NICK PHILLIPS ON THE JOB AT ROWAN OAK — Nick Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Phillips, of Iuka, once had to calm down two screaming girls who must have thought he was the ghost of William Faulkner. A graduate student at the University of Mississippi, Phillips works as host and tour guide of Rowan Oak, home of the Nobel Prize winning author. "As I stood at the door waiting for the girls to come in, one peeked through the screen door and saw me standing in the shadows," Phillips said. "She must have thought I was a ghost or something because she began screaming and running toward the road. And then the other followed her, screaming. I had to run after them to tell them it was all right to come in." Phillips' interest in literature and Faulkner makes his job more appealing, and this knowledge is certainly a plus in his studies as a graduate student in English. But there is still another side to Phillips — he's also an Ole Miss law student. The unique study combination is unusual but functional, according to the busy student, because he plans to use the law degree to further a teaching career. "I just wanted the variety," said the slow talking scholar. Phillips graduated from Ole Miss in 1973 with a B.A. degree in English. He started his five year of law school in the fall of 1973 and worked on it exclusively for a year. The next semester he began a mixed program of law and English with the encouragement of Robert Khayat, professor of law, and Dr. James Webb, professor emeritus of English. "The thing I like about studying law is the different facets of life you get into," he said. Phillips reported that the law students have made field trips to Whitfield, Parchman, and have examined lie-detecting machines during the past semester. Nick has an equal respect for another state institution. "I admire the junior college system in Mississippi and I hope my law degree will help me get a teaching job in it," he said. Now Phillips' job is to serve as tour guide for the Faulkner home, and he finds four hours a day in his schedule for the work he enjoys very much. "I'd have to be crazy not to like Faulkner," he said, "but my favorite is Washington Irving." Phillips is doing his Master's thesis on the early American writer and will receive his degree this May when it is approved. He will then be able to concentrate solely on his law degree which he hopes to earn in May of 1978.

Training Program

Dr. Robert Head, Extension Service Area Entomologist, will conduct a Cotton Insect Scouting Training program at the County Fair Building in Iuka on Tuesday night, March 1, 1977, at 7:00 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting is to train farmers to scout their cotton fields and know the number and kind of insects in the field each week.

Cotton insect control is a must for top yields. Everyone interested in cotton production is encouraged to attend this important meeting Tuesday night, March 1, at 7:00 p.m.

Firewood Available

TVA is continuing its policy this winter of allowing individuals to cut firewood on TVA lands at no charge, although a permit is required.

Cutting permits are available from TVA Division of Property and Services' offices in Morristown, Paris, and Athens, Tennessee, and in Florence, Alabama. TVA representatives will be happy to direct individuals to areas where wood is available for private use.

The agency cautions, however, that wood should not be cut on TVA lands without a permit. The permits are used to avoid timber cutting on unauthorized areas where timber is being left standing for special purposes or may already have been sold to contractors.

went down an embankment, sheared off some trees and overturned. Local residents heard the crash but no one investigated. Mr. Hollingsworth was found about 6 a.m. Saturday, lying on the ground outside the car, and was taken to Tishomingo County Hospital by ambulance. After being exposed to the elements all night, he miraculously escaped major injury, suffering only two broken ribs, facial lacerations and a hurt back. Photo by Tina

Iuka Man Burned In Firey Accident

A boat slid from its trailer on I-10 in Baton Rouge, La., Sunday afternoon, February 20, starting a fiery chain reaction that left two motorists severely burned.

Rodger Wingo, 21, of Iuka, Miss., and Bonnie Gwatney, 21, of Booneville, Miss., were both reported in fair condition at Earl K. Long Hospital. Medical personnel said the couple was sent first to Baton Rouge General Hospital where the burn unit is located, but they were not allowed off the ambulance because they did not establish that they had insurance and were transferred several miles to Earl K. Long, a charity hospital.

Police said the accident began when the bow rope on a boat being hauled broke. The boat slid off its trailer and was struck by Wingo's auto. Wingo put on his emergency flashers, but a moment later another car crested the overpass and slammed into the rear of his car, causing it to burst into flames.

