A STORY from the Louisville Courier-Journal, as reported by "Rote" tells about while a man was suing over an automobile accident was on the stand the defendant's counsel took over.

"Did you, or did you not," he asked the plaintiff, "at the time of the accident when asked if you were hurt, reply that you weren't?"

"Well," said the plaintiff, "it was like this: I was going along the road with my old horse and wagon, and along comes this motorist and knocks us into the ditch. You never saw such a mess in all your life. There I was flat on my back with my legs in the air. There was my horse on his back, with his legs in the air. And there was my wagon, with its wheels in the air."

"This motorist stops his car, gets out, and looks at us. He sees my horse has a broken leg, goes back to his car, gets a pistol and shoots him. Then he comes up to me and says, 'Now what about you? Are you hurt?'"

AS EVERYONE should realize, our forests are our greatest natural resource, and we all should realize that forest fires can be disastrous. Therefore, it'll be wise, when you're squirrel hunting and have to smoke one out of a hollow tree, to be certain your fire is out before you leave the spot. It will only take a few minutes and will be the means of saving thousands of dollars worth of valuable timber—timber that took years to grow.

OF COURSE, if this rain keeps up we won't have to worry much about a fire of any kind. Every thing is too wet (with water) to burn now.

AND, we must observe here while speaking of fires, the most inflammable wood is the chip on the shoulder!

A ROYAL VISITOR of prominence in the Iuka and Tishomingo county area a few weeks ago was The Right Honorable Lieutenant-Governor Carroll Gartin. Mr. Gartin spent quite some time in our vicinity on the lake and expressed himself as having had a wonderful time when he left. We're always happy to see this distinguished gentleman. He is, in our opinion, one of the very top men in ability in our state. And his pleasant personality makes his visits exceptionally interesting.

FRIENDS OF Omer J. Bullen are happy to know that he has constructed and is now operating a large grain elevator in Tupelo. However, we hasten to add our regrets for the tragedy that happened at the new plant on the day of the open house celebration. A lady visitor lost her life in a fall in the main lift elevator shaft. This tragedy marred the day of celebration and caused great sorrow and concern for the owners, who, naturally, would have done anything in the world to have prevented it.

The new grain elevator will be operated in conjunction with the Sunshine Mills located at Red Bay, Ala. Mr. Bullen is well-known in this county, having served several public offices. He has operated his Sunshine Mills and Red Bay wholesale company for many years and is one of the business and civic leaders of the area. His ability and enthusiasm have carried him far in his past endeavors, and, with his able assistance, we're certain, continue to be the guiding factors in his business expansions.

GIRLS WORRY about their shoes and their shoes. Between the two there's enough to worry anyone. Which brings us to observe that the best things in life are not always free—some are

MORE SPENDING MONEY isn't the only thing a new factory payroll brings to town. A survey made by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce shows that 100 new factory workers also meant this to a community:

- 296 more people
- 112 more households
- 51 more school children
- 107 more passenger car registrations
- 174 more workers employed
- 4 more retail establishments
- $590,000 more personal income per year
- $270,000 more bank deposits
- $360,000 more retail sales per year

This is convincing proof that bringing industry into a county helps everyone. It means added advantages for every citizen regardless of where they live in the county. The entire area benefits. The added valuation of the property of the workers and the factory itself means either lower taxes for the rest of the people of the county—or more money for the Supervisors to use for the many projects they are called upon to effect each year. The higher the assessed valuation of a county the lower the millage necessary to carry on the various aspects of government.

