Jack Rye Announces For Re-Election As Iuka Chief Of Police

Jack Rye, a long-time resident of Iuka, today announces his candidacy for re-election to the office of Chief of Police of the City of Iuka. Mr. Rye was first elected to fill out the unexpired term of Travis McGaughey, who resigned with 16 months left in his term. Mr. Rye was elected and served the 16 months, and at the general city election in 1973, was re-elected to a full four-year term.

In making his announcement for a second full term, Mr. Rye had this to say:

"First, I would like to thank the fine people of Iuka for the splendid vote they gave me in electing me to this high and noble office. I know that, without the support of everyone of you I could not have been so successful in my race for this office. So it is with a deep gratitude and humble thanks that I now come to you again, asking that you support me in this upcoming election. I promise you, that if you will re-elect me as your Chief of Police, I will continue to give you the same 24-hour efficient service that I have given in the more than five years just past.

"While serving as your Chief of Police I have always worked closely with our school officials and teachers and have always maintained a fine relationship with them. I have always done my best to shield the unfortunate youngsters from publicity when unpleasant situations arose. We have the finest group of teenagers in the whole country and we should be proud of them. I shall continue to work closely with our teenagers.

"And I would further like to state that my relationship with the Black people in our community has always been good. They are good citizens and are deserving of police protection and security and this I have done my best to give them. They have always been cooperative and I have had no problems on their behalf.

"One thing that is becoming more apparent every day is the increase of another minority group of people in our community," Mr. Rye continued. "I have reference to our Senior Citizens. Iuka is fast becoming a retirement center for many of our older people, and due to this, they are also dependent upon the Police Department for protection and security. I have worked closely with our Senior Citizens and shall continue to maintain a constant vigil for their safety.

"Also," Mr. Rye continued, "Iuka is growing every week with construction activity. Several construction companies now have contracts in the Iuka vicinity and with these contracts has come the construction people. I have been working closely with the leaders of these construction companies in an effort to be of service to them and assist in every way that I can. The next four years in Iuka will be different with so many new people coming in, therefore, it is necessary that we have good relationship with all newcomers.

"I would like to emphasize here that I know how to deal with the public and have had a minimum of trouble in enforcing the laws. I have always treated the prisoners decently, and I won't ask any of my officers to do anything that I wouldn't do myself.

"The Iuka Police Department is in need of expansion. We need more men, and should have two police cars at night most of the time. It is most essential that we keep up with progress, therefore, I shall do my best to expand and improve your police department so as to give you more and better service than ever, and with the help of the good people of Iuka, I know that these improvements can be made.

"In regards to my service to you, in the past four years we have made more arrests than any time before in the history of Iuka. Crime has increased about 20% in all categories, in spite of our vigilance and efforts. However, with our limited personnel and equipment, I believe most of our good citizens will agree that we have done a pretty good job.

"In all instances, where necessary, I have gone before the Grand Jury and Circuit Courts every term to prosecute my cases, and also, when necessary, I go to Chancery Court with juvenile cases. I have always maintained a good relationship with my fellow officers, with the County Attorney, the District Attorney, and the Judges. This is very important in our prosecuting attorneys must have faith and confidence in the arresting officers so that better justice may be given.

In conclusion, let me emphasize this: Re-elect a man that will continue to help you! There are some of the finest people in the world right here in Iuka and Tishomingo County. My interest in Iuka and Tishomingo County and my only desire is to see that we continue to keep a safe and secure place for all of us to live in peace with a minimum of violence and crime. I shall forever be grateful to you for your continued support and vote. So, let me urge you, when election day comes around, go to the polls and vote for me and I will assure you that you will never regret it.

With kindest personal regards for everyone of you, I am,
JACK RYE,
Candidate for re-election as Chief of Police,
City of Iuka

KNIFE SELECTION AND MAINTENANCE
Cutlery is such a basic kitchen tool much thought should be given to its selection and care. Generally, the more expensive the knife, the better the quality. But there are a number of things to check in addition to price, when choosing a knife -- personal needs, the different types and intended uses of knives, the material and construction.
One of the most popular is the parer, used for paring apples and potatoes, cleaning vegetables. Utility knives are used for trimming meat and fat from bones and cutting up large vegetables. Butcher knives and cleavers are intended to cut through bones and heavy cuts of meat, larger fruits and vegetables. The French cook's or chef's knives are ideal for dicing and chopping foods. There are also slicers for slicing roasts and turkeys or bread; fillet knives, individual steak knives and grapefruit knives.
The blade in a knife should run through the full length and width of its handle, about two-thirds through. Be sure the blade is firmly attached and the handle comfortable to hold.

Carbon steel knives are generally sharp-edged to begin with, and though they dull quickly, can be resharpened easily. The material is relatively soft. However, carbon steel is quick to stain and rust, unless washed and dried promptly after each use.
Stainless steel is popular because it is durable, good looking and easy-care. However, its ability to take and keep a sharp edge is not as good as carbon, since it is so hard.
Many inexpensive knives are made of either carbon steel or stainless steel.
High-carbon stainless steels are available at a higher price and have the good characteristics of both stainless and carbon steels. They resist rusting and staining, yet have enough carbon so that they can be readily sharpened. Vanadium steel is a high-carbon steel with other elements added -- vanadium, chromium, molybdenum -- for long wear.
Keep knives in good condition by using a sharpening steel to realign or reset the "teeth" (microscopic rough edges that roll over and become bent with use). A sharpening hone or flat sharpening stone, used only infrequently on quality knives, will put a new edge on a dull knife. One precaution: A saw-toothed or scalloped-edge knife should be reset or sharpened only on the back side (without scallops), or the crescent edges will be worn away.

