READY FOR THE SPRING HOLIDAYS — This group of energetic youngsters is looking forward to a full week of Spring Holidays. The last day of school will be March 11th and school will resume March 21st.
A measure aimed at helping local school officials cope with problems caused by the recent cold weather was approved by the Mississippi State Senate.

It would relax a requirement that public schools must be operated a minimum of 175
days during a nine-month period
to receive their share of state funding. The bill reduces the minimum to 165 days for schools that have been forced to close this winter because of bad weather or natural gas shortages. The 165-day limit would only apply during the present school term and be automatically repealed July 1, 1977. The measure had been approved earlier by the House with an automatic repealer on July 1, 1978. The bill now goes back to the House for concurrence in the Senate change.

Hiwassee Boosts Economy

Hiwassee Land Company paid out approximately $193,000.00
for wood purchased in Tishomingo County during 1976.

This information is from Mr.
Paul Weekley, the company's District Forester for this area.
He said this figure covers
only the costs of purchasing, hauling and delivering the wood, and does not include any taxes, payrolls or other contributions to the local economy by Hiwassee Land Company.

The term "wood" includes chips from the sawmill residues
such as slabs and edgings, Mr.
Weekley said.

These materials, once burned
to get rid of them, made up about one-seventh of Hi-wassee's total wood purchases company-wide last year, he added.

Tishomingo County was one of 95 counties in or near the Tennessee River Valley that shared in Hiwassee's expenditures for wood in 1976.

Most of this wood was purchased from private, individual landowners, with a small amount coming from company lands. The logging was done by independent contractors.

Hiwassee Land Company is the woodlands organization of Bowater Southern Paper Corporation, which manufactures newsprint for more than 750
newspapers in over 30 states.

Mother & Daughter Injured In Car-Train Collision

Two persons were injured in a train-car accident in Burn-sville at approximately 2:00 p.m.
Tuesday, March 8th.

Mrs. Sandra Lovelace Davis,
wife of Ricky Davis, and her daughter, April, were traveling north in Burnsville in her 1973
Toyota Corona when an eastbound train slammed into the side of the auto at the crossing, the impact throwing the 16-month-old infant from the vehicle.

This crossing is marked with cross-bars, and box cars were on the side tracks at either side of the crossing blocking

the view of on-coming trains.
Mrs. Davis and April were taken to Tishomingo County Hospital in the back of a pickup that had arrived on the scene
shortly after the accident.

According to a Tishomingo
County Hospital spokesman,
Mrs. Davis and her daughter are listed in fair condition.

SWERVED TO MISS HIM —

At approximately 5:00 p.m.
Monday, March 7, Latrill Nun-ley and his son, Darrell, Route
One, Iuka, were driving down
Highway 30 with a load of slag
in this 1973 G.M.C. dump truck

when Kenneth Butler, Route
Two, Tishomingo, crossed Hwy.
30 in a red Maverick. Mr.
Nunley swerved to avoid hitting
Mr. Butler, breaking the axle and causing the truck to turn over three times on Highway

30. Latrill was taken to Tishomingo County Hospital where he was admitted with head, arm and leg injuries. He is listed in satisfactory condition. Darrell Nunley and Kenneth Butler were apparently unhurt.

Unemployment Rate Climbs In County

The Mississippi State Employment Service announced that unemployment in Tishomingo County climbed to approximately 770 individuals, or 9.5 percent of the civilian labor force. This represents the highest rate of unemployment in the county since the early part of 1975. Charles Smith, Manager of the Corinth Office
of the Mississippi State Employment Service, stated that the most recent statistics indicated that the number of area residents employed, estimated to be 7,330, showed an upward trend over the past month and the past year. Upward trends were also noted in manufacturing and non-manufacturing employment.

Smith also stated that the civilian labor force for the four-county area of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, and Tishomingo was estimated to be 38,990 at mid-January which is a drop of 590 from December but an increase of 640
from January 1976. The number of area residents employed declined 1,080 during the 30-day period with the primary loss being in the Nonagricul-tural Wage and Salaried group.