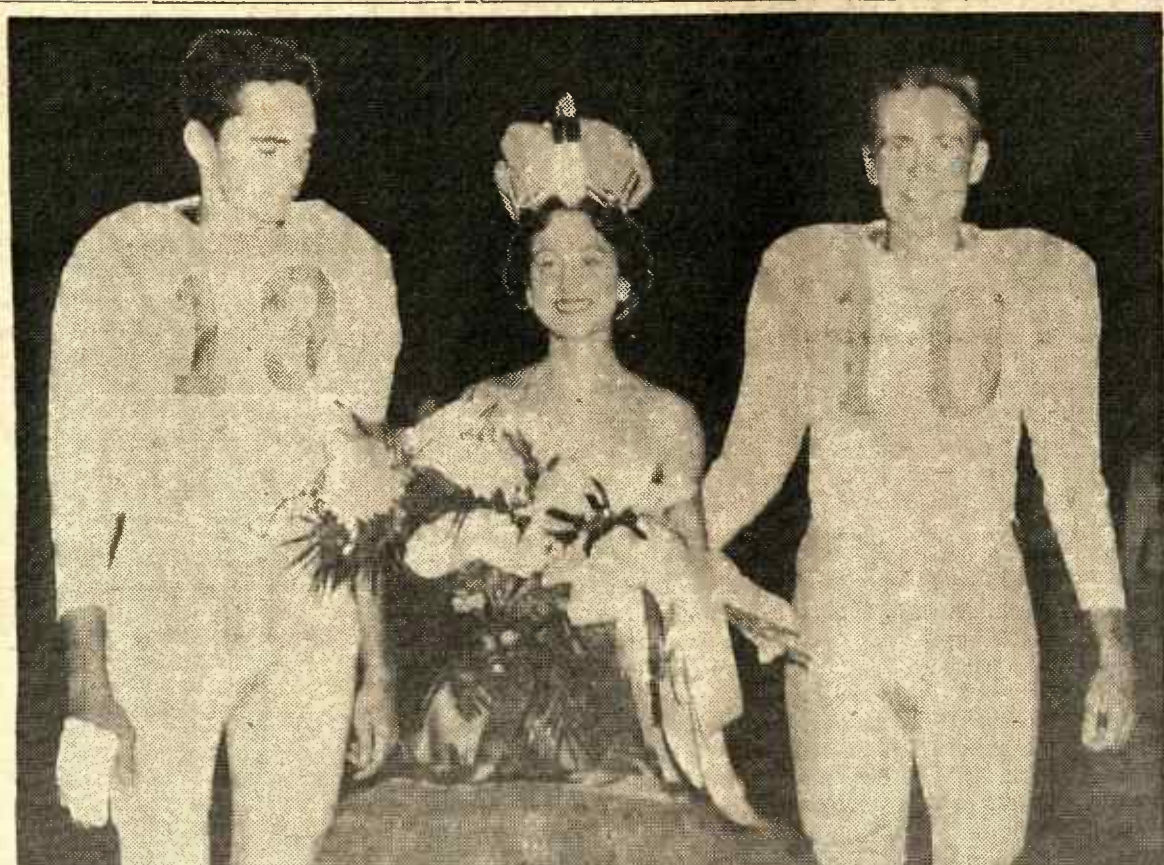

AS A MATTER of timely information, the proposed addition to the Iuka Shirt Co. building will employ about 50 more people. Therefore, you can just divide the above figures by 2 to get the effect on our county that the expansion will have. Surely this is worth the financial support of every business person who may have the remotest chance of increased sales from the added employment at the Shirt Plant!

ONE OF the greatest concerns of the wood-using industry in Mississippi is the attempt, which has been made in several recent sessions of the Mississippi Legislature, to restrict the amount of land a wood-using industry may own in this state. Any such restriction of timberland ownership could certainly stifle the progress which is being made in the utilization of our most abundant natural resource—forest products. Those who would halt this progress by such restrictive measures, must not be able to see the value of having our forest resources processed right here in Mississippi. The additional payrolls, tax income (both local and state) can mean much to our state's economy. Wood-using industries must be assured of an adequate supply of raw material, and this necessitates at least a small part of their need being insured by company-owned land. Even though this is true, only approximately 15 per cent of the raw material used in the case of our larger wood-using industries is derived from these company-owned lands; the remainder coming from small private owners, such as farmers, professional people, etc. If we are to continue to reap the benefits of a booming forest products industry program in our state, every alert citizen must make it his affair to protect the right of the wood-using industry to own a part of its wood supply.

THERE IS one more person in the world each second—actually the excess of births over deaths is more than 1 per second. Worldwide, this means a gain of 110,000 people a day, 40,000,000 a year.

Sue King Crowned 1957-58 Football Queen In Ceremony Preceding Game

Miss Sue King, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King, was crowned Iuka's 1957-58 football queen at a ceremony taking place at Lion stadium preceding the game Friday night between Iuka and Fulton.

The queen's court, composed of twelve young ladies selected by the football team, was brought on to the field in convertibles. The girls were met by twelve senior players and escorted to their places which formed a semi-circle back of the podium. This was a colorful display with all the girls wearing formals in pastel shades.

