COUNTY FAIR OPENS MONDAY FOR 6 DAYS

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY—The pleasant smiles on the faces of those people shown here are true representations of the citizens of Iuka and Tishomingo county over the announcement that Genesco's Iuka shoe manufacturing plant will be enlarged fifty or more percent within the next few months. Pictured at the final meeting in which agreement was reached for the expansion are, seated, left to right, Herbert Biggs, supervisor, First District; H. Nelson Carmichael, vice president of Genesco; O. L. Wade, supervisor of the Third District and President of the Tishomingo County Board of Supervisors; and Russell Bonds, supervisor, Second District. Standing are, at left, Clyde Miller, superintendent of the Iuka plant; and Alver Belue, Mayor of Iuka. Within a few weeks an election will be held at which time a bond issue will be placed before qualified electors in the First, Second and Third districts to finance construction of 20,000 to 30,000 more square feet for the plant. Genesco has signed a contract agreeing to pay all the bonds and interest. With the expansion and with full employment the enlarged and expanded plant will employ over 600. Work on construction of the plant will begin as soon as the bonds are sold, with Genesco's big objective being to be making shoes in the new wing by next July.

Mississippi's soybean acreage is at an all-time high, up 19 per cent from last year. Oat production is up 14 per cent, and rice production is expected to be about 11 per cent higher than 1960. Some increase has also been noted in dairy output, broiler supply and cotton acreage.

Mr. Stricklen reports that, from all evidence, there will be a great increase in the number of beef cattle that will be on exhibit. Also in conjunction with the livestock exhibits will be a trained technician who can advise stock farmers on kinds of preventive livestock medicines and vaccines. An added exhibit this year, Mr. Stricklen states, is farm machinery which will be on display for the first time.

The famous L L Shows will furnish the carnival and side show attractions for fairgoers. These people have been to the Iuka fair in previous years and are known to be reliable, producing safe rides and other acceptable entertainment.

Big nights for entertainment at

Edward R. Harvey

Funeral services for Edward R. Harvey will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a. m., at the Iuka Methodist Church with the pastor, the Rev. Robert L. Long, officiating.

Mr. Harvey was best known to his many friends throughout this area for his deep Christian faith. His devout faith in God and mankind was the richest of all his possessions. He was a great lover of poetry and recited many of his best loved poems by memory. A poem, "I Need Not Fear," written by Mr. Harvey gave his philosophy of life.

Only survivors include his cousins, Mrs. Lillian Thomas of Coral Gables, Fla.; Mrs. Mary Vinson and Mrs. Irene Dunn, both of Cherokee; Irwin Weaver of Allsboro and Clyde Weaver of Cherokee.

"Anyone wishing to be on this program is urged to be present that night," Mr. Stricklen said. "We want all the good singers we can get and want to make this a really enjoyable night at the county fair," he stated.

Early Harvest Important

Effects Of Temperature And Humidity Measured In Stoneville Test

Early harvest is important for high quality cotton lint and seed. The effects of temperature and humidity have been measured in recent test at the Delta Branch Experiment Station at Stoneville. It was found that field exposure of 3 and 6 weeks caused a significant loss in seed quality over that observed at 1 week. Also, greater loss in seed quality occurred in the bottom and middle bolls of the plant when compared with those in the top.

Lint quality deterioration in nearly all cases corresponded to that of seed. Fiber strength was reduced when bolls were exposed from 3 to 6 weeks before they were harvested. Also, in irrigated cotton, fiber strength was less for the bottom crop than for the middle or top crop. Length of the fibers from the bottom crop was shorter than that from the middle and top crop. The best fiber color was realized when the open bolls were exposed only 1 week. It also appeared that the higher the boll in the stalk, the better the fiber color.

The complete report is published in the August issue of Mississippi Farm Research, available on request from the Experiment Station at State College. Authors are William P. Caldwell, of the Seed Technology Laboratory at Mississippi State University, and Rayburn E. Parker, USDA agricultural engineer working cooperatively with the Delta Station at Stoneville. They conclude from this study:

"It is evident that if one is to realize maximum fiber length, strength, and color, and overall seed quality, he should harvest as soon after the boll opens as possible."

