despite the overall hopeful thousands of mental patients are entirely without hope. The for this is that only one out every ten mental hospital pa-adequate treatment. The reason for that there is only enough equipment and medical sup-to permit treatment for 10 cent of all the 750,000 mental patients. The rest are this to happen, it would certainly stir a nationwide wave of anxiety, and it would not take before the situation was reme-

Why then should we stand by indifferently in the face of such community to the mentally ill?
The proof is overwhelming that the mentally ill can come back. is up to all of us to see to it they do come back, recovered and normal.

Each year during Mental Health Week the National Association for Mental Health focuses the nation's attention on the plight of the mentally ill. During this year's Mental Health Week observance — April to May 4 — an extra effort is made to enlist public interest on behalf of the mentally ill, to arouse nationwide action in their behalf.

In a few days you will be asked to make a small donation as your part in helping to free the mentally ill from their bondage. Won't you give willingly to this cause you?

Tombigbee Canal Study To Begin Monday, May 6

Army Engineers said in Mobile, Ala., last week that a survey of the proposed Tombigbee-Tennessee canal would begin on May 6th. The engineers said the study would be made to determine whether a waterway connection between the two rivers would be feasible. The proposed canal has been estimated to cost 234 million dollars. In 1956 the 260-mile channel was given congressional approval, but the project received no appropriation and since that time has been in a "deferred-for-re-study" category. Army Engineers approved the project in 1946.

APPLICATION OF LIQUID FERTILIZER SHOWN ON TWO COUNTY FARMS

Liquid fertilizer distribution was demonstrated on two Tishomingo county farms last Thursday, the demonstrations being the first to be conducted in Mississippi.

Analysis of the fertilizer used was 10-10-10—nitrogen, potash and phosphate. The demonstrations

Health Clinic Being Held For Pre-school Children

As school is preparing to close for the summer the boys and girls that are going to start to school in the fall should start preparing now so they will be ready when the first bell rings next school term. To give boys and girls a good chance to find their place in school, preparations should start now. Every child should have a pre-school health examination.
Height, weight, posture, vision and hearing should be carefully checked. Their teeth need to be checked by their dentist. With school days beginning there is more exposure to communicable diseases. To help prevent illness, check up on the immunizations your child has had. They should be protected against diphtheria, tetanus, typhoid fever, smallpox and polio. Because the effects of the vaccine gradually weaken, booster shots are necessary. The pre-school examinations will be given each Wednesday afternoon in the Health Department by Dr. J. C. Totten, Health Officer. Immunizations will be given each Wednesday afternoon or Saturday morning. This program will also have the cooperation of the 20th Century Club of Iuka.

Refreshments will be served each child on completion of the examination.

Among those attending the clinic on Wednesday were: Vickie Hudson, Sharon Davis, Tommy Helton, Arthur Underwood, Mary Ruth Hobbs, Ingrid Singleton, Timothy Smith, Jimmy Gross, Denise McCoy, Shelia McAlister, Kathy Hannon, Bruce Bryan, Nickie Phillips, Stevie Geno, Sarah Lee Pruitt,

First Graders And Teacher To Have Tea Tuesday

The first graders of the Iuka school and their teacher, Mrs. Lela Clark, are inviting the beginning pupils for the next years class and their mothers to attend a tea given on Tuesday morning, May 7, from 9 to 11 which will be held in the first grade room. It will also be registration day and each child is requested to have their birth certificate with them.

Mrs. Clark says that she hopes all mothers with children who will be of school age (6 years old) by January 1 will bring them in for registration so that school officials may be able to estimate the size of next year's first grade.

Kossuth Defeats Iuka 13-1

By Van Savell

The Iuka Chieftains baseball team traveled to Kossuth on Friday and received their last conference game, errors proved to be the downfall for Iuka.

Roger Clark started for Iuka, but was shelled from the mound after giving up 7 runs on 8 hits in 1 and one-third innings. Jackie Dean then took the mound for Iuka and held Kossuth to 2 hits for the remainder of the game. Kossuth got 6 more runs by way of errors in the last 3 innings.

