Iuka All-Stars 1-1 In Sub-District Playoff

The Iuka All-Stars, first year in the Dixie Youth Baseball, are playing in the Sub-District Tournament at Columbus, Miss. this week. Iuka so far is in real good shape, having won one and lost one. Iuka won the opening game of the tournament in extra innings 2-1. They lost Tuesday night to Columbus Southern 7-0. The All-Stars have been staying at the Holiday Inn in Columbus.

In the first game against Montgomery-Webster, Iuka took a 2-1 extra inning game. Iuka scored first in the fourth inning on a homerun by Harry Cosby. Iuka scored the winning run in the top of the seventh. Mark Biggs got things started. He beat out a slow grounder to the pitcher, who fumbled the ball and could not make a play. Biggs then advanced to third on a ground ball by Freddie Pace that was fumbled. This error set the stage for the game's winning hit by Jim Carpenter. Iuka had six hits, three by Cosby, the winning pitcher, Carpenter had a single, Eddie Richardson and Mark Biggs had a single each.

In the game Tuesday night, Iuka was defeated 7-0 by Columbus Southern. Iuka had two hits, both singles, by Harry Cosby in the second and Jim Carpenter in the sixth. Steve Lyles was the losing pitcher. He struck out three, walked one and hit one. Columbus-Southern scored four runs in the second and three in the fifth. They had seven hits, seven runs and no errors. Iuka had two errors, no runs and two hits.

Iuka returned home Tuesday night and will play (tonight) Thursday night at 6:30.

Two Charged In School Breakin

Two 18-year-old youth broke into the Iuka School Cafeteria Sunday afternoon, July 18, according to a report from Police Chief Travis McGaughy.

They were identified to be Weldon Ray Hodo of Springville, Ala., and Michael Steven Yeager of Steel, Ala. "Several cans of food and drinks from the storage room of the cafeteria had been opened and they had one can of food in their possession when I picked them up about an hour and one-half later for questioning as they were trying to 'thumb a ride' on Highway 72 E," Chief McGaughy said. He said they admitted breaking in the cafeteria and were lodged in the county jail.

McGaughy says the two were carried before First District Justice of the Peace, Albert Rhodes, for a hearing on Monday, July 19th, where they plead guilty to the breaking and entering charge. Their bond was set at $3,000 each and they are now in the county jail awaiting action of the grand jury, McGaughy said.

Election Holders Named As August 3rd Primary Nears

SHARP PRECINCT CHANGED TO VOTE AT COLES MILL

Only four more speaking dates are scheduled before the August 3rd primary election. This year's political battle has created much interest among voters.

New developments in election procedure for this year call for candidates running at large for road supervisors. This means that candidates in all five county districts must acquaint themselves and seek support from voters over the entire county. However, voters do not have to vote for a supervisor in each district but may vote for their choice in their respective district.

A three-judge federal panel last May ruled the legislative line-up for this area to envelop Tishomingo, Itawamba, Prentiss and Monroe counties. They make-up District 4 and will elect two senators.

In the House of Representative line-up, Tishomingo and Prentiss counties were placed in District 2 and will elect two representatives.

Announcement on the July 2nd deadline for the ratification of the 26th amendment allowing youngsters, ages 18-21, to vote swamped the Circuit Clerk's office. This added feature widened the range for candidate hopefuls.

Legal notice has been filed to combine the Sharp and Cole's Mill voting precincts in the second district, eliminating the Sharp precinct. All voters will now vote in Cole's Mill precinct.

Voting in Iuka's west box has been changed from the Sam Kimberly building to Counce Chevrolet. All other voting places in the county will remain the same.

The election commissioners met Monday and have named the following election holders for each district:

THE WELFARE EXP' OSION

The U. S. Senate's forthcoming action on welfare legislation will have enormous and long-lasting effects on American society. If the Senate approves the Family Assistance plan initially proposed by the Nixon administration and modified by the House Ways and Means Committee, the country will be burdened with a vastly augmented welfare proletariat. Under the legislation drafted by Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of Ways and Means, the nation's welfare population will at least double. Perhaps 25 million non-workers will receive a guaranteed annual wage at the expense of employed citizens and taxpayers.

A publicity juggernaut has cleared the way for H. R. 1, the Mills-Nixon proposals. It will be very difficult to block welfare expansion legislation or win approval for an alternative such as Senate bill 2037 drafted by Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb). The only hope of preventing enactment of the Mills-Nixon welfare expansion plan lies with making the public aware of what is at stake.

