Christians Should Favor Amnesty

Nothing remains now for us of the Vietnam War but proud and bitter memories. Except, though we might rather forget them, thousands of draft-dodgers and deserters.

The sacrifices have been made — some for freedom and honor, and some for nothing. Either way, at least they're finished, and life can return to normal. Except the agonizing issue of amnesty keeps intruding and asking one final sacrifice — to give up the right to condemn, a right these costly memories assert.

I have no illusions that most of the young men who refused to fight for their country in Vietnam did so in allegiance to a high moral ethic. As a Christian, I must favor amnesty for the meritorious and the despicable alike.

I myself am a forgiven man. When I was still a rebel Jesus granted me pardon, though I had done nothing to deserve it. And, having been released from judgment into the freedom of God's acceptance and love, nothing was subsequently required of me to justify this act of grace on my behalf. God granted me total amnesty and reconciled me to Himself.

A Parable

A businessman employed a man who embezzled from him for years until he had run up a debt of over $25,000. The theft was discovered and the businessman demanded to be repaid and threatened to tell the police. When the employee promised to pay and passionately begged for time and patience, however, the employer relented and compassionately forgave the debt. The forgiven man then went to a friend who owed him $100 and demanded his money. Though the friend pleaded, the man took the matter to small claims court and had his friend's pay check garnished. Word of this got back to the man's employer and he was enraged. He pressed charges against his employee and had him imprisoned. At the trial the businessman had only one question: "Why didn't you show mercy to your friend after I showed such mercy to you?"

In relationship to God I am like the indebted employee. I have no sound reason not to show mercy to my fellow-men.

Reconciliation

As a Christian, my ministry and my message are reconciliation — getting people back together with God and with each other. This was Jesus' purpose. Through Jesus, God began to reconcile the world to Himself. Amnesty is never easy. Many of those who benefit from it will, no doubt, think themselves clever and will scorn the sacrifice which forgiveness exacts. Some will see mercy as proof of weakness. Some will regard amnesty as a mere political coup. Some few will recognize and appreciate it as an act of grace. For the benefit of those few, all must be reconciled.

"Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who have trespassed against us."

LETTERS TO EDITOR

A few months ago I wrote to the Editor of the Tishomingo County News, asking if anyone could give me information as to the parentage of my grandfather, William Allen Daniel, born in Alabama in 1844.

When the Confederate Army came near where they lived in 1863, grandfather ran off and joined his brothers, enlisting in Moreland's Alabama Calvary at Dickson, Alabama. He fought at Tishomingo Creek.

Evidently you mentioned my letter in your column, as I received several much appreciated letters. I would like to thank you and your readers for your assistance. I now feel sure that my grandfather lived within a 10 or 15 mile radius of Iuka.

Mrs. G. E. Gable of Sheffield, Alabama, identified Dickson or Chisca as once being in the vicinity of Cherokee, Ala.

I found an old letter dated 1880 from my grandfather's brother, J. M. Daniel, that said about 1875 Sister Sarah was living on Bear Creek between Eastport and the railroad. This location did not seem to be the exact place where my grandfather once lived but a location very familiar to him by the description given. This area was identified for me as being 10 miles northeast of Iuka.

Having the information as to the Mississippi-Alabama area where they once lived, I drove to Iuka and Cherokee, but the Daniel families with whom I talked were unable to give me direct information. I did not get to talk with any of the Sartains there, who evidently, would have been related.

Grandfather was of English descent. His parents died when he was quite young and he was raised by sister Nancy. Besides sisters Nancy and Sarah, William Allen Daniel had brother John, Joe and Jasper. Jasper seems to have been the youngest and Texas census records give his birthplace as South Carolina.

There was an uncle, Joe Sartain. I have also heard mention of the names Martha and Eli. There was a cousin, Mrs. Christopher Piercon, called Tina, who lived in Texas.

J. M. Daniels wife was called Mollie. J. M. and Mollie Daniel had children Jimmy, Betty and a girl who was born about 1878. Sister Nancy's husband had a farm, evidently located between Cherokee and Iuka. Grandfather's first wife was Anne Billings, of Corinth.

Anne died and my grandfather took his daughter, Lula, to Stephens County, Texas, where he met and married my grandmother, Lucy Ballard. The first time he came to "call" on my grandmother, he came on horseback with Lula, who was then about 5 years old, on the saddle behind him.

