Boat Registration Information

The Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission warned the state's recreational boating public to avoid being misled by a boat registration offer being circulated through the mail by a private organization. The mailing offers to provide "registration," but according to the Commission's Director, Len Boulter, registration of boats is the responsibility of the State government in Mississippi and must be registered through the County Tax Collector where the boat is kept or used most of the time.

The organization soliciting registrations by mail is not an official agency of either the federal or state governments. Boat owners are advised to continue to contact the nearest Tax Collector of the Boat and Water Safety Commission for information on the proper methods of registering a recreational boat.

Cancer Warnings

Many people think that cancer is a woman's disease, yet more men than women die of cancer each year.

There is also a misconception that cancer is always fatal, but through early diagnosis and prompt treatment thousands of cancer patients are being saved each year. According to Miss Susie Overstreet, Extension specialist in Health Education with the Cooperative Extension Service and the Mississippi State Board of Health, many more could be saved, not by worry, but rather by following a few precautions.

Among the precautions Miss Overstreet outlined having a thorough check-up by your doctor once a year was first. This is even more important after you reach 40. Knowing the seven danger signals is another precaution and if any persist for more than two weeks see your doctor.

"There are some 'don'ts' that should be followed also.

Don't take home remedies or fall for secret cures. They just may keep you from going to a reputable doctor until it's too late. And if you don't smoke cigarettes, don't start. If you do smoke, stop. Scientific studies have shown that cigarette smoking is one of the major causes of lung cancer," she said.

Time counts because cancer grows fast and spreads quickly. So long as it is limited to one area it can usually be removed or destroyed. Your own doctor can find most cancers in their early stages by a thorough check-up. If you need a more specialized examination, he will tell you. "Put time on your side and have regular check-ups and learn the seven danger signals of cancer," the health specialist advised.

ANIMALS

BY MARY B. DAVIS
"IN PEACE AT LAST"

If the following letter doesn't explain why humane shelters are so badly needed for unwanted animals, nothing ever will. Although the writer of the letter identified herself fully, I am withholding her name from this story to prevent thoughtless people from "dumping" their unwanted animals at her house the next time they go through her neighborhood.

"Dear Mrs. Davis, I feel that the only thing that will help me keep my sanity tonight is to write you this letter. Although I don't want to cause you grief, and to trouble your heart as mine is burdened tonight, I feel that I must relate today's happenings to someone who also cares what happens to animals and can share my grief. . ."

"The dogs in the pound here, as you know, are sentenced to be shot five days after they are brought in. And, Mrs. Davis, it isn't as simple as the words sound. They are dragged out mercilessly by a choke-type collar, looped at the end of a long, steel pole; crying pitifully, tongues mashed out and wheezing for air, they are slung into the truck like vicious and dangerous man-eating beasts -- yet they are always friendly, lovable dogs. At the dump, they are dragged out of the truck in the same merciless manner and shot, not to die instantly (the merciful way), but often, they die slowly, in prolonged and unnecessary pain because only a .22 shot is used about the shoulder area. . ."

"The dogcatcher has put off the shooting this time for weeks, I think partially because he knew how I'd feel and how hard I was trying to find them homes. But for two months now I have known it was coming, as the pound has grown more and more over-crowded. And every few days I go there and take tasty food, worm pills, mange-dip, etc., so that they have all grown to know me and greet my car with wagging tails and me with friendly licks. . ."

"But today I gave up hopes of ever finding them good homes. . . I got permission from the Mayor to let me provide a humane death for the ones still left in the pound that had to die. . . I called the dogcatcher and told him to meet me at the pound. . . I helped him load them all into the truck and into my car, all but four (one of whom is expecting pups), and we took them to a veterinarian. . . They were so DELIGHTED to get to take a ride! Even the ones crowded into the truck seemed to enjoy just being out in the air again. I know, because I drove my car behind his truck. And those little faces and big eyes, peering from the cage on the truck, will haunt me to my death, as our funeral procession, our journey to the gallows went its last mile. . ."