If the Senate approves a doubling of the welfare population, it will double the burden on the productive elements in the country. Workers must carry twice as many non-workers on their backs.

But that's only part of the picture. The Mills-Nixon bill will have especially serious effect on many semi-rural areas struggling to improve their economies. In June 1970, "Fortune" Magazine discussed the impact of a guaranteed annual wage plan on a basically rural county with some light industry. It is clear from Fortune's analysis that the impact would be devastating. A guaranteed annual wage plan would cause many workers employed at the minimum wage to give up their jobs and live on welfare. Such legislation, the article made clear, would undermine incentives for working.

Proponents of the Mills-Nixon plan may say that the solution is to increase the minimum wage. Experience shows, however, that minimum wage hikes eliminate jobs. A small motel or light manufacturing plant in a rural county can't pass on higher labor costs to customers without losing customers. The motel, for instance, can't raise its rates from $11.50 to $15 for a single without having many travelers decide to stay at another -- and perhaps more attractive -- motel in larger community.

If the Mills-Nixon approach is approved by the Senate Finance Committee and the full Senate, the country will be saddled with a new army of drones that will be impossible to satisfy. The next Congress will be called upon to raise the guaranteed annual wage and provide additional benefits for non-workers. Congress is likely to be responsive to such demands, for the non-workers have the ballot. Indeed the Mills-Nixon plan will be a blessing to the Welfare Rights Unions that are active in the cities.

The guaranteed annual wage concept is the worst feature of the Mills-Nixon legislation. It takes the intended beneficiaries out of the mainstream of American economic life and, in the words of Prof. Arthur A. Shenfield of Rockford College, "leaves them marooned on islands of subsidized sloth."

Our society provides numerous ladders of opportunity for people who want to work. But the federal government, in recent years, has done its best to knock down those ladders and provide an escalator in the form of subsidized idleness. The food stamp plan, for example, is a slap at every thrifty, working family in the country. In towns and cities across the nation one sees able-bodied and often well-dressed men and women line up for food stamps -- while classified ads for workers go unanswered and home-owners find it difficult to hire domestic help or even babysitters. The food stamp recipients even complain that they have to stand in line for the handouts. Public officials, mindful of the voting power of the dependent population, hasten to provide quicker service and even vans to deliver food stamps to outlying areas. The working, tax-paying citizen doesn't get that kind of service from office-holders. The official solicitude is lavished on the indolent.

Do the American people want more of the same? Do they truly want the welfare population to be doubled? Do they want officials to cater even more to the dependent people in our society? It is hard to believe that working Americans want those developments. But the number of welfare loafers and chiselers will be increased if working Americans don't let their senators know -- right away -- that they oppose expansion of the welfare system. The current Senate hearings may be the last chance for productive citizens to stop the welfare explosion.

Afraid To Speak The Truth

If I am afraid to speak the truth, lest I lost affection, or lest the one concerned should say, "You do not understand," or because I fear to lose my reputation for kindness; if I put my own good name before the other's highest good, then I know nothing of Calvary love.

"Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? And, in thy name have cast out devils? And in thy name done many wonderful works?"

"And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from me, ye that work iniquity."

The church as we see it today in most places is not ready. On the contrary she has lost more ground in the past sixty years than in all previous history. The Lord at His coming is to have "A Glorious Church not having spot, or wrinkle."

Studies have shown that farm animals function more productively when they are cool and comfortable in summer.

Egg production goes up when poultry houses are kept cool. Hogs and other livestock consume less feed for every pound of weight gained when they have cool surroundings. Cows produce more milk.

Cooling for farm animals may be provided by electric air conditioning in insulated buildings or by using water-evaporator coolers in more open buildings. Even ventilating fans help.

If you like, we'll help you explore ways to keep your farm animals cool — for more profit — at no charge to you. Just give us a call.

Garan Spends Over $20 Thousand On Employee Facilities

Billy Strawn, Manager of the Corinth Division of Garan, Incorporated, the $50 million apparel manufacturer, announced a major capital investment at the Corinth facility aimed exclusively at making the plant a better place to work for its employees.

According to Dr. Strawn, these improvements in employee facilities represent just one of a number of far ranging efforts in progress, or "on the drawing boards," for this local manufacturer of boys shirts.

Garan's Corinth facility, one of ten located in the South, has been chosen for this pilot project to test and install "a series of forward looking programs for the seventies designed to provide increased job satisfaction and recognition for employees, to insure our continued participation in the economic growth of Corinth, and to further enhance Garan's leadership position in the apparel industry," said Mr. Strawn.