If anyone could give me information about this family of orphan Daniel children, who lived there about the time of the Civil War; or, surname of a property owner who's wife's given name was Sarah, I would surely appreciate them letting me know.

I would also like to know the railroad that once ran through Eastport as one of grandfather's brothers was killed when working for a railroad.

My mother will be 90 years old on October 27. I know of no greater present I could give her than information about her father's parents (as grandfather's parents died when he was a young lad, he never spoke of them and mother has always regretted she never thought to ask their names).

As many courthouses have been destroyed by fire, records burned, it seems the only way I can find a lead is through family records of some descendant who may still be living in the Mississippi - Alabama area. I have been searching war, county and state records for the last 5 years.

Would you help me. Even stories of traditional events or family lore might prove a useful lead.

Sincerely,

Quida Hunter Harkreader

Money Approved For Spring Flood Damage

The Mississippi Civil Defense Council has notified Hubert Anglin, Authorized Representative for Tishomingo County, that $28,393.00 has been approved by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration for restoration and repairs to public facilities damaged or destroyed during the 1973 Spring Floods.

Kenneth N. Causey, Director, and Prentiss H. Baughman, Deputy Director, were appointed by Governor Waller as State Coordinating Officers to assist local governments in making application for assistance under Public Law 91-606, The National Disaster Act, 1970.

Causey and Baughman pointed out this amount is not a grant to Tishomingo County but will be a reimbursement for actual monies expended in the restoration of public facilities to pre-disaster conditions.

Following completion of all work and a final inspection by State and Federal inspectors, final payment will be made as determined by State and/or Federal Audit.

Cut your heating bill in half this winter

Everyone would like to lower the cost of heating his home. And it can be done by installing full insulation where there is none. Full insulation can cut heating costs by 50 percent or more.

In this region the requirements for full insulation are 6 inches over the ceiling, 3½ inches and vapor barrier in outside walls, and 2 inches and a vapor barrier under the floor. (The vapor barrier should go on the room side of insulation.)

Insulation saves money on cooling costs, too. You can reduce cooling costs about one-third by installing adequate insulation in a home without any.

See your insulation dealer or us for more information. Start saving money on heating and cooling bills today.

Midway Booth Wins At Tupelo Fair

WINS THIRD — The Midway Community from Tishomingo County was third place winner in booth judging Tuesday at the Mississippi-Alabama Fair and Dairy Show. "The Wheel of Fortune Turns for Community Development" was their theme. The community will receive an award of $175.

Landowners To Receive Flood Damage Assistance

This county will get part of the $8,200,000 which the Soil Conservation Service in Mississippi has received to repair agricultural lands and projects damaged during the 1973 floods. Some landowners may be eligible for financial and technical assistance to repair damaged conservation measures. The original work need not have been done with SCS assistance. Landowners who feel they have flood damages which are now impairing streams or property of other landowners should get in touch with W. A. Stuart, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, P. O.

Student Education Leaders

Box 272, Iuka, Miss.

Floods that caused over $8 million dollars in damages to Mississippi agricultural lands and projects, caused several thousand dollars in similar damages in this county.

Much of the damage occurred in the southeastern and northern section of the county around Belmont and Iuka.

In the Belmont Community alone, approximately 20 acres were covered with sand from Bear Creek.

Mr. Stuart said surveys made in this county helped to establish the need for federal assistance.

Who's Eligible
W. A. Stuart said damage on individual farms will not be eligible, unless the damage is affecting other farms or streams. In order to qualify, the job must correct off-site damages.

At the same time, Mr. Stuart, emphasized that no new work will be eligible, unless it must be installed to alleviate hazard to life or property. This money must be utilized to repair and restore work already in place at the time of the floods.

The district conservationist said all work must be sponsored by a legally constituted body, such as a drainage district, a soil and water conservation district, state agency, county board of supervisors, or other group.

In addition to providing technical and financial assistance with flood-damage repair work, the Soil Conservation Service will continue to provide technical assistance to farmers qualifying under the emergency conservation measures program administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

McNatt Ford Sales

IUKA, MISS.

Ford introduces the 74's. The news is big, medium and small. At your Ford Dealer's.