William J. Pyle, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced last year's queen, Miss Barbara Ann Wiley, who performed the honor of crowning the new queen.

Miss Brynda Sue Gober, daughter of Mrs. Tressie Gober, was selected as second alternate and Miss Judy Marlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Marlin, was named as first alternate. Each was presented a corsage of white carnations. Flower bearers were little Terri Coker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louie Coker, and Greg Byrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Byrom.

Other member of the queen's court were Beulah Ann Nixon, Jeanette Clark, Katherine Sanders, Judy Holtsford, Pat Foote, Faye Carmichael, Rosaland Moser, Ruth Thomas and Linda McAlister; senior escorts were Jerry Booker, Bobby Flynt, Bobby Dexter, Bill Moore, Buddy James, Johnnie Brown, Jimmy Yarber, Jerry Kay, Leroy Moore, Larry Enlow, Walter Wynn, and Roger Clark.

Six Contractors Submit Bids On Shirt Co. Addition

Six contractors gave sealed bids to B. A. England, architect, at the Iuka Shirt Company on Friday for the new addition to the plant.

Wilbur Jones of Corinth was low bidder and is ready to sign the contract as soon as the necessary amount of money is collected. So far, $9,750.00 has been collected by Bernard Lukoff, manager of the local plant.

"I am confident that the citizens of Iuka who benefit from the payroll of Iuka Shirt Company will rally and put up the rest of the money as soon as possible so that the new building may become a reality," stated Mr. Lukoff.

Jesse White Named Head Of Choctaw

By the Associated Press
State Insurance Commissioner Walter Dell Davis Friday heartily endorsed selection of Jesse White as new president in re-organization of Choctaw Investment Corp. and its subsidiaries.

White, former insurance commissioner, was named president and manager Thursday of Choctaw and its subsidiaries, Choctaw Life Insurance Co. and Choctaw System Inc.

White succeeds Leroy Walton, who resigned as Choctaw head at the request of directors. A legislative investing committee said Walton sold 25-cent-a-share option stock at a much higher price and pocketed the difference.

Davis said selection of White "has removed any fear I might have had for the firm's future success." He described White as "an insurance executive of unquestioned ability."

White is former vice president and secretary of the recently formed American Liberty Life Insurance Co. Other new Choctaw officers include R. E. Bell of Mendenhall, vice president; and W. C. McGahey of Louisville, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Maud Timmons of Clarksdale, Miss., spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Glenn.

Warrior's Lose Homecoming Game To Fulton 40-7; To Meet Ripley Friday

By Van Savell
The Itawamba Indians came to Iuka, a fired-up team and caught the Iuka Warriors on an off night and lacking full scale practice, last Friday night and ruined the Homecoming festivities with an overwhelming 40-7 victory. Bill Flurry, the Iuka Head Coach, was unable to attend practice last week or attend the football game Friday night because of the flu.

The Warriors, after a bad first half, finally got a small offense going. Eddie Byrom scored the only touchdown of the night for Iuka on a 4 yard plunge over left tackle. He (Byrom) set up his own touchdown on a 20 yard jaunt after catching a flat pass. Savell scored the extra point. Two other times Iuka moved inside the Fulton ten yard line only to be stopped on downs.

The Fulton touchdowns were distributed among the four backfield men, Gray, Adams, Sheffield, and Moore.

(A vote for the proposition meant a vote against beer and alcoholic drinks.) Total number of votes cast in the beer election was 1906, less than half the

A majority of 60 percent of those voting had to favor the bond issue in order for it to pass; this percentage was gained by the slim margin of 35 votes.

A look at the table below shows the bond issue was defeated in the Second and Fifth districts but was carried in the Third and Fourth with the greatest majority showing in the Fourth district returns.

KOHLER, WISCONSIN AND LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

Why did the Administration send federal troops into Little Rock, Arkansas to enforce integration in Central High School, where law and order had not broken down, and not send troops into Kohler, Wisconsin in the case of the Kohler Company strike in 1954, where law and order had broken down?

This is an interesting question, and a factual, dispassionate answer might spotlight some attitudes on the part of the Administration that it would prefer to keep in the dark.

