"We now settle into the New Year's work with new determination to serve better our Lord and the communities in which we are located," a spokesman for the group said.

"In a few days missionaries from all across our world will be coming to our county to share their experiences of what God has been doing with and through them in their respective fields of service," W. C. Gann, the Associational Missionary stated.

The following churches will hear a different missionary speaker each service Sunday morning through Friday night: Burnsville First, Unity, New Salem, N. Cross Rds., New Prospect, Mt. Iuka's William Coker Is Author Of "Valley Of Springs" Historical William Coker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coker of Iuka, has recently completed his first book entitled "Valley of Springs--The Story of Iuka" and announces that it is now available to the public.

The book concerns Iuka foremost, but in full is a historical account of Tishomingo county giving such pertinent facts as a list of the Sheriffs who have held office, in addition to listings of mayors and postmasters who have served.

A special section of the book deals with the once thriving riverport of Eastport and how the railroad brought a change in traffic and the birth of Iuka.

Still another portion deals extensively with a group of Confederates known as "The Iuka Riflemen" and follows the travels and battles of these men throughout the entirety of the Civil War.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

William Coker, 25, is married to the former Lanelle Dunn of Ocean Springs, Lanelle, a student of commercial art, provided the sketches used to illustrate her husband's recently published book.

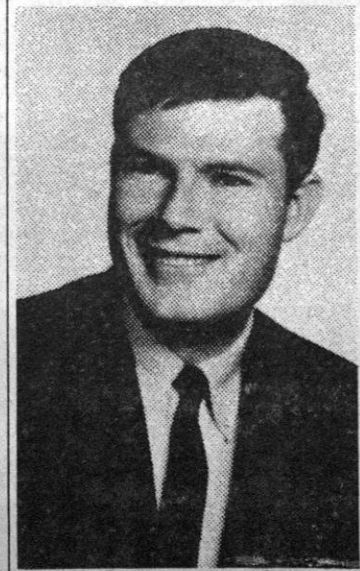

The couple make their home in Hattiesburg on the campus of the University of Southern Mississippi where William serves as assistant director of the University Union and Student Activities as well as teaching a special course to junior and senior history majors.

Following graduation from Southern, the author taught for one year at Gulf Coast Military Academy, serving as chairman of the Department of Social Studies. Just this August he received his Master's degree from Mississippi Southern, earned in night courses.

He is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, national honor society. The honor was bestowed upon the young Tishomingo countian

THE FRUIT OF COERCION

Among the finest fruits of the earth are the luscious grapes grown in the valleys of California. Eaten as desert or made into wines that have become immensely successful in recent years, they are understandably popular. Moreover, the grapes, or the wine made from them, are the basis of a valuable agricultural industry. Sales of the grapes and of the wine provide tax revenue to the federal government and the states.

Unfortunately, this agricultural industry is threatened by a radical union boycott that would turn the delicious grapes into grapes of wrath. A small, militant union — the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (AFL-CIO), which represents no more than one or two per cent of the farm workers in California, is carrying out a nationwide boycott campaign directed at the California grapes.

The union is waging a propaganda battle, aimed at portraying the grape-pickers as victims of capitalist exploitation. Cesar Chavez, head of the union, has enlisted some predictable allies, including the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee — the Stokely Carmichael-H. Rap Brown outfit, along with the notorious Students for a Democratic Society. Various "liberal" groups have been duped into providing financial assistance to the union effort. The Office of Economic Opportunity, in a typical piece of political interference, has devoted some $268,000 to the Chavez cause.

The boycott has met with a certain amount of success. Two knee-jerk "liberal" mayors — Cavanaugh of Detroit and Lindsay of New York — have cancelled orders their municipalities placed for California grapes. Various AFL-CIO unions have persuaded food chains in New York City not to stock California grapes. Persuaded is the polite way of putting it. One grower, in a complaint filed with the National Labor Relations Board, used the words "coerced and restrained" to describe the union dealings with the food chains.

The situation is scandalous in several respects. It is outrageous, for instance, that a union effort on one coast can produce a boycott at the opposite end of the country. This long arm of coercion should give all good citizens cause for concern.

Secondly, the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee simply isn't a grape-pickers union. The American Farm Bureau Federation reports that "virtually none of the workers employed in the production and harvesting of grapes for fresh markets are union members." Indeed, there is another group — the Agricultural Workers Freedom To Work Organization — that is on record as opposing the harassment of grape-pickers by the Chavez group.