Current estimates indicate that 4,310 individuals, or 11.0 percent of the civilian labor force,
were unemployed at mid-January. This compares to 9.6
percent in December and 8.8 percent in January 1976. Area manufacturing employment declined somewhat from last month's estimate while non-manufacturing employment remained relatively the same.

 HOME
 ECONOMIST'S
 NOTES

The best way to reduce your home heating bill -- or keep it at the lowest possible dollars -- is to avoid heating the outdoors.

Warm air rises and expands, and if there are ways for it to get out of your house it will. Here are some tips that may help you cut the cost of heating.

First, insulate. Insulation is a relatively inexpensive material and a properly insulated home has little heat loss. Place 6 inches of insulation between ceiling joists in the attic. Fill spaces between walls, if at all possible. Also put insulation between floor joists under all rooms that cover unheated areas such as crawl spaces.

Use storm windows and storm doors or you can substitute clear vinyl or plastic sheeting. Secure sheeting to outside window trims with strips of screen molding.

The savings you make will soon pay for the materials used.

Keep doors closed. It's a good idea to install self-closing fasteners on storm doors.

Close fireplace dampers when fireplace is not in use.

If the fireplace is never used, close it off with insulating board to reduce the movement of heated air out the chimney.

Replace furnace filters or clean them regularly. If filters are clean, the furnace doesn't have to work so hard to move the air; also, air circulated through the house will be cleaner.

Finally, weather-strip all windows and doors, and seal any cracks with caulking compound.

BUILD NOW

The cost of borrowing money to build a home is down slightly and is expected to remain about the same for the next few months. Economists predict that the interest rate will increase unless the new federal administration does something about it.

Now may be the best time if you are planning to build.

CORN FERTILIZER: PLACEMENT AND TIME OF APPLICATION

Recently, for several reasons, the trend has been toward broadcast application of fertilizer, particularly phosphate and potash. Farmers have used ample amounts of fertilizer so in many instances they have increased soil fertility levels. They have especially increased phosphorous levels. Phosphorus does not move much in the soil; therefore, it does not leach from the soil. Most phosphorus lost from fields is from erosion. Where soils are medium to high in phosphorus there is no advantage to band applications in the row. Where soils are low, phosphorus use is more efficient when applied in a band in the root zone of the corn plant. Because phosphorus does not leach, you can apply it any time during the year.

Potassium is more mobile in the soil than phosphorus is. It will leach from the root zone as water percolates through the soil. It does not leach as readily from heavier soils as it does from sandy soils. You can build up potassium levels in heavier soils by applying more than is removed by a crop. It is difficult to build up levels of potassium in sandy soils. There appears to be no advantage to banding potassium in the row, even when levels are low. Potassium like phosphorus, can be applied several months before planting on many soils. On sandier soils where leaching is a potential problem it is best to apply potassium as close to planting as possible.

Nitrogen is lost readily from most Mississippi soils. It will leach readily from lighter soils when they become saturated with water. You should apply nitrogen as close to the time of use as possible. Mississippi studies have indicated that highest yields are made when about one fourth of the nitrogen is applied at planting and the remainder applied as a side dressing when corn is about 14 to 16 inches high. Banding or broadcasting nitrogen made no difference in yield: "lay-by" applications of nitrogen need not be "plowed in". You can apply ammonium nitrate, urea, or liquid (32%) nitrogen on the surface of the soil and produce good yields if you adequately control weeds and grass. The only exception in method of application is anhydrous ammonia, which must be "knifed in" and sealed.

SOURCES OF FERTILIZER

There are several different sources of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. All manufactured or processed commonly available sources are adequate for corn production. Select the source of fertilizer according to the cost of the elements your purchased. Unless there are special considerations, one source is as good as another if the quantity is adequate.

