To Obtain A Miss. Driver's License A Teenager Must Be 15 Years Old

To obtain a Mississippi driver's license a teenager must be 15 years of age or older, have both parents' permission, show proof of age, and pass the prescribed mental and physical qualifications required by state law.

The driver's License Division of the Highway Patrol recommends that teenagers learning to drive secure a beginner's or "learner's permit" before taking actual behind-the-wheel lessons from an adult.

To secure a learner's permit, the teenager follows the same procedure necessary to obtain a license. He first requests an application folder-card from an examining officer.

After filling out the application, the teenager must have both parents sign the application in the presence of a notary public. In the case of divorced parents, the parent having custody of the teenager must sign.

When the teenager returns the application to the examining officer, he is required to show proof of age. A certified copy of the teenager's birth certificate is sufficient.

The young applicant may then proceed with the necessary written test. If the written test is passed satisfactorily and the youth is otherwise physically and mentally qualified, a learner's permit is issued by the Department of Public Safety to the applying teenager.

The holder of a valid learner's permit may drive a motor vehicle when accompanied by a licensed driver.

The permit is good for sixty (60) days and may be renewed at the end of this period.

However, after an elapse of 30 days following issuance of the learner's permit, a teenager may request the examining officer for a road or behind-the-wheel test.

When this test is passed the actual driving license may be issued.

Licenses in Mississippi may be secured for one or two years.

New Mid-South Resistant To Victoria Blight

State College, Miss.—A new oat
Mid-South is being released to growers by the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station. Its most important advantages are high-yielding ability and resistance to Victoria blight, an oat disease which sometimes reaches epidemic proportion in Mississippi.

Mid-South is above average in ability to survive freezing temperatures. It matures at the same time as Victorgrain 48-93 from which it was derived. Besides being a good grain producer it is also a good forage producer, about equal to Victorgrain 48-93.

Dr. S. S. Ivanoff developed the new oat after devising a new rapid laboratory method for testing large lots of seed for disease resistance.
The disease was artificially developed on many millions of seeds
in the laboratory under controlled conditions. After most of the seeds had germinated the blight-causing fungus killed the roots of all the seeds except those of the blight-resistant "sports" which are found only very rarely.

The oat is recommended for all the State, except South Mississippi where rust hazard may reduce the grain yields. The oat has performed well in northern areas where low temperatures may be a factor.
A detailed account of the new oat is published in the April issue of Mississippi Farm Research, available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

Foundation seed of this oat is being increased this season and it is expected that there will be several hundred bushels of seed available to qualified certified growers for the 1957 fall planting. The Mississippi Seed Improvement Association at State College, Miss., has a list of certified growers.

Assistance Given On Tree Farming

If you would like to grow more trees and improve your tree farming income, here is how to get assistance.

Paul A. Weekley, district forester for the Hiwassee Land Company in Iuka, which grows and produces pulpwood for the Bowaters newsprint mill at Calhoun, Tenn., says his company is publishing a quarterly forestry publication and it is free to farmers and other landowners, pulpwood producers and others interested in improving tree growing practices.

"Pulpwood costs to our company will approach $10,000,000 this year," Mr. Weekley said. "Most of the wood is purchased from farmers and other landowners and we are interested in helping to increase the amount of wood being grown in this area. Our publication, The Bo-waters Tree Farmer, is issued quarterly and it contains helpful
how-to-do-it information, news about the market we offer, plus pulpwood logging tips. We are happy to add the names of interested persons to the mailing list without obligation."

Mr. Weekley said the Hiwassee Land Company address at Iuka is
P. O. Box 406.

County Fires Increased During Month Of March

According to Area Forester Collins M. Akin, fires increased during the month of March. In Febru-

Akin added for the month of March there were 19 fires which cost $201 with an increase of 7 fires and $57. Tishomingo county lost 42 acres in February and 49 acres in March with an increase of 176 fires in Tishomingo county with a loss of 472 acres and a

Burnsville P-TA Sponsors Basketball Game; School To Use Proceeds

The P-TA of Burnsville recently sponsored a basketball game which was held in the Burnsville gym. Proceeds derived from this event will be used for the school needs.

The first game of the evening was the Women's team vs. the School Girls' team. The Women's team was made up of members of the P-TA and the girls' team was composed of seniors and girls not on the regular basketball team.

It was a close game but the school girls won with a score of 37-27 with Bettye Coker and Shirley Osborne leading the way with 14 points each. Barbara Bain, Betty White, Shirley Hall and Joan Bonds each netted 2 points and Raycene Osborne made a free throw for 1 point. Other players on the girls team were Sylvia Osborne, Jerleen Wilson, Veneda Skinner, Glenda Osborne, Carolyn Marlar and Gail McQuilliams.

Leading scorer for the women's team was Dixie Oaks, racking up 15 points, supported by teammates Evelyn Skinner with 9 points. Marie Dicus with 2 points and Euta Elledge with 1 point.