First Sample Of Smith-Doxey Cotton Classed

The first sample of Smith-Doxey cotton for the season was classed on August 31. The bale was ginned by Phillips Gin, Calhoun City, Mississippi. The bale was classed Middling, 1-3/32 inches. Reports from ginners and farmers indicate picking and ginning should begin on a limited basis within the next week or 10 days. Reports also indicate that prospects for high yields are good at this time.

Demand was strongest for White Strict Low Middling Plus and Middling grades of 1-1/32 and 1-1/16 inches. Domestic mills purchased a greater volume for both prompt and deferred shipments than a week earlier but foreign mill buying continued at about the same rate.

Quotations were strengthened for a number of qualities on the Memphis, Little Rock, and New Orleans markets during the week ended August 31. Middling 1-1/16" cotton was quoted on the Greenwood and Memphis markets at 34.50 cents per pound. Little Rock market at 34.65 and on the New Orleans Market at 34.60 on September 1.

Memphis Spot Quotations by Selected Qualities September 1, 1961:

Strict Middling 1-1/16"	35.50
Middling 1-1/32"	33.75
Middling 1-1/16"	34.50
Strict Low Middling Plus 1-1/16"	34.00
Strict Low Middling 1-1/16"	33.00

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

There appears to be gathering force on Capitol Hill a growing but determined band of patriots bent on stopping the outflow of tax dollars to support and comfort the enemy.

For some time men such as Rep. John Dowdy of Texas have deplored the practice of the State Dept. whereby any nation that wants to dip into U. S. foreign give away funds only has to make protestations that C. W. Harder cumshaw is paid, they are going to have to go communist.

Recently Rep. Dowdy had bitter things to say about ransom negotiations that were carried on with Castro.

Although this venture was not launched as an official government project, it did highlight fact there are people in this country who are willing to negotiate blackmail.

And there are signs that Congress is getting more and more wary of letting the bureaucrats swing as much power as they have been doing. Rep. Richard Roudsbush of Indiana, said recently on the Edward Yellin case, "It is discouraging that government agencies need prodding by Congressional committees before they can act in flagrant cases involving persons whose loyalty to the U. S. is questionable."

Rep. Roudsbush was referring to the recent scene in Washington when the House Space Committee held hearings which forced the National Science Foundation to cancel the awarding of a $3,800 tax paid scientific fellowship to Edward Yellin, 33, a University of Illinois student.

In 1958, before a Congressional Committee, Yellin refused to say whether or not he was a communist. He was convicted of contempt of Congress, and the verdict was upheld by a U. S. Court.

Yet against this background, the bureaucrats of the National Science Foundation gave him a two year scholarship in advanced engineering and refused to rescind the error until forced by Congress.

There seems to be a tendency in certain professional education circles to brand any inquiry into a man's belief on communism as "anti-intellectualism."

This phenomena is a peculiarly American one. In Russia there does not seem to exist this "anti-intellectual" hue and cry when someone gives strong suspicion of being a capitalist. If he is lucky enough to escape a hole in the head, it is a certainly the Russian purse is not going to be used to subsidize him to get an education.

The terrifying aspect of all this is that National Science Foundation has awarded some 18,000 of scholarships at cost to taxpayers of some $45,000,000.

The public can only wonder if this bureau "goated" on other appointments. As Rep. Roudsbush says "A communist in a college community is a cancer that cannot be tolerated, as one communist on a college campus, well-trained and disciplined in communist tactics, can attract and influence good American students who may be politically naive." There seems little rhyme or reason for taxes to support such people.

The annual Tishomingo County Fair will be held next week. The officials of the Fair Association have worked hard in planning and trying to have a good County Fair this year.

I would like to emphasize one thing about the County Fair. We are working hard to make the fair, as the title states, "The Tishomingo County Fair." Just because the Fair Grounds are located at the County Seat, we don't want anyone in any section of the county to feel that your community isn't a part of this county wide event. We solicit the support, entry of exhibits and attendance from all sections of Tishomingo County.

We are expecting a large number of Beef and Dairy Cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry to be exhibited this year. We have classes set up for registered and grade animals in all divisions. A class of market hogs has been set up. Any youth or adult can bring exhibits to the fair.

