JOHN H. BIGGS

PUBLISHER & EDITOR

From The State Capitol

By Martha Carole White,
State Representative

The temptation to make this column more lengthy becomes greater each week, as business picks up in the Capitol.

Of major importance last week was the passage of a highways priorities bill. This measure provides that the highways be built based on priorities determined by a National Functional Classification and Needs Study. Priorities for building roads include: traffic count, the connection of population centers; and actual necessity and need for roads in various districts.

Of the proposal, the Chairman of the Highways Committee commented, "Some may say this study favors Northeast Mississippi. Perhaps it does, but I think their needs are greater." The bill also provides for annual audits of Highway Department expenditures to be reported to the legislature, and for annual progress reports on roadbuilding to be submitted to the lawmakers.

Final House passage of the bill was 111-5. This is looked on as a second victory this session for our highway program. After this bill receives reconsideration from the House, it will be sent to the Senate.

Congressional redistricting, which has been ordered by the courts before the upcoming election, was the subject of long debate Thursday. The final measure passed by the House left our district and Washington representatives just as is, the changes being in the fourth and fifth congressional districts. Only our number may be changed, according to this bill, to make north-south numbering go from 1-5.

Legislation to carry out the governor's proposals on governmental reorganization have been introduced in both the House and Senate. Some of the most recent provide for reorganization of the Department of Public Safety, creating bureaus of vehicles, law enforcement, ABC enforcement, and Narcotics and drug enforcement.

The deadline for submitting general bills has passed. Five days before the February 22 deadline, there had been 756 bills introduced. I often become both amused and irked to hear or read that "The House goes back to work at 2 p.m." without mention being made of the other hours "before we go back to work" that are spent in the reading, study, committee consideration, discussion and disposal of those 756-plus bills!

The next major item will no doubt be highway financing. The committee is now considering several revenue producing sources. You are familiar with these, I know, as many of you have given me your thoughts on the subject. Everyone will not be pleased by whatever we find necessary to do in order that we may have the highways that we know we must have, but we hope you have cause to be pleased with the total effort.

Please continue writing and visiting the Capitol. Any mail addressed to your Representative will be delivered to us if addressed to us at the New Capitol Building, Jackson. Remember, too, that the number to call in Jackson is 948-7321.

John Gardner

TEXT: "And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, That there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God come with power." (Mark 9:1).

Jesus promised that the kingdom of God would be established during the lifetime of some who heard Him speak. Some would not "taste of death" (which means to die -- Heb. 2:9) until they had witnessed the coming of the kingdom "with power."

If Jesus' prophecy concerning the time God would set up His kingdom did not come to pass, then according to the Bible itself, He was not a prophet of God (Deut. 18:22). But of course we know that He is God's Son and God did speak through Him as a prophet (Heb. 1:1, 2). We must conclude, therefore, that the kingdom Jesus promised did come at the time He said it would. It was not, nor is today, an earthly, physical kingdom (John 18:36; Luke 17:20, 21), but rather the kingdom of God is the spiritual realm of God's dominion. When was God's kingdom established?

Jesus said it would come "with power." He told His disciples that they would be "endued with power from on high" in Jerusalem (Lk. 24:49). He promised the apostles that this "power from on high" would be supplied by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on them (Acts 1:8). Can we identify a day in the lifetime of those who heard Jesus preach when power from on high was given men by means of the Holy Spirit? Yes. Turn to Acts chapter 2. On Pentecost, fifty days after Jesus was crucified, Jesus sent forth the Holy Spirit on the apostles, giving them power to speak in languages they had not studied. (Acts 2:1-11, 32, 33). On this occasion Peter used the "keys of the kingdom" given him by Jesus to admit penitent, baptized believers into the church-kingdom (Matt. 16:18, 19). The kingdom of God on earth today can be identified with the church, which is the body of Christ. The Colossians were in the kingdom (Col. 1:13), in the body of Christ (Col. 3:15), and thus in the church (Col. 1:18) all at the same time.

THOUGHTFUL QUOTE

"This is the beginning of a new day. God has given me this day to use as I will. I can waste it or use it for some good purpose. But what I do with this day is important because I have exchanged a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes, today will be gone forever. I hope that I will not regret the price I paid for it." (Author Unknown)

BELMONT GOES TO STATE COMPETITION FRIDAY NIGHT AT BRANDON

Belmont's Cardinales and Hatley's Tigerettes got into the win column Friday night in Class BB girls North-Half play, which was held at Senatobia.

Belmont beat Nugent Center 85-86, while Hatley blasted North Pontotoc 41-28.

Saturday night Belmont's Cardinales of District I edged Hatley's Tigerettes, also of District I, 43-41 for the North State Class BB girls basketball championship. Hatley is the defending Class BB state champ.

Tawanna Griffin bagged 20 and Donna Pharr 10 to set the Belmont pace. Hatley jumped off to a 23-16 halftime edge, but failed to curb the second half rush. Belmont avenged a setback in the District I finals. Tawanna Griffin, Donna Pharr and Donna Strickland will make up part of the All-North Tournament Team.

Friday afternoon Belmont will play Enterprise at Brandon.

Another Sacred Right Lost? Will Chiropractic Die In Mississippi?

Hopefully Mississippians will never lose their right to health; and yet the rights of some people are being threatened right now by a bill presently before the State Legislature, Bill 380.

This bill essentially seeks to "grace and surpress" Chiropractic healing by imposing unreasonable and indiscriminate restrictions on Chiropractors. It seeks to deny the Chiropractor his right freely to proclaim his services; it seeks to deprive him of his right to his professional certified title (D.C.), and of the use of essential equipment (X-Ray). It threatens him with heavy fines and jail sentences for openly promoting his work.

