On Monday of this week, the troop left Somers Canoe Base in Ely, Minnesota, for a 9-day trek into Canadian Canoe country. The boys were divided into groups of 10 Scouts, a Scoutmaster, and a guide. Each day they map their own route. Scouts and leaders alike receive wonderful experience on these Canadian Canoe expeditions.

In Shooting Fray

Three of Iuka's night policemen were involved in a shooting fracas early Sunday morning with two receiving slight wounds. Herman Stringer, a new employee of the city, received the most painful wounds when he was shot in the leg with a shotgun. J. A. (Red) Coker received a couple of shotgun pellets in the face. Clarence Brown, other policeman, was not hit.

Accused of doing the shooting and in Tishomingo county jail is Buecie Adams who gives Cherokee, Ala., as his address. Others accused with Adams are W. L. Parrish and Oran H. Nunley, both of Tishomingo county.

The incident occurred early Sunday morning about 1:30. Adams, it is reported, was on highway 72 near the Jones subdivision brandishing a shotgun at passing motorists, attempting to get someone to stop. The officers were notified and proceeded to investigate. When they arrived on the scene Adams was standing alongside the accused's car. The police car pulled in behind it and Stringer started to get out. When he did Adams fired. Immediately after the shot Adams laid the gun on the fender of the car and police proceeded with the arrests.

Charges filed against the three include assault with intent to kill. Hearing was held Monday before Justice of the Peace J. J. Parker who set bond on each at $10,000. The case was carried over to Circuit Court to await action by a grand jury.

Parrish has made bond. Adams remains in jail and Nunley has been transferred to a hospital.

Annual Boys' Conservation School

Team Of 4 Boys From County Being Selected By County Committees

The 21st Annual Boys Conservation School, sponsored by the Mississippi Forestry Association, will be held this year during the week of July 31 through August 4, at Roosevelt State Park near Morton, it was announced by Wayne Burrage of Louisville, State Chairman of the Boys Conservation School.

Boys from 64 hill counties will converge on the group camp at the state park to receive instruction in wildlife, forestry, and soils along with ample helpings of recreational and other activities.

Boys are being selected from the 8th, 9th and 10th grades and will receive instruction from professional and trained personnel from state and federal agencies and private industries.

"There has always been a great deal of interest shown by everyone concerned in the Boys Conservation School since its beginning in 1941", Burrage said, and this year is no exception. We are expecting one of the biggest and best schools in every phase of activity in the history of the Boys Conservation School."

Boys are being selected by county committees made up of the County Agent, as chairman, Area Forester, Game Warden and Vocational Agriculture teacher on the basis of the boy's interest in at least one of the three phases of instruction backed by actual work and accomplishments in one of the three fields. A team of four from each county is being selected.

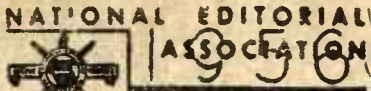

Burrage said two separate Boys each year, one for Delta and part-Delta counties and this particular one for hill counties. The reason for holding two schools is the decided difference in conservation methods and conditions in the 2 sections of the state.

Burrage said that team and individual awards will be presented to winners on the last day of the school.

SHADES OF YESTERYEAR—Time and weather did for this century old Mississippi road what construction equipment of the day could not. The deep cut is in a Mississippi hill section.

HIGHWAYS and PROGRESS

Early Equipment No Match For Modern Highway Construction

Part Two—Horses and Buggies

To The Twenties

Take a ride down a modern, new highway. Note the wide shoulders, the easy curves and long sight distances. Even though surrounding terrain may be rugged, the highway flows smoothly across the countryside.

Contrast this with an old gravel road, narrow, winding, following uphill and down the way nature laid out the hills and valleys. Mississippi has plenty of both types—the modern road built by veteran highway engineers, contractors and giant machines which pay little heed to obstacles; and the gravel and dirt roads which grew out of ancient trails.

Horse and Buggy Roads

A century ago, highway engineering was a matter of finding the most practical route that a horse and buggy could travel—a ridge line very likely, with circuitous detours for obstacles. Mississippi's topography made it impractical to follow section lines and there was no thought of such modern-day times as standards, traffic needs, programs, systems and other considerations.

The travel habits of people were different. Many spent a lifetime without venturing farther from home than the county seat. Steamboats still carried most of the freight. Inland, a few railroads were replacing the old ox-wagon supply trains.

NOW'S THE TIME to save more truck dollars on the more-for-your-dollar trucks!

Your truck dollars are worth a whole lot more at your Chevrolet dealer's right now! First off, you get a head start on saving because summer's the saving season. Then, with a harder working, easier riding Chevy truck, you're set to save every mile you haul. And, finally, at trade-in time, you can expect an extra dividend because of Chevy's traditionally higher resale value. What could be better?