HOW MUCH FERTILIZER

Any fertilization program is efficient when based on what is needed. Take tests regularly every two to three years to determine how much phosphate and potash is in the soil. The amount added should be based on what is present and the expected yield of the corn crop. If a soil tests low in phosphate and potash and a yield of 100 bushels of corn is expected, then the respective rates of N, P2O5 and K2O should be 130-50-50 pounds per acre. If this expected yield is to be harvested for silage, the respective rates should be 130-50-100 of N, P2O5 and K2O respectively. If a soil test high in phosphate or potash, then you can produce one or two crops without adding either element. When a soil tests medium in these elements, you can safely produce one crop without additional phosphate or potash.

PAYMENT LIMITATION FOR COTTON, FEED GRAIN, WHEAT & RICE PROGRAMS

The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 provides for a $20,000 payment limitation for each "person" under one or more of the annual programs for cotton, feed grain, and wheat, and a $55,000 limitation for each "person" under the rice program for the 1976 and 1977 crops. The determination of a "person" for the application of this limitation under 1977 programs will be based on conditions that exists as of March 1, 1977. Eddie A. Gresham, Chairman of the Tishomingo County ASC Committee, stated today. Producers who might be affected by the limitation cannot be approved for payment until they have furnished all details in writing regarding their farming operations. The details should include ownership of land, corporations, trusts, partnerships, operating agreements, leases, etc., and any other matters having a bearing on the application of the payment limitation rules. This is necessary, Mr. Gresham said, so that a determination can be made of the individuals, entities, etc., that will be considered as a "person" for payment limitation purposes. Anyone who may be affected by this limitation is invited to contact the Tishomingo County ASC Office, at 423-5036 for complete details.

COTTON RELEASE AND TRANSFER OF ACREAGE

The deadline to transfer or release your cotton allotment is March 31, 1977. If you do not plan to plant or transfer your 1977 cotton allotment, you should release it to the County Committee. If you plan to plant above your base, then you may request additional acreage through March 31, 1977. Remember, March 31st is the final date to release, transfer or request additional cotton acreage.

LEAF COLLECTING

The 4-H Forestry project involves many activities, ranging from making leaf collections and learning how a tree grows to finding out what makes wood strong. Basic to any study of forestry is the need to know one tree from another and know its uses. Collecting, identifying and mounting leaves help in learning to know one tree from another.

Leaf collecting is an interesting hobby that can last a lifetime. It fits well into the 4-H forestry project.

Any boy or girl is eligible to enroll in 4-H and the 4-H forestry project and learn about identifying, collecting and mounting leaves.

A good leaf collection is made up of mature and typical leaves free of defects caused by insects and diseases. Leaves may be collected from May 15 until frost kills the leaves in the fall. Be careful not to crush or bruise the leaves when collecting them. A large magazine makes a good "carrying case" for leaves as they are being collected. They can be placed between the pages of the magazine as they are removed from the tree.

Leaves should be pressed, dried, and mounted on suitable paper to make a good collection. Leaves can be pressed and dried by placing them between the pages of a magazine made of absorbent paper with a heavy, flat weight placed on top for two or three weeks.

The pressing and drying process can be hastened by using an electric iron. Do this by placing the leaf between two thin pieces of cardboard. Run the hot iron over the cardboard until the leaves are dry.

The dry leaves can be mounted on heavy white typing paper. An attractive leaf mount can be made by centering the leaf in the upper three-fourths of the page. This leaves the lower part of the page for listing the name of the tree, its uses and other desired information.

Almost any type of glue is suitable for mounting leaves.

To mount the leaves, use a thin layer of glue on the surface of the paper, making sure that the paper is coated. Then press the leaf down, and wipe away the glue with a clean cloth. Leaf mounts made in a loose leaf binder many years. Mounts stored in plastic bags are safer keeping. Some regular mounts in the plastic bags insects from the leaves.

- Annual loans for production and living expenses;
- Intermediate term loans for equipment and other capital improvements.

Congregation Attends Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Iuka congregation have just returned from a two-day assembly in Senatobia, Miss., where there were 1859 delegates in attendance from 25 congregations in North Mississippi. The convention was held at the North-west Mississippi Junior College Coliseum in Senatobia on March 5th and 6th.

