul's sins had not been forgiven prior to and without baptism. Neither are yours.

5. It means that a man can be saved out of Christ. Paul says, "For as many as have been baptized into Christ did put on Christ" (Gal. 3:27). Since man by baptism enters Christ, and we have no other way of entering him, then to say that one need not be baptized in order to be saved is to say that one need not enter into Christ to be saved. Any theory of salvation that rules Christ out is not so.

6. It means that all the examples of conversion that God gives us in the books of Acts is not dependable. In every case of conversion on the divine record as taking place under the great commission, baptism is found. Always it was recorded as a part of the gospel process of converting man.

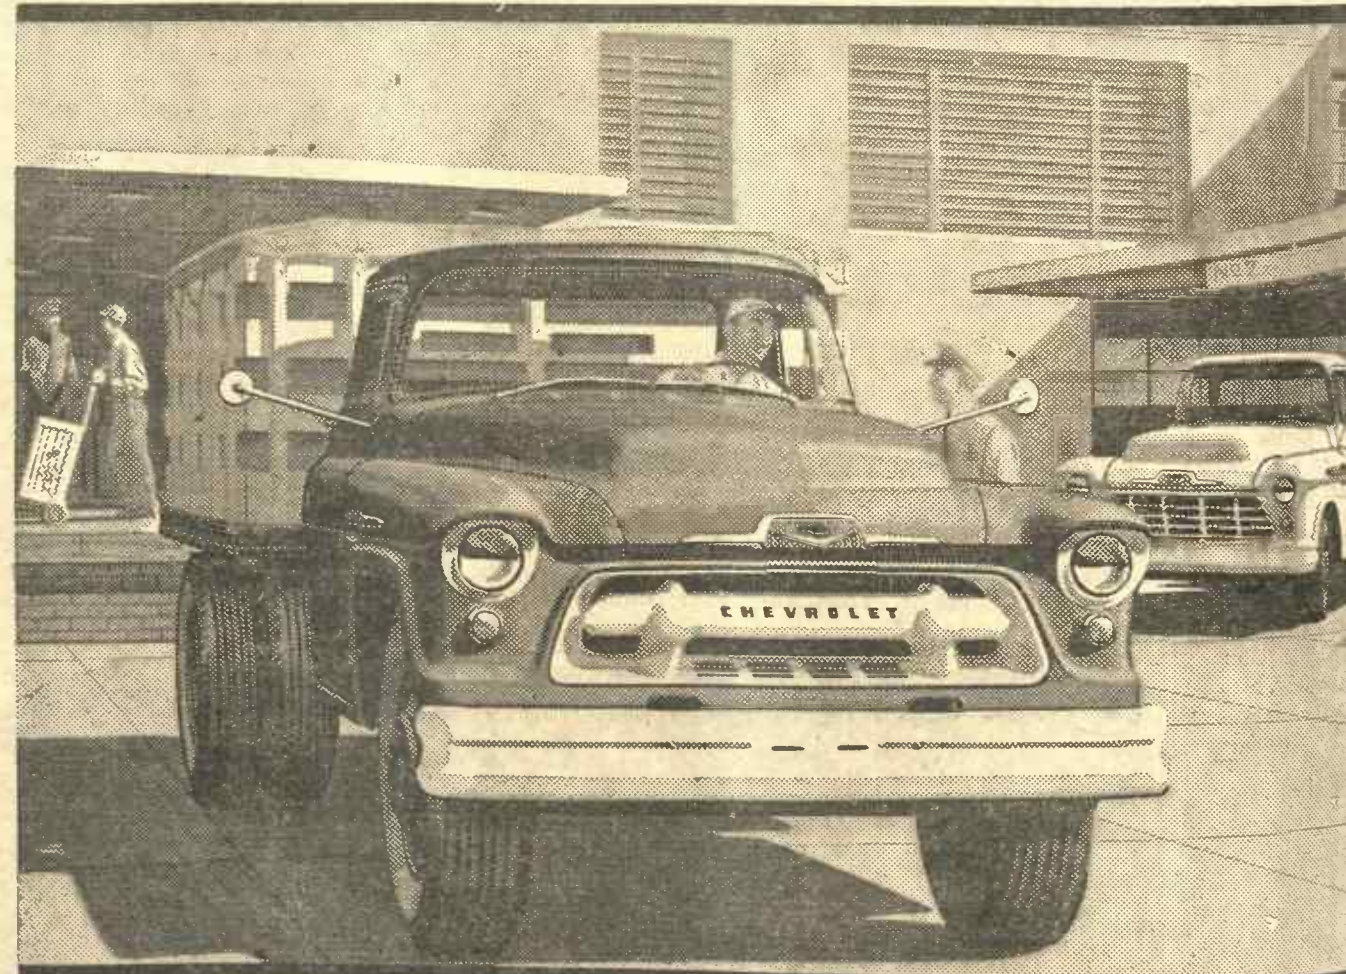

With these things in mind, any student of the Bible should be able to see the utter impossibility of the doctrine of salvation by faith alone. Neither is salvation obtained by repentance and faith, but by faith, repentance and baptism. "If I have not faith so as to remove mountains, and have not love, I am nothing" (1 Cor. 13:2).

"And this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments; and His commandments are not grievous" (1 John 5:3). Baptism is a commandment. Whom will you believe, God or men?

HOME AGENT NOTES
 BY Mrs. Leola S. Gardner
 Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service
 Council Meeting, Feb. 4, 1956
 Control of cats and dogs might bring fleas to your home. The best way to prevent this is to get rid of the fleas on your household pets. Fleas on dogs, you can dust with a 10 percent DDT dust or with a 1 percent DDT barn dust. Do not put DDT on cats, as they poison themselves by licking it off their fur. For cats use ½ or 1 percent rotenone or pyrethrum dust. Regular garden derris dust will give good control. Sometimes fleas get in cracks in the floor, in spaces around baseboards and under carpets. A 5 percent DDT household spray on these surfaces will give good control.

Gardening
 If you haven't already done it, now is a good time to get that home garden underway. Late January marks a real beginning of the spring gardening season. It is planting time in Mississippi.