Summer's the season to get extra mileage from your dollars on the trucks built to give you extra miles of hauling. With Independent Front Suspension, Chevrolet trucks keep going thousands of miles longer because far less destructive jar and shake are transmitted through the truck. Chevy I.F.S. trucks work harder, too, in areas where other trucks have to be pampered. And, with Chevy's wide choice of thirty 6 and hardy V8 power, you can tailor your truck exactly to your job. HOSTS AND GUESTS—Among the hosts and some of the guests at the Iuka Shirt Company picnic held Sunday, July 9 on Goat Island in Pickwick Lake were, left to right, Max Glaser, owner of the plant and host, Mr. and Mrs. Lackey, Mrs. Harry Cosby and son, and Mrs. Max Glaser.

IN CHOW LINE—Shown here are a group of employees and their guests as they formed in chow line to partake of the bountiful meal that was served at noon during the Iuka Shirt Co. annual summer picnic. Fried chicken was the main course and there was a tremendous amount of food on hand for the event.

VISITOR FROM FULTON — A visitor in Iuka and a guest at the Iuka Shirt Co. picnic was Miss Emory McNeese of Fulton. Miss McNeese is a niece of Mrs. Dalton Cooper.

Road-building equipment at that time left much to be desired. Horse drawn scrapers, shovels and other hand tools would have made little impact on a modern highway plan.

Introduction of the automobile in the early 1900's brought about a new interest in roads. Macadamized and other hard surface types began replacing the dirt, plank and charcoal. Stone, gravel, chert, slag, brick and combinations of these materials, although unobtainable in some sections of the state, were used in increasing quantities.

During the first 16 years of the 20th century, the number of automobiles increased from 20 to 24,000 while the number of trucks increased from 10 in 1908 to 1,000 in 1916.

First Commission

Despite the growing number of automobiles, roads were still a local problem when the Mississippi Legislature met in 1916. The first act authorizing a state highway commission was passed that year, and a short time later, the United States Congress approved the first federal aid appropriation. These two developments broadened the scope of highway planning and construction, and paved the way for our present system of highways.

The original Federal Aid Act also set up the partnership between federal and state governments which has characterized road construction since then. The federal grants provided up to 50 per cent of the cost of rural roads, with appropriation divided among the states on the basis of mileage.

Initial Appropriation

The first state appropriation to the Mississippi State Highway Commission was $6,500 to cover operations for a two-year period. Initially, the duties of the Commission involved only the division of federal funds among the counties, and advising with the boards of supervisors on road matters.

A 1920 law broadened the scope of the Commission's work slightly, and increased its membership from three to eight. During the same year, the Commission began work with the Boards of Supervisors in planning a system of state highways.

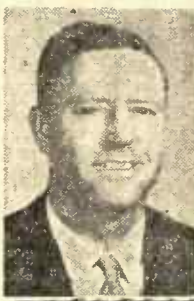

The 1922 Legislature authorized the first gasoline tax which was a levy of one cent per gallon. The revenue was divided 40 per cent to the State Highway Fund and 60 per cent to the county where the monies were collected.

The year 1924 brought about the first steps in the direction of a state-wide highway system when the constitution was amended to permit the legislature to designate highways and place them under the supervision of the Highway Commission.

By 1925, the state-maintained highway system had grown to 2,632 miles and the newly approved federal aid system totaled 3,386 miles.

Then, three years later, the highway program in Mississippi faced the threat of a set back. The federal government announced that the state was not within requirements to qualify for federal aid and that no allotments would be made after June 30, 1929.

This prompted Governor Theodore G. Bilbo into calling the state legislature into extraordinary session.

Pasture Notes

Want your pastures to be tops the rest of the summer? Sure you do! But it is going to take management to do the job.

Here are some things to do now: Clip all pastures that have not been clipped or sprayed. Manage Sudan and millet so that not over two hours grazing is done on an area that day.

Alternate grazing on permanent pastures. If possible, divide the pasture into four separate areas. Then graze no area more than a week without giving it a rest.

Put out lime at the rate of one ton per acre on all pastures that have not been limed within the past 5 years.

If you want early grazing from oats or other small grain, you had better start following some land now.

Fallowing does something that nothing else will in helping get early growth from the small grain.

Make quality hay. The quality means more than the tonnage. So cut the hay at the right time. . . when the first blooms show up. Then, if possible, run it through a hay conditioner.

Cotton Lay-By

When cotton is 18 to 24 inches tall, it is lay-by time. Cultivate the middles clean. Then apply lay-by chemical. It will pay to also treat the turnrows. Then if grass comes through on the turnrows, run the bush hog or rotary stalk cutter before harvest.

