BIG STILL DESTROYED By LAWMEN

Two 1-thousand gallon illicit whiskey cookers were destroyed Friday night by the Tishomingo county sheriff's department and A-1 agents. A Tishomingo man was charged with manufacturing illegal whiskey for the purpose of selling, later he was released on forfeiture of a cash bond. Located about five miles southwest of Paden in Mackey's Creek bottom on the Jackson Camp road, the still was in operation when discovered Wednesday afternoon. The area was kept under sur-vellence until Friday night about 7 o'clock. Officials state that whiskey made at the still was being sold mostly in Alabama and in Florida.

Adding to destruction of the still was ABC Agents, Aurie Marlar, and Tip Lumpkin, and Deputy Sheriff James Bishop and Woodrow Davis.

A sample of the whiskey made at the still was sent to Jackson for chemical analysis to determine its lead content. Lead poisoning has often resulted from consumption of such home-made whiskey. Galvanized cookers and wash tubs were used in making the brew.

Supplies found and destroyed included 1,000 pounds of sugar, two cases of yeast, two sacks of wheat mash, five 5-gallon fuel cans, ten 5-gallon plastic containers, 200 1-gallon glass jugs, a hoe, an ax, and a shovel.

In recent action, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the Town of Belmont ordered an increase in water rates to patrons of the town's water system.

Effective August 15, the rate will be increased 50¢. Reason given for the increase was the cost of a new well, new water lines, and labor. The officials also pointed out that all unpaid bills at the First of the month following the monthly due date, will result in the patrons being disconnected from all the town's utility systems.

League Queen To Be Crowned

The Little League Baseball finals will be played tonight (Thursday) beginning at 7:30. Bidding for the championship title will be Genesco and VFW teams. The consolation game, beginning at 6:30, will feature Conalco vs Guaranty Bank.

Between games, a Little League Queen will be crowned. At the end of the games, the winning team will be awarded a trophy as well as the most valuable player from each team. Genesco will be presented a trophy for winning first place in the regular season.

To New Window Shades

How you treat your windows can make all the difference in the world when it comes to decorating.

Treat them indifferently and they show it. Treat them imaginatively and they respond by becoming a vital part of room decor.

One of the most effective ways of dealing with windows is to treat them to handsome new shades.

For example, shades can be laminated with the same cotton fabric that's used for chair or couch covers. You can have the work done by a shade dealer, or do it yourself with a new adhesive-coated shade cloth that's heat sensitive. Any cotton fabric can be ironed on to the specially treated shade cloth. The heat does all the work by activating the adhesive.

Solid-colored shades can be tied into the room's decor by applying cut-out fabric designs or bands of ribbon. Closely woven cottons are the best fabrics for appliques.

To keep fabric from raveling, paint the cutting line on the back with clear nail polish before cutting. Cut out motifs carefully with sharp scissors and arrange the design on the shade.

Then apply glue to the reverse side, making sure to cover the entire surface before pressing onto the shade. Smooth out, checking to see that all edges are attached securely and no air bubbles remain.

After gluing is completed and adhesive has dried, the face of the fabric can be protected by a coating of clear acrylic spray.

While shades add a big plus to ordinary windows, they have a special talent for transforming problem windows into decorative assets. Any window—whether it's a bay, casement, jalousie, or L-shaped type that turns the corner—can be shaded to perfection.

Misc. Bridal Shower For Linda June Biggs

Miss Linda June Biggs, bride-elect of Tommy Stricklen, was feted with a miscellaneous bridal shower on the evening of August 4 in the fellowship hall of the Iuka Baptist Church.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Harvey Honeycutt, Mrs. Jack Ramsey, Glenda Dean, Charlene McBride, Mrs. Roy Jack James, and Mrs. Elma Denton.

The honoree was lovely in a pink crepe accented with a wide satin bow at the slightly raised waistline. She wore pink accessories and at her shoulder was pinned a double corsage of white gladioli buds tipped in pink, a gift of the hostesses.