 Here are some hardy and semi-hardy vegetables that can be planted now and in early February:

Carrots, lettuce, onions, Irish potatoes, spinach, turnips, cabbage, mustard, radish, tendergreens and English peas. These are all January vegetables.
 Some additional January gardening jobs call for getting the garden plot cleaned out, ready for planting, checking seed catalogs and buying seed-enough for two plantings of each vegetable.
 It is also time to plant tomato, pepper and eggplant seed in hotbeds for late March plants.
Strawberry Care
 Fertilize and mulch strawberries in February. A light application of 5-10-5 or 6-8-8 fertilizer should be made before you mulch the plants.
 Apply the fertilizer when the leaves are dry. Use around 4 lbs. per 100 feet of mated row plants, or 2 pounds for single row plants.
 For mulching, place pine needles, oat straw, decaying leaves, or other material around the plants and completely cover the ground. This will protect the fruit from dirt and will also help conserve moisture by reducing grass and weed growth.
Less Expensive Cuts of Meat
 Beef is plentiful right now, and good. Try some of the lower priced cuts like shank, chuck and short ribs. These require longer cooking and a little more preparation, but are good budget stretchers.
 Shank makes an excellent broth. Here is how to prepare it: Brown the shank in a little of its own fat, then cover it with boiling water and simmer until the meat is cooked. Leave the meat in the broth overnight for more moisture and more flavor. The center shank cuts are better buys than end cuts.

 Chuck cuts good pot roasts. Brown the meat in a little fat before adding water. When the meat is done, remove the done and let it stand in the rich broth overnight. This is ideal served over hot biscuits.
 Short ribs usually contain a lot of fat. Roll them in flour, then brown them in a small amount of fat. Cook the ribs in a covered roaster in the oven.
 They are good served with a tart vegetable like sauerkraut. Add the sauerkraut to the ribs and heat well before serving.