Ford Mustang II. A new class of small car: First Class.

Mustang II is 19 inches shorter than last year's Mustang... even a bit shorter than the original one. It's more than a new Mustang. It's a whole new class of small car: First Class. In every way. From its jewel-like exterior to its handsomely appointed interior, the new Mustang II gives you a luxurious level of standard equipment you probably never expected to find in a small car. Yet Mustang II still carries an economical small-car price. Mustang II comes in two different body styles, four different models. See them soon.

Gran Torino Brougham 2-Door Hardtop shown with optional deluxe bumper group.

1974 Ford Torino. The solid mid-size.

Torino's got a new young look this year. Excitingly restyled outside... exciting new features inside. And lots of solid car to go with them. A new young look, a smooth and steady ride. That's Torino '74.

Ford LTD Brougham 2-door Hardtop shown with optional deluxe wheel covers, white sidewall tires and deluxe bumper group.

1974 Ford LTD. The quiet full-size.

Quiet, luxurious, beautifully built: that's LTD for '74. A high level of craftsmanship wherever you look, from the fit of the doors, hood and trunk to the impressive list of LTD features. Steel belted radial tires. Automatic transmission. Power steering. Power brakes, and more. All standard on LTD for '74.

See all the 74's from Ford on September 21. The closer you look, the better we look.

SPORTS

Defeated

not feeling too good said Iuka's coach McClain after returning to Alabama. Coach would feel a little after a detailed week resulting in a loss, only had his Chieftains Central High of Florence but his center Tim had received a shoulder - sidelining the Wildcat win, Simmons gained touchdowns in the first and third quarters, while Moore scored in the second and fourth periods.

David Smith placed Iuka on the scoreboard in the second quarter with a 75 yard kick-off return.

In the last period the Chieftain's quarterback Don Robinson scrambled four yards to score. Robinson's pass to Scotty James secured two points in the extra point attempt. McClain cited David Smith and Don Robinson for excellent achievements against Coach Creacy's Wildcats.

"Smith played well on both defense and offense. Robinson played good defense, and he made several saves," McClain said.

Alcorn Central is slated with Iuka Friday.

Vina Beats Tish

Vina, Alabama won a 22-6 victory over the Tishomingo Bulldogs at Tishomingo Friday night after a 16-6 lead at the half.

Tishomingo made the first score when James Bennett intercepted a pitchout and ran for 55 yards in the first. Vina scored twice in the second on steady drives and again in the third on a short run.

B'ville Downs Belmont

A "National Holiday of the Month" has been declared in Burnsville says head coach Jimmy Cresap.

The town went football wild Friday after the Mustangs won their first game in two years and ended a winless string of 19.

The 8-0 victory over Belmont was "something," Cresap said. "It was complete bedlam. It took five minutes to get ready to go for the extra point. People were screaming and hollering and falling out. The whole football team was on the field," Cresap said.

NOTICE TO SPORTSMEN

There is a bill in the House of Representatives, (Bill No. HR 4690) in which Title III of the bill outlaws steel-jaw traps.

All sportsmen opposed to this bill should write: Chairman, Committee on Merchant Marine & Fisheries, Room 1334, Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?

Some people say it doesn't make any difference in what kind of mobile home you buy. But, if you ask the owner of a Sunshine Mobile Home, he can tell you there is a difference -- like a 40 gallon water heater, no frost refrigerator, Tappan range, truly 2 x 4" walls, many large house type windows, king size bed and you don't have to order them extra because these are standard features!

