4 Towns In County Draw 65 Candidates

Four of the incorporated towns in Tishomingo county now have 65 candidates seeking offices in the forthcoming municipal elections scheduled for Tuesday, June 3. The four towns reporting include Iuka, Burnsville, Tishomingo and Golden. Paden's list of candidates was not available and Belmont's list was not ready for release.

Some question has developed as to the exact deadline for candidates to qualify. April 3 was reported last week as the final date. However, according to Belmont's Mayor E. C. "Zeke" Clark, other dates have been mentioned. He is now attempting to establish the correct deadline date.

Iuka's offices thus far have drawn the largest number of seekers. In the Iuka mayor's race, John H. Biggs is seeking re-election. He is challenged by his former two opponents, H. L. (Linsy) Gray and R. K. (Diddler) Thorne. There were only 13 votes between the highest and lowest man in a special election held in January 1968. Travis McGaughey is asking for re-election as Iuka chief of police. He is challenged by Zoma (Jack) Rye, James Kirk and Charles Pace. There are 17 candidates in the race for Iuka alderman. They are H. L. Shook, J. B. Smith, Jr., Ellet N. Allen, Jr., James A. (Jack) Thorne, Zeb Gregson, Rex L. Tucker, W. E. Monroe, Ellis R. Strickland, Carl A. Smith, R. T. Hobson, P. L. Sweeney, Grady (Bunk) Linton, Marion R. Woodruff, Leon Phillips, Reuben E. Grisham, and Austin E. Curtis and Herbert Thomas. Curtis and Thomas are the only aldermen seeking re-election and they have been serving only a part of this term.

In Burnsville, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery is asking for another term as mayor. She is being challenged by Charles O. Rushing. Running for alderman in Burnsville are incumbents Mrs. Dot Marlar, Mrs. A. H. Tackett, Mrs. Marjorie Foote, Mrs. Mamie Rhine, and Mrs. Annie McQuilliams. Burnsville has had an all-woman city government for the past 12 years. Others challenging the ladies for their aldermanic seats are Donnie Emerson, Floyd Marlar, Alton Marlar, Charles W. Bray, L. R. Harris, Kelly Timbes, F. L. Robinson, Kenneth Spoon, and C. R. Hall. In all, 14 are asking for alderman in Burnsville.

In Tishomingo, Mayor John R. Trimm is seeking re-election. He is challenged by Hubert Anglin. Asking for re-election as aldermen in Tishomingo are Aaron Dean, C. A. Crow, and Cladon Parker. Others who want to be Tishomingo alderman are James E. Burns, John P. Hall, Durward Flurry, Ted Wilson, John R. Weaver, Will A. (Bob) White, Carlisle Wright, and R. C. Dean.

Candidates in Golden are, for mayor, Dr. R. U. Shook and Fred Willingham; for alderman, Gene Moore, O. B. Ginn, Hollis Long, Faye Bostick, James Thomas Shook, Elton Wigginton, Noonan Patterson, Harold Epps, Tom Hellums, and Bill Allen.

Methodist Men's Club

Electric Power Rate Increase Announced

W. J. Brinkley, manager of the Tishomingo County Electric Power Association, announces an increase in rates for electricity beginning April 15. In making the announcement, Mr. Brinkley made the following statement:

"In October 1968, TVA officials announced that the rising cost of money, fuel and labor had made it necessary that the TVA increase their rates to the Power Distributors, including Tishomingo County Electric Power Association, in order that TVA could sell bonds as required by Congress for financing the new plants made necessary by heavy demands for electricity in the Tennessee Valley.

"Immediately following this meeting, representatives of TVA and the suppliers organization began work on the revision of the TVA wholesale rates that would be acceptable to the power distributor, and also would provide the necessary additional funds for TVA. After much negotiating and study a suitable set of rates were agreed upon. On March 22, 1969, TVA increased the rates to the Association, and in order to offset this increase in cost of power from TVA, Tishomingo County Electric Power Association will put new retail rates into effect with bills mailed on and after April 15, 1969. The increase in residential rates for each customer will depend upon the amount of electricity used in a given month. The increase ranges from no increase for 50 KWH to $2.32 to 1500 KWH. After 1500 KWH usage the increase drops so that 2000 KWH increase will be only $2.07, and $1.07 for 4000 KWH usage. For the average customer that has an electric range, hot water heater, refrigerator, deep freezer, pump, washing machine, TV, light and small appliances, the increase will be approximately $1.25.