Funks G-711, Dixie 33, Funks 779-W Pfister 631.
 Late Maturing Varieties Funks G-714 and Ffister 653.
 Cotton: DPL-15 DPL Fox, Stoneville 2-B, Coker 100-W, and Delfos 9169.
 Soybeans for Oil Lee or Dorman and Ogden.
 Soybeans for Hay: Laredo and Red Tanner.
 Sorghum for Silage: Texas Seeded Ribbon Cane and Tracy.
 Corn for Silage: Dixie 22 or Dixie 18.
 The following 1956 fertilizer recommendations are general and should not be used if a soil test on your farm has been completed. These recommendations are for those who have never had a soil analysis taken:
 Hill Corn Land: 350 pounds 6-8-8 or equivalent plus 150 pounds Ammonium Nitrate, per acre.
 Bottom Corn Land: 600 pounds 8-8-8 or equivalent plus 200 pounds Ammonium Nitrate per acre.
 Hill Cotton Land: 400 pounds 6-8-8 or equivalent plus 100 pounds Ammonium Nitrate per acre.
 Bottom Cotton Land: 600 pounds 6-8-8 or equivalent plus 200 pounds ammonium nitrate per acre.
Care of Milk Utensils
 Dirty utensils and milking equipment are the greatest single cause of milk contamination.
 Danger points for dirt are open seams, cracks, dents and scratches in milking equipment, worn and cracked rubber parts of milking machines, in suction hoses and pipe lines.

 Here are some recommendations for cleaning milking equipment.
 Follow the rinse-clean-rinse routine. First rinse all equipment with hot or cold water immediately after milk is poured from the utensil. Next, scrub all equipment with a good brush, using hot water and soapless cleaner. Third, rinse all equipment in scalding water, at least 180 F.

Remember, careless washing of equipment and utensils permits the building up of milkstone and other deposits that usually harbor bacteria.

County Agent news
 By W. C. HAMILTON
 Representing Mississippi State College Agricultural Extension
 Since planting time is not too far off now is the time to plan for the 1956 cropping season. In your plans you should give close study and consideration to varieties of plants as well as fertilizer recommendations.
 The following crop varieties are recommended for Tishomingo County after closely observing farms within the county:
 Corn Early maturing varieties recommended are McCurdy 95, Funks G-50 and Pfister 61.
 Medium Maturing Varieties -

EXTRA GOOD because it's NATURAL

This is what continual use of acid-forming ammonia nitrogen without lime did to good farm land. Practically no growth. See the difference in the background, where crops regularly got natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda.

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE
 A natural fertilizer is an extra good fertilizer. Not just for crops, but also for the land; not only for today, but for the years ahead. And Chilean Nitrate is the only natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.
 Natural Chilean works fast. Small grain yields depend upon the supply of available nitrogen when spring growth begins. A Chilean top-dressing supplies life-giving plant food at the moment of greatest need.
 Natural Chilean boosts yields. Its nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, ready for the plant immediately after application. A top-dressing of 300 pounds per acre promotes stooling, rapid development, early maturity.
 Natural Chilean fights acidity. Every ton contains sodium equal to 650 pounds of acid-destroying commercial limestone. Sodium substitutes for potash and calcium, increases available phosphate supply.
 Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphate, calcium, magnesium and minor element availabilities. Chilean Soda is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for top-dressing and side-dressing. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

Farm Loan Money Is Available For Operating Expense

Farmers in Tishomingo County may apply for the additional loan funds available for financing 1956 operating expenses, R. B. McLeish, National Administrator of the Farmers Home Administration notified M. Hays Woods, the agency's local representative today.

The loans may be used to pay a wide variety of farm and home operating expenses including the purchase of fertilizer, tractor fuel, livestock feed and seed. The loans will be made only to farmers who are operating units no larger than a family type farm, and who are unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources.

