FIRST LT. LANE CARSON, left, and his father, Virgil, examine the old family Bible, now safe back home again after it was lost when the younger Carson was wounded in fighting on the Vietnam-Laoian border. The elder Carson carried the Bible in World War II. Mr. Virgil Carson, who now makes his home in New Orleans, was born and reared in the Central Community north of Iuka. He is the son of Mr. Herbert Carson and the late Ona Hudson Carson, also the brother of Mrs. Austin Curtis.

Bible Back Home After Two Wars

An old metal covered Bible, that went through two wars and was lost when its bearer was shot and critically wounded in Laos is back home again.

First Lt. Lane Carson said it was the happiest surprise of his life when he opened a mailed package and found the weather-worn Bible.

Lt. Carson rejoiced, for the Bible is a family treasure, carried by his father, Virgil Carson in World War II and then by Lane in fighting in Vietnam and Laos.

"My father, Shipfitter First Class Virgil Carson, carried the Bible all over the Pacific in World War II, said Lt. Carson. "The Bible was given to him by his father, and my father wore it close to his heart. Inscribed in it were the words, 'May the Lord Be With You.'"

"When I received orders to go to Vietnam, my father gave the Bible to me (just as his father had given it to him), so that the Lord would be with me also.

"In the spring of 1971 our infantry platoon was off Highway 9 on the Laoian border near Khe San during a South Vietnamese excursion into Laos. Early one morning the North Vietnamese fired an intensive barrage of artillery. Two men were killed and several wounded, including me.

"I received multiple fragment wounds to all parts of the body. For a while they thought of amputating my left arm and foot, but it was finally decided this was not necessary. I've recovered though I still suffer from a disability.

"In the excitement the Bible was lost. I thought I would never see it again. But one day a young correspondent, Gloria Emerson of Cambridge, Mass., was rummaging through some old field equipment at a field hospital. She found it and sent it to my family."

Lane's father is a mechanical contractor with Lou-Con Inc. He lives at 2377 New York St.

Lane, now a law student at Tulane University, lives at 6440 S. Clairborne. He holds the Purple Heart, Bronze Star Cluster, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

Wilson is a dynamic speaker and soul-winner, and everyone will want to come and take advantage of hearing these two outstanding men. Special music will be featured each night with the theme being, "Sweet, Sweet Spirit."

Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. Morning services will be held at 7:00 a.m. with coffee, donuts, and hot chocolate being served in the fellowship hall at 6:30 for all who wish to come early for a morning snack. Morning services will be concluded in time for children to get to school and adults to get to their jobs by 8:00.

Completion At Coleman State Park

Final construction of two new duplex cabins and a gatehouse was announced today by Dr. Bobby F. King, Mississippi Park Commissioner from Iuka.

Dr. King said, "The Mississippi Park Commission is making a concerted effort to promote greater year-round use of all state parks. We feel that the two new duplex cabins at J. P. Coleman which offer such outstanding features as central air and heating systems, built in kitchen, wood burning fireplaces and screened porches will be popular to future cabin guests at the Park.

"A Park Commission crew is presently landscaping an area around the cabins to prepare them for use. Forms are being built for sidewalks, patios, and parking ramps. New furniture has been ordered and is expected to arrive soon," the Park Commissioner added.

Commissioner King stated, "A gatehouse is also complete and will be used as an information booth and a traffic control point. The gatehouse will also serve as a fee collection point in the park for campers and cabin guests."

Cost of the cookies will be $1.00 per box. A variety of flavors will be offered to the public, including: Assorted Sandwich, Mint, Butter Shorties, Peanut Butter and Chocolate Chip and Pecan.

According to the Prairie Girl Scout Council the purpose of the Cookie Sale is to provide adequate camping facilities for our girls. This council depends entirely upon proceeds from the annual Cookie Sale. Cookie funds are used to help reduce the indebtedness on Camp Tik-A-Witha, for maintenance and future development.

Rest in Peace

Want to hear a joke? "Jerusalem" means "the possession of peace"! But what's in a name? Los Angeles is not full of angels. Nor is Philadelphia overflowing with brotherly love.

It would take a miracle to bring peace to Jerusalem. Its streets have been bloodied by the armies of a dozen occupying nations, and even today it is the center of an international dispute. Judaism, Christianity, and Islam call it the holy city but, so far, that reverence has given us only the crusades. If anything, it seems most likely next to bless us with World War III.

Premature

Nevertheless, many are confident that Jerusalem will one day live up to the promise of its name, because that is what the prophets foretold. According to prophecy, a time is coming when the streets of Jerusalem will be safe for old men and women and young boys and girls.

The prophecies might be disregarded by reasonable people if the most striking predictions had not been fulfilled before our eyes in 1948 when Israel regained nationhood—an event clearly prophesied but thought impossible because it was unprecedented in world history.

Yet most scoff, and the open-minded are skeptical. For those who doubt, perhaps the next event of prophecy will prove convincing. A leader is predicted who will amaze the world by negotiating a treaty of conciliation between Israel and her adversaries. The immediate result will be peace. The details of the treaty are not clear but it will be intended to cover a seven-year period.

If you are alive when this settlement is reached—and there are many prophetic indications that most of you will be—take warning that the pact will be broken halfway through its time and a murderous persecution of Jews will ensue.

