H. Barco Construction Co., Jacksonville, Fla., has been awarded the contract for excavation at two locations on the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

When the 15 bids for the work were opened, Larry Terry Construction, Inc., of Decatur, Ala., the apparent low bidder, had a cost figure of $1,974,500; after rechecking that bid revealed an error and the firm was permitted to withdraw.

The next lowest bid, by the H. Barco company, was for $2,114. The government estimate was $4,360,000. Other bids ranged upward to $5,922,000.

The work is in the cut section of the waterway in Tishomingo County, Miss. The contract is for the construction of more than two million cubic yards of material at two sites along the proposed path of the waterway.

The area is about two miles south of Burnsville, Miss., and is approximately five miles long. The contractor is required to construct a temporary crossing of Yellow Creek to provide access to the site.

Provisions of the contract call for placing 1,900 sq. yds. of riprap; seeding more than 6,000 square feet of area; spreading 600 tons of seed material.

The contractor also must maintain records of observation and piezometers in the work areas.

The requirements of the contract specify that the work be completed within 540 days. Issuance of a notice to proceed is expected.

Kindergarten Enrollment

Limited enrollment is still available at Iuka Baptist Kindergarten in the four and five year classes. School begins on August 15, and hours are 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. A teacher will be on duty from 7:45 until 12:05 for the convenience of working mothers. The kindergarten is beginning its fourth year of operation and is under the direction of Mrs. Dennis Rushing, a graduate of Northeast Louisiana University. Mrs. Rushing teaches one of the five year classes. Miss Janie Belue, music education graduate of Mississippi State University teaches another five year class, and Mrs. Gene Crane, who has been with the kindergarten since its beginning, teaches the four year olds.

Iuka Baptist Kindergarten provides a well-rounded program, which includes music and art activities, physical education, regular trips to the library, basic educational concepts, and field trips to such places as the Corinth Fire Department, a dairy farm, a cotton patch, a sorghum mill, Coca Cola Bottling Co., and a bakery, as well as many other interesting places.

The main objective of Iuka Baptist Kindergarten is to help the child bridge the gap between home and school, and to achieve readiness for public schools in the wholeness of a Christian environment.

Iuka Woman Convicted In SSI Fraud Case

Velvie Yarbrough Carlile, of Route 3, Iuka, recently appeared before U. S. Magistrate Dudley Carr in Tupelo and pleaded guilty to one count of fraudulently concealing and failing to disclose an event that affected her continued right to receive mother's (widow's) benefits under Title II of the Social Security Act. Judge Carr suspended imposition of sentencing in the case and placed the defendant on two years supervised probation.

According to Charles Williams, Manager of the Corinth Social Security Office, Mrs. Carlile began receiving monthly survivor benefits in 1962 shortly after the death of her husband, Bobby G. Yarbrough. Investigation by the Corinth office revealed that she remarried in September, 1970, and then knowingly concealed from the Social Security Administration the fact of her marriage. Mr. Williams said that as a result of the fraudulent concealment of the event of marriage, Mrs. Carlile (formerly Yarbrough) was incorrectly paid benefits totaling $5,002.60. "All but $371.20 of the total overpayment has been recovered," Williams explained.

North Crossroads Township Sought

Residents of the North Crossroads Community met Thursday night, July 21, and took initial steps to make the settlement of over 100 homes a township.

At last week's meeting, held in the old one-room schoolhouse, the more than 50 residents present formed a committee to find a name and a committee to establish boundaries. They also discussed law enforcement, a fire department and equipment and a sewer system. Steps have already been made in trying to get a post office and water from the J.P. Coleman Water System is available.

Bennett Curtis, 68, a retired employee of the U. S. Engineers, served as unofficial leader of the incorporation drive. He fielded questions from the group while a legal pad circulated among the crowd. Everyone who signed the attendance roll was for the incorporation, except for two people who were concerned about zoning ordinances.

A boundary committee was formed consisting of Carlos Harris, Lynn Dill and Oscar "Hammer" Arnold. During the next month the three will visit homes, asking residents where the boundaries of the town should be.

At the next meeting in about one month, the group will vote on the boundaries, then secure an attorney to draw up papers for the town. Registered voters will be petitioned. The papers and petition will be submitted to the county judge for approval. The application then goes to Mississippi Attorney General A. F. Summer for final approval.

Curtis said that during the period before the next general election, the governor will appoint a temporary mayor and board of aldermen.

North Crossroads is located about four miles south of the Tennessee State Line and eight miles north of Iuka at the intersection of Highways 365 and 25. The community has been around since about 1900. It has seen cotton gins and saw mills come and go but the people are anticipating the building of the Tenn-Tom Waterway, the Yellow Creek Nuclear Plant and the Yellow Creek Port as permanent growth stimulators for the area.

The Iuka Baptist Church will hold their fourth annual "Service Under the Stars" at Jaybird Park in Iuka, Sunday night, July 31, at 8:00.

The Pastor, Charles Dampier, will bring the message of the evening.

This service is usually characterized by large attendance and a number of visitors from other churches worshipping in the service.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

HOW TO PLAN COLOR FOR YOUR WARDROBE
Color selection is not simple, but with a little intelligent studying and experimenting, you can make it work for you. The colors you choose to wear are determined by many things -- how you "feel" about a color, what your personal characteristics are, your personality and your pocketbook.

SELECTING BECOMING COLORS
A color that "becomes" you is one that emphasizes your best features and calls less attention to your not-so-attractive ones.

