Ground Breaking Draws National Attention

National attention is being focused on a small Alabama community of Gainesville (population less than 500) as plans are finalized for the December 12 ground breaking ceremonies signifying the actual start of construction of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

More than twenty Governors, Senators and Congressmen will participate in the ceremonies at the rural construction site. Governor George C. Wallace, who currently serves as Chairman of the Five-State Waterway Authority, will activate a switch from the speakers' platform which will set off a dramatic and colorful explosion in view of the several thousands of spectators expected to attend.

Commenting on next Tuesday's event, Governor Wallace said "We have received a tremendous response from people all across the nation which again illustrates the national impact and national importance of the Tennessee-Tombigbee project. The Corps of Engineers has determined that 23 states will share in the navigation benefits with at least 55% of the economic returns accruing to states other than Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee."

"SING A SONG OF CHRISTMAS"

The Iuka High School Chorus will present a concert entitled "Sing A Song of Christmas," on Sunday, December 10, at 2:30 in the Howard Auditorium. Admission will be 25¢ for children and 50¢ for adults.

The Chorus is under the direction of Mrs. Emory Jones. Mrs. Jones received her B.S. Degree from Florence State and her M.M.E. (Masters) from the University of Mississippi. This is her second year as music teacher at Iuka High School.

These songs will be included in the concert: "Christmas Comes Again," "Calypso Noel," "Christ Child," "Tell It On The Mountain," "Let It Snow," "Sleigh Ride," "Jingle Bell Rock," "Frosty the Snowman," "Fum, Fum, Fum," "Medley Christmas," "Ring Those Christmas Bells," and "What You Gonna Call Your Pretty Little Baby."

Members of the Chorus include Rebecca Barnes, Sheila Berryman, Betty Brown, Susan Castlederry, Nebra Counce, Nenna Counce, Diane Cutshall, Patsy Holland, Denise Kirk, Sandra Leonard, George Long, Martha Miller, Debbie Owens, Brenda Puckett, Theresa Rhodes, Paulette South, Anita Tucker, Carletta Tucker, Janice Walker, Debbie White, Patty Woodruff, Marcia Johnson, and Shirley Southward.

The girls sextet will present two numbers, "Here Comes Santa Claus," and "Behold That Star." The members of the sextet are Betty Brown, Anita Tucker, Denise Kirk, Nebra Counce, Sheila Berryman, Nenna Counce, and Debbie Owens.

Everyone is encouraged to come out and hear this beautiful rendition of Christmas music.

County Sharing Group Met

The Sharing Group met on Thursday night, November 30, at the home of Mr. Buddy Edge. This week's meeting will be on Thursday night, December 7th at 6:30.

day's event, Governor Wallace said "We have received a tremendous response from people all across the nation which again illustrates the national impact and national importance of the Tennessee-Tombigbee project. The Corps of Engineers has determined that 23 states will share in the navigation benefits with at least 55% of the economic returns accruing to states other than Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee."

The Governor continued "The project will enhance our entire regional economy. By the year 2020, manufacturing employment should increase to about 28,000. Payroll gain will be approximately $494 million. Our export expansion program will be accelerated. With more money put into circulation, under-developed sections such as the lower portion of the Appalachian region will receive far-reaching economic benefits." Governor Wallace emphasized that the general public is invited and encouraged to attend the ground breaking ceremonies, saying "I want to take this opportunity to extend to the citizens throughout the Authority's 5-state region of Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Mississippi an invitation to be with us in Gainesville for this historic event."

Col. Harry A. Griffith, District Engineer, Mobile Corps of Engineers, pointed out that the initial construction at the Gainesville Lock and Dam is a navigation lock and approach channel to be built by the Guy H. James Construction Company of Oklahoma City at a cost of $18,498,867. A follow-up contract will provide for construction of a dam and appurtenant works. The total federal cost of the waterway is estimated at $465,000,000 over a ten-year period. Griffith noted that the Gainesville project is the lowestmost structure in the waterway connection.