Also present for the occasion were the mothers of the engaged couple, both wearing ensembles of navy and white. Both Mrs. Howard Biggs and Mrs. P. B. Stricklen were presented with single glads in pink and white corsages.

Guest mothers present included Mrs. Blanche Biggs, Mrs. Mary Cutris, both of Iuka, and Mrs. George Stricklen of Booneville.

FUNDING THE EXTREMISTS

One of the questions people often ask is where the extremist organizations get money to finance their activities. Part of the answer is that they get it from liberal religious groups such as the Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organization (IFCO).

The public has a need to know about the operations of a foundation of this type, for it is given tax-exempt status under the law. This is a privilege. If the privilege is abused, action should be taken by the authorities to revoke the tax-exempt provision. Churchmen also have a legitimate interest in the doings of IFCO, for a number of Protestant denominations have given money to the foundation.

Actually, it is well-known that IFCO is deeply involved in aiding militant groups engaged in stirring strife. For example, the Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organization authorized up to $50,000 to convene a National Black Economic Conference in Detroit last April. It was at this conference that James Forman issued his notorious "black manifesto" demanding "reparations" from the churches. What isn't well known are the profoundly anti-American remarks that Forman made at the conference.

In his talk, Forman declared: "We live inside the U.S., which is the most barbaric country in the world, and we have a chance to help bring this government down."

In most countries of the world, such a disloyal statement would be grounds for a treason trial. In America today, however, almost every type of disloyalty is tolerated and excused.

There's no question as to Forman's meaning. He spoke of "armed confrontation and long years of sustained guerrilla warfare inside this country." He said he envisioned an "armed, well-disciplined, black-controlled government."

He stated his ideology, saying: "We are dedicated to building a socialist society inside the United States, where the total means of production and distribution are in the hands of the state and that must be led by black people."

This, then, is the revolutionary program at Detroit that was made possible by the funds of the Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organization and by the giving of innocent people who had no idea of what their contributions were funding.

However, this is not a rare exception. IFCO has been engaged in aiding other organizations of this type. For instance, IFCO gave money to the Black Congress in Los Angeles. This group is not a community uplift organization, not by any means. The Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee has heard testimony that characterized the Black Congress as a coalition of extremist groups, including the Black Panther Party, SNCC, CORE and the Black Students Union. The Black Congress reportedly worked closely with the Communist Party in sponsoring a rally last year for the defense of Huey P. Newton, the Black Panther founder who was convicted of manslaughter in the death of an Oakland, California policeman.

These are only two instances of IFCO's involvement with disruptive community groups. It has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars bankrolling extremist groups that disturb the peace of American communities — and all the spending has been tax-exempt. As the "Richmond News Leader" put it in a recent editorial, IFCO "has been caught disbursing funds to groups whose idea of community organization is to 'get whiter' by burning everything in sight."

IFCO spokesmen, in throwing a smokescreen over the organization's activities, resort to gobbledegook. In one instance a spokesman said groups funded "include all segments of the black community . . . because it takes such inclusiveness to help build up the black community."

Now, certainly, good churchmen in the United States don't approve of "inclusiveness" that covers organizations such as the para-military Black Panthers who teach youngsters to hate and to kill policemen. No church group can justify giving money to

A DAY IN ARKANSAS

JOHN J. SYNON

As my friend pushed himself under the steering wheel, his right heel brushed the big, black .45 strapped against the seat's upright.

My eye caught the movement as his eye caught the startled expression on my face.

"We don't go out any more without a gun", my friend said, by way of explanation. "Not in this part of Arkansas. There have been several incidents."

The journey was to be a short one, a mile, from the Marvell fair grounds where a barbecue was in progress to the new school house I had asked to see.

"Things are really getting tight", my companion told me as we arrived. "Between the federal courts and the NAACP, they mean to crush us and we don't really know what to do exactly — except resist."

The school was no great shakes, not if one were to compare it to tax-bought, public schools. But the pride and love so evident in the timbre of my friend's voice changed the one-story, 12-room brick building into a veritable palace. This was their very own, they had built it for their children, independent of the public schools and (they hoped) independent of the federal government. And (they hoped) nobody could tell them how to operate it.