"The minimum bill will remain $1.25 for residential customers and $1.50 for commercial customers. The yard lights will remain the same.

"While your Board of Directors regretted very much the necessity of passing the TVA increase onto our consumers, they, at the same time, recognize that all costs are going up, including the cost of our Association, and due to this fact, they felt we would be unable to absorb this increase and still maintain financial stability, which of course, is very important in the operation of your System. They were pleased to be able to hold the increase down to a very minimum," Mr. Brinkley concluded.

John Turner To Speak At Iuka's PTA

John Turner of Counce, Tenn., director of public relations at Tennessee River Pulp & Paper Company, will be the guest speaker at Monday night's meeting of the Iuka PTA beginning at 7 o'clock in the school cafeteria.

His topic will be "What the younger generation thinks" and will involve the discussion of a recent survey made by the company of teenagers throughout the country. Special emphasis will be given the "generation gap" and how parents may work to eliminate the situation or at least understand it.

John Lyles, president of the Iuka PTA, urges all parents of school youngsters to be present for this important meeting.

$1,000 Reward

A reward of $1,000.00 is offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who had anything to do with the death of Frank Rice.

Mr. Rice, a 25-year-old Iuka resident, lost his life in a mysterious fire early Sunday morning, March 2, this year. The fire completely destroyed the home of H. G. Willis on highway 72 east of Iuka.

Because of certain information and the fact the house burned so quickly, an investigation of the tragic incident is being continued.

Anyone having information is asked to contact the sheriff's office or James Rice, or Luther Rice, Jr., brothers of the victim.

SINGING

There will be a singing Saturday night, April 12 at 7 o'clock at the Burgess Creek Free-will Baptist Church, located 2 miles south of Holcut.

Aldermanic Post Is Sought By E. Monroe

To the Qualified Electors of the City of Iuka:

I would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the office of City Alderman.

In making this announcement, I want to thank those of you who so willingly placed your names on the petition which was necessary to qualify me to get to first base by getting my name on the ballot.

To those of you who did not have a chance to express your concern, just remember I am counting on you and of course will depend on your help if I am to make it back to home plate.

I feel that most of you should know me and my qualifications since I have lived in this County all my life and for the past thirty years have lived in the First District and the City of Iuka.