Good care is important for all knives, reminds the Soap and Detergent Association. It is best to suds knives, in the sink, one by one and rinse them the same way to prevent accidental cuts. As mentioned, carbon steel should be washed and dried after each use. Stainless steel is dishwasher safe, but the manufacturer may recommend handwashing because of the construction of the knife or its handle.

The best storage for knives is in holders with a slot for each to protect the blade. Attractive storage units are available to fit into drawers or mount on a wall.

FACE FLIES
Face flies were a serious pest of livestock in northern Mississippi last year.
If you are using self-treating devices, now is the time to place them in your pastures. Cattle will become accustomed to using them by the time flies start emerging from overwintering sites. By starting early, you can get maximum suppression of face flies before they start reproducing.
To control face flies and horn flies, place self-treating devices (face/backrubbers or dust bags) where cattle will be forced to use them daily, and urge your neighbors to do the same. Keep those devices active with fresh insecticide throughout the fly season.
Last year Rabon (three percent dust for dust bags) and Ravap (emulsifiable concentrate for backrubbers) gave satisfactory results in suppressing face flies. They also gave good control of horn flies.

BIG LITTERS KEY TO PORK PROFITS
Production of large, healthy litters is the key to more pork profits. Feeding and management of sows during the 112-day gestation period is a big factor in the number of pigs farrowed and weaned. Provide bred sows with top quality grazing whenever possible. Providing good pasture will reduce the feed bill and help sows produce big litters of healthy, fast growing pigs. Grazing will also condition sows for the job of raising pigs.
If pasture is not available, keep sows' ration bulky. It's recommended that at least one-third of the grain in a non-grazing sow's ration be ground oats. The ration should also contain 10 percent alfalfa meal. Sows on dry-lot or in confinement will not burn out on a bulky ration and it will not burn out on a bulky ration and it will solve many farrowing and nursing problems.

PLANT DOVE FEED
Brown-top millet for dove feed should be planted by June 15 in the northern part of the state to be mature and available to doves before the first season. Row planting is preferred, although it can be broadcast. A series of plantings spaced from June 1 to July 15 will allow the millet to mature and be available for the first and second dove seasons. Keep row plantings cultivated to reduce weed growth.
It is best to broadcast in strips with a disk width separating the broadcast plots. These fallow strips should be disked a couple of times in the summer to reduce vegetative growth. These steps are necessary to provide the clean feeding areas that doves prefer.

SOMETHING OLD
DID YOU KNOW —
Sacred Harp is a type of religious folk music centered around a collection of white spirituals called "The Sacred Harp" first published in 1844 and distributed in the southern states. The music is arranged in four-part harmony and written and sung with solemnization. Traditionally each song is sung through once with the appropriate fa, sol, la, or mi, syllables according to the shape of the notes -- and then with the text. In its broader contents, the Sacred Harp involves not only a manner of singing but a deeply traditional way of life.

Sacred Harp of today is an institution deeply southernized and considerably advanced from its beginning. With the years, a body of traditions has gradually developed. All singings are opened and closed with prayer and traditional dinner on the ground is served. In parts of Mississippi singings are numerous and well-attended but the "old ways" hold less and less interests for the young people. Have you ever attended an "Old Harp" singing? Have you ever heard a song sung by the Do, Ra, Me, Fa, Sol, La, Te Do? Would you like to see an old 1847 Harp "Southern Harmony and Musical Companion" song book? Or maybe you'd rather see "His Voice of Love" by James D. Vaughn, music publisher or some of the other Vaughn song books of January 1924. It is said that soon after the printing of these sacred airs in 1844, the Sacred Harp surpassed all others and was the book aside from the Holy Bible most often found in the homes of rural and southern people.

PEOPLE

OFFICE OF THE GOV.

I have a firm belief that the governor and all other state officials should be responsive and accountable to the people who put them in office, and I have tried to live up to that standard throughout my administration.
I believe that the governor should go directly to the people to learn about their problems and goals, and then should report back to the people on what he has been able to do to overcome those problems and accomplish those goals.
I have instructed my staff that we will respond to all the problems the people bring to us, whether it's a statewide emergency such as the recent savings and loan crisis we faced or a personal problem such as a mother who has not been able to find needed help for a handicapped child. We have adopted the attitude that the problems of the people are the problems of the governor, no matter how small.
I believe that too many of our people have felt in the past that you had to have influence to take a message or a problem directly to the governor. Many felt you had to go to the local banker or some other influential person in order to see the governor. We're trying to change that, and I think we've made good progress.
How are we trying to be responsive to the people? I think one of the most important tools is the Governor's Action Line. This is a toll-free telephone number that you can call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for information or help on any matter that concerns you.
The people answering the phones will not only talk to you, they will do everything possible to help you. They will not pass the buck to some other agency, but will get the information you need and return your call or respond with a letter, hopefully the very same day that you call. The number for persons living outside Jackson to call the Governor's Action Line is 1-800-682-5473. In Jackson, the number is 354-7773. I emphasize that it does not cost anything to call the Action Line from anywhere in Mississippi.