Also proving themselves invaluable to the team were Naomi Bonds, Jane Marlar, Grace White, Louise Marlar and the great guard combination, Edith Simms and Vivian Hatcher.

Another exciting game was staged when the "Fat Men" opposed the "Thin Men." These teams were composed of the male members of the P-TA.

This was a breath-taking game, both teams being equally matched in scoring and playing ability, but the "Thin Men" edged out the "Fat Men" 42-40. Hubert Ray Robinson netted 12 points for the winners, followed closely by Robert Simms with 10 points and Alvin Marlar and Alvie Blakney with 7 points each to their credit. Audie for 4 points and Floyd Marlar scored a valuable 2 points. James White and Guy Dicus also played but neither scored.

"THE WORST SORROWS IN LIFE ARE ITS FEARS"

(Author's name below)

It is surprising that there are still people who fear to go to their Dentist regularly. They are afraid that he may possibly discover a new cavity that needs filling.

They forget that neglecting to take care of one early, always results in considerable pain later.

Your Dentist can prescribe the proper vitamins or antibiotics that will help you to keep your teeth longer.

Should he suggest any particular dental aid, we will be glad to follow his instructions exactly.

real live jungle bred Rhinoceros is on exhibition with the GEO. W. LE CIRCUS this season and is creating an unusual amount of interest. The rarity of the animal presents a problem in obtaining one at price as it is claimed there are fewer than eighty in captivity today are mostly exhibited in the larger zoos. These animals are large maturity weighing over three ton and six feet tall. Having little intelligence and a ferocious disposition they are the most feared animal in the jungle. Their skin is so tough that a lion's teeth and claws cannot dent it. The initial expense of starting Mr. Rhino on his U. S. is well over ten thousand dollars. The management of the Cole Circus is happy to be one of the first to exhibit an animal of this kind. In addition to the Rhino, they claim to have performing elephants, and menagerie which includes lions, leopards, bears, giant apes, white camels, Llama, giant chimpanzee, and numerous other jungle animals from practically every country in the world. The high calibre acrobats, trapeze, tightwire, aerial artists, clowns and beautiful rated horses and ponies make this one of the most entertaining shows on the road today.

our Countians ied In 1956 Traffic Accidents

Traffic accidents killed 47 persons in Tishomingo and neighboring counties during 1956, according to Commissioner of Public Safety Scarbrough.

Following are the victims of the Tishomingo county traffic accidents. On September 11 Harvey Sartain, 23, of Red Bay, Ala., was burned to death in a truck crash that occurred about 9 a.m. between Golden and Red Bay. Sartain, was driving a Red Bay Wholesale Co. truck, traveling toward Golden when a milk truck attempted to enter the highway in front of him. Veering his truck to the left in an effort to miss the milk truck, the trucks crashed. A fire started immediately in Sartain's truck and he was burned to death.

A traffic crashup, involving two automobiles, occurred on December 22 near Dennis, taking the lives of three county men. The victims were James Davis Lambert, 18, of Dennis, route 2; Earnest Timbes, 40, and William Travis Hamm, 30, both of near Belmont.

The state toll has already exceeded 560 killed and may climb higher when late accident report statistics are tabulated.

This appalling highway slaughter has been called a "needless wanton sacrifice" by Commissioner Scarbrough, who this week promised stepped up traffic law enforcement throughout 1957. The Highway Patrol's selective enforcement program, "Operation—Attack", in effect during October and part of November last year will be continued. The program is accredited with keeping the '56 death toll from skyrocketing to an all-time high.

District Four Patrol Inspector Creekmore Wright of New Albany has ordered Highway Patrolmen working into this county to crack down on all hazardous violations, including speeding, reckless driving, improper passing and others. Counties comprising District Four and the number killed in each county during 1956 include: Marshall, 9; Pontotoc, 6; Tippah, 3; Alcorn, 3; Prentiss, 6; Lee, 5; Tishomingo, 4; Itawamba, 6; Union, 0; and Benton, 0.

Rail oddities

A lawyer sent an Illinois railroad a bill for $150 with the explanation: "I have assisted for the road in at least 15 cases and have concluded to lump them off at $10 a case." The year—1855; the lawyer—Abraham Lincoln.

A railroad engineer is said to have made the first motion picture, and Leland Stanford's horse was the subject. Instead of today's magazine of film and fast-moving shutter, the engineer set up separate cameras side by side for an eighth of a mile.

The town of Emmons is in the State of Minnesota but its railroad station is in Iowa.

REV. E. ALLEN BAILEY, pastor of the Methodist church in Okolona, will do the preaching at the Easter revival beginning Sunday, April 21, at the Iuka Methodist church. The public is cordially invited to attend each and every service.

Airman Lomenick has taken and passed the High School General Education tests which is equivalent to a high school diploma. He is completing his 6th month of service.