Boiled down to its essence, a comparison of the two cases very clearly shows that the Administration is motivated more by any political advantage it might gain by what it does than it is any concern for the preservation of law and order.

The Administration felt it would gain politically by enforcing integration of the races; it felt it would lose politically by curbing the law-breaking activities of the labor unions. That, plainly and simply, is the answer to the question.

This is not to say that had the other political party been in power, its own administration would not have done the same thing. In fact, the last presidential candidate of this other party says he would have acted the same way. Which only serves to show that one party is no better than the other when it comes to playing politics, that a voter looking for state-manship cannot expect to find it in the leadership of either party. We have reached a sorry state of affairs when the administration of a party in power is more concerned about what may happen in the next election than it is about acting according to law.

Invasion of the State of Arkansas by federal troops was entirely illegal under the Constitution. Whether there would have been violence at Central High School in the case of integration (subsequent events indicate there would have been), the Governor of the State thought there would be, and he headed this off by use of the National Guard. This was the Governor's responsibility under the Constitution, and his alone. He was stopped from carrying out this responsibility by federal court injunction, whereupon violence did break out.

Then, instead of handling the situation through the proper legal channels, the President federalized the National Guard of Arkansas so that the Governor would be powerless to carry out his responsibility for preserving peace and quiet in his own state and very quickly ordered a blitzkrieg on Little Rock by federal troops without giving the "civil process" any opportunity to work the trouble out in a peaceable manner. Thus did the Administration violate the "law of the land" which it was so piously proclaiming to uphold.

On the other hand, in the case of the Kohler Company strike, law and order broke down completely at the local, county and state level in Wisconsin. No effort was made by the duly elected officials at these respective levels to preserve law and order. More than 800 cases of vandalism to property and violence to individuals were reported, but the political power of the union in that state was of such strength that the people had to bear them without recourse to due process of law. If there was ever a time when the Federal Government had a duty to intervene, it was in this case.

It was the responsibility of the Governor of Wisconsin to call out the National Guard but he did not do so. He made no effort to settle the trouble with state troops as was done in Arkansas. The Administration might claim that in such a case, it was the responsibility of the Governor of Wisconsin to call on the Federal Government for help before it could send in federal troops. Actually, such an attitude would have been correct, except that it was plainly apparent to everybody that Wisconsin was making no effort to enforce the law at Kohler. The Administration waited on no such call in the case of Little Rock. In Little Rock, the law was being enforced in accordance with the responsibility of the State Government, but this made no difference to the Administration; it sent the federal troops right on in without being asked and without excuse.

The "law" doesn't seem to be the same to the Administration in all cases, whereas "politics" is always the same!

Mississippi Business Activity More Than 5% Above That Of Year Ago

Business activity in Mississippi during August was more than five per cent above that of a year ago, according to the current issue of "The Mississippi Business Review", the monthly publication of the Business Research Station here.

The total of claims for unemployment compensation in the state dropped in August 1957 some 18 per cent below that of July 1957. The figure was still nearly one per cent above that of August 1956. The total of employment placements rose four per cent above that of July 1957 and stood five per cent above that of August 1956.

In August 1957, total tax collections by the state amounted to $7,297,098. This sum is an increase of above three per cent as compared with that of August 1956.

Sale tax collections in August totaled $4,450,345, seven per cent above August 1956. On the timber severance tax, the state collected $42,882 in August, about 23 per cent less than in August 1956.

The oil severance tax brought to the state 4641,473, almost nine per cent greater than in August 1956. Revenue coming by way of the gas severance tax in August 1957 was $105,786, a drop of four per cent as compared with August 1956.

Fifteen of the sixteen trade areas showed increased business activity over August 1956. The increases by districts were Clarksdale, 5 per cent; Columbus, 7 per cent; Corinth, 13 per cent; Greenville, 1 per cent; Greenwood, 17 per cent; Hattiesburg, 7 per cent; Jackson, 1 per cent; Laurel, 14 per cent; McComb, 8 per cent;

Memphis, 7 per cent; Meridian, 6 per cent; Natchez, 3 per cent; Pascagoula, 15 per cent; Tupelo, 5 per cent and Vicksburg, 5 per cent. The single decrease of 1 per cent occurred in the Biloxi-Gulfport district.

The comparison with July 1957 showed eleven district gains and five losses.

