The Busy Bee 4-H Club met Monday, October 21, at the home of Jane Glover. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Carole Glover. The hostess gave a devotion entitled "What Is Friendship?" The roll call and the minutes club. Project bulletins were distributed among the members by Home Agent, Mrs. Dianne Crubaugh. A brief outline of the club's activities for the coming year was planned. Barbara Glover led group singing.

Mrs. J. L. Odom Hostess To Thursday Club

Mrs. J. L. Odom was hostess to members of the Thursday Club on October 24. This attractive home was made more so by the many flower arrangements. The odor of roses came from a bowl of them on the coffee table, given to the hostess by Mrs. B. L. Martin.

The program began as soon as the members were assembled. Mrs. Martin, Garden Chairman, had as her speaker, Mrs. Don Wolfard, the former Juanita Lomenick of Iuka. She and her husband own the "Flowers By Juanita Shop" in Sheffield. The speaker arranged a bowl of mums for the dining table and, at the same time, gave a glib commentary, in a charming manner, on arrangements relative to containers, flowers to use and decor of rooms where used.

The president, Mrs. W. E. Ludlam, presided over a short business meeting. The club accepted with pleasure a gift of $20 from Mrs. Virginia Kern, a former Iukan.

Mrs. Elmus Curtis, Girl Scout District Chairman, announced that thirty-one Girl Scouts would arrive in Iuka on November 1st for the week end. Mrs. Sam Kimberley graciously offered her home for their occupancy. The club will assist with a buffet supper during their stay.

Refreshments consisting of chicken salad, mince meat tarts and coffee were enjoyed at the close of the meeting. Mrs. L. W. George was a welcomed guest.

Mrs. Rob Sims Honored With Stork Shower

Mrs. Rob Sims was honored with a stork shower held Tuesday night, Oct. 22, at the Sands Restaurant between the hours of seven and nine. Hostesses were: Mrs. Bob Lambert, Mrs. Waco Parsons, Mrs. Bobby King, Mrs. Roy Bolton, Mrs. Lyonel Wade and Mrs. Hudson Nichols.

Mrs. Sims assisted her hostesses in receiving. She chose for the occasion a two piece dress featuring a brown skirt and beige lace over blouse. Her corsage, a beautiful yellow mum, a gift from her hostesses, was pinned at the shoulder.

The refreshment table was covered in yellow and overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth. A low silver bowl filled with yellow baby mums centered the table. Flanking this were white tapers in silver candlesticks. Frosted cake squares, topped with the name "Gus," spiced tea, nuts and mints were served.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts which were attractively displayed for easy viewing.

CONVERSATION BETWEEN RFK AND
GOVERNOR BARNETT, THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1962 AT 2:50.

RFK: Hello, Governor, how are
you?
BARNETT: I need a little sleep.

RFK: I just talked to Mr. Watkins and we were going to make this effort at 5 o'clock this afternoon your time.

BARNETT: They will be here about 5 o'clock our time?
BARNETT: Yes, sir. That's all right.

RFK: I will send the Marshals that I have available up there in Memphis and I expect there will be about 25 or 30 of them and they will come with Mr.
Meredith and they will arrive wherever the gate is and I will have the head Marshal pull a gun and I will have the rest of them have their hands on their guns and their holsters. And then as I understand it he will go through and get in and you will make sure that law and order is preserved and that no harm will be done to Mr. Mc-Shane and Mr. Meredith.

BARNETT: Oh, yes.
RFK: And then I think you will see that accomplished?
BARNETT: Yes—(Inaudible)

—Hold just a minute, will you?
Hello, General, I was under the impression that they were all going to pull their guns.

This could be very embarrassing. We got a big crowd here and if one pulls his gun and we all turn it would be very embarrassing. Isn't it possible to have them all pull their guns?

RFK: I hate to have them all draw their guns. I think it could create harsh feelings.
Isn't sufficient if I have one man draw his gun and the other keepers keep their hands on their holsters?

BARNETT: They all must draw their guns. Then they should point their guns at us and then we could step aside.
This could be very embarrassing down here for us. It is necessary.