Permanent

The Jews will retreat into Jerusalem and will be attacked by a multinational invasion, which will at first devastate the country and half the city, but will then be counterattacked and defeated. The shift of the battle will be caused by an earthquake, accompanied by the return of Jesus Christ to the earth. The resultant destruction will resemble the effects of thermonuclear war.

Then there will be the peace. God will restore the productivity of the land and will rule from Jerusalem. Justice and righteousness will flow from her and the whole world will have respite from its wars.

It always takes a miracle to establish peace, whether among nations or within one person. But the reality of that miracle has already been demonstrated in the life of Jesus Christ. You may experience it now in your life or wait for history's verification. Preposterous as it may seem now, you too may possess peace. It's no joke.

Double Check
Your Tax Return

Before sending in your 1972 Federal income tax return, check it over to see if you've left anything out, a spokesman from the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Mississippi taxpayers who do this can often catch errors in arithmetic or information they have omitted, he said.

Taxpayers should also be sure to attach the pre-addressed label to the return, attach all W-2 forms and all schedules, and sign the return. Both husband and wife must sign a joint return.

Taxpayers who avoid errors by double-checking their tax return will prevent delays in processing the return and speed up any refund due.

FIRST CHEMISTRY LAB

Before the education expansion resulting from the Land Grant Act of 1862, one of the first chemistry laboratories in the nation was established at the University of Mississippi. The lab was set up in the period 1856-1861, by Captain E. C. Boynton, a West Point grad, who acted as chemistry professor.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Freedom of Religion?

The government of Russia is on record in favor of freedom of religion. The United Nations article dealing with this, which has been signed by the government of the U.S.S.R., says "Everyone has the right of freedom of thought, conscience, and religion; this right includes freedom... to manifest his religion or belief in teaching, practice, worship, and observance."

But Sergei Kourdakov, a 22-year-old Soviet naval cadet who jumped ship off British Columbia, Canada, in September, 1971, told of working with the secret police in Russia, breaking up Christian meetings, beating the people they found there, and burning their Bibles.

Then, as a radio operator on a Russian trawler, he listened to Gospel broadcasts. Finally, deciding to escape from Communism, he plunged into the water one night and swam ashore.

Mysterious Death

In Canada Kourdakov became a Christian. Later he came to this country. On New Year's Day this year, he went to a cabin in Running Springs, Calif., with the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Johnson of Cerritos, Calif. He took with him a .38 caliber revolver which Johnson had lent him because his life had been threatened.

"If you ever hear I have had an accident or committed suicide," Kourdakov is reported to have said to a friend, "don't believe it. I know how the Soviet police work because I was one of them."

Kourdakov never left the California cabin alive. Investigating officers say they found his dead body in the cabin, with the revolver in his hand. Miss Johnson, the only other person known to have been in the cabin at the time, has said that she was watching television when the shot that killed Kourdakov was fired. Now her family has retained a lawyer and the young woman won't talk.

Did Kourdakov commit suicide? Or is there another explanation for his death? We may never know.

Modern Martyr

Not long ago, a young man, Ivan Vasilevich Moyseyev, who was a stalwart witnessing Christian while serving in the Soviet Army, was reported by the army to have drowned accidentally in the Black Sea. However, his parents, suspecting that this report was untrue, ordered an autopsy. The autopsy showed that their son had been beaten and tortured. His chest bore the marks of large burns. There were deep puncture-wounds near the heart. Witnesses, the parents say, have told them that they saw an army commander and some men in civilian clothes kill the Christian soldier.

One eyewitness to the killing of the young martyr has said, "Moyseyev's dying was difficult, but he died a Christian."

The Bible tells us that Jesus said to some who were undergoing extreme suffering, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." Ivan Moyseyev has earned this crown.

This is "freedom of religion," as practised by Russian Communists.

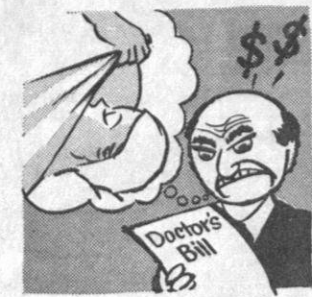

The first plant in the South to produce sodium chlorate was the Hooker Chemical Corporation at Columbus. It began production in 1954 and is one of the largest sodium chlorate facilities in the world.

LAWYER

Doctor's Fee

Harold's wife died shortly after undergoing an operation. When a bill arrived from the surgeon, Harold decided not to pay. In due course, the matter wound up in court.

"Obviously, the operation was a failure," Harold pointed out to the judge. "Why should I have to pay for services that were useless?"

However, the court ordered him to pay up. The court said a doctor's services are to be measured by the quality of his work, not merely by the results—and this doctor had performed the operation in a proper manner.

"The marvelous skill of the greatest surgeons in the world," added the judge, "is sometimes futile."

This case states the general rule of law about medical fees. Furthermore, unless a specific sum has been agreed upon in advance, the doctor generally has considerable leeway—within reason—in deciding how high the fee will be.

May he take into account the patient's ability to pay? That is, may he charge a higher fee to a rich patient than to a poor one? Most courts say yes, sometimes on the theory that high-paying work will allow him to take on more low-paying work.

Nevertheless, the basic standard of due care remains constant, whether the fee is large or small—or even nonexistent. In one early case, a doctor was accused of neglecting a charity patient. In his defense, he insisted that he had less responsibility to be careful when he was working for nothing.

But the court disagreed, and held him liable on grounds of malpractice.