Then worse of all because so many thousands are involved, this bill will deprive the citizens of Mississippi of the right to know the truth about Chiropractic and the right to make up their own minds about it.

In most professions rather than suffering blanket suppression or have internal control which eliminate the incompetent and unscrupulous, while at the same time encouraging and stimulating those with eminent qualifications and competency, so it should be in Chiropractic.

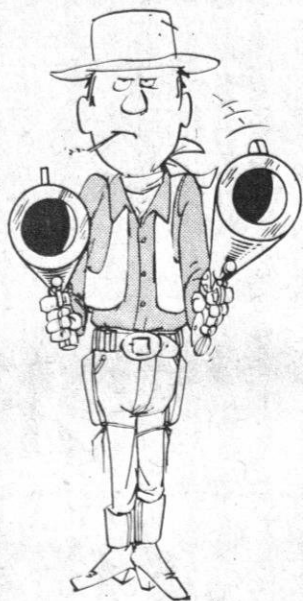

In nearly 76 years Chiropractic has proven itself a valid and effective science. Again and again its results have supported the claim that Chiropractic healing is faster, cheaper, safer, and more bearable than medicinal healing, although medical science has been evolving for thousands of years.

But regardless of what one might believe about Chiropractic, the issue is really one of human rights, the right of quality practice and the sacred right of the citizenry to know and judge for itself. Remember, when anyone loses a right, all of us to some extent have lost.

If you oppose the principle of Bill 380, either because you believe in Chiropractic or because you believe in the right of your fellowman to believe, notify your Representative, Richard Clark. Be sure he knows what is best for the people of Mississippi.

Respectively yours,
Dr. R. F. Semlow

Miss Universe
Mississippi
Contest April 1

The Miss Universe Mississippi contest, slated for the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi April 1, is expected to draw beauties from all sections of the state. An open preliminary to the Miss U.S.A. contest in San Juan, Puerto Rico, and subsequently to the Miss Universe competition, the Mississippi pageant is directed by Mrs. Ella Mae Hopton, prominent youth leader of Jackson.

Since time does not permit the staging of formal municipal and county eliminations, entry is by individual sponsor such as city and county governments, civic organizations, fraternities and sororities, and even businesses.

Mrs. Hopton urged that interested individuals write the state pageant office, P. O. Box 16033, Jackson, Miss., for application forms. Contestants must be at least 18 years of age, but not older than 28, must be single, of good character, and must have resided in the state for at least six months.

The Mississippi winner will receive an all-expense-paid trip to San Juan, plus $100 spending money. Winner of the Miss U.S.A. pageant will receive $5,000 cash, plus a $5,000 personal appearance contract.

POEM

ON THE LORD'S PRAYER
"You cannot pray the Lord's prayer and even once say "I,"
You cannot pray the Lord's prayer and even say "my,"
Nor can you pray the Lord's prayer and not pray for another;

"Tomorrow" Movie May Be Seen Soon

The movie portraying William Faulkner's book, "Tomorrow," filmed in Northeast Mississippi in the spring of 1970, will be released in New York in March.

It will be shown on the first day of the United States Film Festival in Dallas on March 19th.

Producer Paul Roebling says the film company will have a premiere in Tupelo where a part of the movie was shot to benefit some local charity.

Many Northeast Mississippians were involved as extras and in some minor parts in the movie.

Producer Roebling said the movie is being considered for a showing during the Cannes Film Festival, and will be listed in the Stratford Film Festival in Ontario in September.

Several scenes in the movie were shot near Tremont in the Oakland Community in Itawamba County.

I Ain't Dead Yet

My hair is white and I'm almost blind,
The days of my youth are far behind.
My neck is so stiff, can't turn my head —
Can't hear half that's being said;
My legs are wobbly, can't hardly walk —
But "Glory be," I can surely talk;

And this is the message I want you to get:
I'm still kicking and I ain't dead yet.
My joints are stiff, won't move in their sockets,
And nary a dime is left in my pockets,
So maybe you think I'm a total wreck,
To tell you the truth I do look like heck.
But still I have just loads of fun,
And my heart with joy is over-run;
I've lots of friends so kind and sweet,
And many more I never meet.
Oh, this is a wonderful world of ours,
Shade and sunshine and beautiful flowers,
So just take it from me you bet,
I'm glad I'm living and ain't dead yet.
I've got corns on my feet and ingrown nails,
And do they hurt? Here language fails.
To tell you my troubles would take too long,
If I tried you surely would give me the gong.
I go to church and Sunday School, too,
For I love the story that is ever new.
And when I reach the end of my row,
I hope to my Heavenly Home I'll go.
Then when I leave my house of clay,
If you listen closely I'm apt to say,
"Well, folks, I've left you but don't forget, I've just passed on but ain't dead yet!"

23-County Survey Planned For Retardation Center

The 23 counties to be served by the North Mississippi Retardation Center in Oxford will soon be surveyed to determine the extent of need, according to Seth Hudspeth, executive secretary of the Board of Trustees of Mental Institution, the controlling agency.

"Construction has just begun," said Hudspeth, "and opening day is a year away. But we need to know, far in advance, how many need services, so that the center can best serve the region."

He said a pilot survey will cover Lafayette County during March, with the other counties to be surveyed once the lessons learned from the pilot survey have been evaluated.

Hudspeth said the survey is being financed through a Developmental Disabilities Act grant to the Board of Trustees of Mental Institutions. Survey personnel are employed under the Emergency Employment Act.