Another way we are trying to hear the people's problems and respond to them is through our monthly television show on Educational Television. During this show, we invite questions from viewers and answer them live and direct on the air. I invite you to watch each month and call us if you have a problem or question.
We also have what we call "People's Day." This is a day when anyone can see and talk to the governor without an appointment on any matter he or she chooses. Again, we don't just listen. We try to help. During the legislative session months of January through March, we have "People's Day" the last Thursday of each month. During the other nine months of April through December, we schedule "People's Day" each Thursday.
All of these activities help keep me closer to the people and the people closer to me. I invite you to use any or all of these methods to contact your governor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:
Because of a strong concern for morality, I have recently begun an effort to halt the massive distribution of pornography in Mississippi. This includes both magazines and the many adult type movies which are no more than pornographic smut geared toward adults who are unable to mature in their mental and sexual behavior and who get some kick out of pervertedly feeding their lust. Such degradation of morals is a danger to the whole of our society.
My first step was to go to my local District Attorney to find out what legal ground we have to stand on. The D.A., eager to help, made a full study on obscenity laws in Mississippi.
LOSE INCHES!! POUNDS!
FAT IS UGLY. LOSE IT! MONADEX is the most effective weight loss plan sold directly to the public. This tiny tablet helps curb your appetite. Start losing pounds today. Change your life. Lose 10-20-30 pounds or your money will be refunded. MONADEX sells for $3.25 and twice the amount for $5.50.
Also try AQUATABS, a "water pill" that works gently to reduce water bloat. $3.00. Both quarantined and sold by:
Curtis Bros. Drug Store-619 Hwy. 25 S.-Mail orders filled

missippi and presented me with a copy. Our findings were as follows:
Until 1976, Mississippi laws declared any act of selling, giving away, lending or showing of "any obscene or indecent picture, drawing, or photograph" to be illegal. But in the "ABC Interstate Theaters Inc., vs The State of Mississippi" case our laws were declared vague and were sent back to the Mississippi Legislature to be rewritten. In this rewriting words such as "obscene" and "indecent" were to be defined. As of yet, our legislators have taken no action on this matter. As a result, we have no obscenity law. Therefore, until our legislators act on this matter, anything and everything that is of pornographic nature is legal. No matter how vulgar, filthy or obscene movies or books are, they are legal until our legislators act.
Action must be taken or our state will be drawn down a moral drain. Pornography is available to all ages. But, even if it were for adults only, it would still be outrageously perverted. Pornography is for sick minds to view to feed their twisted natures or for young minds to poison their abilities to mature normally.
As concerned citizens, I am asking you to write or call your local legislators. I am concerned about the situation and your role as law-makers to take provide us with proper obscenity. Any law stop some of the present limit to the perversion many stores or movie screens.

Citizens, for the society, our children's moral well being, our legislators will not provide us with other massive refusal of firms selling smut showing it. The ch, lation or boycott, or the other this must be stopped. It stopped the judges inevitable.

Mrs. Lou Cornelius spent several weeks with her daughter, Marie Woodruff, in Memphis. They returned to Tishomingo Saturday. She was happy to get home.

Fay Dawson, who had surgery in Memphis about a month ago at Baptist Hospital, was at church at Highland Sunday. He is doing fine. We certainly missed he and the family from church while he was away. They are such fine people and we are so happy to have them back. He really appreciated the prayers, letters, cards and visits of his friends while in the hospital.

Mrs. Joe McIntire and Tasha are much better and were back at church Sunday at Highland. They were dinner guests of Mrs. Bertie Byram Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Varda Blunt returned home from Memphis Friday where they spent two weeks visiting their children.

Mrs. Earl Coker is now with her daughter, Mrs. Cortez Blunt, and is improving after being a patient in Tupelo Hospital.

Of Interest to Women

The members of the Mineral Springs Homemakers Club felt there was no better way to dis- pel part of the gloom of Monday than to enjoy their regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Gail Smith, who started the program by requesting Shirley Calton to lead the group in a snappy song. Cathy Presley kept the spirits soaring by presenting an in- spiring devotional after which Emogene Cummings lead the group in prayer.

After roll call, the reading of the previous month's minutes, the discussion of pre- vious and current business, the group enjoyed refreshments prepared by the hostess, Edna Earl Tapp.

Four of the members have already earned reading certi- ficates. Congratulations, girls!

The door prize was won by Shirley Calton who commented that it would be very useful in the new home she and her hus- band are planning to build soon.

The meeting was adjourned. Emogene Cummings will be the hostess next month.

Gas for the Gulf South from the frozen North

Fantastic?

Not entirely. It just sounds that way.

Natural gas from Alaska is entirely within the ability and ingenuity of United Gas and other pipeline companies. Proved reserves of natural gas on the North Slope already exceed 20 trillion cubic feet and the potential Alaskan reserves are expected to range from 100 to 300 trillion cubic feet.

North Slope gas, together with the deposits in the Gulf of Mexico, could affect the national energy picture for several decades. That's why United Gas is seeking commitments of undedicated Alaskan reserves.

But there are differences of opinion on how to transport this gas into the lower 48 states. United Gas favors transporting it through Alaska, turning it to a liquid at Gulf of Alaska facilities, transporting it to California by tanker, and there returning it to its gaseous state for transportation by pipeline to West Texas, and thence, into the United Gas system and the Gulf South.

A big idea. Surely. That's what it takes nowadays.