Applications may be filed at the county offices of the Farmers Home Administration. The office serving this county is located at Iuka.

All Farmers Home Administration offices have been instructed to give prompt service to all loan applications. Mr. Woods pointed out that these loans are short-term designed to help farmers finance one year's operations. Credit is also extended by the Farmers Home Administration over longer periods to finance adjustments and improvements in farming operations.

Real estate credit for purchase and development of family type farms, for financing soil conservation measures, and for the development of water supply systems

New 100% Kill Of Cattle Grubs Is Result Of Phosphate Type Insecticide

A 100% kill on Cattle Grubs now looks like a sure thing with a new phosphate type insecticide being tested at the USDA laboratory, Corvallis, Oregon. So far, no toxic effects have been noted in the milk or meat of treated animals. Called 21/199 this new compound has been found 100% effective Grub Killer in less than a week when applied as a spray or wash to the backs of grubby cattle.

Livestock pests are estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as costing the nation over a half billion dollars each year. Cattle grubs are accountable for much of this annual loss in less milk and damage to beef and hides. Narrowed margins of profit today for farm home, livestock and irrigation are also available.

in livestock production, according to Illinois Central Agricultural Agent, L. H. Farmers here in our county can ill afford their share this year of the nation's annual half billion loss to livestock pests.

It is the open season now for cattle grubs and other external parasites of livestock on farms. Check today with your local agricultural workers for the latest pest control ammunition found most effective and sent him for your use by the Experiment Station.

Home Improvement Expected To Increase During Coming Year

Home improvement work in the Midsouth area is expected to increase sharply in the coming year, according to James E. Kerwin, Director of the Memphis office of Federal Housing Administration. The increase should have a favorable effect on the industries involved in this work and on the labor market, Mr. Kerwin said.

Reason for the anticipated increase is the fact that the building and home construction industries are undertaking a nationwide home improvement campaign on an unprecedented scale. In turn, this will be tied in with local community and civic programs to fight blight and encourage neighborhood rehabilitation.

Generally speaking, loans for repairs, improvements or additions to existing structures which are physically attached to the real estate are eligible for FHA insurance under Title I regulations. A house must have been lived in six months or more by someone before an FHA-insured loan may be obtained to improve pools, greenhouses, and other items, are not eligible for FHA Title I insurance.

Examples of improvements which may be financed with FHA-insured loans are interior and exterior painting, the addition of a room, wiring, plumbing, roofing, fencing, flooring, plastering, venetian blinds, awnings, etc. Heating and air conditioning systems are eligible when certain conditions are met.

Information on how to obtain FHA-insured home improvement loans may be procured by consulting local building supply houses. Under present regulations the maximum amount that may be obtained on a single loan is $2500; the maximum term is three years.

Mr. Kerwin stated that over a twenty-year period FHA has insured, nationwide, approximately 19 million of these home improvement loans for nearly $9 billion.

Deliberately

The inventory of an independent grocery store doing a business of $100,000 a year includes, on the average, 2,500 different items.

The inventory of the average independent drug store, also with an annual volume of $100,000, totals 8,500 different items. Of these, close to 2,500 items represent the stock of the prescription department alone, according to the handling costs study sponsored by the National Assn. of Retail Druggists.

Very few of these 2,500 items can be described as "fast-sellers." In fact, the latest Lilly Digest shows that stock turnover in the prescription department averages a fraction more than 2 times a year.

What all this means is that the pharmacist must carry an investment in inventory many times that of the grocer. What it also means is that the average pharmacist . . . deliberately . . . with his eyes open . . . puts in stock thousands upon thousands of slow-sellers.

No other merchant deliberately follows such a policy. But the pharmacist does so all the time. Only in that way can he be sure of providing a vital drug—no matter how rarely it is called for—at a moment's notice.

"HE THAT IS TAUGHT ONLY BY HIMSELF HAS A FOOL FOR A MASTER."

—(Author's name below)—

Many people, who have never spent a day in a medical university, foolishly believe that they can advise their friends how to treat an illness. They mean well, but can cause serious harm.