Use Karmex chemical. It requires one and a fourth pound of Karmex 80 per cent wettable powder to get one pound of active material. Mix this with water and keep it agitated. The amount of Karmex to use per acre will vary with the type soil you have.

Do not plant small grains or winter legumes in treated fields following harvest of cotton. Don't plant soybeans in such treated fields even the following year.

Little is known about the residual effect of this herbicide, so be sure to follow all precautions on the label.

Farm Safety Week

Too many people are killed and injured on farms. The number is growing. . . farming is now the most dangerous occupation and in numbers of annual deaths, it rates third.

National Farm Safety Week, July 23-29, would be a good starting time to help reduce the number of farm accidents. Check your farm and remove accident hazards. For more details on what you and your neighbor can do to help, call on your local county agent. His telephone number is 6380 or 6483.

LAST LINE: Curiosity did not kill the cat! It kept him alert, alive and interested!

Home Agent Notes

By Dianne Francis
Tishomingo County Home Demonstration Agent Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service

Let's make this a "peachy" column this week. Peaches are plentiful now. Our Mississippi peach crop is bigger this year than it was last year.

Peaches fit into July meals—on cereal for breakfast, atop ice cream for dessert or as a between meal snack for hungry-out-of-school boys and girls.

Let's enjoy peaches now while they're fresh—and do some planning to have them frozen, canned, pickled and jammed in out-of-season months. As a guide in your planning to stretch the peach season year round, provide 5 pints of canned or frozen peaches for each member of your family.

When you are picking or buying peaches, you can plan on getting a quart of canned peaches from 2 to 3 pounds of fresh peaches. There are about 4 medium peaches to a pound.

You can keep frozen peaches from 8 to 12 months and expect them to keep their best quality. If you freeze either baked or unbaked fruit pies, keep them at the most 3 to 4 months.

Selecting Peaches

Look for peaches with creamy, yellow background color. These ripened evenly. Peaches with a green undertone may shrivel before they ripen. The yellow background color is more important than blush or pink color, as it varies with the variety.

Freezing Peaches

In preparing peaches for freezing, use one-fourth teaspoon citric acid or ascorbic acid for each pint of peaches to prevent browning. Mix the acid in the dry sugar you use to coat the peach slices. Sort and peel firm, ripe, richly colored peaches. Halve or slice. Pack in sugar, using 5, 4, or 3 cups of peaches to 1 cup of sugar. Seal, label and freeze.

THERE WAS WATERMELON, TOO—Shown here enjoying the melon is Kelly Frederick who is an employee of Iuka Shirt Co. Inc. Among others in the picture are Mrs. Dalton Cooper and Mrs. Myrtle Walker, Su Lambert, and Mrs. Borden. Floyd was winner of a year's parking permit in Iuka number of other prizes were given during the day. Prizes furnished by the merchants of Iuka.

Fresh Peach Upside Down Cake

Sprinkle bottom of a 9-inch square cake pan with brown sugar and butter or margarine. Place in preheating oven until butter melts. Arrange sliced fresh peaches in rows, close together, in the brown sugar mixture.

Four yellow or white cake batter over the peaches. Use your favorite recipe or a mix. Bake according to directions in the cake mixture recipe.

Let the cake stand about 10 minutes before inverting into a serving plate. Serve warm or cold, with whipped cream or ice cream.

Peach Jam, Preserves, Pickles

You will find directions for making jam, preserves and pickles in Extension Service Publication 220. Call 6320 or write your Home Demonstration Agent, 126 South Pearl, Iuka, for a copy of this bulletin. The title is "Jams, Jellies, Preserves, Pickles and Relishes". It gives recipes for many other favorites made from other fruits and vegetables in season.

Mrs. Charles Winford Burns Norma Wells, Charles Burns Wed In Lovely Ceremony April 9 In Florence

In a mid-afternoon ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Florence on Sunday, April 9, the Reverend J. B. Burns, Jr., of Maud, Ala., read the marriage vows for Norma Jean Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Wells of Florence, and his brother, Charles Winford Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burns of Maud.

Music for the wedding occasion was presented by Mrs. Albert Lasslett.

An arch, centered with wedding bells and flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli marked the altar space, and groupings of greenery formed the background.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle, complemented with lace mitts.

The neckline was square, the sleeves brief, and the skirt was designed with a deep full flounce of tulle sweeping from the upper section of lace.

The headpiece to which her veil of tulle was caught was also of lace, jeweled with pearls and crystals, and her bouquet was a purple-throated white orchid encircled with white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Fred Tosh of Mt. Vernon, Indiana, was honor attendant for her sister, and her little daughter, Donna Jean, was flower girl. Regina Dugger Lassiter of Mobile and Betty Woodruff of Moulton were bridesmaids. The adult attendants wore ice blue waltz length dresses; Donna Jean's sash of that color girdled the ruffled white frock she wore. Their flowers were white carnations fringed with ice blue net.