"Follow the Way to Life" was the title of the featured public address Sunday afternoon. J. A. Hinderer, southern district minister representing the world headquarters of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York, said, "We are all concerned about getting the best out of life."

As the giver of life, Jehovah God knows the things we need, the way of life that brings the most happiness, the principles for a successful life, as well as our prospects and hopes for the future." Based on the Bible book of Proverbs, chapter nine verses ten and eleven, he showed that this book gives to all a wise guide for a happy life, such as how to be liked, making a living, or achieving a lasting happy family life.

Mr. Hinderer went on to show from scriptural examples such as Matthew chapter seven verses thirteen and fourteen that Jesus is the way, the truth and the life. However, Jesus himself showed that the majority of people would not follow this course, yet he recommended it to all. While the way is open to all, most follow the broad way or road to destruction rather than Jehovah God's way to life. For that reason, we should want to find and follow the wise way which leads to life.

The two-day program of practical counsel on all aspects of Christian living truly highlighted the theme of the assembly based on the Apostle Paul's words at First Corinthians Sixteen verse nine, "Entering a Large Door Leading to Activity." Encouraging information was presented for the Witnesses of all ages. Especially encouraging was the Saturday evening program designed to benefit all the younger ones and the teenagers. The Bible talk and modern-day drama based on the theme, "Recreation that Satisfies a Godly Heart" demonstrated to all the importance of carefully selecting the forms of entertainment that we have and selecting our associates just as carefully, always considering the Godly principles found in Jehovah God's word, the Bible.

The program was concluded Sunday afternoon by the lecture delivered by R. J. Schlegel, circuit overseer for Mississippi Circuit number two, on the subject, "Brace Up Your Minds for Activity," and the final discourse, "Our Blessings are Many," delivered by Mr. Hinderer concluded the program, highlighting the need for all to recognize the many blessings we enjoy as Christians.

"You must be ready to wash one another's feet," Jesus told his disciples as he finished washing their feet. He said: "The servant is not greater than his master and the messenger is not greater than the man who sent him." This lesson by Jesus about serving one another is one we should heed now.

People have found identity, meaning, and purpose for living in Jesus Christ. They can "see" themselves for what they really are by "seeing" Jesus. He is their mirror.

To better understand who Jesus is—and who they themselves are—many people have read a pamphlet entitled, "Who Am I?" To receive a copy, send 25¢ to International Lutheran Laymen's League, 2185 Hampton Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

INTEREST RATE REDUCED BY ORGANIZATION

L. C. Conner, President of the Northeast Mississippi Production Credit Association, has announced the reduction of interest cost for March to 7.75 percent. That rate will apply to all loans except approximately 3.5 percent of the loan volume will carry an 8.00 percent rate.

Due to the association's variable interest rate policy, all loans now outstanding will be affected as well as future loans and commitments. In addition to short-term operating loans, automobile and equipment loans are made on terms up to three or four years. Loans of permanent type construction and small land parcels are considered with terms from 7 to 10 years.

This farmer-owned credit organization is composed of the 13 Northeast Mississippi Counties, with seven full-time and five part-time offices; the Tishomingo County PAC office is located at 123 1/2 Front Street, Iuka, Mississippi. The peak outstanding loan volume for 1976 was in excess of $21,000,000.00.

It's wise to choose heat pump

If you're building a new home, or considering a replacement for your existing heating and cooling system, the wisest choice you can make is an electric heat pump.

What's so great about a heat pump? Combined with adequate insulation, the electric heat pump offers unsurpassed comfort and convenience year-round.

plus a substantial savings on your winter electric bills. In fact, when compared to an electric furnace, the electric heat pump can cut your heating bills in half.

It operates this way. In winter the heat pump draws "free heat" from the outside air and circulates it inside the house. Until outside temperatures drop below about 30 degrees, the only electricity needed to heat a home is that needed to run the heat pump's compressor and fans.

At about 30 degrees and below, auxiliary resistance-type heating elements come on to help maintain the home's warmth. But even at temperatures of zero and below, the heat pump still draws some "free heat" from the outside air, using less energy than ordinary heating systems would require.