"We built it for a hundred-thousand dollars, all of it; land, equipment, everything."

"How much do you still owe?" My friend seemed to savor his reply: "Twenty-seven hundred more and she's clear."

Marvell, Arkansas, is located about 75 miles south and a bit west of Memphis. It is cotton country; no rain, no cotton; no cotton, no life worth the living. It is an elementary land. Its people believe in God, and they believe in good and in evil, in the United States of America, and in the boll weevil. And they believe in social segregation of the races; blacks as well as whites believe in that.

"Ninety per cent of the people of this country, black and white, don't want the races mixed up in the schools — but that doesn't hate groups or to groups that encourage violence within themselves to arm themselves and strike at law enforcement authorities. Yet this is what the Black Panthers openly advocate.

Concerned churchmen have a right to expect that their denominations won't give another cent to IFCO. Concerned taxpayers have a right to demand that the Internal Revenue Service consider revoking the tax-exempt status of the Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organization.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Greatest Week In History

"This is the greatest week in the history of the world since the Creation," President Nixon told Astronauts Armstrong, Aldrin, and Collins, as he welcomed them back to earth after their epic round-trip voyage to the moon.

Certainly the feat of the three intrepid adventurers, backed by the technological resources of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, dwarfed the achievements of many previous explorers.

For the first time in history, man had planted his feet on the surface of an extraterrestrial body.

Thus the way has been opened for future exploration of other planets. Perhaps Mars will be first, then Venus, then . . . who knows where this may lead us?

Some Disagree

But there are some who would not agree with the president's designation of "the greatest week."

One who would certainly disagree that the week of the moon-trip was "the greatest" would be Sen. Edward Kennedy — for that was the week in which Mary Jo Kopechne died of drowning in the senator's car, overturned in Pouche Pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Also—Evangelist Billy Graham has expressed disagreement with the president, saying that several other weeks would have to be given consideration as contenders for the title of

Saturday night, August 16, Mississippi will host a pre-bowl AFL pre-season game matching the Kansas City Chiefs and the Cincinnati Bengals at Memorial Stadium in Jackson. Kickoff is at 8 o'clock. Tickets can be ordered or picked up in person at the stadium. Address your order to Mississippi Memorial Stadium, P. O. Box 4574, Fondren Station, Jackson, Miss. 39216. Check or M.O.D. should be made out for $6 reserved or $7 box plus 50 cents per package for added postage and handling. That would be a good weekend for some couples.

There's a publication reportedly coming out entitled "An Inventory of Mississippi Tourist Attractions." It was prepared under the direction of the Mississippi Economic Council's 1968-69 Resource and Economic Development Committee, chaired by A. J. Watson, Jr., Gulfport. John Daniel of Scott served as chairman of the special committee which worked directly with the publication project. I hope they haven't slighted Tishomingo county that boasts two State parks. Right now I've got a bone to pick with the Travel Division of the A & I Board because they've listed in some of their ads (that are public service) that, quote, "We're willing to bet that you've missed many of Mississippi's delightful hideaways. . . like any one of Mississippi's 14 state parks located in the Delta, Central and Gulf Coast areas of the state." Now, in that statement did you see anything pertaining to the Northern portion at all?

The weekend brought the opportunity to attend an open house and class reunion of the Class of '59 in Corinth. Familiar faces in the crowd that will be remembered by a number of my age group included Bobby Worsham, Kenneth Williams, Lee Luther Hasseltine, Bobby King, Ralph Horne, Sammy Kemp, Chig Biggers and all their wives and of course, David Coleman. It was a very good gathering and a lot of fun.

Kinfolks, the Joe Holtsfords and the Hiram Holtsfords were over Saturday afternoon from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., to take part in boat riding on the lake and then fish supper at the house.

CONTACT LENSES AND YOU

New York (NAPS)—"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest one of all?" Snow White's wicked queen asked the question, and today nearly ten million people say they have the answer. For that many claim they look and see better with contact lenses and nobody knows they wear "glasses."