Garan presently manufactures over one third of all boys shirts sold by Sears Roebuck & Co. throughout the U. S., as well as supplying such major national retailers as J. C. Penney Co., W. T. Grant and F. W. Woolworth. "We have been in Corinth since 1958, and are presently committed to a plan of dramatic growth through 1972 and into the coming decade. Our payroll here in Corinth will increase 50% by 1972 while sales from the Corinth Division alone will move from $3.9 million to $5.5 million. With this kind of growth, we simply cannot afford to lose sight of the company's principal asset -- its people," said Mr. Strawn.

The nearly $22,000 investment includes complete overhauling of personnel facilities to better serve employees, renovated dining, meeting and restroom areas and a new outdoor patio rest and recreation location.

"Our people spend 8 - 10 of their waking day here. We are aggressively seeking and trying new ways and ideas to make Garan - Corinth a better place to work," says Linda Roberts, Personnel Manager and a Corinth native. "There's no real reason why this plant can't be a fun place to work."

Describing the overall philosophy behind this pilot program of change at Garan, Mr. Strawn added, "We feel the key to progress is really golden rule simplicity itself. We are approaching our operations from the standpoint of how best we can meet the changing needs and aspirations of our employees. We are going to show them in every way possible that we care about them as individuals, not just as a labor force."

Get Season Tickets Under Family Plan

The Health and Physical Education Department at Northeast will implement a new method in strengthening attendance at its athletic events through the introduction of the "Family Plan." The purpose of this plan is not only to increase the sales of tickets to both the home football and basketball games but it is also intended to provide a means for the entire family to enjoy these sports events at a reduced group rate. The purchase of a "Family Plan" season ticket for $14.00 will entitle each member of the family to view five home football games as well as ten home basketball games. Also included in the price of the ticket will be admittance to the holiday basketball tournament on Dec.

20-21.

Representatives of the Northeast Athletic Department will be conducting ticket sales throughout the Northeast District during the coming weeks.

Phone Workers Agree To End Strike

Union leaders representing half a million telephone repairmen, installers and operators tentatively agreed Monday to a new contract and ordered the workers to end their nationwide strike at midnight Tuesday.

In a statement to area customers, J. M. Mobley, vice-president and General Manager in Mississippi said, "We are pleased that we have been able to reach agreement with the CWA on a new contract. Settlement of the strike should be good news for everybody. We can now turn our undivided attention to re-establishing normal telephone service and to handling promptly customer requests that may have been delayed."

"We are gratified that overall telephone service was maintained at most locations and regret any inconvenience the public may have experienced as a result of the strike.

"The cost of the settlement to the company for improved wages and benefits is estimated to be $53 million for the first year and additional $32 million for the second year and an additional $39 million for the third year. This estimate assumes a four percent rise annually in the cost of living. Over the three-year life of the contract Bell System employee wages and benefits would increase by about 31 percent.

"We believe a good settlement has been reached which is reasonable and fair to all concerned."

cooperation and understanding we received from the public over the past few days. At the same time we are grateful for the excellent job done by all those employees who worked to give service throughout the strike."

GROUNDBREAKING FOR MENTAL COMPLEX IN OXFORD

Groundbreaking for the multi-million-dollar North Mississippi Residential Facility for the Mentally Retarded, designed to serve the northern tier of counties in the state, was held Wednesday afternoon at Oxford.

Scheduled to attend the ceremonies, including a luncheon at the University of Mississippi, were Gov. John Bell Williams, Lt. Gov. Charles Sullivan, House Speaker John Junkin of Natchez and other members of the State Building Commission.

The 240-acre site, donated to the state by the Lafayette County Board of Supervisors, is located on the new by-pass of Highway 7 South.

The $1.2 million first phase was funded by the state; projected capacity when all phases are completed is 500 beds.

Dr. L. G. Hopkins, chairman of the Oxford-Lafayette County committee which spearheaded the drive to establish the center, said occupancy should take place in about a year. Oxford was approved as the site for the residential facility by the Board of Trustees of Mental Institutions and the State Building Commission.

The facility will provide a referral hospital for comprehensive centers already in operation and those being planned, and will provide residential care for those who cannot be cared for by local programs.

In addition, the hospital will provide diagnosis and evaluation resources for all centers or county referral agencies, in the area, a rehabilitation center offering extensive and specialized services, and a means of training and recruiting personnel to work with the mentally retarded in other institutions or local centers.

Opening of the facility at Oxford is expected to bolster current mental health and mental retardation training programs at the University of Mississippi as well as to boost development of new programs.