RFK: If they all pull their guns is that all?
BARNETT: (Inaudible) — I will have them put their sticks down before that happens. (In-audible) There will be no shooting.

RFK: There will be no problem?
BARNETT: (Inaudible). Everyone pull your guns and point them and we will stand aside and you will go right through.

RFK: You will make sure not the Marshals but the State Police will preserve law and order?
BARNETT: There won't be any violence.

RFK: Then we can get the other people out as soon as possible.
BARNETT: One second. General, we expect them all to draw their guns. Lt. Governor Johnson is sitting here with me (Inaudible). Will you talk to him?

JOHNSON: General—
RFK: How are you?
JOHNSON: It is absolutely necessary that they all draw their guns. There won't be any shooting.
RFK: Can you speak a little louder?

JOHNSON: We are telling them to lay their clubs aside and to leave their guns in their automobiles. But it is necessary to have all your people draw their guns, not just one. (Inaudible) and anyone who shoots at all to leave. We appreciate what they have done so far and go back home and that there would be no shooting under any circumstances.

RFK: The one problem—when we come down there representing the Federal Government and draw guns it's going to disturb your people, understandably—

JOHNSON: As much as it would bother them if they just drew one gun and 350 highway patrolmen—

RFK: If they all draw their guns and they go into the university, thereafter, law and order will be preserved by your people?

JOHNSON: We are going to attempt to preserve it.
RFK: They won't leave, will they? What I want to be sure is that it won't be left up to our people.

JOHNSON: We can possibly leave many people up here today. We will do that.

As I understand from Mr. Watkins and from the Governor, law and order will be preserved by the local poe-ple. I don't anticipate a great problem but I don't want an angry crowd descending on Oxford this evening. You'll be sure?

JOHNSON: Yes.
RFK: I don't care how you do it just as long as you take that responsibility.

JOHNSON: (Inaudible) — all be on this campus.
RFK: So I've got assurances from the Governor that no harm will come to Mr. Meredith and the Marshals.

JOHNSON: Not as far as we're concerned.
RFK: We will do anything to preserve law and order.
JOHNSON: We will do everything to preserve law and order at all times.

RFK: As long as I have the Governor's assurance and order.

JOHNSON: To the best of our ability. I believe that we have sufficient men to take care of it.
RFK: Let me talk to the Governor again.

BARNETT: General?
RFK: Governor, that's all I wanted. That's the best thing in the long run.

BARNETT: (Inaudible) There won't be any violence. We will control them if there are a few there. The other day there were several thousand at the state office building and we didn't have a bit of trouble.
RFK: Just as long as it is left at the local level. They will be there at 5 o'clock and draw their guns.

BARNETT: We are going to step aside if they do that.
RFK: If there is any problem you will call me?
BARNETT: I will General.

GOVERNOR BARNETT, THURSDAY,
SEPT. 27, 1962 AT 3:35 P.M.

RFK: Governor, now he is on his way and should be there about 5:30.
BARNETT: About 5:30.
RFK: He left around—your time—2:30, and I think it takes almost three hours.

BARNETT: Flying from Washington?
RFK: No, he is in Memphis but he on the other side of Memphis. They are driving down.

BARNETT: About 5:30. I have about 22 minutes to four now.
All right.

RFK: The thing is we just received a report from the FBI regarding instructions to state police down there and that they have been told these Marshals are coming and told that you want to preserve law and order and there is not to be any disorder, and that once this fellow gets into the University it is the responsibility of the Marshals to preserve law and order. I didn't want a misunderstanding—

BARNETT: After he gets in you certainly don't expect us to guard him all the time.
RFK: I just want to make sure—

BARNETT: We will do our best, of course. The local law enforcement—

RFK: From our understanding and my agreement with you law and order would be preserved by the State of Mississippi.
BARNETT: You mean after he gets in—well, as far as we can.

RFK: I understand. I don't want to do anything but wanted to be sure—
BARNETT: You mean local authorities?

RFK: Whatever is necessary, Governor. Whatever is necessary to preserve law and order.
BARNETT: But general, I declare I don't think I could agree to guarantee the man after he gets in. When he gets in he is one boy—

RFK: I had better call it off, Governor.

