CHILDREN'S PICTURES TAKEN FREE AND PUBLISHED IN THE VIDETTE

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our Nation, and Community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders".

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures . . . they must all be of uniform size and quality. . . we have invited the Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, a nationally known portrait studio, to take these special pictures for us.

The congregation of the Pleasant Hill Methodist church cordially invites the public to attend the Dedication Service to be held at the church on Sunday, March 10. The program is outlined below.

11:11-30—Sunday School; 11:30-12:00—Fellowship while dinner is prepared; 12:00-1:15—Dinner; 1:15-2:30—A program of music, pictures, and interesting facts about the Pleasant Hill Church and at 2:30 Dedication and sermon by Bishop Marvin A. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gable of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. Lamoyne Woodall of Jackson, Miss., spent from Friday until Monday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodall. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bullard and son, Billy Bob, of Florence joined them on Sunday.

BURNSVILLE HOMEMAKING STUDENTS SPONSOR HEALTH CLINIC AT SCHOOL

The Burnsville 10th grade Home Economics class, under the leadership of Mrs. Guy Dicus, has recently sponsored a Child Health Clinic in the Homemaking Department, climaxing a unit on child care.

Physical examinations were given by the County Health Officer, Dr. James C. Totten, assisted by Mrs. Helen Pruitt, to approximately 120 students from first through sixth grades.

The living room was used as a "waiting-room" where the children were entertained by two of the girls assisting with the clinic.

Each examination included a check of height, weight, eyes, ears, throat and chest. A number of parents were present for consultation with Dr. Totten as their child was examined.

The children were served refreshments as they returned to their classrooms.

A written report on each child's examination was given to both teacher and parent, with suggested immunizations. Parents of children found with a physical defect were invited to the Health Department for the Studios, with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work, will be here Saturday, March 16. Pictures will be taken at The Vidette Office and will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

No Charge to Parents
There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the Studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

The More Pictures, the Better
The Vidette simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. So the Mothers and Fathers of the community in which this paper circulates should remember the date March 16 at The Vidette Office and not fail to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad, afterwards, if you did, and very, very sorry if you do not permit your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun and both Mother and Dad—and the youngsters, too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print later.

Appointment may be made by Calling Phone 2211.

Social Security Rep. To Be In Iuka Monday, March 4

Many farmers in Tishomingo county have already filed their claims for social security benefits and will soon start receiving regular monthly benefit checks. However, there are still many farmers who are eligible for monthly social security benefits beginning this year who have not filed their claims with the Social Security Administration, Hugh Tigrett, Manager of the Tupelo, Mississippi Social Security District Office said today.

Those farmers who are 65 should remember to bring a copy of their 1955 and 1956 tax returns with Schedule F attached when they call to file their claim for benefits. If the 1955 return has not been filed, it should be filed immediately with the District Director of Internal Revenue. The 1956 return should be filed as soon as possible.

Mr. Tigrett suggested that any farmer who thinks he may be eligible for social security benefits should contact the representative from the Tupelo office who will be at the Court House in Iuka on Monday, March 4.

Govs. Coleman And Folsom Back Tenn.- Tombigbee River Waterway Project

Governor J. P. Coleman of Mississippi and Governor James Folsom of Alabama are working together and backing the proposed multi-million dollar Tombigbee-Tennessee canal waterway project that would connect Alabama and Mississippi into the nation's inland waters system.

At a meeting held in Jackson on Tuesday of this week the governors agreed to seek state funds for the long sought Tennessee-Tombigbee River Waterway if the Federal Government does not undertake the project.

Cost of the proposal has been estimated at 234 million dollars

Historical Marker Secured Through Thursday Club

In the near future a historical marker will be erected by the Mississippi Historical Commission, through the efforts of Iuka's Thursday Club, marking the Methodist Church and the part the Church has played in the 100 years of existence of the town.

This church was the outgrowth of the Eastport Methodist church which was established in the early days of Tishomingo County's history. The county observed its 121st birthday February 14.

Iuka having no patriotic organization has had several historic markers erected through the Thursday Club.

William E. Dugless Dies In Hospital

William Edward Dugless, age 72, passed away in Colbert county hospital, Tuesday, February 19 at 4:15 a.m. He had been in ill health for the past year, but was in the hospital only a short time.