B. B. Bowe, designated by the board to be its on-site coordinator, said in Oxford that the survey will count the number of retarded and developmentally disabled children in the 23 counties.

"We also plan to meet March 24, in Jackson, with county health officers," said Bowen, "to let them know what the center will offer and how all of us can work together."

He said other meetings are scheduled within the next few weeks with public health nurses in the counties to be served -- again with the idea of establishing liaison.

Working with all related groups is Dr. Larry Tyler, program coordinator for the center, who said the basic program will be geared to Phase I but can be easily expanded for Phase II.

Phase I calls for a total-care unit of 64 beds for the profoundly retarded and multiple-handicapped, plus two cottages for ambulatory patients -- one for 32 boys and the other for 32 girls.

"Thus we will have 128 residents at the beginning," said Dr. Tyler, "and the number of beds will increase, as will the scope of services to be rendered by the center."

Conceding that demand might exceed supply in the 23-county area with a population of 215,000, Dr. Tyler said the center "is not the total solution, nor does it pretend to be."

He added: "The center is visualized as just one part of a continuum of services. We still need community support in child-development centers, group homes, sheltered workshops, special education and in many other ways."

Dr. Tyler said, "It is not an either-or situation. An institution provides a concentration of specialties, and communities supply vital services. Both are essential to a well-rounded program."

He said the center eventually hopes to provide outpatient services on a regional basis -- not only to children but to families as well. He said these services would be as comprehensive as possible.

Both Bowen and Dr. Tyler spoke of the need for a central clearing house for information where families could learn where to go for help without being relayed from one agency to another.

They are at present compiling a list of individuals and agencies in the 23 North Mississippi counties who have responsibility for various programs serving the retarded and developmentally disabled.

"This file," said Bowen, "should help us reach people who need help. Many times, these people are in rural areas and are not under any program, even though they may badly need to be."

One indication of local support, said Bowen, has come from over 20 physicians in Oxford and the Oxford-Lafayette County Hospital who will help, he said, in accidents or cases requiring immediate hospitalization.

Dr. Tyler noted, too, that various departments of the University of Mississippi have indicated interest in joint programs with the center. He said other universities and colleges also will be called upon for help.

"Things are moving faster," said Bowen, "but we still have much to do before the center opens next January."

WITNESSES ATTEND DAILY MEETING IN TUPELO

A three day circuit of Jehovah's Witnesses in Tupelo, Miss., is being conducted. The witnesses are instructed to conduct a Bible study program in the more "Conscious Survival Needs," re-Scruggs, local preter of personal concern. Jehovah's Christian Witnesses have Biblically and publicly proved that nations are on a collision course with God. This collision, "the minister said, "will without fail come, but it will be good for the earth. There will be survivors; it will bring a total end to war, crime and delinquency."

The minister continued, "Wise and Godly persons in the past evaluated the conditions and their actions from God's viewpoint, and acted according to His view, thereby receiving His protection."

"Many religious attitudes and practices today, correspond with ancient Biblical examples which met God's disfavor, according to Ezekiel chapter 6, and to survive this delinquent world in this generation," the minister concluded, "we must be marked for survival as Ezekiel 9:4 shows."

Assembly instructions will be reviewed this week at the local Kingdom Hall, 104 Eastport St., Iuka, Miss.

Phone Booth Crash Spurs Suit

A Tishomingo County man, who claims he was injured when a federal prisoner wrecked a car during an escape attempt, sued the government for $250,000 in federal court on Tuesday, February 22.

Oscar Carroll Davis of Iuka, said in the suit he was standing near a telephone booth at Riverside and Adams in Memphis September 21, 1970, when he "was violently struck by an automobile or a portion of the telephone booth when the automobile crashed into the booth."

His attorneys, John S. Porter, C. Thomas Cates and Leland Carter of Memphis said the car was driven by Robert Lee Swanson, a federal prisoner who escaped while being driven to the Shelby County Jail.

They said Swanson used a concealed key to remove handcuffs placed on him by a federal marshal and a sheriff's deputy. He then leaped from their car and commandeered a private car, which went out of control and crashed into the telephone booth, the suit said.

Mr. Davis charged the government with negligence in the handling of Swanson and asked for $200,000 in damages for injuries to his ankle, ribs and back, among others. His wife, Mrs. Lillie M. Davis, asked for $50,000 in damages for loss "of the services and consortium of her husband."

Shaking The Family Tree

The Newspaper received a letter from Rolf W. Spadlin, 10625 Pillot St., Houston, Texas 77029, concerning information about some long-lost relatives.

He says his great-great-grandfather, James Murphy, was born in Iuka, October 18, 1816 and died January 24, 1894. He was married to Catherine Faris, who was born in Iuka, November 17, 1817 and died there July 26, 1905.

Mr. Spadlin would appreciate any information about his family.

Pre-Trial Hearing For Tenn-Tom Set

A pre-trial hearing on the Environmental Defense Fund's case seeking to block construction of the $386 million Tennessee - Tombigbee Waterway will be held in U. S. District Court in Clarksdale tomorrow, Feb. 25.

U. S. District Judge Lewis Smith, who earlier issued a temporary injunction halting construction of the waterway, last month ordered the case moved from Washington to the Northern District of Mississippi.

Smith based his action on the fact that most of the U. S. Corps of Engineers records and the numerous prospective witnesses expected for the trial live in Alabama and Mississippi. Conducting the trial in Washington would involve enormous inconveniences and expense, he said.

The change has been sought by the engineers and the Tennessee-Tombigbee Water Development Authority, an agency formed by a compact between the state governments of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Florida and Kentucky.