"Behind the Animal Clinic, happy, tongues lolling and tails wagging, they sat on the flap of the truck and each received his (merciful death) shot, only for me to watch the eyes slowly close and the warm, furry body slump into a lifeless heap and be placed on the pile of the ones who came first. The veterinarian, the dogcatcher, and I -- we all helped in this humane work of putting them to sleep (permanent sleep -- in the kindest way possible). . ."

"Now they lie, like rubbish, at the city dump -- piled into a tremendous heap, necks slung back, forms limp -- but in peace at last! And I know they're better off and I know it was the HUMANE way. . ."

"But, again, it wasn't so simple."

eye-witness account of what happens to unwanted animals in dog pounds was not news to me; but it made me just as unhappy and depressed as if I had been hearing it for the first time.

She points out in her letter that she paid for putting these animals to sleep that day and would continue to do so as long as she could -- but that she would soon go bankrupt when the number of dogs there reaches as many as 50 in a month. She asked why the City could not pay for "humane" deaths by a veterinarian rather than by shooting.

She also stated that even though she lives in a city of about 15,000 people, not one soul would go with her to the dog pound to help her look after the animals there. But she did say, thank goodness, that there are some people there interested in animals and asked if I could come there to explain all about The Mississippi Animal Rescue League.

Because the words "humane society" do not appear in its name, some people do not realize that The Mississippi Animal Rescue League IS a humane organization, organized to help animals in every way possible. Not limited to one town or one country as most humane societies are, MARL is state-wide and was organized to: prevent and alleviate cruelty to all animals; rehabilitate sick and injured animals, assist in locating lost or stolen animals; educate people in animal care; find homes for unwanted animals; and for those that cannot find good homes, to provide them with a merciful, civilized death.

Each year, the first week in May is "Be Kind to Animals" Week. Please help the animals every day in the year by joining the League and helping them accomplish their goals. (MARL, Box 11264 - Delta Station, Jackson, Miss. 39213.)

WEED CONTROL

No preplant, preemergence or double treatment is good enough to go it alone for all season cotton weed control. But for early season chemical weed control farmers should use the most economical treatment.

Treflan and Planavin are two of our most effective control chemicals for grass. These are both economical. In the majority of cases neither of these herbicides should be used alone. Use a surface applied herbicide for broadleaf weed control.

Most of you are in a position to know how extensive a herbicide program is needed. Many will use only one surface applied material like Karmex, Cotoran or Telyar and omit the incorporated herbicides. One or two postemergence herbicide applications in addition to the surface applied treatments give them all season control.

Telyar is recommended for clay soils only. Karmex and Cotoran work equally well on some of the silt loam soils in which water moves easily through the soils. On soils with more clay or mixed type soils, Cotoran will probably give better control of the troublesome broadleaf weeds.

But, whatever the early season herbicide you choose, be ready to apply a postemergence application when the cotton is three to six inches tall.

SOYBEAN PLANTING

Planting high quality soybean seed in warm, moist soil is the best insurance against seedling diseases. But seed of low germination planted in fields of known disease problems should be treated with Arasan or Captan. The variety Hood should always be treated as it is high susceptible to seedling disease.

Miss Nellie Horton's Home Economist's Notes

WHAT'S NEW IN REFRIGERATORS

Refrigerators are not old hat when it comes to what's new. Compact models are the big news, but side-by-side freezer-refrigerators, and ice makers and dispensers are still catching the attention of homemakers who are shoppers for a refrigerator.

Compact refrigerators are not to be disclaimed, because families are buying them. The idea is to have a refrigerator wherever it's needed: in the nursery, the family room, party room, on the patio or near the range.

You may make your selection from built-in models, free standing and portable "refrigerettes." Sizes differ on these compacts from less than one cubic foot to more than six cubic feet.

In contrast, manufacturers are also showing the "big boy" styles. In them, there's plenty of room and a maze of conveniences to suit any family's needs and whims. Current refrigerator-freezer combination models come with up to 30 cubic feet of storage space.