BARNETT: You want me to call the National Guard or anything like that?
RFK: I want to make sure law and order is preserved. From conversations with you the other times you said law and order would be preserved.

BARNETT: As far as it can.
RFK: That's all I ask.
BARNETT: As far as we can with reasonable diligence.

RFK: Governor, all I want from you is the same assurance that you will do what is necessary to preserve law and order.

BARNETT: General, wait a minute here. The Lt. Governor has an idea here.

JOHNSON: General, our local officers are here on the campus and in the county and in the city. They are the ones who will be responsible here.

RFK: My agreement and understanding, Lt. Governor, is with the Governor and you. I don't know them and from the conversations with you, I have to look to you. I don't care what arrangements you make with the other people but I have to be sure order is preserved by the local officials or by whom I don't care. But I want to be sure with you.

JOHNSON: That is nothing you can afford to do. When I talked with you before I told you local law enforcement officials would be on hand to keep the peace if it goes out of hand. Then, of course, we would come in.

RFK: We had over a period of the last four or five days in conversations with the Governor, he always assured me law and order will be preserved. Can I have the same assurance?

JOHNSON: We do that everywhere in our state.
RFK: I don't say there's a problem. If you can give me your assurance I don't care how it's done.

JOHNSON: All right. We couldn't assure you that students will be friendly. You see what I mean.
RFK: I don't mind that but I want to be sure someone will preserve law and order.

JOHNSON: We can't leave our offices here on the campus for the protection of the boy.
The local officers will take over.

If it looks like a riot or something of course our— will be immediately on the spot.

RFK: Are the local authorities willing to take that responsibility?

JOHNSON: Oh, yes.
RFK: That's all I want to make sure. I don't care who is doing it. All I want to do is to have assurances from you two gentlemen whose word I have confidence in and whose word I staked on—

JOHNSON: We are going to do the ultimate.
RFK: Can I talk to the Governor again?

BARNETT: General? You all understand one another?
RFK: Governor, I want to get it from you—and I have confidence in your word, Governor.

BARNETT: We always say we don't have any violence in this city. It's a seldom thing. We don't guarantee a reasonable and prudent officer would do.
The Lt. Governor—we can't guarantee they won't have some trouble. I don't know if we will or not.

RFK: I am not asking that. I just want to make sure that you are going to do what is necessary to preserve law and order.
BARNETT: We do that all over the state.

RFK: That's all I want from
you.

BARNETT: We'll give the same protection as anyone else.
RFK: This is a difficult situation and you understand you have to watch it more carefully.
But you have given me now your word as an individual and as Governor of the State of Mississippi as far as humanly possible—not superhuman—that law and order will be preserved.

BARNETT: Yes, sir. This thing here—I don't propose to do anything out of the ordinary.

RFK: If it looks like you are going to have some difficulty there you are going to have to take some steps.

BARNETT: We always do that.

RFK: Governor, I don't know whether you are trying to tell me something without saying it. I am relying on a good deal on your word and I don't want to be misled.

BARNETT: General, we will do what every reasonable and prudent official would do. Try to keep peace and order all over the State of Mississippi.

RFK: But you have a particularly difficult situation in this area and so it's got to be watched particularly carefully.
BARNETT: I don't think so —not day after day.

RFK: I am not asking that—I have been through this and I don't think I will get any further.

JOHNSON: General, I won't treat him like everyone else, you know.
RFK: He gets on campus and indications are there will be trouble—

BARNETT: The local officials here will handle it.
RFK: If it looks like they can't handle it, they will watch and your state officials will—

BARNETT: I certainly will do everything that I think is proper under the particular circumstances to protect the lives and health and persons of everyone. We always do that.

RFK: If it's getting out of hand you would not have any reluctance to use state officials if it appears—

BARNETT: Well, that's been our policy all the time.
RFK: Thanks a lot, Governor.

GOVERNOR BARNETT, THURSDAY,
SEPT. 27, 1962 AT 3:50 P.M.