PVT. JOHN J. MOSES, Army Pvt. John J. Moses, son of Mrs. Nellie Moses, route 1, Golden, relays a message during an Army training test in Germany, where he is a cannoner in Battery B of the 10th Infantry Division's 25th Field Artillery Battalion. The 22-year-old soldier entered the Army in June 1956, received basic training at Fort Ord, Calif., and arrived overseas last January. He is a former employee of Warnick Manufacturing, Lyons, Ill.

visited their son and family in Memphis on Sunday, March 31. Mr. Hampton returned home on Tuesday and Mrs. Hampton remained for the rest of the week. Mr. and Mrs. James Waddey and a friend, Miss Vera Spicer, of Springfield, Ill., returned home on Wednesday after spending a few days with Mrs. Lula Waddey and other relatives. Mrs. R. A. Nixon spent Tuesday with Mrs. Lela Clark.

Establish Vegetated Waterways Now

Landowners expecting to terrace their, row crop, upland should first establish vegetated waterways for these terraces and the rows to empty into. These vegetated waterways should be established now,

so that perennial grass planted in them can become well rooted and form a thick sod before constructing the terraces this fall.

Already, the grass is looking green in the waterways on the farms of Chick Moore, Robert Epps, Carl Sartain, and Kenneth Mayhall.
As this grass becomes taller and thicker it will slow down more and more the speed of the water draining into these newly established and sodded waterways.

As it rains water will drain

Telephone People Work for Mississippi's Progress

Wherever you live in Mississippi you see telephone people working or on the way to work... Some of them may be your neighbors or friends... Wherever they live you'll generally find them taking an active part in the life of the neighborhood or community as good neighbors and citizens.

The telephone people pictured above are typical of the more than 5000 employees of Southern Bell in Mississippi... who are working to give our state the best possible communication service that money can buy — and in addition are giving generously of their time and energy to make their communities and our State a better place to live and work.

We are proud of the part our people play in making your telephone company and our State real partners in progress.

from newly built terraces and rows into these natural depressions or drains which have been sloped to make them shallow and wide before seeding Pensacola Bahia
grass and Kentucky fescue in them.

Because these channels are wide and shallow the water never becomes very deep in them, and the grass resists flow of the water, preventing it from rushing off the field carrying a load of precious topsoil with it.

It is desirable to have excess water drain from the land, but it should be drained off slowly so as to cause minimum erosion damage. The cheapest and most practical way to do this is by turning row and terrace water into sodded waterways. We who work for the USDA soil conservation service in Tishomingo county will be glad to give you assistance in putting the necessary waterways on your land this spring; then next fall we will help you terrace your land correctly. Even though most of the upland, planted to crops, in the Tennessee River Soil Conservation District has been terraced, after a fashion, it needs reterracing using the latest knowledge and techniques.

Now is the time to establish the vegetated waterways you will need later for the terraces you intend to construct on your farm.

many fabrics used, for slip particularly cotton fabrics,

be laundered successfully in washing machines. It pays

make sure first that the fabrics

as well as the binding of the cover is washable and also pre-shrunk. It saves the fabric and makes for easier, more successful laundering if you get the covers into the washing machine before they are badly soiled.

Brush out any loose dust and dirt from all seams and remove stains, grease spots, for example, before you put the cover into the machine. Close all zippers or snaps before washing.

Use a mild soap or synthetic detergent, and if the covers, are in colors, lukewarm water may be safest. Wash once and rinse twice. Then if all soil is not removed, use a second short wash and rinse. To avoid setting in creases or wrinkles that may be hard to iron, out, spin only a short time in the spinner machine to extract water, or release the tension on the wringer rolls. Hang the cover straight and let it dry enough to iron.

Iron carefully so the cover doesn't stretch out of shape.

Dishwashing Shortcuts
Do you sometimes think you are a slave to your dishpan?

To help you get away from your dishpan with the least effort, here are some suggestions:

Soak any coking utensils that foods stick to as soon as you empty them. Be sure water is above food level, or use a small amount of boiling water and cover utensils tightly.

To remove burned or scorched food from an aluminum utensil, boil vinegar in it. For enamel, boil water, to which you have added 3 tablespoons of baking soda to each quart of water. You can clean tinware the same as enamel, except you should let the soda and water solution stay in it only from 3 to 5 minutes.

If soaking does not loosen food on iron or stainless steelware, use a mild abrasive or a metal polish. Wipe out greasy utensils with absorbent paper before washing.

Scrape and stack dishes according to kind, putting nearest your pan or sink those you will wash first, as glass and silver, cups, saucers, small plates, large plates, serving dishes and cooking utensils.

Rinse dishes thoroughly in very hot water, at least 140 degrees F, but preferably hotter—170 to 212 degrees F. Dishes will then drain dry quickly.

Hints On Painting

To prepare a black surface for a lighter coat of finish, apply one coat of aluminum paint over the black.

To protect hands from paint, wash them well in a rich lather of soap and let it dry before beginning—or use gloves.

County Agent news

By W. C. HAMILTON

Farmers who know they will be short on early summer grazing should make their first planting of Sudan or Millet just as soon as cotton is planted.

These first plantings could be made on grazed down spring grazing areas, or on cultivated land where nothing is growing in the early spring.