For the family that already has a home freezer, there's a refrigerator with a "mini" freezing compartment. It holds only a couple of frozen food packages and some ice cube trays. The rest of the refrigerator is free for fresh food storage. But many families with freezers buy a refrigerator with a large freezing capacity.

Because of special zoning, the temperature control is as varied as size. In one refrigerator there is a moist-cold compartment that keeps food for days without drying out. In another model, a fast flip of a switch changes one compartment from freezer to refrigerator and back again.

Ease of care convenience has been incorporated into refrigerators, too. Many large-size models now feature wheels or rollers to make them moveable for easy floor cleaning. For inside cleaning, removable shelves, racks, and retainer bars make the job easier. Adjustable shelves work a "change about" for flexible arrangement of storage space. Color kind design are still big news.

The Ladies' Tea on Thursday afternoon was lovely. The tea table was beautiful with a blue cloth overlaid with ecru lace. A footed crystal bowl of blue and yellow flowers and lighted yellow tapers in silver candlesticks adorned the table. Spiced tea was poured from a silver tea service and served with cookies, pecan kisses, and toasted nuts. Two very pretty arrangements of mixed spring flowers artistically designed by Mrs. Minor Nixon were especially enjoyed for this occasion. Christine Holtsford and Barbara Carpenter served as the hostesses for the tea.

A special story hour for the children was held on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Lela Clark, retired first grade teacher, held a room full of children spell-bound with her entertainment. One story that especially interested the children was "The Ugly Duckling." Mrs. Clark told them the life of the author, Hans Christian Andersen, and how his life compared with this simple fairy tale which was really an autobiography in disguise. Each child was given a cardboard sheet with a picture of an animal printed at the top and asked to copy the picture in the space below. A prize was given to the five best drawings. Mrs. Clark favored each child with a colorful balloon. After a delightful hour of entertainment refreshments of punch and cookie rings were served by Joan Wimberly and Elizabeth Beard.

One feature of special interest the entire week was an art exhibit sponsored by the Twentieth Century Club featuring the art work of Mrs. Lila Ham and her art students. The paintings represented work of students ranging from age seven years to adulthood. One hundred and six paintings were attractively displayed and Lila was present most of the week proudly milling around among the crowd listening to words of praise. On the register were written comments such as "beautiful art work" and "great." The only thing that bothers Lila is that she doesn't have an art studio so that she can have larger classes. Thank you, Lila, for a truly great show.

Also on display was an exhibit of the prize winning art work of the elementary school children prepared by Mrs. Bobbie Sue Finch. Congratulations to these children.

One thing that made the week so successful was the good publicity received through the newspapers and the radio. And to Janie Harris for her assistance in making posters we are very grateful.

Much interest has been manifested in the card catalog fund raising campaign which is still in progress. You are invited to the library to view the beautiful 5 piece dinette suite donated by Kaydee Metal Products Corporation to be given away by the Lucy Rowe Study Club at a later date. Call 423-6300 for details.

To all who participated in the activities in any way, may I say thanks again. Your cooperation and interest is deeply appreciated. It was good to have so many of you visit the library. To those who did not get to come, we missed you and hope that you will come soon.

New Honors and Recognition Offered in 4-H Beef Program

SPECIAL - More than 8,500 4-H members are expected to earn recognition in the 1972 national 4-H beef program, reports the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

In announcing the new program of awards sponsored by Celanese Chemical Company, the Committee notes that six national scholarship awards of $700 each will be presented. A winner from each state will receive an expense-paid trip to the 51st National 4-H Congress, Nov. 26-30, in Chicago. And up to four medals of honor will be awarded in each county.

Beef project enrollment figures recently released by the Cooperative Extension Service, which supervises 4-H, show over 152,000 participants. One of the most popular 4-H animal projects, enrollment is keeping pace with the need for producing the best quality beef possible for America's discriminating consumer.