Mr. Dugless was born in Colbert County, Ala., June 26, 1884, but had lived in Tuscumbia, Ala., since 1950, and was a resident of Alsboro, Ala., for about 15 years.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Leather Dugless of Tuscumbia; three daughters, Miss Effie Dugless of Sheffield, Mrs. Estelle Counce of Tuscumbia, Miss Ruth Dugless of Memphis; two sons, William Oscar Dugless of Sheffield and Grady Dugless of Tuscumbia; two sisters, Miss Hattie Rast and Mrs. Pearl George of Iuka; two brothers, Walter Rast and Clarence Rast of Iuka; five grandchildren, Doris and Donald Warhurst, Linda, Doyal and Dian Dugless all of Tuscumbia and other relatives and friends to mourn his departure.

Funeral service was at Valdosta Missionary Baptist church in Tuscumbia. Burial was in Barton cemetery at Barton, Ala.

by U. S. Engineers. The proposal is to construct a canal beginning at Yellow Creek on Pickwick lake and running south up that creek, crossing a ridge and joining into Mackey's creek, down Mackey's creek to the Tombigbee river and traversing that river to Demopolis, Ala., at which point navigable waters now exist that flow into the Gulf at Mobile. The greatest amount of excavation required at any one point would be at Bay Springs on Mackey's creek in this county, the canal at this point being 1000 feet wide at the top and 180 feet deep. The overall project would include 240 miles.

The need for the transportation artery has been accelerated by the fact that many new industries have located along the banks of the two rivers as well as along the Ohio, Missouri and Mississippi rivers which would be connected with the Port of Mobile, the Gulf Intracoastal Canal running from Brownsville, Texas, to Tampa, Fla., and with foreign commerce.

The two governors report that the first step to be taken would be in legislative authorization of a two-state compact to handle the proposal. Each state would create a joint commission and appropriate $250,000 for the development work, the two-state commission to build and operate the waterways project if the Federal Government does not.

Gov. Folsom will present the matter to the Alabama Legislature in May, and Gov. Coleman will submit it to the January, 1958 General Assembly of Miss. "We'll explore every possibility for the two states to do it if the Federal Government fails," stated Governor Coleman. It was indicated revenue bonds might be the answer. Both governors agreed that the waterways route would open the north-eastern section of Mississippi to further industrialization.

Masonic Scottish Rite Group To Meet At State Park Friday Night, March 8

WHAT ABOUT THIS CIVIL RIGHT

By John T. Flynn

(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

Our noble rulers in Congress have become gravely disturbed about something called our civil rights. These could be included under that well-known phrase "the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." In a few weeks millions of once free Americans will be making out and "cussing" their income tax returns. All this paper, ink and profanity will be used to comply with a new theory of government. For 125 years the accepted theory was that the citizen worked to earn a living and the government was there to protect him in that right. But now we have a new theory—namely that the government has acquired a new power, the power to tax not merely to pay the proper costs of government, but to take over the job of spending our earnings on all sorts of things our politicians think are good for us.

For a century and a quarter, the citizen possessed, under his right to the pursuit of happiness, the great civil right to spend his own money. But today, take the case of the man who earns $5,000 a year—in 50-cent dollars at that. His income tax will be about $800. Your grasping Uncle Sam will use about $100 of that to pay the legitimate expenses of the federal government. The remaining $700 will be taken by the government to spend on all sorts of things in America, Europe, Asia and Africa—on any purpose which may seem desirable to the politicians in the House, Senate and White House in Washington.

Any citizen has enough education to know that government is established not for the purpose of creating national income but only for the purpose of guarding the fundamental rights of the people. There are, of course, certain services which the citizen requires and which cannot be adequately performed by private industry or private organization. For instance, there is no profit in providing and operating schools, roads, courts, jails, parks, protection against disease, together with certain assistance which must be supplied, in humanity, to the poor, the sick, and the unfortunate lower percentage of our prisons and certain services to guarantee the order and well-being of the community. All these services are rendered by the states and the cities and other local bodies. You might tramp the roads for days without ever discovering any necessary services provided by the federal government.

Now here are some figures which may astonish you. Take, for instance, the little State of Rhode Island. The people of that state pay all the bills for almost all of the services they get from government as defined above. For this the expenditures in Rhode Island by the state and all its local units were about 165 million dollars. But the federal government, which provided almost nothing, took 275 million dollars in taxes from the people of Rhode Island. In New York, all the money services performed by the state, cities, towns, villages and coun-

Taxes And Schools, Teachers' Salaries
Discussed By Well-Known Columnist

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 28.
Total taxes for the year, including Federal, State, and Local Taxes,ties cost about five billion. But the federal government took in taxes from the people of new York State over 13 billion dollars.

The President is talking energetically about the federal government building schools in the states. Where does he suppose he is going to get the money for this purpose? It will come right out of Alabama, Virginia, New York, Texas and other states, but it will not go back to those states in anything like the amounts taken from them. Millions will be used to cultivate the "love" of countries all over the world.