One-third to one-half acre per cow planted early is enough for the first planting.

Best results can be had from planting in rows using 10 pounds of seed per acre and applying 500 pounds of mixed fertilizer. Sudan or millet should be top dressed after the first grazing down.

Farmers who do not want to plant these grasses in rows should broadcast 20 to 30 pounds of seed per acre. Cultivating will pay off in early spring.

Be sure to apply fertilizer at time of planting. Sudan and millet come up growing, and if plant food is not available immediately, the growth will be slow.

Sorghum For Silage

Many farmers are now wanting to plant sorghum for silage early so they can get it harvested early in the summer before cotton picking time. Sorghum can be planted following cotton planting. Since it can be harvested in an earlier stage of maturity than we once thought, more fertilizer can be used. Sorghum does not have a high fertilizer requirement. The average recommendation is 350 pounds of mixed goods before planting. Place it 2 to 3 inches below the seed. Sidedress with 30 pounds of nitrogen when it is knee high. The three best varieties for Tishomingo County are Tracy, Atlas sorgho and Texas Seeded Ribbon Cane. Do a good job of seedbed preparation before planting. Do not use too high a rate of seed. Four pounds of Tracy and not over 6 or 7 lbs. of other varieties is enough.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

JET PILOT—RODEO CLOWN—WRANGLER FAN—Some years ago the Advertising Department of Blue Bell, Inc., received a request from "Lloyd Jack" rodeo clown and bull fighter for a Wrangler rodeo clown outfit. After an investigation showed that "Lloyd Jack" worked a number of worthwhile rodeos in California, the outfit was sent. It was not until later that it turned out that "Lloyd Jack" was the professional name of Lieut. L. J. Draayer—jet pilot in the United States Marines. Lt. Draayer has been rodeo clowning and bull fighting for many years and is a long time admirer of Blue Bell Wranglers. Currently stationed somewhere in Japan, Lt. Draayer is flying jets and hoping to find some bulls to fight in order to keep his hand in. Whenever he gets to the States, he lines up as many rodeo appearances as time will allow. At left he is seen as a rodeo clown. At right he is inspecting the exhaust of the Marine Jet he pilots.

Soil Bank Program Deadline Monday; 900 State Farmers Already Signed

Monday, April 15, is the final date Mississippi farmers can sign contracts to put land in the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve Program with 1957 being the first year of the contract period. This reminder was issued this week through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Office.

Mr. Lipscomb, chairman of the ASC State Committee, said that since October of 1956, farmers have had the opportunity of taking badly eroded over-cropped cropland out of production and putting it in the Conservation Reserve. Mr. Lipscomb said that the Conservation Reserve Program, the long-range part of the Soil Bank, was put into operation to compensate farmers for retiring cropland from agricultural production and at the same time put those acres to a conservation use that would not only protect them from wind- and water-erosion but would also restore fertility to the soil.

"Through March 29 over 900 Mississippi farmers had signed contracts from three to ten years duration to remove over 32,000 acres from production," Mr. Lipscomb said, "and in addition to receiving 80 per cent of the cost of establishing those acres to an approved conservation use, the farmers who have signed contracts will receive over $300,000 in payments each year their contract is in effect if they carry out the terms of their contracts.

Mr. Lipscomb went on to say that about 1/3 of the acres under contract will be established to pine trees and most of the remaining acres are being seeded to either temporary or permanent vegetative cover. A few acres will be covered by water impounding measures for future use of livestock or irrigation for the benefit of fish and waterfowl.

"The Mississippi Forestry Commission in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is producing 40 million pine tree seedlings this year in addition to their usual production," Mr. Lipscomb said. "These trees are earmarked for land in the Soil Bank and since so much of our land in Mississippi is now being cropped that should be in trees we are particularly anxious that our farmers fully understand this part of the Conservation Reserve Program and take advantage of the tree seedlings that will be available," he concluded.

Monday is the deadline.

3rd Shrine Rodeo In Florence On May 17, 18, and 19

The Muscle Shoals Shrine Club has laid plans for its Third Annual Shrine Rodeo to again take place at the Florence, Ala., fairgrounds on May 17th, 18th, and 19th. This year's event is expected to again attract visitors from a wide area to the roughest, wildest rodeo in the South.

The huge rodeo parade is scheduled for Saturday, May 18th, and will be highlighted this year by the addition of many floats depicting early frontier and pioneer life in America. Led by the rodeo queen, who will be selected Friday night at the first rodeo performance, the parade will wind through the streets of Florence with its many high school bands, clowns, marching Shriners, and of course, the many cowboys and cowgirls. Also several riding clubs from over the Tennessee Valley area will be represented by their mounted groups.

Tops in the rodeo profession will vie in the three days of rodeo competition for several thousand dollars in prize money with trophies going to the champions in the five major events. Last year's champions will be back to defend their titles in the Bareback Bronc riding, Calf Roping, Steer Wrestling, Saddle Bronc and Bull Riding. When the dust settles over the Florence fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, May 19th, the all-around champion of the Third Annual Shrine Rodeo will be selected after he has won his title in the roughest of rodeo competition.