Wingo got out of the car and then pulled the young woman out. One law enforcement officer on the scene said the two victims were rolling down the hill at I-10 and Acadian Thruway trying to put out the fire on their bodies when he first drove up. The burns were so severe that flesh was peeling from parts of the bodies of both victims. He said Wingo had lost a great deal of flesh from his hands from clawing his way away from the burning wreckage when he fell to the pavement after rescuing his companion. Both received severe burns to their hands, faces, arms and legs.

Officers booked the driver of the car that hit them with driving while intoxicated and negligent injury.

At press-time Rodger was reported as improving in the Earl K. Long Hospital by a family spokesman.

ARREST REPORT

The following arrests were made in Tishomingo County from February 14 through February 20th: D.U.I., 1; D.W.I., 3; warrants, 2; possession of whiskey, 1; possession of beer, 1; public drunkenness, 7; grand larceny, 1; petty larceny, 3; resisting arrest, 1; suspicion, 4; reckless driving, 5; and no driver's license, 1.

ACCIDENT VICTIM — Baton Rouge City Police Officers bandage the burns of Rodger Wingo, of Iuka, Miss., after he was involved in a fiery accident on I-10 Sunday afternoon, Feb. 20th. After getting out of the burning car, Wingo pulled his passenger, Bonnie Gwatney, 21, of Booneville, Miss., from the flames. The accident began when the bow rope of a boat broke and the boat slid off its trailer and into the path of another car.

Iuka Methodist Parish Supports TV Blackout

Iuka United Methodist Parish Churches have joined the growing list in support of TURN THE TELEVISION OFF WEEK, February 27 - March 5.

TURN THE TELEVISION OFF WEEK (TTOW) is a nationwide protest of excessive violence and sex on television. Began by Donald E. Wildmon, a United Methodist minister in Southaven, Mississippi, TTOW has received national publicity from both newspapers and radio.

Sunday, February 27, is to be observed as a national Day of Prayer for those responsible for network programming and advertising.

"We know of no other group of people who have so disregarded their moral responsibility to their fellow Americans," Wildmon said.

"We are asking that a prayer for these people to assume their moral responsibility be uttered in every place of worship in America."

"A typical child of 15 years of age has seen 13,000 people die on television," the minister stated. "Our country is the most violent civilized country in the world. There can be no doubt that violence and the corresponding decay of morality can be attributed in a great part to network television programming," he said.

"We invite concerned churches, groups, and individuals across the nation to join in turning the television off the week of February 27 - March 5."

The following news release has gained the support of The Iuka United Methodist Parish Council. The Parish Director, Rev. Grady Bailey, Jr., on behalf of the Council urges not only Methodists, but all concerned persons to unite in this effort to express our protest,

NOTES*HEART DISEASE & SMOKING

Over half of all deaths are due to heart and blood vessel ailments. And yet each of us can develop habits which will help reduce our risk from heart disease.

One habit is not smoking. If you don't smoke, don't start. Are there good reasons to stop smoking other than increasing your risk of heart disease? Consider this. Smoking provides NO nourishment and costs money. Whether to smoke or not is a personal choice. It's your business. But if you continue to smoke it's bound to effect others.

Your children are more likely to smoke if you do. They will probably start at an earlier age and therefore smoke more. Death is more likely to strike more smokers than non-smokers between the ages of 40 and 50.

DANGER SIGNALS OF CREDIT

Debts add financial problems to the problem families already have. As the use of debt increases, so does the negative social consequences of its use. Play safe -- guard against the danger signals of debt. You are overheard in debt when you are late with payments; if occasionally you skip a payment to have money for regular living expenses; or you take out loans to pay off old loans.

If you have any of these signals, beware! You are overextended. Try to cut your debts by using less credit. Work toward spending less and less.

LOST CREDIT CARDS

If your credit card is lost or stolen, it's up to you to notify the credit card issuer immediately.

During business hours, telephone the nearest office of the credit card issuer or the company's toll-free number you can call at any hour. Then send a registered letter (or the postcard some card issuers provide you) to the nearest office.