BARNETT: General, I felt like I ought to call you back. What we talked about General, it is something that I think this thing ought to wait until you send him back here. Why can't you wait until Saturday morning? Here's the thing about it.
We want the people to subside a little bit.

RFK: I think the problem for you, Governor, you will have that court case tomorrow and that's why your lawyers wanted it done today.

BARNETT: Can't you pass that case for awhile?
RFK: They won't do that. You can't do that now.

BARNETT: I think this case ought to be put off. I am honest with you.

RFK: I will call them back and you won't do it.
BARNETT: We better postpone this thing and some of the others will be in touch with you about this thing. Let's not have any misunderstanding.

We can't afford to have that.
At 5 o'clock it's getting pretty dark down here.

RFK: I think you are making a mistake on it. I think the problem on Saturday is going to be much more difficult. I think it is going to be much more difficult and your situation before the courts will be more difficult.
I think it is a great advantage to do it today as your lawyers—

BARNETT: The people probably will find it out.

RFK: There's not going to be any mention of it from here.
BARNETT: Certainly not here.

Other conversations weren't taken down here.

RFK: You never had anything that's come out of this office and I never said I talked to you and I have never made any statement about your or anything to do with Mississippi so I think—

BARNETT: One man said,
you will all compromise in this thing?

RFK: You are not compromising— you are standing right up there. Your lawyers advised you on this—your lawyer and everybody else in order to remedy the situation for yourself and get through this case in the best possible fashion. Tomorrow by the time the case starts completely. We're not going to make any statement on this. I am happy its gets resolved.

BARNETT: —One man said
to me, 'you compromising this thing.'

RFK: Governor, we're coming in at 5 o'clock and sending 25 marshals bringing their guns and third, I am asking you whether you will take the responsibility for law and order.

You said you would.
BARNETT: That's right. General, the Lt. Governor wants to speak to you.

RFK: Governor, as far as you're concerned, there is not going to be any statement out of here and for your own sake and the sake of your state, get it resolved today. I am happy to have all the Marshals pull their guns and force their way in. It's better that way than troopers running around.

JOHNSON: Of course, you and I are in agreement. They are going to point their guns—RFK: I'm asking from you law and order be preserved in Mississippi and you have no choice then.

BARNETT: The Lt. Governor wants to say something.
JOHNSON: General Kennedy, we are trying to be completely honest about this thing. We got a few intense citizens here got a lot of men who are not directly under who are involved to hold the fort such as sheriffs and deputies. We cannot assure anybody that those people or someone maybe hot-headed and start shooting and didn't want to assure you of anything unless we know it could be carried out.

RFK: If you are going to tell me now in contradiction what you told me a half-hour ago that there won't be any shooting. I won't send in any Marshals there that they might be shot—

JOHNSON: That's what we are asking you for—time.
We've got to have time in order to discreetly move these sheriffs out of here—

RFK: Lt. Governor, let me explain something to you. It's a quarter of two here and your difficulty is that tomorrow you have got this court case and by then it's too late. If you and the Governor don't go to court they will issue a bench warrant and then they will have troopers arrest you and come in and also keep the university open and that situation will be worse. You've got a couple of hours to tell the sheriffs and others to go home and suddenly I will call at 4 o'clock your time and tell them they are coming in.

JOHNSON: I can't move these people out of there, General.
Some won't leave.

RFK: Lt. Governor, it's completely up to you. If you say there might be shooting I will call it off.

JOHNSON: I am not telling you there will be any at all as far as we can control.

RFK: I can't take the chance.
JOHNSON: And we couldn't here. That's the reason why we called you. There are 300, 400 or 500 people and we can't shake these people in this length of time and get rid of people whom we don't have complete control over.

RFK: That's up to you. We will face it in court tomorrow.

JOHNSON: That's what I wanted to get over to you. We don't want anything to happen.
We don't shoot Americans.
We've got some hotheaded people in this state who are in this group and we've got to have sufficient time to move them.

RFK: You can't get this done today?

JOHNSON: No, certainly not.
RFK: May I speak to the Governor again?