In seeking the change, attorneys for the engineers and the authority charged the Environmental Defense Fund, based in New York, had brought its suit in Washington after having "shopped around for a forum to their liking."

The lawyers also pointed out that two other plaintiffs in the case were residents of Mississippi. They are Jim Williams, teacher at the Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, and the organization called Committee for Leaving the Environment of America Natural (CLEAN) based at Starkville. The environmental groups had based their attack on the waterway on a charge that the engineers failed to comply with all provisions of federal environmental protection statutes in planning the waterway.

The waterway would provide a barge traffic link of the Tennessee River and the Gulf of Mexico through a series of locks and dams in Mississippi and Alabama.

Holy Land Tour

Would you like to spend 16 wonderful days walking where Jesus walked and visiting places where Paul preached, April 3-18, with the Rev. Cecil Williamson of Starkville and a lot of others?

This 16-day Mediterranean tour revolves around the life of Christ and the missionary work of Paul. In addition to visiting such places as Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Nazareth, Sea of Galilee, Dead Sea, Jericho, Megiddo (Biblical Armageddon), Haifa, in the Holy Land, the group will visit Athens, Galonika, Corinth, Philippi, Ephesus, Tarsus, Antioch, Patmos, points in Egypt and more.

The plan is to fly by jet to Athens, tour the city, then board the large cruise ship -- hotel for two weeks with daytime trips by bus to places of Christ and Paul, plus seminars on Evangelism and special messages on the Holy Spirit at night aboard the ship.

Sixteen glorious days -- the trip of a lifetime -- unforgettable experiences for less than $970 from point of departure and back. For further information contact the Rev. Mr. Cecil Williamson immediately -- deadline the last of February for reservations. Resident phone 323-6689 - business phone 323-5722.

The Veterans Administration says five to 10 percent pension and compensation increases authorized by two new laws were reflected in February checks of 2.5 million veterans and survivors.

TVA Says No Rate Adjustment Needed Now

The TVA Board of Directors has conducted its quarterly review of the agency's power program finances and has determined that no rate adjustment will be necessary for the April-June quarter. Revenues for the current fiscal year ending June 30 are expected to cover costs by an acceptable margin, TVA said, but a continuing evaluation will be necessary in the coming fiscal year because of prospective increases in charges relating to new power facilities, fuel, labor and environmental protection measures. The quarterly review of power revenues and costs to indicate whether a rate adjustment is necessary, is designed to make it possible to hold electric rates to the lowest levels that will sustain a financially sound operation. CENTRAL RCDC TO MEET MARCH 6th The Central RCDC will meet Monday night, March 6th. The 4-H Club will be in charge of the meeting. You are urged to attend.

Miss Woodley Named Chairman Of Easter Seal Campaign

Miss Margaret June Woodley has been named Chairman of the 1972 Mississippi Easter Seal Campaign for Tishomingo County.

Miss Woodley will head up the annual Campaign which began February 28, and continues through April 2, Easter Sunday.

The Campaign involves a mail approach with Easter Seals, to residents supplemented by local business campaigns and special events.

The purpose of the Campaign is to secure the greatest percentage of income which the Society operates its major service programs.

The Easter Seal Society is a voluntary agency which has taken leadership in providing help for the handicapped for over 50 years. Contributions received from the general public provide such services as medical diagnoses, physical, occupational and speech therapy, special education, purchase of appliances, loan of equipment and other care and treatment.

TISHOMINGO COUNTY HEALTH PROGRAM

By Edna Earl Tapp, R. N.

Alcoholism, a serious health problem is a condition that is characterized by unpredictable or compulsive drinking. Its victims are known as alcoholics. Until recently it was common to think of alcoholics as people to be shunned, reproached, or ridiculed. They were considered by many to be immoral, weak willed, or obstinate. But nowadays physicians and others who have made a study of alcoholism approach the problem differently. They realize that there is no point in scolding, shaming, or urging the use of will power alone because they know that once an alcoholic has taken a drink, he is unable to be sure where his drinking will end. He keeps on drinking even though he may realize that he is harming his health, endangering his job, or hurting the people closest to him, his family and friends.

The National Council on Alcoholism estimates that there are about 80,000 people in the U.S. who drink alcoholic beverages. Most drink socially with no great ill effects. But, for about 6,500,000 of these people, the use of alcohol has created very serious problems. Alcoholics do not represent any single group

The Easter Seal Society differs from many other volunteer health agencies in that the greatest majority of money raised in each county in Mississippi goes for direct services in that county with only a small percentage going to the national program of research.

Miss Woodley is a member of the Baptist Church, 20th Century Club, American Public Welfare Association, and Mississippi Conference on Social Welfare. She is Secretary-Treasurer of the Mississippi Association of County Welfare Directors.

Miss Woodley is the daughter of Mrs. Carlton Woodley and the late Mr. Woodley of Iuka.

in our population; the majority are definitely not "skid-row" types. Alcoholism afflicts both men and women of all ages and from all walks of life.

Thousands of alcoholics can and do recover, but rarely, if ever, without some sort of help. The biggest hurdle is for the individual to recognize that the problem exists and that help is needed. Usually, of course, family or friends are the first ones to be aware of the problem.

Alcoholism cannot generally be successfully handled by family members alone without guidance from outside. While it is natural for a worried family to try to reason, coax, and even threaten, this so-called home treatment alone cannot be effective. Drinking alone and in secret, drinking in the morning, loss of memory after drinking are some of the serious warning signals that indicate that help should be sought.