The only home run of the game came off the bat of Essary from Kossuth.

Iuka's only run came when James tripled and Clark drove him in with a single.

The next game for the Chieftains will be against Kossuth Tuesday at Iuka.

Saturday Deadline For Iuka Candidates To Qualify

Saturday, May 4, is the deadline for candidates to qualify in order to get their names on the tickets for the June 4 Iuka municipal general election.

In addition to the petition containing fifty names of qualified electors for each candidate, the candidate must also sign an affidavit to the effect that he will not attempt to overthrow our present form of government and that he is not a member of any subversive organization. Each candidate must also sign the "Oath of a Candidate" the substance of which is that he has read and will not violate acts of the legislature dealing with corrupt practices in elections.

No candidates for the office of alderman in Iuka have been properly qualified at the city hall, however, John H. Allen and J. J. Parker have qualified for mayor and H.
F. Chambers and Roy Bolton have qualified for Town Marshall.

Petitions for Bill Jones, R. K.
Thorne and Sam Traylor have been turned in as candidates for alderman. Petitions for several other men have been filled out but the men for whom the petitions were prepared have said they would not accept the candidacy.

Five aldermen are to be elected along with a mayor and town marshall. Thus far only three potential candidates have offered to run for alderman.

Drawings Of Proposed Youth Center Viewed

B. A. England, Corinth architect, met with representatives from Iuka's Federated Women's clubs, civic organizations, and youth of the town Tuesday afternoon at the high school for the purpose of showing drawings of a proposed youth center for the community.

The architect's plans revealed a structure 41x82 feet, to be built of brick veneer and covered with an oval metal roof. The building would house a large game room 41x60 feet with restrooms and a small kitchen on one end and on the other a lounge and office.

Several months ago the town board granted permission for a structure of this type to be erected in Mineral Springs park. Also about the same time the Twentieth Century Club voted to give $8,000.00 to be used toward the building of a youth center. It is hoped that other clubs of the town will help on the proposed project and lend their moral as well as financial support.

Present at Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. J. O. Clark, Mrs. R. E.
Wasson, Herman Gann, Mrs. O. T.
Gaines, Supt. H. L. Shook, Herbert Thomas, Byrnda Sue Goyer, Lynda Moser, Dr. Harry Cosby, Bill Jones and Karen Goyer.

Automobile Holds Place Of Great Importance In Family Budget

(Special To The Vidette)

New York, April 29—Among residents of Tishomingo County, the automobile continues to hold a place of great importance in the family budget. The local picture, according to a nationwide study of consumer spending, shows expenditures for cars, other automobile equipment and supplies to be running at the rate of $2,148-000 a year.

The size of this outlay, locally, shows how necessary the car has become in everyday life. It represents 32.7 percent of the total amount spent in all the retail stores.

This compares with only 26.8 percent in the United States as a whole and with 30.9 percent in the East South Central States.

Increasingly, people have come to rely upon the car to get them to work, to school and to the stores. In the suburbs and in rural areas, even more so than in the cities, it has become almost indispensable. Frequently, it is the only mode of transportation available.

The expanding use to which it is being put has benefited business in Tishomingo County. Just how much it adds up to locally is seen in data released by Standard Rate and Data Service for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1956.

Sales of new used passenger cars, motorcycles, motorboats and accessories came to $1,577,000 in the year. The receipts at filling stations for gas, oil, repairs and incidental were an additional $571-000. The grand total, $2,148,000, is exclusive of truck sales, which were not reported in the survey.

In terms of the individual family, the average amount spent in the year, determined by dividing the dollar total by the number of local families, was $565.

With the great majority of the American people determined to possess cars and to drive them, too frequently at the same time, the future it conjures up is fantastic.

By 1975, motor cars are expected to show an increase that is twice as great as the population increase, which will be big in its own right. The 1957 forecast: car registrations, over 100 million, a gain of 51 per cent; population, 215 million, a gain of 27 percent.