November is National Contact Lens Month. time to take a look into the tiny vision aids and why so many people use them.

For one thing the lens has come a long way since Leonardo Da Vinci sketched the idea in 1508. The lens finally came to us 100 years ago, made of glass and the size of half an eggshell. Now it's aspirin-size, paper-thin and made of plastic.

According to Bausch & Lomb Ophthalmic Products, makers of solutions and accessories for the care of contact lenses, a century of research allows the contact to be used in many ways. They can be optically ground as bifocals, sunglasses, monoculars (when only one eye needs correction), and as pairs.

Unlike eyeglasses, contacts float on the eye's tear layer and cover only the cornea, the part of the eye out of which we see. Capillary attraction keeps them in place. That's what makes a wet coin cling to a table top.

Women, chiefly for cosmetic reasons, make up 75% of all adult users of contacts. Teens and pre-teens add up to about 25% of the total picture. Most adapted to their lenses (achieved day-long wear) in 2 to 6 weeks.

Professional people make dramatic use of lenses. Models are naturals and, of course, so are professional athletes. The late Cecil B. DeMille had many of his stars outfitted with them, notably Charlton Heston, Esther Williams, Nina Foch and others. Even President Johnson is said to have worn them for speech-making.

Near- and far-sightedness are the chief vision problems corrected with contact lenses. Astigmatism (wavy, distorted vision) is another one. The image one sees through a contact comes closer to 20/20 (normal) vision than that offered by any vision correction device known.

Sp4 Mitchell Gets Badge

One of the Army badges that soldiers wear with special pride is the Combat Infantryman Badge. It was awarded to Specialist Four Aaron P. Mitchell in Vietnam, June 23.

Spec. 4 Mitchell, son of Mr. J. B. Mitchell, Red Bay, Ala., is assigned as a mortarman in Company E, 1st Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 23d Infantry near Pleiku.

The CIB has been awarded since late in World War II for sustained ground contact against an enemy.

Poor Pollination Of Corn Report

Percie B. Stricklen, county agent, reports that many have made inquiries as to the cause of poor pollination and seed set in corn this year. Several samples have been observed throughout the county.

The first thought is to blame it on poor quality seed or an inadequate mixture of male sterile seed. This is a possibility but is only remote. The damage is so widespread that we think it is directly related to weather conditions. The following is a quote from Modern Corn Production, one of the most widely accepted books about corn in the United States:

Scattered kernels on full-sized cobs — This indicates that something went wrong at pollination time. Silking may have been delayed until after most of the pollen was shed. Silks may have been eaten off by insects. Extreme heat and drought may have reduced the amount of viable pollen.

Poor timing of silk emergence and pollen shed — Drought or shortage of phosphorus delays the emergence of silks more than it delays pollen shedding.

Silks eaten off — When rootworm adults, grasshoppers, katydids, Japanese beetles, woollybear caterpillars and other insects of local importance eat off the silks before pollination, there will be few, if any kernels set.

Pollen destroyed by extreme heat — High temperature and low humidity reduce the vigor of pollen and thus fewer kernels are set on the ear.

Drought at silking time — This is the most critical time in the life of the corn plant for adequate moisture.

Nitrogen shortage aggravated by drought — This is not uncommon when drought strikes well-fertilized high population fields at ear-shooting time.

Our trouble in Tishomingo County can be directly related to the extreme high temperatures and dry weather.

Celebrate Fiftieth Year Of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Rutledge, Sr., celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on July 27 at their home in the Midway community.

Honoring their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bobo and Mr. and Mrs. Malone Walsh, both of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rutledge, Jr. of Midway.

Approximately 150 guests were received between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock. In the foyer of the Rutledge residence, a sister, Mrs. Clara Bingham, Debbie Rutledge, granddaughter, and Kathy Shook greeted guests and registered them in the guest book.