The judge commented: "Whether the patient be a pauper or a millionaire, whether he be treated gratuitously or for reward, the physician owes him precisely the same measure of duty and the same degree of skill and care."

Miss Byrd Chosen As Girl Friday By MSU

Miss Lucetta Byrd has been chosen as this semester recipient of the Girl Friday Scholarship. The scholarship is awarded each semester to freshman and sophomore girls majoring in office administration at Memphis State University. Each recipient must maintain a 3 point average to receive the scholarship. This officially makes Miss Byrd a member of The Girl Friday Association at Memphis State. This association is made up of MSU secretaries. She will be the association's guest of honor at a dinner sponsored by Girl Friday.

Miss Byrd is a 1972 graduate of South Side High where she was salutatorian of her graduating class. She was also a member of the Pep Club, S-Club and FHA. She served as reporter of the Beta Club and as secretary of the Science Club. In 1971 she spent a week in Washington as a result of being the winner of the P.E.C. essay contest. Upon her graduation, she was chosen by the South Side faculty as the Most Outstanding senior in Home Economics and the Commercial Arts. She was also chosen by her fellow Science Club members as the Outstanding senior in the organization. Miss Byrd was elected to Who's Who three of her four years at South Side. During her senior year she was chosen Class Favorite and Biggest Flirt. She was also chosen as first alternate in the annual beauty revue at South Side, and was also a contestant in the Miss McNairy County Pageant held in Adamsville last spring.

Lucetta enrolled at Memphis State in September of 1972. She plans to get her Bachelor's Degree in business administration.

CHILDREN'S PAJAMAS FLAMMABLE OR NOT?

There is some confusion as to whether or not all children's sleepwear now on sale meets the federal flammability standard.

The standard went into effect last July and some people interpreted this to mean that after that date all children's sleepwear is fireproof.

This is not true at present. You still must read the label carefully.

Currently, there are three types of sleepwear as far as flammability goes:

First garments manufactured before July 30, 1972, can still be sold even though they do not meet the standard.

Some manufacturers made large quantities of pajamas, gowns and robes in advance of the deadline because the flame-retardant garments are more expensive to produce. This type of sleepwear can be sold until July 30, 1973. There is no label on these garments indicating that they do not meet the flammability standard.

Sleepwear manufactured after July 30, 1972, that does not meet the flammability standard is labeled: "Flammable (Does not meet U. S. Department of Commerce Standard DOC FF-3-71). Should Not Be Worn Near Source of Fire."

Garments that do meet the flammability standard will carry that information on the label. These garments are also labeled with care instructions that will keep the fabric flame-retardant.

What all this means is that until next July 30, you cannot assume that a pair of children's pajamas or other sleeping apparel is non-flammable. If there is no label to help you, you must assume that it does not meet the standard; that it is in fact a substandard garment, flammability-wise.

After July 30, 1973, all garments that do not meet the standard will be removed from interstate commerce. Then there will be no question in your mind as to the flammability of children's sleepwear.

INDUSTRY MEANS PROGRESS TO TISHOMINGO COUNTY

This picture appeared in the 11/8/62 issue of the Belmont Tri-County news. Pictured here are leading citizens of the area who were in the forefront and in behind-the-scenes activity of the recent open-house luncheon held at the Iuka Shirt Co. plant. A Shown are left to right, Dr. Harry Cosby, Dalton Cooper, superintendent of the plant, Mr. and Mrs. Max Glaser, owners of the plant, Omar R. Smith, attorney of Corinth, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Glaser, Paul Edmondson, master of ceremonies for the luncheon, and Sam Kimberly, contractor for construction of the building.

Gene Ozment, bookkeeper at the plant came to work in 1955. "When we came to Iuka in 1952 there was no industry except the Hosiery Mill and it left a few months after we came. When the Iuka Shirt Company came I was the second female employee hired. The plant has meant a lot to our family and the Glasers and Mr. Holtsford are the greatest to work for." Gene and her three children Connie, Brenda and Ray live on highway 25 N. in Iuka.

Mae Owens, training supervisor, is checking a computer training machine. Cathy Mayfield, one of the newest employees, is being computer trained, which enhances quality and efficiency of the employee.

Virginia Whitehurst, supervisor, is standing behind a one-needle machine operated by Maggie Gallahar, who is setting collars. Betty Rutland, in the foreground is closing collars.

Joyce Akers, sitting, is payroll clerk. Joyce came to work in 1969. She, Wayne (Jabo) Akers and their four year old daughter, Carole live in a lovely new home on the Snowdown road. Betty Barnes, receptionist came in 1965. She started out as a machine operator. "I've worked as an operator and clerk in the cutting room, but for the past six months I've been receptionist."

Marie Helton, supervisor, is standing beside a button-sewer operated by Ruby Linton. Ruby came to work in 1955, the day the plant started operation. "It has made me a living and I have spent some happy days here." Mrs. Helton came to work shortly after Ruby came.

THE IUKA SHIRT COMPANY

The Iuka Shirt Company -- Iuka's oldest mass employer -- was organized in 1955 with the Charter of Incorporation being formed in April of that year. Original owners and incorporators of the company were Mr. Albert Feldman, Mr. J. E. Sherman, Mr. Alvis Roland and Mr. Bernard Lukoff. Mr. Lukoff "Bernie" as he was known by his friends and associates, was the first manager of the company. He started making women's blouses and men's shirts in a building formerly occupied by the Old Iuka Hosiery Mill, situated on the corner of Ashe Street and Sulphur Springs Road. The original number of employees was 33 and the first payroll was issued on the 20th day of May 1955.