During the evening or weekend, if there is no 24-hour toll-free number to call, send a telegram to the nearest office of the card company followed by a registered letter.

Until you report the loss of your card, you're responsible for the first $50 charged on each credit card you have. If you report your loss before any unauthorized purchases are made, you won't be held responsible for any of them.

The company will stop payment on any subsequent charges and will issue you a new card.

NOTESBy Percle B. StricklenFORAGE TESTING

Mississippi's dairy farmers are passing up an opportunity to improve their feeding program if they don't take advantage of the forage testing service provided by Mississippi State University. Samples of hay and forage may be sent in for a nutrient analysis and the results used to balance the ration of milking herds. The nutrient analysis will tell the dairyman what additional nutrients are needed to get the highest production from his herd. It can also help reduce the feed cost in a dairy operation by supplying information on duplication of feed elements.

An individual can have up to five forage samples per year tested free of charge. Sample bags and directions for taking forage samples are available at your County Extension Service office.

SPINNER TYPEFERTILIZER SPREADERS

Most fertilizer spread today is applied with spinner type spreaders. When a spinner type spreader is in use the fertilizer travel from the hopper to the spinners by means of a conveyor belt or chain. It is then thrown into the air by the spinner disks and falls onto the cropland or pasture.

If a spinner type spreader is not properly adjusted, too much fertilizer is likely to be applied to parts of the field and too little in other areas. The result of this type spreading may be seen in fields of small grain that have streaks of tall plants and other strips of low growing plants. Fertilizer costs too much to be wasted this way. Check your spreader and make sure it's properly adjusted.

FARROWING MANAGEMENT

Good management at farrowing can mean healthier pigs and more profits for a hog producer. It's always best for the producer to be with a sow during farrowing. This way he can see that each pig has a nursing spot and begins nursing properly. It's also a good practice to clip the navel cord to about two to four inches long and dip it in iodine to prevent infection.

Other jobs that help get baby pigs off to a good start include docking their tails to about one-half their original length and ear notching each pig so the litter can be properly identified. It is also important to clean up the area after farrowing and make sure the pigs have clean, dry bedding.

Airman Melvin E. Keeney Jr., son of Mrs. Ruby E. Keeney, of 304 E. Third St., Rolla, Mo., has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the Air Force medical service field.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., and studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Keeney, a 1973 graduate of Rolla High School, attended the University of North Alabama, Muscle Shoals, Ala. His wife, Viki, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cosby, of Route 3, Cherokee, Ala.

THELMA HAD SWINE FLU IN

1918 — Thelma Ross was born October 16, 1905. At the age of 13 she took influenza the last of November, 1918. Her mother, Hattie, thought she caught it from an older cousin at a Thanksgiving school dinner. The people of the community were asked to bring dinner to the two teacher school — Rowland Mills, which is five miles south of Burnsville. This was during World War I. The war ended the 11th month, the 11th day of the month and the 11th hour of the day, 1918, but the soldiers were still overseas and in the camps in the States, of course. After she had been very sick with flu for one week, she sat up a little while in the afternoon. Late in the afternoon there was a severe pain in her chest. She asked her parents to pray for her because she was very sick. All night she suffered and didn't sleep much. The next day the family physician came. Yes, you guessed it, the late Dr. T. P. Haney, of Burnsville, said she had pneumonia. There were no sulfa drugs, no penicillin, nor any kind of antibiotics in those days. An abscess formed on her left lung. Pneumonia was most always fatal. The doctor came in a buggy every day for a long time. He was a good Christian man and he prayed for her. He told Thelma's parents that she would have to have an operation to get the fluid off of her lung. Dr. McRae, of Corinth, came and brought a registered nurse with him by the name of Miss Sadler. The Rosses lived near the Illinois Central Railroad where the "Dood" made a regular stop at Holts Spur. The little passenger train made a round trip from Haleyville, Ala. to Corinth every day. So, the surgeon and nurse got off the train at 2:30 two or three days before Christmas. The patient was put to sleep with ether or chloroform in the large bedroom where the operation was performed. The doctor made an incision of about two inches and removed a small piece of rib. He inserted a tube for the drainage, which was kept there several days. However, the drainage continued until the middle of May. The doctor and nurse returned to Corinth about 5:30 the same day on the "Seminole" which was a large passenger train that ran from Chicago to Florida. That train had to be flagged to get it to stop because it only stopped at larger places like Haleyville, Red Bay and Corinth. Thelma went back to school in the spring. She was married to Eddie Gray in 1927. He passed away November 1, 1974. She is a 1925 graduate of Tishomingo High School. She taught school in this county for 11 years, having received her degree from Mississippi State University in 1957. She now resides near the place where she had flu in 1918. She is the mother of Edwin Gray, guidance counselor at the Manpower School in Corinth. To be sure that Mrs. Gray doesn't get flu again, she took the shot October 15, the first day that it was given in Tishomingo County. She told her family doctor, Dr. Ben Kitchens, of Iuka, about the above story and he thought it was interesting.