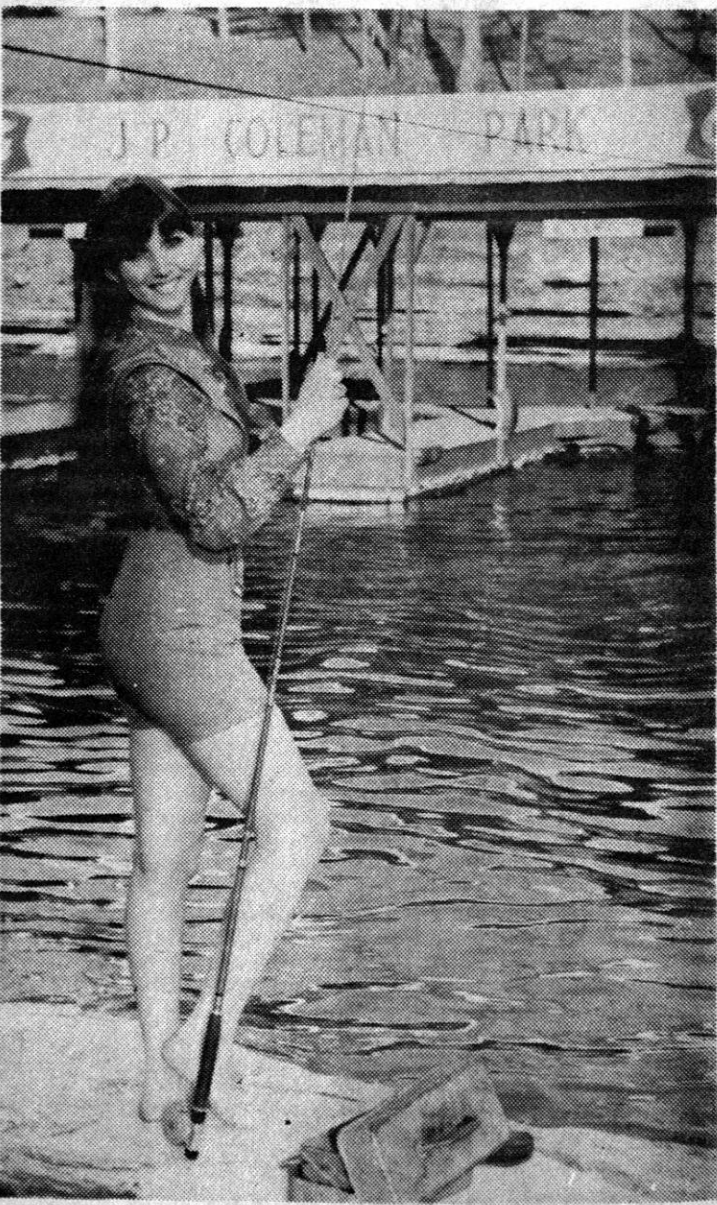

While I was just a young lad, I worked as delivery boy here in the city for the late C. E.

Edmondson Grocery and Market. For the past twenty-seven years, I have been employed at Reynolds' Alloy Plant, Sheffield, Ala. I am sixty-three years old now. I have reared a family of three boys and one girl and was fortunate enough to get them all through high school.

I honestly and earnestly solicit your support on Tuesday, June 3rd when you go to the polls to cast your vote. I have had a burning desire to serve the people of Iuka in this capacity for quite some time.

I am for a bigger, better town, yet, I would not be hasty in making decisions that would be a burden to those less fortunate. I intend to see each of you between now and June 3rd but should I fail to make personal contact, please consider this as my appeal to you for your Member of Board of Alderman in the City General Election.

Signed: William Emmett Monroe

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

A MAN WHO BELIEVED IN AMERICA

For millions of Americans, the passing of Dwight D. Eisenhower, 34th President of the United States and commander of the allied armies in Europe, provided a solemn occasion for recalling the vital qualities of leadership in this Republic.

Gen. Eisenhower was a product of the American experience and embodied patriotic virtues which are essential to this country if it is to endure. At a time when there is disorder in the land and not inconsiderable disloyalty to its values, as evidenced among the militants of the New Left, it is timely to bear in mind what is basic to greatness and to the survival of the American system.

Nowadays, militants angrily denounce "The System," and call for its overthrow or radical alteration. The militants have their camp followers in politics who try to sell the idea that the United States is riddled with imperfections and in need of radical reconstruction. Some officeholders, sad to say, believe that it is smart to adopt the New Left's slogans about this being a land of hunger and hardship.

Dwight Eisenhower was a product of the American system, and his success in life demonstrates how effective and worthwhile that system is. He was born into a family of modest means. His father was a worker in a creamery in Abilene. Today, "liberals" no doubt would describe his family as "deprived" or "disadvantaged." But the Eisenhower family didn't see itself that way. Members of the family worked hard; they had faith in America. Not only the future President but his brothers did well in careers, achieving substantial success. The story of the Eisenhower family is the story of countless other American families of modest means who believed in the virtues of work, thrift, and loyalty to God and country.

The man who later in life was to command the largest force of free men ever committed to battle was a man brought up to believe in self-reliance. He didn't have the comforts and pleasures of other young men from more affluent circumstances, but he didn't complain. He relied on his own abilities and energies. He didn't expect an OEO or any other agency to provide him with instant prosperity.

For the young Eisenhower, service to country was a wonderful opportunity, not something to be avoided by taking refuge in graduate school. Throughout his life, he adhered to West Point's injunction to follow the path of duty, honor and courage. These concepts are a million light years away from what the New Left intelligentsia teaches today. Instead of stressing duty, the "liberal" intellectuals urge young men to avoid national service. Honor is scorned by the Left intelligentsia as an outmoded concept. Instead, they urge the young to seek peace at any price, to believe that it's better to be "Red than dead." Finally, courage in defense of one's country is dismissed by radicals as a shopworn concept. They speak of the virtue of anarchy.

In the eight years that Dwight D. Eisenhower was President, he displayed none of the arrogance of power characteristic of some of his predecessors and successors. Though his administration disappointed some conservatives who hoped for a thorough house-cleaning of entrenched radical elements in the federal government, President Eisenhower was not afraid to show his belief in free enterprise. He brought businessmen into the Cabinet. As a result, America's affluence gained greatly in the 1950s. Home ownership grew enormously during the Eisenhower years. American society was strengthened and stabilized.