From its very beginning, the Iuka Shirt Company was highly successful and was a tremendous boom to furnishing employment and a payroll to many of the needy families in the Iuka and Tishomingo County area.

Shortly after the company was formed, the original owners sold the plant to Mr. Max Glaser of New York, who immediately commenced manufacturing his own brands of shirts and sportswear. About 1958, Bernie Lukoff resigned as manager and the duties of supervision were given to the late Mr. Dalton Cooper. In the spring of 1962, the building, manufacturing equipment, piece goods and inventory, were totally destroyed by fire.

During the time a new building was being constructed and new machinery assembled, the company did business in the Veterans Hut on Highway 72 and the former Negro school building located nearby.

Operations in the modern building were commenced October of 1962. In 1963, Dalton Cooper left the company and managerial duties were assumed by Mr. Troy Holtsford who now continues in that position. Expansions of the plant and building were made in 1964 and 1970. It is interesting to note that, from the beginning in a plant consisting of 7,800 square floor feet, the industry has expanded to a giant size of 56,000 square floor feet.

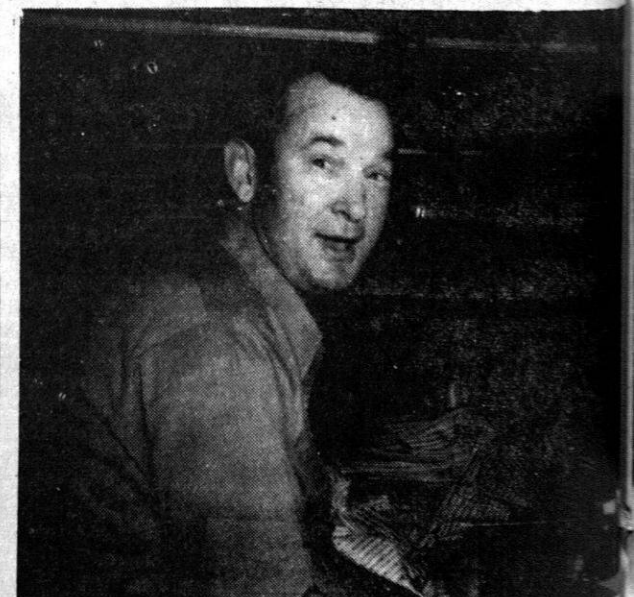

Highest weekly per capita production in the plant was attained under Mr. Holtsford's supervision in the year of 1968 and employment increased from the original 33 in 1955 to 312 in 1972. Current employees now stands at 312. Present officials are Mr. Max Glaser, owner and president of the company, and his son, Mr. Seymour Glaser, secretary and treasurer.

Of particular interest is the fact that the Iuka Shirt Company has been operated exclusively on private capital and no bond issues have been passed and no public tax money used in its operation, as has been the case in practically all other industries in the county.

Truly, Iuka and Tishomingo County are grateful to the Glasers for having provided employment for so many people for the past 18 years.

Bertie Glidewell is setting sleeves as her supervisor, Mrs. Myrtle Walker looks on.

Harold Marlar, head mechanic, is responsible for the maintenance of the entire plant. Harold was employed in 1967.

BOOSTS OUR ECONOMY

A tribute to Mrs. Sarah Glaser, a faithful wife and devoted mother. Her time and effort was greatly appreciated. Her contributing to the progress of our company will forever be remembered.