It is tragic that the church and civil liberties groups that have become involved in the boycott have not examined the nature of the complaint made by the Chavez organization. Despite claims of exploitation, the facts are that the grape-pickers are getting a good wage for the kind of work they do. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who has inserted himself into the dispute, charged that the grape-pickers receive "$1.40 an hour with no fringe benefits."

The California Senate Fact-Finding Committee has the facts. It has reported that the average wage paid pickers exceeded this figure by 30 or 40 cents. In addition, said the Senate committee, "there are numerous fringe benefits." And according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the farm workers of California earn hourly wages that average 42 per cent above farm workers in New York State!

The truth is that the Chavez organization is on a quest for power. Radical elements in the nation believe that agriculture is an area of major opportunity insofar as agitation and strife are concerned. They envision frequent use of boycotts, utilizing minor disputes in the countryside to carry out coercive action in the nation's towns and cities.

Unquestionably, the New Left sees the struggle against California grape-growers as a test case — as a dry run for similar conflict operations in other areas of American agriculture. If boycotts can be organized against grapes, every type of agricultural produce becomes a possible source of agitation and pressure. For the peace and well-being of farm workers, producers and consumers, it is important that the New Left be defeated in the battle of the grapes.

ITEM: Food in large cans usually costs less per ounce than food in small ones. But unless you have use for a large amount of food, the large can may be no saving. Note on your shopping list the exact amount of food needed for a recipe, then find a can labeled with the amount closest to it.

ITEM: The manual with your sewing machine will give you oiling instructions — how, when, and where to oil. One drop of oil in each place is usually enough. Never over-oil the machine, and be sure to use the right kind of oil.

LIFE HEALTH

Chiropractic

Chiropractic, the world's largest health service, is known to many but is understood by few. Chiropractors have achieved their status by results alone.

Dr. Parker

The chiropractor believes that every effect must have a cause. Thus, any condition or disease must have a cause. Once the cause is removed, nature takes charge to eliminate the condition or disease from the body.

The chiropractor knows that pressure on vital nerves interferes with the proper flow of nerve energy through the body to vital organs, glands, muscles and tissues. This pressure and the resulting interference to nerve energy flow is the basic cause of disease. When the interference with the flow of nerve energy is removed, nature responds and heals from within.

To restore proper function of the nervous system, the chiropractor employs gentle, scientific manipulations (called adjustments) to properly align the spinal column and release pressure on affected nerves.

"The power that made the body is the power that heals the body." Chiropractic adjustments release the vital nerve energy which restricts the healing forces of nature and permits nature to use her own resources to heal the body. Another Life and Health Article from the Office of

The other day I filled out one of the applications in the county's labor survey. They're brief forms that will provide information to give an overall picture of our available labor. If you haven't filled out an application, today and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday) are your last days. (You may be thinking that the survey doesn't include you but it does. You count just like everybody else.) Do you part. It's an aid for the overall development.

The following is a letter received by the Iuka VFW-American Legion from Mona King, sister of Mrs. Dalton Cooper, a patient at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, Room 1553.

"I am writing for Lois and Dalton, to thank you for the very lovely plant they received. It made them very happy to be remembered in this nice way.

"We are all enjoying the plant and Lois is feeling much better, for which we are thankful and happy. She is resting good, eating and getting stronger.

"Thanks again from Lois and Dalton and her sister.

Mona King"

According to Sen. John Stennis, the latest figures released by the FBI show that in the last seven years crime has increased 70% while the population has increased only 10%.

Well, last year I watched anxiously for cold winter signs, consulted with the condition of some very prominent and unfailing weather "bunions" and finally decided we'd have a winty with some good snows. (I'm still a kid about snow.) We got them. Enough to satisfy even me!

This year's predictions, according to a Tennessee "hill country woman" show that we'll have another cold winter but less severe than last year's.

Any real backwoodsman can read the signs. Based on the number of heavy morning fogs during August we should have eight snowfalls. Heavy ones, judging by the thickness of corn shucks, the level the hornets have built their nests, and the way spider webs are on the ground or near it. Too, notice spiders sneaking indoors to escape the cold, thickness of animal fur, the density of foliage on trees and the time of the falling of the leaves. Look for your own signs. They're around.