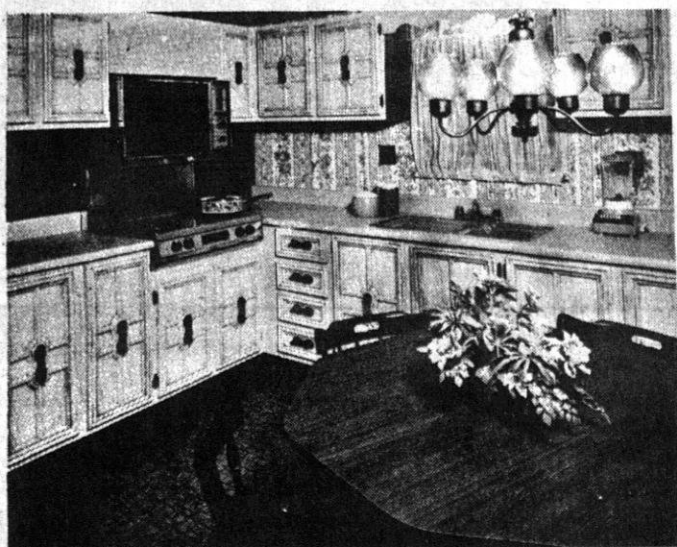

Some people say it doesn't make any difference where you buy your mobile home as long as it is the cheapest priced one with the lowest down payment. But, if you ask the smart buyers, they will tell you how Seers Mobile Homes saved them hundreds of dollars with low prices and by making an ample down payment [which cuts down monthly payments] and arranging their loan at local banks with low interest rates. At Seers Mobile Homes, we can obtain your loan from local banks.

This means you can do your business with local people you know and trust who want to serve you. Also at Seers, you will save money because there are no charges for loan service, or official fees nor is there any hidden closing costs!

Some people say it doesn't make any difference because every dealer guarantees you service. At Seers Mobile Homes, our full time service department not only services what we sell, but also does service work for other dealers in a fifty mile radius. [Those other dealers promised service too!] Seers Service also offers add a rooms, tie downs, air conditioning, under pinning and virtually any repairs on your mobile home at low prices. Trained experienced, courteous personnel will work to help protect your investment in your home.

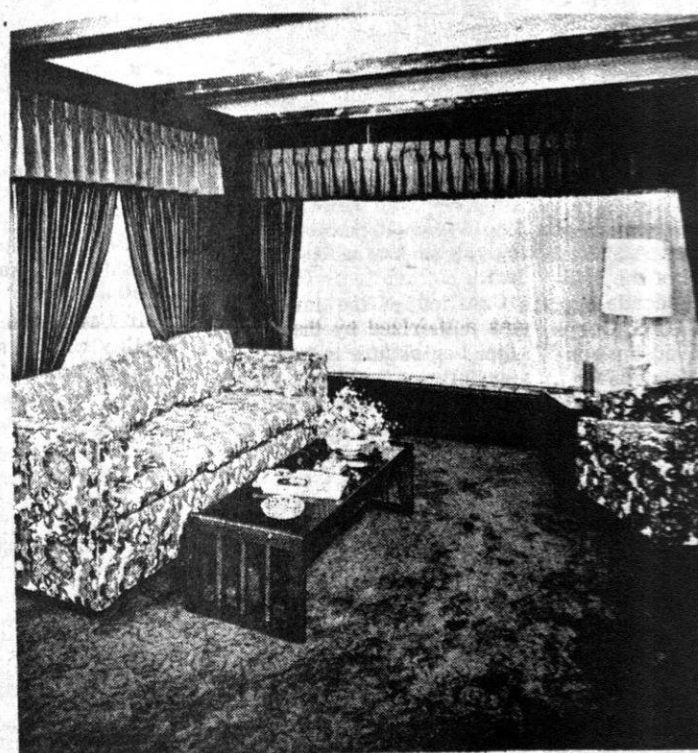

Yes, at Seers Mobile Homes, we believe, especially in these days and times, it does make a difference. And the difference is at Seers Mobile Homes where you get a good deal, and a good deal more.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Who Is Guilty?

San Luis Obispo, Calif. Cecil Richardson, a 25-year-old convict serving a life term for murdering his wife, recently killed his 15-month-old son. While the mother, a friend, and the son were visiting him in prison's visiting room, the convicted killer suddenly pushed the boy by the ankles and smashed the child's head against the wall.

Philadelphia, a few days ago, two prisoners in the State Prison stabbed to death the warden and the warden's wife, before they were subdued by guards. One of the killers, Fred Burton, serving a life term for murdering Police Sgt. Frank J. Collins. The other man, John Bowen, was in prison awaiting trial for the murder of a policeman John Kelly, and surprised him in the act of auto burglary.

Los Angeles, some time ago, a 19-year-old man, who was on bond — because of a questionable legal maneuver — after pleading guilty to the murder of a policeman three years earlier, was arrested, charged with murdering another policeman, and while he was being taken across a parking lot, he is guilty of these murders, of course.

There are others also, who cannot escape some responsibility for the fact that known killers were allowed to live to kill again.