Boys and girls enrolled in the program learn how to select the best kind of cattle and maintain rapid, efficient gains. They also fit and show at fairs, and learn to judge live and dressed cattle as part of the program activities.

Like most 4-H members, young people enrolled in the beef program are looking for career ideas and greater involvement in leadership development as well as fun and recognition.

The 4-H'ers are encouraged to try the most modern practices recommended by the state agricultural colleges and adopted by commercial breeders and feeders who frequently serve as volunteer 4-H leaders.

Reflecting his company's support of the 4-H beef program, Tom C. Addison, director, Agricultural Products, Celanese Chemical Company, a divn. of Celanese Corporation, said:

"We at Celanese are most pleased to join the ranks of the other outstanding companies that annually sponsor various 4-H program. We believe the 4-H organization can be almost unique in the outstanding contributions it makes to youth. We look forward to a continuing and constructive relationship."

Information about the local 4-H beef program and related activities is available from the county extension office.

From The State Capitol

By Martha Carole White,
State Representative

Last week the Mississippi House gave approval of a bill authorizing the sale of $600 million in bonds for highway construction. This bond authorization is designed to be underwritten with $20 million annually.

The House and Senate Conference Committee is working presently on the bill to clarify our narcotics laws. The House version of the bill increased the number of drug agents from 24 to 50, and stiffened penalties for narcotics possession.

A similar conference committee has released a House-Senate compromise version of a bill requiring licensing by the State Board of Health of day care centers which care for six or more children.

A lengthy group of appropriations was approved last week. Among these appropriations was one to fund the proposed small businessman's loan fund. This fund is to help farmers and small businessmen who cannot obtain credit from conventional sources to obtain backing to go into business.

Another of the appropriations was for support and maintenance of state parks, two of which are Tishomingo State Park and Coleman Park.

The House has given approval to a bill which permits savings and loan associations meeting certain requirements to accept deposits of state funds.

The House has also passed a bill originating in the Senate which authorizes construction of an industrial showcase building to be located at the State Fairgrounds.

This building is to be used for the display and showing of Mississippi made products. Many of our local manufacturers have participated in limited product showings of the past and will, no doubt, contribute to the permanent one.

Only two legislative weeks remain as of this writing, so please contact us if we can be of help to you.

Shooter Education Program Successful

Anthony Curtis fired his way to place finish in the Shooter Education Program. The program, the first time by the area, proved to be very successful. Thirty-one boys between the ages of fourteen participated in the shooting competition after noon at the Iuka

Youth Center. Prior to the final competition the Jaycees held four instructional classes to teach the youth safe gun handling techniques, marksmanship and sportsmanship.

The first instructional class was held on Monday night to acquaint the young boys and girls with the program and allow those interested to sign up. Thursday night gun handling techniques, varieties of guns and ammunition, shooting instructions, and good sportsmanship were taught. Also, a film was shown entitled, TRIGGER HAPPY HARRY. On Friday night firing positions were taught and a written test given to see how much the participants were learning. On Saturday afternoon practice competition was held and on Sunday the shooting competition was held.

Instructor for the course was Jaycee Billy Rainey, Assistant County Agent and National Rifle Association Safety Instructor. Position Instructor was Jerry Walls and Project Chairman was Billy McKissick. Contributions to the program were made by Counce Chevrolet, Tri-State Auto Sales, Tri-State Savings and Loan, Curtis Drugs donated bubble gum for the participants.

The winner, Anthony Curtis, scored 151 points out of a possible 200 points. Second place went to Freddie Pace with 144 points. John Mann finished third with 137 followed by Danny Young with 133 and David House with 127. Allen Barnett scored 126 and will be an alternate to the top five in state competition at Louisville, Miss., May 13. Alternates to this group are Tim Bolton, who scored 123 and Amy Brinkley, who scored 116.