This grave abuse of the taxing power may be measured by some very simple figures—big figures, of course, but easily understood. Back in 1938, after the spendthrift President Roosevelt had been in the White House for seven years, income taxes taken from individuals amounted to one billion dollars. The income taxes for the current year are estimated to be 38 BILLION DOLLARS. The estimate for next year—unless there is some sort of revolt—is 41 BILLION DOLLARS. Of course this does not include the corporation taxes which run to fabulous billions.

In the meantime, we are confronted almost daily with plans to spend more fabulous billions in Europe and, of all places, the Middle East. I would be interested to have pointed out to me any provision in our Constitution which authorizes the President to take taxes out of my pay envelope and send the money to Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey or any other country in the world. And it may be in order to remind the American taxpayer that after all the armies and billions we have sent over the world, after all the American soldiers we have sacrificed in battle, it is the Soviet Union which now has possession of two-thirds of the land mass of Europe and almost all of Asia.

will amount to more than $100,000,000,000 for 170,000,000 people. There is very little possibility of relief from Federal or City Taxes. On the other hand, if we would really put up a fight, we should be able to keep down State and Local Taxes. State Taxes amount to about $90 an individual. They range from a low of about $50 in New Jersey (where city taxes are relatively high) to a top of around $135 in the State of Washington (where city taxes are especially low.)

State Tax Revenue Sources
More than thirty states have income taxes or sales taxes, or both. The states also get a big amount from automobile taxes, with cuts on alcohol and tobacco taxes. Unfortunately, most states are careless in their expenditures because their money comes so easily.

As a result, total state debts have increased almost fivefold during the last ten years,—from about $2½ billion to over $11 billion. Now there is a row on as to who should pay for new schools. School costs are really the responsibility of the cities and countries, but they are being passed on to the states, which in turn are trying to hand them over to the Federal Government.

What About Teachers' Salaries?

It is generally agreed that cities, towns, and countries should pay teachers' salaries. It is unfair to believe that pressure for higher teachers' salaries is coming from the teachers themselves. Almost all good school teachers could get more money in industry, department stores, or offices, but they are sticking by their teaching from loyalty and because they have shorter hours and longer vacations.

This means that the cut in school costs must come from a change in the curriculum or in school building maintenance, and especially in the high interest on building costs. This latter is particularly important now, when it is so difficult for municipalities to sell their bonds.

The Fundamental Question

When discussing taxes for schools, we should avoid talking only about saving money. We must remember the old adage, "penny wise—pound foolish." If I felt that luxurious schools produced better students, I would be the last to criticize the present craze for "bigger and better" school buildings. From my careful observation, however, I am sure such school buildings do not produce better and more efficient students. Schools were so crowded in my youth that we were obliged to have three grades in each classroom. Furthermore, we had two sessions—morning and afternoon—and no bus to take us to school! I really believe these rough conditions were a good part of our education.

Talking with students, I do not find much objection to having the schools used more or the curriculum made more practical. They welcome the use of television and radio. It is the teachers who complain about longer hours a day and working eleven months. The State Legislatures are also responsible for passing various laws regulating teachers' professional requirements

SOURCE OF SPIRITUAL STRENGTH

By George Peck

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Week.)

National Sunday School Week, sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, is to be observed April 8-14. The theme for this year's observance is "SUNDAY SCHOOL — SOURCE OF SPIRITUAL STRENGTH." Mr. Cola G. Parker, National Association of Manufacturers, is serving as National chairman for this important annual event.

These are troublous times. In a world which seems to have gone mad, all mankind needs a Guiding Light to direct it back to peace and sanity. It becomes increasingly important that the youth of America be given a thorough spiritual undergirding and there is no more effective agency than the Sunday Schools of the nation for accomplishing this.

Our youngsters should be told and constantly reminded that America was cradled in religion—that our great Constitution stems from God's Holy Book, the Bible. Our Founding Fathers were wise enough to realize that there is a Divine Providence that shapes humanity's ends and they humbly sought that Divine Guidance. Due to their faith in God, the freedoms for which they so valiantly fought, were established here in America.

Patrick Henry, during the dark days of the War of the Revolution, expressed his faith in ultimate victory when he said: "We shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just God who presides over the destiny of nations and who will raise up friends who will fight for us."

George Washington and his ragged, half-starved, half-frozen, inadequately-equipped army, daily knelt in the mud and slush at Valley Forge to offer up prayers for victory.