The bridegroom's brother, Montroy R. Burns of Sheffield, was his best man. The bride's brother, Horace W. Wells of Pascagoula, Miss., and Robert Green of Birmingham were ushers.

For the wedding and the reception immediately following in the Fellowship Hall of the church, Mrs. Wells wore blue with matching accessories; Mrs. Burns, mother of the bridegroom, was in beige with pink accessories.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Fred S. Wells, Jr., Mrs. Robert Hinz of Huntsville, Miss. Regina Mitchell of Birmingham, Mrs. Homer England, Mrs. C. E. Jessup and Miss Kenelia Thetford.

For traveling, the bride changed to an ensemble of Dior blue with matching jacket and accessories. After their wedding trip, the couple are making their home in Birmingham.

The lovely mid-afternoon wedding of Miss Kenelia Ann Thetford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thetford of Bradford, Tenn., and the Rev. J. B. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Burns of Maud, Alabama, was solemnized June 18 at the Idlewild Baptist Church in Idlewild, Tenn. The Rev. Dennis Knott of Garland, Tennessee, uncle of the bride, and the Rev. Robert Forester of Columbus, Miss., read the marriage vows.

Music for the occasion was presented in a most meaningful manner by Mrs. Gerald Neville of Bradford, Tenn., as organist and Mrs. Robert Forester of Columbus, Miss., as vocal soloist.

The setting for the double-ring ceremony was centered by an arch flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli. Five seven branched candelabra bearing burning white tapers and groupings of greenery completed the background.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza. The bodice of the gown was fashioned of the organza with a low neckline and long pointed sleeves. The gathered skirt was complimented by a brush train.

The headpiece to which her veil of tulle was caught was also of silk organza, and her bouquet was a yellow-throated white orchid encircled with stephanotis.

Miss Sue Lynn Boone of Bradford, Tenn., was honor attendant and little Miss Teresa Hampton was flower girl. Miss Joyce Cary and Miss Linda Miles of Bradford, Tenn., and Miss Suzanne Wilbanks of Williamston, Michigan, were bridesmaids. The honor attendants wore aqua waltz length dresses of embroidered silk organza. Their flowers were yellow-centered white daisies.

Serving as groomsmen were Ben Waddle of Maud, Ala., as best man, Montroy R. Burns of Sheffield, Ala., and Charles W. Burns of Birmingham, Ala., brothers of the groom, and Jerry Thetford of Bradford, Tenn., brother of the bride, as ushers. Allen Rutledge Burns, nephew of the groom of Sheffield, was ring bearer.

For the wedding and reception, Mrs. Thetford, mother of the bride, wore blue with white accessories and Mrs. Burns, mother of the groom, wore beige with pink accessories.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a ballerina length dress of Chantilly lace over bridal satin. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline of hand clipped lace atop a full bouffant skirt. She wore lace palm gloves. White glads, bells and fern were used in creating a perfect setting for the cutting of the traditional tiered wedding cake by the bride and groom. Misses Brenda Parker and Dottie Davis assisted in serving. Peg Grobe, the bride's youngest sister, presided at the guest register. She chose for the occasion a pale blue dress of embroidered cotton.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left on their honeymoon of an unknown destination. The bride wore a sheath jacket dress of hot pink linen with a matching pillbox hat. Her accessories were white and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet pinned at the shoulder.

Another advantage of an electric range — at no extra cost — is that it keeps your kitchen up to 10° cooler than any other cooking method; meaning, you'll stay pert and alert to enjoy the meal along with your family. Of course there's plenty of heat for thorough cooking, but the heat penetrates directly into your pots and pans, doesn't leak out into your kitchen.

Yes, you'll know the difference when you begin cooking cool... electrically.

HI GANG!

Can you imagine, in about 5 weeks school will start? We're gonna have to get on the ball if we're gonna do anything else this summer. Just think there will be a batch of new Seniors and a new batch of Freshmen for the Seniors to get their hands on. . . . That glorious day they set aside called "Freshmen Day".