Pull on Penalty
Recent Harris survey indicates that Americans believe the death penalty should be restored and enforced. Fifty-nine per cent of the respondents favored restoration of the death penalty, while 31 per cent opposed it. "The key to current thinking on capital punishment," said Louis Harris, "can be found in the belief that it has a deterrent effect on people who might otherwise take the life of another person."

Effective Protection
There is honest disagreement about the question of the deterrent value of the death penalty. But there can be no disagreement about this: murderers who are executed do not kill any more innocent victims.

Those who have been opposing the death penalty for convicted killers should consider their burden of guilt when men who have been convicted of murder kill yet more innocent people. Like a 16-month-old baby boy ... or a warden and a deputy warden ... or a policeman walking across a parking lot.

Some people declare that their opposition to the death penalty is based on the Scriptural injunction, "Thou shalt not kill." But this is totally unsound, for the Scripture also says, "He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death." This is not a contradiction. It is a clear and definite statement as to what the punishment shall be for the man who violates the commandment against murder.

When we reject this, and the killer lives to kill again, who is guilty?

Yellow Creek Port

It will surely prove to be an economic and recreational boon to the citizens of the Mid-South. It began over a decade ago, when the U. S. Corps of Engineers approved the construction of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway ... that long-sought connection between the heart of the country's waterway system and the Gulf of Mexico, with its major inland port at Yellow Creek, if finally to become a reality.

environmentalist over the ecological impact of such a project.

Creation of the inland port was authorized by the Mississippi Legislature in 1968. Subsequently, a contract for development of the facility was signed by the Agricultural and Industrial Board, the Tombigbee River Valley Water Management District, and the Tennessee Valley Authority, which owns the land on which the port is being built.

The project will cost an estimated $7 million. The state and Tombigbee River Valley Water Management District will provide $1.5 million of the total cost with the TVA contributing some $5.5 million. The approved agreement calls for the repayment of the state and federal investment from port revenues. Bonds issued for the $1.5 million have already been sold.

In 1970 the Yellow Creek Port Authority was organized, five of the nine members are named by the Governor, the remaining four by the Boards of Supervisors of Alcorn, Itawamba, Prentiss and Tishomingo counties, the four counties directly involved in the project.

The members of the Authority are: Billy H. Tidwell, Dennis; Carlos Ginn, Golden; Millard W. Kent, Iuka; John Thomas Wilbanks, Corinth; Ralph Hare, Booneville; Benjamin F. Pierce, Corinth; Otto P. Forrest, Jr., Fulton; Glen Goodwin, Tupelo; and Delmus C. Harden, Fulton. Attorney for the port is James E. Price of Corinth.

Actual construction on the Yellow Creek Port site began late in 1971 and has progressed at a steady rate. Huge earth moving machinery moved into the Tishomingo County site changing it into a bustling industrial scene. Completion date for the port is set for December 15, 1974. Terminal facilities will be complete by the first of October.

When completed the facility will provide a public port in an area of Mississippi that is not now a part of the Inland Waterway System. Operating as a state port, Yellow Creek will be administered by the Port Authority under the general policy guidance of the A & I Board. It will provide terminal facilities for the industrial products of northeastern Mississippi which would be moved via the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway from the area to the Gulf. Some 2,000 acres of industrial port-related land have been acquired by options for development by private industries. A 12-mile railroad spur running from the port to the industrial area will serve these industries.

Although it will certainly be more viable upon completion of the Tennessee-Tombigbee project, the new port of Yellow Creek will not be dependent upon the waterway.

According to Port Director Neil Davis, the Yellow Creek facility will be self-sustaining and operational long before the completion date set for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. As the newest part of the already established inland waterway system, the port will service barge traffic on the Tennessee River and all other arteries of the system.

It is anticipated that about 15 industries with an employment of over 2,800 persons will locate in this northeastern Mississippi area within 25 years, with an annual payroll of an estimated $20 million. Creation of new manufacturing jobs in turn will create jobs in trade and services. The new port should make a tremendous contribution to the economic potential of northeast Mississippi, as well as the entire state, since industries using water transportation are traditionally high-wage firms.

Davis feels that, "Things are progressing nicely. Considerable interest from industries wishing to ship commerce through the terminal is already being felt. We are optimistic that as things develop to supply water and sewage to our industrial area that increased interest will be motivated."