I would like to encourage farmers to bring as many crop exhibits as possible. A corn exhibit consists of 10 ears of shucked corn or 3 stalks. A cotton exhibit consists of 10 bolls unpicked, mounted on cardboard or one stalk of cotton. The standard 4-H and FFA cotton exhibit box may be made using open bolls, lint and seed. 3 stalks of sorghum makes a sorghum exhibit. Hay will be exhibited as one block of either grass or legume. Sweet potato exhibit is 30 potatoes. Watermelons may be exhibited. Peanuts exhibit will consist of 3 vines and one quart of peanuts.

Livestock and crop exhibits will be entered Tuesday, Sept. 12, by 6:00 p. m.

We will have some outstanding community booths on display this year. We will also have commercial exhibits on display during the Fair.

The Fair officials have planned four night programs which we feel everyone will enjoy. A stage which is 24 ft. long and 16 ft. wide will be built in front of the bleachers on the football field for the presentation of the night programs. A list of the night programs will be found in another article of this week's Vidette.

We are hoping to see the Woman's building running over with exhibits this year. With all the fine vegetables, fruit and flowers we have enjoyed in the county this summer, we should have some outstanding exhibits.

Meet your friends and neighbors at the Tishomingo County Fair next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Puckett and daughter spent the holiday week end in Chicago visited Troy South and other relatives.

Neither team scored in the third quarter. Butler scored on a 17 yard run, but failed to make the extra point. Off of the second team of Iuka, Goosley ran 55 yards for Tippah, making the final score Tippah-38, Iuka-6.

Tippah picked up 12 first downs and Iuka got 8. Tippah was penalized 35 yards; Iuka was penalized 20 yards. Tippah completed 7 out of 12 pass attempts. Iuka got 7 out of 14 pass attempts. Tippah fumbled 4 times and Iuka fumbled 5 times.

Smaller Calves More Profitable Than Large Ones

Small calves are producing more beef and more profit per acre of winter grazing than larger steers in Experiment Station tests.

In a winter grazing test at the North Mississippi Branch Station at Holly Springs 450-pound steers were stocked at the rate of one per acre. But when smaller steers, weighing about 250 pounds, were used, the same type pasture carried 1½ animals per acre. In the 150-day grazing periods, small steers gained about as much as large ones.

When Agronomist B. L. Arnold averaged results of the two test years, he found small steers returned $45 per head or $71 per acre above feed and pasture costs. This compared to $18 per head and per acre for the larger steers.

Complete details of this report are published in the August issue of Mississippi Farm Research available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

In another study Superintendent E. G. Morrison of the Brown Loam Station at Oakley found lightweight steer calves were more profitable than heavy ones. Calves weighing 267 pounds stocked at a rate of 1.75 animals per acre were compared to one 475 pound calf per acre. Light calves produced 491 pounds and a profit of $47.88 per acre. Heavy calves produced 351 pounds and $14.52 per acre.

Late calves weighing 200 to 300 pounds are too small to market at weaning time in the fall. Research indicates winter grazing offers Southern cattlemen a good chance to make money from them.

In The News

By Congressman Abernethy

At long last, this session of Congress is about to adjourn. The political party in power will compliment itself for having rendered great and constructive service; the minority party will criticize and deplore - as has been the custom since the formation of political parties. The session was begun in controversy over the Rules Committee. It is closing in controversy. It has been rugged all the way.

In the great game of party politics the word "unbiased" is often used but seldom practiced. If, however, one will summarize the first session of this Congress without bias, there is little to credit on the side of fiscal responsibility. It has been a spending year - spending far beyond ability to pay. Apparently many want it that way. Less mail has hit the Hill this year against spending than at any time in years. On the contrary, the mail has urged more spending for programs, old and new. But, on increasing taxes essential to take care of more spending, the mail has been unusually heavy against. Rather odd but that is the way it has been - more spending with less to pay for it.

Eisenhower's Administration closed out with the dubious distinction of having set a record for peacetime deficits. In its very first year the Kennedy Administration will set a new high. Clarence Cannon, venerable and long-time Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, pointed out on the floor of the House a few days ago that spending this fiscal year will reach approximately $88-billion as against $81-billion for last year. The deficit for this fiscal year has been estimated anywhere from $7-billion to $8-billion. This, of course, will be added to the national debt and will contribute to more inflation, cheaper dollars.