56 Miss. Motorists Perished In Auto Accidents Last Mo.

Mississippi's 1957 highway death toll remains down despite a slight increase in September traffic fatalities.

Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarbrough states that 56 Mississippi motorists perished in automobile accidents last month. This was an increase of three deaths over the 53 killed in September 1956.

The death toll for the year (as of October 1) stands at 358 killed. During the corresponding period last year, 389 persons died in auto accidents.

Despite this reduction of 13 deaths, the Highway Patrol head expressed concern regarding the present pattern of state highway accidents.

The Patrol reports a sharp increase in one-car accidents during September; accidents which Commissioner Scarbrough states, "all too often involve excessive speed and negligence." One-car accidents account for more than 50 per cent of the state's highway dead.

To surpass last year's near-record highway slaughter, state traffic accidents will have to cost exactly 200 lives during the next three months. This could very easily happen, according to Commissioner Scarbrough, unless motoring Mississippians observe the rules of good driving safety.

Mrs. Finch read the minutes and Mrs. Stormont gave a financial report.

A tasty salad with coffee or coke was served.

Fall Calves Gain More On Grazing Than On Grain

State College, Miss.—Tests are underway at the North Mississippi Branch Experiment Station at Holly Springs to determine if an acre of good winter pasture will winter a cow and profitably produce a fat calf ready for market by about the middle of May. Superintendent S. P. Crockett says average results for the past three years have been favorable.

Uniform grade Hereford cows, bred to calve in the fall, are used in the test. Cows in one lot were fed silage, cottonseed meal and hay. Their calves were creep-fed crushed corn and cottonseed meal. Cows in this lot gained 25 pounds each. Their calves gained 1.68 lbs. daily for a total of 224 pounds. Net profit was $20.06 per calf.

The other lot grazed ryegrass, with one acre allotted per cow and calf. Cows were limited to 6 hours daily grazing but calves grazed at will by means of creep openings in the fence. Cows in this lot gained 82 pounds. Calves gained 257 pounds, averaging 1.97 pounds daily gain. They made a net profit of $53.33 per calf.

Mr. Crockett points out that it is not necessary for cows to gain 82 pounds per head during the winter, as did those on ryegrass. He believes the grazing period could be reduced to 4 hours daily without harmful effects. This would leave more grass for other purposes.

es and might therefore add to the advantage of winter grazing as compared to creep feeding.

The report of this cow-and-calf winter grazing test is published in the October issue of Mississippi Farm Research, available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

Due to late calving neither group reached desirable market weight by the end of the test. The cows have been bred earlier this year in an effort to make calves average at least 500 pounds at sale time.

Newspaper Advertising Costs Less Than Employees According To Many

Detail advertising carries benewhich may be just as impor-
to some merchants increased volume. One valuable effect of good advertising is the increase efficiency of a retail operation.
The manager of a booming chain supermarkets in Ohio says that would have to more than doub-his employment costs if newspaper advertising were not available.

"The supermarket would not be an efficient method of retailing if advertising did not carry a big part of the sales burden. The supermarket is able to buy with little expense because she is acquainted with her products and prices
when she arrives," the grocery executive said.

"When we evaluate our advertising, we always consider the fact that it would take an army of salesmen to handle the questions which can be answered in one newspaper advertisement."
These comments do not apply supermarkets alone. Advertising reduces selling time in any type of store. The potential buyer of an advertised product is always presently sold when he enters a store where he knows what he wants and where he can get it.
In fact, when man-hours are converted to dollars, newspaper advertising is practically free as compared to the cost of personal selling.

Girl Scout Troop 2 Under New Leadership

Girl Scouts of Troop 2 met at the Methodist Church on Monday afternoon of this week for their first fall meeting of the year.
Troop 2 is sponsored by the Thursday Study Club and will be under the direction of Mrs. Elmus Tucker and Mrs. Brandon Edmondson, new leaders, who have graciously consented to devote their time and efforts to working with the girls. This troop was formerly under the leadership of Miss Cora Lee Glenn and Mrs. Wayne
Glenn.

The meeting Monday was under the direction of Mrs. Spinks. She introduced Mrs. Herman Gann, who gave a most interesting and informative program on first aid.