But it won't happen overnight. As in the Gulf of Mexico, building huge pipelines and attendant facilities is agonizingly slow. Even if United Gas can obtain commitments for Alaskan gas, the construction phase would run through the early 1980's, thus delaying the availability of North Slope gas to the Gulf South. But the important thing is that the men and women of United Gas are steadily planning and working in your behalf.

This is only one of the things this company is doing to alleviate the shortage. Is there something you can do? Certainly. Conserve this vital resource. Wherever you can, whenever you can. With conservation and efficient usage, the natural gas of America will last well into the next century.

6 Receive Awards

Six Northeast Mississippi Junior College students received awards at the State Career Development Conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, held in Jackson March 2-4.

Gary Williams, of Iuka, won first place honors in Food Marketing, and represented the Distribution and Marketing Chapter of DECA. Lee Cadde, a Hotel-Motel-Restaurant Management student from Amory, who third place in the same event.

Jim Hagy, an HMR student from Shiloh, Tenn., received the first place trophy in Food Service, and Vicky Anderson, an HMR student from Booneville, was awarded third place in the same category. Marty Lytal, of Baldwin, and Steven Simmons, of Corinth, shared third place honors with their entry in Advertising. The students competed against other Distributive Education students from 14 Mississippi junior colleges.

Winners in the state competition are eligible to compete in the National DECA Conference to be held in May in Anaheim, California.

Harold T. White, president of the Northeast Mississippi Junior College, was presented an Honorary Life Membership in DECA for his contributions to Distributive Education in Mississippi.

BLOOMING SHRUBS IN MISSISSIPPI

Spring-blooming deciduous shrubs will flower across Mississippi during March and April.

Immediately following blooming, prune plants such as Forsythia, Weigela, Spiraea, Flowering Almond and Kerria. Prune branches at different lengths or at different levels, rather than flat-topping them after removing dead, diseased or abnormal branches. Prune to reduce the size of the shrub by one-third to one-half.

Broadleaf evergreens such as Photinia, Gardenia, Hollies, Ligustrum, Cleyera, Elaeagnus, Nandina, Pyracantha, Euonymus and Cherry Laurel can be pruned during March and April to stimulate new growth, more flowers and more fruit. A general pruning rule: Remove only one-third to one-half of the foliage and limbs.

Broadleaf evergreens will come back from severe pruning if cut back drastically, but drastic pruning will ruin narrow-leaf evergreens such as Junipers, Arborvitae, Ornamental Pines, Spruce and Cedar, which need only a shearing of the foliage to maintain their distinctive forms. Overgrown narrow-leaf plants will not come back from severe pruning. With overgrown narrowleaves, the only choices are to shear them lightly and leave them in the landscape or replace them with new plants. Many improved cultivars are available. Most are smaller in mature size and better adapted to current home styles.

For best early spring and summer growth, most ornamental shrubs and ground covers will need an application of complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 or 9-12-12. Fertilizing is most effective when applied during March as root activity begins and new top growth emerges. Spread fertilizer uniformly and evenly throughout the planting bed at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet. Be careful around Azaleas, Camellias, Hollies and other shallow-rooted shrubs with sensitive root systems. Never use more than the recommended rate of fertilizer. Apply fertilizer around shrubs on top of mulch to prevent root burn. Be sure to water thoroughly to dissolve and wash in the fertilizer.

Newly transplanted trees and trees under five years of age will benefit from a March fertilizer application. A general recommendation is: two pounds of complete fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 9-12-12, for each inch calliper of the tree. Measurement of the tree trunk should be made at chest height. For example, a newly planted tree whose trunk (at chest height) is one inch across will need two pounds of fertilizer. A tree whose trunk is two inches will need four pounds of fertilizer.

The fertilizer can be broadcast evenly around the tree or placed in the soil by using a spade or sharpshooter to open the soil to a depth of 6 to 12 inches. Don't put more than one-half a cup of fertilizer in any one hole. Spread fertilizer completely around the tree is a series of many holes. Whether you use broadcast surface application or place the fertilizer in a series of holes, never place fertilizer within one foot of the base of the trunk collar or base.

Each year as Azaleas begin to bloom throughout Mississippi many homeowners become interested in planting them. Azaleas will grow in most areas of Mississippi if they have a well drained, acid soil.

Look at your soil condition before buying plants. A soil test may be necessary to help adjust pH to the desired level of pH 5.5. Soil testing services are available through local Extension agents. Soils which do not drain well, such as heavy clay soils, can be improved by adding organic materials like peat moss, pine bark or well rotted manure. When mixed thoroughly with soil, they provide better drainage.

Azalea Blight, a common fungus, will affect plants as they begin to bloom. It first appears as water-soaked spots on flower petals. The flower appears to melt and hangs on the plant, looking like blistered skin. To help prevent Azalea Blight, apply Thylate as a spray when the blooms begin to open. Continue applications at seven day intervals during the blooming period. Follow label directions.

Another common disease is Azalea Leaf Gall, which occurs in early spring and infects developing leaves, stems and flowers. It causes distortion, swelling and thickening. Affected parts may become whitish or light-green. Galls soon turn brown and hard. Remove the affected plant part and destroy the galls by burning. Spray heavily infected plants with Captan or Zineb. Spray plants as new leaves begin to unfurl. Repeat the spray every ten days until the young leaves begin to mature.

For more information, ask your local Extension Agent for Extension Pathology Bulletin M-323 and Bulletin M-329.