The proper diagnosis of a disease is an art that a Physician acquires only after years of study and internship training in a hospital. It is more important to treat the cause of an illness than to just relieve discomfort, which is usually the most any self treatment accomplishes. When you are sick be guided by your Physician.

YOUR PHYSICIAN CAN PHONE 2761, Iuka. WHEN YOU NEED A MEDICINE

A great many people entrust us with the responsibility of filling their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

*Quotation by Ralph Waldo Emerson (1808-1882)

YEAR ENDS ON CHEERFUL NOTE FOR OIL INDUSTRY IN STATE

The final month of 1955 proved an important milestone for the petroleum industry in Mississippi, marking the beginning of a new era of deep drilling activity which is expected to give the state a new day for the oil boom operating here.

Construction got underway on a new $18,000,000 oil refinery in South Mississippi in December, oilmen were engaged in a new rush of activity which is expected to result in a new and more concentrated search for oil in the Lower Cretaceous extending from the Yazoo-Mississippi Delta through South Central and South Mississippi.

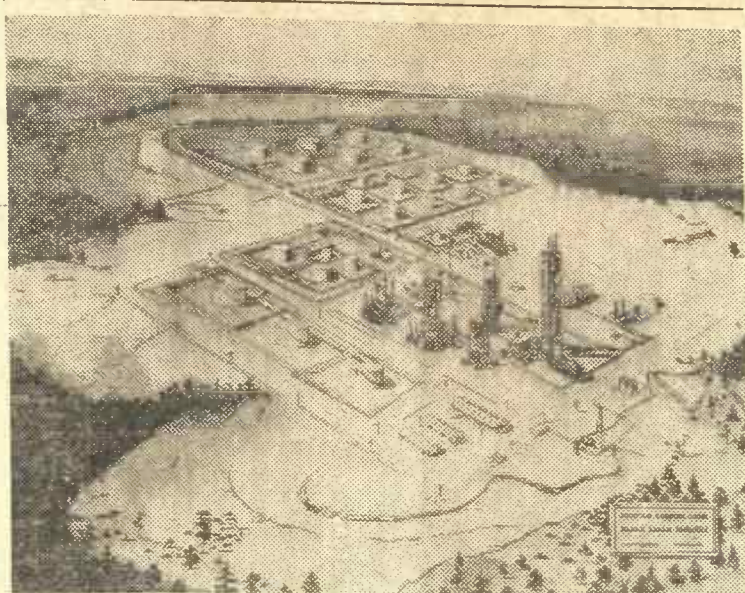

Since the Bolton discovery in 1934, close to $15,000,000 has been spent in Mississippi for bonuses and rentals in a strip extending from the Mississippi River in Warren and Wiggins counties to the Alabama line in the southeastern part of the state.

Spokesmen for the oil industry predict that the virtually unexplored Lower Cretaceous formation offers a potential for producing Mississippi to a much greater extent than has yet been realized despite the investment of millions of dollars by oil companies and independent oilmen.

The faith of the oil industry in Mississippi's future was evidenced in December when work actually started on the new Black Creek Refinery being built by Pontiac Eastern Corporation, Corpus Christi, Texas, which will operate the huge new installation.

The multi-million dollar plant, located near Purvis in Adams County, will draw on Mississippi crude oil furnished by the Gulf Refining Company from production in the Baxterville and Heidelberg fields. Gulf, in turn, will purchase a large but undisclosed portion of the refinery's products for sale through its southeastern marketing organization.

The refinery, which will be the third to locate in Mississippi, will channel close to $7,000,000 to Mississippi during construction, and promises to provide the area with close to $1,000,000 annually after it gets into operation.

Here is an architect's conception of the new $18,000,000 Black Creek Refinery near Purvis on which construction was scheduled to start in December. The huge new installation will be built and operated by Pontiac Eastern Corporation. Mississippi crude oil will be furnished by the Gulf Refining Company from its production in the Baxterville and Heidelberg fields of South Mississippi.