BARNETT: General? Let me say this. One man had a gun and I said, 'how many times does it shoot?' and he said times and if that doesn't get the job done I get a little one here for number 7. That's what we want to control. I am the last man in the world to want any trouble. We can't have it, you know. If half a dozen people got killed it would hurt me, you the Lt. Governor, all of us.

Why can't you do this—RFK: I can't do that, Governor. I don't have any control over it—

BARNETT: I am talking about this afternoon. Pass it over for a few days. Let us know that these folks are cool headed and no trouble. I will go all the way out. It might be General Kennedy that they might make a statement to the press that you are going to have to use force and we could tell our men just walk back and do nothing. You need to think this thing out, General.

RFK: I was relying on what Mr. Watkins said and what others said but I think neither one of us want to do it unless there is assurance there won't be any violence.

BARNETT: The Lt. Governor is thoroughly convinced we might be acting foolish here to do it this afternoon.

RFK: O.K., Governor. He won't come.

BARNETT: You have not broken your word to me. I told a lot of people—you have been kind. I have legislature in session right now and it's rough on me. I'm driving 170 miles —it's rough. You think it best this Meredith matter—

RFK: I don't know. You're going to court tomorrow.

BARNETT: That's contempt against me, General. I am not committing wrongdoing here.
I wish you'd tell them to pass for 30 days.

RFK: I can't do that now, Governor. They said I should have used force against you. They're mad at me and mad at you. I have seen in the papers that they think we should have answered the force you used.

They are not very pleased with either one of us and are not going to compromise in my judgment. We going to have a great problem tomorrow evening by this time and that's why I wanted to resolve it today.

BARNETT: Just a minute, General. You think this case is going out the window if this matter not settled?

RFK: I talked to your lawyer about that. Went into it in some detail. I have no control over the court but I think it would be a major step forward if we could get Mr. Meredith in the university before they hear that case tomorrow morning.

BARNETT: General, if they get me in jail I will have to sit up there. I hate to do that but I can do it.

RFK: Sit up where?
BARNETT: Sit in jail. I'm trying to uphold the laws—

RFK: If you can get this fellow in the university this evening a lot of our problems would be resolved. Why does anyone have to know this fellow is coming there until I should call
you—

BARNETT: We have had several hundred men—RFK: Can't he come in a gate and I call and say this conversation has not taken place and he is coming through such and such a gate?

BARNETT: Yes—
RFK: Again there is a question of law enforcement but I would have to rely on you that law enforcement would be preserved. I can't do that with 25 men. I would have to rely on you.

BARNETT: General, this thing could be handled a lot better if we wait a few more days on the Meredith case. He is not suffering. Just a few days until the case is settled.

RFK: As your lawyer would tell you, they brought all these judges from all over the country. The whole circuit is coming to hear the case. That's the difficulty.

BARNETT: All 9 judges.
RFK: They are there tonight in New Orleans. I can't tell them to go home. I have no control over this. This is the court

They're mad and me but they're madder at you.
BARNETT: Will they get an idea we compromised this thing? Will the judges think we settled this thing? They won't be thinking we compromised this case?

RFK: You mean—if he gets in, that's what they are primarily interested in.
BARNETT: General, hold just a second here.

General, I am sorry to have to keep you so long but we will get busy here and do our dead-level best to keep people—there are two or three I'm worried about and I'll see them personally.

RFK: I will have our people call—(pause). Governor, how long would it take before you check with these people?

BARNETT: About, I would say 40 minutes.
RFK: Call me then. I will hold these people from leaving.
That will push it up to about 5:30.

BARNETT: That will be all right. I will call you right back in 30 or 40 minutes.
RFK: All right, Governor.

GOVERNOR BARNETT, THURSDAY,
SEPT. 27, 1962 AT 4:20 P.M.

BARNETT: General, we will be here at 5 o'clock and I hope they get here by that time. We are going to put forth every effort and I don't think there will be any violence whatever.

RFK: Do you think we should take the chance? I don't think we should take the chance if there is any question about it.
BARNETT: I don't think there is any question about it. There were a couple of fellows I was worried about. We know them so well we will get them straightened out.