Farm Weather Service

April temperatures are expected to average above normal throughout Mississippi, according to the National Weather Service. Probabilities for a late freeze are diminished considerably, although the first part of the month will be quite cool. The average date for two inch soil temperatures to reach 68 degrees and remain there or higher is about April 11 in April will be a good month for planters as far as temperatures are concerned. Above normal rainfall presents a different picture to planters, however. The report says that showers will probably be more frequent and heavier in the north portion of the state.

Poultrymen are warned to be on the lookout for rapid changes in temperature when cooler air from Canada reaches Mississippi; rains and shifting winds will accompany these temperature changes.

Retail Food Prices Show Reverse Weather Effects

PI STATE — The freeze, the coffee situation and the weather in the focus attention on prices, according to Dr. Trammell Jr., Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service department.

ing mid-January, experienced several severe and damaging weather, with extensive temperatures of 35 per cent early and mid-range crop had been earlier. Dr. says supplies of oranges from Texas and more improves should be to meet demands shipments, which present about seven of total production. losses, the remaining orange crop will be suitable for processing if temperatures remain low. Warm temperatures promote droppage and deterioration, he adds. The grapefruit crop was not damaged as seriously.

The subfreezing temperatures and frost in Florida heavily damaged the most tender vegetable crops: tomatoes, cucumbers, green beans and green peppers. A complete loss occurred in some areas. Most growers will have to start over, says Dr. Trammell.

The full impact of the July, 1975, freeze in Brazil is affecting retail coffee prices this year. Brazil, normally the world's largest coffee producer, had a 9.5 million bag crop in 1976-77, down from 23 million bags a year earlier. World coffee production in 1976-77 will total about 11 million bags under the previous year's crop of about 73 million bags. This cut, coupled with lower world stock levels, will keep upward pressure on coffee prices in coming months, says the marketing expert.

Record supplies of livestock products will limit price rises at least through midyear. Food prices will continue to rise later if the economy picks up as expected and cattle slaughter begins to level off, reflecting declining livestock numbers. For the whole of 1977, food prices may average about three to four per cent above the 1976 average, says Dr. Trammell.

Dairy product prices are expected to hold relatively steady this winter and spring if milk output expands as expected. Although farm milk prices will be lower, increased costs of processing and marketing may hold retail prices near current levels.

Retail prices for frying chicken will strengthen from seasonally low levels last fall, but first half 1977 levels are expected to average below a year earlier. Turkey prices have increased from late 1976 lows and may change little more this winter and spring, according to Dr. Trammell.

Egg prices have remained strong because unusually cold weather slowed production and resulted in tight egg supplies. Prices are expected to show the usual seasonal spring decline, but will average above a year ago in the first half.

Prices for restaurant meals and snacks will continue to increase in 1977, perhaps at about the same rate as last year, says the marketing specialist.

Of Interest to Women

The Midway Rural Development Club met at the Community Center on March 28th, at 7 p.m. for the regular meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. B. L. Mercer. LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The library has a lot to offer to the residents of our area. More than most people realize.

The library is more than just a house for books. It is a rich source of information for all people.

When a person is planning a trip, the library can provide information about that interest. When a woman wants to cook a new dish for a special occasion, the library has numerous recipes to offer.

To sum it up, libraries are something else!

As local chairman for the observance of 1977 National Library Week, April 17 - 23, I believe Mississippians should be made aware of the vast services that the library provides. They should realize the value of the library in our society.

Since our nation began, the library has served as a storehouse of information. And the library will continue to serve as a storehouse in the future, keeping the world's information safe for the generations to come.

National Library Week is a great time to become familiar with the services that the state's libraries offer. On behalf of the libraries and its patrons I want to thank you for your cooperation and interest in promoting library activities.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Cliff Daniel
Lucy Rowe Study Club
National Library Week
Chairman

Prepare your home now to keep out summer heat

Summer's scorching heat is definitely on the way. Here are some things you can do right now to assure yourself a cooler, more comfortable summer using less energy.

Insulation is just as important for keeping out summer's heat as it is for keeping out winter's cold. TVA recommends installing at least R-19 value insulation in your attic and R-11 under floors—and in outside walls if you build or remodel.

The air in your attic can get as hot as 140 degrees, and unless you have adequate insulation and ventilation, that heat can soak right down into your living area, putting an extra burden on your air conditioner. To help draw cool air in and hot air out, you need one square foot of ventilation for every 150 square feet of ceiling area. Half this ventilation should be in eave vents and half in gable, ridge, or roof vents. A power attic ventilator can speed up the air exchange.

Storm doors and windows, weatherstripping, and caulking around outside doors and windows can also be a big help in keeping cool air inside your home and hot air out.

This is a good time, too, for the annual check of your air conditioning equipment. And make a note to clean or replace the filter at least once a month during the cooling season.

An average shower requires half the hot water of a tub bath. That's half the energy and half the cost.

MCES Specialist Urges Efficient Fertilizer Use

MISSISSIPPI STATE — How many times have you heard that fertilizer may be going up or that the product from your pastures might not bring the desired price?

With these two thoughts in mind, you should get all the efficiency possible from the fertilizer that you apply to pastures, says Dr. Hiram Palmertree, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service agronomist. Several things can be done to better utilize or grow more forage for the fertilizer dollar. A soil test will determine your exact fertilizer needs. Soil testing every three years is sufficient. If you have not tested pasture soils in recent years, take samples and send them to the soil testing lab at Mississippi State University, Dr. Palmertree suggests.