Since Tishomingo County does not at present have an Alcoholics Anonymous organization, all interested persons should write to: Alcoholics Anonymous, P. O. Box 459, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Alcoholism takes time to develop, and recovery from it takes time, too. But by understanding that the alcoholic is suffering from a very real problem, members of the family can help both themselves and him to see it through.

Today, the nature and problems of alcoholism are better understood than ever before, and more is being learned constantly. With increased understanding and united community effort it will be possible to teach people more of the facts about alcoholism. All of us can help overcome many of the superstitions and prejudices that have been linked with alcoholism by helping to develop intelligent and constructive attitudes about it, and by working for improved treatment and rehabilitation facilities in our own community.

DIRECT DIALING IN IUKA SET FOR MARCH 5

South Central Bell and the Mississippi Public Service Commission announced that the introduction of direct distance dialing in Iuka is progressing on schedule.

The cutover to direct dial facilities is set for Sunday, March 5.

According to Chairman of the Mississippi Public Service Commission D. W. Snyder, Western Electric installers have completed installation and testing of the complex switching equipment necessary for customers to dial their long distance calls. Final preparations are now underway by South Central Bell. "Completion of this $30,600 project will not only link Iuka with 109 million telephones in 53,000 cities that can be dialed direct, but will also provide facilities for future telephone growth in the area," Chairman Snyder said.

To dial station-to-station calls direct, Bill Hardin South Central Bell Manager in Corinth responsible for Iuka operations, suggested:

--dial "1"

--the Area Code if calling outside Mississippi.

--the number you're calling.

--and when the Operator asks give her the number from which you're calling.

Getting a telephone number from Directory Assistance in a distant city is easy, too. For example, to get a Memphis telephone number dial "1" - the Area Code 901 - and 555-1212. There's no extra charge for this service.

Operators will continue to handle person-to-person, credit card, collect and calls from coin telephones.

Hardin said, "We're pleased to bring the convenience of direct dialing to Iuka. This conversion is part of our continuing program to expand and improve telephone service throughout Mississippi and to eventually make all our exchanges part of the direct dial network."

Good Time To Plant Your Trees

A cheery reminder has been issued that within a few weeks, many of our Magnolia State's flowering trees will burst into bloom heralding springtime and adding natural beauty to urban lawns and to a rural countryside awakening from the drabness of winter.

There are those who have not yet followed through on winter resolutions to plant a redbud, dogwood, flowering peach or cherry tree on their place, and there are no further excuses for waiting now that Arbor Day has come and gone.

You not only can beautify your own property but also enhance Mississippi's nationwide reputation for having a lovely abundance of spring-flowering trees.

County foresters can advise and assist persons interested in tree planting. Rural landowners, especially tree farmers, can do themselves a big favor by taking advantage of assistance now while the sap is down and conditions right for tree planting for the new growing season.

This not only is a good time to plant trees, but also to enjoy the beauty of those growing that enhance Mississippi's appearance at this time.

Drug Abuse Clinic For Parents

The University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy drug abuse education team will lead a clinic for parents of Luka and Tishomingo County in the Luka High School auditorium on Tuesday night, March 7, starting at 7:00. The clinic will be for the benefit of all interested adults, and a similar clinic will be scheduled at a later date for school age young people.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A man should be ashamed to run his own life the moment he finds out there is a God. One who made this life-changing discovery quotes Him in Psalm 101:6.

First there is His look—"My eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land." Because His eyes are upon us He knows us just as we are, and He will give us everything we need. He will not give us something that will in any way hurt us or spoil us. Not because He is harsh, but because He is wise, and cares more about us than our wants.

Second, there is His longing—"that they may dwell with Me." Where? "In the house of the Lord forever."

What a contrast to present conditions! A city without sins and sorrows, without griefs and graves, without wars and weaknesses; with Jesus for its King, angels for its guards and saints for its citizens.

Third there is the labor. Someone has said, "I should have been proud to have held the spyglass for Columbus, to have picked up the fallen brush for Michael Angelo, and to have blacked Shakespeare's boots." But here is something more wonderful than that. Our God said, "He shall serve Me."

Is this God your God and are you numbered among "the faithful?"

Representative Richard Clark Gets Checked

Representative Richard O. Clark of Iuka was among the 130 lawmakers who had their blood pressure checked at the Capitol in a demonstration of Mississippi Heart Association's proposed high blood pressure detection program. Plans are to find and provide referral to the estimated 150,000 citizens in this state who don't know they have this treatable health problem. Your Heart Fund contributions provide support for this project and vital programs of research, education and community service to "Beat The Big One - Heart Attack."

The guest speaker was from the Department of Education. Due to so much sickness and a death that affected some of the members, only a few attended.

Missionary Relates Travel

The News Office has received a letter from Mr. J. C. Choate relating his travel enroute to India where he will do Missionary work. He has been sponsored for the past several years by the Liberty Church of Christ, Dennis, Miss.

His letter follows:

THE ROAD TO SINGAPORE

After a few days on the island on Maui in Hawaii, I flew out on Friday night at 8:45 p.m. to Honolulu. Shifting over to the International Terminal, I check in with Pan American for a flight to Guam. I was told, however, that all seats from there to Manila were booked up, and that for the next several days. I wanted to be in Guam on Sunday for worship, but after that my only concern was that of getting to Singapore as quickly as possible. I was routed to Singapore by the way of Manila but only for the purpose of making air connections. On considering the alternatives it was concluded that the only solution was for me to be routed from Guam to Okinawa to Taipei to Hong Kong and then finally to Singapore. This would be taking the long way around, but if this was the only way to do it then I would have to accept it. Also, it would be nice to spend a few days in each one of these places, but I wouldn't have the time to do so. My ticket was re-written then, of course, without any extra fare being added to it.