FLASH! The new Chieftain Annuals have arrived. . . . We have been having a time looking at mine. . . . Everyone looks great, especially Iuka High's Most Beautiful, Martha Carol Kitchens. . . . Those of you who have not as yet gotten yours may pick them up at school Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

While on the subject of Annuals and School, one familiar face and figure will be missed, come this fall. . . . and that is, Gloria Edmondson. . . . Gloria will be leaving Iuka the first of August with her family who are moving to Nashville. . . . The Edmondsons have lived in Iuka nearly 6 years. . . . Gloria has taken part in many of the activities at IHS and her services and loyalty are going to be missed. The past year she was a majorette in the Iuka High School band; was chosen best dressed girl; named 1961 heart queen; she was an attendant in the homecoming court; Science Club officer and member of the FHA. . . . Last year she was chosen class favorite and band sweetheart. . . . In the Tishomingo Co. Forestry Queen Contest for junior girls, she was selected second alternate. . . . Maybe Glo will come back for a week end sometime. I suggest Homecoming at IHS.

Had a nice chat with Jane Gist the other day and she said that she would be getting her teeth pretty soon. . . . You know Jane lost a number of teeth in a car wreck about 2 months ago. . . . Dee Shook already has her new teeth and they are so natural looking that you would never guess otherwise. . . . There's gonna be so many kids running around school this fall with false teeth that it will be so hard to tell who has them and who hasn't. . . . Reck on Mrs. Carter will have to work out a special menu?

Naomi McBride spent a few days with Martha Jane Bonds last week. . . . Charlotte Presley spent last week visiting friends and relatives in Memphis. . . . Suzanne Pruitt visited friends and relatives in Sheffield. . . . Jean Ann Kimberley attended a charm school held at Ole Miss last week end. . . . Say! We had better watch that girl.

Batons have really been flying around here since the girls returned home Friday from the 9th annual Dixie National Baton Twirling Institute held on the Ole Miss Campus. . . . Among the 700 students attending the camp this summer were Gloria Edmondson, Martha Dee Shook, Martha Carol Kitchens, Corrie Ruth Ramsey, Pat Summers, Susan Edmondson, Deanna Foote, Sandra Carr, Judy Gann, Martha Lynn Vickers, Mimi Gaines and Nellie Murrah. . . . Gloria, Pat and Judy participated in the "Miss Majorette" contest. . . . Congratulations to Pat Summers who placed 4th in the state contest. Also a big bouquet to Gloria Edmondson who placed 1st in the beauty revue. . . . Contestants were judged on their twirling routines, beauty and popularity.

Wow, I bet the chatter really flew last night in one of the cabins at Eastport. . . . Rosaland Mower, Faye Carmichael, Pat Hyneman, of Memphis, Judy Holtsford, Glenda Foote, Dot Foote of Florence, and Ruth Thomas of Selmer spent the night in one of Bryce's cabins. . . . They all came in for Wednesday night worship services after devouring a most delicious picnic supper. . . . This event was in celebration of Faye's birthday.

Til next week, this is Ann-o-o sayin'—See ya round!

Women Friends

Lesson for July 23, 1961

IT IS a big mistake to suppose that a man cannot make friends with a woman without getting tangled up in romance. Too many good men have had long-trusted women friends who never wanted romance. A prime illustration is in the story of Jesus.

Our Lord seemed remarkable to his contemporaries in many ways, and among these was the fact that although a teacher of religion, he did not hesitate to make friends of women as well as men. The official teachers of religion, the Pharisees, leaned over backward never to be friendly with women. Some of them were even called "bleeding Pharisees," getting their foreheads banged up by running into trees and poles with their eyes shut tight for fear of seeing a woman!

He Gave Them Time

Jesus, let it be said again, never was "entangled" with any woman. His worst enemies would have liked, no doubt, to smear his reputation, but he never gave them the least chance. But Jesus did have some warm friends who were women, among these the best-known to us being Mary, and Martha of Bethany. He never brought them flowers nor any usual presents. Yet he did give them what friends always desire, and so made his friendship with these two women a kind of model for friends everywhere and always. First of all, he gave them time. He had nothing to get out of them, he did not need to convert them for they were already his loyal believers and friends. He spent time in their home just sitting and talking, he went to at least one dinner party there. Friendship calls for leisure, it will not ripen in a hurry.

PAT DANIEL CELEBRATES 8th BIRTHDAY

Pat Daniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Daniel, celebrated her eighth birthday Monday afternoon by having a few of the neighborhood children over to her grandmother's home for cake and

He Gave Them Understanding

Men, women and children are all alike in wanting to be understood. Understanding some one else is simply (only it's not simple!) a matter of putting yourself in the other person's place, seeing and feeling as he sees and feels. This is particularly difficult when a man tries to understand a woman, and vice versa, just for the reason that a man can never really be a woman nor she a man. Men, to save the trouble of trying to understand, too often think that romance is a fair substitute, which of course it isn't. Even romance without understanding "goes phhhht," soon enough. Now Jesus understood Martha and Mary. They had different temperaments, these sisters. Jesus never suggested that Martha should be another Mary, nor Mary another Martha. Jesus knew what they were like. He knew what to say to each one. In the most embarrassing situations, as when Mary broke upointment over Jesus' head, other people might laugh or feel indignant, but not Jesus. He could understand why it had been done. He knew what was in Mary's heart.