Mrs. Gann began with the definition of first aid and then using the children as patients gave detailed instructions on how to make a tourniquet, a device for compressing a blood vessel to stop bleeding or control the circulation of blood to some part of the body.
Such as, a bandage twisted about a limb to stop the flow of blood.
For this, Mrs. Gann used an ordinary stocking and a stick.

In closing Mrs. Gann mentioned briefly different phases of first aid she would like to take up with the girls, stressing the value of being able to render first aid when it is needed.

Those present who were members of Troop 2 last year were Nellie Ruth Murrah, Corrie Ruth Ramsey, Gloria Edmondson, Martha Carol Kitchens, Connie Curtis, Judy Gann, Patsy Norton, Mimi
Gaines, Alice Ludlam, Marie Dell
Bullard, Glenda Broughton, Jean
Ann Kimberly, Ann Holtsford,
Suzanne Pruitt, and Marcia, McRee.
New members present were Sylvia Monroe and Martha Lynn Vickers.
Nena Pruitt was registered as a new member.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, October 21, at 3:45 p. m., at the Methodist Church. Girls in this age group wishing to join the scouts are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Curtis or Mrs.
Edmondson or be present at the next meeting.

Study Shows How Good Cutting Can Improve Forests

State College, Miss.—Results of 2, Iuka.

Proudly announcing the arrival of a daughter are Mr. and Mrs.
Jimmy Tigner. The baby arrived on October 2, weighed 8 lbs. and has named June Lynne. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.
M. Tigner and maternal grandmother is Mrs. Charles Grisham, all of Iuka route.

good forestry practices have become apparent at the Coastal Plain Branch Experiment Station at Newton where a 213-acre plot is being used as a demonstration of practical forest management. The work began in 1949 and now the timber growth rate is more than twice the average in Mississippi and there is still opportunity for greater productivity.

The first inventory showed a sawtimber volume of 315,757 board feet of pine timber. Seven years later this volume was 523,323 board feet. When timber cut from the plot is considered this represents an annual growth of 260 board feet per acre per year. Pine pulpwood was measured at 124 cords on the first inventory and 459 on the second.

Sales in 1950 and 1955 removed 167,483 board feet of pine sawtimber, 36,335 feet of hardwood saw-timber, 183 cords of pine pulpwood & 26 cords of hardwood pulpwood.
Fifty-six pine and 168 hardwood fence posts were cut.

During the improvement cutting period net income from the forest has been calculated at $4.72 per acre per year, except for taxes which would vary in different counties. Pine sawtimber growth is now estimated to be worth $10-40 per acre per year.

Discussing results of this seven-year study, Arnold D. Lewis of the Experiment Station Forestry Department says, "The stocking that would give the best growth rate is not known, but it is much higher than the present average volume of 2,463 board feet of pine sawtimber per acre. While the growth rate is considerably less than can be achieved, this study shows that it is possible by following conservative cutting practices and other correct forest measures to increase productivity of forest land in Mississippi."

Mr. Lewis' report is published in the October issue of Mississippi Farm Research, available on request at the Experiment Station at State College.

Discusses Winter Business Outlook And Russian Satellite

By Roger W. Babson

Park, Miss. Oct. 17. During this year business has been stable, despite the fact that many industries which have encountered with which some are still having to contend. The total Physical Volume of Business is currently only a trifle below the high range of recent months, and a low percentage points below the first-quarter peak of the year to date. During the year, however, many businesses have shown a downward trend because of vacation absences. I expect business during the next months to be moderate, helped by the Russian orders have been coming in gradually, nearby weeks may see greater rush as the remainder of the plants change over to the production of 1958 cars. Appliance makers are also proceeding cautiously with respect to orders since sales have been disappointing so far this year. However, as inventories in these lines register declines, factory output should gradually trend up.

Construction Industry
Another major steel user, the construction industry, appears to have been taking a breather, although the latest month's figures show a more-than-seasonal rise after the disappointing earlier weeks. Work stoppages in the cement industry caused shortages of concrete products in some sectors. There are, however, more basic reasons for the slower pace in building, such as scarcity of money and the partial fulfillment of demand for housing. Sustaining strength, however, should be evident in public works, utilities, and road building.

Beyond the conundrum of what the consumer is going to do with his income, some consumer-expenditure plans are already being affected by lower expenditures by the Defense Department. Military cutbacks are beginning to affect whole communities which are largely dependent upon government contracts, such as aircraft workers and others employed in these towns dependent upon military payrolls. The Russian Satellite may, however, change all this.