I was amazed to think that so many people would be traveling through this part of the world, and especially in view of the fact that Pan American was operating the big 747's. Also, other airlines were flying the same route. But I suppose it was due to the fact that so many service people and their dependants were stationed in Guam and then many of those flying were on their way to Saigon after spending their R and R (Rest and Recreation) days in Hawaii.

Departure time was 1:00 a.m. on Saturday morning. That was about all I saw of Saturday, however, since we crossed the International Dateline and the next thing I knew we were landing in Guam on Sunday morning. That also leaves you with a funny feeling that you have lost a day of your life.

I made contact with the local preacher and met with the church that morning and evening for worship. I spoke at the evening service and then we all gathered for an ice cream supper. With an attendance of around 175, and consisting mostly of American service people and their families, it was about like visiting with a congregation back in Mississippi. I enjoyed being with these Christians and having the opportunity to see some of the island. It is an island, and a small one at that, but it is a U. S. possession and very much Americanized.

On Monday morning I left by T. W. A. for Okinawa. The flight took a little over three hours and then we were one hour at the airport. Next we proceeded to Taipei and this took an hour. Another hour was spent on the ground. Our next stop was at Hong Kong, an hour and twenty minutes away. T. W. A. was running more than an hour late, so I had to really rush to catch my Cathy Pacific flight for Singapore. I made it just in time but to take this particular flight I had to leave my luggage behind with the promise that it would be sent by a later flight. I didn't like the idea but decided to risk it. To my amazement, this flight did not go direct to Singapore but it would fly first to Bangkok and then to Singapore. Had I known this I would have probably taken another flight to my final destination. Anyway, it was too late for that.

The way we flew over South Vietnam, flying a little north of Saigon, we also flew over Cambodia. On the way the pilot pointed out things of interest to us, including three U. S. Aircrafts that had been on a raid and were heading back to their home base in Thailand.

The flight to Bangkok must have taken more than three hours, but after an hour at the airport we were finally on our way to Singapore, which took another two hours, and putting us into the city by 7:30 p.m. on Monday evening. It had been a long day indeed, but at last I was in Singapore, and believe it or not, my baggage was there waiting for me. I called my friend and he came out to pick me up. It was wonderful to be in Asia again, and I am enjoying my stay in this great city. Singapore itself is enjoying a building boom and the whole city is taking on a new modern look. A large number of Americans have invaded the place, since they are based here in conjunction with their work in drilling for oil off the coast of Indonesia.

I'll be spending about a week here before going on to Colombo, Ceylon and New Delhi, India. In the mean time, I am speaking to the students of Four Seas College and preaching for the local Churches of Christ. I am also doing some shopping in the interest of the work in these other places. Prices are still good, but not as good as they were before the devaluation of the dollar.

Being on the equator, the weather is quite warm. The people are friendly and hospitable and one would have to go a long way in Asia before finding a more ideal place to live.

CONVENIENCE FOODS ARE HERE TO STAY

No one has precisely defined a "convenience food." There is no doubt, however, that the term is widely used. When asked to describe "convenience foods," most consumers talk about ease of preparation, speed of preparation, lack of waste and ease of clean up.

The term "convenience," when applied to foods, must be in a relative sense according to the product concerned, and ideas of what is convenient to change. An item considered to be the last word in convenience today may be outmoded in relation to those developed and put on the market tomorrow. The main factors to be considered when evaluating convenience foods are cost, time, quality, nutritive value, acceptability, variety and versatility.

Cost factors when comparing quality and quantity are hard to arrive at because many of the new type convenience foods cannot be duplicated at home since the ingredients may not be available at retail.

When most people discuss quality of food they really refer to their own standards, based upon past experience. Standards of quality vary between individuals, sections of the country, religious groups. Quality of a convenient food may or may not be equal to home-prepared foods, depending to a large extent on who did the home preparation.

Family incomes are predicted to keep increasing in future years and this is a good indication that more highly processed and "convenience foods" will continue to take their place on grocer's shelves.

MILK FLAVOR

Have you ever complained about the flavor of milk that you bought? Poor flavor in milk can be due to your carelessness. Studies indicate that leaving milk in a hot car for only 30 minutes can cause flavor to deteriorate. Flavor break-down is even greater for milk that is left for longer periods of time. Although the milk does not "sour" since bacteria are killed in the pasteurization process, it does develop an off-flavor.

Develop the practice of carrying frozen foods and refrigerated items directly from the food store to your home refrigerator and as quickly as possible. Do your errand such as "stopping for gasoline" before you go to the grocery store or at some other time.

FRUIT AND NUTS

Be sure your fruit and nut trees are planted by mid-March.
Remember -- dig a hole large enough for the plant. Do not make the roots fit the hole.
Add plenty of water at planting time and continue to water during the establishment period.
If your tree is not topped, be sure to cut it back about one-third. The roots will not be able to support a large top because they were broken during digging and transporting.
Stake the tree. Staking will prevent the tree from blowing in the wind and disrupting the root system while it is being re-established.

Once again, check for borers around the base of your peach trees. A gummy substance about the base generally indicates their presence. Dig them out with a knife. If they are not removed, they may girdle your trees.

Peach trees should also be checked for brown rot. You may eliminate some of your problems by removing the small black peaches that may still be on your trees. Bury these mummies at least one foot deep.

If strawberries were planted during the fall and made few runners this spring and summer, a larger harvest and healthier plants will be next year's result.

