SHOPPING SEVERAL STORES
MAY OR MAY NOT BE ECONOMICAL
Does it pay to do your food shopping in several stores? Sure food prices differ from store to store, but does it pay to shop several stores when you do your weekly food shopping? The answer to these questions depends on several factors. Perhaps the first is the time that you have to do your shopping. Certainly if you work away from home, you have little time to devote to shopping. You must do this chore in as little time as possible so you can get all those hundred and one things done that confront you on your day off.

Another factor is, of course, the distance between stores. When two or more stores are located close together, then it is not too difficult to become acquainted with all the stores and do some comparative shopping. However, if the stores that fit your shopping needs are several miles apart, the cost of gas and wear and tear on the automobile might cancel any savings you might make in shopping.

The amount you can save by shopping several stores depends upon the relative prices in these stores. This you can find out by repeated shopping and by watching food advertisements. In fact, no store is consistently the highest or lowest priced for all food items, but it may be consistently highest or lowest for some items you buy each week.

In total, the answer to the question, "Does it pay to do your shopping in several stores?", depends upon the individual family. For one family where time is especially valuable, the answer may be no. Another family may be able to cut dollars from their food bill by shopping two or three stores. Either way you can save money by recognizing the problems involved and by carefully watching your family's individual situation. Whether you shop one store or several, if your decision is based on a consideration of all the facts, then your family will be dollars ahead in the long run.

The following is a Bicentennial Comment on Rural Mississippians by John W. Lovitt, Program Specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service:

The person who would form a clear opinion of the true Mississippi character must not confine his observations to the few metropolitan areas of our state. He must venture through farms and small towns, visiting county fairs and country funerals and coping with people in their various habits and humors.

Those who judge the Mississippians by observing man living in large cities find he is absorbed in business or distracted by assorted engagements. He has about him a common look of hurry. Wherever he is, he is on the verge of going somewhere else. While he is talking of one subject, his mind is wandering to quite another one. In these traits, he is much like all other urban dwellers.

But in rural Mississippi, there is a different pace and a different pace and a different man. Whether he lives in the piney woods of southern Mississippi or the dark dirt farm lands of the Delta areas, or the red clay hills of northern Mississippi, he is a part of the natural beauty of that terrain. The stillness of his environment prevades his being and gives him the security of living life on nature's terms.

Because of a unique heritage, the inhabitant of rural Mississippi - whether he is the owner of a large estate or something much smaller - has certain enviable characteristics. He appreciates the natural scene; he preserves the quiet stillness of the woods, rivers and dove fields; he cares about a neighbor and finds time to illustrate that caring; he enjoys the intimacies of family life; he exults in the humble comforts; and he works with whatever is at hand and calmly accepts the embellishments which his hands have spread around him. These features are representative of the true character of rural Mississippians. These traits evince homebred virtues that speak deeply for the moral fibre of our state.

In rural Mississippi, as in no other American locale, man still depicts a home-sweet-home scene which now is both a remembrance of and a benediction to the tradition upon which America was founded.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I am researching families by the name of Nix who were early settlers of Tishomingo County. At the moment my main objective is to determine the parents of Pleasant (Ped) Nix who was born in Alabama and married his first cousin Sarah Nix in Tishomingo County in March, 1856. Family story has it that these cousins had not grown up knowing each other but Pleasant came from Alabama to visit Mississippi relatives, met and soon married his cousin. They went to live in Alabama and remained there until after the Civil War, when about 1867 they moved to Tishomingo County.

Pleasant's death certificate (Calhoun County, 1917) shows his parents as a "blob" on father's name that could be Ab or Alf and his mother's maiden name as Hamilton. Early Alabama marriage records had revealed in 1827 the marriage of Absalom Nix and Martha Hamilton. Besides Absalom we have found several other men in the same area of Alabama (all born in Georgia) with Biblical names: Aaron, Moses, and Ezekiel plus a William we think is Sarah's father. Their ages on various records make it possible for them to all be brothers. Later Aaron, Moses, and Ezekiel and William all appear in census records for various Northeast Mississippi counties.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG MAN - Representative Richard Clark (R) recently received the 1975 Outstanding Young Man Award presented by the Iuka Jaycees. The award is presented annually to the young man, who is judged to have done the most for Iuka. Rep. Clark represented Iuka in the State Three Outstanding Young Men competition at Natchez. Shown presenting the award to Rep. Clark is Jaycee project chairman, Harmon McGill, Jr.

