COUNTY SCHOOLS NO. 1 IN RECEIPT OF FEDERAL VOC. EDUCATIONAL FUNDS

Melvin Phifer, Superintendent of Education, Tishomingo County School System, announces that State Superintendent of Education, Dr. Garvin Johnston, has released the 1970 Annual Financial report relative to the financial status of Mississippi's one hundred fifty (150) school districts.

The 1970 annual report released by the state superintendent's office indicate that Tishomingo County School District led the state's one hundred fifty (150) districts in receipt of Federal Vocational Education Funds for the year just ended.

The funds were used to construct a Vocational Technical High School located on state Highway 25, one (1) mile North of Tishomingo, Mississippi. The school is near completion and is now operative. An open house is being planned for the near future.

Total federal funds received by the Tishomingo County School District in 1970 amounted to $571,644.37. This represents 36.95% of the Tishomingo County School Budget. Consequently, only 10.2% of the school budget comes from local funds. In fact, only three (3) districts in the state contribute less local money to education.

"I am delighted to make this favorable progress report to the people of Tishomingo County," stated Superintendent Phifer.

Co-Owner Of County News Dies In Central America

George A. Morris, Jr., member of a distinguished newspaper family, died Friday, Feb. 12, 1971, while vacationing in Central America.

Morris, 62, was co-owner of Tishomingo County News of Iuka; owner of Morris Publishing Co. of Sheffield, Ala.; and publisher of the Standard and Times of Sheffield.

He apparently suffered a heart attack while swimming just off Roatan Island, British Honduras.

Morris was a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church of Sheffield. He was elected president of Sheffield Rotary Club last Thursday, but never learned of his election.

He resided at 209 Wheeler Ave., Sheffield, and was the son of George A. Morris, Sr., who was editor of the Evening Appeal and later assistant publisher of the Commercial Appeal, both in Memphis, Tenn.

A native of Jackson, Tenn., Morris attended the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. and the University of Heidelberg, Germany. He was a Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Reserve, a veteran of World War II and was active in the formation of the USN Reserve Unit in Sheffield.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Caroline Hogue Morris, Sheffield; two sons, Dr. George A. Morris, III, Clearwater, Fla. and Wilson Morris, Assistant City Editor of the Washington Daily News; and his mother, Mrs. John Ozier, Somerville, Tenn.

Memorial services were held Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. in First Presbyterian Church, Sheffield. Funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian Church in Somerville, Tenn. at 3:00 p.m. Burial was in the family cemetery.

Booster-Faculty To Play February 26th

On Friday, February 26th at 7:00 p.m. in the Iuka High School gymnasium, the second annual Booster Club - Faculty basketball classic will be staged. We use the term "classic" rather loosely, because one definition of the word is, "famous, traditional or typical event." The words "traditional and event" best describe the proceedings, but anything "famous" or "typical" will be purely accidental.

Following last year's successful game, it was decided to make this an annual event. The Booster Club will be seeking revenge for the double loss handed them by the faculty in last year's games. At press time the rosters of the teams were incomplete, but many of the oldtimers that performed last year will again turn back the clock and try to display that blinding speed and deadly shooting eye that now has turned to slow motion and bifocals.

A special treat this year will be a chance not only to see the stars of yesteryear, but also to see the stars of tomorrow perform. For the past several weeks the Iuka Jaycees have been sponsoring a basketball clinic each Saturday morning for youngsters between the ages of 8 and 11 years of age. These boys have been coached by Mr. Harold Wade and Mr. Tommy Dean, and this will be their first chance to perform for the public. During halftime of the ladies game, the 8 and 9 year olds will tangle with each other, and later on in the evening at the half of the men's game, the 10 and 11 year olds will give you a further look at Iuka basketball in the future. These boys have worked hard and long hours practicing for this game, and it would be doing them an injustice if we didn't fill the gym Friday night, Feb. 26th.

The proceeds from this game will be used to help sponsor the Booster's Club's All-Sports Banquet in March. The balance of the proceeds will be put in the "Teepee for the Chieftains" field house building fund.

The price of admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for students. This year the same as last year all persons will be required to pay the regular admission price and this includes the participating players and coaches.

Make plans now to attend the games Friday, February 26th starting at 7:00 p.m.

Palestine Singing

The regular singing at Palestine will be held Sunday, February 21st beginning at 1:00 p.m.

The public is invited to attend.

ORGANIZED "POOR" TO THE NORTH

While the United States has difficulty with welfare unions and militant groups funded with public money, it hasn't a monopoly on this type of problem. Canadian taxpayers also are required to fund protest groups that want to tap the public treasury.

Earlier this winter, Canada's organized "poor" held their first national meeting in this northern metropolis. They had a field day with more than $68,000 of public money. Five hundred delegates attended the conference, supposedly representing more than 250 welfare and low-income groups across Canada.

Helen Wallace, a London Free Press staff writer, noted: "In spite of the fact they were appointed to represent Canada's poor, some of them appeared to be a comfortably dressed, middle-class looking set." This observation won't surprise Americans who have noticed that many recipients of federal food stamps in the U. S. drive to the supermarket and wear good clothes. Those who make a career of "poverty" seem to do quite well.

There was nothing solid or middle-class about the 60 resolutions the conference approved. For instance, the conference of Canadian "poor" people approved resolutions demanding release of both Quebec "political prisoners" and Angela Davis, the communist teacher held in connection with a murder charge in California.

Though this militant group wants increased funding from Canadian taxpayers, the conference participants were unwilling to let the public know what happened in their sessions. The press was evicted from the meeting. The decision to close the conference to the press was made by a select committee headed by Peter Robinson, a member of Toronto's Black Liberation Front.

One gimmick proposed by the conference is a national "poverty" newspaper. Canada's taxpayers would be expected to pick up the tab for this sheet. This is a propaganda device that apparently hasn't occurred to the organized "poor" in the United States. Indeed, participants in the Toronto meeting seemed especially determined to attack the Canadian press. They went so far as to blame poverty in Canada on "the major media owners."