RFK: Can you move the poe-ple from the place they are coming in?

BARNETT: I think it would be bad psychologically to do that. I think you ought to come on as arranged. I think it would be much better.

RFK: Can you assurance beforehand to everybody that they are coming and would absolutely not have any violence? Is it going to be a surprise to these people when we pull our guns?

BARNETT: No, I will tell them under any circumstances will we have no violence. Not any of them will be armed.
RFK: Can I rely on you that there won't be any violence?
BARNETT: Yes, sir.
RFK: I am taking a helluva chance. I am relying on you.
BARNETT: There won't be
any violence.

RFK: The Lt. Governor agrees on this too?
BARNETT: He agrees there won't be any violence. Of course, we can't guarantee everything.

RFK: I understand that. Your people—
BARNETT: Our people are going to be law abiding.

RFK: O.K., Governor. Thank
you.

BARNETT: Maybe I had better not make a statement at all.
Just announce it but don't give a reason for it.

you.

By Ann Holtsford

HI GANG:

Well, I do believe it's finally getting cooler! Now, we can start wearing our wool skirts and sweaters, and shirts and shifts. . . . Now, on with the chatter.

We're the Champs! That's right. We're Number 1. Hey! Isn't that great! The Iuka Chieftains are the winners of the Highland Conference trophy. . . . We have one more game and that is this Friday night with Kossuth. . . . The Chieftains played their last conference game last Friday night when they beat Belmont 33-0. . . . Eddie Carson made four of the touchdowns and Jerry Holley one. . . . Extra points were made by Berryman and Parker. . . . Eddie Carson tallied a total of 360 yards. . . . That's most unusual for a single game.

The Iuka Playboys are getting in plenty of practice lately. . . . Last Friday night they played in Corinth following the football game. This Saturday night they will be playing at Ed Shaws Restaurant.

The Annual Staff held its annual Shirt Tail Day Friday calling attention to the Iuka vs Belmont game. Everyone came to school wearing their shirt tails out. . . . Practically all the teachers joined in the fun. . . . Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Hatcher stole the show. They really looked sharp with their white shirts and black bow ties. . . . Around 10 A.M. grades 4-12 assembled in the gym for a rousing pep rally. . . . It was the best ever.

Say Gang! What does this remind you of? Toilet tissue hanging from trees and all over lawns, eggs, soap marks, gob-lins, etc. Christmas Holidays? Of course not, its Halloween! Two big Halloween Carnivals will be in progress come this Thursday night. . . . The Band Auxiliary will stage one in the Iuka Gym and the Tishomingo High Senior Class will sponsor one at THS gymnasium. . . . So, if you want something to do Thursday night, be sure and attend the Halloween Carnival nearest you.

Welcome! Senior Girl Scouts! District and local Girl Scout leaders are making every preparation possible to make 31 Senior Girl Scouts' week end visit here in Iuka as pleasant and exciting as possible. They will stay in the Sam Kimberley home, attend the Iuka-Kossuth game, visit Shiloh and Pickwick, attend a tea in Corinth, enjoy a buffet supper on Saturday night at the Youth Center, and attend Church Sunday morning before their departure. . . . The girls will be under constant supervision and will be judged on their ability, personality, etc. during their week end houseparty. These girls are competing for National and International trips. . . .

Included in the group will be girls from Chattanooga, Nashville and Jackson, Tenn.

The annual staff beauty revue will be Friday night, November 8 in Howard Auditorium. . . . Young ladies in grades 9 thru 12 will be eligible to compete for the title of 'Most Beautiful' presently held by Miss Jane Gist.

See 'ya 'round.

Mrs. B. F. Burns was hostess to the Thursday Study Club on October 10 at her home on Betty Dale Drive. Twelve members assembled in the home, where lovely fall decorations were used. Gracing the living room mantle was a flower arrangement of mums, cattails, and fall leaves.

Mrs. D. O. Jourdan presented the program, which was a film on "International Relations." Mrs. Kelly Segars, president, presided during a short business session.

Mrs. Burns served a delicious dessert plate with coffee at the conclusion of the meeting.