Also on 1846 and 1857 Tishomingo County tax rolls we find an Alfred Franklin Nix. He also appears on some census rolls. While his birth state is given as Tennessee we are intrigued by the fact that Pleasant named his first son (fourth child) Franklin (Daniel Franklin Clinton Nix, my husband's grandfather) though we have not been able to connect these two men.

My request to you is for information regarding a Genealogical Society in Tishomingo County, a written history of Tishomingo County, or early newspapers that might have had obituaries for some of these old settlers. Could you refer my letter to someone who might be able to give me this information? I am enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and will be most grateful for any help.

Yours truly,
Jean M. Nix

Dear Editor:

This method of tornado detection might prove to be worthwhile:

TORNADO WARNING DEVICES
When a tornado warning has been broadcast for your area you can use your TV or radio as a warning device. The following will tell you how.

USING YOUR TV SET
FIRST - warm up your TV set and tune in Channel 13 and darken the screen to almost black (using the brightness control).

SECOND - Turn to Channel 2 and leave the volume control down. Your tornado detection device is now in operation.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG FARMER - Jim Carson (R) recently received the 1975 Iuka Outstanding Young Farmer Award presented by the Iuka Jaycees. The award is presented annually to the young farmer in Iuka who is judged to use the best farming techniques. Carson represented Iuka in the State Outstanding Farmer competition at Wood and placed third state. Shown presenting award to Carson is Iuka Community Involvement President George Yow.

It works because every TV set has Channel 2 at 55 megacycles.

Lightning and tornadoes generate a signal near this frequency which overrides the brightness control. Channel 13 is at the high end of the frequency band and is not affected. This is why the darkness must be set on that channel.

USING YOUR RADIO
Use a portable radio for emergency instructions and in case of power failure. If the radio is tuned to the 55 cycle band, lightning will cause intermittent static. A will cause steady static.

Most homes have the warning devices. It will well to clip these instructions and keep them on hand the tornado season.

It has to — and soon. Because in a few decades we're going to run out of natural gas and oil. So we must start to put more of our eggs in a different energy basket now. Coal and nuclear generated electricity is our best hope for an energy-abundant future.

Depending more on electricity now will mean we can stretch our supplies of gas and oil for essential uses — for airplane fuel, for use in industry.

Depending more on coal and nuclear generated electricity and using that electricity efficiently can give us an

Card Of Thanks

I would like to take this means to thank the many people who were so kind to me during my stay in Tishomingo County Hospital.

The visits, cards, flowers and gifts will always be remembered.

A special thanks to Dr. Segars and Dr. Goyer and the nursing staff at Tishomingo County Hospital.

Dorothy Clark

CARD OF THANKS

God has promised to supply all our needs, according to His riches in glory, and He never fails to keep any of His promises.

When Dad was stricken with cancer, God not only supplied the medical attention needed, but He also provided kind and compassionate doctors and nurses who made him feel that they really cared for him. He also needed faithful and cheerful friends, and God sent many people to visit him and tell him what was happening outside that hospital room. He was badly in need of spiritual food and guidance, and God sent faithful ministers to pray and talk to him.

When God willed to take Dad to be with Him in heaven, He continued to use the same people to supply the needs of the family during their time of sorrow. The cards sent and the words spoken were comforting, the flowers were beautiful, the food delicious and your prayers were priceless. Thank you for all of these, and may God take each deed and multiply it a hundred-fold and return it unto each of you is our prayer.

The family of Lealon Belue

We pray for the Lord's richest blessing on each of you. We love you all.

Honey Sunday

All Mississippians are encouraged to support "Honey Sunday '76", an annual mental health fund-raising project of the Mississippi Jaycees to be held statewide April 11, 1976. Jelly-in 10-ounce reusable mugs, will be sold by participating Jaycee chapters for a $1.00 contribution. The method of sales will vary in each community, but the purpose is the same -- to raise money for the Jaycee Evaluation Center at Ellisville State School and the Evaluation Center at the North Mississippi Retardation Center at Oxford.

Both centers provide broad professional services in the area of diagnosis of the child's problem. These services are rendered to any resident of Mississippi, upon request, at no cost to the family.

Your local Jaycee chapter will provide further information and details concerning their "Honey Sunday" campaign and will be calling for help from all citizens in your community.