Like other outstanding men,

PUTTING BLAME WHERE IT BELONGS

JOHN J. SYNON

WASHINGTON — "Senator," I began, "someone I know places the blame for Washington's debauched condition on the preachers and the intellectuals. My friend says the preachers have destroyed the city's moral values by having deserted the divine for something called 'humanitarianism'." The others, the intellectuals, he says, make their contribution to this city's ills through a philosophy they call 'situation ethics'.

"I don't know that I really understand either of those terms. Do you; and if you do, do you agree with him?"

"Yes," the old man responded, "I understand and I do agree if, by 'preachers' he means the religious hierarchy. Individual ministers, rank-and-file clerics, may or may not be practitioners of this new 'religion', though most are. It's the in thing."

"As to the meaning of the words he used: Humanitarianism is a shield for a harsher word, marxism. And situation ethics simply means doing whatever at the time seems to be right. Both are ill-founded concepts and their application does account for the Washington jungle you deplore; they are the root causes."

"You see," he continued; however they attempt to gloss over the differences between the races — and that is the stock-in-trade of these people, glossing — those differences remain."

He interrupted himself: "You said you had been out to Howard University, didn't you?"

I had said that. Howard sits at the head of Seventh Street, at the top of the riot area. I had said I had driven around it with this friend, just looking and talking.

"Howard, though most people don't realize it, is the greatest Negro college on earth — or that ever was on earth. Yet, by white standards, it is a second or third rate educational institution. It must be that to properly serve its second and third rate students. Intellectually, the average black is about the equal of a third rate white student."

"That's the sad fact. Even so, if I were a Negro and that were rubbed into me — true though I knew it to be — I would resent it. How much worse, then, when these genetically illiterate dogooders — I'm talking about the preachers, now — compound this natural misfortune by telling the Negro students they are what they are, not because God made them so, but because the likes of you and me invidiously discriminate against them. Today's preachers, dressed in the accou-

Gen. Eisenhower made mistakes in his appointments and his policies, but he acknowledged mistakes. He was extremely reluctant to give moral approval to court-ordered experiments with public education. It has been written that he felt he erred greatly in using troops at Little Rock in 1956.

In the main, however, Gen. Eisenhower was in the central current of American thinking. He understood the strength of the American "system," and upheld it as a model of opportunity and enlightenment. He had no use for the strident doctrines of social revolution. He rejected the demagoguery and truth-twisting that is involved in describing America as a land of hunger and poverty. His confidence in the United States and its essential goodness and greatness should be remembered for years to come.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Should the Army Rule Out God?

Overruling the protests of atheists such as Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair, Postmaster General Blount has determined that the words, "In the beginning God . . ." will appear on the six-cent postage stamp to be issued in commemoration of the historic Apollo 8 flight around the moon.

The stamp is to go on sale in Houston on May 5 and elsewhere in the country on the following day.

The postmaster general said that he had received a great number of letters from citizens who wanted the Scripture quotation to be included in the design of the stamp.

God Ruled Out

But, while the recognition of God is attested by the issuance of this commemorative postage stamp, God has been ruled out of another segment of American life.

Chaplains of the U. S. Army have been forbidden to mention God in their lectures which are delivered to soldiers for the purpose of instilling moral responsibility.

The foreword to character guidance manuals, in use by the army for many years, declares that the program is based on the American philosophy, expressed in the Declaration of Independence, which "regards man as a creature of God."

"As such," the manual continues, "every soldier is responsible and accountable to the Creator for the way he performs his civic and military duty, for the maintaining of his own and the nation's honor, and for the quality of service he renders to his country as a soldier."

But now, because of a complaint from the American Civil Liberties Union, the Army has ruled that a chaplain may not mention God or religious philosophy in the required lectures on moral responsibility.

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord," the Bible says.

"Them that honor Me I will honor, and that they despise Me shall be lightly esteemed," declares the Lord.

Is not this a time when we should be calling on God for help in solving our problems—both foreign and domestic—rather than excluding Him from our lives?

What can we expect as a nation if we allow this trend to continue?

If we forget God, will He forget us?

Should This Be Changed?

What is your opinion of this U. S. Army order?

If you think that an effort should be made to have the army rescind this order and permit chaplains to mention God in these lectures, write to me in care of this newspaper, telling me what you believe should be done.

The issue may yet be settled in favor of God—and in favor of our historic national recognition of our dependence on God—if we take action now.

"In God we trust" is still our national motto. Shall we hold to it?