Other scores for the day were Tony Lambert 115, Ben Burns 115, Greg Pruitt 113, Raymond Jourdan 112, Steve on the written test given to all participants in the Jaycee Shooter Education Program. Also pictured is Jaycee Billy McKissick, Project Chairman.

Lyles 103, Stacey Barnett 102, John Young 100, Gus Sims 98, Greg Harris 93, Mike Wade 91, Babs Jourdan 90, Frank Brinkley 88, Laurie Curtis 85, Rickey Waldrep 84, Jim Haines 76, Kerry Sims 71, Doug Storment 70, Jeff Lewis 68, Lori Curtis 66, Stevie Barnett 60, Joel Lewis 58, Allen Lyles 55, and Becky Curtis 49.

Scores were made by firing at the National Rifle Association Official 15 foot target. Five shots were fired from each of four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling and standing.

Carmack Bucy Circle Met April 17th

The Carmack Bucy Circle met April 17th in the home of Mrs. Louie Coker for a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Monroe Robinson, president, opened the meeting with prayer. The circle voted to give an offering to the Miriam Host Fund, and also sent cards to shut-ins.

The program was on The Mission of the Church, using various gifts in mission by Mrs. Harry Cosby, Jr.

Those present other than mentioned above were: Mesdames Bob Beard, Don Landrum, Sr., Edward Sanderson, Paul Skinner, Kenneth Bell, Mrs. Harris Counce, Jr. Bro. Harris Counce, Jr. was an honored guest at the luncheon.

Twenty New Directors Named To Mississippi Economic Council

Twenty prominent Mississippi businessmen have been elected to the board of directors of the Mississippi Economic Council for three-year terms beginning May 1. Earnest Long, Sr., Tippah Wholesale Co., Inc., Ripley, was elected to represent MEC Area 3.

In announcing the election of Mr. Long, John Meacham, Jr. of Batesville, chairman of the MEC's Elections and Bylaws Committee, said that he will represent Council members in Alcorn, Prentiss, Tishomingo and Tippah counties.

The 20 new directors will be joined by the board of directors carried over to the new board and directors who are appointed by the incoming Council president, William Crabill of Marks. The appointed directors include the chairmen of the MEC's general committees.

Each new director will serve terms of three years. In his final year of service, he will serve as vice president of his area.

The new directors will assume their duties May 1.

The Economic Council is a private, statewide organization of more than 3,200 business and professional leaders in every county in Mississippi. It is the state chamber of commerce.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
John Gardner
TEXT: "And Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, took either of them his censure, and put fire therein, and put incense thereon, and offered strange fire before the Lord, which he commanded them not. And there went out fire from the Lord, and devoured them, and they died before the Lord." (Leviticus 10:1,2).
In every age God has expected man to worship him according to Divine instruction. Man has never had the right to devise his own form of worship or to alter that which was revealed by God. Very early in man's history an attempt was made to substitute what a worshipper wanted in place of what God said that he wanted (Genesis 4:3-15). God rejected that man's worship. We worship God on his terms, or not at all.
Our text illustrates this truth once again. Nadab and Abihu, being the sons of the high priest, were the right people to offer burnt incense in worship to God during the time of Moses and Israel. They worshipped Jehovah God, not an idol, but their worship was rejected in an act of Divine wrath that proved fatal to them. They offered "strange fire" in their service which God had not authorized them to use. We are not told why they changed God's plan of worship on this occasion. They might have been sincere in thinking that it really did not make any difference. It might have been easier for them to offer what they did, rather than what God told them to present to him in worship. Regardless of the reason, their worship was rejected by the Lord.
Our worship today must be sincerely offered according to truth (John 4:24). Since the New Testament contains God's instructions for men today, we must search that portion of the Bible to see what God wants us to do in worship. When we observe that the early church sang (Col. 3:16), prayed (Acts 2:42), and gave financially (1 Cor. 16:2), partook of the Lord's Supper and heard God's Word preached (Acts 20:7), then we know what avenues of worship are open to us. This is God's pattern of worship that he expects men to follow today.