He Gave Them Help

Jesus gave these two friends of his what cannot well be given without understanding,—namely help. Trying to help some one we do not understand is wasted effort. Jesus did not help these women with money. They were evidently better off than he, who had "no place to lay his head." But he gave them help that was longer-lasting and no doubt more cherished than financial or physical help could have been. How can the poor help the rich? They can help only if they have something those they wish to help do not have. This was the case there at the home of Martha and Mary. Their time of sore trouble came with the death of their only brother, Lazarus. Jesus gives the sisters help on the deepest level. It would have been astounding news, and most welcome besides, if Jesus had said to them simply, "Do not cry. Your brother is going to come back to life." Instead of telling them he is about to perform a mighty miracle, possibly the only one in that town,—instead of saying "Your brother will be back again," he says, "I am the resurrection and the life." To know what that meant, and to respond to it as Martha did, is to receive help that never grows less.

The cake was cut and served on the patio to Susan and John Castleberry, Linda and Lisa Flurry, and Martha Lynn Ables, and Cindy and Reid Joseph of Austin, Texas.

Pat received a number of attractive gifts.

Travis Dexter of Memphis spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Lorene Dexter and family.

State Home Demonstration Clubs State Home Demonstration Clubs work for a better way of life. In addition to the program which interest every homemaker—sewing, cooking, home management, gardening and others—club members engage in various civic activities as a part of their community life. Members carry out a wide variety of useful projects, also adding the study of public affairs and other service activities to their scope of concern.

Bridge Building for Mississippi Bridge building is big business in Mississippi. Spread over the state's 9,000-mile highway system are almost 3,600 bridges, from a few months to more than 60 yrs. old. A few of the old wood bridges are still in use, but are disappearing rapidly. $50 million have been spent in the last few years for bridge construction in Mississippi. That amount completed 500 bridges, with 177 finished last year.

Developing Timber Resources Mississippi is in a favorable position to obtain new and expanded wood-using industries, and to develop abundant timber resources. Mississippi's woodland ownership is well diversified, under management of some 133,000 landowners. Mississippi has the climate, soil, rainfall, and tree species highly conducive to quality timber production. Mississippi was one of seven states to plant more than 100,000 new acres of timber in 1960.

The Influence of Agriculture The profound influence of agriculture on Mississippi's economy goes far beyond the farm. Booming industries transport, process and distribute farm products throughout the entire nation. In doing so, these transporters, processors and distributors utilize thousands of man-days and millions of dollars of capital for plants, equipment and operating expenses.

THE OLD RULE FOR VACATIONERS—take half as much clothing as you think you'll need and twice as much money—still stands, but with an important addition. Make sure the money is in the form of travelers' checks you can buy at your bank, spend anywhere around the world. Get checks in small enough denominations so small shopkeepers, service stations, restaurants can cash them conveniently, and so you won't be stuck with more cash than you can afford to lose.

AN IMPORTANT MEDICAL ADVANCE was made some years ago by forgetting to feed a dog his regular meal. At the time, a medical researcher was trying to visualize the gall bladder of a dog by way of x-ray examination. This had never been successfully done. But for some miraculous reason, on this particular occasion, it worked. After investigating, the doctor found it had worked only because the animal caretaker had forgotten to feed the dog that day. If he had fed the dog, the gall bladder would have discharged the injected dye. Food wasn't given, and the dye was retained and was shown on the x-ray film. That was in 1923. To this day the same basic procedure is used, with refinements. Now, the radiologist, or x-ray specialist, simply tells you not to eat before the examination.

Ordinary Things

Nothing is more common place or familiar to all of us than water, air, sunshine and soil. Yet nothing is so important to each of us for these four things make life possible on this earth.

Man has no control over sunshine or the air, but the landowners are the custodians of the soil and can, to a great extent, determine the amount of water that will run off across the soil or soak into it to be used at some future time.

Many of you older people remember when there were more streams and springs that flowed the year round than there are today. What has become of this water? Why have these streams stopped running the year round?
 Why during certain seasons do the springs quit flowing? The answer is simple.

The land does not contain much as it once did. We have as much rainfall but more of the water runs off the land than use to before the timber was cut, and the woods burned, and so much land cleared and put in cultivated crops. The water table is lower, not only is it here, but it is lower over the entire country. People who understand what this means is becoming disturbed about it.

At the present time experiments are underway to determine a cheap method of making ocean water suitable for human consumption. It can be done now but the cost is too great.