Fertilize fruit and pecan trees in early March before growth starts. For average soils, use a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 at the rate of 1 pound per tree for each year of age of fruit trees and three times as much for pecan trees.

For trees growing in sod or lawn, punch holes 6 to 8 inches deep and about 12 inches apart and put 1 to 2 cups of fertilizer in each hole.

Rehabilitation For State Hospital Patients

Every day, Monday through Friday, 70 selected mental patients at Mississippi State Hospital, Whitfield, proudly board
"their" big new blue bus to go to work.

They pay a quarter a day for two round trips from and to the hospital proper. The quarter comes from their earnings at the workshop.

Their work is part of their rehabilitation process at Allied Enterprises of Whitfield, one of 26 sheltered workshop facilities operated by the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, State Department of Education.

Then on pay day, twice monthly, the bus makes a special trip to the Pearl Branch of the Rankin County Bank. Here the patient-trainees cash their own checks earned through their workshop activities -- an act first begun in early January this year.

Riding a bus and cashing a check don't impress the average adult. To this group of patients, many of whom have been at State Hospital for years, these acts become impressive events.

Both are part of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division's plan to prepare the patients for life outside the hospital, or for more independent living within the institution.

Allied Enterprises of Whitfield is one of the very few sheltered workshops in the nation operated for mental patients by state agencies, according to Frank Massey, Vocational Rehabilitation counselor in charge of the facility.

The patient-trainees are especially proud of the big blue bus since it is owned by the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, rather than the hospital.

"To the patients this represents progress toward what they hope will be release to the outside community," explained Massey.

"Many of the patient-trainees have been at the hospital for years, so that they both long and fear release. That's why we prepare them, step by step, for the transition," said Massey.

During the second period at the facility the patient-trainees concentrate on job skills, attitudes and practices which will prepare them for independence.

Throughout their entire stay at the facility the patients are trained in such practices as:
good grooming, proper hygiene, promptness, perseverance, getting along with peers and supervisors, budgeting, etc.

The workshop facility was opened in three converted dairy barns at the hospital on March 10, 1970. It is an important part of a broad program of rehabilitation involving the hospital, a general program of Vocational Rehabilitation at the institution and over the state, allied organizations and volunteer workers.

Average stay at the workshop facility is four months, though there is no fixed period. For about five weeks a new trainee undergoes psychological tests, receives counseling and is tried out at a series of job samples.

These samples are part of subcontract work which the facility carries out for local commercial and industrial concerns.

At the present time the facility is carrying out twelve sub-contracts for eleven firms. These involve making wooden industrial pallets, fashion purses, ceramic highway reflectors, and stepladders; re-finishing office furniture; cutting wooden stakes, and packaging prints for decoupage purses.

To some of the patients, their small pay checks represent the only spending money they have received in years.

Since the workshop opened, 50 percent of 185 patients who have come to the facility have had their services completed.

This means, said Massey, they have been: placed directly in jobs in the outside community, have progressed to further evaluation and training at Goodwill Industries or Allied Enterprises of Jackson, or have been placed in permanent sheltered employment at the Whitfield facility.

When a patient-trainee is released from the hospital, Vocational Rehabilitation counselors arrange for room and board for him, and check on his progress until he is well-adjusted to his new life.

THE CHURCH

Is the Church the Kingdom of God on earth with power and great glory? Matt. 24:30 - We want to begin where we left off last week with the woman in Rev. 12:1 and her son that was caught up to God on His throne, vs. 5. However, this woman was not the church. The church did not give birth to Jesus Christ. He was the founded of the church. Then who was she? To give a Bible answer to that question would take at least six weeks with the limited space we have, but the man child was Jesus. For no man hath ascended up to heaven, but He that came down from heaven, even the son of man which is in heaven (John 3:13, Acts 2:29-34, Acts 13:36. And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads, Rev. 12:3. Notice something different concerning the red dragon and the beast of Ch. 13:1. The crowns have increased from seven to ten and moved from his heads to his horns, Ch. 12:3, Ch. 13:1. This should be our second clue. Last week we saw our first clue, which was the woman drunk with the blood of the saints. She carries the name Mystery Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and the Abominations of the Earth, Rev. 17:5. Lets get back to the dragon of Rev. 12: vs. 6. After she brought forth her child, which was consequently the one born from the dead, born of the Spirit, the Son of promise, as Isaac, Rom. 9:7, Gal. 3:16. Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to seeds, as of many; but as of one, and to thy seed which is Christ. The woman went into the wilderness where she was to remain for duration of a thousand two hundred and three score days, or 3 1/2 years, 42 months. We will count each day for a year,

Num. 14:34, twelve hundred and sixty years. This will help us later to better understand vs. 7. There was war in heaven. Remember this is a symbolic statement. This was a war of triumph of good over evil. Just as Aaron's rod turned to a serpent, and swallowed up the serpents of Pharaoh, wise men and sorcerers, Ex. 7:9-12. The dragon fought and his angels and prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in heaven, vs. 8. This was the first time the devil had lost a battle. This was done under the first seal, Rev. 6:1, 2, and I saw a white horse and he that sat on him had a bow; to wage war. Notice what a beautiful symbol is employed here, a bow, a weapon of war, and a symbol of peace, Gen. 9:11-16. And a crown was given unto him; and he went forth conquering and to conquer, Rev. 6:2. If you want to know who this white horse rider is, read Rev. 19:11. It was said that a crown was given him, he was born to be a king; but he came as a servant, he triumph over powers principalities he made shew of them openly triumphing over them in it, Col. 2:15. And broke the hold that death hath, and come forth and said all power is given me in heaven and in earth, Matt. 28:18. And was crowned King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, Psalms 24:8, Rev. 17:14. The Lord appointed other seventy, Luke 10:1. They returned with joy saying Lord even the devils are subject unto us. And he said unto them I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven, Luke 10:17, 18. We will continue the subject next week concerning the man of sin versus the Kingdom of God.