Red Cross Drive Lagging; Approx. $800.00 Short

Alver Belue, Tishomingo County Red Cross fund campaign chairman, states that the 1957 Red Cross drive is falling short of its goal by approximately $800.00.

An urgent appeal is being made to all workers who have not as yet completed their solicitations, to get on the job and get this done as soon as possible. Those who have not been contacted and wish to make a contribution may do so by turning their donation in to Mr. Belue.

The Twentieth Century Club, Thursday Club, Thursday Study Club and Lucy Rowe Study Club members have assumed the responsibility of operating the table at Iuka Guaranty Bank on Saturdays. This is a convenient location for those who have not contributed. Just drop by the bank on Saturday and leave any amount you desire.

Goal for this county has been set at $2841.00 and approximately $2,000.00 of this amount has been deposited to date.

4-H'ers To Try For Scholarships, Club Congress Trips

Chicago—(Special)—Hard work and a determination to make the best better will earn college scholarships worth $400 each for 18 national winners this year in the 4-H poultry, field crops and entomology programs, the Cooperative Extension Service announced recently. In addition, 48 state champions will receive an all-expense trip to the 1957 national 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago early in December, and county blue award groups will get handsome gold-filled medals of honor.

The 4-H boys and girls who enroll in the poultry program will learn the latest methods in poultry and egg production, and in marketing. Last year 4-H Club members handled 9 1/2 million birds, according to the Extension Service. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation will continue to provide all awards.

Incentive awards in the 4-H field crops program will be provided by the Arcadian Products Department of Allied Chemical and Dye corporation. More than 800,000 acres were cultivated, planted and harvested by 4-H'ers carrying the field crops project last year. Members are encouraged to demonstrate to others what they learn about soil nutrition and fertility, as well as recommended crop production practices for their particular locality.

Introduced to 4-H Club only six years ago, the entomology project last year alone helped 28,000 members. Knowing the difference now between an ant and a termite could save many dollars in damage to homes and farm buildings later on, cautions one entomologist. And this is one of the many valuable lessons taught in the 4-H entomology program. The Hercules Powder company is donor of awards.

Arrangements with the awards donors were completed by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago. Details about participation in these national 4-H awards programs and others can be obtained from the state or county Extension Service office.

SENSING THE NEWS

By THURMAN SENSING

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

THE COURT OF PUBLIC OPINION

"If the Supreme Court says it's the law, then it's the law, and we should all obey it."

Thus we heard the Superintendent of Schools of one of our Southern cities speak the other day, and thus we have heard many others speak since the Supreme Court decision on integration in 1954.

For recognizing that we must have law and order rather than anarchy, these people are to be commended. But they commit a very serious fallacy in thinking when they make such a categorical statement as that quoted above.

Taking the position that a Court—or any other branch of our government—cannot be questioned is a throwback to the philosophy of "The Divine Right of Kings." In those days the King could do no wrong; now, in these days, many people seem to believe that the Supreme Court can do no wrong, and they therefore support the philosophy of "The Divine Right of the Supreme Court."

There is no room in a free nation for a philosophy of this kind. It was never intended by the founders of our form of government that this should be the attitude of the people.

This is a much bigger question than integration. In fact, integration is only one of the facets of the question; there are many others. In our form of government, in any free nation, the supreme authority rests in the people themselves.

The Constitution itself, the very bedrock of the government established for us by our forefathers, was not intended to be "Divine." That's why it has been amended more than twenty times.

Certainly, the Presidents are not to be considered "Divine"; many of them have been thrown out of office because the people did not want a continuation of the policies they advocated.

The Congress is not thought of as "Divine." The same thing happens to members of Congress that happens to the President; if they do not represent the views of their constituency, they are not reelected.

Why, then, should the Supreme Court be considered above question? There can be no valid answer. Of course, since its members are appointed for life, it is much more difficult to do anything about them than it is the President or the Members of Congress, but it can be done provided public opinion demands it.

As a matter of fact, the only way in which any law can be enforced or any branch of our government can be supported is by means of public opinion. As one of our presidents once said of a ruling of the Supreme Court of which he did not approve, "The Court has handed down its decision; now let them enforce it."

Neither the Supreme Court, the President nor the Congress can enforce any law unless it is supported by public opinion. As one of our early patriots pointed out, when ever any government becomes dictatorial, arbitrary or unjust, then it is the duty of the people to overthrow that government. This observation would apply equally to any branch of government.

So far as integration is concerned, the only way it can be enforced in any one of our sovereign states is for the people of that state to accept it. If they do not accept it, it cannot be enforced—and it might be pointed out that in a number of our states, it cannot be enforced.

But we say again, this whole question is much bigger than one of integration; it is a question of the fundamental freedom of the individual and the protection of his inherent rights.