God having answered those prayers and victory having been won, the delegates to the Constitutional Convention found themselves at loggerheads as to how to proceed. The debate became bitter and acrimonious. When it appeared that no agreement could be reached, Benjamin Franklin arose to address the delegates. It was a magnificent speech. Here in part is what great and wise "Ben" had to say:

"In this situation of this assembly, groping as it were in the dark to find political truth, and scarce able to distinguish when it is presented to us, how has it happened, sir, that we have not hitherto thought of humbly applying to the Father of Light to illuminate our understanding?"

"In the beginning of the contest with Great Britain when we were sensible of danger, we had daily prayer in this room for Divine Protection. Our prayers, sir, were heard and they were graciously answered. All of us who were engaged in the struggle must have observed frequent instances of a superintending Providence in our favor . . . And have we now forgotten that powerful Friend, or do we imagine that we no longer need His assistance? We have been assured, sir, in the Sacred Writings, that 'except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that shall build it.' I firmly believe this . . . I, therefore, beg to move that henceforth prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven and its blessing on our deliberations be held in this assembly every morning before we proceed to business."

Franklin's advice was heeded and history records that gradually doubts vanished and our marvellous Constitution was evolved. God again answered prayers.

America needs that same Divine Guidance today. God has not failed this nation in any of the dark hours of our history. He will not fail us in this one if we beseech His help. Godless communism has brought woe and misery to the peoples of many of the nations of the world. We must invoke the power of the Almighty to keep that evil from our shores and to bring relief to the oppressed peoples of our other lands.

Our youth of today will be the leaders of tomorrow—they must be taught that America has a spiritual heritage to maintain. The Sunday Schools are equipped to teach that important lesson. National Sunday School Week—April 8-14—will be a splendid time for parents, who heretofore have been negligent of duty, to start their children to Sunday School—The Source of Spiritual Strength.

Subcommittee To Investigate Foreign Capital In United States

Washington, D. C.—The disquiet of anonymously-owned capital into the United States will be a major investigative project of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee this year, Senator O. Eastland (D-Miss.), announced today.

Eastland said he expects future hearings to be "to prove extremely in" information we hope to should aid us to close this door of financial manipulation which an unfriendly foreigner could quietly take over industries. As a matter of it is not at all unreasonable to assume that heavy inroads influence have already made," Senator Eastland said, announcing continuation of project, Eastland released information setting the investigation printed in 31 and 32 of the subcommittee, "Scope of Soviet Activities in the United States."

Two publications give a description of current United States regulations concerning foreign capital, showing the results of finding ownership funds coming in from countries like Switzerland, which all depositors to keep funds undisturbed accounts without further identification. Testimony by officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, and Departments of Commerce, Defense, and State, provided the basic information.

Arthur Bloomfield, senior economist of the Federal Bank of New York, told the subcommittee that the United States "imposes no controls or restrictions over the inflow or outflow of foreign or American capital," except for certain controls over Chinese and North Korean dollar assets.

Walther Lederer, chief of the Balance of Payments Division of the Department of Commerce said the amount of foreign assets and investments in the United States at the end of 1954 was an estimated $26.8 billion, about half of which was in short-term dollar balances. The other half were in the form of corporate stocks, bonds, and direct investments.

Bloomfield pointed out that the $26.8 billion total represented only the name holders of investments. He said investments coming from Swiss banks would be counted as Swiss. Also, foreign investments held in the name of American Citizens would not even be counted.

Jerome Fenton, director of the Office of Personnel Security Policy, Department of Defense, said corporations working on secret defense contracts are checked carefully. Employees actually working on such projects must be given a security check. They are forbidden to give information to officers or stockholders not cleared, Fenton said.

State Department witnesses said that German dollar bonds looted by the Soviet Union from Berlin at the end of World War II have been turning up in the United States for validation. The subcommittee questioned Richard Abrey, who submitted $250,000 in such bonds for validation, which was denied. Abrey claimed to have bought the bonds in Poland. His testimony will be printed in a future publication.

Sweaters, blouses, slips and other garments made from the new man-made fibers are easy to care for and give a long life of wear—but, you find they do have a tendency to cling to the body in cold, dry weather, don't you? This is the result of what we commonly call static electricity.

Now research has found an answer to this problem. All you have to do is add a small amount of liquid detergent, fabric softener or a special liquid antistatic agent to the final rinse water, when you wash the garments.