ANNUAL BOY SCOUT SPRING CAMPOREE WAS HELD AT TISH. STATE PARK

TISHOMINGO

Last Friday the Senior Class enjoyed a class trip to Memphis. The day was spent sight-seeing and that night they attended the Rod Sterling concert at the Mid-South Coliseum. Also, the 11th grade students had a field trip to Huntsville, Ala., and the 8th grade toured the paper mill at Counce and Pickwick Dam. These trips were both educational and fun for the students.

On Monday the Tishomingo Beta Club had a program for Tishomingo County Coordinating Council at Iuka at 1:00 p.m. Devotional was by Miss Sharon Strickland, Donald Pounders and Marsha McRae. Objective and explanations of Betas were by: Ricky Quinn, Jim Southward, Marilla Hudson, Patty Strickland, Vickie Dawson, Peggy Belue and Carolyn Nunley.

Kirby McRae will travel to Memphis on Friday to represent our county in the Mid-South Spelling Bee. This can be seen on Channel 3.

The Seniors will present their play in Nettles Auditorium on Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

SCHOOL NEWS

IUKA

The Athletic Banquet was held Friday night, April 21, at the Coleman Park Restaurant. Everyone arrived at 7:30 to enjoy a delicious buffet supper. Mr. G. L. Wimberly, president of the Booster Club, gave the welcome. After everyone had finished eating, Coach Taylor McNeal spoke. Then awards were given to the various football, baseball and basketball players. This banquet was sponsored by the high school cheerleaders of 1971-72. They are: Debbie James, Vanessa Shirey, Betty Brown, Becky Burns, Abby Ramsey, Denise Hamm and Doran Sewell.

On Thursday, April 20, the baseball team played Corinth at Iuka. This game was lost by a score of 5 to 6. The next afternoon, Friday, April 21, Iuka played Burnsville here. After 7 innings of hard play, the game was lost by a score of 5 to 6.

Last week the class officers of grades 10, 11 and 12 met to select a person from each class to represent them in the Tishomingo County Youth Conference. These three people will then get together to elect a student of the month to represent Iuka. This student, along with those from the other schools, will be submitted to an impartial board to elect the student of the month. This student will then compete for the student of the year.

The track season has started at Iuka. Members of the track team are: David Smith, Travis Davis, Kirk Nelson, Patrick Jimmar and Willie Carter.

On Monday during activity period, report cards were given to the students. All the Seniors are hoping to have a B average so that they can be exempt from semester tests.

This year the Senior Class is proud to have Lieutenant Governor William Winter to speak at the Commencement exercises.

BURNSVILLE

There are five campus cuties that were chosen at Burnsville High School. They are: Brenda Jourdan, Susan Feltman, Bonita McAnally, Carolyn McMeans and Judy Elliott.

Last Friday, Burnsville traveled to Iuka for a baseball game, which was won by a score of 6 to 5.

The Seniors are to present their play tomorrow night in the Burnsville High School Auditorium. The title of this play is "The Green Light." Members of the cast are Harold Bugg, Johnny Puckett, Teresa Umfress, Teresa Epperson, Marsha Skinner, Judy Elliott, Debbie Henderson, Brenda Jourdan, David Shackelford, Marty Puckett, Myron Broadway and Jerry Lane Lambert.

Monday, April 24, the Annual Staff had a meeting. They decided to dedicate the 1971-72 annual to Mrs. Barbara T. McNeil. Mrs. McNeil is the yearbook sponsor and has worked very hard to make this year's annual a big success.

Several from this community attended church at Poplar Springs on Sunday night.

Mr. Leash Kirk and Joe Grisham attended the singing at New Bethel Baptist Church Sunday afternoon.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF
MY DEAR MOTHER,
Who Passed Away April 30, 1967

I often think of the happy days
When we were together,
Your loving smile and cheerful ways,
Will be in my heart forever.

I have many lonely heartaches,
Often a silent tear,
But always a beautiful memory
Of one I loved so dear.