In summer the heat pump merely reverses the process, taking heat from the air inside the house and pumping it outside like a central air conditioning system.

It's not surprising that the electric heat pump is gaining popularity throughout the TVA service area. When you consider that all energy costs, including the cost of electricity, are going to continue their climb, the electric heat pump is a practical and economical choice.

Stop by your power distributor's office for more information on the electric heat pump.

this license increase because I thought it was too much of an increase at this time. A smaller increase would have been acceptable.

The house voted not to accept the Governor's Highway Program by using 28 million dollars of revenue sharing funds to put into the program. All this money would have been used on the Corridor Program, which does not include Highway 72 or 25. The house voted to use the 70 million revenue sharing funds for such things as the penitentiary, mental institutions, acute services wing at the medical center, funding of the first phase of the veterinary school at Mississippi State and other capital improvements at various colleges and universities.

There is one item I would like to clear up with the people. The legislature did not vote to increase their salary or expenses. This bill was passed in a Senate Committee but never passed by the Senate. The House of Representatives never even considered a bill increasing their expenses or salary. We were more concerned in seeing that state employees and school teachers got an increase in salary and this was passed. I appreciate the trust that you have placed in me as your representative, and I will continue to strive to do the best job within my power to represent our people in Jackson.

Respectfully,
RICHARD O. CLARK,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
Daily complaints are being received from concerned citizens regarding the increasing volume of loose, and apparently ownerless dogs that defoul lawns, dig up flower beds, and scatter garbage all over the town. Some of these dogs have never had rabies shots, which poses a far more serious potential than any of the aforementioned nuisances. As the city cannot, within reason, provide a properly attended pound, it has been suggested that the Mayor and Board of Aldermen draft an ordinance forbidding any loose dogs on the streets, unless adequately muzzled. This would eliminate many of these worthless and potentially dangerous mutts and remove much of the danger of attack

MUFF, being held by Mrs. Kay Perkins on the day the little reepoo was reunited with her owners at Iuka Animal Clinic.

"We finally had Muff fixed. It seems to have made her more peppy."

Some of you may remember that Muff was lost in Tishomingo County, found by Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt DeVaney, of Maude, Ala.; later taken to Dr. James Perkins' Iuka Animal Clinic for a thorough checkup; and while still at the clinic was reunited with her owners, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Dale, then living in Memphis, Tenn.

It was August, 1974, when Muff was unintentionally left on Highway 72, near Iuka, Miss., when her owners pulled away from a rest stop. The Dales had just moved from California to Memphis three weeks before losing Muff.

Well, a few weeks ago, Dr. and Mrs. Dale; their young daughter, Chrissie; their new son, Alex; and their beloved little Muff went back to live in California. Muff had been with Dr. Dale three years before the Doctor had married; and the couple had been married three years when Muff was lost near Iuka. So,

External circumstances may precipitate emergency mechanisms consistent with "fight or flight" decisions. Physical reactions may include elevation of blood pressure, increased heart rate, hyperventilation, tightness in the chest, tingling sensation in the hands and around the mouth, headache, low back pain, or abdominal discomfort. Emotional reactions may vary from a vague fear to severe apprehension adversely affecting concentration and memory. Irritability and withdrawal may be associated with a depressive mood disturbance.

How can one go about reducing the emotional stress factor in today's high pressure competitive world? The following suggestions are often helpful: (1) Establishment of priorities, (2) Identifying objectives, realistic and obtainable goals, (3) Modification of hard driving personality trait, (4) Reducing the frequency of stressful life-change events, (5) Learning the daily technique of relaxation response, (6) Regular physical exercise, (7) See your doctor for persisting physical or emotional symptoms and give him a full account of your current life experience along with a reporting of physical or emotional symptoms.

Work Incentive Program

WIN, the Work Incentive Program, is an effort to help people help themselves and become productive workers. This program offers job-finding aid to welfare recipients who are ready to work and job training, counseling, medical aid, and child care to those who need such help in order to get ready for work. It is operated jointly by the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare through the State Employment Service and the State Department of Public Welfare.