You can buy liquid detergents

Chicken Fricassee With Dumplings

For a cheery dinner at this stage of winter serve the family Chicken Fricassee with Dumplings. It's an old-fashioned dish but an ever-modern favorite with hungry appetites. Stewing chicken is more meaty and flavorful today than in bygone days and takes much less time to prepare. Here are directions for making 6 to 8 servings: Simmer one 4-1/2 to 5 lb. (ready-to-cook weight), cut-up stewing chicken with 3 teaspoons of salt, 1 medium onion, a tip of bay leaf, and 4 cups of water until fork tender—about 2-1/2 hours. Remove chicken from broth. Strain broth. Spoon fat from surface of broth and save for other cooking needs. Measure broth and if necessary add enough water to make 3 cups. Heat to a simmer. To prepare gravy, blend 1/3 cup of the chicken fat, 1/2 cup of flour and 1 cup of milk until free of lumps. Pour slowly into simmering broth, stirring constantly until thickened throughout. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes. Place chicken in gravy and heat thoroughly. Season to taste. Make the dumplings from your own favorite recipe or one found in any good cook book, or simply use biscuit mix, following package directions. Garnish the dumplings with parsley.

and fabric softeners, which are often marketed as "laundry rinses" at most grocery stores. Liquid antistatic agents can be obtained at notion counters in drug or department stores.

You will find it simple to use them. Just wash the garments in your usual way. Then rinse them in a solution of the selected product, according to instructions on the container. With experience, you can adjust the recommended amount to suit your needs.

Fruits At Home

There's nothing like fresh fruit and berries from your own trees and vines for eating and canning and freezing. You still have time to plant peaches, apples, plums, pears, grapes and small fruits this year.

The tree fruits should be planted by March 15. You can plant the berries, as boysenberries and youngberries up to April 15.

To increase production of high-quality fruit and keep your present fruit trees growing vigorously, fertilize them in early March.

Check with your home demonstration agent or county agent for recommended fruit and berry varieties and amounts of fertilizer use.

March Plentifuls

Eggs and beef top the list of USDA plentiful foods for March. To go along with them will be lots of rice and continued supplies of baking potatoes at thrifty consumer prices.

Canned sweet corn also will continue in plenty, as will milk and other dairy products.

Peanuts and peanut butter or dried prunes are plentiful for between-meal nibbling. They're good snack foods for the youngsters.

Fire A Factor In Nation's Growing School Shortage

Everybody agrees that the shortage of classrooms is a national problem. President Eisenhower called the White House Conference on Education to cope with the situation on the national level. Yet, in the midst of classroom famine the National Fire Protection Association estimates that there were 2,700 school fires last year causing a $12,900,000 loss.

School authorities are already plagued by bulging school budgets and the existing problem of more space is further complicated. Could these disastrous fires have been prevented? Yes, says the NFPA.

Consider: most of these schools were unoccupied when fire was discovered. Few of the buildings had watchman protection, or a central station supervised automatic fire detection system or an automatic sprinkler system.

Consider, also, the following: many of these school buildings had an automatic sprinkler system, or a central station supervised automatic fire detection system or watchman protection.

Sound fire protection practices call for firestopping of walls, protecting vertical openings, enclosing stairwells. What does it add up to besides a potential threat to our children's well-being? Just this: when we build new schools let's at the same time have a program to protect them with a reliable and effective means of discovering and extinguishing fires promptly.

Plentiful fish items are frozen ocean perch fillets and halibut. Know Your Beef

Many people think that all the beef carcass is steak for broiling, but this comprises only 18 percent of the carcass. The rest is roasts, stew and hamburger.

In selecting beef, just remember these few pointers and you can serve a delicious, nutritious beef meal to your family:

1. Select the grade and cut for the method of preparation.
2. Cook it properly and use a meat thermometer for oven roasting.
3. Carve it across the grain.
4. Give generous servings.

Heat Lamp Brooders Are Inexpensive, Efficient; Very Helpful To Farmers

By Cecil H. Brown

Raising chickens, pigs, or other livestock, you can increase your production by giving them a healthy start. The easiest and least expensive way to give them an early start is to protect them from chilling, crowding, and mashing with heat lamp brooders made of heat lamps.

Heat lamp brooders are easy to use. They're safe. Their cost is quite low—less than half the cost of other types of brooders.

For a homemade setup for chickens, you use one 250 watt heat lamp for about 75 chicks if the average house temperature is 50 degrees F. If you expect the temperature to drop as much as 10 degrees below this, you'll simply need 10 fewer chicks for each brooder.

For the brooder itself, you'll need these lamps 20 to 28 inches above the chicks. The best method for this is to use a chain or bailing wire attached to the hook on the lamp. Then, using a roll of corrugated paper, you'll set up a similar enclosure underneath the lamp as a shield against drafts. Plug in your lamps, and you're in business.

With this type brooder, it's easy to feed and water chicks—easy to sweep up dirty litter and replace it. And you can keep an eye on your whole brood since the chicks are always in full view.