4H CLUBBUT WHAT CAN I DO?

Human interactions go on around us constantly. A high school counselor listens carefully to a student's problem. The University Dean's secretary greets a graduate student like a truant third grader. A three-year-old child in the supermarket is slapped in the face when she asks for a penny to put in the gum machine. When nine-year-old boy asks for a few minutes of his father's time, the father gives his undivided attention to the boy, realizing that the print on the evening paper will still be intact long after the boy is asleep.

Daily I have an opportunity to influence the life of someone else. The influence will be positive or negative depending upon how sensitive I am to that person, how aware I am of his situation, and how willing I am to give totally of myself, even if it is only for a moment. Many times, it isn't what I say, but how I say it. Often, it is how I listen. It may be a nod, a wink, or a pat on the back. These are ways which may have a positive effect on someone else's life. There may be a more positive impact

Something Old

ROADS & CEMETERIES
Everyone is interested in hearing or knowing we are to have NEW ROADS, but how many of you remember OLD ROADS.

Roads are so old that we are not sure of their origin. The first roads in the world probably followed trails and paths made by animals. These led from old feeding places to watering holes. Then men began their own trails and paths. Explorers followed these trails as they investigated new lands.

How many Tishomingo Countians remember "Flag Tree

Road"? The first roads all followed the ridges as much as possible. This Flag Tree Road is a few miles south of Paden and may have passed through Paden but now even though the sign is still there it is what I would say "forgotten by man." On February 13, 1977, in the afternoon, I found myself, a friend, and a nearby settler, walking up this old road (which had not been traveled by wagon or carriage for many, many years) going to an old cemetery known as "The Owens Graveyard."

According to our guide the old homeplace of Russell O'Bean Owens was near this cemetery, as was the homeplaces of his sons, Oliver, Walden, and John, and members of the family or neighbors are the ones buried here.

The house-sites could easily be located - houseplaces, like old roads seem to never give up in looking like a house-place. Here are found plum trees, scattered about and some of the most beautiful trees (white oak) I have ever seen. We were told that the old wells were still there - one 98 feet deep. We were careful after that - for he said it was uncovered and he had a dog to fall in it several years ago, where he was hunting.

The cemetery had one bought tombstone with the following writing on it: "Mims Leroy, son of W. J. and Katie Mims 8/6 - 1909 - 10/1 - 1910, and seven graves marked with large rocks placed at both head and foot. One such was placed with head-stone north and south. Wouldn't it be interesting if a record of these people could be located. Have we waited too long to want to know about them - who they were and when they died? Do counties keep records of deaths - why not? Here's hoping someone can give us more information on the "Old Flag Tree Road" and more about the "Owens Graveyard".

Surprise Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Bugg, of Iuka, honored their son, Harold, with a surprise birthday dinner on Sunday, February 20, at their home on Highway 25 North.