B. Reid on October 24 at her home on Eastport. The Reid home was beautifully decorated, carrying out the Halloween motif.

Mrs. Reid, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Levi McHaffey who presented a very interesting program on Art. Mrs. McHaffey showed the 20th Century Club scrapbook, which won the "Build a Better Community" contest and also the Eastern Star scrapbook, which she had made herself.

To add to her program, Mrs. Reid had each member bring a sample of art. The sample ranged from drawings of grandchildren to handkerchiefs made by great grandmothers. A Barbie doll dress and velvet drapes were two outstanding pieces of handwork. Several club members brought flower arrangements.

A delicious salad, served in a pumpkin shell, further stressed the Halloween motif. Forming the centerpiece for the dining room table was a Jack-O-Lantern, surrounded with fall leaves and fruit.

A short business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Segars. A donation of $10 to the Cemetery Fund was reported by Cemetery Chairman, Mrs. J. C. Jourdan.

The next club meeting will be November 14 in the home of Mrs. T. M. Jourdan. Program leader will be Mrs. J. A. Roane.

Planning campaign strategy, newspaper editor Percy Greene and other Negro political leaders meet on night before primary. Jackson Advocate editor and other Negro politicians kept name of man they were backing secret until night before election. They felt publicity on Negro support of candidate Paul Johnson, Jr. would hurt him.

NEGROES VOTE IN MISSISSIPPI

Candidates ignore colored vote publicly but bid for black ballots in secret

TO MOST AMERICANS Mississippi is considered the most backward state in the nation. Its treatment of its Negro citizens is acknowledged to be the worst in any state. But Mississippi is changing swiftly. No better proof can be found of that political and social revolution than the remarkable state primaries this year in which more Negroes voted than any time since the hectic days of Reconstruction. Going to the polls some 20,000 strong in the formerly all-white Democratic primaries, colored Mississippians cast enough ballots to provide a balance of power which resulted in a strong showing for the candidate Negroes supported secretly—Paul Johnson, Jr.

Although Johnson lost in a campaign complicated by eight gubernatorial candidates, a record number in Mississippi history, the Negro voters found their relatively small number (almost 400,000 people went to the polls) a potent even if publicly-disregarded force.

In one of the strangest political campaigns of modern times, the office seekers publicly ignored the record Negro vote but tried every behind the scene maneuver possible to garner at least a share of the black ballots.

As a result the "keep the Negro in his place" issue long made infamous by the late and unlamented Senator Theodore Bilbo was conspicuous in the campaign only by its absence. While candidates were afraid an open bid for the Negro vote might hurt their chances with white voters, not even the most ardent white supremacist on the slate wanted to risk losing any Negro votes.

Forest Fires

Fire season is here. Grass and woods are tender-dry. Just a spark could cause a serious fire.

These fires could take away all that dry grass you are planning to use for forage during the fall. Fire could destroy your barns, other farm buildings, stored hay and even your home.

Don't take chances! Keep fire out of your woods and fields.
Any necessary burning that must do, should be done with extreme care. Make sure that you have plenty of labor and machinery on hand to fight any fire that may get out of control.

It is also a real good idea to disk fire lanes between your woods and pastures, between your pastures and public roads and around barns and stacked hay.

Liming Soil

Right now is the best time to have lime spread on your pastures and row crop land. The ground is dry so that lime spreading trucks can get across fields easily.

If you are going to do fall plowing, apply lime before plowing so that it will become mixed with the soil.

How do you know whether or not your land needs lime? A soil test will give the answer.

Here are some of the things that lime does for you: In dol-omitic lime, it supplies calcium and magnesium to the soil. It corrects the pH of acid soil—makes your soil sweeter. It improves bacteria action in the soil—necessary for good growth from clovers and other legumes. It improves the efficiency of other fertilizers, especially phosphorus.

Beef Cattle Management

If you are not satisfied with your cattle program, better check up on yourself. Three areas to consider for improvement could be breeding, feeding, and management. If any of these are weak, the whole program suffers.