This is graphically illustrated right now by the attempt to pass in Congress a Civil Rights bill that would deny in certain instances one of the most basic rights of a free citizen in a free nation—the right to trial by jury. This bill is perhaps aimed mainly at the South on account of the integration question, but if it is ever passed in its present form, it will be a dark day for the people of this whole nation.

Columnist Discussed The Citrus Industry; Tells Of Opportunities

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass., April 11. When a very small boy I remember my father driving his horse and buggy to Salem, 15 miles away, to get an orange for his very sick aunt. Those were the days when no Christmas was complete unless we found an orange in the toe of the stocking which we hung by the fireside before going to bed on Christmas Eve.

Roger W. Babson I remember later one orange was given by the public school principal as a reward for having perfect attendance for the entire school year.

How The Orange Industry Has Grown

In 1900 the entire State of Florida only 1,000,000 boxes of oranges. In 1932, when I first came to Florida, production was only 10,000,000 boxes. This year it will be 95,000,000 or one hundred million boxes. With babies continuing to be given orange juice as their first food and with continued heavy advertising, nothing can stop the demand for orange juice. Furthermore, there have been great improvements and developments in the industry.

When I first came to Florida winters only "whole fruit" was shipped out of the state and sold. Then about 25 years ago, the co-operatives were developed and some orange juice was then canned. This however, always had a little bitter taste. Some 10 years ago the "frozen concentrate" was invented. This gives exactly the same taste as the fresh juice and has greatly increased the consumption of orange juice as well as the health of the entire nation.

The American Habit

Most orange juice is drunk just before breakfast. This means that the frozen concentrate must be mixed with water and thoroughly melted some ten minutes before serving. This has caused a growing demand for a new product known as "chilled" orange juice. As soon as this juice is squeezed from the orange it is stored and transported to the large cities of the North in refrigerated trucks at about 40 degrees temperature, so that the juice holds its perfect flavor. It is then put in paper cartons and delivered by the dairy companies along with the morning milk. As a result, the housewife can lie in bed ten minutes longer! This is

Legislator Discusses Mental Illness; Says 4300 Patients Now In State, Number To Increase By 4000 This Year

(Editor's Note: This is an article on the problem of mental illness in the United States and in Mississippi, in particular, written by the chairman of the 1957 fund campaign of the Mississippi Association for Mental Health. It is not to frighten, but to inform; not to dramatize, but to present facts; not to discourage, but to show a way out of a dilemma.)

By State Senator Hayden Campbell

Mississippians are being asked to contribute to the 1957 fund campaign of the Mississippi Association for Mental Health, a citizens organization devoted to prevention of mental illness and improved care and treatment for the mentally ill and handicapped.

Never the type to give blindly, but unbelievably charitable in deserving causes, they will ask, "Why?" and this article is in answer to the question.

First, let's get the problem of mental illness out where we can examine it. There are approximately 4300 patients in the Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield and 1000 in the east Mississippi State Hospital at Meridian.

There are more patients in these two institutions than there are in all the other hospitals in this state and more Mississippians suffering mental illness than there are suffering all the physical illnesses combined.

This year, some 4,000 Mississippians will enter our state mental hospitals and it will cost approximately $2 a day to care for them there.

During this biennium we will spend $8,000,000 on our mental institutions, and this represents about seven per cent of our state revenue.

In addition, Mississippi will have lost 4,000 productive citizens with a vast purchasing power, and the taxes they would have paid, during their hospitalization. There is further cost to the state, because many of the patients' families will have to be supported from public funds.

Then, from the humanitarian standpoint, how do you measure in dollars and cents, the misery and distress of the patients, the heartbreak and worry and strain upon his family?

Mississippi is not faced with these problems alone, and what is true on a national scale is true here, percentage-wise.

More than 16,000,000 Americans, one in every 10, are suffering from a mental or emotional disorder.

At the present rate, one of every 10 children born each year will need psychiatric help sometime during his lifetime.

Approximately 750,000 people are in mental hospitals right now. More than 250,000 people will be admitted to a mental hospital for the first time this year and about 100,000 will be re-admitted.

Last year, some 2,500,000 men, women, and children were treated for some form of mental disorder in mental hospitals, Psychiatric clinics, or by private psychiatrists.

Mental disorder is an important factor in 50 to 70 per cent of the medical cases treated by physicians.

Care of the mentally ill is the single most rapidly growing item in the state budgets. The total expenditure has tripled in the last decade and in some states accounts for as much as 30 per cent of the operating budget.

It is estimated that more than 2,000,000 working years of life and about $4,000,000,000 in potential net earnings are lost by new patients admitted to mental hospitals each year and it costs the public more than one billion dollars a year in taxes to care for the mental patients, or about three million dollars every day.

Dr. Robert H. Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, summed it up succinctly when he told a Congressional committee that "mental illness has reached epidemic proportions." We think you'll agree.

taking like wild fire.

Although citrus fruits can be safely raised in only a small part of Florida and the United States, yet there is competition between Florida, Texas, Arizona, and especially California. The latter state, however, is growing so fast that orange groves are becoming more valuable as home sites and citrus production is decreasing.