The Waterway was formally dedicated on May 25, 1971, by President Nixon in Mobile.

Under Secretary of the Army Kenneth E. Belieu will be the principal speaker at the Gainesville ceremonies.

Those already accepting the invitation to attend the ground breaking festivities include: Kenneth E. Belieu, Under Secretary of the Army, Washington; Lt. Gen. Frederick Clark, Chief, U. S. Go Home Kids

Kids just don't have enough to do.

How many times have you heard that, right here in Iuka? Well, it's not much different other places. "Kids not only say the darndest things, they often say the same things."

One woman recently wrote a letter to the editor of a nearby newspaper.

In it she said, "Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenagers: What can we do? Where can we go?"

I can make some suggestions. Go home.

"Remove the storm windows. Paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves. Mow the lawn. Learn to cook. Scrub the floors. Build something. Clean up a park. Read to a blind person. Tutor a handicapped child.

"Offer your services to your pastor, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you're through, if you aren't too tired -- read a good book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. The world does not owe you a living. Your village does not owe you recreation facilities. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents, so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick or lonely, ever again.

"In plain words: Grow up; quit being a cry baby, get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone. Start acting like a man or a woman.

"I'm a parent. I'm tired of nursing chauffeuring, protecting, pleading and begging, and excuses for your laziness and trying to accommodate to endless demands. I am tired of being told, 'It's my fault I'm like this. You spoiled me.'

"If you don't like your son, something better."

CHILDREN...

Just think of the number of times your children have fallen without apparent harm. Yet, many people do not realize that these falls may cause a subluxation — a type of injury to one or more of the spinal vertebrae. Every part of the body is supplied by nerves that pass from the spinal cord through openings between vertebrae. A subluxation can cause irritation to the involved nerves — upsetting body functions.

Common results of subluxations in children are structural changes like:

- Sway back
- Round shoulders
- Impaired development of chest and rib cage
- One hip higher than the other
- Head tilt
- Leg and foot problems
- One shoulder higher than the other

Correction of the subluxation which removes the nerve irritation can result in a spectacular recovery. These subluxations corrected at an early age usually produce more rapid and lasting recovery, and tend to prevent the appearance of complications in skeletal development and growth.

Make sure your children undergo a complete spinal examination at regular intervals.

Miss Nellie Horton's HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

SELECTING A TREE

Buying a Christmas tree? Make sure the tree you select has not been allowed to dry out by prolonged storage.

If your tree passes these tests, you can know you have a fresh one. Bounce the butt hard on the ground. Needles should not shower down. Pull at needles at the end of a branch. Needles should have good resistance. Rub your finger across the stump. Stump should be sticky with resin.

If you choose an artificial tree, be sure it is marked as being made of slow-burning materials. If it has a built-in lighting system, it should carry the Underwriter's Laboratories (UL) label. Metal trees will conduct electricity, so use only indirect lighting on them; strings of lights on a metal tree can create a dangerous shock hazard.

PREVENT KITCHEN HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS

No one has yet figured out exactly how many hours mother spends at the stove preparing the holiday feasts, but it's enough time to expose her to a lot of heat that can be hazardous. To help reduce holiday hazards The Council on Family Health suggests:

Don't wait until the house is full of family and guests to prepare for two things... the prevention of burns and scalds... and the kind of first aid to use if accidents do happen.

Have a cleared counter or table near the stove, to put hot foods down quickly.

Do not reach across a lighted burner to reach a pot on another burner.

Keep mitts or pads handy to use when reaching for pot handles.

If grease in a pan catches fire, smother it with baking soda and cover with lid. Do not carry pan from stove because this will only fan the flames.

Wear clothes with short or close fitting sleeves when working at the stove.

If a burn or scald accident does happen, be prepared to cope with it.