Both Canadians and Americans should pay close attention to meetings of this sort. Extremists of every variety, including enemies of freedom of the press, see anti-poverty programs as efficient means of funding radical activities. In funding the organizations of the "poor," governments in effect create new political organizations that have the objectives of denying energetic citizens the fruits of their labor.

Opportunities abound in Canada, as in the United States. Canada's Far North represents the last frontier on this continent. People are needed in the Northwest Territories, Yukon, Northern Manitoba and elsewhere to open a great region and make it fully productive. But the organized "poor" aren't interested in challenge of hard work in a stern environment. They aren't interested in self help. Their real objective is radical political action and in extracting money from self-reliant citizens. This is a phenomenon common to both Canada and the United States.

The prescription for most of the ills that beset the world is just plain, everyday honesty.

Deeds Count More Than Words

How can I, in a column full of words, convince you that action is more important than words? I can't.

All of the words in a medical encyclopedia cannot compel you to diet if you are overweight. An NCAA official rule book cannot make a basketball fan into a player. All of the recipes of Julia Child cannot transform your cooking into French gourmet. Memorizing the Sermon on the Mount and repeating it aloud every morning before breakfast may have no effect on the purity of your life or your companionship with God.

Words are weak things. Actions, alone, can give words power.

The Abstract vs. the Real

I face this problem every day as a teacher. I analyze ideas—that's words. I present theories—that's words. I lead discussions on literature—that's words about words. Occasionally I get the feeling that nobody cares about a word I say, and that occurs when my words have lost touch with reality.

THE PLAGUE, a novel by Albert Camus, chronicles the actions of an Algerian city being slaughtered by a Bubonic plague epidemic. To argue from that story that finding the meaning of death is one of the crucial problems every man faces is valid. But it is also abstract.

To hear the account of one of my students who worked for a year in a hospital, serving terminal patients, who experienced what it is like to grow fond of people, only then to watch them all die, including the fathers of two of her school friends—that's reality.

Literature contains the most valuable words ever written, but the value of these words is wholly dependent on action. If there is nothing in reality to confirm the words, words remain worthless.

Because Bryan College — in Dayton, Tennessee — where I teach, is a Christian liberal arts college, we have a special concern about words versus actions. We study the Bible and order our school and personal lives by its teachings. The danger is that the Bible can become just words.

Guest speakers come to our campus and tell the students, "When you get out into life . . ." — as if college were separate from "real life." Churches face similar problems. Somehow Sunday becomes separate from "real life."

But the life of a Christian must be "real life" action. Or it is nothing at all, just hypocritical words.

Colleges and churches, many of them, have been founded on the Word alone—not adequately supported by actions—and now, like the house built on sand, lie smashed by the forces of today's problems.

Now Let's Act

Jesus taught, "Everyone who hears these words of Mine and acts upon them may be compared to a wise man who built his house upon a rock."

The wise believer acts. Our Christian colleges do some things, but they could do much more. So should our churches. So must we all.

Now it's been said, but it's still just words. If you believe it, if I believe it, we will do something.

House Approves 10 PCT. Raise For State Teachers

The Mississippi House gave 104-12 approval Tuesday to a teachers pay bill providing an annual salary increase of about $500 to most of the state's public school teachers.

The bill, guided to passage by Rep. Charles Allen of Amory, was a revised version of a measure passed a week ago by the Senate and must now return to the upper chamber. Allen predicted the bill would eventually wind up in a joint conference committee to thrash out differences between the two chambers.

Both versions would provide a 10 percent increase in the base pay for class AA (masters degree) and class A (bachelors degree) teachers, leaving teachers at lesser qualifications at present levels.

Under the new scale, the minimum pay for class AA teachers would be boosted from $5,200 to $5,700 while class A teachers would go from $4,888 to $5,200.

Fiscal leaders said the Senate bill would require about $8 million to finance above the $138.8 million recommended by the state budget commission for the next fiscal year. Allen said the cost of the House proposal would be "about the same."

Allen noted the legislature approved a $1,000 salary increase for classroom teachers in 1968 and an additional four percent hike last year. He said passage of the latest measure would mean an increase of nearly 50 percent during the present four-year administration.

However, Rep. C. L. Bullock of Gulfport said other states also had given their teachers more money and Mississippi still ranks last in the nation in teacher salaries.

Bullock made the statement in opposing an amendment by Rep. J. A. Thigpen of Cleveland to reduce the proposed salary boost from $500 to $200. Thigpen said this would still be an increase of about six percent over present salaries and reduce the overall cost of the bill by around $4 million.

Rep. Robert L. Vaughan of Port Gibson, who supported Thigpen's amendment, said the legislature was not "facing reality" to talk about reducing taxes while raising state expenditures. The Senate has approved an income tax reduction into garbage dumps." He pointed out also that wildfires, many of which have their origin at these roadside dumps, are still occurring annually here in Mississippi at a nation-leading rate.

"We profess to love our state, with its many miles of scenic drives and millions of acres of verdant forests, and all the while we are burying it in filth and burning it up with our carelessness of callousness!" said Lack.

"I think it's high time we started getting tough with people who use public roadsides and other people's private property as a convenient place to dump refuse. We have laws against littering -- let's use them, or strengthen them if they are currently unenforceable," he continued.

Lack concluded: "An aroused public is what it'll take to turn this thing around and keep Mississippi from continuing down this disgusting pathway we're now traveling in regard to roadside littering and destructive wildfires."

Agriculture A Tremendous Challenge

Agriculture is America's largest single industry with an investment in excess of one hundred seventy billion dollars.

Agriculture majors at Northeast realize that since the nation's population is growing so extensively, agriculture has the tremendous challenge and responsibility of finding ways to meet current and future demands. Agriculture is the basic industry -- "The Big Job."

Realizing that more than forty percent of all jobs are in agriculture -- jobs important to everyone, jobs with futures -- the Agriculture Department at Northeast provides basic training in a variety of fields.