Ramsey-Byrom Nuptials Spoken At The Iuka Baptist Church

Miss Abbie Anne Ramsey, of Iuka, and Gregory A. Byrom, also of Iuka, were united in holy matrimony at the Iuka Baptist Church, August 25, 1973, at 2:00 p.m., in a surrounding of large baskets filled with yellow and white daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. "Buster" Ramsey, of Iuka, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon A. Byrom, also of Iuka.

The Rev. Gerald Swimmer officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Vanessa Shirrey presented a prelude of nuptial music at the piano as the guests assembled and Miss Betty Brown sang "The Wedding Song." The bride was given in marriage by her father, W. D. Ramsey.

The bride was radiant in a lace gown over satin with fitted bodice and full skirt semi-train length. The sleeves were full with five inch cuffs with seed pearls on the cuffs and down the front of the bodice. The illusion veil fell to finger tip length from a satin and lace bow matching the dress. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white daisies and baby breath with yellow and white streamers tied in love knots.

Mrs. Larry Wilson, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor. She was attired in a lovely floor length yellow dress with a high neckline and soft pleats to the waistline and trimmed in soft white lace and carried a bouquet similar to the bride.

Harmon A. Byrom, father of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Edward Byrom, of Florence, Ala., brother to the groom, and W. D. Ramsey, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ramsey chose an A-line yellow linen dress with matching accessories with a corsage of white carnations pinned at her shoulder. The mother of the groom was attired in an ensemble of soft gold and white polyester with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception, given by the bride's aunts, Mrs. J. O. Ramsey and Mrs. C. E. Foote, of Jackson, Miss., was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bridal party greeted the guests and Mrs. Donnie Carson, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book table. The table was covered with a beautiful linen and lace cloth with the matron of honor's bouquet for flowers. It held the lovely bride's book with a feather plume pen. A crystal tray filled with a glass globe holding a burning yellow candle filled with rice bags with tiny satin ribbons for the guests completed the setting.

The bride's table laid with a hand-cut embroidered linen cloth held the two tiered cake decorated with yellow daisies and decorated with tiny daisies with clear glasses between the tiers with an arrangement of live flowers of daisies centering the top of the cake. The center piece was a beautiful bouquet of yellow and white daisies flanked by silver candelabras holding yellow burning candles. Nuts and mints were served and napkins were engraved with "Greg and Abbie" with the wedding date. Serving at the reception were Miss Debbie Gann, Mrs. W. D. Ramsey, Jr., of Memphis, Mrs. Jimmy Floyd Ramsey, of Iuka, and Mrs. Edward Byrom, of Florence, Ala.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a red and white polyester print dress with white accessories.

Upon return from a short wedding trip they are making their home in Iuka where the groom is attending Northeast Junior College and the bride is employed.

Out of town relatives included Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Cruce, Beverly and Bradley Byrom, and Earl McGuire, of Florence, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Strickland, of Huntsville, Ala.; and Miss Mitzi Ramsey, of MSCW, Columbus, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barnett, of Memphis, Tenn. Close relatives and friends of the couple attended.

REHEARSAL

The rehearsal supper was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon A. Byrom, for Greg and Abbie and members of the wedding party at the Iuka Steak House.

SHOWERS

Miss Abbie Ramsey was honored with two lovely showers, one given by Miss Debbie Gann at her home on August 23, 1973 at 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. This was a kitchen shower with all the girl friends invited. Attending were Lynn Thorne, Janie Hamm, Joy Coker, Joette Rhodes, Netia Counce, and Vanessa Shirrey. Sally Wilson served the refreshments of cake, nuts and cokes.

A miscellaneous shower was given on September 13, 1973 at the Fellowship Hall of the Iuka Baptist Church, and the hostesses were Mrs. E. L. McHaffey, Mrs. Don Landrum, Mrs. Boyd Phillips, Mrs. E. N. Allen, Mrs. Sue McBee, Mrs. Paul Skinner, Mrs. Lum Barnes and Mrs. Edward Sanderson.

The table was lovely with lace over a yellow cloth with yellow tapers in crystal holders on either side of the punch bowl, which was surrounded with beautiful yellow mums and greenery. The guest book table displayed the wedding pictures.