Unpleasant to mention, but the outrageous mutilation of our National Anthem by a soul singer during the World Series was disgusting. I was embarrassed for the singer, for those who are not Americans who heard it and for those of us who heard and couldn't do anything about it. Just because the man's a Puerto Rican and was "doing his thing" doesn't make it all right. No need giving his name, he's received his free publicity. I say shame on the man who put him up there in the first place. His name is Ernie Harwell, the Detroit Ti-

CLEAR MY CONSCIENCE; FREE JAMES EARL RAY

JOHN J. SYNON

Ever since the brutal British police snapped their raw, cold manacles onto the unsuspecting wrists of poor James Earl Ray my conscience has not let me rest: Is underprivileged James Earl Ray guilty of murdering His Reverence, or am I guilty? Aren't we all guilty? Doesn't your conscience bother you, too?

Who knows what poor James Earl's environment has been? Perhaps, as an infant, his mother fed him on a bottle. As a wee child of six, perhaps somebody took marbles from him, stole his peanut-butter sandwich. Think what trauma such experiences would cause. Warp him for life, is what. And his mean, wrinkled, flat-chested, old mother (probably warted) every night of the poor boy's life would give it to him: "James Earl, you wash your hands before you eat; you hear me?" And, "James Earl, get out of that bed this minute, you hear me, and wash them feet".

You-hear-me this, and you-hear-me that, all the live-long day and all the live-long night. No wonder the poor child took to women, fast cars and horses, to dope, to breaking into places, to holding up folks, slugging folks — and to hear some tell it — to finally gunning down His Reverence. Trauma ridden is what he was; poor James Earl; scarred. Every Liberal heart beats for him in his travail.

Anyone who understands such a child's psyche — that is, the effects of double-whammy, flim-flam psycho — can do no less than wring hands. Mea culpa! Mea culpa! I tell you, it has me by the g-string of me conscience. This poor man-child, in jail. And what he needs is love. Reactionary Fascist pigs!

You just wait until the Liberals get organized. Then you will see some real protest marching. All in poor James Earl's behalf. Deny a human being his civil rights, will they! The Liberals will show 'em. The Liberals will show who cares for the civil rights of all men; cares enough. And I shall join them, me, the scabrous tatterdemalion, and my sign will read: "Clear My Conscience: Free James Earl Ray".

And poor Sirhan Sirhan. Oh, dear me. Dear, dear me. How can anyone even dream of bringing to trial — to stand trial for his life — this poor, unfortunate, star-crossed waif. It is enough to give one the vapors. Of course Sirhan pulled the trigger that sent curly locks to glory, everybody knows that. But what has that got to do with it? It was only a symbolic act. Everybody knows that, too. Sir-han didn't mean to hurt anybody, personally. Can't you see?

It was just the poor boy's overwrought reaction to severe mental strain, his way of protesting, of expressing his personality, his thing, his libido, his id.

We all should come into the 20th Century and look at these things the way Earl Warren's court has taught us to view them. How can we blame the poor boy? Don't you, can't you understand what it meant to him, an A-rab, when he heard the senator espouse a cause that was not the A-rab cause. The nights of brooding, the foam-mouthed days. Bang, bang, bang! That's all there was to it, just some little old bang, bang, bangs, and poor Sirhan's frustrations were all gone, vanished. Ah! Gets you right here, doesn't it — right through the aorta.

We simply must be understanding about these things. Think the New Think: There is no God, no sin, therefore there can be no murder. How malicious to think of poor Sirhan Sirhan as a bum who should be hanged until he is dead, dead. How medieval. Dearie me, no. We should rehabilitate, then free this poor, unfortunate, deprived, underprivileged wretch. We should give Sirhan Sirhan a good talking to, is what, and if we are not antagonistic in the doing, it is quite probable — and this is my well-considered judgment — Sirhan Sirhan in time will say he is sorry for what has happened and that it will never happen again.

Now, then. Don't you think that would be so much better — the Liberal way — than sending him on to California's Green Room, the fry hut?

You don't? Then, indeed, you are a Fascist pig who needs Sensitivity Training. You must learn that individuals are not responsible for their acts. Society is responsible. That is why it is you and not Dirty-Foot Jimmy who gunned down His Reverence. You man, you are society. And if you had not been so unfeeling, so unwitting when these unfortunate people were children, these events could never have happened.

What do you mean, you have been busy, you never heard of them before they made the news?

That has nothing to do with it. You are society, therefore, you are responsible. And that ain't all: You are also a bourgeoisie, probably of the worst sort, a family-raising, debt-paying, harried Honky — and quite beyond the Liberal pale.

Spitoooy on you!

crossbar in a fork. Very unusual.

NEMJC plays Northwest this Saturday night with game time at 7:30. Be early, the stands fill up in a hurry.