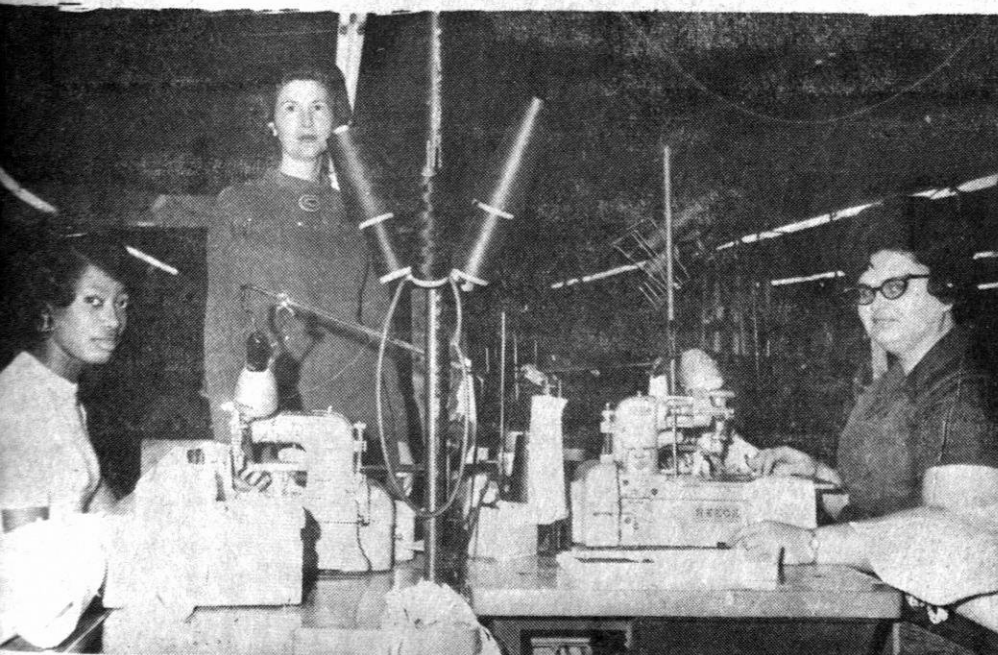

This group represents the entire supervision force of the Iuka Shirt Company. These people are responsible for the quality and quantity of work produced in the plant. They do an excellent job in promoting good work relations and keeping the morale of the entire work force at a very high level at all times. Left to right: Marie Helton, Marie Floyd, Myrtle Walker, Virginia Whitehurst, Ann Park, Fay Lomax, Mae Owens, Troy Holtsford, Roy Provins, Pat Smith, Edward Moss, Hurtleen McAnally and Gene Ozment.

Roy Provins, cutting department manager is standing with cutters C. E. Walker and David Rhodes. Mr. Hansel Russell, spreader, is standing in the background.

Marie Floyd, supervisor, is standing beside Jean Romans who is banding collars. Jean came to work in 1968 and Marie came in 1962.

Excerpt From 5/12/55 Issue Of
"The Vidette"

The Iuka Shirt Company, Inc., has purchased the building formerly occupied by Mammoth Hosiery Mills and will start operations in the near future.

The firm was incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000.00. The Iuka Shirt Company, Inc., will be a privately financed business and will not be associated or affiliated with any other garment manufacturing concern.

It is estimated that an employment of from 100 to 150 will be reached within a few months with 90 percent of those being women.

The new plant will have 75 sewing machines, and cutting and pressing departments. Garments made will be men's sport and dress shirts and ladies man-tailored blouses.

Officials of the new company state that they have an earnest desire to become a part of the community. They hope to become one of the major contributing factors to Iuka and Tishomingo County's growth and prosperity.

The new industry for Iuka has been brought here through the efforts of the Iuka Industrial Committee under the direction of C. L. Woodley, Chairman.

In processing our work here at Iuka Shirt Company, first our piece goods are all purchased by our parent company in New York. The purchase orders are sent to us to receive the goods by. They also send us cutting tickets as to style and how many dozen shirts they want made out of the goods. The goods are then spread as per instructions, cut and bundled. Piece rate tickets are put on each bundle.

All of our work in sewing and pressing are on piece work rate or incentive work. Eighty percent of our employees are paid by incentive rate pay. This is called our direct labor cost.

We have ten styles in production for this season. This is about average for us as far as styles are concerned. Each of these styles consist of approximately 38 sewing, inspecting, pressing and folding operations to each garment. In the short sleeve season there are fewer operations because we do not prepare the sleeves and the cuffs for the garment.

Our highest employment is during our long sleeve season which starts in April or sometimes earlier.

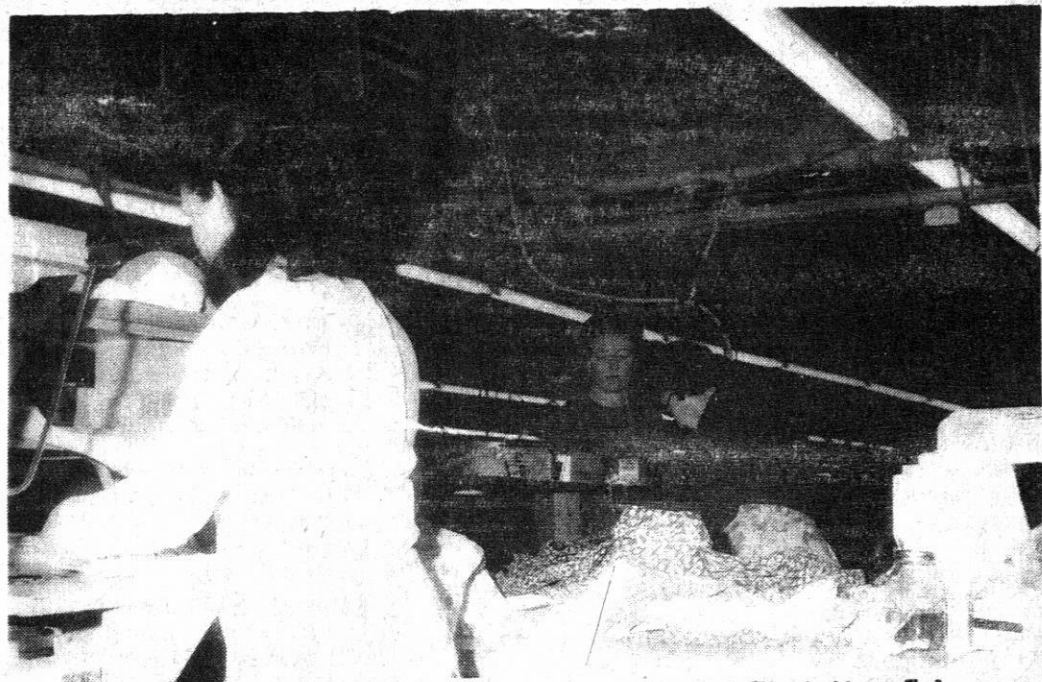

Many do not know of the vast amount of work we do here. We compute our own payroll and buy our own trimming supplies. Everything except the piece goods which goes into the garment is purchased from our plant.