Burnsville Headstart To Have Program

There will be a cake walk and bingo party at the Burnsville Head Start Center, Saturday night, December 9, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

The drawing for a TV and radio will be the main feature of the program. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Center.

Everyone is welcome to come and enjoy the fun.

Tish. County Sportsmen Meet Tonight

The Tishomingo County Sportsmen Club will meet tonight (Thursday), December 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Youth Center for a spoonburger supper.

All members are urged to be present.

Midway Homemakers Met December 5th

The Midway Homemakers Club met December 5, at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Irene Nunley with nine members and one new member, two visitors and two children present.

The president, Mrs. Carrie Frederick, called the meeting to order and gave the thought for the month, "The best Christmas gift of all is a family all wrapped up in each other." The song used was "Silent Night." Devotion was given by Mrs. Irene Nunley.

The group enjoyed exchanging gifts. Recreation was lead by Jewel Starkey with Carrie Frederick winning the prize.

The meeting adjourned to meet in January in the home of Jewel Starkey. Refreshments were served the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Howard Bridges.

Capacity Crowd On Hand For Parade

The streets of downtown Iuka were lined with approximately 4,000 persons Friday night, December 1st, as the 1972 Christmas Parade rolled down the streets. As anticipated, the parade was one of the best ever presented, and young and old alike cheered the bands and floats as they passed in review. Phil Campbell High School Band took first place in the band division. Alcorn Central High School, participating in their first parade, marched off with second place, and Tishomingo High School Band took third place. The bands are one of the main attractions of the parade and it was quite evident that the spectators really enjoyed the music and prancing girls.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas," a float entered by the Lucy Rowe Study Club, was awarded first prize in the float division. Two youngsters asleep in sleeping bags near the fireplace helped set the scene on the float, which depicted a typical home, decorated and waiting for Santa's visit. A picture of the float was not available.

"Christmas Gifts," entered by CONALCO, took second prize. The float, loaded with an array of large and small packages, was aglow with shiny foil and beautiful wrapping paper.

"New Toys," a large Jack-in-the-Box, pulled by a black train engine, complete with coal and coal box, was awarded third prize. This float was entered by Dawson Drugs.

"Frosty the Snowman," entered by Alvis Murrah, was a favorite with the youngsters, as he is every year. Judges gave Frosty an honorable mention.

"School Is Out," entered by the Jaycees and Jayettes, met with the approval of all the school children, and well deserved the honorable mention they received.

The Coon Hunter's float did not win a prize, but certainly took its part of the attention and applause. This is the second year Paden has brought his Coon Hunters to the parade. This float is a favorite to the adults as well as the children.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsors the parade, which has become an annual event.

ANIMALS

BY MARY B. DAVIS

That was the first question Mr. Brown asked his wife after the couple learned on Saturday that Kitty (their recently-adopted mama cat) had been found dead on the Eastport Road -- only one day after placing her only kitten in a bucket in their back yard.

"What'll we do? We'll raise her, that's what!"

You see, Mrs. Brown understands cats; and she knew that for Kitty to bring her only baby right to their house, the cat had to trust them completely with its little life. Mrs. Brown did not know, of course, just what made Kitty pick that particular time to take her baby out of hiding and put it where it could easily be found -- but she did know that it was a true sign that the cat trusted her and her husband 100 percent. She was going to do all that she could possibly do to keep that kitten alive!

For those who have not had the experience of keeping an unweaned animal alive, it may be hard to imagine the patience that the job requires. But more than patience, it takes consideration and compassion for others. It takes a truly unselfish person to care about the happiness and well being of other things and other people. In other words, it takes LOVE. Just love.

Properly caring for anything takes a certain amount of time and work -- and Mrs. Brown already knew this fact. Nevertheless, on Saturday, the minute that she got home from work, she started trying to feed the kitten, by now already probably half starved.