The installation, to be located on a 2,000 acre site, is designed to process up to 12,000 barrels of crude oil daily. Principal processing units of the refinery will be electric desalting, tar separation, thermoform, catalytic cracking, fluid coking, gas recovery, sulfuric alkylation, unifying, and platforming.

Evidence of the increased activity in Mississippi is borne out by drilling statistics for 1955. In the first eleven months of the current year 418 wells of all types were drilled, 165 of which have been completed as oil or gas producers in previously proven fields. The balance of 253 failed to produce.

Eight new oil fields were discovered in wildcat attempts, all being located in the southwestern corner of the state where most production is obtained from the relatively shallow Wilcox formation.

New fields established in 1955 are: Cooper Hill, Homewood and Moss Grove in Adams county; Mud Creek and Soapstone in Wilkinson county; North Church Hill and North Sunnyside in Jefferson county, and North Knoxville in Franklin county.

There are now 123 oil pools and 32 gas pools in 111 Mississippi fields, and the state's total number of producible wells has risen to 2341. Production has been established in 29 of the state's 82 counties, most of them in the southern half of the state. It is encouraging to note that Mississippi oil production, which declined from the 1947 peak, was in 1955 again on the increase. Oilmen predict that this year's production will exceed 34,000,000 barrels of crude oil.

The current trend toward deep drilling in the Lower Cretaceous formation with its anticipated heavier yields leads oilmen to believe that Mississippi is on the threshold of a new era of oil development.

The Soso deep field now is yielding oil in important quantities. Listing only 25 wells last January, Soso now boasts 60 producers. Production in the last month reported exceeded 300,000 barrels of high-grade oil.

Mississippi's future as an important oil producing state hinges on further development of this formation and the resulting investment by the industry for exploration, refineries and office buildings.

Most future wells in central and south Mississippi, oil officials predict, will be drilled to at least 9,000 feet, and some will go as deep as 14,000 feet.

Drilling at that depth is expensive and thus necessitates caution on the part of investors. For this reason, the new trend may not prove as spectacular as some past operations, but gives promise of greater benefits in the long run.

Lure of Life

Lesson for January 29, 1956

A coin, a sheep, a man—what do these three have in common? Jesus told a triple story using these three so different objects to bring out the same point. What the coin, the sheep, the man had in common was that each was lost. They were out of place, useless, in fact doing more harm than good. But the young man who went to a far country was different in an important way. He knew what he was doing, or thought he knew. He wanted life, and he got it, only it was the wrong sort if you had asked him at first why he was going away. He would have said, "I want to live!" But he ended in a pig-pen.

The Lost Are All Around
 Men and women get lost today for the same reason. They look for life in the wrong place. Victims of narcotics, or of alcohol, wanted something more out of life than they had, and they thought drink or drugs would help them. Every patient in an alcoholic ward is missing somewhere, missing from payrolls, from homes they had or might have had, missing from the ports they might have reached if they had not made shipwreck of themselves. And for every patient in some alcoholic ward there are a great many others who, though they may not have gone so far, are just as lost. What ought a Christian's attitude to be, toward such people? Surely if Jesus taught anything plainly, it is that God does not despise or hate lost persons; he loves them and does not want them to stay lost. So the Christian who shares the mind of Christ will neither hate nor despise the lost people all around us today.

Prevention Is Better
 One of the commonest ways of getting lost is through drink. Everything is done in advertising and in other ways to make it appear that you haven't really lived till you use "our old famous brand" of expensive alcohol. Young people need to have the other side of it shown to them, not in Don'ts but in Do's. Educator H. H. Hill (as adapted in "Listen") has put it something like this. What do you want from life? Topnotch health? You can't have it if you drink. A serene, satisfying, law-abiding life? Not with liquor for your companion! Life on the highest moral level? Not for drinkers and dopers. Do you want to wake up every morning with a clear head? Do you want uninterrupted success in a profession? Do you want to save money? To be a good driver? To form the habit of meeting your problems squarely without a fuzzy mind? Do you want to be able to enjoy a good time without the danger of flirting with a habit-forming drug? Do you want guaranteed immunity to one of America's four most damaging diseases? Do you want to be an example of good and not evil, for the young people in your community? All right,—that's living, and you can't have that kind of living and the alcohol habit too.