LOCAL ROTARIANS TO GATHER IN SENATOBIA

A number of Rotarians from the Rotary Club of Iuka are scheduled to leave soon for the Rotary District 680 Conference in Senatobia, Mississippi on April 2 & 3, 1976.

The delegation, led by Mr. W. S. Brown, President of the local Rotary Club, will participate in plenary sessions, group discussions and other activities designed to further the program of Rotary.

The group will explore new opportunities for service projects related to the theme of Rotary International President Ernesto Imbassahy de Mello -- "To Dignify the Human Being." Such projects might involve community improvement, youth programs, strengthening business ethics and furthering friendly international relations.

They will also hear addresses from Dr. Andrew Holt, President Emeritus of the University of Tennessee, and Dr. Jack Averitt, of Statesboro, Georgia, special representative of Mr. Imbassahy.

H. Kirk Moore, Jr., an attorney, from Senatobia, Miss., will preside over the conference in his capacity as Rotary District Governor. The conference will also nominate a district governor to serve in 1976-77. His election will take place at the International Convention in New Orleans, La., U.S.A., in June, 1976.

The group will also carry progress reports on projects underway locally.

DR. AKINS SPEAKS TO BURNSVILLE BIOLOGY CLASS

Recently students in Mrs. Sue Bain's biology class at Burnsville enjoyed a very informative discussion by Dr. Charles Akins.

The need to consider a career was emphasized before Dr. Akins began his discussion which included information regarding laboratory technology of various types, autopsy, dental hygienist, and nursing.

Dr. Akins is presently associated with Drs. Cosby and Coker. He is a native of Tennessee and a graduate of University of Tennessee Medical School.

Students certainly appreciated the time Dr. Akins gave to help them by serving as a resource speaker.

LIBRARY NEWS

Free people plus free libraries equal information power.

That's the slogan for Mississippi's 1976 National Library Week. And how true it is!

Together, Mississippi's libraries - public, school, academic and special - serve all kinds of people in all kinds of ways, giving power to the people - information power - instead of only to a chosen few!

The library is your local freedom-place. It's the place where -- You can learn a foreign language, a new craft, how to plant a garden or how to cook a meal all by yourself. You can ask your own questions and come up with your own answers. You can make decisions for you and your family, reading different opinions before deciding a plan of action.

The library offers this and much more through its many books, magazines, films, and records. In addition to these materials, the Iuka Public Library provides copy machine service, many out-of-town telephone directories, large print books (on a limited scale), many college catalogues, and services to the blind or handicapped through the State Library Commission in Jackson.

1976 National Library Week April 4-10 would be an opportunity time to pay a visit to your local library. And a great way to observe America's Bicentennial. Be a freedom-worker. Take advantage of all the services your local library has to offer you and your family.

There will be a variety of activities at the Iuka Public Library during 1976 National Library Week. The public is urged to visit the library to see what's in store during the annual observance.

ASC Farm News

By Ellett N. Allen, County Executive Director

The Tishomingo County ASCS Office is in the process of accepting request for cost-share assistance through the Forestry Incentive Program (FIP). The sign-up will continue through March 31, 1976. This FIP program is better known as "John Stennis Forestry Program".

The main emphasis of this program will be to help small landowners reforest their cut-over land. To be eligible, a farmer must not own over 500 acres of wooded land. There are two practices in the county program to assist farmers, namely: (1) the practice of planting trees including site preparation, if necessary; (2) the other assists farmer in improving a stand of trees to increase the productivity of the stand.

The local Forest Service will provide technical assistance in developing a Forest Management Plan for each participant. The rate of cost-sharing will be approximately 75% of eligible cost of performing the practice. Time is the main element now. If you are interested in doing some forest work be sure to contact the ASCS Office or Gary Elliott, County Forestry, at once.

NOTE: These practices can be signed for now and completed this summer and fall.

PAYMENT LIMITATION FOR COTTON, FEED GRAIN AND WHEAT PROGRAMS

The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 provides for a $20,000 payment limitation for each "person" under one or more of the annual programs for cotton, feed grain, and wheat. The determination of a "person" for the application of this limitation under 1976 programs will be based on conditions that exist as of March 1, 1976, Scottie Dean, Chairman of the Tishomingo County ASC Committee, stated today.