Keeping Up To Date

All of this competition results in constantly improved quality and in keeping the price within the reach of all families. Hence, with the constant growth in population, demand will continue to increase. But North America is not the only market for citrus juices. Foreign governments are also recognizing their great health value.

The English government is buying the juice in a super-concentrated non-refrigerated form, like molasses, and distributing it to its babies to supplement a small supply received from Spain, Italy, and other Mediterranean sources. To get good products, however, these countries must import phosphate and other fertilizer chemicals, most of which come from Florida close by the center of the Florida citrus industry. This gives Florida an advantage over all the world.

Great Opportunities Are Elsewhere

I, however, am not telling this story about the citrus industry just to boom Florida. I am telling it to show what a group of farmers can do by uniting in co-operatives and getting the help of research and advertising. The citrus industry has never had subsidies or price guarantees. It has fought its own battles without any limiting of acreage or government loans or surplus crops.

Why cannot the farmers of our Central West and South do the same there with the surplus corn, wheat, cotton, and other products? Henry Ford once said to me: "When the farmers wake up and quit crying on Uncle Sam's shoulder ers they can find a great use and market for their products as raw materials in industry." Agriculture needs a great leader like Henry Ford and the national advertising which the humble citrus growers of Florida are giving their products.

Shiloh Park Observes 95 Anniversary; Tours Of Battlefield On April 6-7

Shiloh National Military Park observed the 95th Anniversary of the Battle of Shiloh on April 6 and according to Park Superintendent Floyd B. Taylor. "A special tour of the significant occasion Saturday, April 6 and three repeated on Sunday, April 7. The schedule was as follows for two days: auto caravans to the Visitor Center (Park Headquarters) at 10:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m., and 3:00 p.m.," Taylor said. "An effort was made to insure each conducted tour was as informative, and an inspiring experience, for everyone who availed themselves of this service. Those making the tour provided personal transportation and each tour of the battle-killed, wounded, and missing, and in Union victory.

Shiloh National Military Park was established in 1894 as the second area of the important phase of American history to be set apart as a national military park, with Chickamauga and Chattanooga (also in Tennessee) holding first place with an establishment date of 1890. Since then, every major area of the 1860-65 War Between the States has received national status, including, Manassas, Fort Sumter, and Appomattox—the beginning and the end. These areas are numbered among the 181 parks and areas now administered by the National Park Service, United States Department of the Interior. Shiloh's approximately 3,700 acres, replete with cannon and monuments, stands as an eloquent tribute to the men of both sides who fought so desperately for a cause in which each believed to be just. The Park is a memorial to American valor, preserving the story of an epic chapter in the Nation's past, and is one of West Tennessee's major historic visitor attractions. It is estimated that approximately 500,000 people pass through the Park annually.

In speaking of the special features planned for this year's battle anniversary of Shiloh, Taylor said: "Members of our Interpretive and Ranger staff will be on hand in sufficient number to render maximum service to all visitors. Park Historian Charles E. Shedd, Jr., will be directly in charge of the interpretive phases of the conducted tours, assisted by Park Historian William K. Kay, Tour Leader Fred M. Smith, and Tour Leader Robert A. Barlow. Park Ranger Neil R. Bassett will accompany each auto caravan tour to control traffic movement and insure the safety of those making the tour, insofar as possible. Where the tour covers portions of State Route 22, it will be necessary to stop 'through traffic' at several key historic points while the caravan passes, but this should not delay normal flow of traffic more than five minutes at any one point," Taylor said. "The cooperation of local people and all persons traveling through the Park, in respecting posted traffic signs and Park speed regulations to the end that there may not be any accidents or any need to issue traffic tickets for speeding and reckless driving, will be appreciated."

For 20 years Mrs. M. G. had suffered from epileptic seizures; sometimes several a day. Her husband said that in 10 years of married life, his wife had an average of at least eight epileptic seizures a week. In church, on the sidewalk, at home, in stores, wherever she was, the attacks took her. She and her husband had resigned themselves to a hopeless situation. No matter where they went, there was always the fear and dread knowledge that a seizure was liable at any moment. How tragic! How sad!

But healing services were carried on at the Baptist Church where Mr. Brown was pastor. People gave in reports and testimonies of being healed.

ABUNDANT LIFE

BY ORAL ROBERTS

EPILEPTIC MOTHER FINDS GOD'S WAY OUT

In almost every denomination there are devout ministers who pray for the sick and see them healed.

The Rev. Roland Brown, former pastor of Parkside Baptist Church in Chicago, enjoys such a ministry. His work was so effective and fruitful that he resigned his pastorate in order to give full time to this phase of his ministry.

The following account is about a victim of that most embarrassing disease, epilepsy. I said victim—I mean victor over epilepsy, and this came in answer to prayer and faith.

For 20 years Mrs. M. G. had suffered from epileptic seizures; sometimes several a day. Her husband said that in 10 years of married life, his wife had an average of at least eight epileptic seizures a week.