The kitten was too young to lap the milk from a dish; so, she tried other ways of feeding the infant -- but nothing she tried worked. Knowing that we had raised a few animals on bottles, Mrs. Brown called me early Sunday morning to see if I had any suggestions.

I had something better than a suggestion. A few months before, the president of The Mississippi Animal Rescue League, James Cupit, had sent me a bottle especially made for unweaned kittens and puppies. Jim Cupit sent us the bottle after I told him that I had never seen such a bottle and didn't know there was a special one for unweaned animals. Called a "Pet-Nurser," the bottle looks very much like a regular baby bottle -- only in mini size! It can be bought from veterinarians, drug stores, and probably from several other places of business by now.

Anyway, Mrs. Brown came as quickly as possible and got the bottle. Despite the fact that the kitten had had nothing to eat since Saturday, it was Monday morning before it finally gave in and started taking the Pet-Nurser. Once it caught the knack of it, though, it really made up for lost time, gulping the milk down like a little pig.

Knowing that the feedings should be done every three hours for several days, Mrs. Brown even went home on her lunch hour and fed that lucky little kitten -- lucky because she had a smart mother who definitely used GOOD judgement when she left her with Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brown.

Known as Buddy and Gertrude to their friends, the couple lived up to the mother cat's expectations: they did not let her baby suffer.

And it should be pointed out that besides the Browns, the kitten had another friend in Billy Morgan, Mrs. Brown's grandson.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morgan of Nashville, Tenn., Billy was spending the summer in Iuka with Mrs. Brown and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Hardwick of Coleman Park Road. He and his cousin, Randy Hardwick, had been walking to town when they found Kitty dead in the road.

The son of Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Hardwick of the Pleasant Hill Road, Randy also knew about the baby kitten being left at home alone -- and both of the boys really dreaded having to tell Mr. and Mrs. Brown the sad news.

If I remember correctly, it was Billy that first started calling the baby kitten "Lulu." A carbon copy of her little mama, she, too, is black and white. In fact, Mrs. Brown probably thinks of Lulu's mother whenever she looks at the kitten -- because she mostly calls her "Kitty." Mr. Brown mostly calls her "Puservin." But no matter what they call her -- they care what becomes of her. Both Mr. Brown and Billy Morgan helped feed her on the bottle and conscientiously helped keep her alive.

When I saw Lulu she was absolutely the healthiest-looking cat that I had ever seen ANYWHERE -- including our own! She shined like silk. She had received all the shots required to help keep her healthy, and she is to be spayed when the right time comes. By having Lulu spayed, the Browns are making sure that she will never have any kittens that somebody might later dump, leaving them to suffer a fate worse than death!

To take Lulu safely in the car, Mr. Brown made a good carrying case for her, another way of showing that he wants to protect her as much as possible. She has made several trips in it to see the veterinarian at the Iuka Animal Clinic.

Foresight? Premonition? Or pure coincidence? It doesn't really matter what prompted her to do it -- but one thing is certain: Kitty made the right decision when she turned her only baby over to Bobby and Gertrude Brown to raise.

They did not let her down.

P.S. A Merry Christmas to you.

For his anger endureth but for a moment; in his favour is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning, Psalms 30:5. Man was created in the image of God, and given dominion over the earth and all that was therein, Gen.