Students interested in a career in agriculture may study toward a B.S. degree in agriculture economics, agricultural education, engineering technology and business, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, and entomology. The College of Agriculture at Northeast also includes courses in general agriculture, horticulture, plant pathology, weed science, and poultry science.

In addition to the present facilities of the department, a new classroom, offices, and laboratories are being made ready for use. The Agriculture Department with up-to-date and efficient equipment will be housed in the new Education Building now nearing completion on the Northeast campus.

The Agriculture Club, with W. D. Clifton, Chairman of the Agriculture Department as sponsor, offers training in leadership in the fields of agriculture, officers of the club are Eddie McNeal, president; Ray Owen, vice-president; Kenneth Baker, secretary-treasurer; and Mike Wiseman, reporter.

So, knowing that the farmer is, and will continue to be, one of our nation's most important citizens and that his production continually rises as he becomes increasingly efficient, the Agriculture major at Northeast finds that he has chosen a most exciting vocation.

Is The Drug Thing Real?

Eugene Tennison

Tishomingo County Regional Medical Program

Is the drug thing real? It is if you are naive enough to believe it isn't. The Deputy Director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs in the U. S. Department of Justice says "... drug abuse has become malignant and is spreading like a cancer among students at all school levels, in all economic and social levels, in all parts of the society, and in all areas, urban, suburban and rural."

The threat is made more apparent to us by the saturation with the subject in the news media. The sensational and dramatic stories have brought nearer to us the threat of the monster. But, these traumatic accounts have not educated us as to what to do about the problem, and have tended to do two things otherwise: they have frightened us into an ignorant suspicion sometimes reflected in accusations where none are due, and they have also dulled our senses with a terrible tiredness which is not good either.

Is there, in fact, anything one can do about the problem? Yes, like most other health problems, there is something in the area of drug abuse which we can do. The suggestion may sound as unlikely as Naaman's instructions in the Bible to bathe his leprosy in the River Jordan for a cure, but the suggestion is valid: learn all you can about the subject from a reliable source, and then proceed with caution. Learn and proceed. You see, most times the understanding of a problem removes a great deal of its threat.

It is impossible in this article to delve deeply into the subject from an instructional standpoint. But there are a few principles which can be stated which we can follow to good advantage.

1. There are many legitimate drug products which are used as tools by your physician for a specific purpose. Therefore, drug use and drug abuse are quite separate ideas. The person who uses his medicines wisely knows that self-medication and self-diagnosis may mask symptoms of serious illness, and that these practices may be the first steps to a drug dependency problem. 2. A healthy person, healthy emotionally, physically and spiritually usually will not need drugs to aid him in the daily performance of his tasks. Good health habits of proper diet, exercise, rest and recreation will ordinarily provide the energy one needs for a given day. Our drug culture has probably at least partly developed to the extent it has from the violation of this principle. Modern Americans came to believe that we need a pill for every task, mood or demand, and that life should be stress-free. Not so!

3. Commonly misused drugs are classified into groups which we can learn easily. In another column we shall try to define these groups and to note some of their effects. It should be remembered that a misused drug will likely yield an observable effect. Any sudden change in the personality pattern of a family member might be a clue to drug abuse. It should be noted, however, that this is not as simple as it may sound, and the watchword here is: learn, and proceed with intelligent caution.

4. Drug dependency is possibly the clue to a deeper, harder to resolve personality problem. This is important to the understanding that many legitimate medicines are abused for some possibly unknown or unadmitted reason. Generally, where a drug problem exists, there are to be found emotional problems which need caring for.

5. None approves of experimentation with drugs, but adults should realize that experimentation and habituation are not the same. There is certainly as association, and it should be recognized. But kids know that our scare tactics on the subject in the past are invalid. Nor will your little family sermons drive the threat away. Sincere education if properly given as to the cause and effects of drug will be effective. Noise and knowledge are not the same things and your young people know the difference.

6. Is there a problem in Tishomingo County? Quite likely your medicine cabinet knows the answer better than I.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR FATHER,

LAKE TILLMAN HAYES

Who passed away Jan. 11, 1971

In a graveyard and softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
In his silent, lonely grave.
Peace be your sleep dear father,
It is sweet to breathe your name,

For in life we loved you dearly,
And in death we do the same.
If all our tears were stairsteps,
And all our heartaches, too,
We'd build a stairway to Heaven,
And climb in each day to see you.

You are greatly missed by your children:

Ella Mae Balentine, West Helena, Ark.; James E. Hayes, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Barbara Ann Campbell, Muscle Shoals, Ala.; Alice Faye Oswalt, Sheffield, Ala.

We would also like to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to his dear friends and neighbors here in Iuka.

IN MEMORY OF

CHARLIE ROANE HALL

Who passed away one year ago

February 22, 1970

God watched him as he suffered,

And knew he had his share,
And so He gently closed his eyes,
And took him into His care.
Though his smiles are gone forever,

And his hands we cannot touch,
We will never lose fond memories,
Of one we loved so much.

Sadly missed by his wife.

Mt. Gilead Homemakers Club Meeting

The Mt. Gilead Homemakers Club met February 8th at 7:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Tressie Bonds. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Mrs. Earline Whitfield. The thought for the month was, "The only way to have a friend is to be one." The song used was, "God Will Take Care of You."

Mrs. Amy Walker, our devotional leader, gave an inspiring devotional on kindness using Ephesians 4:32 and other scripture. Prayer was led by Mrs. Lessie Newcomb. Roll call was answered by naming your favorite Valentine. Mrs. Tressie Bonds, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Club goals and other business was discussed.

The demonstration on personal development was given by Mrs. Lilla Davis. Bingo was enjoyed by the group with Mrs. Lessie Newcomb, Mrs. Melvie Robinson and Mrs. Lilla Davis winning prizes.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Present other than mentioned above were Mrs. Blanch Woodruff and Mrs. Lena Jowers.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

John Gardner
Iuka Church of Christ

Q: "A friend of mine says he won't have anything to do with Christianity because there are too many hypocrites in the church. He seems to feel that a Christian who isn't perfect is a hypocrite. What do you think?"