Punch, cake and nuts were served to approximately fifty guests, which called during the appointed hours of 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

The bride received many lovely gifts, which were displayed on tables covered with white cloths.

When Star died on Sunday,
August 5, 1973, it broke Oliver Edmondson's heart. Written by Emily Drake, the following lines no doubt express how he felt,
too:

TO A LITTLE PAL
We've lived together, you and I,
old girl;
Friends, tried and true, for many long happy years.

And when I smiled, your stubby tail wagged gladly.
And when I wept, you licked away my tears.

But, all too soon, our comradeship was ended;
The shears of Fate, relentlessly unkind Snipped the frail thread that bound our lives together;

And you went on, while I remained behind.
I miss you, girl -- your gay,
loud-spoken greeting.

Your small feet patterning about the place.
And, ah! the paths of that empty window
Where I could always find your watching face!

When life's short, hectic journey here is over,

And I fare forth alone, and in the dark,
Be at my journey's end, little Star, to greet me!
I'll know it's home, if I but hear you bark!

And on August 26, Oliver's journey here did end. And as deeply as he loved dogs, I believe he would also feel as the Unknown Author felt who wrote the following lines:

On Judgment Day, if I take the way
That leads where the righteous
meet,
If my dog is barred by the Heavenly guard
--we'll both of us brave the heat.

CLOTHING CONSIDERATIONS
FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

When shopping or sewing for back to school outfits for elementary - age youngsters, think of their getting dressed in the morning as a learning experience. Choose or make clothes that are easy for children to put on -- pants with elastic waists and dresses with front fasteners -- as well as those that are machine washable. Patterns for home sewers are available which have built-in teaching situations. Help youngsters acquire skill buttoning buttons, zipping zippers, even tying laces. And help them develop an interest in coordinating outfits and caring for their own wardrobes. Teachers appreciate parents who have taught children to dress and undress themselves and to hang clothing up and to keep it relatively clean.

HOW TO STRETCH
YOUR DOLLAR

The dollar is in trouble in many areas. Prices have spiraled to an all-time high.
Look at your family spending plan. Incomes have gone up but not always in proportion to prices, taxes and desires.

You can learn better dollar management. It's nothow many dollars you earn but what you do with the dollars you have that's important.

Learn the techniques that make every dollar work for you.
Make your money buy what you want it to buy.

THE BAGWORM IS MAKING ITS PRESENCE KNOWN NOW

The bagworm is one of the most curious and interesting of the insect pests of trees and shrubs. Each newly hatched larva immediately constructs a bag in which it lives. The bag is enlarged as the insect grows. The larva drags the bag wherever it goes by extending the forepart of its body, permitting the free use of its forelegs.

When a larva becomes full-grown, it stops feeding and firmly attaches the bag to a twig. The time of attachment usually occurs during August but varies from year to year, depending somewhat on the weather as well as the species of plant attacked.

Pupation takes place inside the bag. The adult stage appears about 4 weeks after a larva has stopped feeding. Adult females have neither legs nor wings. After mating with a winged male through an opening in the bottom of the bag, the female deposits a mass of eggs inside the bag. She then wiggles out of the bag and falls onto the ground. The eggs live inside the bag during the winter and only one generation occurs each year.

Bagworms attack a wide variety of plants, but do the most damage on ornamental arborvitae and juniper. Relatively few plants are killed but the ornamental value of many plants may be destroyed by defoliating and killing the top portion of each plant. Populations of bagworms fluctuate from year to year, apparently because of natural enemies.

Egg and larval parasites increase in abundance as the bagworm population grows.

A knowledge of the life history of the insect is helpful in attempting control measures.

On deciduous trees, a degree of control can be maintained by picking-off and destroying the bags during the fall and winter months. However, this procedure is less effective on arborvitae and juniper plants because too many bags and thus too many eggs masses escape destruction. Newly hatched larvae can be killed with insecticides much more easily than larvae which are well-grown.

Unfortunately, because portions of the plant on which the insect feeds are used to construct the bag, an infestation may not be observed until defoliation becomes prominent. By that time, larvae may be nearly full-grown and stomach poisons will be less effective.

To control the bagworm now you may want to consider such materials as Cygon, Sevin, chlorthane, malathion and check pesticide label for more specific details.