The reason I'm mentioning this is that the farmers who own and Says Today's Bread Is Better

Cleveland, O.—Grandmother's crusty bread was far behind today's enriched white bread in nutrients needed by individuals, according to Dr.
 Henry Borsook, nationally-known nutritionist.

Because of enrichment,
 "bread became far more nutritious than bread had ever been before,"

Dr. Borsook said. He is from the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

Enrichment is the addition of the B vitamins of ni-acin, thiamine, and riboflavin and the mineral iron to white bread and flour.

Dr. Borsook spoke at a special dinner held in connection with the annual convention in Cleveland of the American Home Economics Association.

The dinner was held to observe the 20th anniversary year of the enrichment program for white bread and flour. The enrichment program began in 1941.

Dr. Borsook said that grandmother's bread rated high in nostalgia but not in nutrition.
 Today's enriched white bread is greatly superior in its contributions of the B vitamins, iron and calcium.

He noted that enrichment is credited with definitely helping the general level of health in the United States as well as helping to all but wipe out certain vitamin deficiency diseases.

"Before the bread enrichment program, our white bread, as a result of the milling process, was on the low side in iron and in Vitamin B1 (thiamine)," Dr. Borsook explained.

"It didn't have much Vitamin B2 (riboflavin) to start with anyhow, and it was on the low side in niacin. Since it is immaterial what the source of an essential nutrient is, we recommended adding certain essential nutrients and now enriched white bread is a very nutritious food."

Dr. Borsook

work the land, can, by proper land use, not only conserve their soil, but they can cause a great deal more of the water which is rained upon the land to be soaked into the soil. Some of this will, of course, seep out but much of it will remain in the soil to be used by the plants. Last year was a very dry year and most farmers of Tishomingo County would well have used more soil moisture.

The Commissioners of the Tenn.
 River Soil Conservation District are interested in both soil and water conservation which can be accomplished through proper land use and land treatment. A simple two-year (conservation-type) crop rotation conducted for 8 years at Watkinsville, Georgia, station doubled the yield of spanish peanuts, caused twice as much water to soak into the ground and stopped three-fourths of the soil erosion.

 The treatment the farmers give their land and the practices they establish on it are simple. But these simple practices may be very far reaching and the results extremely important.

Soil and water are quite common, even, ordinary but we had better take heed to conserve them.
 It's later than you think!

Forestry Notes

By Larry Brewer
 Area Forester

Some people are of the opinion that the only way to put idle acres to work is by planting trees. This is not always true. In some instances there are already enough desirable seedlings established to make a good stand of timber if they were only released from undesirable competition. This forestry practice is far less expensive than planting, and ACP assistance is usually available for carrying it out. If there are not enough natural reproduction on the area seedlings may be planted under the existing stand and then later released.

There are many methods of peting hardwoods and several pieces of equipment have been developed for doing this work. There are also several chemicals on the market for controlling these cull trees and the ever present, dense underbrush.

The tree injector is probably the best piece of equipment for small landowners throughout this area to use for hardwood control.
 The injector can be used to apply a mixture of 1 part 2,4,5-T (4 lbs. acid per gallon equivalent) and 20 parts of deise to the base of the tree. The injections should be not more than one inch apart, edge to edge, and should also be as close to the ground line as possible.

Tests have shown that the tree injector with this mixture applied correctly will give kills of 95 per cent and better. The tree injector is also safe to use and time saving in comparison in girdling with an axe and then applying the chemical. The tree injector will also give the best kill.

New Albany WSCS Committee Meeting

The first executive committee meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the New Albany district was held Thursday, July 6, at the Booneville First Methodist Church. The district president, Mrs. Howard Hopkins, presided for the meeting and Mrs.
 N. N. Maxey, recording secretary, led the opening prayer.

Tentative dates for a series of subdistrict meetings were set up seeking to reach the local societies with information, plans, and inspiration for the new year. They were set up as follows: New Albany Subdistrict—August 3 at Ripley; Iuka Subdistrict—August 8 at Belmont; Corinth-Booneville Subdistrict—August 10 at Gaines Chapel. Registration begins at 9:30 for these meetings and a dish lunch will be served at the noon hour.

The group voted to have two Days Apart again this year to strengthen the spiritual lives of the members. Tentative dates and places selected for these were October 5 at Iuka and October 10 at Bethlehem (near New Albany).
 Mrs. Harry Boyd, secretary of Spiritual Life, will be in charge of these meetings.

Lists of local officers were

Child's Arm Turns Hard, Stony; Medical Treatment Slows Process

Christine Versluis, who is nine and lives on the shores of Lake Ontario at Hilton, N.Y., is unable to straighten her right arm because of rheumatoid disease.