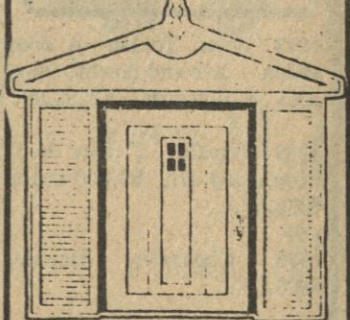

Helping Harold celebrate his 23rd birthday were: Teresa Foster and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Foster, of Selmer, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hammer, of Counce, Tenn.; Lynn Helton, Denise Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Helton and Tammy, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Morris and Raymond Morris, all of Iuka; and Ronnie Morris, from Counce, Tenn.

Harold, who was home from Ole Miss for the weekend, was surprised and delighted with the party given for him.

A berry that grows in West Africa is 3,000 times sweeter than sugar.

Former President Harry Truman so loved to read that by the age of 14 he had finished all the books in the Independence, Missouri library.

growing ministry was the relocation of the church and the construction of a large auditorium to meet its needs.

In September 1969 Bill Penley accepted the call to full-time evangelism. The intervening years have been busy and fruitful. Evangelistic crusades have led him to preach in every quadrant of the United States, including Hawaii, plus four crusades in Alaska. He has carried out his commitment to Christ in Europe, India, Thailand, Japan, Korea, Trinidad, the West Indies, Venezuela, and on China's Kowloon peninsula. He has preached in the Iron Curtain countries of Hungary, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Russia. In 1975 he spent nearly a month preaching in Rhodesia, Africa.

The ministry that began 23 years ago with a 16-year old boy's enthusiastic commitment to serve Jesus Christ led Evangelist. Penley twice around the world. It has matured him and deepened his commitment, and the Lord has blessed his ministry. He enjoys a reputation as an exciting public speaker -- one who particularly understands youth and is effective in high school and college assembly programs.

Bill was invited to be one of the featured speakers at the 1973 North Carolina Statewide Evangelism Conference. In 1974 he was again honored by an invitation to speak to the Evangelists' Conference at the Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas, Texas. He was selected for the 1973 edition of "Who's Who in North Carolina," published by the United States Public Relations Service.

Seventeen years as a pastor give Bill a deep understanding and appreciation for the local church. He describes his preaching as "simple, Bible-centered evangelism," and his theology as "conservatively fundamental with deep respect for the Divine inspiration of the Bible and the person and work of the Holy Spirit."

Reading your meter helps

Some people say, "Why should I learn to read my electric meter? The power company decides what to charge me every month." Well, it's true--your power distributor will keep track of your monthly use even if you don't. But learning to read the meter yourself can have some advantages you've probably never thought of.

Reading your own electric meter once a week--or even once a day--will make you aware of how much electricity you're using as you use it. Many of us don't even think about electricity until we get our monthly bills. And then it's too late. We've sometimes used more than we can afford.

But reading your meter regularly will help you anticipate how much your bill will be at the end of the month. And you'll probably find some ways to cut down on the amount of electricity you're using. You'll think about the electric meter, for instance, when you adjust your heating or cooling thermostat. You'll think about it when you use hot water--for bathing, for washing clothes and dishes. And probably you'll start turning off lights when they aren't needed and the TV when no one is watching.

Because the electric meter is one of the most precisely accurate instruments known, few commodities you buy are measured as accurately as your electricity. In much the same way as a service station gas pump measures gallons of gasoline going into your car's tank, the electric meter at your home measures the kilowatt-hours of electricity you use each month.

The very few times an electric meter is in error it is probably turning too slowly because of dust, ants, or rainwater in its delicate gears.

Stop by your power distributor's office for free booklets that will show you how to read your meter and how to cut down on your electricity use.

Learn to read your meter and to trust it.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

Navy scientists are working on ways of changing the direction of major storms in order to send them to the enemy.

Ground, sea and air operations might be supported by the dissipating of clouds or fog, or by the production of drought or rain. And the creation of low, solid overcasts might be used to conceal troop movements.

But the Lord has been using an arsenal of storms since the days of Noah. Living Psalms 148:8 says, "Fire and hail, snow, rain, wind and weather, all obey Him."

One day the Lord said to Jonah, "Go to Nineveh." But he set out for Tarshish. Did he get there? Oh, no. The Lord let loose a hurricane. The ship threatened to break up. The sailors were frightened.