A gold bell engraved the entrance of the dining area where guests were served golden punch, cake and nuts by Mrs. Ruth Rutledge, daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ayelle Walsh, daughter, and Sherry Shook. The table was overlaid with a gold brocaded silk cloth, a gift to the honoree from her granddaughter, Diane Greene, who is presently spending two years in Tokyo, Japan, with her husband, who is serving with the United States Air Force. Jerry Don and Diane were the only members of the family that were unable to attend the occasion. The three-tiered cake was flanked by tall white tapers in a pair of crystal candlesticks. Mrs. Corinne Nelson, a sister, and Mrs. Mabel Bobo, daughter, received and displayed the large assortment of gifts.

One highlight of the day was a phone call from a friend, Miss Lorena Oaks of Washington, D. C., congratulating the couple.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mullen and Mr. and Mrs. Admoise Rutledge, niece and nephew of Mr. Rutledge from Lexington, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Jourdan, Mrs. Love Rutledge, Mrs. Evelyn Wade Hughey of Memphis;

The Iuka Jaycettes had their regular meeting at the Magnolia Restaurant last Tuesday, July 29. Ida Ann Bean, president, called the meeting to order.

The invocation was given by Jerri Ann Thomas. During the business session, Sherry Ramsey, wife of Jim Ramsey — the newly elected Jaycee president — was elected most outstanding Jaycette for the months of April, May and June.

Among those present for the meeting, in addition to those already mentioned were Mesdames Don Cooper, Charles Curtis, Burlon Darham, Ted Hammett, Ronnie Harvey, Joe Hussey, Jack Ramsey, Bobby Timbes, Bill Moore and Charles Lewis.

Billy P. McKissicks At Home In Iuka

In a candlelight ceremony, Miss Wanda Faye Stanford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stanford, became the bride of Billy Perry McKissick on Friday, June 13, at Saltillo Baptist Church. Mr. McKissick is the son of Mrs. Oline McKissick and the late Bill McKissick.

The Rev. David Poe officiated. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Cheryl Akin, organist, and Mrs. Eddy Edge, vocalist.

Candelabra entwined with ivy and flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli formed the altar background. Morris McCain and George Hall were candlelighters.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length white textured knit. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Sharon McKissick, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of peach colored linen trimmed with white lace. She carried a single large white chrysanthemum. Her headpiece was a circular veil attached to a matching Dior bow.

Lorie Bumper, flower girl, wore a dress of mint green dotted swiss and carried a basket of daisies. She was escorted to the altar by Martin Stacks, nephew of the bridegroom.

Prentiss Lamphere served the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Stanford wore a beige cotton knit overlaid with lace. Mrs. McKissick's dress was pink bonded knit. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

Miss Corinne McKissick, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mrs. McKissick entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests with a supper in the church recreation hall. A miniature bride and bridegroom, surrounded by pink roses, centered the supper table. The bride-elect wore a trousseau dress of mint green.

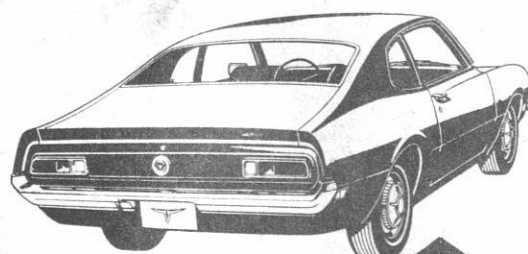

The couple are now at home at 410 West Quitman in Iuka.

P. G. Trotter & Wife Enjoying Long Life

Peyton Greene Trotter is ninety years old. In just 2 1/2 years, he and his wife, Jalie Elledge Trotter, will have been married seventy years: a time longer than the lifespan of many a man.

The couple make their home in Burnsville. Mrs. Virgia Whitaker, Mr. Trotter's sister, lives with them.

P. G. Trotter enjoys talking about his long life and the many activities he and his wife have been involved in during the years. The two married in 1902 when Mr. Trotter was depot agent and telegraph operator at Burnsville. The new Mrs. Trotter was only 19, having attended school at the old "I & I" as she recalls it. (The Iuka Institute).