What About Employment?
Those who are laid off will be less eager to spend and will hesitate to go further into debt; while those who remain on the payroll may become more cautious about spending. On the other hand, due to the long period of boom, the average consumer has become accustomed to an increasingly higher standard of living. And it is far harder to adjust one's tastes downward than to raise them upward. Higher wages are partly responsible for the continued rise in personal incomes. However, these increases in pay rates are a cause for concern to producers, since they add to the cost of doing business. Coupled with lower sales in certain lines, they further squeeze profits.

Conclusions

All in all, coming months should show a modest improvement over the lows of the summer months. But the degree of improvement is dependent on a revival of consumer expenditures, which in turn are affected by capital outlays and by changes in Government spending, which could be increased as a result of the Russian Satellite surprise. It may well be that all three factors have been merely hesitating in order to consolidate the gains of the past long boom. Much will depend upon advertising appropriations and the efficiency of selling.

County Agent news

Dairy Management

Mastitis is the dairyman's number one disease enemy. It cuts milk profits and causes the culling each year of good producers and good breeding animals.

This disease is caused by a bacteria, cuts or bruises on the udder. The most frequent cause of injury is the milking machine. Another major cause is chilled udders caused by cows lying on cold floors or cold ground.

Early detection is an important step in mastitis control. Use of a strip cup before each milking, and checking for swollen, reddened or painful quarters or hard spots in the udders are helpful in spotting the disease early.

To help keep mastitis out of your herd here are some points to remember: Wash and massage the entire udder before attaching the milking machine. Use warm water. Use a strip cup before each milking to check mastitis and stimulate milk let-down. Remove machine as soon as milking is completed. Prevent cows from becoming chilled and rid the barnyard of anything that might injure cows udder. Handle cows gently and never rush them, especially when they are getting up.

Raise your own mastitis-free replacements. If you must buy replacements, get a first calf heifer from a herd that is relatively free from mastitis.

Prevent spread of mastitis by rinsing teat cups and washing hands in chlorine solution between cows. Dip teats in antiseptic solution immediately after milking. Keep teat cup liners clean and in good working order.

If your herd becomes infected with mastitis, here is a suggested effective treatment:

Reduce feed, thus taking load off the udders. Milk frequently to reduce pressure and give udder tissue a better chance for self repair. Massage udder with stimulating liniment. Apply hot and cold packs or towels, but make sure the hot packs are not too hot.

In acute cases, consult a veterinarian.

Soil Testing

Now is the best time to get your soil tested for next spring planting.

If you wait until planting time gets here, you have waited too long. Your samples get caught in the rush and you don't get the fertilizer recommendations until too late.

Harvest Safety Pointers

Always read and heed danger or warning signs printed on farm equipment.

Never reach out to pull vines or weeds from a machine until all parts of the machine have stopped moving.

Never attempt to make any adjustment while machine parts are still moving.

Observe all safety suggestions in the operations manual furnished by the manufacturer.

IT PAYS TO LIME YOUR LAND

By HIRAM A. JONES
Work Unit Conservationist
USDA-SCS

If your pasture, hay or crop land has not had a heavy application of Basic Slag, or at least one ton of ground limestone per acre applied to it in the last two years, most likely, it needs liming now.

Thousands of dollars have been spent, by the farmers of Tishomingo county, for seed and for phosphate, nitrogen, and potash which have returned little or no profit simply because the land where the seed was planted or these fertilizers were applied need lime.

Lime costs very little. Vendors will deliver and spread the lime for the farmers. Where lime is needed it will far more than pay for the cost of purchasing and spreading.

Lime pays in many ways three of which are as follows: 1. Lime makes the phosphate and other fertilizer elements more beneficial to the plants. 2. Lime increases the plants nutritional value. Particularly, is this true for Legume hay, and pasture plants. 3. On most crops there is some increase in yield due to the lime. This increase is most noticeable in soybean yields.

Recently, I was on Mr. Bill Brinkley's farm and Bill was pointing out to me the spots where he failed to have lime applied under soybeans. Lime made the difference between success and failure in this field. Where no lime had been applied the soybeans were stunted, yellow, and have few beans on the stalks. Where lime had been applied the stalks were a beautiful dark green, very vigorous and well loaded with beans.