"It's my fault the storm has struck," cried Jonah. "Throw me overboard." They did, and the sea stopped raging. The Lord ordained a great fish to swallow Jonah, and he spewed him out on dry land. Then Jonah went to Nineveh.

No one is safe in his sinning. Nature obeys Him, if man does not. His arsenal of wind and weather will be used to deal with the disobedient.

When the Lord calls you, obey. It is dangerous to be disobedient.

TISHOMINGOBETAS

Hi!
The Betas have really enjoyed themselves this month, especially their trips to the Beta Convention in Jackson. While there, they toured the Capital, Governor's Mansion, SCHOLARSHIP BOOSTERS — Gifts for the James O. Eastland Scholarships in Law at The University of Mississippi was the subject of discussion at a recent meeting of friends of the United States Senator. Brad Dye (left) of Jackson is chairman of the Gifts Committee, which is raising funds for the endowed scholarships at Ole Miss; Dr. Kelly Segars (center) of Iuka is Tishomingo County chairman; and Dr. Frank Davis of Corinth is chairman of District I, which includes 10 northeast Mississippi counties.

Gifts Committee Organized

A Gifts Committee has been organized by friends of United States Sen. James O. Eastland to raise funds for endowed scholarships in law at The University of Mississippi in honor of the Senator.
"Efforts are being made to give everyone in the state an opportunity to contribute to the James O. Eastland Scholarships in Law, which will assist needy Mississippi students pursuing legal careers," said Brad Dye, of Jackson, state chairman of the Gifts Committee.
"Senator Eastland has emphasized that every person who wants to help with the program, regardless of his or her personal financial situation, be allowed to do so. He wants every one of his friends to be able to help in some way."
First organized last spring, the overall committee has a goal of $2 million for the scholarship fund, to be endowed and managed as a program of The University of Mississippi Foundation. Only income received from the endowment, estimated conservatively to be about $100,000 annually, will be used. The committee has raised over $500,000 in less than a year.
According to Ole Miss Law Center Director Parham Williams, 65 percent of today's law students are working to pay the over $25,000 cost of a legal education. Law faculty members at Ole Miss will review applications and conduct personal interviews for Eastland Scholarships awards.
Dr. Frank Davis of Corinth is chairman of the Gifts Committee for District I. County chairman in District I are Clifford Worsham and Bob Liddon, both of Corinth, Alcorn County; John M. Farese of Ashland, Benton County; Aramis Hawkins

Compulsory Education Bill Gets OK

The Senate Education Committee recommended the approval of a school attendance bill covering children between the ages of 6 and 15 with mandatory attendance provisions to be phased in one grade at a time, starting at the first grade level in the next school year.
The bill, which now goes to the full Senate, was a rewritten version of a compulsory attendance bill passed earlier by the House. The House bill applied to children between the ages of 7 and 13.

Mississippi has not had a compulsory attendance law since an old statute was repealed in the 1950s following the Supreme Court's desegregation ruling. Numerous attempts have been made in recent years to pass such legislation but without success. The bill was approved by the committee by a vote of 7-3.
The measure would establish a statewide system of attendance counselors to locate and identify children not in school and work with other officials in an effort to get these children in school. The attendance requirements would not apply to children who are mentally or physically incapable of attending school.
Parents or guardians who refuse to send their children to school in "willful" violation of the act would be subject to possible prosecution through the youth courts on charges of child neglect or contributing to the delinquency of a minor.
There was no specific enforcement provision in the House version.

The Senate proposal still contains a House-passed provision allowing parents to teach their children at home, but requiring these children to pass a standardized achievement test. The panel approved another amendment, providing that the local school board will determine the passing grade on the achievement.

Senator Bill Burgin, of Columbus, said, "It's a whole lot cheaper to educate them than pay them welfare for the rest of their lives."

In other action, the Education Committee agreed to stay with its own version of a teacher pay bill rather than accepting an alternate measure passed by the House.