A: The Bible is careful to distinguish between a sincere Christian who occasionally lapses into sin through weakness and a habitual sinner who simply poses as a follower of Christ.

John tells us that the Christian should acknowledge his sins of weakness and ignorance and confess them to God (I John 1:7-10), but that to continue willfully in sin breaks fellowship with God (I John 1:5,6). The one who truly abides in God does not habitually sin (I John 3:6-9).

The word in the original language, which we have transliterated into English as "hypocrite," meant an "actor or stage-player" (Thayer). Jesus used this term to describe the insincere Jewish sects of His day who were "playing" at religion. They wore a social mask of respectability, but in their hearts they were just as much sinners as the people they pretended to help. In their prayers, their deeds of benevolence and in fasting, they presented great outward show for the sole purpose of being applauded by men (Matt. 6:2,5,16). Jesus could make such judgements of others because He knew their hearts (John 2:24,25), but He forbids us to make harsh and unwarranted judgements of others, based upon what we suspect or want to find wrong with them. In fact, a person who points at the faults of others without making a sincere attempt to clean up his own life is himself a hypocrite (Matt. 7:1-5). Many outside of the church must fall under this indictment since they use the unfaithful Christian as an excuse to continue in their own sins. To be sure, both the unfaithful Christian and the hypocrite outside the church will both perish in torment if they continue until death in that condition (Matt. 7:21-23).

Send your questions to: The Bible Speaks, P. O. Box 323, Iuka, Miss. 38852.

dog, and for keeping two animals in cages too small for them to stand, raise their heads, or walk around in.

2. A 19-year-old carpenter in Washington was sentenced to 270 days in jail for pouring boiling water on a dog belonging to a 12-year-old girl, Nora Chambers.

3. In Hopewell, N.J., the Judge sent a 28-year-old woman to a mental institution for abandoning several cats and dogs, leaving them locked up without food and water to starve to death. (This penalty should be imposed more often!)

4. Judge Clyde Osborne fined each defendant $100 plus court costs for using bucking straps and electric prods in rodeo events in Youngstown, Ohio (the State of Ohio specifically bans use of such equipment).

From these examples, it is also evident that adults take a big hand in cruelty. Usually, we think of cruelty to animals being done mostly by "mean" little kids. The truth is, though, that if a person didn't learn kindness at home when he was growing up, he will more than likely be just as mean when he gets old. Since kindness cannot be forced into anybody's heart, there has to be some other way to stop cruelty. The answer is, of course, having good laws -- and there are now lots of fine ones.

Congressman Jamie L. Whitten sums it up best with this one factual sentence:

"The real problem so frequently with many things is that laws are not self-enforcing." Citizens must demand enforcement of laws -- any law -- if any good is to come from them.

Mississippi is the birthplace of the Order of Eastern Star. The Order was founded at Richmond in Holmes County. The idea was conceived in 1847 by Rob Morris, a teacher in what was known as the Eureka Masonic College. He originated the Order to provide a fraternal organization for female relatives of Masons. In 1850, he moved to Jackson and completed writing the ritual of the Order and communicated degrees upon his wife and a neighboring Mason and his wife. The first initiation took place in a home located near what is now Smith Park in Jackson. The Grand Chapter of Mississippi has acquired possession of the red brick school house between Pickens and Lexington in Holmes County where the idea was conceived.

NO. 1 TREE FARM STATE

Mississippi has been the No. 1 tree farm state in the nation since October, 1955. As of June, 1966 the state had a total of 3,547 tree farms, embracing 3,279,468 acres. Each of these farms is privately owned, with the timberland dedicated to continuous timber production. Tree farmers agree to: (1) plant trees on idle acres; (2) protect the land from wildfire, insects and overgrazing; and (3) manage land for continuous useful forest products. The tree farms are paying off. Seventy-five per cent of all timberland belongs to individuals.

Veterans Administration

Q--What action should I take to get the increase that Congress recently voted for pension payments?

A--You need take no action. Any increase in pension because of legislation will be made automatically by the VA computer system.

Q--I have been attending school at night and working during the day. I receive one-half time educational assistance allowance from the VA. I now wish to attend the same school full time, and study the same subjects. What notice must I give the VA?

A--Visit the Registrar's Office and have them notify the VA that you have become a full-time student. With no further action on your part, your educational assistance allowance will be increased to the full-time rate.

Q--As a nonveteran, may I buy a GI home which has been repossessed and offered for sale?

A--Yes. The Veterans Administration sells these properties to anyone who can qualify as to income and credit. VA has a substantial number of homes which have been foreclosed following non-payment of the loan by a GI purchaser. See your real estate broker, since most brokers cooperate with the VA, to find out if any of these homes are in the area where you may want to buy.

Q--I have a service-connected disability which required continuous treatment. Since I plan to travel abroad this summer, what arrangements should I make regarding medication and treatment?

A--Contact the VA clinic now treating you to obtain appropriate supplies of your prescribed medication to carry with you, and ask for suggestions about medical supplies and services abroad. In case of a medical emergency, contact the American Embassy or Consular Office.

Postal Service Rate Increase

Compared to other costs the 8 cent stamp proposed by the United States Postal Service will still be one of the best buys for the money that exists anywhere in the world, Tishomingo County Postmasters said today.

When effective, the new rate will mean first class stamp prices have increased by 166 percent since 1932. During the same 39 year period, wholesale prices have increased by 230 percent and the average pay of manufacturing workers has gone up by 670 percent.

"Back in 1932," the postmasters recall, "nobody complained about the cost of mailing a first class letter at 3 cents. Yet, if postal rates had risen at the same rate as retail prices since 1932, it would cost 10 cents today to send a first class letter."

The first class postage in the United States becomes substantially lower than that of virtually all foreign countries when the proposed stamp rate is related to average hourly earnings or the ability to pay.

"Despite greater potential traveling distances of letters mailed in the United States (thus, greater transportation expense), our present letter rate is equal to or less than that of many smaller countries," the postmasters added.