Lime makes fertilizer more efficient on acid soils. As an acid soil is limed, the soil releases nutrients that may have been tied up from previous fertilizations, he explains.

According to the agronomist, early season applications of nitrogen are usually more efficient. Most forage produced is grown by early July, the time of the growing season when most rain falls. Therefore, most fertilizer should be applied between April and late June, he advises.

Split applications are also better than one large application. Two small applications, five to eight weeks apart, will grow more forage per fertilizer dollar than will one large fertilizer application, says Dr. Palmertree.

Develop priorities as to where nitrogen will be applied, he suggests. If you are planting either sorghum-sudan or millet for summer grazing or hay, it should receive top priority. These annuals will not produce well without nitrogen fertilization. Permanent pastures for hay should receive the next priority. Hay supply is predicted to be short again next winter; fertilize hay areas adequately.

Third in priority should be bermudagrass permanent pastures. Bermudagrass pastures will respond to high rates of nitrogen fertilizer, but will provide some grazing on low rates if you are trying to stretch your fertilizer dollar, he adds. Hybrid bermudagrass should receive more fertilizer than common bermudagrass because lack of fertilizer on grasses will result in stands and more growth.

The fourth priority receiving nitrogen fertilizer for pastures should be bahiagrass. Bahiagrass will respond well to nitrogen fertilizer, can persist and produce grazing on little or no fertilizer for a year. Bahiagrass is able to grow and maintain stand on lower fertility than the other grasses, Palmertree explains.

With higher fertilizer prices predicted, be efficient in applications, cautions, and grow forage for the fertilizer

Cold Weather Could Damage Crop Insecticide

MISSISSIPPI STATE - Insecticides exposed to freezing temperatures this winter may not be suitable for use, says Dr. David Young, leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service entomology department.

Be cautious about buying bargain-priced insecticides at this time of year, he advises. Be sure they have been stored in a heated warehouse and protected from sub-freezing temperatures. The active ingredients in many insecticides will come out of solution and settle to the bottom of the drum when exposed to freezing temperatures, Dr. Young explains.

When low temperatures cause the active ingredients to settle, these insecticides should be re-formulated at the insecticide plant before they are sold or used. Applying these insecticides to crops can result in damage to the crop and no control of the insects, he warns.

SEVEN CAMPS PLANNED

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College campus will be "buzzing" like a hornet's nest throughout the month of June with the seven summer camps planned for adults and youngsters of Northeast Mississippi.

In addition, there will be a coaches' clinic May 13-14 for area high school coaches in football and basketball.

"Things will be jumping around here," said Bill Ward, head football coach and athletic director. "Not only will we be busy, but it'll be a lot of fun for everyone... especially the campers."

The Junior High Boys Bas-kethall Camp is set for May 29 to June 3; the Girls Basketball Camp, for grades 6 - 12, will be held June 5 - 10; and the Varsity Boys Camp, grades 10 - 12, will be June 12 - 17.

The Junior High Boys Camp is for grades 6 - 9.

The Boys and Girls Tennis Camp, ages 8 - 19, will be held June 5 - 10 with Joey and Shane Langston, of Booneville, serving as instructors. The Langston boys, both attending Millsaps College in Jackson, have won a total of more than 105 trophies in various tournaments and are highly ranked in Mississippi tennis ratings.

An Adult Tennis Camp will be held June 13 - 17 with the Langston brothers teaching the classes. The classes will be held daily from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Then, in the afternoon, the Northeast courts will be available for the students to practice.

Football takes the spotlight June 19 - 24 with the Football Camp for boys age 8-19.

To wrap up the summer camp program, an Activity Camp will be held June 26 through July 1. The entire Northeast physical education department staff will serve as instructors. The Activity Camp will be for boys and girls ages 8-19.

Area head football coaches, Johnny Plummer, of Corinth;

James Drewry, of Booneville; and Hubert Tucker, of Baldwin, will be the guest instructors for the Football Camp.

Fees for the camps will be $75 for regular campers and $60 for day campers in all of the Northeast camps except the Adult Tennis Camp which will be $30. Additional information is available by calling the Northeast Mississippi Junior College at 728-7751.

TISHOMINGO LIBRARY NEWS

A committee under the leadership of Marilla Dawson, chairperson for National Library Week, is now working on the history of the Town of Tishomingo. Several have volunteered their services but we need the help of everyone in order to make the history as complete as possible. So if you have any "bits of information", any old pictures or articles related to the history of the town that you will share with us, won't you please call Marilla at 438-6885 or the library at 438-6302. The information is needed as soon as possible so that it can be compiled and what is completed will be on display in the library during National Library Week, April 17 - 23.

Here are a few of the books received in the library recently: "Trouble in Paradise" by Olmsted, "The Shining" by King, "Rendezvous at the Hollows" by Osborne, "Some Pleasure There to find" by Rossiter, "40 Acres and No Mule" by Giles, "How to Get it Together When Your Parents are Falling Apart" by Richards, "Living in a Nursing Home" by Burger and "Crepes Cook Book". We have also received a number of new paperback books.

Remember the library is now open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, and 12:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Thursday.

BE A DECISION MAKER IN THE DAIRY PROGRAM

A good 4-H dairy project offers you a chance to learn and earn while building your own 4-H dairy herd.

You will learn to make decisions -- which breed, which calf and how to pay for an animal.