1:26,27. Many people wonder what was the sin that Adam committed by partaking of the forbidden. It was man that was created in the image of God, and not woman; and it was man that was given dominion over earth, and to be the head ruler under God, under the whole heaven, Gen. 1:27, I Cor. 11:3-7. God had given man commandments as to whom was the authority. It was in this capacity that man was in the image of God. By authority which God had given him, man was endowed with a mind to think, as was his creator. He had the power to design and the ability reproduce himself, as did God. In fact, God had commanded him to be fruitful, and to multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it, even before his fall, Gen. 1:28. What was Adam's sin? It is stated in Gen. 3:17, because thou hast harkened unto the voice of thy wife. Is that so difficult to understand? It was ordained of the eternal God, that he was to be the head, the overseer of the earth. He was crowned with glory and honour, Psalms 8:4-8. When Satan succeeded in deceiving mother Eve, and she enticed Adam, and he hearkened, and his dominion was forfeited, since that day Satan has ruled as the prince of the power of the air, I Tim. 2:14, Eph. 2:2. Although this next scripture was not connected to Adam directly, it is indirectly. Rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king, I Sam. 15:23. The Bible is still true. Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law, I John 3:4. For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all, James 2:10. So we see through the disobedience of one, Viz. Adam, many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many (notice what is said - many) be made righteous, Rom. 5:19. Notice also what Jesus said, straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it, Matt. 7:14. This may contradict your mind, but it does not contradict itself. I wish we had the space to explain these two statements here, but we haven't. If you would like an explanation to this statement just write and tell me and I will put it in another column. Is Heaven the reward of the saved? I heard a man say just the other day that there would not be many people in Heaven. My friend, the Bible nowhere says that there will be anybody in Heaven. It is about time that we wake up and quit following man, and see what the Word of God says.

We will continue the subject next week if the Lord wills. Our mailing address is: Marshal Adams, Route 2, Box 53A, Iuka, Miss. 38852.

Your servant in Christ,
Marshal Adams

Special To Santa

Dear Santa,
I am feeling especially grateful this morning as I write my Christmas request to you. Less than two years ago I arrived in Iuka. It was February and cold. The closer we got to Iuka the more "white stuff" I saw on the ground. I thought it was snow, but my husband assured me it just couldn't be as we were still in the south and this was Mississippi. We were moving from Mobile where I had left with a heavy heart as we had been happy there and we were leaving our son there who had just gotten married. I was thinking, a short while ago I did not even know there was an Iuka and now I am moving there. It was my husband's choice to move here as he felt God was leading him to serve in this area. He had said "Yes" to the Iuka Baptist Church to become their Minister of Music and Youth. We arrived and so did the moving van, and I discovered the house was too small to hold all the boxes and furniture, which made up our household goods. I wanted to cry but there is little time for such things on moving day. With the help of some wonderful people the truck was at last unloaded and everything stuffed into the house leaving little room for us. My first task was to hunt out a formal to wear to the "Sweetheart Banquet." The night was cold but upon arriving at the Banquet I received such a welcome I felt warm inside. When I saw all the lovely young people I knew we had come to a place where we could be used. In the weeks that followed the house took shape and our work began. Truly I have never met so many lovely people in all our travels. They have welcomed us into their hearts and lives. In short they have made us feel like "one of them." They have been so very good and helpful to us. I have come to love Iuka and its people, and it would take too much of your time to recount all their kindness to us. What I want for Christmas, Dear Santa, is at least another year with these wonderful people and the opportunity to serve God and man in this lovely little Town of Iuka. Fill my stocking with gratefulness for the people and thanksgiving for such a privilege of living here.

Sincerely,
Betty Swimmer
(Mrs. G. L.)

Most Favor
Death Penalty

Of the readers who responded to my Reader Opinion Poll on capital punishment, 97 per cent favor the reinstatement of the death penalty.

However, some are very strongly opposed to it. One reader wrote, "Capital punishment is murder. ... God's command is, 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

Another reader, holding equally strong views, declared that the death penalty should be re-established "because God's Word teaches the death penalty. (Gen. 9:6, Ex. 21:12, Lev. 24:17, ... Rev. 13:10)"

Though the wording varies, these Scriptures say, in substance, that any man who kills another is to be executed.

A Louisiana man said, "Restore the death sentence. Take it out of the governor's hands. When death sentence is passed by the judge, that should be enough. Execute promptly. Stop the murders."