Producers that might be affected by the limitation cannot be approved for payment until they have furnished all details in writing regarding their farming operations. The details should include ownership of land, corporations, trusts, partnerships, operating agreements, leases, etc., and any other matters having a bearing on the application of the payment limitation rules. This is necessary, Mr. Dean said, so that a determination can be made of the individuals, entities, etc., that will be considered as a "person" for payment limitation purposes.

Anyone who may be affected by this limitation is invited to contact their local ASCS office for complete details.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE IN JOB CORPS

Charles Smith, manager of the Corinth Office of the Mississippi State Employment Service, announced today that additional openings are now available to individuals interested in the Job Corps. This opportunity to learn a vocational skill or to acquire additional education, is open to school drop-outs between the ages of 16 and 21 years. Training is available at no cost to the individual or his family, with transportation, room and board, medical and dental care, work clothing and monthly spending allowances provided by the Job Corps Center.

Smith stated that the Job Corps can create a new environment for the drop-out, where he can learn a skill or trade at his own speed with the aid of individual instruction and counseling. Smith emphasized this could be the beginning of a successful career and an acceptance of a more meaningful role in the world of work. A total of 42 individuals from the Corinth Center Area have been recruited for the Job Corps since the beginning of the fiscal year, which started on July 1, 1975.

According to Smith, there remains a large number of individuals in this area who are in need of the training and services available through the Job Corps. He asked that anyone who knows of individuals qualified for this program, please contact the nearest office of the Mississippi State Employment Service.

TVA Rate Decline Continues

TVA's power system fuel and purchased power expenses dipped again last month, and this will mean a decline of 60 cents per 1,000 kilowatt-hours in power charges for April, the agency said today.

The April decline is the sixth in seven months for the charges that reflect changes in TVA fuel and purchased power expense, after a period when these expenses had shown large increases. Charges in April will be down by $2.61 per 1,000 kilowatt-hours since last September.

For electric heating consumers, this small decline in April comes in addition to much larger drops in electric bills from recent meter readings covering the period of mild weather that has prevailed since early February. In areas of the Tennessee Valley where electric heating customers saw drastic increases in power consumption and electric bills from unusually cold weather in January, the recent mild weather is bringing decreases that are just as striking, according to information from local electric systems.

The April reduction will bring the monthly bill for a home using 1,000 kilowatt-hours to about $20 to $25, depending on local rate schedules. This is roughly a typical level for use for many homes, not including power requirements for electric heat, which can be several times that high.

Last week the TVA Board completed its quarterly review of overall power system cost and revenue estimates. The Board made no new rate adjustment for the April-June quarter, but TVA pointed out that charges to consumers will continue to rise or fall each month, reflecting monthly changes in fuel and purchased power expenses.

By W. G. Hardin Corinth Manager

March 10, 1876, was a historic moment in Bell System history. On that day in Boston, Alexander Graham Bell accidentally spilled acid on his clothing and, in his excitement, called out the first intelligible sentence transmitted by telephone.

Our nation's centennial observance in 1876 actually played a significant role in the successful introduction of Bell's invention. At the Philadelphia Centennial exposition in June of 1876 the telephone first attracted public attention and acclaim and soon changed the way the world communicated.

To celebrate the telephone's first century of progress and achievement, there will be a wide-ranging series of observances and special events during 1976 which include:

--a series of open houses for telephone employees, their families, and telephone customers in many of the communities we serve.

--a postage meter imprint, which you'll be seeing on your bills from time to time.

--a commemorative stamp issued by the U. S. Postal Service this month.

--special displays. During the coming months you'll be hearing about other events which focus attention on the significance of Bell's invention and the role its development has played in the improvement of the quality of life throughout the world.

 If you haven't already made plans to visit historic and scenic sites provided for in the "Passport to Mississippi History" program, start now! This project, conducted in conjunction with the nation's Bicentennial celebration, will increase your awareness of Mississippi's rich heritage and picturesque beauty. Hundreds of stores, businesses, museums, and other sites in historic or scenic areas have been designated "Passport Stops." Visitors will be able to pick up a Passport to Mississippi at a local library and have it stamped with the individual illustration portraying the significance of the site. Use your passport to enjoy history, beauty, and enjoyment that only Mississippi can offer.

who affect their kids as well as

This is the first in a series of articles to be published by the Iuka Jaycees.

to create awareness and understanding about responsible drinking, irresponsible drinking, and the illness of alcoholism.

Within the context of a responsible drinking theme, Operation Threshold is providing Jaycees and the American people with guidelines about the responsible use and non-use of the substance, alcohol. Attention is also given to the nature and scope of alcohol misuse and alcoholism in American society.