Now is the time for all good

Situation; Continuation Of Large Farms Columnist Discusses Western Drought

By Roger W. Babson
Babson Park, Mass., May 2. A sound of rejoicing is today echoing across the western Great Plains. Mother Nature at long last has showered down copious rains and heavy snows upon wide areas of that drought-stricken region. As a result, soil moisture conditions in much of the Great Plains are more encouraging than they have been in several years.

But—Is The Drought Broken?

Farmers and businessmen living in the Great Plains naturally are greatly concerned as to whether these much-improved moisture conditions are a mere flash in the pan or the real thing. Crops in some instances have been hard hit; valuable top-soil has been blown away; cattle have starved or farmers have been forced to liquidate them for lack of feed; and some people living on the land are facing poverty. Although this five-year drought has been less destructive on the whole than the disastrous droughts of 1934 and 1936, it has been severe. I can well appreciate the mounting hope in many hearts that it may now be ending.

I wish I could give them definite assurance that the worst is over. Perhaps it is. However, I am a statistician and not a weather forecaster—at least not a very good one. Professional weather forecasters tell me that it takes about six months of above-normal precipitation to end a major drought. If so, in this respect at least there is still some distance to go before we can know for a certainty that the drought has ended. Incidentally, there are still sizable sections of Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Texas, and Ohio that remain parched. The one sure thing is that over-all moisture conditions have materially improved—the trend is in the right direction. The drought is old, and this is another favorable factor. By the law of averages, it should not last much longer.

Farmers Gaining Drought Knowledge

Whether recurrent droughts will ever cease to plague the western Great Plains is a secret buried deep in Nature's crystal ball. Perhaps scientists some day will come up with something very constructive. Meanwhile, farmers are learning more and more how to live with droughts and come out ahead or at least break even. They have come a long way in this respect since the Dust Bowl days of the Thirties, when about all they could do was to "take it lying down," or pull up stakes and migrate to other, more favored areas.

The smart farmer of the Great Plains no longer plows and plants indiscriminately. He knows the value of soil-conservation methods, of irrigation, of modern farm tools, of contour plowing and terracing, of sowing drought-resistant cover crops where and when needed, and of shelter belts of trees. He also now gears the kind of crop planted to soil-moisture conditions prevailing at the time of planting, and utilizes moisture-conservation techniques and diversified farming. By these and other modern agricultural methods and practices designed to lessen the risk to farmers and crops from drought or other destructive forces, he is making real progress under all conditions.

Trend To Larger Farms Will Continue

These various modern methods of farming and of minimizing the effects of droughts or other adverse conditions all point in one direction—toward larger, better equipped, and more skillfully managed farms. The one-man farm even now is as outdated as the "one horse shay." This "farm revolution" has made rapid progress in recent years. There are, for instance, a million more tractors on U. S. farms today than there were in 1950; 131 per cent more pick-up hay bales; 51 per cent more corn-pickers; 39 per cent more grain combines; and 12 per cent more milking machines.

On the other hand, the number of U. S. farms has declined 11 per cent since 1950—from 5,379,250 to 4,783,021. Yet total farm area has not changed much since then. Therefore, the size of many farms has increased. It is only on these larger, well-managed farms that the full benefits of mechanization and modern techniques can profitably be realized. Such farms are in a much better position to survive prolonged drought or other adversities than is the small, poorly managed farm. They are here to stay. Farming in America now is "big business." I, therefore, forecast another relatively good year for most American farmers are a sturdy, intelligent, and God-fearing group is a combination of qualities to beat, and one America needs today.

Did you see this?

MILLIONS DID! For this advertisement appeared recently in national business magazines and in leading financial papers that have a combined circulation of more than five million readers. Why did we run it? Why have we run many others similar to it in the past? Because promoting the industrial growth of the Southland in every way we can is good for the Southern — and good for the South!

Our national advertising program is one way we do this. Maintaining an Industrial Development Department that constantly and aggressively seeks new industries for every available plant location is another. Providing efficient and dependable rail transportation so vital to industry today is still another.