In church, on the sidewalk, at home, in stores, wherever she was, the attacks took her. She and her husband had resigned themselves to a hopeless situation. No matter where they went, there was always the fear and dread knowledge that a seizure was liable at any moment. How tragic! How sad!

But healing services were carried on at the Baptist Church where Mr. Brown was pastor. People gave in reports and testimonies of being healed.

One day Mrs. M. G. came and asked for prayer and timidly asserted that she believed God could set her free. An hour of prayer was held at her home.

This Baptist preacher declares in the book Recovery, by Starr Daily:

"I prayed without hesitancy, asking for her complete recovery; that God would eliminate her attacks; that Jesus would command them even as he had commanded the unclean spirits."

"Then I left a few suggestions with her. When she felt an attack coming on she was to take a firm grip on Jesus and to lay hold on his promises. She was to allow herself to become invaded and filled with his presence so that he could protect her from the invasion of the oncoming attack."

"The woman, being in great need, took hold of the process and put it into practice. At the end of two months there had been no further attacks. That had been the longest free period in twenty years. Whenever she felt the attack coming she immediately called upon Jesus to invade her life instead, and in each case the onslaught had been repulsed. Never before had she known this experience of witnessing the arrest of a spell once it had begun."

"Shortly after this, the family moved and I lost contact with them. That was in 1935. In 1940 contact was again resumed and I learned that the woman had been completely healed."

"Neighbor, there are NO HOPELESS CASES WITH GOD. I believe in medical science. We should use it. But God does the impossible."

July 1, an application for re-registration. The registration fee for five years is two dollars. To simplify the re-recording branding irons, each brand owner is being notified by letter of the approaching expiration of his brand. All Mississippi brands are recorded for a period of five years. All expire simultaneously. The first registration period began July 1, 1952.

The Shouters
Lesson for April 14, 1957

IT WAS an exciting week in Jerusalem. There was shouting on Friday; all about the same visitor, one Jesus of Nazareth. Only the shouting was different. On Sunday he rode in to the city preceded by a guard of honor, disorderly to be sure, but wildly enthusiastic. They called him King ("Son of David"); they said with loud voices that he came in the name of the Lord; the Hosannas must have been heard for miles. Friday morning the visitor was mostly out of sight. The Roman police had him, and they did not disgorge prisoners easily. The crowd milled about in the streets outside the governor's castle, and they kept yelling "Crucify him!" Nothing can be more thrilling than to be hailed as King; nothing can be more dreadful than the sound of a mob hungry for torture.

The Same Voices
Now the strange thing is that some of the same people who were shouting "Hosanna!" on Sunday, were shouting "Crucify him!" on Friday. Didn't they know their own minds? Well, they didn't. Shouters seldom do. There are always shouters about, they emerge from every crack when anything exciting goes on. They shout in crowds; solo shouters are rare. If you had taken many (maybe most) members of that Sunday crowd aside and asked each one in private: "Do you really think this Jesus is a King?" it is a fair guess that some of them would have replied, "Well... I don't know, of course. But he might be. Good idea to get on the band-wagon. I hear..." and so forth. Further, if you had been able to get private interviews with the bloody-sounding shouters on Friday morning, and asked, "do you really think that this Jesus is guilty—and if he is, of what, exactly? Do you personally want to see him crucified by the Romans?" You might have got some answers like—"Was I saying 'crucify'? Well, that's a little strong. Of course I hate to see anybody in Roman hands. No, I don't know the man personally, but I was told..." and so forth. I have heard—I was told—they say... Your shouters have no mind, all he has is a voice.

We Should Know
It is not such a dark mystery why the same people could yell Hosanna! and Crucify! about the same person within a week. Remember what was lined up against Jesus—intrenched interests, selfishness, indifference, pride, hatred, greed, prejudice. For him there was only truth, and truth has short shrift when the shouters are going strong. We may be shouters ourselves. How is it that on Sunday we can sing the most devoted songs about Jesus, we can even offer prayers in His name, and then on Monday (not waiting till Friday) our actions, which speak louder than our words always, "crucify the Son of God afresh"? we sing come from poems which better Christians wrote; we just sing along with others, we don't think much about what the words mean. Then on Monday we fall in to the ways of the world. We don't connect what we are doing (which can be pretty devilish and still legal) with what we said on Sunday; and we don't (maybe) intentionally mean anything against Jesus. But we do and what "everybody" does and says, and don't stop to think (it's too much trouble for a shouter to think) that what we are doing, or failing to do, says louder than words—"Jesus? Who's he? Nobody that makes any difference with me, nobody I'd care to be like!"

If They Had Known Him
There were some who shouted on Sunday who were silent on Friday. The Eleven forsook Him and fled, we know; but we may be sure they did not yell "Crucify Him!" and perhaps the Mother Mary took no voice in the shouting any time. The star of her love shone steadily through the storm. Those who really know Jesus, not by hearsay, rumor or tradition, but know him as a living inner friend, and Savior, do not change their minds about Him overnight. And sometimes those who love Him, most deeply are not to be found among the Shouters, but among those who serve.