Threshold never encourages or discourages drinking, but rather proposes responsible drinking for those who choose to drink. It's a personal private decision each person should make for himself.

Operation Threshold is the Jaycees' newest youth program.
Most young people learn how to drink from adults and parents and older friends through imitation and identification. Unfortunately, many parents and adults don't know how to drink responsibly, nor do they provide young adults with sensible drinking habits, attitudes and behavior. Consequently, more

The members of the Tish-omingo Homemakers Club met March 18, in the home of Mrs.
Gladys Bickerstaff. Eleven members were present and two new members added.

The president, Mrs. Norton, gave the thought for the month—
"You never get a second chance to make a good first impression."

The hymn used was "Blessed Assurance" followed by a very impressive devotional by Mrs.
Mable Byram - title "Invisible Price Tags." Mrs. Marie Edwards gave the prayer.

The minutes were read by the secretary.

The focus topic was discussed by Miss Effie Green. Namely "Family Economic Adjustments."

The goals were checked and the president made these important announcements:

1. Supervisor's Luncheon
2. Dress Revue
3. Remember, April is Clean-Up Month
4. Quilting Fair. The club moved and seconded quilting and displaying a Bicentennial quilt for the Quilting Fair April 6, which is to be held in Golden City Hall.

Mrs. Bickerstaff displayed a lovely quilt, and Mrs. Norton showed the club some very attractive pant suits, skirts and blouses she had made.

The door prize, which was a lovely piece of ceramic, was won by Mrs. Mae Casper.

Very tasty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Casper.

The new members are Mrs.
Alecia Thomas and her daughter, Ilene.

Hostesses for April are Mrs.
Marie Edwards and Miss Effie Green.

RCDC

The Midway RCDC met at the Community Center March 22.

Mr. Edward Wynn, vice-president, called the meeting to order. After a short business session, the Midway 4-H Club took charge of the program with 4-H leader, Mrs. Barbara Burcham, and youth aide, Mrs.
Susan Barrett. Rhonda Bur-cham gave an inspiring devotional. Gary Burcham introduced the 4-H members, who read their winning essays. They were as follows: Tammy Fuller, "America I Believe"; Mildred Bennett "The Land of Freedom"; Jackie Mann "American Revolution"; and Teresa Crawford "The Bicentennial Pig". Teresa narrated as she showed interesting posters with pictures of the various breed of pigs, representing the pork industry in America through the years.

We were glad to have Mr.
and Mrs. Percie Stricklen as guests. During Mr. Stricklen's talk he commended the 4-H Club for the fine job they are doing here in the county. He also distributed informative garden booklets to the group.
We welcome the 13 visitors and invite them to attend our regular meetings which are held on the fourth Monday night of each month at 7:00 p.m.

After the meeting adjourned
the hostess for the month, Mrs.
Barbara Burcham, served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held April 26 at the Community Center. Mrs. L. E. Skinner is hostess for the month. The program will be on education with Mr. Alvia Blakney, Superintendent of Education, as the MEC, the state chamber of commerce, is a nonprofit organization of business and professional leaders. The program is a part of the Council's contribution to the nation's Bicentennial celebration.

"Mississippians should realize that we have as much to celebrate in this Bicentennial as any of the original 13 colonies," he said. "It's our birthday, too. The Passport Stops across the state will be able to emphasize this to travelers."

At a Passport Stop, visitors will be able to obtain an official "passport" which they can have stamped with the individual stamp of that particular stop and also have it stamped at each other Passport Stop which they visit.

"I want to encourage Mississippians to participate in this program," said McIntire. "We are still accepting applications for Passport Stops."

For information on the Passport to Mississippi History Program, interested persons should write the MEC office in Jackson.

Correction

In last week's issue of the Tishomingo County News concerning IHS Beta Club News it was erroneously reported that Mrs. Peggy Ray of the American Legion Auxiliary presented the Iuka Beta Club with an American Flag and a Bicentennial Flag. Mrs. Ray was representing the VFW Auxiliary in this presentation.

Fourth grade students in the Belmont classrooms of Mrs. Byrd Moore, Mrs. Shirley Harrison, and Mrs. Alice Banks enjoyed a field trip to Piggly Wiggly. Each student had a grocery list and found prices of each item wanted at the store. Instructors could use this trip as a way of fusing CE into English as well as math. Some of the teachers planned follow-up work which included thank you notes from students to grocery store managers and a paragraph summarizing their experience.