New factories and new payrolls are "coming to town" all over the South. Last year 423 major industrial developments that cost over $710 million and created 26,000 new job opportunities took place along the Southern alone. Many in the South helped bring this about. All in the South benefit!

The home of the bride's parents was the setting for a simple, but beautiful, wedding performed Saturday afternoon, April 27, at 2 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Glenda Enlow and Troy Pace. The Rev. J. C. Hawthorne, pastor of New Prospects Baptist church, used the double-ring ceremony in officiating.

Miss Enlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Enlow, was graduated from the Holcut high school. She served her class as Treasurer her junior year and Secretary her senior year. She served on the Yearbook staff and was a member of the 4-H club.

Mr. Pace, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pace. He was graduated from the Holcut high school, serving his class as vice-president in his junior and senior year. He served on the year book staff, was a member of the 4-H club and was an active basketball player. Troy was Salutatorian of his class.

For the ceremony the bride chose a navy blue dress with white accessories.

The couple's only attendants were Miss Joan Howie, who served as maid of honor, and Marion Crawford, who served as best man.

Others present for the wedding were the bride's parents, her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wayne Enlow of Fort Knox, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Luttrell, James Charles and Jimmie Lynn Hawthorne.

Canning And Freezing Supplies

Better be sure all your supplies for canning and freezing are on hand and in good working order. The season is almost at hand where you may be using them almost daily.

This before hand preparation will prevent delays when your fruits and vegetables are just ready for canning or freezing.

The gauge on your pressure canner should be checked with a master gauge tester each year. Inaccuracies may develop from constant use or a hand jar while in storage.

Check the petcock and safety valve on your pressure canner, too. Be sure all openings are clean, and keep them clean, to be sure of proper venting and pressure control.

Test the sealing ring to see if you need a new one. Maybe turning as some manufacturer's recommendation, will do the job. When gaskets become hard and dry, steam escapes around the closure and no pressure will rise in the canner.

Follow the manufacturer's directions that came with your pressure canner, and you will prevent canning accidents, spoiled food and wasted energy.

Other equipment to check and get on hand and in first class order include your water bath canner, glass jars or tin cans, clean, un-rusted and unbent caps or lids, tin can sealer, jar lifters, wooden spoons, stainless steel knives, cutting board, Jelmeter, blanching kettle, colander for draining products; and moisture-vapor proof materials and containers, freezer tape and marking pencil for frozen foods.

May Plentiful Foods

Headliners on the plentiful foods list for May are: Beef, Eggs and Turkeys. For the vegetables, you will find both potatoes and onions in abundance. Look for lots of canned freestone peaches, canned purple plums and frozen strawberries, and for orange and grapefruit juices.

Milk and other dairy products deserve special attention because May is the month when milk production reaches its peak for the year.

Plenty of peanuts and peanut butter will be available for after school snacks and first-of-the-season picnics and other occasions.

State wide cabbage is on the plentiful list. Check your markets for plentiful produced locally.

Dairying

Dairy farmers know that early, luxuriant grazing results in increased milk flow. With the lush grazing and increased milk production, many dairymen are tempted to cut down on grain feeding and to discontinue the feeding of hay.

Such practices result in the cows losing weight. This is because the early pastures have a high water content—often as high as 80 to 85 percent.

Due to the high water content, cows must eat around 200 pounds of grass to get 30 pounds of dry matter. They simply cannot eat enough of the early grass and clover to supply all the nutrients they need.

Supplements are needed. Hay feeding should be continued. A good idea is to provide hay in racks. This hay feeding will also help prevent bloat.

The wise dairyman will increase grain feeding to compensate for the increased milk flow, rather than cut down on it. Failure to provide grain feed will cause production to suffer later in this lactation period and in the next lactation period as well.

In addition to feeding wisely, dairymen should arrange for fly protection, adequate water supplies and plenty of shade for the herd.

Cotton Insects

Some cotton in the county will be up to a stand in a few days. Here is something to think about.

It is good insurance toward healthy, fast growing seedlings to control thrips.