Her arm and parts of both shoulders are becoming increasingly calcified, which means change of the muscle tissue into a hard stony substance.

This somber-faced child is the tragic victim of dermato-myositis, one of the forms of rheumatic disease. Another form is rheumatoid arthritis.
 The majority of people don't know that children suffer from arthritis; they believe mistakenly that arthritis affects only the aging—someone's grandfather or grandmother, surely not the very young.

But there is urgent reason today why grownups and parents especially should be intelligently informed about arthritis among children. Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of The National Foundation, whose expanded program embraces arthritis, birth defects and continued work in polio, said this week:

"Rheumatoid arthritis is a type that can make children very ill indeed. They may become severely crippled. Their joints may 'freeze.' Happily, we can now demonstrate today that with proper treatment and care, most of the crippling caused by juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can be prevented."

But the cardinal point, Dr.
 Clark emphasizes, is that thousands of children have rheu-matoid arthritis without knowing what the disease they suffer from really is. Their parents may dismiss the aching in neck, knees, wrists or elbows (or, more rarely, in all these joints simultaneously) as "growing pains," or for a variety of other reasons, the right diagnosis is not made.

"We now estimate that in the United States, more than 50,000 adults who suffer from rheumatoid arthritis had their actual onset of the disease in childhood," Dr. Clark added.
 "Had they received modern treatment at that time, most of the crippling in maturity could have been prevented. That's one reason why The National Foundation's program in arthritis and patient aid for the young is so significant."

Child victims of rheumatoid arthritis are estimated to total 30,000 in this country alone, with 16,000 a year ill enough to need medical care. About 5,000 or 6,000 of these may require treatment as intensive as the rehabilitation needed for those stricken by paralytic polio.

There are at least 11 millions in the nation today who suffer disease, including arthritis total about 1,500,000. The disease is the nation's No. 1 crippler.

To return to Christine, the little girl with the arm and shoulders turning into a stony element, she is receiving treatment at the March of Dimes-supported Arthritis Study Center at the University of Rochester School of Medicine—one of four National Foundation arthritis centers around the country. Her doctors hope they are slowing the advance of calcification but the outlook at this time is not certain.

Uncertainty, then, is the disquieting prospect facing this little girl. Her mother, Mrs.
 Eugene Versluis, hopes that if enough people support National Foundation research, perhaps in time Christine's right arm will fall back where it belongs and the stoniness will disappear; and that eventually the appalling figure of 30,000 children with crippling rheu-matoid arthritis each year will decline.

 discussed. Rev. G. H. Holloman, district superintendent, was present for part of the meeting and Mrs. R. L. Long, secretary of Youth Work, and Mrs. Joseph

Jim Pounders Is At Fort Jackson

Private Jimmy C. Pounders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge C. Pounders of Route 2, Dennis, has been assigned to Company C, 8th Battalion, 2nd Training regiment at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, for eight weeks of Basic Combat Training. This is his first phase of six months active duty training with the U. S. Army and a part of the obligation he incurred upon enlisting in the Army National Guard. His National Guard unit is Mississippi National Guard, 108th Div., Belmont, Miss.

He will be taught rifle marksmanship under the U. S. Army's TRAINFIRE program which enables the modern soldier to become a better rifleman in less time than previous methods. In this program, most of his training consists of firing his rifle at pop-up targets at unknown distances on terrain which duplicates combat areas. Other highlights of his intensive training include squad tactics, bayonet and hand-to-hand combat and crawling the infiltration course while machine gun fire is popping overhead. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

As a climax to this phase of training, he will march with his battalion in a review before the commanding general of Fort Jackson. This ceremony is witnessed by relatives and friends of the trainees who attend the "Open House" held by each company on graduation day.

Double-Quick Potato Salad

A molded potato salad can be whipped up in double-quick time for extra-easy summertime service. It's easy to make because now it's possible to make light, fluffy whipped potatoes in just two or three minutes, by using instant whipped potato flavor flakes. To make the "Easy Potato Salad" the Borden Kitchen-Way, just assemble the ingredients, mix, and set to chill. Serve when ready. To make it a full meal, offer piping hot biscuits made of packaged refrigerated dough, plus instant coffee which now comes with a distinctive percolated flavor.

Easy Potato Salad

(Makes 6-8 servings)

3/4 cups Instant Whipped Potatoes (flavor flaked form) 4 hard cooked eggs, diced 1 1/2 cups diced celery 1/2 cup chopped onion 2 tablespoons chopped parsley 1 cup mayonnaise tablespoon vinegar teaspoons prepared mustard 1 1/2 teaspoons salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Prepare Instant Whipped Potatoes following the package directions for making 8 servings, but omitting the butter. Let cool. Add the remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Mold, chill and garnish as desired.