Mayor Pat Dunne of Greenville, formerly of Corinth, is the chairman of the Mississippi Municipal Association's "Make Municipalities Attractive" contest. The competition has a $3,000 award in prize money. According to Mayor Dunne, through April 1, a total of 65 municipalities had submitted entries. The project is a phase of the MMA's program to help promote the state's development through beautification. Mayor Dunne's committee works closely with the Governor's Committee to "Keep Mississippi Beautiful".

Pat (Foote) and Norman Hyneman and their three robust children were home for the Easter holidays. At church Sunday morning the three children were all decked out in their Easter duds. Each one is completely different. Ginger, the eldest, is a fine blonde with short fluffy curls. LeAnne is fairer with long brown pigtailed and last but certainly not least, is Todd, the couple's husky son. He knows how to meet the people. We were so long at visiting after services that my ride left which made necessary the Hyneman taxi service.

—O—

We were talking about what a beauty Genie Foote has married down in Jackson, Mississippi, and Janette Enlow, (Earldene's mom), said that they ate dinner with the Enlow clan during the holidays around Christmas and Genie's wife is definitely a lovely girl.

—O—

Basil Wheeler caught a nice string of bass down at Mill Creek one day last week. They weighed in at 7 lbs. 4 oz., 6 1/2 lbs., 4 1/2 lbs. and a 3 pounder. Clois Deaton of Holcut had his luck with the crappie. He carried home a total of 18 pounds from the Mill Creek area—a string of 11. Good Eatin'!

—O—

Thanks to Ann Byrd at the Iuka Library research problems become a breeze. It just takes a phone call to have things right at your finger tips when you go down to "search". National Library Week is just around the corner and Ann will be planning some special activities you'll hear about later.

—O—

Last week, talking to Miriam Carmichael about her new grandson, it came to my attention that recently I'd gotten confused on the spelling of Pharo's name. (That's Rebecca Faye Carmichael Craft—she kept the same initials.) Anyway, confusion came when I couldn't remember which "Craft-Kraft" it was, cheese or boats, so I chose "cheese" in honor of the astronaut's flight around the moon and naturally it was the other (K) Craft.

—O—

On the phone you're hearing a different voice occasionally here at the newspaper office. It's that of Judy Ryan, (Ricky's wife) who's learning the ropes of newspapering. Mary Ann's getting her parachute packed for American Airlines where she'll be stewardessing soon.

—O—

During the past few weeks, Jim Easterling has helped to furnish "props" for our front page beauties. Last week Martha Miller was on hand to do the honors and this week our extras were furnished by Mattie Daniel.

—O—

"Brigadoon" will be presented over at NEMJC, as you've heard. What you may not be aware of is the new discovery they've made at the junior college in dancers. Right off, you'll recognize Harold Lomenick of Iuka, along with the fine number of other Tishomingo county colleagues who'll be hoofin' on stage.

—O—

R. E. Pate of Cherokee, was among those seen enjoying an afternoon drive in Iuka and visiting with friends along the way, Easter Sunday.

Burnsville Jr.-Sr. Banquet Fri. Night

The J. P. Coleman State Park restaurant-lodge on the banks of the Tennessee River, was the perfect setting for the Burnsville Junior-Senior Banquet last Friday night.

Party-goers arrived in formal evening attire for the entertainment which carried the theme of the oldtime "Showboat".

Rex Wilemon, president of the junior class, welcomed the group as they enjoyed dinner of roast beef, creamed potatoes, green salad, green beans, rolls, lemon cream pie and iced tea in the upstairs diningroom.

After an impressive address by the junior class president, senior president, David Graham made the response in behalf of the members of his class.

Highlight of the program was the reading of the Class Prophecy for the seniors by junior Janette Morris. Senior Debbie Foote then read the Senior Class's "Last Will & Testament".

Later couples found their way, by candlelight, to the stairway disguised as a gangplank, where they boarded their private "Showboat" in the downstairs lounge for dancing.

The band, "The Clique" of Corinth, was situated before a backdrop which featured a large scene of a riverboat and the lettering "Welcome to the Showboat". The candles from upstairs were placed about the room which overlooks the lake, and dancing couples filled the floor under a canopy of red and white crepe streamers, interspersed with crepe paper lanterns.

Members of the high school faculty and their wives and husbands were special guests.

Sponsors of the junior class, hosts for the banquet, are Mrs. George Oakley, Mrs. Ed Gregory and Charles Rushing.