"The Growler," Tishomingo High School's annual, is very nice. The staff did a fine job all the way through. My copy goes in the "keep" closet. I enjoyed working with the staff and students and making a number of their feature photographs for the publication last spring.

Enjoyed having sister Anne home this weekend from Memphis. We went out to the lake Sunday afternoon for a short ride over to Waterloo. Right there at Eastport there is a blaze of color but the rest is yet to come. By next Sunday the trees should be at their best. Our little corner of the state is the prettiest by far, but when she gets decked out in Fall clothes, my, she's a looker!

Lesson in Thrift

Everyone is interested in teaching our youngsters the advantages of thrift, but few businesses have done anything about it. The Savings and Loan Foundation, Inc., has leaped to the fore in this area, though, and the result is a delightful, four-color comic book titled "Saving Can Be Fun". It's available now at most local Savings and Loan Associations across the land—including right here in our own community.

"Saving Can Be Fun", available free, is a true-to-life story which can easily be understood by anyone in the six-to-fourteen bracket. Its 20 pages illustrate the importance of saving money regularly, and in the right way. No one can criticize its purpose or its aims—and the books are available in quantity for youth groups

Thad is a University of Mississippi School of Medicine senior.

In the Mississippi delta, where he was assigned to the Bolivar County Health Department at Cleveland, Ferrell saw that "minor medical problems often worsen because patients won't come in when they should," and when they do, "sometimes don't follow the doctor's orders."

The lasting cure for the illnesses they helped treat won't come from a medicine bottle, in his opinion. "Education, stressing self-health care, is the answer," he said.

Ferrell says he had his first contact with midwives and got a new respect for their contribution to county medical care.

"Midwives still deliver lots of babies," he said. "But they recognize and refer problem cases to a doctor, keeping the maternal and infant mortality rate from being any higher in the region than it is."

Thad was among five medical students selected competitively for the summer posts, made possible by an unrestricted grant from the US Public Health Service to medical school dean Dr. Robert E. Carter. He'd sought the award to give students the opportunity to live and work where health problems exist in the state, learning to understand patients as well as diseases. At the same time, they'd help ease Mississippi's growing need for more medical manpower.

Pandering Ads By Mail May Be Stopped

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, the Postmasters of Tishomingo County said today in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide that an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative." When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet "How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements," which is now available at all Post Offices in the county. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the Post Office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his Post Office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope. "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children. Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," the Postmasters said. They added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patrons' complaint will only be directed to the sender, the Postmasters believe that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from this mailing list, and the patrons receive a 2nd mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the Postmaster by writing him and enclosing the 2nd pandering ad with its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General may ask the Attorney General to apply for a Federal Court order directing compliance. Failure to observe the order may be punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

Many of the new water-repellent finishes on cotton raincoats will take up to five dry-cleanings without having to be reprocessed.

Hearing Loss

Impaired hearing is a leading cause of chronic disability in this country. Estimates show over three million Americans with hearing defects of varying degrees.

A hearing loss may occur from a variety of causes at any time in a person's life. It may result from prenatal injury to the child if the mother has German measles during early pregnancy, brain damage to the child at birth, certain hereditary factors, or childhood diseases such as measles, mumps, and scarlet fever. Most hearing losses result from an interference with the passage of sound waves from the ear to the brain.

The ear is one of the most complex and delicate organs of the human body. The outer ear has the important task of collecting sound waves from the environment. Deep within the inner ear, these waves are changed into nerve impulses to which the brain gives meaning.

In this complicated mechanism there are many parts which can be damaged by disease and prevented from functioning, resulting in some degree of hearing loss.