County Shares In Petroleum Tax Surplus

Tishomingo County has received $60,673 as its share of a $6.4 million surplus fund left from petroleum taxes collected during fiscal year 1971 by the State Motor Vehicle Comptroller's department.

Comptroller Joe Sharp announced the surplus this week from his office in Jackson where statewide functions of the motor vehicle comptroller are headquartered.

"The surplus of $6,399,042 is the largest in Mississippi's history," said Sharp, "and is part of an all time high of $96.4 million in total revenues which the department collected during the last fiscal year."

Each of the state's 82 counties has already received $190,000 during the year as its normal share of petroleum revenues. State law provides that certain designated funds remaining after counties have gotten their basic amounts will be divided as surplus and refunded to the counties.

"The law requires that we divide the money in three different ways," Sharp added. "First, the total surplus is divided into three equal amounts. Then we divide one third equally among all the counties. The next third is divided proportionately by the population in each county, while the last third is divided proportionately by the number of square miles in each of the counties."

"Some counties get more than others according to this way of dividing the surplus," Sharp continued, "But the main thing is that all counties get to share in the money. The way we divide it is regulated by law."

Petroleum tax collecting duties generate most of the revenue received by the motor vehicle comptroller's department. Other major functions of the agency include administration of the state's motor vehicle registration and title laws, operation of truck weighing scales at entry points into the state and enforcement of butane safety regulations. Field employees of the department live in most Mississippi towns and cities, but work out of Jackson as their headquarters office.

Social Security

"Ten percent of the people in north Mississippi who qualify for social security disability checks wait so long after becoming disabled to file claims they lose money," according to Hugh Tigrett, Social Security District Manager in Tupelo. Tigrett explained that social security benefits can only be retroactive for a period of one year, and many people wait more than a year after becoming disabled before filing a claim.

For disabled workers, social security benefits are payable after the worker has been disabled for six months. During the six-month waiting period, however, work may be completed on the application so checks may begin on time. When asked what the proper time is to apply for disability benefits, Tigrett said, "As soon as it is practical to do so after suffering an injury or illness that may disable you for more than twelve months." He emphasized that social security offices all over the country now accept applications by telephone, and he said, many people file applications from their hospital rooms. "The telephone has proven to be a tremendous help in conducting business for disabled people," Tigrett said.

The decision as to whether or not a person is disabled is made by state agencies under contract to the Social Security Administration. Disability claims involve development similar to retirement claims plus additional medical evidence, and it takes several weeks for a person to receive a decision on his case. Because of this and because so many people delay too long in filing disability applications, the Social Security Administration is urging immediate filing for disability benefits.

Further information and assistance is available by dialing the Tupelo Social Security District Office at 842-6211.

John Gardner
Iuka Church of Christ

Q: "In your opinion, what kinds of recreation are in keeping with Christianity?" A: Preachers, Bible teachers and church leaders are often asked this question in one form or another. It is usually asked by young people and their parents in hopes of solving a real problem of our time, that is, finding and promoting good recreational activities in the home and community.

There are perhaps thousands of entries in the category of activities that we call "recreational." In this brief article we could not begin to sort each of these under "Acceptable" and "Unacceptable" listings, even if we were wise enough to be accurate in the matter. But in answering the question asked, we offer some principles from the Scriptures that can be applied to each "recreation" being considered.

As we evaluate a certain recreational activity, let us ask ourselves these questions. (1) Will it tend to build up or tear down my body and mind? (1 Cor. 6:19, 20). (2) Will it enhance or destroy my influence for Christ? (Matt. 5:13-16). (3) Can I afford it financially and still be a good steward? (1 Cor. 16:2). (4) Will it require more time than I can afford to spend? (Eph. 5:15, 16). (5) What kind of people enjoy it? (Prov. 4:14-16). (6) Would I be ashamed to be involved in it, if Christ should come then? (Matt. 24:42). (7) Can I wholeheartedly recommend this activity to every Christian I know? (Phil. 4:9). When we have answered these questions honestly, in the light of the New Testament, we will have a fairly good idea about the activity we are considering. There are other questions that we might ask, but these will start is in the right direction.

We should seek out those activities that truly "re-create" us mentally, physically, and spiritually for greater service unto God. Many things that might be called amusements are not truly "recreational" in nature. They do not have a wholesome and positive "re-creating" nature about them. But with the abundant opportunities that we have in this country for enjoying wholesome recreation, they should not be too hard to find.

Local Business

Advertising has been defined as the art of "getting a unique selling proposition into the heads of the most people at the lowest possible cost."