For improving your breeding program, consider using performance tested bulls. You might try cow herd testing on your farm.

Here is a check list to consider in your feeding and management program: Check your pasture, your winter feed, your disease and parasite control program. What about dehorning and castrating? Set up calving on a seasonal basis and stop year-round calving.

Consider creep feeding calves. Do a stronger marketing job. Build and maintain good cattle working facilities.

Remember a cow that does not bring a calf each year has no place in your herd. Consider pregnancy testing cows before carrying them through the winter.

From Booneville, Ripley, Corinth, Iuka, Savannah and Clinton came 302 Girl Scouts to participate in the day's activities. The program consisted of a treasure hunt over a two mile gypsy trail dotted with 10 trail posts where the girls were taught 10 different scouting skills. The trail posts were named by Senior Scouts from Corinth, Booneville and Savannah. The Seniors did a tremendous job of teaching scouting skills to their Junior sister Scouts.

East Iuka HDC Meets With Mrs. Wilson

The East Iuka Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, October 10, at the home of Mrs. Raymond Wilson on Dubois Circle. Mrs. Blanche Daugherty, president, presided.

Mrs. Wilson had charge of the devotional and read from Ezekiel 16:8-12. Prayer was worded by the president. The song used was "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet."

Two very interesting demonstrations, which were thoroughly enjoyed by the club members, were presented by the Home Agent, Mrs. Dianne Crumbaugh. She gave an unusually good illustration and led a very informative discussion on making stuffed pictures and mold- ed wall plaques.

Thirteen members, four visitors, and two new members were in attendance at the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the program.

Members Piece Quilts

Seven members of the club, Mrs. Blanche Daugherty, Mrs. Mary Shackelford, Mrs. Quiller Medley, Mrs. Billie Watson, Mrs. Eula Cornelison, Mrs. Pearl Cornelison, and Mrs. Velvia Yarbrough, met recently in the homes of Mrs. Eula Cornelison and Mrs. Yarbrough for a quilting. The members pieced two very nice quilts for the Marshall Robinsons, who recently had the misfortune of losing their home and its furnishings by fire.

Mrs. E. A. Gist Celebrates 82nd Birthday

The guests were served cake and punch by Mrs. Gist's granddaughters, Misses Jean and Jane Gist. The beautiful birthday cake had been baked and decorated by her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Bowling.

Mrs. Gist received several gifts and cards. She enjoyed the occasion very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Butler

Floriea Yates, Tommy Butler Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Butler are now at home in Jackson following their wedding at the Morrison Heights Baptist Church in Clinton. The bride is the former Miss Floriea Yates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Yates Sr. of Clinton. The bride-groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Butler of Brookhaven.

Rev. Tom Douglas officiated at the double ring ceremony in in which the bride used her maternal grandmothers wedding band. Vows were exchanged against a background of arched wrought iron candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers and entwined with ivy. On either side of the altar were baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, and magnolia leaves.

Music was presented by Mrs. Fred Yates, Sr. of Mt. Olive, aunt of the bride. Soloist was Robert Spencer singing "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a short gown of candlelight delustered satin with scalloped portrait neckline. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis surrounding a white cattleya orchid.

The maid of honor was Mrs. George Ewing of Clinton who wore a short gown of emerald green satin with matching accessories. Her bouquet featured bronze pompoms.

James Butler of Hattiesburg, brother of the groom, served as best man. Assisting as ushers for the wedding were Jerry Butler of Longview Texas, brother of the groom, and Mike Becker of Brookhaven.

The reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were greeted by Mrs. W. T. Clark of Mt. Olive. The bride's book was attended by Mrs. James Stark, Jr. of Jackson. Mrs. Frank Stodghill of Jackson and Miss Sandra Bufkin of Clinton served the wedding cake. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Ann Bowman and Mrs. Fred Akers. Little Miss Debbie Stodghill attired in a green and white empire-style dress handed the guests bags of rice tied in green tulle and satin ribbon. The bride's table was overlaid with an imported white linen and lace cloth centered by the three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom.

On the eve of the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Butler, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal supper at Johnny's Restaurant in Jackson.