Another interesting event was the appearance of the Belmont fire truck brought to the elementary campus by Harold Holley and John Timbs, members of the fire department. Many explanations were given to students by Mr. Holley regarding equipment and use of the truck.

Seventh graders at Burnsville in Mr. Larry Green's classes are discussing "The World of Jobs". Students response is excellent in this group.

Math students of Mr. Houston Luttrell, Tishomingo, Mr. Steve Cain, Belmont, have participated in discussions related to world of work.

Resource speakers in the senior high groups have included: Mrs. Lorene Byram, Food Service Supervisor, spoke to Burnsville Home Economics Girls and Mrs. Margaret Carson about her occupational role. George Gilpin, Tishomingo State Park Manager, presented a slide presentation on parks in Mississippi and related information about different types of managerial positions in recreational field.

Mrs. Jeannie Wall, Belmont Cosmetologist, gave an interesting demonstration to the Tishomingo Home Economics students, and Miss Viola Alexander on hair styles for different individuals and other interesting information about training required for the job, salary, desirable and undesirable aspects of being a cosmetologist.

Mr. Chester Dawson, Sheriff of Tishomingo County, on the request of Mr. Howard Frederick, discussed laws, demonstrated an intoximeter, and gave numerous facts about responsibilities of his job in law enforcement.

CRESAP TO LEAVE HOUSTON FOOTBALL

Roy Cresap, head football coach at Houston High School for the past year, has resigned, probably to enter private business.

A six-year veteran in the profession, which has included stints in basketball and baseball, Cresap came to Houston from Delta State University where he directed the intramural program.

He coached five years at Saltillo High School, having had a role in the baseball program which produced three state championship teams.

Cresap is a Saltillo High School and Delta State University graduate, having both a bachelor of arts and a masters' degree.

"I have enjoyed by associations here," he said, "and now I am looking forward to entering private business somewhere in Lee County."

Houston High School returns to the Little League reference in the fall, after competing in the Tombigbee several seasons.

Cresap is the son of and Blanch Cresap, of Miss.; and is the grand Mrs. Mary Cresap and C. S. Cresap.

is now a dull Paden.

If it weren't for the widow women and the gossips it would be even duller. Paden is very famous for so numerous a number of widows and gossips. It's so bad that bachelors keep out. It's safer.

About one mile south of what is now Paden, Mississippi is a small creek called Mill Creek. At this time it was thickly settled forest, with large timbers, untouched by the ugly mess that humans make.

Before settlement you can imagine how beautiful it must have been to Alexander Paden when he first saw the place. As he could have been standing on the hill, where Charley Paden's house now stands, looking down into the valley where the small creek flows its winding way there, into the head of the Tombigbee River. He thought a dam there, a house here, mills over there, etc.

He arrived in the year 1848 from South Carolina. He built a cotton gin, mills to make flour and corn meal, and to card wool. All these mills were run by water power from the small Mill Creek or Spring Creek. A school was built where R. B. Young's house now stands.

He prospered and his community and town grew. About at its height of prosperity the State of Mississippi succeeded from the Union January, 1861.

All States leaving the Union met and chose a President, Jefferson Davis, of Mississippi, and established a constitution.

The Civil War was now well on its way. Mississippi supplied the Confederacy with 80,000 troops. The main battles of North Mississippi were: Corinth, Iuka, Port Gibson, Holly Springs, and Harrisburg. General Nathan B. Forrest displayed his famous Cavalry tactics in defeating a superior Union force at Brice's Crossroads. His secret for winning battle was coined as "get thar fustest with the mostest men".

Civil War records show that a skirmish was fought at "Peyton's Mill" on September 19, 1862. It is thought that this skirmish was actually fought at Paden's Mill.

Col. W. C. Falkner, of Ripley, was commanding the First Mississippi Partisan Rangers. They were attacked by a force of about 1000 Federals. Two Confederate soldiers, of Ripley, are buried at Paden's Mill. Their names are: James L. Childers, born April 1, 1817, was killed September 21, 1862. His epitaph reads: A brave spirit lies buried here who died a glorious death in his country's cause. The second was Madison W. Smith, born February 10, 1816, was killed September 19, 1862. His epitaph reads: Nobly he fell whilst fighting for our liberty.