The impact of the proposed 2 cent increase in first class postage on the family or individual in Tishomingo County will be minimal, they pointed out.

To the individual who mails one letter a day, the increase will amount to $7.30 a year, but to the person who mails only one letter a week, it will mean only $1.04 a year in increased postage.

Lucy Rowe Club Meets Tonight

The Lucy Rowe Study Club will meet in the Library in Iuka at 7:30 tonight, Feb. 18th. Bro. Eugene Tennison, Health Educator with the Mobile Health Unit, will show films on the new mobile unit. Plans will be made for the new club year. Hostesses are Mrs. James Carpenter and Mrs. E. C. Holtsford.

New Families To Be Welcomed

Final plans are being made on the project to welcome new families moving into Iuka. The Iuka Jaycees began contacting merchants in November but decided to postpone the project until after the first of the year to prevent any conflict with the merchant's busy Christmas rush period. The Jaycees adopted the project after several new families stated that the people of Iuka had not shown much interest in them when they moved into town. In addition to showing the new families that they are welcome to Iuka, the Jaycees believe the merchants taking part in the project will benefit because families will usually return to a place of business that they are familiar with. All the merchants contacted have shown interest in the project and many have pledged nice gifts for the new families. Any merchant wishing to participate in the project may do so by contacting Bill Moore at 423-5901.

Drake-Furness Wedding

In a quiet ceremony, Miss Lana Kay Furness became the bride of Thomas A. Drake on Thursday, February 11, at 6:00 p.m.

The Rev. Albert Evans, pastor of Ashbury Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. The vows were spoken at the altar of the church which was candle lighted.

The bride, who entered with Mr. Drake, was lovely in her wedding dress of winter white wool sheath with long sleeves, featuring a high neckline bordered with pearls. Her hair was styled for small scattered flowers. She carried a white Bible, which held shades of rainbow flowers featuring the center orchid and tied with yellow satin ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Furness of Fort Smith, Ark. Mr. Drake is the son of Mrs. Thomas A. Drake, Sr. and the late Mr. Drake of Iuka.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Blanchard entertained with an informal reception at their home. The table in the dining room held the wedding cake embossed with spun sugar roses flanked with white tapers in silver holders and arrangements of rainbow flowers.

Following the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans. Upon their return they will make their home in Memphis where Mrs. Drake teaches and Mr. Drake is employed by First National Bank.

SHOMINGO COUNTY ELECTRIC POWER ASS'N.

manent pasture sods some nitrogen will be lost if applied before early June. Excessive losses may also occur if urea is top-dressed on high lime soils and not put in the ground.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT
Properly managed pastures produce more grazing. Rotational pastures allow you to use high stocking rates per acre. Build cross fences as several small pastures are better than one or two large ones.

Coastal bermudagrass, dallisgrass, bahiagrass and common bermuda, if adequately fertilized and utilized should produce enough grass to graze two or more animals per acre starting in late April or early May.

To use all the grass that is grown, put enough animals in each pasture to make them eat the grass, then move the cattle to another pasture and refertilize the pasture that has been grazed down.

Remember, pasture profits don't just happen, they are caused by good management and a desire to produce more to the acre. So determine the amount of grass you will need and manage the pasture acreage to supply your feed needs.

COTTON PLANTING SEED
Lots of low vigor cottonseed are likely to be planted this spring and it is important that we get all we can from these seed.

Regardless of the fungicide you use, either mercurial or non-mercurial, Demosan should also be used in combination with the seed treatment fungicides. Low vigor seed may not survive post-emergence damping off without either Demosan or a good infurrow fungicide treatment.

Where seed are to be treated with Di-Syston, Demosan tends to buffer the harmful effects to this insecticide.

Watch out for root pruning from Trellan or Pianavin. With low vigor seed this year, 1971 has a potential for substantial "cotton stunt."

By incorporating these two herbicides shallow, root pruning is reduced. This year, especially on light to medium textured soils, farmers should incorporate the herbicide on a pre-formed bed.

Miss Nellie Horton's Home Economist's Notes
KNIT FASHIONS FOR MEN
The men's world is catching up in the trend toward knit fashions.

Knit summer suits for men made their debut in the spring of 1968, and were test marketed soon after. The results were so favorable that production of suits, sport coats and slacks has been underway ever since.

Demand has been greater than the supply so far, but it is expected that by spring, men's knitwear will be available.

Comfort is the number one advantage men find in knits. They can bend, sit and stretch without being bound by their clothes.

Another advantage of knits is this: they look better for longer periods of time--no more wrinkled look at day's end.

Some knits, depending on fiber content, can be washed at home. Remember to follow label directions for care, because the garment's construction details and lining fabric may dictate special handling.

When shopping for knitwear for the men in your family, take a close look at the fabric. If it is a double knit, it will have the built-in give.

But if the knit has been bonded to another fabric, the natural ease is restricted and it will not be so comfortable.

Check the lining fabric also; a single knit or tricot is best. If a woven lining is used, it will inhibit the knit's natural ease.

SAVING MONEY ON FOOD PURCHASES
To save money on your food purchases, first plan meals around less-tender meat cuts. Pick those with the most meat to eat for money spent. Buy whole chickens and cut them up at home. Bulk cheese costs less per pound than sliced or grated. Extend meat or fish with bread, rice, noodles, spaghetti and macaroni. Buy cereals requiring cooking instead of ready-to-serve ones.

Soft drinks cost less per ounce in returnable bottles than in disposable cans and bottles. Save on larger-sized bottles and lesser-known brands. Private label brands and larger packages normally cost less per ounce. Substitute dried or evaporated milk for part of the fresh milk. Know the grades for food quality. Read labels and inspection stamps. Compare sale prices with stock prices. Buy quality for intended use. Compare cost of various forms of foods.

Do not buy just because the price is low. Buy to suit your needs.

Select packaged foods carefully. Be sure all canned and packaged items are in good condition. Check milk cartons for dripping.

Check processing dates on all packages carrying them. Buy those with the most recent date mark.