ANIMALS

By Mary B. Davis
SCOUT AND BLACKIE

Quite often someone wants to know how I became so interested in helping animals.

It all started when two starving kittens arrived at our kitchen door on October 2, 1962, crying for food.

Earlier that same day, my husband, Art, and I had just moved from Washington, D. C., to live in Iuka, Miss., my hometown. For a few years, I had also worked in New York City; but in all the time that we lived in cities, we never had a pet and can never recall even having discussed them during our first eleven years of marriage.

But the minute we saw those miserable kittens, we were both equally and completely overcome with sympathy for them. Letting them know that they were at a friendly house, we invited them right into the kitchen. Having been chased away from so many places, though, and even as hungry as they were, they were not about to trust us immediately and would not enter the house voluntarily.

One of them had been badly hurt and dragged a bloody, partly hanging leg. Being in that condition, we caught it easily. The other one was in good shape physically and kept out of reach. With kind talk and good-smelling food, Art did, however, patiently coax it within reach and eventually got it into the house, too.

Except for a tiny, diamond-shaped white spot right under his neck, he was solid black; so we automatically named him "Blackie." We had just read the book, "To Kill a Mockingbird" and had loved the little girl in the story. Her name was "Scout" and that is what we named Blackie's little multi-colored sister.

Our first contact with needy animals, we were totally ignorant on the subject of "how to care properly" for them -- and are ashamed to admit that, at that time, we still had many of the old-fashioned ideas about "animals being able to take care of themselves," an absolutely false notion when applied to domesticated animals. Any animal, even wild ones, need some human help.

It took Scout three months to recover sufficiently to get out of the house again. During that time, she amputated her own foot. Blackie loved his little sister dearly, and understood her fragile condition, sitting for hours at a time beside her, patting her gently from time to time, letting her know that he was still there. In all our later dealings with animals, we never had a situation more touching than the devotion between these two; and as long as she lived, Blackie never let Scout forget that he was available if she needed him! Human brothers and sisters could not have been closer.

Scout was killed by a car in June of 1964 after having lived long enough to raise two litters. Blackie lived until July 31, 1970, dying of "natural causes" brought on, really, by too much running around.

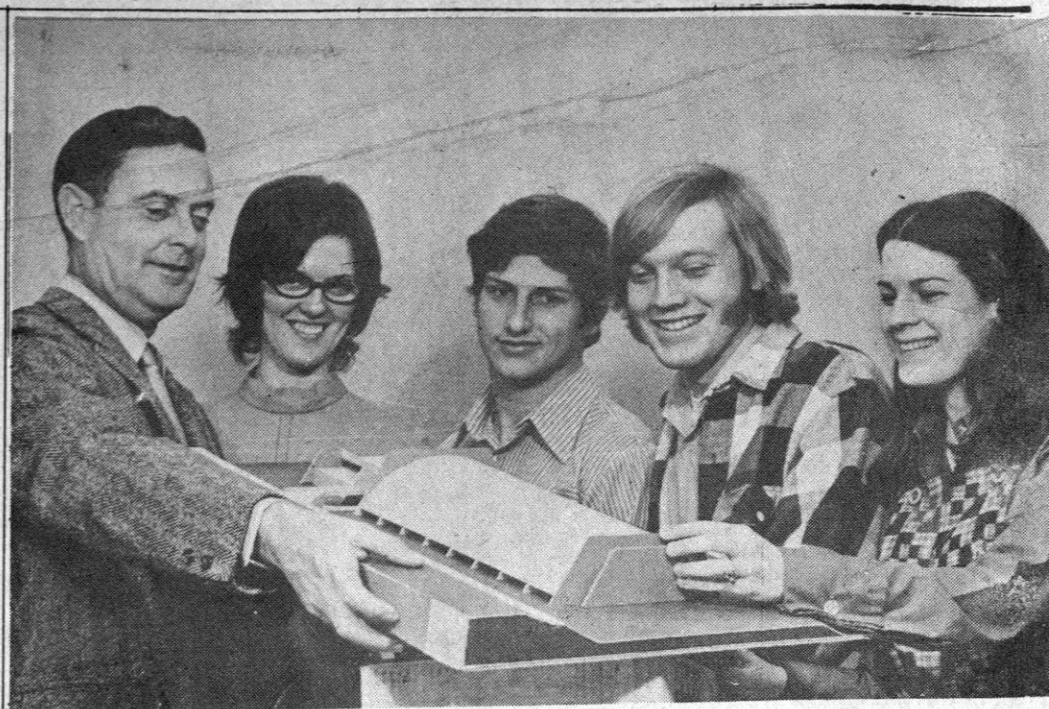

Having learned some of the facts of animal life, we no longer let our cats and dogs leave home; and we prevent them from having offspring by either confining them during heat periods or by having them operated on by a competent veterinarian.

To repay Scout and Blackie for the joy which they brought into our lives, we both do all we can to help other animals. Today, we have 16 cats and dogs. Scout and Blackie literally turned us both into humane workers. In my case, I write about animals with the hope that what I say will make others aware of their humanlike needs, hoping that enough people will eventually care to see that humane shelters are built throughout the state. In humane facilities, unwanted animals will either find a home or be given, at least, a civilized, merciful death.