For And About Teenagers

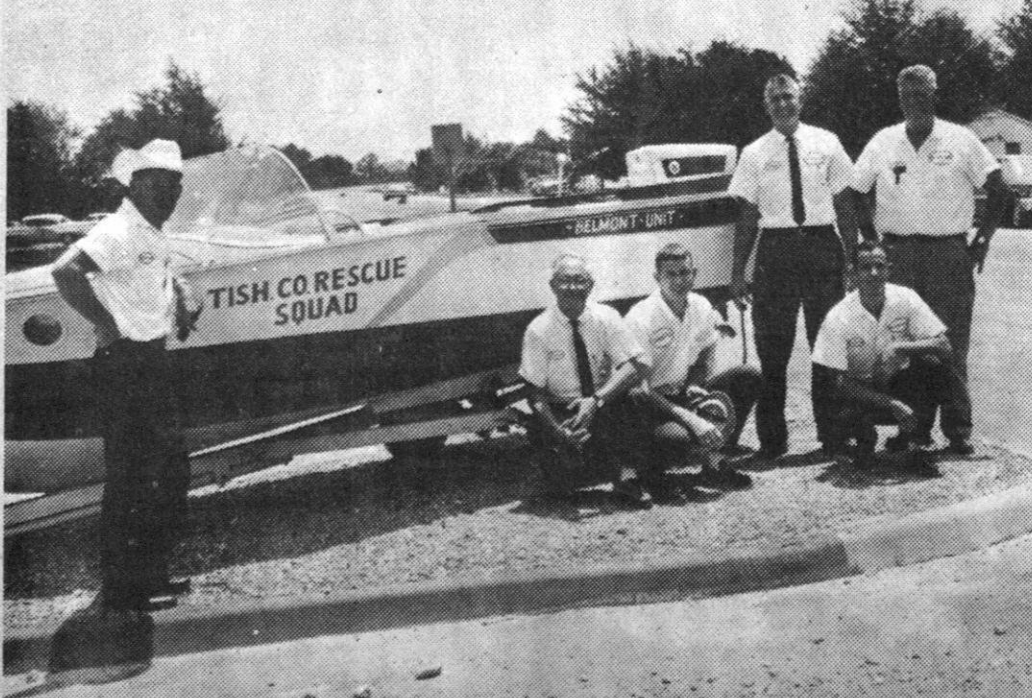

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I read your articles a lot. And you tell me — and mean it — that I was hoping you could help me. You see, I am 16 and the boy I like is 18. My parents don't like him. What bothers me is that they don't even know him or what he looks like. All they know is what my aunt told them. And some of the things she told them are not true. How can I get them to meet him? I know they would not mind me liking him if they know him themselves. What can I do?"

OUR REPLY: The only proper solution is to work the matter out with your parents. You should be able to get your parents to cooperate with you if you approach them in the right manner. And, you tell them — and mean it — that you will forget about the boy if it is discovered the things your aunt told them are really true don't like him. What bothers me is that they don't even know him or what he looks like. All they know is what my aunt told them. And some of the things she told them are not true. How can I get them to meet him? I know they would not mind me liking him if they know him themselves. What can I do?"

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

IUKA JAYCEE TURTLES AMBLE TO FINISH LINE; CAMPAIGN GOAL OF LOCAL ORGANIZATION IS MEMBERSHIP OF FORTY - NINE

The age-old story of the race between the turtle and the hare has been reset to a large-scale modern day version. The cast involves the Jaycee organization as the turtle and the Benevolent Protective Order of the Elks taking the role of the hare.

The big production is to stimulate participation in both organizations' annual membership drives.

Saturday the Iuka Jaycees welcomed visiting state officers at their kickoff meeting. President Charles Lewis was presented a live turtle with the number "49" painted on the shell. This is the quota set for the young organization to add to their membership by the October 26 deadline.

On that date, the State President, George Schoegel, Gulfport, will return to Iuka to administer the oath to the new members in a statewide "pick-up" movement.

The Iuka turtle was one of 110 which were delivered in some 86 towns throughout Mississippi by the state president, along with James Rowell, vice-president of Meridian; Billy Proctor, National Director, Brandon; Ed Hancock, Area C vice-president, Houston; and Bennie Wallis, Area B Vice-President, Tupelo, all of whom were present for the Iuka kickoff meeting at the Magnolia Restaurant.

The turtle campaign symbolizes a friendly competitive contest between the Jaycee organization and the Elks. Presently the Elks of Mississippi have a membership of 4,777 and the Jaycees of Mississippi 2,097, thus providing the conception of the Turtle and the hare.

The Jaycee organization is composed of young men from 21 through 35 years of age and is organized for the purpose of leadership training through community service.

Young men of Iuka interested in joining are asked to contact Charles Lewis at 423-6702 or Jim Kirk at 423-4671 or 423-6338. Meetings are held at the Magnolia Restaurant each second and fourth Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. J. O. Ramsey spent several days last week with J. O. Ramsey in Jackson and returned home on Saturday night.

CHOICE--Frank Thomas, Explorer Scout, is pictured as he shows Richard M. Corinth, exec.-advisor of the Yocona Boy Scout Council, the letter notifying of his appointment for an interview with the State

Thomas Second BS Candidate

Frank Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas of Iuka, has been chosen first alternate in the Mississippi selection of a candidate for the annual Boy Scout "Report to the Nation".