A major policy of this program is the requirement that all AFDC recipients (except those in exempt categories) register for WIN and take jobs or training. Recipients can lose their welfare benefits if they refuse registering for WIN or accepting an appropriate job.

Employers who need workers are urged to consider participants of the WIN Program. They can help their business, community, and people who need jobs by hiring these individuals. Employers who hire people from this program are permitted to claim dollar-for-dollar credit on Federal Income Taxes at 20 percent of the wages or salaries paid to such workers for a full year.

Providing a practical alternative to welfare for the large and growing numbers dependent on public aid is one of the nation's most urgent problems. The WIN Program has an expanded service capacity and some innovative approaches but the solution depends, basically, on the support of the nation's employers. Local employers are encouraged to contact the Mississippi State Employment Service for more information about the WIN Program.

Of Interest to Women

The members of the newly formed Mineral Springs Homemakers Club met at 12 noon and held their monthly meeting.

The president, Gail Smith, called the meeting to order. After the song, "Jesus Loves Me," led by Shirley Caltan, the minutes of the organizational meeting were read by the secretary, Eula Rhodes. Edna Earl Tapp presented an informative program on the new spring fashions to the members of the club. Mrs. Tapp also had suggestions on the house and home furnishings.

Brenda Whitfield, Emogene Cummings, Cathy Presley and the above mentioned members discussed the County Dress Review, the Fair and the Quilt Festival among other interesting topics.

Edna Earl Tapp will be the hostess for the next meeting to be held on the first Monday of next month.

Stress — Inside Or Outside

We live in a fast changing world, and the need to adapt to these changes can result in medical complications... physical as well as emotional. The need to adapt to change is often experienced as "stress". Stress may refer to external circumstances... or to an internal response to external circumstances.

TRAPPING BEAVERS — Ted Barnett, of Route 1, Iuka, may not be too popular with the Beaver Community, but he's a good friend of the farmer and timbermen in the area. The beavers cut the timber to build their dams, which causes floods so they are a natural money loser for the timberman and farmers. Mrs. Barnett explained how he traps the beavers with an underwater trap that kills the beaver immediately. The trap is designed so nothing can get into the trap except a beaver eliminating the possibility of killing another kind of animal. The State pays a $5 bounty on the tails and Mr. Barnett sells the pelts to Taylor Fur Co., of Louisville, Ky. The five largest beavers shown here were caught this past weekend with the largest weighing about 65 lbs. Photo by Diana

Men In Service

Coast Guard Aviation Electronics Technician First Class Kenneth S. Harrison, whose wife, Rachel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Keele, of Route 4, Iuka, will be helping enforce the 200 mile fishery conservation zone which went into effect March 1.

He is serving at the Coast Guard Air Station, Annette, Alaska.

The new law, known as the Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976, gives the United States exclusive control of all waters within the 200-mile zone. The Coast Guard and the National Marine Fisheries Service have been charged with enforcement of the zone, which includes 10 percent of the world's fishery resources.

Coast Guard cutters and patrol aircraft will make regular patrols of fishery areas to monitor foreign fishing activity. Some controlled foreign fishing is permitted within the 200-mile zone and fishing vessels will be boarded at random to ensure compliance with restrictions and regulations. The new, 200-mile zone represents a four-fold increase of fishery patrols for the Coast Guard. He joined the Coast Guard in June 1969.