Your pig brooder is just as easy to make. To set it up, you'll place a board across one corner of the farrowing pen to keep the pig a safe distance from the baby pigs and lamp. These boards will be about 5 feet across and three feet high, with a 12-inch clearance at the bottom for the pigs to enter the enclosure.

Your heat lamp goes about 30 inches above the straw litter. A gain, you'll use a chain or wire to take the weight of the lamp off the cord.

For lambs, you'll suspend your lamp directly over the center of a pen—about 18 inches above the ewe's back. The gentle radiant heat helps to quiet the mother—ewe—dries and warms the newborn lamb.

Lamps and materials for these easy-to-make brooders are available at most dealers' stores. And if you want fuller details on construction of the brooders, your power distributor or county agent will gladly furnish them to you free.

JUDY MARLIN CELEBRATES 17th BIRTHDAY

Judy Marlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Marlin, celebrated her 17th birthday with a party held on Monday night at her home on Highway 72.

Bobby Denton of Cherokee was on hand to play his guitar and sing the most popular tunes. He was accompanied by Earl Dean White. The group also enjoyed dancing by recordings played on the record player.

Refreshments were served from the dining room table which was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with the traditional birthday cake, flanked by candles in crystal holders.

Judy was the recipient of a large assortment of attractive and useful gifts.

MARTHA STORMENT CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY WITH PARTY

Martha Storment, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Storment, celebrated her birthday Saturday with a party given at her home on Pearl Street. The group enjoyed playing records and dancing.

Those present were James "Kissum" Grisham, Margaret June Woodley, Margaret, Storment, Ernest Bullard, Annette Allen, Ray Curtis, Barbara Nell King, Pat Cooper, Patsy Wade, Karen Guber, Glenda Dean, Jerry Bivins, a friend of Pat Cooper, and L. T. Robinson. Sandwiches and soft drinks were served.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Annette Allen, bride-elect, was honored Monday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower given in the Baptist Church Annex between the hours of three-thirty and five.

Joint hostesses for this courtesy complimenting the honoree were Misses Karen Guber, Glenda Dean, Margaret June Woodley, Barbara Nell King, Martha and Margaret Storment and Patsy Wade.

Miss Allen chose for the occasion a dress of grey and white embossed cotton in a floral design. Filling the v shaped neckline was a tiny white collar. She wore a corsage of white carnations pinned at the shoulder, a gift from the hostesses.

The refreshment table was overlaid with beige linen featuring a center panel of handmade lace and applied lace inserts. A crystal bowl filled with pink and white carnations, interspersed with lacy fern, centered the table and was flanked on either side by glowing pink tapers in crystal candelabras. Assisting in serving were Misses Faye Carmichael and Judy Holtsford.

A lovely assortment of attractive and useful gifts were on display during the appointed hours: one table held Fostoria crystal in the Early American pattern; another, cooking utensils and odd pieces; and another, an assortment of linens.

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By HIRAM A. JONES

Work Unit Conservationist

USDA-SCS

OUR CHANGING LANDSCAPE

In the mind of every work unit conservationist is a mental picture, which shows how the landscape of his work unit would look, if every acre was put to its proper use.

He is like an artist who puts on canvas the image held in his mind. The artist places a splash of paint here and there. To an on-looker these are no more than dabs of paint totally unrelated. But as the painting takes on form, these first splashes of paint merge into the picture and lose their identity.

So it is with the Soil Conservationist. One well planned form unit may be quite noticeable and stand out as being greatly different from the rest of the land about it, but as all the farmers of the area apply soil conserving practices to their land the entire landscape changes its appearance and these farms become no different from the rest.

Most of us can remember, or do we remember, how Tishomingo county looked twenty years ago.

To someone who has been away a long time and returns the entire county looks different.

Areas once planted to row crops are now in pine trees. Paved roads now run through swamps where it was once thought impossible to maintain a good road. The towns have grown, our churches and schools are larger, and their buildings more elaborate. Our landscape does change. All landscapes change; some for better, some for worse. If any of you have ever who live here will be happier and more prosperous.

This is what all who work for the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Tishomingo county are striving for.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our thanks and gratitude to our many friends for their kind words and expressions of sympathy during our recent sorrow and tragedy which took the life of our loved one, Zane Nunley. Especially do we wish to thank those who provided food; sent floral offerings; and to Revs. Knott and Appleby for their services.

Who Is This?

Lesson for March 3, 1957

WE ALL like to know what people think of us, but sometimes we really want to know ourselves, or else we ask out of idle curiosity. Jesus asked the same question most people ask some time or other: Who do men say I am? But it was not curiosity, or pride, with him. He knew better than any one that whatmen thought of him was vital—not to him, but to them. What people think of Christ affects their whole lives. Is he no more than a picturesque figure out of the past? Then we can safely ignore him. Is he a wise teacher, no more? Then we can put his teachings together with those of other great teachers and add a few nuggets of ideas from him to the wealth of the ages. But suppose he is more?