After your calf is home and you get over feeling like a new parent, you have even more decisions to make.

What feed, how much and how many times should the calf be fed each day? Your parents, 4-H leaders and friends will always be ready to help you with these decisions.

After developing your own skills in feeding, managing and selecting your 4-H dairy project, you can then help other 4-H members.

Your 4-H activities will include meetings, parties, tours and events to develop your judging and showmanship skills. You will also learn to check your progress by keeping recorde and comparing your project with those owned by 4-H members. By careful selection of animals of good breed you may rapidly expand your project into an entire dairy herd. Your project can be used to your herd and financial education.

Whether you choose to stay on the farm, in the dairy or in a different field, 4-H dairy project experience will be useful. Make a decision now -- enroll in a dairy project.

LETTERS to EDIT

Dear Editor:
Would you please print of my father-in-law's letter to The Vidette 1930's. His name was Carroll, but signed his Bughouse Bigg from Hill. My husband would like to have some of his letters for keepsakes and to our children and grandchildren.

EDITOR'S NOTE:
We would like to compare your request but due to the late 1930's our old papers only go back to 1930. Maybe some of our readers would have old copies with articles that they could send us. We would be glad to re-print them for everyone's enjoyment.

NEW OFFICE — Dr. Harry Cosby, Jr., Iuka, in his new office in the Health Occupations Department at Northeast Mississippi Junior College. Dr. Cosby has taken a position as medical adviser at the college.

NEW MEDICAL ADVISOR AT NORTHEAST

Dr. Harry Cosby, Jr. hopes to help maintain high quality rural medicine by helping train new allied health personnel in his new position as medical adviser to the Health Occupations Department at Northeast

Mississippi Junior College. Since February first, Dr. Cosby has given a doctor's eye view to the training of the health occupations students. He instructs students on ways to help both the physician and the patient, making the health-delivery team a more efficient, patient-oriented unit.

Dr. Cosby spent 27 years as a physician in Iuka, and his nine-bed hospital has become a part of an over 100 patient facility. The 53-year-old Iuka resident gave up his family practice clinic last August to start working at the college. A native of Memphis, he attended Memphis State College (now Memphis State University). Following graduation he attended the University of Tennessee School of Medicine at Memphis, where he graduated at the age of 21. He then entered the United States Army, where he served as a physician in Europe after World War II.

Dr. Cosby and his wife, Mary, who is a graduate of the UT Medical Center's Nursing School, have two sons. One of their sons is following in his father's footsteps, entering the UT Medical School, possibly on his way toward a career as a family practitioner in a rural area. The other son will graduate from high school this year and will attend Northeast on a football scholarship.

For the past three years, Dr. Cosby has been working on a federally funded project that involved the testing of over 40,000 persons in six counties. The series of 37 tests discovered that one out of six people have an untreated illness. He is now working on a report based on that study.

A variety of reasons brought Dr. Cosby to Northeast after 31 years of practicing medicine. By becoming a full-time teacher, Cosby hopes to help allied health students learn what sort of services physicians need and expect.

"The allied health people are an important part of a team with the physician at the head," Cosby said. "Without a trained nurse or LPN, a physician would be just another country man with a bag."

Some of the important tasks he teaches students include interviewing patients and getting needed information quickly; preparing a patient for the doctor and medical bookkeeping, as well as more technical aspects of working in a medical office.

Dr. Cosby doesn't actually teach classes but gives a wide variety of lectures, according to Health Occupations Department head, Quitman Wigginton. He lectures some classes on the role they will play working in a health-care team. He will also lecture on some technical aspects of medicine.

By helping these students get a total view of the field they will be entering, he hopes to provide a good base of support services for physicians practicing in the area; something important for attracting good physicians.

Another part of Dr. Cosby's job will be updating the programs offered at Northeast, as well as helping get American Medical Association accreditation for the various programs. He will also be evaluating the program and suggesting new areas it might enter to help serve the needs of the medical community. "General practitioners aren't the only people who need support help," he stated, "and it's important that we have people trained to help surgeons, radiologists and other specialists so they'll be able to come into the area."

"We believe Dr. Cosby will be that link between the institution and the medical profession," says Northeast President Harold T. White, "to give a better liaison effort between the school, physicians, medical clinics and hospitals."

As part of the innovative new program at Northeast, Dr. Cosby will be an important asset in maintaining high medical standards in Northeast Mississippi and in helping the quality of health care improve by training competent, well-trained support personnel for physicians.

Employment Service News

Charles Smith, Manager of the Corinth Office of the Mississippi State Employment Service, announced that the civilian labor force for Tishomingo County was estimated to be 8,420 persons at mid-February indicating an upward trend from last month and a downward trend from last year. He also stated that unemployment in the county dropped to approximately 750 persons, which is estimated to be 8.9 percent of the civilian labor force, and is expected to decline even more next month. Employment edged up from last month, while it declined from the same period one year ago. Manufacturing employment fell slightly in comparison to the January estimate and the February 1976 estimate, while non-manufacturing employment rose above the estimate for last month and last year.