TITLE I PROGRAM AT IUKA ELEMENTARY

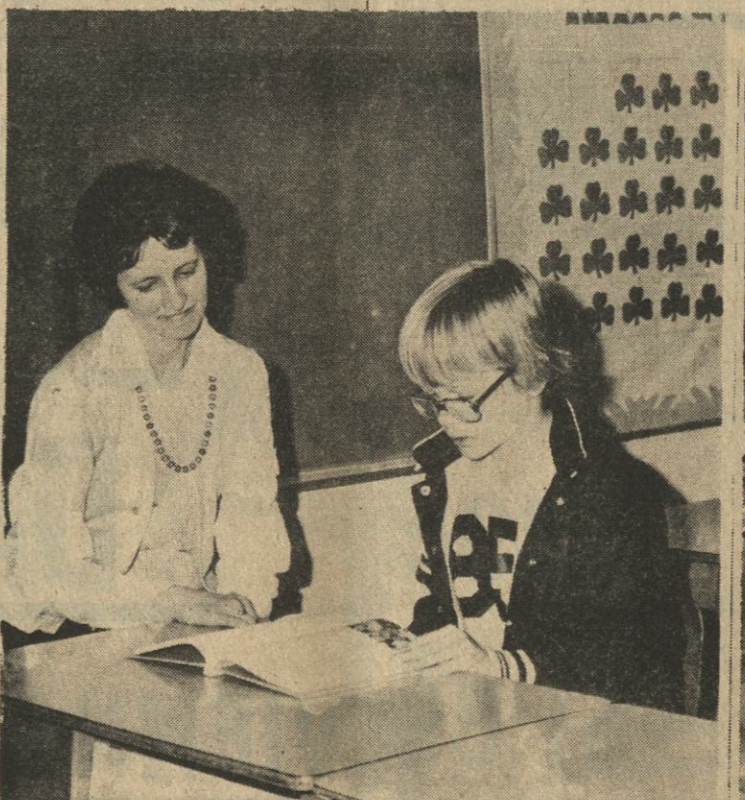

Title I of Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended, provides financial assistance to local educational agencies for programs to meet the special education needs of educationally deprived children in low-income areas. The Title I Program in Iuka Schools for the 1976-77 school year provides for remedial reading in grades one through six. The staff for the Title I Programs includes three remedial reading teachers, three aids, one for each teacher, and a supervisor. The teachers aids work with teachers and teams to provide personalized, small-group and one-to-one instruction that is needed to help pupils develop to their greatest potentials. One aid works full-time with grades one through three; grades four through six have two full-time aids, one who works with grades four through six and another who works with grades five and six. People filling these positions are: First, second and third grades: Mrs. Wanda Puckett; fourth, fifth and sixth grades:

Mrs. Sue Scruggs; fifth and sixth grades: Mrs. Vonnice Ledgewood. The remedial teachers work with children who are at least one year behind their normal grade level in reading. The work that the teacher and the aids do is above and beyond the instruction that the children get in their regular school program. They work with the students during the time when the pupils are not having a regular class. They reinforce the work of the regular instructional staff, and there is no supplanting of instruction. Mrs. Pauline McMinn is the remedial teacher for grades one through three; Mrs. Wanda Puckett is her aid. Mrs. Diane Stephens is the remedial teacher for grades four through six; Mrs. Sue Scruggs is her aid. Mrs. Doris Powell is the remedial teacher for grades five and six with Mrs. Vonnice Ledgewood as her aid. Dr. T. E. Stanford is the supervisor for the Title I Remedial Reading Program. Members of the Advisory Council for the program are Mr.

Howard Roach, Chairman; Grace Waldrep and Mrs. Brown. The overall goal of the 77 program in reading is to raise the level of reading one or more years school district at months of sequential instruction. It is felt that the dedicated, concentration and energies by the instructional staff of the program, the goals will be attained factually.

National Employ The Older Worker Week

While Americans are being warned to conserve certain of our country's natural resources, we are wasting through lack of use one of its greatest resources, its older workers. Charles Smith, Manager of the Corinth Office of the Mississippi State Employment Service, stated that there are 74 million people 40 years of age or older in this country. Many are out of work and cannot find a job, forced out of the job market because of the prejudice against older workers.

Like other prejudices, Smith continued, it makes no sense when compared with the facts. Studies have brought to light many important points, such as: Functional ability is the true measure of a person's working capacity; employment of middle-aged and older workers results in significant savings to employers through reduced sick leave, lower turnover, and fewer job-related accidents.

National Employ the Older Worker Week, which is being observed March 14-18, 1977, is a good time for all of us to examine our attitudes toward older workers. Smith urges all employers to give special thought to this great source of reliable, productive employees. He also said that the person 40 and over looking for a job should assess his or her abilities and experience and be confident when seeking a job. When it comes to the American worker, we should remember that ability is ageless.

