Wooden dollars are made from trees:

- $ HARVESTING TREES
- $ HAULING TREES TO THE MILL
- $ MANUFACTURING TREES INTO PRODUCTS

Although Tennessee River Pulp & Paper Company owns forest lands, we are currently buying about 90 per cent of our wood from private landowners and farmers.

2nd Distribution Of Zip Code Numbers Made

A second mass distribution of ZIP Code numbers for every postal address in the country has just recently been made, according to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski. Again, some 125,000 letters carriers have personally delivered ZIP Code identifications to every home and business address on their appointed rounds.

As an economy measure, the Postmaster General said, this year's notices are printed on paper stock and are somewhat smaller than the cards issued last July. The front side shows the proper way to use ZIP Code in addressing envelopes. It also has a space where the correct ZIP Code number for the home or place of business can be inserted and kept as a handy reference.

The reverse side explains how the system works, and also why the Post Office Department needs ZIP Code to cope with its annual volume of mail—amounting to 70 billion pieces and climbing at the rate of more than two billion a year. ZIP Code has proved to be extremely helpful to bulk volume mailers, the Postmaster General said. Using their own data processing equipment, they can pre-sort their outgoing mail to its ZIP Coded destination, thus bypassing the post office of origin.