They Thought They Had Seen Him
Nobody in Jesus' lifetime thought of him as a priest. The priests were professional religionists; but Jesus did not make that sort of impression. He reminded people of no priest,—rather of prophets. Many spoke of him by the name of well known prophets—John the Baptist, Elijah, Jeremiah. Of course they did not literally think these men had risen from the dead; but it was almost as if they had. Incidentally, the modern reader might look up the three prophets whom Jesus was thought to resemble. They were anything but gentle, meek and mild. At all events, they were men whose authority did not come to them from a position, an institution. They were men whose power and authority came from within; men carrying their commissions direct from God.

The One Lord
One might think that no higher category could be found for Jesus than Prophet,—one sent by God, speaking the word of God. But Jesus once called himself "more than a prophet." So it was his closest friends thought of him. Peter's "Great Confession" is well known. Speaking not for himself but for all—for the question was put to the group, Simon Peter said (as Matthew reports it) "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." The words should not lose their force because of familiarity. Peter does not use the language later theologians were to devise. He does use words which a Jewish man of the first century could use—but they were not words Peter could have applied to any one else. Christ means Messiah, King, God's special chosen King, to usher in the World's New Age. No Jew looked for two Messiahs. Peter was saying to Christ: There have been many prophets; but there will never be more Christs than one. You stand alone, with none to match you, none beside you. For Messiah was not only a unique title, there was nothing above it. Furthermore, the word Christ implied a great deal more than Prophet. You could take a prophet or leave him,—his messages might not be for you at all. But the Christ was to be every man's Master, Lord of Israel, Lord of the world. Before a prophet a man may keep the silence of respect. In the presence of the one Lord a man must bow in reverence, asking, What wilt thou have me to do?

Eyes of Faith
What did Jesus mean when he said to Peter, "Flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father who is in heaven"? He meant that Peter and the rest of the Twelve (not Judas!) could see with eyes of faith what the Pharisees and priests never saw. It is always possible to doubt the full meaning of Jesus Christ. In his life time there were a great many who listened to his teaching and watched his miracles and never believed in him at all. Belief in Christ is never forced. It is not like believing that two and two are four, or that the paper you are reading is printed in black ink. The deity and lordship of Christ can never be demonstrated like a proposition in logic or a theorem in geometry. Our relation to him must be personal. All personal relations are carried on by faith, not mathematical demonstration. A man and his wife, a father and his son, even a merchant and his customer, live with each other and trust each other by faith. The eye of love, the eye of loving faith, sees what mere sunlight never shows.

Mississippians Witnessed Successful Hunting Season Which Closed Last Wed.

Wednesday marked the close of the most successful quail rabbit hunting seasons Mississippians have experienced in many years. Reports received indicated that hunters had better success finding coveys than they have had in many years. It would be difficult to single out any one area of the state as having the best hunting since all sections showed remarkable improvement. However areas from which most favorable reports were received included the

BY ORAL ROBERTS

GOD IS A GOOD GOD

God. What is he? My belief is that God is the creator and sustainer of this universe and that mankind is his primary interest and concern. I believe that God knows every one of us individually and with such knowledge that every detail of our lives, no matter how insignificant, is like an open book to him. I believe that God wishes to share our lives with us—to assist us in every phase of its activity, and that his chief delight is to make our lives abundant in every way.

God answers prayer! Not always does he answer it with exactly the same response that we wish, but always his answer, if we will let it, ultimately makes our living more joyous, more prosperous, and more abundant than before.

God is a good God! He is able and he is willing to help us. If he were able but not willing, then he is evil. If he were willing but not able, then he is impotent. But God is all good and he is all powerful.

Dr. Alexis Carrel, a distinguished scientist, physician, Nobel prize winner, and former head of the Rockefeller Institute for medical research, said this concerning prayer and its results. (Main, the Unknown.)

"Prayer may set in motion a strange phenomenon, the miracle. Our present conception of the influence of prayer... is based upon the observations of patients who have been cured almost instantaneously of various afflictions, such as peritonal tuberculosis, cold abscesses, osteitis, suppurating wounds, lupus, cancer, etc. The process of healing changes little—often an acute pain, then a sudden sensation of being cured. In a few seconds, a few minutes, at the most a few hours, wounds are cicatrized, pathological symptoms disappear, appetite returns—the only condition indispensable to the occurrence of the phenomenon is prayer..."