Store all foods properly and promptly at home. And, of course, use what's on hand first. Serve food as attractive and as appetizing as possible.

Balanced judgment is a rare commodity and one of the highest forms of human progress.

You could end most quarrels if you could get people to define what their words mean.

Burnsville Finishes Second In District

The District One BB boys finals were held last week at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College gym at Booneville. As always, there were upsets, heartbreaks and everything else that comes with a defeat in a series of games of this sort.

The first upset was the Kossuth - Iuka game last Tuesday night. Iuka had beaten Kossuth twice in regular season play. This was to some an upset because Kossuth defeated Iuka 67-51. This was the first time in the basketball season that Kossuth scored more than 60 points in a game. Iuka's record going into the tournament play was 3-17, while Kossuth managed a 1-21 record. This was an upset.

Kossuth's high men in the upset were Terry Gifford, who hit 29 points, Terry Tyson followed with 14, Stanley Hall hit 18 for Iuka to lead Iuka in scoring. Rickey Bullard and Bob Brown hit 11 each. Kossuth led the entire game, including a 35-20 lead at the half.

In the other game played last Tuesday night, Belmont upset Algoma 89-55. Belmont was seated seventh, and Algoma sixth. Tommy Moody hit 26 points for Belmont followed by Andy Chumbley with 16, Tommy Timms hit 15 and Joe Yarber 11. Jimmy Doss hit 23 and Dale Stacy hit 11 for Algoma. Belmont led 42-25 at the half.

Belmont, number seven, advanced to the Thursday night game with Burnsville, number two. This was no upset, it could have been, that is, if Belmont had hit their freethrows.

Belmont started the game as cold as the weather outside. Belmont came on in the third quarter to pull within five points of Burnsville, but failed as Burnsville pulled away. The final score was number two, Burnsville, 69, and number seven, Belmont, 47.

Tommy Wright led Burnsville to victory with 24 points, Danny Lovelace hit 21 and Marty Puckett 12. Tommy Timms hit 16, Tommy Moody 12, and Andy Chumbley 11 for Belmont. Burnsville led the entire game.

With the victory over Belmont, Burnsville moved into the semifinals to play Biggersville, number three. Burnsville had beaten Biggersville two out of three times in regular season play. Burnsville made it three out of four with a 56-46 win over the Lions on Friday night. This victory put Burnsville in the finals against Nettleton.

Marty Puckett led Burnsville with 20 points, B. Chatham hit 16. Wess Ross hit 15 and Don Rowsey hit 10 for Biggersville. Neither team could muster an attack in the first half. The score was tied 18-18.

Burnsville, number two, moved into the finals against number one, Nettleton. Nettleton moved out in front on a big third quarter outburst pulling to a 16 point lead. Burnsville came back to pull within six, but Nettleton overcame the late threat by Burnsville to win the District One Playoffs.

Elmer Griffin hit 39 points

New Aspects Of Vo-Tech Education

By Earl H. Alexander, Local Vocational Director

The need of education is a major cause of all our problems in the United States today, such as crime, poverty, demonstrations, unemployment, and drug abuse. We do not intend to criticize anyone's educational program but vocational education might be the answer for many high school students and adults prayer to a rewarding life in the years ahead. By offering a program with a meaning so that there will not be so much unrest among the people of our nation. It is a necessity that we offer a broad educational program in both the academic field and the vocational field if we are to let the students fulfill his aspirations of what he wants to be. Areas of vocational education have been down graded over the years by some parents. Students were told it was not desirable to go into vocational education but rather that they must go to academic college without any consideration of what the boy or girl wants to be.

I fully believe that it is important to let the student decide what he wants to be himself if he is to have rest and peace of

Holcut RCDC Club Met January 13th

The Holcut RCDC met January 13, for their monthly meeting at the Community Center. Mr. John B. High led the group in singing.

Mr. O. L. Strickland, president, called the meeting to order and gave everyone a very cordial welcome. He turned the meeting over to Lamar Umfress, who introduced Bro. Sharp, who had recently returned from a tour of the Holy Land.

Bro. Sharp gave a very inspiring devotional from Matthew 5:1-16, and later he showed approximately one hundred films to a large crowd. Everyone enjoyed them very much.

Our assistant county agent, Billy Rainey, gave some interesting remarks and encouraged all 4-H members to make the "Best Better."

Area Military Is Business

As we wander around our community, we catch an occasional glimpse of a man wearing a military uniform and oftentimes on weekends see and hear a few military vehicles moving around the city while in the distance on the hill this accepted routine is punctuated by an angry roar of a sleeping tank. This gives many of us a few more moments to relax in dull morning drowsiness with a feeling of serene security before starting another day. To many of us it is an aching reminder of a less joyful day when one of our loved ones awoke early to hastily prepare for that lonely trip out yonder, and for the unfortunate few it is a stark reminder of that darkest day and clutching fear that gripped and stung as the special postman approached with the dreaded yellow envelope.

Yet the community military is more than that. The boys out on the hill are for real. Company C, 1st BN, 198 Armor, under the command of Captain William H. Kent, is approximately 100 men strong. Although they drill mainly on weekends, they are indeed ready to move and perform their assigned missions as was recently demonstrated during civil strife at Oxford, Natchez, Biloxi and Corinth, to name a few. They were out there Sunday maintaining also a state of readiness for that unwelcome day when the M48 49 ton tank will belch in anger a live 72 lb. shell from its mighty snout at point blank range or 10 miles away. In a few brief moments visiting, I was keenly aware that First Sergeant Donald Waco Parsons is indeed the keeper of the keys. Working full-time, Sgt. Parsons has many and varied duties and to say the least as Administrative Assistant and Area Supply Technician, he is constantly preparing for his unit's up-coming weekend drill. In addition to his technical ability he serves his unit as its trouble shooter and public relations. His former Commanders, during his 17 years, included Lt. Col. Dick McRee (retired), Capt. Kermit Rushing, and Capt. Bill Curtis. Innumerable area men have followed their profession through those doors, and the unit roster shows four recent retirees enjoying full military retirement benefits.