The local Explorer was notified this week by James Harris, Deputy Regional Scout Executive of Memphis.

If for any reason, the state candidate could not serve, Frank as the alternate, would meet the regional selections board in Shreveport, La., later this month to prepare for the "Report to the Nation".

In September Frank was selected as the Yocona Council candidate. Notification was given last week and the Iuka scout traveled to Jackson for an interview with the State Selections Board at the Scout Service Center there. Frank is one of three scouts in Mississippi chosen for this honor.

Frank has had wide scouting experience, qualifying him for this great honor. He holds both the Eagle Rank and God and Country Award. With 27 merit badges to his credit, he has been awarded the Bronze Palm. He has served on the Jacinto District swimming staff both as life guard and instructor for beginners and non-swimmers.

He is a member of Explorer Post No. 26 of Iuka. He and other members of the local post have recently received colored slides of their trip this past summer to Philmont, N. M. These slides will be used by Frank in the membership drive now underway by the Boy Scouts and Explorers in this area to make new recruits. The slides will also be the topic of interesting programs at civic club meetings.

Lyles Heads P-TA

John Lyles has been elected to serve as president of the Iuka PTA for the 1968-69 session.

The election of officers was held last Thursday night at the Iuka school. Other officers elected to work with the new president are Julian Long, vice-president; Mrs. Harris Counce, assistant; Mrs. Boyd Phillips, secretary; Mrs. Lyonel Wade, treasurer. The new president appointed Mrs. Bobbie Sue Finch as Program Chairman and Mrs. John Lyles as Publicity Chairman.

During the business session, Supt. Burress informed the members that a retaining wall was to be built behind the school. He stated that there would not be enough money to build a fence along this wall. Since this wall will be about six feet high, this posed a problem as to the children playing there could fall and possibly injure themselves severely. It was voted then to present the school with $400.00 to build this fence along the retaining wall. There was a unanimous feeling that this would be a worthwhile project for the PTA, in that it involves the safety of the children.

After selecting the second Monday night of each month at 7:30 o'clock as the meeting date, motion was made to adjourn. Parents are asked to please take note of this date and make plans to attend. The one way to show an interest in our children and show our appreciation for the fine job our teachers are doing is to attend PTA and there learn what's going on in the school system, one of the local PTA members said.

HUNTING

Always exercise extreme caution when in possession of a loaded gun. Carry the gun in a position that will give you control over the direction of the muzzle even when off balance from stumbling or tripping. Never fire the weapon until you are absolutely certain of your target. Carelessness is responsible for thousands of hunting fatalities and injuries suffered each year.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

by Henry E. Garrett, Ph.D.

Professor Emeritus, Psychology, Columbia University
Past President, American Psychological Association

Q: Dr. Garrett, in a high-school debate I said I believed in the social separation of the races. My opponent replied that I am a "racist". I know he meant it to be a slur but what does the word mean, actually. I am proud of my race; does that make me a "racist"?

A: As used by the Liberal, the term means one who regards his race as superior to other races. The implication is that the inferior race should be kept in its place, as not being good enough for the superior race. According to this definition, Hitler was a racist, as those who believe they are "chosen people" are racists. One who believes in racial differences — not inferiorities — is not necessarily a racist. If the term is taken to mean simply those who believe in native race differences, it is not opprobrious.

SOUTHERN

INNOVATIONS THAT SQUEEZE THE WASTE OUT OF DISTRIBUTION / SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM, WASHINGTON, D. C.

What's so super about our Super Cushion® couplers?

They turn BUMPS into bumps.

Not long ago a big "bump" when freight cars were coupled could mean big trouble for fragile freight. Not so now, though, with our Super Cushion underframe cars—another money-saving, better-service innovation by Southern Railway. Today, thanks to these hydraulic-cushioning devices, you'll find delicate, expensive electronic equipment, breakable bottled goods, rolls of newsprint... anything that needs special care

...traveling in our Super Cushion service. And shippers realize important savings from lowered costs of packaging, crating and bracing.

Super Cushion service is just one of many Southern Railway innovations. Some you can see, some are hidden behind the scenes. Some have resulted in basic improvements in rolling stock, some have resulted in entirely new, precedent-breaking ways to do things faster and better. All add up to good news for shippers and consumers alike, for they help squeeze the waste out of distribution.

Innovations and improvements that enable us to squeeze the waste out of distribution benefit all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing total cost of transportation they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices. They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit!