Dr. Carrel states that twice under his direct observation, incurable cancer has crystallized and disappeared. The only possible conclusion was that healing occurred in direct answer to prayer. Dr. Carrel won the Nordhoff-Jung Medal for cancer research, so he should know a cancer when he sees one. His testimony is that he once saw a cancerous sore shrivel up into a scar right before his eyes after an earnest prayer.

If you and I could have our deepest desire granted, what would it be physically? Simply this: I want to live! I do not know what life is, I only know that I do not wish to leave it. I know that whatever brings pain or suffering carries me toward the cessation of life. That which brings happiness enlarges life. Therefore, whatever makes my life more joyous and more complete is that which I seek; it is that toward which I move.

Jesus said, "I am come that ye might have life, and that you might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10). Abundant means "literally filled to overflowing."

In this column, I shall share with my readers my own experiences of direct answers to prayer. Others, unimpeachable authorities in their fields of medicine, psychiatry, the ministry and other professions will relate their own experiences of the Heavenly Father answering the prayers of his children.

I will show you how, through prayer and faith in God, you can be abundantly alive.

north central counties, east central counties and those in the southeastern section of the state. Many favorable reports were also received from certain sections of the delta.

It is believed that the most important factors attributing to the successful season were the excellent weather conditions during the spring nesting season followed by a moist summer that assured quail in most localities an abundance of food for rearing broods larger in number than has been common in recent years. Abundant plant growth during the summer also furnished quail with very good cover during the hunting season.

Executive Director Rex McRaney of the Game and Fish Commission stated today that the Commission intended to do everything possible to assure continued successful quail hunting. In an endeavor to maintain high populations, McRaney said that Commission personnel were beginning at once a quail live-trapping and restocking program. Quail will be trapped from refuges throughout the state and released in areas where there is reason to believe that populations may have suffered from the successful hunting season. Principle releases will be made in the northern counties.

McRaney also stressed the fact that sportsmen should cooperate every way possible in assuring good quail hunting for future years by cooperating with law enforcement personnel in observing hunting season regulations and by carrying out their own habit at improvement practices. He urged all sportsmen and landowners to take advantage of all habitat improvement practices made available to them through the Game and Fish Commission and the Soil Conservation Service. He specifically outlined the Commission's Lapedeza bicolor program where plants or seed of this valuable quail food are made available to all by application through the Soil Conservation Service. He also pointed out the many wildlife conservation opportunities made available to landowners through the Soil Bank program of the Soil Conservation Service stressing the fact that farmers may receive payment for carrying out these wildlife management practices on their conservation reserve acres.

Now is the time to top dress oats, wheat and rye grass for additional spring grazing or for hay. If the areas were fertilized last fall at planting time, 100 pounds Ammonium Nitrate per acre is sufficient top dressing. If grain is to be harvested, I suggest using 150 pounds Ammonium Nitrate.

Summer grazing plantings that should be made from March 1 to

State of Mississippi. Bottoms and branch bottom land in the county has ideal physical qualities for corn production. The lacking essentials are fertility and proper varieties.

The fertility essential can be had by applying 450 pounds of 8-8-8 or the equivalent, and side dressing with 100 to 200 pounds Ammonium Nitrate.

Varieties adapted for use in the county are as follows: Funks G-711, Dixie 33, G-779 and PAG 631. Early maturing variety to plant is McGurdy 95.

Gardening
March is one of the two bucy gardening months. Planting this month will consist of radish, onions, turnips, cabbage plants, beets, carrots, English Peas, Irish potatoes, mustard and lettuce. Asparagus seed can be planted during March for fall crowns.

Dairy Association To Meet Friday, March 1

The annual meeting of the American Dairy Association of Mississippi will be held at Mississippi

State College, YMCA auditorium, 10:00 a.m., Friday, March 1, 1957. The largest attendance in the history of the state association is expected, according to the association president, Boswell Stevens, Macon. Shelby Roberts, Jr., Research Director, American Dairy Association, Chicago, will be the featured program speaker. Mr. Roberts was stationed in Mississippi for several years with the United States Department of Agriculture prior to joining the staff of the American Dairy Association.

All dairymen are urged to attend the annual meeting of their association, Stevens pointed out.

Another Southern Railway "FIRST"!

This is not only the first use of this new computer by the railroad industry. It is also the first commercial installation anywhere of this latest, largest and fastest version of the so-called "electronic brain," with twice the "remembering" capacity or even the best of previous models.

This new electronic miracle will give us continuous, up-to-date information with unbelievable speed and accuracy. Reports and studies that we were unable to make before now will be available to us.

It is one more "tool" to use in our never-ending effort to furnish the South with the best rail service it is humanly and mechanically possible to provide.