We have no end of troubles of our own, so why bother us with yours?

WHAT HAVE OUR FORESTS DONE FOR YOU LATELY?

Plenty!

Trees supply oxygen which keeps us all alive.

Trees provide wood to make more than 5,000 products for better living.

Trees create jobs and payrolls all over America.

Trees give us beauty and places for outdoor recreation.

Trees shelter the natural habitat of our wildlife.

Trees protect our watersheds and help control erosion.

and

Trees help us conserve our other natural resources.

GOT SOME LAND? PLANT SOME TREES. IT'S A GOOD MOVE FOR EVERYONE!

Miss. Park Commission Announces Completion Of Plans

Dr. Bobby King, State Park Commissioner, announced today that the State Building Commission has advertised for competitive bidding on final architectural plans and specifications for the development of several new facilities for Tishomingo State Park.

Dr. King stated, "The architectural plans call for the development of a new group camp area for the park. New construction items listed in the plan include eight group camp cabins and a kitchen/dining facility. The dining facility will be used to feed organized groups holding planning retreats at the park."

"The planned development for Tishomingo Park," said Dr. King, "will be funded by HB 660, an act passed during the 1972 session of the Mississippi Legislature for the improvements of existing state parks along with the development of new state recreation areas."

Dr. King emphasized, "We are excited with our plans for the development of new group camp facilities at Tishomingo State Park, and are anxious to proceed with the new construction program at the park."

Tishomingo State Park, constructed by the Civilian Conservation Corps during the mid-1930's, is located on State Hwy. 25 near Tishomingo, Miss.

Attorney General Warns Landowners Of Rustling

Attorney General A. F. Summer stated today that numerous incidents of cattle rustling and timber stealing have been reported to his office in the last few weeks. General Summer stated that with high prices for cattle, timber and farm products, such incidents would probably show a sharp increase with the coming longer winter nights.

General Summer went on to urge all farmers and land-

Check Pine Trees For Beetles

George Ayers, director of the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Northeast District, urged every landowner whether rural or urban to check pines on their property for possible danger from the highly destructive Ips engraver beetle.

According to Dr. Ayers, "with the possible exception of the Southern pine beetle, no other insects cause as much mortality to Southern pine forests as the various species of the Ips engravers that are infesting the pine in our region."

Trees are quickly infested by adult beetles which begin the attack by boring through the outer bark to the softer inner bark where they build tunnels and galleries from a central enlarged chamber and extend more or less parallel to the grain of the wood.

Adult Ips beetles are easily recognized by their "scooped out" posteriors which are surrounded by varying numbers of tooth-like projections. The Ips range in size from 1/6 to 1/4 inches in length and are generally reddish-brown to nearly black in color.

Ayers indicated that any landowner should be able to diagnose Ips infestation by locating numerous pink or reddish-brown pitch tubes, about the size of a wad of gum on the back of a tree trunk. Ayers further urged that immediate action should be taken if Ips indicators are present as it takes 18 to 25 days to complete one generation, allowing populations of beetles to increase rapidly if not controlled.

At present there are two methods of Ips control. First, is the speedy removal of actively infested trees making sure that the bark and slabs are destroyed. The other method consists of spraying the trees with a mixture of 20% Lindane emulsion at a rate of 2 table-spoons per gallon of water mixed with No. 2 fuel oil.

Of prime concern according to Forester Ayers is immediate action to control and eliminate infestation and spread of the Ips beetle. For further assistance, the Mississippi Forestry Commission invites you to contact your local county forester and conduct a survey of your problem.

After The Accident

What to do after an accident? How many people don't really know what should be done?

The NATIONAL OBSERVER in a recent issue published an "After-the-Wreck Checklist." The Mississippi Economic Council feels it important enough to pass along.

1. Help anyone who is hurt, and call the police immediately if injured need medical attention.

2. Get names and addresses of witnesses.

3. Move cars out of danger

if possible.

4. Identify yourself to other driver, give your name, address, phone number and the name of your insurance company.

5. If anyone is injured, call your insurance company agent.

6. File an accident report with the local police department (Mississippi minimum). The accident report should include the name, address, phone number, and driver's license number of all drivers involved, and year of all cars involved. Also include a description of the accident, road conditions, and time of the accident.