Smith also stated that the labor force for the four-county area of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, and Tishomingo totaled 39,570 persons reflecting little overall change from the mid-January estimate but a substantial increase from the same period one year ago. Unemployment in the area was estimated to be 3,940 or 10.0 percent of the civilian labor force at mid-February. This reflected a drop from the last estimate but an increase over the February 1976 estimate. Increases in the number of persons employed were noted from the January estimate and the same period one year ago. Although increases were noted in most all categories, the primary increase in employment was found in the Nonagricultural Wage and Salaried group. Employment in the manufacturing industries totaled 13,170 workers during the current month, down only slightly from January and from February one year ago. Nonmanufacturing employment totaled 13,430 at mid-February reflecting increases from last month and last year. The industries experiencing the most increase from last month were transportation and Public Utilities and Government, while primarily all industries contributed to the gain from the current month one year ago.

Mrs. B. L. Mercer went to Memphis last week for a medical check-up.

Mrs. L. E. Skinner left Tuesday for surgery at Coffee Hospital in Florence on Wednesday. She had eye surgery. Word is received that Mr. Noel (Speedy) McNutt is in serious condition in Coffee Hospital in Florence.

Mrs. Jerry McKee went to Booneville Monday for a medical check-up.

Heart Attack

Is that pain in your chest indigestion or could it be an early warning sign of heart attack? If you can't tell the difference, you might make a fatal mistake.

Heart attack strikes and kills more than 670,000 Americans each year. Often, those who have had heart attacks had one or more of the following conditions: high blood pressure, high levels of cholesterol or other fatty substances in the blood, were overweight, diabetic, smoked cigarettes, had little or no exercise, had a family history of heart attack in middle age.

Most heart attack victims, however, survive if they recognize the early warning signals of heart attack and get medical care at once.

Symptoms may vary, but the usual warning signs are:

- *Prolonged, oppressive pain or unusual discomfort in the center of the chest.
- *Pain which radiates to the shoulder, arm neck or jaw.
- *Pain and discomfort accompanied by sweating.
- *Nausea, vomiting and shortness of breath may occur.
- *Symptoms sometimes subside and then return.

Heart attack victims often ignore the warnings, believing that the pain will disappear. Delays such as this can be fatal. If you experience any or a combination of these symptoms, contact your physician at once. Or if a physician isn't available, have someone take you to an emergency room immediately.

To reduce the risk of heart attack, exercise regularly, eat a balanced diet, don't smoke, and control high blood pressure and diabetes. Above all, have medical check ups regularly. Your doctor will be able to advise you as to any special precautions you should take to protect yourself against the risk of heart attack.

Hospital Costs

Government regulations are now costing Mississippi hospital patients at least eleven dollars for every day of stay. For the average patient, this means about $100 when hospitalized.

The figures were released by Robert N. Fulghum, chairman-elect of the Mississippi Hospital Association and Administrator of Aberdeen-Monroe County Hospital. The analysis is part of the Association's endeavor to determine causes of escalation in health care costs and implement plans to control such.

Government mandates through regulatory programs like Medicare, Medicaid, Occupational Health and Safety Act, Equal Employment Opportunity Act, Workmen's Compensation, Minimum Wage Act, Hill-Burton Uncompensated Care and several others all compound the financial picture, indicated Fulghum.

He pointed out that the federal minimum wage and hour law had increased annual costs by $30 million since it was applied to hospitals. "Another example is that of the state charity program" stated Fulghum. While it costs the average hospital $120 to provide a day of care, the state currently pays only $15, a loss of $105 a day. "This loss must be passed on to the paying patient in the form of a hidden tax" said Fulghum.

Costs are further escalated by the government's refusal to pay its full share of the Medicare and Medicaid programs was noted by the Association prexy. Fulghum listed the following areas as being heavily impacted by governmental interference - number of employees, salaries, consultant and accounting fees, cost of legal service, expanded educational programs, and fines paid for law violations.

When the government acts, and it is primarily the federal government, hospitals have relatively little or no control over the situation. "Federal action accounts for a 10 to 15 percent increase in hospital costs and there are more mandates yet to come," was Fulghum's warning.

Tasty Tips from Checkerboard Kitchens

ORANGE AMBROSIA PIE - A HEAVENLY PIE

In Greek mythology, ambrosia was the name given to the food of the gods. The Greeks thought it the source of immortality. Orange Ambrosia Pie doesn't have that capability, but it aptly fits Webster's definition, "something extremely pleasing to the taste or smell."

The pie is a delightful blend of flavors that starts with a cereal crumb crust of bite-size crispy rice squares. Crush the cereal into fine crumbs with rolling pin or blender. Add margarine and press evenly onto bottom and up sides of the pie plate. Fill the baked shell with softened cream cheese, a luscious orange filling and coconut. A heavenly pie and a perfect dessert.

ORANGE AMBROSIA PIE

FILLING

- 3 or 4 oranges, peeled and cut into small pieces, about 2 1/2 cups
- 1/2 cup and 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/2 to 2/3 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut

CRUST

- 4 cups Rice Chex cereal crushed to 1 cup
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted

Mix orange pieces and 1/2 cup sugar. Set aside while preparing crust (recipe below). Drain syrup from oranges. Add enough orange juice to make one cup. Combine cornstarch and 1/3 cup sugar. Add orange juice. Cook and stir over medium heat until very thick and clear. Cool. Combine cream cheese, ginger and milk. Spread on bottom and sides of pie crust. Stir orange pieces into sauce. Pour into crust. Sprinkle with coconut. Chill at least two hours or until sauce is set.

CRUST: Preheat oven to 300°. Butter a 9-inch pie plate. Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and ginger. Add butter. Mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly onto bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake 10 minutes. Cool. Makes one 9-inch pie.