Later during the war, both the Paden's home and the mills were burned. Two other mills in that area were also burned. The post office at Paden's Mill has been called Burnt Mills. The post office was located in a store, where a pasture is now, just across Mills Creek on the left of the road traveling south.

At this time Mrs. Bell Buchanan was postmaster. W. S. Stevens lived where B. O. Ward does at the present and owned a store about 1/4 mile west of there. This is where Jim Shafford spent many a night. He picked up mail at 12:15 p.m. and was on his way. He received $39.00 per month for 11 trips. Through all kinds of weather he would go on horseback. The weather would get cold and snow knee deep and he would never see a fire. He was supposed to be back at 6:15 but impossible because of the distance for the mail to go to Iuka.

Usually he came back to the Stevens store, where he unsaddled, ate supper, then walked to Burnt Mills to take the mail. He returned, spent the night, and started all over again the next day.

The Star Route was by horseback from Iuka to Burnt Mills. He left mail, picked up some, and was on his way to the county line about where Johnny Neil's place now is, where he changed horses and was on his way to Booneville. He returned the same way only vice-versa. John Barnett kept the extra horse for the Star Route rider.

The Railroad rightway was started in 1906 from Corinth and from Haleyville. A mixed train was soon started from Corinth to Red Bay. It was completed in May, 1908. A boxcar was used as the depot and Mrs. Henry Robinson was the first person to buy a ticket.

The Post Office was then on the move. It moved to what is now Mrs. Lilly Donaldson's home, where R. Walter Owens was postmaster. It then moved to Steven's Store, to Robinson's Store, back to Steven's Store, then to the present site of the Post Office. The present postmaster is Mamie McAllister, who took over about 1938 or 1939.

A hotel was on its way. It was built by Kenny Whitfield, a depot operator. It was run first by Jim Walker from the Tennessee River area. The Shackelfords bought the furniture and leased the hotel during the early 1900's. It has four rooms upstairs but as many as 16 drummers would sleep there in one night.

During Paden's peak it had a population of about 340 or 350. Eleven stores, a large warehouse, a depot that always kept two agents, one for freight and the other for passengers. It was high enough that horses were put underneath when it rained.

Paden was now on the boom with sawmills all around, some cutting 10,000 and 12,000 feet of lumber a day. On a single Saturday Doc, Clark took in $1600 at his feed store, C. F. Robinson owned the smallest store in Paden at that time and his Saturday goal was $800.00 and they never came short. Through the week $150 was considered a dull day, and on Mondays the average was $450.00. He paid his workers an average of $1.00 per day. It is estimated that at least $10,000 was spent every Saturday.

The livery stable was run by Bob Floyd, who owned six horses and three rigs or buggies. They were always kept busy.

There were four passenger trains compared with three today. All trains stopped at Paden to get water. The depot was taken apart in 1945 and the water tank a couple of years later.

School started in October of 1908. Teachers were: Enoch Cunningham, who later became a lawyer and died just last year at Booneville, and Mrs. Laura Johnson, of Corinth. An additional was added in 1923 to its present size. A gym was built in 1949 with their first game with Tremont, which Paden won by a margin of at least 14 to 20 points. Two of the school superintendents of Paden High have become County Superintendents of Education. They were: Alvie Blue and Mr. O. T. Eaton.

The Masonic Hall was built in 1913. There was a large store in the late 1940's or early '50's. It blew away the church building, Masonic building and several houses. New ones were rebuilt. The Masonic building was named for Robert Smith, No. 412, Paden No. 351.

Lee Casper came to Paden to bring excitement again. He started with a store and cafe. Later a youth club, dance, auction, and then a dance again. Now a cafe, grocery, and service station.

Paden was named for Doctor Thomas G. Paden, Alexander Paden's son. The doctor was born in 1844 and died in 1910. Charles Paden, one of Dr. Paden's sons, was the only one to live around Paden. He died in 1963.

The remainder of Paden's Mill or Burnt Mills burned early Sunday morning, December 11, 1966. The fire lasted from 12 or 12:30 a.m. until about 2:30 a.m. It caught from Albert Aldridge's house trailer, which caught from a gas stove inside the trailer. It was parked within a few feet of the house, so was easily to catch it fire too.

All that's left of Paden's Mill is the foundations of some of the buildings that stood there along with a couple of graves.

Paden is no longer the booming, lively place it once was. Now it is barely dragging, but it still has popularity for its widow women's determination.