The customer's orders are sent to us from our New York Office for shipping. These orders are pulled from stock, packed and invoiced direct to customer from here. We ship about two truck loads per day. Warehousing and shipping is a vast job within itself.

We here at Iuka Shirt Company are proud to be a part of our progressive community.

The management and supervision are proud of our fine employees. All our key people are aware of the great responsibility that they carry in their work and this makes the task of operation much easier on all concerned.

Mr. Glaser and his son, Seymour, and their sales force have done a terrific job in providing us with a good continuity of work. His ability for styling and marketing garments are responsible for our success here. The confidence that he places in us in the manufacturing part certainly speaks well for the entire community. To us this makes him the most outstanding industrialist that we know. His love for the community is shown to us by the monumental progress.

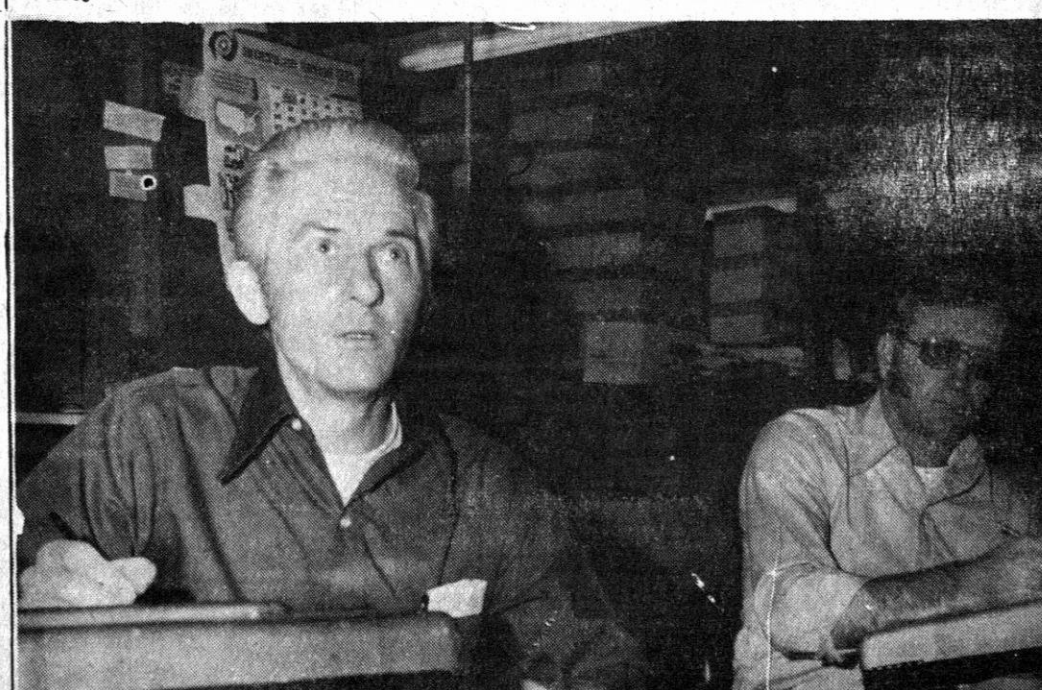

Ann Provins, foreground is folding shirts and Christine Johnson is pressing. Faye Lomax, supervisor is looking on.

Mrs. Valerie Carson, left, and Mrs. Irene Gross are boxing shirts. This is the last process before the shirts are shipped out.

Edward Moss, left, shipping department manager and Wayne Brown, assistant, are processing orders on shipments that are being made to all parts of the United States and some foreign countries.

OPERATION UNDERSTANDING

Many United Methodist Churches in the northern half of Mississippi will have a chance to meet face-to-face with some of their top denominational executives next week, February 23 - March 4.

Purpose of the program, called "Operation Understanding," is to point up what United Methodists are doing in the world to carry out the mission of the church.

"Our people often ask questions about how their gifts to World Service are used," the Rev. W. R. Lott, Director of North Mississippi's Council on Ministries stated. (World Service is the denomination's mainline of support for missions and other benevolent ministries.) "We want local church members to meet these top denominational executives and staff members and to find answers to their questions from those who administer World Service funds," he added.

Thirteen of the United Methodist leaders will be in the state February 23 - March 4 for this purpose. They will meet with Sunday School classes, congregations, Men's Clubs, United Methodist Women, Youth groups and others.

"These staff members are servants of the church and they will be interested in hearing how our local church members feel about denominational programs," the Rev. Mr. Lott stated.

Visiting staff members will be Dr. Alex Porteus from the Division of Interpretation in Evanston, Ill.; Dr. Nelson Stants, Secretary of Field Cultivation of the Division of Interpretation, Dayton, Ohio; Dr. Norman Conrad, Associate General Secretary of the Council on Finance, originally from California; Dr. Bob Clemmons of Nashville, one of the denomination's top education leaders; Dr. James Moore of the North Georgia Board of Missions; and Dr. H. T. Maclin, of the Southeastern Jurisdiction Council's Staff, located in Atlanta.

Also visiting the state to assist in the program will be Dwight Newberg of the General Board of the Laity who was for 25 years an FBI agent; Dr. Warren Jenkins of the Division of Interpretation; Dr. Bob Ochsenriender of the General Board of Discipleship; Dr. Ralph Baker, one of the editors of INTERPRETER magazine; Dr. Clayton Calhoun from Georgia; Dr. Howard Brinton of the Board of Global Ministries who served for 25 years as a missionary to Zaire; and Dr. Arthur Long of the Division of Interpretation whose home conference is South Iowa.