Spray or dust when the first pair of leaves spread. A second application or third application is sometimes necessary near fields, ditch banks, pasture and woods.

For the latest information on cotton insect controls, see your county agent and get a free copy of the 1957 cotton insect control leaflet. It gives information on both the chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides and the newer and more dangerous phosphate compounds.

Gardening

Vegetables to plant this month include: Bush and pole beans, bush and pole lima beans, okra, squash, field peas, set tomato, pepper and eggplant plants, New Zealand spinach, corn cantaloupe, watermelons, sweetpotatoes, cucumbers, and collards. If May is not too hot, a few April vegetables can be planted, but it will be taking somewhat of a chance.

Howard Graham of Memphis, Jerry Hornsby, Joe Williams and James Sidney Edwards of Bolivar, Tennessee, fraternity brothers of Donald Davis, spent the week end with the and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Davis.

COMPARE

See how the extra value in Chilean Soda makes an extra good crop of corn. Chilean is a natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

and you'll choose CHILEAN NITRATE OF SODA

One hundred years of consistently satisfactory experience with Chilean Nitrate of Soda have demonstrated that there is nothing to compare with it for side-dressing corn, cotton and other summer crops. It is a rare, natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements. Where the soil is too acid; where potash is deficient or where the supply of available phosphate is low; where the crop needs quick help; or where one or more of the minor elements is lacking, Natural Chilean Soda has no equal among nitrogen fertilizers.

The side-dressing effectiveness of any nitrogen fertilizer depends very largely on its content of nitrate nitrogen. The nitrogen content of Chilean Soda is 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen and this, together with its rich sodium content and minor elements, accounts for its remarkable efficiency and consistently superior performance in the field.

Sodium adds a great deal of extra value to the product. It destroys soil acidity, substitutes for potash and calcium when necessary, increases the supply of available phosphate, and helps the plant gain the utmost benefit from the nitrogen. In addition, Chilean Soda contains small amounts of needed minor elements which help to protect against hidden plant-food deficiencies.

If you have any question about your nitrogen side-dressing for corn, we urge you to use Chilean Nitrate, if only in a small way to begin with, so that you can see the difference for yourself. We are confident you'll find it the most economical and satisfactory nitrate nitrogen fertilizer you ever used for side-dressing your crops.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Students Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FORE
Background Scripture: Genesis 28: 3-4 Devotional Reading: Psalm 139

Resourceful God
Lesson for May 5, 1957

THE BIBLE has a plot. As a whole, as much as a thriller you ever read. In the Bible is more thrilling. Because directly concerns each one of human race. It is the story of long conflict between Good and Evil, portrayed as a personal struggle for the control of the earth and of man. The story begins in a sunny, hopeful way. God makes a world, an unfinished world but nevertheless beautiful, and he calls into existence Man, Dr. Foreman and Woman, to live on this earth to beautify and complete it. They are to be God's friends, fellow-workers. But before the reader quite knows how it happens, the Serpent appears on the scene and persuades man that he is not his friend but his enemy. So the man rebels against his Maker, is faithless to his Friend. Philosophers and the giants have other ways of telling the truth and tragedy: Man is a rebel for fellowship with God and human beings, but he has lost the fellowship, he has turned against his truest Friend.

God Planning
Mysteries darken our knowledge here. But of some things we are sure. One is that God does deal with his world and his creatures haphazard. He is a planner. Another thing that is clear is that man has freedom to obey God or to disobey; to follow the Plan or to reject it. The Planner, God could not have made a race of beings who could not possibly do anything right, a race of perfect robots, for some reason God does make man free. One suspects the reason is that God wants them to be loved by persons who would love him freely, that he loved by creatures "worn" so to speak—bound to him whether or no. (Would that be love?) Another thing that is out is that God is resourceful. One sense his Plan can be seen when men go contrary to it. In another sense men do not see his Plan, for God appears to be like a wise general who more than one plan of strategy all pointing to victory.