All this adds up to no small business. In addition to the many opportunities available to the Guardsmen through Military Technical schools, they also place their imprint upon our local community economy. Annual money finds its way into the area until approximately $73,000 technical and drill pay, and $10,000 local purchases and annual contracts. The building and grounds value in excess of $100,000 - while Capt. Kent is responsible for property valued over $1,000,000.

If we pause and consider the number of retired military persons attracted to our area to settle and the large number of dependents of active duty military personnel residing here and then couple this with the large number of proud veterans living around us, we would find the annual financial funds available for use upon our economy to be a quite handsome sum, not to overlook the extensive holdings in homes, real estate, and small businesses and enterprises. Yes, our area military is business in our economy.

Thank you, Captain Kent, for a wonderful day with you and the men on the hill.

Collections are never as good as they should be.

SHAMROCKS ARE LUCKY AND UNLUCKY

Everyone knows the leaves from a four-leaf clover are accepted as a token of good luck, while the five-leaf clover is said to be exactly opposite.

The yellow rose is said to denote jealousy. The sturdy and dependable ivy leaf indicates trustfulness—maybe this is the reason ivy is so popular in wedding decorations.

We love to decorate for weddings. Whether yours is to be an elaborate one or a simple gathering, we will be happy to handle the floral arrangements.

Washington Father Of 3-Day Weekend

George Washington could have celebrated three birthday parties this year.

In life, Washington usually ignored his birthday. But in 1971 he could try blowing out 239 candles on:

Feb. 11, the date of his birth according to the old Julian calendar used in the Colonies at the time.

Feb. 22, the date according to the calendar that Mother England—and most of her colonies—switched to in 1752. The new calendar, declared by Pope Gregory XIII, leapfrogged 11 days.

Feb. 15, the date for this year

—voted by Congress. From now on, the lawmakers have decreed, Washington's birthday will be observed on the third Monday in February. The federal law also assures four other new three-day weekends, other new three-day weekends, says.

The common backache at the belt line area and lower area that comes suddenly on one or both sides, sometimes sending pains into the groins and causing bladder pressure and burning, sometimes sending pains down the side or back of the thigh, sometimes causing the knee or calf or even a heel to ache; sometimes preventing the patient from moving any direction without terrific pain across the entire lower back and always causing perspiration and nervousness, is definitely that very ordinary culprit called the Sacro-iliac and Sacro-lumbar sprain or strain, also known as Sciatica and Sciatic Rheumatism.

Dennis Homemakers Met Feb. 10th

The Dennis Homemakers met in the home of Mrs. Martha Lindsey on Feb. 10th for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Lindsey's home was beautifully decorated carrying out the Valentine Day's theme. The dining room table was adorned with a lovely arrangement of pink and red apple blossoms. Other arrangements of spring flowers were all through the house giving an air of soon coming spring.

The president, Mrs. Dot Sartain, called the meeting to order and gave the thought for the month, "The only way to have a friend is to be one." The devotional was taken from John 12:12-14, read by Mrs. Lindsey. Rev. Gene Tennison led in prayer.

Mrs. Lindsey then read the last month's minutes and roll was answered by each member telling her favorite flower.

A report on the recent council meeting was given by Mrs. Dot Sartain and Mrs. Martha Lindsey. They reported that April 29th has been set for County Dress Revue. Everyone is urged to start making plans now to enter. The ladies also stated that the council had placed an order for another printing of the Homemaker's Cookbooks. They have had very good response to their cookbooks and would like to say thanks to everyone who has bought one. For those who have requested one while we were out, we would like to say we will soon be able to deliver your book. This is the third printing of the book and we hope to have many more. Anyone wishing to buy a book please contact any member of the Tishomingo County Homemakers or go by the Extension Office of Miss Nellie Horton.

The Dennis Club was honored to have Rev. Gene Tennison from the Tishomingo County Regional Health Program with them and enjoyed his talk on the Health Mobile very much. Everyone received take home literature.

Bingo was enjoyed for recreation with Mrs. Elsie Cain, Mrs. Sherry Oswald and Mrs. Lois Tidwell being the lucky winners. Mrs. Elsie Cain won the door prize.

MUSICIAN TOO — Mr. Tom Goode, a member of the Baltimore Colts football team is shown entertaining with his singing and banjo picking at the Iuka United Methodist Church Sunday night, February 14th.

The hostesses, Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. Florence Burleson, served a refreshment plate consisting of heart shaped sandwiches, cherry cake squares and congealed salad, carrying out the colors of red and pink for Valentine. Strawberry punch or coffee was also served.

Fourteen ladies were present with one visitor and two children.

Hostesses for March will be Mrs. Velma Young and Mrs. Wynell Young.

The February 11th meeting of the 20th Century Club was held at the Iuka Public Library with Mrs. Mon Moser as hostess. Upon arrival the members were greeted by Mrs. Moser and then seated around a table that was adorned with Valentine motifs.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by the president, Mrs. W. E. Ludlam. Mrs. R. E. Harwell led the group in reading the Club Collect. The roll was called and minutes of the previous meeting read by Mrs. W. M. Curtis, followed with a treasurer's report by Mrs. Nolan Pruitt. Mrs. W. R. Jourdan, Chairman of Home Life Department, was program leader and presented the G.F.W.C. Home Life Department Program 1970-72 State of the Family Program, "Toward Better Family Environment." The purpose of this program was designed to help clubs explore the family as an environment and learn how it is affected by the broader social and physical environments and the role the family plays in these settings. Mrs. Jourdan stated that the home extended into the community, the nation and the world and that the real issue today was that the today homes differ from yesterday homes, therefore, the homemaker today must differ also. If old customs and old values are cast aside, women must use their influence wisely in order that the new customs will have real merit. She pointed out the best place to begin toward a better environment was the family. Mrs. P. L. Oaks discussed Family Environment. She explored the environment of the family today and the role it plays in our world of change. She discussed the link between the family and the outside environment - physical, social and cultural. Her closing remark was, "As clubwomen with a long tradition of concern for families, we have a special responsibility to help build healthy, strong and vital family environments."

but possible adverse implications for the future.