Weary days and lonesome nights
Because you went away,
God will love and keep you
Until we meet someday.

so many times to the little boy kicking the big boy. When this happens everyone applauds the little guy for his courage and spunk. But the big fellow cannot hit back because should he do so then everyone would boo him and deplore the fact that the big boy is picking on one much smaller than himself. So this is the way it is with America and the other countries, and this is one of the prices that she has to pay for being a great country.

People really politic in these countries. There is a constant struggle going on for power. There are many parties, some of which are usually outlawed. And times have seen man after man go to jail for his political beliefs but eventually to come back to head his country. One can never be counted out. The people are persistent in their pursuits. A case in point would be what has happened in Bangladesh and its Prime Minister, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman. But here in Ceylon, India, and other countries in this part of Asia, Communism is putting in a strong bid. Ceylon has a Communist government right now and its effects are being felt daily. One wonders how long this can continue if she is to remain free. Here in India there are many out-right Communist parties. Some of these are of the Russian brand and others are of the Chinese type. Some are violent and others are trying to gain power through democracy. The hammer and cycle can be seen everywhere. A man told me just this past week that India would never go Communist because the people are too religious, but I wonder about that. He argued that the Indian version of Communism was far different to that of Russia or China. This may be true of the people in general but that may not be the case with the hard-core leaders. Then if they should gain power, what will the result be? It is sad to contemplate.

All kinds of struggles are very evident. Besides politics there is the economy to think about. Then the people are divided by communals, religions, tribes, languages, and you name it.

Finally, returning to the States, we leave these struggles behind and we are not aware of them. Our papers and news media hardly ever carry any news on these places unless something happens in tragic proportions such as a natural calamity, a change in government, or war breaks out. We are then, basically, even in spite of all the news we get, isolated from these many foreign problems and struggles. Of course we are burdened down with our own problems national and local.

But living here we often wonder how these countries survive and how the people hold up under the loads that are placed on them. With unstable governments, crowded conditions, high prices, burdening taxes, there is much suffering. This is nothing new to them though. They have learned to live with it somehow. They have had to. Some have left, and many others have tried to leave, but the majority cannot leave. They must live with what they have, good or bad.

Washington -- The Food and Drug Administration has proposed a ban on asbestos fibers in all clothing except that used by firemen. When inhaled, asbestos fibers can cause possibly fatal lung damage, according to medical findings.

NEMJC Counselor To Serve On Manpower Board

Kenneth B. Floyd, guidance counselor at Northeast Mississippi Junior College, has been appointed to serve as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Manpower Development Technical Assistance Unit. Making the appointment was Wayland R. Clifton, Jr., Executive Director (acting) of the Law Enforcement Division.

The Manpower Unit, a part of the criminal justice planning operation of the Law Enforcement Assistance Division, has been created in order to assess the existing system with relation to Mississippi criminal justice manpower.

The Manpower Development Committee will serve in an advisory role to the Manpower Development Specialist and to the Mississippi Commission on Law Enforcement Assistance. The advisory committee will provide pertinent and necessary data, materials and input for the design and evaluation of a state-wide comprehensive plan related to manpower development. The committee will also aid in the assessment of general resources, capabilities and overall administration of the Law Enforcement Education Program and will encourage and support the concept of manpower development within the State. The advisory committee will support and encourage actions and improvement resulting from the establishment of manpower development priorities, programs and projects and to participate in Regional manpower development efforts.

SOME THOUGHTS ON TREES...

Trees provide many benefits for many people. Trees give us beauty. They feed and shelter our wildlife. They provide fresh air. They protect the watershed and soil. They provide wood for paper, lumber and plywood. They offer places for outdoor recreation.

And because trees are a renewable resource, we can use them today and still have forests in the future.

BUT, to plan for the future forest, man needs to wisely manage his trees and provide for reforestation after harvesting. TOO, the trees must be protected from uncontrolled wildfires that can destroy all the benefits trees can give.