God Rejected
Man is not free unless he is to do wrong as well as to do right. And if he is free to do wrong which is a short way of saying free to go against the will of God, then he is free to reject himself. For the Plan of God, man, born as it is infinite and infinite Love, is always man's best. For man to reject to ignore him, scorn him, man-made plans, is to set a way of death. Genesis shows man how the sin of man grows worse as a snowball grows larger—the farther it goes the more rapidly it grows. Adam seemed a rather slight thing, his son is a murderer, and descendants so bad that God scarcely find one good man among them. The story in Genesis is the story of mankind; man's free way of hate and conflict rather than the way of fellowship love; and they suffer the just of God; namely that they take their own way must lead to the inevitable disaster.

God Undeclared
Many religions know of the righteous gods who have been rejected by wicked or careless ignorant men. But the God revealed in the Bible does not as the "gods of the gentiles" said to act. For man's sins, gods may have resentment, but they leave man as he was, an unconquered enemy perhaps with rebellion still in his soul. Other religions elaborate methods by which man may pay for their sins—pilgrimages, undergoing exposed tortures. But the God is quite different from whom men imagine—a God who never gives up his Plan for people in fellowship with him are changed, saved, made to be God's friends, only by fast undiscouraged love.

Still Water Runs
Down Deep

When rain falls on a contoured or terraced field the water moves slowly off the land. This still, or slow moving, water runs down deep. It seeps into the soil where the crops can use it to produce bigger yields.

On sloping land, there are good reasons for planting crops on the contour, or with terraces. Where parallel terraces are practical, and farmers can put them in, there will be no short rows. The farmers usually produce more by cultivating on the contour and thereby increases his earnings. Equally important, perhaps, is that even while using the land, he preserves it not only for his own benefit, but for future generations also.

When water rushes across a field, productive topsoil goes along for the ride. Floating particles of earth, little by little, finally reach the sea. Usually we are not aware that they are gone. But it takes only a generation or so for running water to turn top grade land into a second-rate farm.

The Tennessee River Soil Conservation District Commissioners and the local Soil Conservation Service personnel, who work with you, are concerned about this loss of our good topsoil. Such waste is bad "Land Economics" because rebuilding land that has lost its topsoil may cost as much at the prevailing price of good farm land.

Those who farm the land should determine now that they will cultivate their sloping fields on the contour to best use and save both their land and the rain that falls on it. Slow the rain water down so it will run down deep into the soil where the roots of the crops planted on the land can use it.

Why pay for "shrinking horsepower"

Your tractor will never shrink to this size. But what about all the horsepower you paid for when it was new? That can shrink—from month to month, year after year.

Every time you run your tractor engine, harmful carbon deposits build up inside the combustion chambers, on the valves, pistons and rings. Gradually these deposits reduce your tractor's horsepower.

That's why you should start using New Gulfpride H.D. Select motor oil now. It's the world's only oil super-refined by the exclusive Alchor Process to avoid "shrinking horsepower" in the hard-working engines on your farm.

This oil controls carbon, the cause of pre-ignition, knock and overheating. It keeps your engine clean and provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil—assures minimum oil consumption for the life of your tractor.

Switch to New Gulfpride H.D. Select. It's available in the exact grade recommended by the manufacturer of your car, truck or tractor, —for every season of the year.

Why Few Enter The Narrow Way Sunday Subject

"In Matthew 7:13, 14 Christ stated that few would find and enter the narrow way," stated Roy L. Some of these reasons will be investigated in the light of God's Word. The public is invited and urged to hear this lesson as well as the 7:00 p.m. subject, not yet announced, Mr. Vaughn concluded.

"ALL THINGS COME FROM THE EARTH"

(Author's name below)

From all over the world agents of pharmaceutical research organizations are sending back thousands of different samples of earth. They are collected from back yards, forests, jungles, farms, etc.

Millions of dollars are spent to analyze them with the hope of finding a better antibiotic may be discovered. Perhaps even cancer may be cured someday by something from the earth.

One thing we do know. New medicines are being perfected rapidly, and as soon as they are approved for safe use, we stock them in our pharmacy.