Mr. Cannon stated: "In a couple of years we will have a budget of $100-billion a year." He added, "Of course we are not taking in enough money to pay this." Continuing, he said: "We have been spending during this entire year, every hour, $1-million more than we are taking in. Ever since this session began we have been spending in the red at the rate of $1-million every hour, day and night." These are the words of a long time Democrat, who has been in Congress since 1923.

During Fiscal 1961 (shared between Eisenhower and Kennedy) 37,007 employees were added to the federal payroll, an increase of 712 persons per week. About ten days ago Washington newspapers reported that several old temporary buildings of World War II vintage, scheduled for dismantling, will stand and be used for more new federal employees. An official of the General quantities of rental space in Washington private office buildings. Mind you, this will be in addition to several large new federal buildings soon to be completed.

Growth of "Big Government" cannot be credited to cold war or threat of hot war. Domestic-civilian spending in 1954 was $19-billion.

By 1961 it has soared to $35 billion, an increase of 83%, and it is still soaring. During this period military and security expenditures had increased only 2.1 percent.

The national debt is at an all-time high, getting higher. It will soon reach $300-billion, a per capita indebtedness of $1,667 for every man, woman and child in the United States, or almost $6,700 per family of four. The national debt, exclusive of obligations owed by States, counties and municipalities, is said to be more than twice the combined debt of all other nations of the world. Some debt!

Figures may bore, but these tell a horrible story. They mean more big government, more inflation, cheaper dollars and more taxes. The thought is not very pleasant.

A few days ago one of our favorite home editors, who must have been examining some figures included in this report, noted in his daily column that Congress would soon adjourn. He concluded that when adjournment did come he would feel much better and more financially secure. Who would dare argue the point?

At times some of us are criticized for voting too much "again" many domestic spending programs. Every Senator and Congressman should welcome criticism. We do. But in the light of our current fiscal situation, and the need to concentrate on national security, would we not be better off at this time if we had a few more "aginners"?

Sardis First To Use New State Bond Law
First use of the 1960 Industrial Revenue Bond Act was made by the Town of Sardis, where voters approved a $340,000 expansion adding 55,000 square feet of floor space to the Sardis Luggage Company building, thus doubling its size. The ballots were cast on two propositions - one calling for $170,000 full faith and credit bonds in the municipality and the other for $170,000 industrial revenue bonds. This was the first time such bonds have been used as part of the state's expanded Economic Development Program.

Industrial Activity High In Newton Area
Reports from three Newton factories indicate that industrial activity is at a high level in that area and is expected to increase in the future. La-Z-Boy chair manufacturing company reports that production is being increased as fast as new workers can be trained and that the company expects to add 60 employees soon. The Wilson Manufacturing Company announced an expansion and remodeling operation which will increase production from 20 to 40. Wilson produces children's wagons, church furniture and store fixtures. The Newton Company announced that it is producing clothes production units and at about 80 per cent of that production will be to 100 per cent as soon as employees are

All expenses are paid by the Northeast Junior College. Dean Hargett met first of the week with H. L. Hi Gang:

Well, school is underway now at Iuka. . . . Everyone has new teachers and we are on full schedule now. . . . Before long we will be selecting class officers and favorites and having the annual beauty revue.

Iuka and Belmont football teams opened the '61 season with games played Friday night. Belmont tangled with Independence in a home game. The final score was 26-1 in Independence's favor. . . . Iuka journeyed to Ripley with a game with South Tippah. . . . This score was 38-6 in favor of South Tippah. . . . Everyone was really bragging on Donnie Brown and Donnie Carson on their fine playing. . . . I missed the opening game as I had to go for a check-up in Memphis. Iuka Chieftains play Shannon, Miss., in their first home game of the season this Friday night. . . . Everyone be sure and come out at half time. Belmont will play Hamilton, Ala. . . . This will be played in Belmont.

Boy! that was a real ski show Sunday afternoon at Pickwick. . . . They had military drill teams on skis. . . . Barefoot skiing, kite skiing, helicopter on skis, jump skiing and etc. . . . And rain!