The six District Superintendents of the North Mississippi Conference will supervise the scheduling of the guests so that as many local churches as possible will have the opportunity to meet and talk with them.

"When the program is completed, the General Boards will have a better understanding of the local church in Mississippi and our local people will have a new appreciation for the work our church is doing at the national level," the Rev. Mr. Lott opined.

"Things are changing so fast today and the way we have to work as Christians changes," Lott said, and added, "Sometimes these changes need interpretation." Operation Understanding is designed to do just that -- bring greater understanding at all levels of the church.

The desire for such a program developed two years ago during a series of laymen's meetings. Laymen expressed the need to know more about the connectional nature of the United Methodist Church and the work of the Boards and Agencies which carry out its work on the national level. The North Mississippi Conference Council on Ministries came up with the idea of the face-to-face meeting with top church leaders, and the February 23 - March 4 program will be the result of two years of planning.

TREES LIKE GOOD LAND
If you are an owner of land that you cannot look after closely, putting timber on that land could well be your best bet. Research has shown that trees will grow two and a half times as much merchantable timber in 17 years on good land as on poor land. But they will grow enough timber even on the poor land to show a profit.

purebred poodle romps and plays all day with Suzanne, when Suzanne's mother and daddy go to bed, Tammy goes to bed with them, thus showing her love for the whole family.

Suzanne says that Tammy loves: bacon and eggs; wieners; ham and chicken; and just about any kind of human-being food, especially candy. For a piece of candy, Tammy will stand on her hind legs and walk around the room until she gets it.

Also, the little dog loves to play -- and she likes to play rough! Hands seem to fascinate her and the slightest hand movement will get her into a playful mood.

Now here is what she HATES. A bath. Yes, just mention: "Turn on the water for Tammy's bath" -- and away she goes. She has to be literally dragged from under her hiding place -- the bed, the chair -- whatever is the closest to her when she hears the word "BATH"!!

Tammy is exceptionally good, though, when she needs to go outside to tend to her "business" calls. Jumping into the nearest lap, she looks right into the person's eyes until that person gets up and takes her outside. For this important trip, she is put on a leash -- the only safe way to take any dog for a walk. (Any person who thinks his dog is smart enough to stay out of the way of traffic is just kidding himself. Even expert trainers of dogs stress that dogs should be on leashes when walking on or near roads.)

When Suzanne is at school, Tammy misses her very much and listens eagerly for the bus to return with her when school is out. In the fourth grade at the Iuka Elementary School, Suzanne likes her teacher, Mrs. Wanda Evans, and says that the class sometimes talks about animals, particularly wild ones. In many states, humane education is mandatory, and is one of the most important ways of teaching kindness. In Suzanne's case, she is very lucky -- she hears about kindness both at home and at school.

Besides her little dog, Suzanne has two beautiful cats: Tomisena, a purebred Siamese; and Smoky, a solid black Persian.

When asked if she knew any other people who particularly liked animals, Suzanne said: "Oh, yes, lots of them." To name a few, she mentioned:

Mrs. Dewey Reid of Belmont, Miss. Mrs. Reid had, in fact, first given Tomisena to Jala Russell who, at that time, was living in Belmont with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Russell, and her young brother, Benji. The Russells are now living in Tishomingo, Miss. Jala later gave Tomisena to Suzanne.

Mrs. Bert (Virginia) Hudson, of North Crossroads, Suzanne's great aunt, is also a friend of animals and Suzanne says that her aunt loves ALL kinds.

Mrs. Gary (Patricia) Scott, Suzanne's cousin, loves animals, too, and was the one who gave her Smoky, the handsome Persian tomcat. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odie Barnett of Iuka, Pat married a boy from Allsboro, Ala., and now lives in Four-Cities (formerly referred to as Tri-Cities, Ala.).

Connie and Ronnie, Suzanne's twin cousins, take good care of their dogs, too. Also children of Odie and Aynelle Barnett, the twins live near me and I can vouch for their kindness to animals. I am a personal friend of the twins and their dogs.

Cecil Thornton, Suzanne's uncle, doesn't have a pet because he is away from home a lot. But he does love Tammy almost as much as he loves his niece, Suzanne -- and Suzanne loves her Uncle Cecil as much as she loves her little dog.

Now nine years old, Suzanne is the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James (Red) Thornton; the maternal granddaughter of Mrs. Birdie Lewis of Corinth; and the paternal granddaughter of Pete Thornton of Pleasant Hill Road, Iuka, and the late Mrs. Thornton.

Naked Stood The Camper

Hugh Dorsey and his wife set out from Canton, Ga., early one morning trying to get through Atlanta before the morning traffic rush.

Hugh had gotten off from work at 2:30 a.m. at Lockheed and didn't get but a couple of hours sleep.

After tooling along Interstate 75 for a spell, fatigue and sleepiness hit Hugh real bad and he turned to his wife, Willie Belle, and asked her to take over.

He climbed into the back of the camper and started to undress just as his wife let out the clutch and lurched into the I-75 traffic whizzing along. Hugh, down to his shorts, fell against the door which had not been fastened properly.

Hugh Dorsey flew through the air, landing on his rear end right on the I-75 concrete. For a split second he didn't know whether he was dead or alive but managed to roll out of the highway onto the shoulder and to safety.