Upon looking back to that day, Mrs. Trotter presented the thought that she was worried about what today's children will turn out to be like. "What are they doing for good music? What's going to happen to them being exposed to all the stuff heard everywhere now, that they call music? I remember at the I & I what culture was made available to us. You wouldn't believe how marvelous Iuka was then. Everything was so grand and there was so much of the finer things for the people to enjoy. Things certainly aren't the same," she said.

After their wedding, the next years brought travel to the couple as they made their home in Memphis, St. Louis, Arkansas and again in Memphis. Some very enjoyable years were spent in Cherokee, Alabama, where Mr. Trotter served as depot agent and telegraph operator there.

It was during the Memphis years that the couple raised their son, James Robert Trotter, who's now married. He and his wife are bringing up a fine family of young "Trotters" — all boys — to carry on the Trotter name. They live in the Whitehaven area.

The elder Trotter is retired from the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. He's been retired since 1944. Looking thru photographs of his retirement party, Mr. Trotter recalled the day Cleo Craig, a sandy-haired, robust young fellow came to work in St. Louis. Mr. Trotter gave him a helping hand in getting started and saw Craig rise to President of the company. "We became fast friends during those years, and when we moved back to Burnsville just after my retirement, Cleo saw to it that my wife and I had a telephone installed. This, in that day-in time, was a great thing in itself, since it was almost an impossibility in Burnsville."

Later, as he scratched the ears of his white and tan basset hound called "Cleo," Mr. Trotter remembered how much he enjoyed his work. "That telegraph machine was something else! Boy, I loved it. And I was a whiz at it too. You could hardly type the words as fast as I could send them. But now the telegraph is a thing of the past."

RIGHT SPRY

A person meeting Mr. Trotter for the first time, finds the age factor almost unbelievable. He could pass for a young "60" with his dark hair and beaming brows, only faintly touched with white.

"Frankly, I call myself a Walker now 'cause the old Trotter's lost his zip for the fast pace," he said. But, all things considered, he might better be described somewhere at a pace between a trotter and a walker — he's a man who won't sit down.

"It's true. I don't sit a lot. That's because of my back, though. I've got arthritis down low and the doctor said the worst thing for me was sitting. So, I usually stand or lie flat but you can catch me sitting sometimes."

Mr. Trotter has his own ideas about maintaining his physical condition. One is vitamin E pills, a vitamin developed in Canada relating to the blood and heart condition. "Yes, sir, I take 'em and have for a number of years. They've done wonders."

Another is deep exhaling. "People don't exhale enough. I've been practicing this exercise for a long time and you can see that I don't have any trouble breathing and I can talk for a long time. People inhale alright but then they barely exhale and that's where the problem comes. They need to exercise their lungs both directions. It means a lot."

"Another thing, I smoke a pipe. I enjoy a pipe. But, I won't smoke a cigarette. Ben Franklin and Thomas Edison were good buddies and one day Tom asked Ben why it was so many of his boys who smoked cigarettes were having lung diseases and Ben told him it was 'paper smoke.' That's why I don't smoke cigarettes — all that paper smoke's bad on your lungs."

THE REAL PLEASURE

"We're Baptists, you know, and attend church at the Burnsville Tabernacle. My one real pleasure and most gratifying activity is teaching a Sunday School Class. You know, Billy Graham — who we listen to all the time on the radio — made a reply to a fellow who asked him about being a Sunday School teacher. He said that this was one of the most important positions in the church. It's the foundation of a person's knowledge in religion. That's what I believe," he said.

The fine elderly couple are almost always at home and enjoy the visitors who stop to talk. The big white house on the hill is their happy home where they spend days recalling times past and use their radio, television and numerous newspapers, to keep in touch with everything going on in the country today, from the Kennedy Clan to "The Scratch Pad."

When asked if they saw the moon walk on television, Mrs. Trotter replied, "No. We didn't care about it. However, we did see the plane that the Wright Brothers made their first flight in. That was when we were in St. Louis."