"A great man is he who has not lost the heart of a child." Mencius VALENTINE BANQUET — A Valentine Banquet honoring the youth of Fifth Street Baptist Church was held February 12, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Woodruff. Co-hosting the affair was Mr. and Mrs. Jerry South. Mrs. Ernie Wilemon assisted in greeting the guests. A Valentine theme was carried out in decorations throughout the house. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of red tulips, cupid candleholders and red tapers. Each guest was given a heart shaped keepsake. In keeping with the Valentine theme, red punch was served, along with pink cupcakes, chips and dip. The youth elected (right): Roger Deaton and Darlene Lambert, as Valentine King and Queen; Lee Allen Underwood and Lisa Enlow (left) as Prince and Princess.

My Comments

BY KENNETH NUNLEY

President Carter has said many times that his main goals are stabilization of the economy, jobs for our many unemployed, reduction of the taxes, updating and rewarding our tax laws, better and more housing — the list goes on and on. And, as I said before, in a previous article, these beautiful words are music to the ears of the many millions who make up our nation's work force.

But, to me, and millions of other eager-eyed hopefuls, they seem to be just pretty words.

Taken singly, to me our future looks like this. Our economy is just as unstable as it was twenty years ago, if not worse. The cost of living is rising so much faster than the hourly wage that it is almost laughable. Almost. Uncontrolled Government spending is the primary cause of escalating taxes, in ALL levels of our Government.

In a previous article, I said that it seemed to me the first thought that occurred to anyone newly elected to office was "What is the quickest way to get myself a pay raise." It might interest you to know that, according to the news, there is another "pay raise" bill presently before Congress, which awards to many, raises of four thousand per year. When was the last time you had a decent raise? And, where do you think those extra millions are coming from?

And, now for the kicker - jobs! Did you ever wonder, as you stood in the unemployed ment line, "Where did all the jobs go?" There seemed to be a good number of them, last year. But, along toward the end of the year, election time, they just actually seemed to disappear.

Do you know what an Economic Advisor is? Well, that is a guy who has a job, trying to explain to you, why you don't have one.

Next, we have the colossal task of updating our tax laws. In my opinion, he is far too late to attempt this chore. The powers and forces of the IRS are legendary, and it's greedy, grasping hand is shown at will, with no fear of reprisal. It's mistakes are your mistakes, it makes no apologies for errors made, and there is no way you can sue the Internal Revenue Service.

Reduction of the taxes - how many times have we, who pay the taxes, heard that little song? On American Bandstand, they would give that a "2", because "it's so old, and it's getting harder and harder to dance to."

The shape our economy is in right now, there is no way that taxes could be reduced!

Another subject he likes to elaborate on is the Housing problem. Along with everything else, except wages, the cost of building a decent, practical dwelling, has skyrocketed. Building materials seem to be gold plated. Still, he says that more money is to be set aside for decent homes for the lower income families. Unless there are many changes, by the time this money reaches the local lending stations, there are so many rules, regulations, and restrictions tacked on that the people who could get these home loans wouldn't have them. After all, who wants to mortgage his mother-in-law?

A few weeks ago, I wrote an article on the subject of food prices, my opinion on what was in the future. Again, it seems that it has come true. Coffee is far over $3.00 a pound, and those who have changed to tea or Cocoa will find that they have caught on, and are raising the prices on those too.

The workers of America, and especially the farmers and cattlemen, are at the complete mercy of Government Bureaucracy and Big Business. The prices of farm machinery, seed, fertilizer, and anything else we have to buy are staggering, just as the prices of anything we offer for sale are no less pitiful. The Government, the farmers what and how to plant, and the small of "compensation" paid for following orders is less than a setback.

But, to get a little closer home, I would like to see an average family who is employed. Because of the ridiculously high food prices, oil prices, tax rates, light bills, this family has been living from week to week all along, and suddenly only source of income off. His frantic search for another job is unsuccessful in desperation he signs his unemployment.

He stands in line for three hours with all the frustrated breadwinners, finally his turn comes, a strained, polite smile, interviewer tells you you were "rejected for last week, because in opinion, you did not adequately seek work."

Now, the little money have left is spent on one of the kids. You have to shelve your pride sign up for the food program.