CRACKDOWN ON CHILD CARE CENTERS

The Mississippi State Board of Health said it is preparing to crackdown on all owners of child care centers across the state operating without a license.

According to Sam Valentine, director of child care services, legal action will be taken against the owners unless they move immediately to comply with the minimum health standards. "We are cracking down now because there are several large new child care centers which are licensed that can absorb these children," said Valentine. "With these, there is no reason for the unlicensed ones to continue to operate."

He warned the owners and operators, if convicted, can be forced to pay a penalty for every day they have been in business without a license. He said the penalty is $100 for the first day's offense and $200 for every day thereafter. The director pointed out that a 1972 state statute requires any center keeping six or more children unrelated to the owner by third degree kin for more than four hours a day must be licensed.

"Before a center can acquire a license, a county sanitation officer and representative from the child care department must make sure it passes the basic health, safety, and sanitation regulations," said Valentine. "For example, all children must be properly vaccinated before entering the center."

Other requirements include having at least one lavatory and one toilet for every 15 children, 35 square feet of indoor space per child, 70 square feet of outdoor space per child, adequate fire exits and fire extinguishers, and sanitary food handling techniques.

"If the owners of these unlicensed centers will contact their local county sanitarian immediately, to set up an inspection, they can avoid legal action," said Valentine. "We are trying to be as reasonable as possible as long as these people comply with the minimum health standards." He also added that day care centers operated in homes are also required to have a license, but their requirements are somewhat different.

Valentine recommended that parents make sure their children are in a licensed child care center, and anyone with knowledge of a center operating without a license should notify their county health department.

Family Living Changes Future Spending Trends

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Family living is big business as household spending continues to be the target of government, business and industry efforts.

Family living during an average life span represents quite an investment, according to Dr. Julia H. Barnes, home management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Expected life earnings of a high school graduate are nearly $400,000, and those of a person with two years of graduate school after college are more than $600,000, she reported.

Shoppers for 1977 are expected to hold the spending line, she said. The use of buymanism guidelines will be evidenced in comparative shopping. Consumers will be selective and dollar conscious. Shopping lists, spending plans, records and cost cutters will be tools of the smart shopper.

Large food supplies will slow the rise in retail food values for 1977. A retail food price two to four per cent is expected. Home gardening and preservation of fruits and vegetables are expected to increase. Last year one of three households canned fruits and vegetables.

Housing starts are expected to be up to 1.65 million units, compared to 1.5 million nationally last year. One million dollars will be available in Mississippi for housing for the elderly. Mobile home sales are expected to increase. Mortgage interest rates will be steady the first part of this year. Early 1977 will be a good period for home buyers, but mortgage interest rates are likely to creep up in late 1977, said Dr. Barnes.

Between 1955 and 1973, family living expenditures for transportation increased from 11 to 18 per cent. During the last 12 months, private transportation increased 9.7 per cent. The high cost of energy has affected the cost of transportation, heating, cooking, cooling and operating major household appliances.

Health costs in 1975 averaged $549 per person, said Dr. Barnes. Price inflation, product changes and increase in health care use are the three broad factors responsible for tripling health expenditures since 1965.

Clothing costs average $345 per person. One-half of the rise reflected higher prices; the other half came from increased buying, a 2.8 per cent increase in constant value.

The overall consumer price index for 1976 was 4.8. During 1977, coping with economic, political and social changes will make big demands on the family, said Dr. Barnes. The management and economic principles of successful businesses also apply in the home. How each family lives and spends its money is influenced by its values, goals, income, education, stage in the family life cycle and residence location.

Family living at its best necessitates a financial stability and security plan, said the specialist. This plan will show how to increase the family's standard of living and provide protection and security.

Essentials include a spending plan to control the use of all family resources, a plan to pay debts until a safe level of credit is reached, ways to extend resources of the family, an insurance program to meet family needs, a savings and investment plan that begins with an emergency fund and a review of legal matters.