I have mentioned the college clydes from time to time and given bits of news concerning their activities but it certainly seems odd to report that we now have some teachers in the crowd.

There is Carol Ed Sanders teaching French and social studies at Iuka; Margaret June Woodley teaching in a business college in Huntsville, Ala., and William Carson will teach History in a school at Rogers, Ala.

Visiting Connie Curtis over the Labor Day week end were Margaret King of Birmingham and Mary Jo Bennett from Corinth.

Saturday night Connie entertained with a hamburger supper on the patio of her home on Meigs Street. Those enjoying the feast with the hostess and honorees were Marcia McRee, Patty Gross, Dee Shook, Suzanne Pruitt, Mimi Gaines, Judy Gann, Martha Lynn Vickers, Becky Deaton, Susie Sanderson, Nellie Murrah, and 'ye ole scribe. Cooking the burgers were Sherrill Bennett and David Dobbins of Corinth. We had lots of fun and delicious hamburgers.

Yes, fall is in the air and the college clydes got together Tuesday night in Mineral Springs Park for their annual watermelon feast before leaving for school. . . . I don't wish was enjoyed the most, the watermelon or the chatter that followed. . . . Among those present were Beulah Ann Nixon, Janette Clark, Sue King, Judy Moore, Brenda Carson, Judy Holtsford, Faye Carmichael, Harold Kay, Allen McBee, Bill Moore, Tony and Benji Gaines, Roger and Richard Clark, William Carson, Charles Blunt, Ronnie McAnally, Eddie Byrom and Ben Earl Kitchens.

Faye Carmichael tells me that she is all packed and ready to return to MSCW today. . . . Others attending MSCW will be Joan Bonds, Reba Walker and Nell Robinson. . . . Janette Clark and Freddie White will return to Southern. . . . Beulah Ann Nixon to Florence State. . . . Tony Gaines Richard and Roger Clark and Ronnie McAnally return to Ole Miss and others from here who will enroll at the University will be Genie Foote, Benji Gaines, J. A. Ledbetter, Frank Bruce and Rosalind Moser and also Virginia Mann of Belmont. . . . Tufty Finch will go to State and David Reynolds to Millsaps. . . . Jerry Booker returned to Memphis Monday for his second semester at William R. Moore School of Technology.

'Til next week, this is Ann-e-o saying, I'll see you 'round.

Ky. Fescue; White Clover Makes Good Winter Pastures

"I pastured eleven head of beef animals on five acres of Ky. Fescue and White Clover last Winter," said Buster Honeycutt.

Mr. Honeycutt lives about two miles north of Burnsville and is recognized as being an excellent farmer. He has an old established stand of Ky. Fescue and White Clover on five acres. Last year he applied a ton of 14-14-14 fertilizer on this five acres that furnished grazing for eleven head of Beef animals for about seven months (from October 1st to May 1st).

Less than two tons of hay was fed to these animals last winter. All the animals came through the winter in excellent condition.

Fescue is like any other crop. It must be properly fertilized to get best results from it.

Now is the time to plant fescue and white clover to have grazing in early fall of 1962.

For best results, apply fertilizer in April and take cattle off by

Admissions Policy At Miss. Southern Requires Students Make Application Ten Days Prior To Registration

Admissions policy announced today by Mississippi College in Hattiesburg, Miss., that new students, fresh transfers alike, must make application at least seven days prior to the beginning of registration for the fall quarter of 1961.

William D. McCain, president of the college, stated that this policy was announced in effect at residence centers at Biloxi and Meridian and at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

Following the business meeting, the club members enjoyed Rosini's "Barber of Seville," Bizet's "Carmen," and Rzesky-Korsakoff's "Russian Easter, Overture."

Mrs. Fulkerson served cokes to the members before the club was adjourned.

Club members present for the meeting were Glenda Broughton, Jane Jourdan, Kathy Daugherty, Nellie Ruth Murrah, Marcia Murrah, Sarah Pruitt, Connie Curtis, Ellen Curtis and Belinda Grisham.

Students must have completed application, (2) transcripts from high school, (3) medical certificate, (4) five letters of recommendation from Mississippi Southern alumni.