Cattle, and other livestock prefer hay and pasture plants that grow on limed land. Livestock eating hay or pasture plants grown on and properly limed are stronger and healthier than livestock eating hay or pasture plants grown on land low in lime.

How much lime your land needs can be determined by a soil test. This test will also give you information about other fertilizer elements such as phosphate & potash. This is one of the many excellent services your county agricultural agent gives to the farmers.

The one thing every farmer should do is to have his land tested and apply the kind and amount of fertilizer needed for the crop he plans to grow.

We, the local technicians for the USDA Soil Conservation service, are interested in protecting the land by covering it with useful plants from which farmers can earn a profit while conserving their soil. By applying the proper amount of lime to each acre when it is needed will pay the land owner in greater yield of quality crops which will cover the land and slow down erosion. Too, more water soaks into the ground and there is less run off where the land is covered with thrifty vegetation resulting from lime.

It pays to lime your land.

Miss Crawford Attends Southern T-B Conference

Miss Carlyn Crawford, State member of the Tuberculosis Association Board of Directors, attended the Southern Tuberculosis Conference held recently in Birmingham.

Three anti-tuberculosis groups held concurrent sessions at the Tutwiler Hotel where tuberculosis problems existing in the 16 Southern states area were discussed.

During the 3 day meet the Southerners learned where their Christmas Seal dollars have gone and will go. One speaker referred to the Christmas Seal Sale as being the Christmas Seal Bus, as money obtained through the sale of seals goes to operate the mobile unit.

94 per cent of the Christmas Seal Sale dollar is retained and goes to work in the local communities. Only 1/6 of the 6 per cent of the funds which go to the national office is channeled into research. But many associations sponsor local research programs. The annual Christmas Seal sale in this county is sponsored by the Lucy Rowe Study Club.

Highlighting the conference was a most interesting address delivered by General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines Ambassador to the United States. He told the association that "anything which drains the health of America helps Communism." He also discussed problems of international relations, emphasizing the importance of cooperation among the free nations of the world.

Miss Alabama Pageant beauties were co-hostesses at "open house" on Wednesday evening.

1958 Chevrolet To Be Shown October 31

The 1958 Chevrolet, reportedly the most spectacular model in the history of the company, will be introduced at dealer showrooms nationally Thursday, October 31.

E. N. Cole, general manager, disclosed the public exhibit date on the eve of a preview at which about 250 press, radio and TV editors will see the new line at the General Motors Proving ground.

"We sincerely believe this is one of the most interesting automobiles ever brought out by the industry," Cole said. "Every major part will show the results of an engineering job that began five years ago."

"The 1958 model became possible," continued Cole, "only through expanded and modernized facilities. It is the first car to have full advantage of the resources at our new Engineering Center. In addition, its production has involved considerably more new machinery and equipment than is normal for a model changeover."

Cole said the new car is already in production at the company's 11 assembly plants. An ample display stock is assured at retail points for the official three-day introduction starting October 31.

Hutchins, executive officer of the board, said the infestation was in Walthall county. He theorized the worms may have been blown into Mississippi by hurricane Audrey earlier this year. The worms were found on two farms near the Louisiana border. Under board no raw cotton, cottonseed or okra are being allowed to leave the area. Every year, Mississippi establishes quarantine stations at all points of entry into Mississippi from Louisiana and Arkansas to prevent immigration of the dreaded cotton pest.

Use Precautions In Painting Toys For Children

A news release from New York recently implied great danger of poisoning from paint on toys manufactured in Japan and now on the market in Mississippi.

The State Board of Health has collected samples of some of these toys and determined the lead content of the paint on them.

"It was found by laboratory analysis that the several toys examined had from 3 to 20 per cent lead in the paint," reports Dr. A. L. Gray, Director of Preventable Disease Control.

Said Dr. Gray: "There may be some danger from this paint, but only when a considerable amount is swallowed. So long as the paint is not peeling or the child does not scrape it off with the teeth in gnawing, it would not be considered as being of material danger. It should be remembered that most paint inside and outside homes and on other painted articles contains some lead."

Dr. Gray pointed out that as a safety precaution the State Board of Health recommends that paints containing a lead base not be used when refinishing furniture, toys, or anything else babies and small children are likely to put in their mouth.