In the distance he saw Willie Belle and the camper disappearing over one of those South Georgia Hills.

Car after car whizzed by as Hugh Dorsey stood there in his drawers wondering what to do next. Some of the drivers would squeal their tires briefly then gun away as if frightened by the strange apparition.

Finally an old Chevrolet came to a screeching halt and four men piled out -- three apparently under the influence.

After determining Hugh Dorsey was a real, genuine man, they got down to serious talk, accepting an offer of $50 from Hugh Dorsey if they would put him in the Chevy and catch up with Willie Belle and the camper.

"That makes sense," said the one sober man, who happened to be driving the old Chevy.

They all climbed in, putting Hugh Dorsey in the middle of the back seat with the drunks who immediately sprawled out with their feet stuck out the windows.

The old Chevy leaped down the road and in a few seconds was doing 90.

Georgia Highway Troopers Tom Harrison and Jake Rakestraw had just finished their coffee at Stuckey's place in Unadilla when they saw the Chevy blast by.

"What in hell was that!" exclaimed Jake.

"Looks like somebody done caught themselves a naked man," said his partner. "Let's go!"

With flashing light and siren at full voice they tore out in pursuit. The Chevy's driver heard the siren and floor-boarded the gas pedal.

Tom and Jake finally overtook the Chevy at Ashburn and demanded to know what was going on.

"We ain't done nothing wrong," said the driver. "He's gonna give us $50 to catch up with his wife."

Hugh Dorsey confirmed the story so the troopers put him in the patrol car and whizzed through the south Georgia countryside past the big green signs proclaiming Sycamore, Chula, Tifton, Unionville, Fender and Lenox. As they approached Adel, Hugh Dorsey saw in the distance Willie Belle and the camper, its door still swinging in the wind.

Willie Belle had been driving nearly three hours before the siren's wail drowned out the pickup's radio and a patrol car crowded her to the shoulder.

Her eyes popped out of her head when she saw her near-naked husband climb out of the patrol car. She then fainted his napkin over his lap when he noticed he had overlooked one small detail when he had put his pants back on. He forgot to zip his fly.

He quickly jerked up the zipper but doing so caught the corner of the red tablecloth. No manner of jiggling could loosen it.

"How much for the tablecloth, Miss?" asked red-faced Hugh Dorsey.

"Don't worry about it," she said. "I'll fix you up."

She left and returned with a big pair of shears and whacked him loose, leaving an eight-inch tongue hanging from his trousers.

Hugh Dorsey and Willie Belle fled from the restaurant and climbed back into the camper-truck. They drove silently for an hour before Willie Belle noticed they were going north on I-75.

She didn't say a single, solitary word.

Business As Usual At Selective Service Boards

Despite the Vietnam cease-fire, business as usual is the order of the day at Selective Service local board offices, says State Director James L.
Davis. The Selective Service system is still empowered to require registration of all draft-able males within 30 days of their eighteenth birthday. It is feared that the announcement of the draft has ended might be misinterpreted by many young men and result in failure to register upon reaching age eighteen. At registration, a young man's identity must be verified by either a birth certificate, driver's license, or other identification.
Colonel Davis states that it is still the duty of every registrant, until his liability for training and service has terminated, to have in his personal possession, except while on active duty in the Armed Forces (other than active duty for training) his Registration Certificate and Notice of Classification, if issued, showing his current classification or his status Carl most recently ississippi Beef Cattle Judging

Club.

sued by his local board. The failure of any person to have his Registration Certificate or Status Card in his personal possession shall be considered evidence of his failure to register.

A lottery will be held soon for males born in 1954. It is not known at this time if these registrants will be processed for physical examinations.

Eventhough registration will continue, a young man will not be called unless there is a national emergency, Colonel Davis said.

Office hours for the Iuka Local Board is: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday from 8:00 a.m.
to 5:00 p.m.

VA Facts

More than half of America's 29 million veterans have reached -- or are approaching -- the age range of "older citizens."

The VA has doubled its daily payments to State homes for hospital care of eligible veterans and expanded its grants to remodel existing State facilities.

Income for more than 1.8 million persons age 65 or older is provided by the VA in the form of compensation and pension for veterans and their survivors.

Much of what has been regarded as "senility" in older persons actually is treatable mental illness that can be greatly improved with greater involvement in daily activities - including their own care.

The VA recently opened its first specialized hospital unit for stroke victims and the agency is conducting an intensive medical research attack on strokes, heart disease, cancer and emphysema.

How the mind and body age is being studied by VA physicians so that they can predict who is likely to develop certain diseases and advise when preventive measures should be taken.

"Intermediate" care sections in the medical wards of VA hospitals are teaching older disabled veterans to be as self-sufficient as possible in caring for their own illnesses, and involving members of their families in their rehabilitation.

Many State And Local Taxes Are Deductible

You can deduct many kinds of state and local taxes on your Federal income tax return if you itemize your deductions, an IRS spokesman said today.

Deductible taxes include real estate and personal property taxes, state and local income taxes, state and local gasoline taxes and general sales taxes.

Taxes and fees that are not deductible include liquor and cigarette taxes, most auto license fees, water service charges, hunting and fishing licenses and dog licenses. Federal taxes are also not deductible on Federal tax returns.

IRS Publication 546, "Income Tax Deduction for Taxes," has complete information on deductible and nondeductible taxes.
It's available free from your IRS district office.

ing speakers.