Decision Analyzed
When the U. S. Supreme Court, by a 5-4 decision, declared the death penalty unconstitutional, Chief Justice Warren Burger pointed out in his dissenting opinion:

"It is important to note that only two members of the Court ... have concluded that the Eighth Amendment prohibits capital punishment for all crimes and under all circumstances. Mr. Justice Douglas has also determined that the death penalty contravenes the Eighth Amendment, although I do not read his opinion as necessarily requiring final abolition of the death penalty."

Chief Justice Burger's statement makes it clear that the reinstatement of the death penalty for some crimes, at least, is a possibility.

Only two members of the Court would have to switch sides — and the way appears to be open for this to be brought about. One of the important points mentioned by members of the Court who decided against the death penalty was unevenness in the enforcement of the law, poor people and black people being likely to be executed, while the wealthy and white might escape.

So the Supreme Court's action has not settled the issue. Rather, it has caused many legislators to search for ways to pass laws reinstating the death penalty — laws which will be upheld by the nation's highest court.

Here are the statistics on the results of the Reader Opinion Poll:

Favoring abolition of the death penalty, 3 per cent.

Favoring reinstatement of capital punishment on one basis or another, 97 per cent.

Favoring execution of:

All murderers, 72 per cent.

Anyone guilty of murder in connection with a crime of violence, 75 per cent.

Anyone guilty of rape, 55.9 per cent.

Anyone who assassinates a president, 83.8 per cent.

Anyone who kills a policeman on duty, 82.3 per cent.

Any life-term prisoner who kills a guard or another prisoner, 79.4 per cent.

It is clear from this survey that there are many among us who believe in the fair and firm enforcement of the law which says, "He that smiteth a man so that he die shall surely be put to death."

HANDLING RUTTED FIELDS

Much of the late harvesting in 1972 is being done in the mud. Ruts caused by combines and cotton pickers from one end of row to the other vary from a few inches deep to more than a foot deep. Draining and filling these ruts so that fields can be planted on time is a major problem for farmers. Some ideas that may help are:

1. Field ditch across the rows in each major depression, opening the ruts into the ditches and opening the newly cut ditches into the field drainage ditches. Do this any time it is dry enough to get across the fields. Some shovel work will be necessary.

2. Run offset disc or chisel plows shallow at an angle across the ruts to provide loose soil and fill in the ruts to some extent. If the disc tends to ball up too much, the chisel plow may be the right tool.

3. Follow Step 2 immediately with a pulverizing disc at a high speed and with enough angle set in the blades to give a smooth surface and finish filling the ruts. It may take two trips.

4. Fields could then be rowed up or left flat, depending on their natural drainage, clay content and system of planting to be used. Most clays will probably need to be rowed up and then pulled down at planting. The sandy loam and silt loam soils can be worked in the spring either bedded or flat.

5. It will be necessary to reopen field ditches in the natural depressions to help keep the field drained. Soil thrown in the ruts will settle between now and spring. Other tools, such as the Vibrashank cultivator, could be used in place of the pulverizing disc.

WINTERTIME COTTON FARMING

Wintertime needs for cotton include subsoiling or chiseling, rowing up heavy soils, liming, applying phosphate or potash if needed, tying up good quality cottonseed for planting, analyzing what happened to crops in 1972 and deciding how many acres to plant. All of these are important and must be considered by today's cotton producers. If weather permits, they should apply Planavin or Treflan on heavy soils where grass is a problem.

1973 COTTON PROGRAM
 Major provisions of 1973 cotton program are:

1. Reduction of national base acreage allotment from 1972's 11.5 million acres to 10 million.

2. Elimination of the 20 percent set aside requirement.

Skiprow planting rules in effect for 1971 and 1972 will apply again in 1973. Skips of one or more rows will count toward farmer's conserving base re-

THANK YOU

I'm very happy with the vote we received on November 7th. When over 40% of the people voted for a challenger, it tells you there's a real desire to see Mississippi grow. We must continue to work to keep our young people home, to increase our wages, and to protect the beautiful piece of land we call Mississippi.

Thank you so much,