Family Economics was discussed by Mrs. Nolan Pruitt. She stated in her remarks that today we need to be better informed than ever before to keep up with the economic aspects of family life. Money often has been called a tool, and if the family environment is to run smoothly, it is a tool which we must learn to use well and make sure our children grow up learning to use this tool to help insure effective family environment in the years ahead.

Mrs. Bryce Kitchens discussed Home Environment, stating that it was far reaching in its relationship and our challenge is to make certain that the role of homemaker continues to be recognized as a well defined and important part of the family environment.

Religion and Ethics was discussed by Mrs. R. E. Harwell. A resume of her talk was that values and moral codes are two of the most important needs met through family environment - our responsibility in this area is a continuing reaffirmation and support of our value system and an open mind and willingness to listen when confronted with changing systems.

Mrs. Jourdan closed the program by saying, "These are the challenges today and ones that

Postal Increases

Postmasters of Tishomingo County said today proposed new postal rate increases will place the nation's postal system on a sound financial basis and shift more of the costs from taxpayers generally to those who use the mails the most.

He explained that recent Postal Service proposals submitted Feb. 1 to the Postal Rate Commission would yield additional revenues of $1.45 billion during fiscal 1972, starting July 1.

The proposal call for increases in virtually all mail categories except parcel post.

If the Rate Commission does not present to the Governors of the Postal Service a recommended decision on rate changes within 90 days, it is anticipated that a temporary rate increase will be put into effect by the Postal Service, the Postmasters said.

He pointed out that higher rates had been sought by the Post Office Department under both the current and previous administrations, but no action was taken.

In addition to the long-standing Postal Service proposal for a 2-cent boost for letters from 6 to 8 cents, advertising mail (regular bulk rate third-class) would be increased to a minimum of 5 cents per piece, plus additional increases for heavier weights.

Substantial increases also are proposed for magazines, newspapers and other categories of second-class mail the postmasters said. These rather steep increases will be phased in over five years to soften the impact on the mailers.

Other highlights of the proposal:

Airmail rates would go up a penny, from 10 to 11 cents, and airmail cards, from 8 to 9 cents each.

If temporary rates are placed into effect, post cards will go from 5 to 6 cents although the proposal provides for a full increase to 7 cents each.

Concerning "Priority Mail" -- packages weighing more than 12 ounces and receiving first-class treatment -- higher rates are proposed only for parcels weighing less than 5 pounds. For a 5-pound priority mail package sent across the U.S., the rates would remain $4.08, under the proposal. However, for a 1-pound package, an increase of from 80 cents to $1 is proposed.

Regular second-class publications -- those mailed for delivery outside the publisher's county, excluding certain categories -- will be raised 1.9 cents per piece plus higher advertising rates ranging from 9.1 to 20.9 cents per pound. Non-advertising will be at a new rate of 7.2 cents per pound.

Controlled circulation publications -- usually periodicals without subscription fees mailed to specific audiences or markets -- face an increase in only their minimum per piece rate to 5 cents from the existing 3.8 cents postage fee. The pound rate remains the same.

In third-class, the rates for single pieces -- often a circular or small parcel -- would rise to 8 cents for the first 2 ounces and the fee for each additional ounce would be raised from 2 to 4 cents under the permanent-rate proposal.

Mailers holding bulk third-class permits would find their rates per pound raised from 16 and 22, to 22 and 28 cents per pound, respectively, when the proposal is fully effected, and the minimum-per-piece charge would be raised to 5 cents.

Special delivery and registered mail fees would both be increased. The minimum fee for a special delivery letter would rise from 45 to 60 cents, while the rate for registered mail valued up to $100 would be increased from 80 to 95 cents under the proposal. There would be proportionate hikes in the fees for shipments registered at higher values.

When the proposed domestic changes go into effect, similar increases in letter mail rates to Canada and Mexico are planned.

The total yield under the proposal, when fully effective, is estimated at $2,125.8 million, including all of the rates to be phased over a period of years.

In the first year $670 million of the $2,125.8 million would be provided from appropriations by Congress under the Postal Reorganization Act.

About 80 percent of the nation's mail volume of nearly 90 billion pieces in fiscal year 1972 will be business-type mail, and the bulk of the increase would be borne by the users.

THE PILLBOX

As strange as it may seem in this age of medical advances some of the oldest and most terrifying of man's enemies still exist in some parts of the world. Indeed with epidemics of diphtheria and cholera striking some parts of the world, it has been proposed that 1970 be identified as "The Year of the Plague."

Indeed there are even cases in some parts of the world of bubonic plague, known during the middle ages as the Black Death. The Plague is spread by fleas which live on rodents and when the disease is found it has usually been contracted by hunters and explorers. A vaccine is available to prevent the disease but mass immunization is not practical for two reasons: the vaccine is effective for only a few months and, of course, the incidence of the disease is not very high. According to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, there had been seven recorded cases of bubonic plague through the first nine months of 1970.

More frequent, however, and just as serious is the spread of cholera through the parts of Europe, Asia, and Africa. Cholera may be found in areas where sanitation is poor and drinking water is polluted. It is known to exist to some extent in South Vietnam. Although there is some concern that returning servicemen might bring cholera back to the United States on their return, epidemiologist (those who study the spread of disease) say that it could not gain a foothold in this country because of the sanitation facilities that are more than adequate to prevent it from spreading.

Those planning a trip abroad however, should be vaccinated and international health officials are recommending that tourists assure themselves that water supplies in foreign countries are not contaminated and that they wash all fruit and vegetables and wash their hands before eating.

Diphtheria is not limited to areas of poor sanitation but can be controlled by vaccination. A recent outbreak in San Antonio, Texas is an example of how diphtheria may still gain a foothold in modern times of high population density where large segments have not been vaccinated. These areas are usually low income slums in large cities.