The Food Stamp Program. No person who has never forced to use food stamps begin to understand the frustrations and the embarrassment involved in using them. Knowing that there are a few individuals who use this program as a source of relief, the majority of Food Stamp recipients are honest, working people, with pride and personal pride, but a sense of dignity.

It has always been a dream of mine to see some like the almighty Earl be forced to receive Food Stamps. To answer the personal questions to get and to feel the accusing in the supermarkets, who uses them. It WOULD be it.

So, all you well-to-do employed, who look down on the poor souls, bear this in mind. It's an awful short jump where you are to where are.

Basketball Girls Visit Delta State

The Iuka Basketball girls and score keeping squad left Iuka High School on Friday morning, February 18, accompanied by Coach and Mrs. Bill Horton and Ginger Horton; Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Magill, Sonya and Monica Magill; and William Wayne Barnett.

They arrived at Mississippi State Penitentiary about 12:30, where they were engaged in about a four hour tour. Mrs. Jean McBride was the tour guide, and a full trustee was the bus driver. The team was shown several of the camps, including the maximum security camp. They were also shown the gas chamber in maximum security. They talked to several of the inmates and listened to the Parchman Band. After the tour, refreshments were served in the Warden's Guest House.

Leaving Parchman at 5:30, they arrived at the Holiday Inn in Cleveland, ate and quickly changed for the Delta State v. Wayland game. Delta State won by a score of 64-54.

After returning to the Inn everyone participated in a water fight, which lasted until early in the morning.

Everyone slept late the next morning and the Magills left for home later in the day. The evening was followed by a movie. More water followed the movie, but not as much as the night before.

Everyone was ready to go by 11:00. They arrived home at about 5:30 Sunday evening. Everyone was exhausted, but all had a great time.

The basketball team would like to thank Mayor John H. Biggs for the use of his van.

GROWLER

HELLO!

Well, basketball season is over for the big guys, but the little guys are still going at Burnsville. The junior high played Burnsville week before last and lost, and they play again this week.

The seniors are going to see the Eagles next month at Memphis. Everyone is looking forward to the trip.

The junior high girls played Belmont last Monday night. The boys played Belmont last Tuesday night.

The Beta Club has been selling portraits of anyone that you want a picture of in an 8 x 10.

Oh, the seniors got their proofs back of their formal pictures last week.

C.T. — Are you still going to do that "cheer" for, you know who?

J. McK. — Maybe you should help her.

L. W. — Who's helping you make it through the night?

T.S. — Has Randy Pits, Randy N., Randy G., and Randy D — Hal Ha!

P. H. — One lick or 250 words.

T.D. — Remember schioid type! Schioid - schioid.

D. C. — What have you learned out behind the "barne?"

S. H. — Who are you wanting to "walk your way?"

A.H. — What is the absolute difference between good and evil?

D.G. — Did you have a nice vacation?

J. McD. — The "New Kid in Town."

C.G. — Who sweetened your heart in a firey way?

Thought of the week: Don't wait too long to burn back.

Song of the week: Hard Luck Woman - by: Ki

BELMONT

Belmont's Cardinales and Hamilton's Lady Lions moved a step closer to the state tournament on the strength of opening round North State Class BB victories. Hamilton, a District One contender, ousted John Kennedy, of Mound Bayou, 68-42, while Belmont, also a District One prospect, turned back Henry Weathers 56-52 in the nightcap. Belmont's Nancy Groover sacked 25, Debby Parker 15, and Sabrina Williams 10. Belmont led 26-24 at halftime.

Waterway To Offer Track & Baseball

The Waterway Conference high schools will establish championships in baseball and track during the spring months.

Plans call for having the track meet at Tupelo on April 13, while a baseball tournament is in prospect at Mantachie starting March 28.

Burnsville, Belmont, Mooreville, Biggersville, Hamilton and Hatley will compete in track. All schools except Burnsville are entered in the baseball competition.

This is the first time around in the spring program for the nine schools. Burnsville, Belmont, Biggersville, Hatley, Hamilton, Smithville, Mooreville, Mantachie and Tishomingo are member schools.

There are no plans for golf or tennis, although some of the schools do have tennis teams.