Dr. McCain listed "crowded conditions" as the major reason for adoption of the new policy. In announcing details he emphasized that applications received later than Sept. 13 will not be considered.

The president said that the new admissions policy also will be in effect at residence centers at Biloxi and Meridian and at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory.

Teachers at Home

Lesson for September 10, 1961

ONE TEST of a successful marriage would come in this question: Do you ever think of one of them without thinking of the other at the same time? Do you often speak of one without referring to the other? We have

In the Bible a notable example of a couple neither of whom is ever mentioned alone, but both always together: Aquila and Priscilla. If you had inquired around in places where they lived, you would have heard different things about them. In Rome they would have told you: "Oh, I don't know them. Jews I think they were, and we never mix with Jews. In fact the Emperor ran them all out, and a good thing too." If you had asked in Corinth, you would have been told: "Oh yes, you mean the tent-makers. They have plenty of business, they work all the time. But I don't remember ever seeing them out and around." If you had asked their neighbors a few years later, they might have said, "That must be the couple that have those big parties once a week. Mighty quiet parties though, I guess it's some new religious sect."

With things and people

So you might say that Aquila and Priscilla didn't make a very strong impression on their world, the Roman Empire. But there was more to that couple than some of their neighbors guessed. For one thing, they were host and hostess to the Apostle Paul. This (we may surmise) was before they became Christians, for at that point they are called simply "Jews," and Paul went to stay with them partly because he also was a Jew, partly to set up shop with them, for all three were tent-makers, no easy trade. We know that when Paul left the city of Corinth, Priscilla and Aquila went with him; which makes us think that probably Paul had converted them while living in their home. At any rate, the next thing we hear of them is as workers of a different kind, not with cloth and leather but with people. These tent-makers invited to their home one of the most famous and popular preachers of his time, a man named Apollos. They did not invite him to their home just to be sociable. They took him so as to teach him—not tent-making, but the Christian faith, the "way of God" as St. Luke puts it.

We hear just a little more about these two people. Paul mentions the "church in their house." This means they must have made money with their trade, otherwise no house. But it also suggests that they were the responsible leaders of a Christian group that Paul calls a church, not meaning that there were no other churches in the city. We wish we knew more about that. We wish also that we had the whole story of which Paul gives a tantalizing hint when he says that these friends (mentioning the lady first) risked their necks to save his life.

Teachers above all

Why are people remembered? Sometimes, like Aquila and Priscilla, for something they do "on the side," something they never get money for doing. Able and eloquent men who have been off-center in their religious thinking have done the Christian religion much harm. It was a blessing that the early Christian church was not torn by a half-baked Apollos preaching a half-gospel. So this harmonious husband-and-wife team are specially noted not for their Jewish family tree, not for their hardships as refugees, not for the skill as craft-workers, not even for their heroism. Above all, they were teachers; teaching by example, by unity in love, teaching by word and argument. They did not found a college, they asked for no pay and got none. They taught right where they were—at home. They did not wait for opportunity to teach; they made it. Of such are the great teachers.

SERVED IN WASHINGTON—Chet Adams, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Adams of Belmont is shown above with the Honorable Thomas G. From Washington, Chet traveled to New York City where he visited relatives and saw many of the sights. He will return to Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., on Sept. 6, for his senior year of high school. Chet is an honor student.

Forestry Notes

By Larry Brewer
Area Forester

A large part of Tishomingo County is unsuited for agricultural operations because it consists largely of land too steep and too poor for cultivation or pasture. Due to this fact, the greater percentage of the County consists of timber lands.

There are 288,600 acres of land in Tishomingo County. Of this, 195,200 acres are classified as commercial forest lands. This shows that well over half of the County or 67.6 percent of the total land area, is growing timber to a certain extent.

The servance tax report shows that during 1960 there were 6,821 cords of pulpwood cut in Tishomingo County. Board measure products, which consists of lumber, logs, poles, and cross ties, amounted to 4,236,000' board feet. The 1960 servance tax collection for Tishomingo County was $2,086.71. One-half of the tax collections remains in the County Treasury and the other one-half is deposited in the State Treasury, and this plus much more is spent in this county through State appropriations.