For the retailer, this means that in some way he must be different from his competition.

The neighborhood grocer can not effectively copy the supermarket in advertising approach.
The two-man garage cannot compete for auto repair business by making the same claims used by the large dealer-garage.

Smaller firms always have some advantages on which to concentrate advertising. For the small retailer the outstanding advantage may be convenience; it may be credit; it may be a quality-price advantage on cerspecialties.

Unique advantages may be effectively advertised at comparatively small cost. For if consumers can benefit from the unique condition, they will see and read an advertisement of any size.

Of course, advertising must be repeated consistently to attain full effectiveness. But the size of each insertion may be governed by the volume of business expected.

In relation to investment and overhead, the small retailer may get more from his advertising dollar than the large company.

But the small retailer cannot afford waste or experimentation.
His proven method of getting the most sales at minimum cost is regular insertions in his local newspaper. Only the newspaper gives the small firm a chance to tell the whole community about unique advantages regardless of the amount spent on each advertisement.

Vocational Rehabilitation Opens Office

The Vocational Rehabilitation
Division, State Department of Education, in early July opened an office in Booneville to serve the disabled adults of Prentiss and Tishomingo counties.

This was announced by Dr.
Garvin H. Johnston, state superintendent of education.

These counties have previously been served by counselors from Corinth and Tupelo, Dr. Johnston said. The opening of the Booneville office is in line with the Division policy of "taking services to the disabled where they are," Dr. Johnston explained.
The office is located in the North Mississippi Savings and Loan Building.

Counselor for the new office is George Samuel Oakley, of Booneville. Oakley for the past three years has taught social studies and physical education, coached basketball and track, and assisted with football in the Prentiss County schools.

Secretary for the Vocational Rehabilitation office is Mrs.
Bettye G. McKinney, of Booneville.

The Vocational Rehabilitation
Division provides counseling, evaluation, physical restoration, job training and placement for disabled persons. Overall purpose is to restore the disabled to usefulness through helping them to become independent.

Genesco Takes The Playoffs

GENESCO 4 - VFW-AL 3

VFW-AL battled Genesco down to the wire before falling short by one run in the championship of the Dixie Youth playoffs Thursday night. Trailing 4-0 in the fourth VFW-AL scored three times and had the tying run thrown out at the plate. Jim Carpenter pitched a three hitter for his fifth victory of the season without a loss. He allowed two singles, one to Ferlon Brumley and one to Terry White, while striking out seven and walking three. Terry White allowed six hits, struck out twelve and walked one. The hits off White were a triple and two singles by batting champ Harry Cosby, two singles by Noel Monroe, and a single by Eddie Richardson.

The Genesco team won it all in the Dixie Youth playoffs in Iuka. This was the first time since the Little League has been in Iuka that a team has finished in first place and won the championship both. Genesco replaced VFW-AL as league champs and repeat as overall champs.

Genesco had two boys at the top of the batting list. Harry Cosby led the league in hitting .600, and he was followed by Eddie Richardson, who hit .514. Cosby had 21 hits in 35 times at bat. Cosby also led the league in pitching with 6 wins and no defeats. Jim Carpenter finished second with a 5-0 record, and Noel Monroe third 3-0.

Genesco placed more boys on the All-Star team than anyone - 3.

Genesco was coached by Robert Dooley and Dickie Robinson. This Genesco team was the same team that lost their first 10 games last year.

Draft Lottery 5th

Jimmy Davis, State Selective Service, said that he had just received a telegram from Dr. Tarr, National Director, that the third annual drawing will be held on August 5, 1971. Both parents have been on the local boards and are to determine if a drawing would take place. The lottery drawing will be held on August 5, 1971. Both parents have been on the local boards and are to determine if a drawing would take place. The lottery drawing will be held on August 5, 1971. Both parents have been on the local boards and are to determine if a drawing would take place.

of the regular draft service machinery under the random sequence system and the responsibility to conduct the lottery continues under draft law regardless of whether there is an extension of the induction authority. Dr. Tarr stated, "The young men who face possible induction next year deserve to know their relative chances of induction so that they are better able to plan ahead."

The annual lottery drawing is a part of the plan for a standby draft, and even with an all volunteer force young men who could face induction because of a national emergency at some future date deserve to know their relative chances of induction. This year's drawing will be conducted in a manner similar to the 1970 event with random sequence numbers assigned to all the 366 birth dates drawn. The drawing will start at 10:00 A.M. Thursday, August 5, 1971, at the Commerce Department Auditorium in Washington.