Testimonials
 Maybe the main reason why the prodigal son went wrong was that he listened to the wrong people. Men can always be found who can be paid to pose in liquor ads. How about listening to some free testimonials on the other side? Ezra Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, says: "Knowing the infinite joy and peace of mind which result from never having used narcotics, smoked cigarette, or taken a drink of liquor . . . or knowingly profaning the name of Deity, I can sincerely recommend such a course to all." Dr. Kate Newcomb, written up in the Reader's Digest in June, 1954, says: "Naturally I do not use intoxicants. Why start a habit so many people must break?" Lewis Hoad of tennis fame speaks for many another athlete: "It is hard enough to get anywhere in life, without liquor or tobacco hindering one's chances for the future." Gil Dodds, the track star, says: "God has given me a body which I should not defile." Do you want to live? Such people know how. Electric Clothes Dryer Changing Whole Washday outlook

Sales figures for the electric dryer first appeared in 1947. In that year, 38,000 women discovered its amazing worksaving qualities. Just five years later - in 1952 the number of women using electric dryers had grown to one and a quarter million.

Each year since the dryers have been on the market the manufacturers have been increasing their output to keep up with the growing demand. In 1954, they produced 941,000 units of all types. Last year they turned out one and a half million.

These figures show that women have taken to the automatic dryer as to no other major appliance that has appeared on the market. Every hour, every day they are switching from their clotheslines to this convenient washday helper.

If you are a fortunate owner of an automatic electric dryer, you already know what it can do for you. If you haven't one, I hope you can get one soon.

First, you are freed from lifting heavy basket or pans of wet clothes; carrying them to the line; reaching, stooping, bending and stretching to hang clothes up and take them down. Eliminating this clothesline work is reason enough in itself for owning a dryer.

But there are still other advantages to owning this washday worker. You no longer have to wait for a good washday. You can wash any day, rain or shine, just by setting dials.

And with your electric dryer, your clothes are fluffier, more germ-free. You have no worries about broken lines, smoke or soot, dust or insects. Nor do you have to hang clothes all over the house when there are several rainy days. Another worksaving feature in the use of the electric dryer appears on the day you iron. With proper drying in the electric dryer, many pieces are wrinkle-free and other pieces are easier to iron.

The Household Equipment Research Staff at Ohio State University has made a study of the effect of dryer drying on fabrics. They found that dryer drying is definitely more satisfactory than outdoor clothesline drying except for a small amount of shrinkage in a few fabrics such as cotton knits. And shrinkage in these can be kept down by removing them from the dryer while slightly damp and stretching them to shape.

In weight tests, they found that fabrics in general, lost a higher percentage of weight when dried out of doors than when dried in the dryer. In tensile strength tests, they found that the washing method, rather than either drying method caused the greatest amount of damage to fabrics.

For all practical purposes, their studies showed that white clothes remained just as white when dried in a dryer as when dried out of doors, while color retention in colored fabrics were remarkably superior when dried in a dryer.

With these great advantages over line drying, it is small wonder that the electric dryer has been so warmly welcomed by today's busy women.

Perkins, West Point, Miss., Rev. D. S. Applegate, Starkville, Miss., and Rev. W. W. Herring, Eupora, Miss.

Rev. Patterson, Missionary, spoke in similar conferences at Ripley, Hickory Flat, New Albany, and good attendance and splendid interest in all the places where he spoke.

Rev. George Bacon, Eastport for the many acts of kindness extended to us during our hours of shock and grief. May God bless you for your words of comfort, the bountiful food, the music, the flowers, and your presence when we needed you most.