Your skin has a lot to do with the colors you can wear effectively. If it is clear, not very light, nor very dark and has no yellow tones, you can wear many colors.

If it is yellowish or shallow, try rich tones of brown, blue-greens, clear dark reds or greens -- any colors that do not have yellow or violet in them. They emphasize yellow skin tones.

If your skin has red tones, try cool colors and light pastels other than green. Bright colors usually give emphasis to the red tones or a complexion that is not too clear.

Pastels usually are becoming to a delicate complexion, especially if hair is light. Girls with strong color contrasts usually wear bright colors well.

Your hair is important, too. If you want to emphasize the color of your hair, wear colors that contrast or colors that are related. You should keep in mind that the color you choose to emphasize your hair must also be flattering to your skin.

Your eyes may be your nicest feature. If they are, accent them. For example, blue eyes will appear intense if you wear a blue dress. Bright colors make dark eyes seem darker and light eyes seem lighter.

Blue-gray eyes can look blue or gray, according to the color you wear.

Your size can appear to change with colors, too. Bright colors -- red, yellow, orange and white, too will probably make you appear larger. To appear smaller, choose blue, green and violet in duller intensities or black or navy.

Your personality is also a factor to consider in making color decisions. Gay colors seem especially appropriate if you are vivacious. If you're more reserved, choose subdued colors -- but you may accent them with livelier ones -- and too, you must like a color before you can feel "at home" in it.

ACCIDENT DEATHS INCREASED IN 1976

some degree of permanent impairment, ranging from partial loss of use of a finger to blindness or complete crippling. Property damage costs amounted to $29,495, an increase over 1975.

Accidents in our state are a serious problem. Studies show that 9 out of 10, or nearly 90 percent of the traffic accidents are a result of driving errors; the other 10 percent were a result of mechanical failure or of road conditions.

A driver faces a challenge every time he starts out to drive anywhere. His job is to get his automobile from one place to another without an accident.

That doesn't sound too difficult, until you realize that there are many chances for accidents, even on a short trip. Research has shown that under common driving conditions, there are an average of 200 potential accident-producing situations per mile.

Many things go into making a good driver, but the most significant of these is the ability to spot hazards or dangers. It is necessary to sense them before they become obvious and just as important to know what to do about them in time to avoid an accident.

Experts usually say that the only reason teenagers have more than their share of accidents is that they lack experience. What they really mean is that they lack experience in recognizing and coping with driving hazards.

Join the 4-H Wheel Program and start getting that experience before you drive. The ability to recognize hazards can be developed through study and practice. The ability to spot clues of possible danger may mean the difference between life and death.

ADD NEW LIFE TO YOUR LIVING SPACE

Creating living spaces that make for happier, more comfortable and carefree living is exciting. The results should be both pleasing and practical. This is what the 4-H home environment project is all about.

4-H members are naturally curious about and interested in spaces around them. 4-H members enrolled in the 4-H home environment project have a chance to discover new things about the spaces they share intimately with their family and friends. Members also have an opportunity to learn about the things in their environment that influence them most.

Ground Rules:

There are no "right ways" or "wrong ways" for utilizing one's living spaces. What is satisfactory for one may be less pleasing or comfortable for someone else.

A 4-H'er should not feel ashamed of or intimidated by his home surrounding. He should try to understand and accept them.

A home environment project does not need to cost a lot of money. Many learning experiences can be fostered that do not require the use of money, just imagination and energy.

In the 4-H home environment project members may focus on home furnishings, equipment or housing, or a combination of these. However, all will involve color, texture and design as they relate to living spaces. So getting acquainted with these elements is a good place to begin.

Color is the most meaningful medium of self expression. 4-H'ers can get a "feel" of color by making a color wheel, mixing color from tempera paints or making color collages.

Texture provides a richness to life. Members can develop a sensitivity to texture by planning a nature walk and touching the surface of different items within a room while blindfolded.

Design gives size, shape and form to objects. 4-H'ers can become more aware of design by identifying several similar items, such as baseballs, basketballs or tennis balls, or learning how a "T" or arrow added to lines of the same length can make them appear different.

Contact your local County Extension Office for information on how you can enroll in the 4-H home environment project. Request a copy of "Color -- Texture -- Design -- In Space".

The member manual, "Spruce Up Your Pad", suggests several activities for beginning, intermediate and advanced members.

IT'S CROP REPORTING TIME:

Farm operators of all farms, with or without an allotment, are requested to report planted acreage of cotton, corn, peanuts, grain sorghum, and wheat to the Tishomingo County ASCS Office. Even if none of these crops are planted, it is still necessary to report. The deadline to report is August 1, 1977.

CATTLE PRODUCERS FAIL TO APPROVE BEEF RESEARCH & INFORMATION PROGRAM:

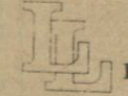

Preliminary results of a Nationwide Referendum indicate that cattle producers have turned down a National Beef Research and Information Program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which conducted the referendum, reports that 322,175 beef producers registered to vote in the Referendum, 231,046 or 72 percent voted and, of those, 130,464 or 56.5 percent voted affirmatively. The Beef Research and Information Act was signed into law in May 1976, but before provisions of the act could become effective, (1) eligible beef producers had to register to vote, (2) at least 50 percent of those registered had to vote, and (3) two-thirds needed to vote affirmatively.

CORN SILAGE HARVEST:

Corn silage harvest will begin during July in Mississippi. Harvesting at the proper time is an important part of good quality corn silage production. Most producers tend to harvest too early. Wait until the grain is in the full dent stage to begin harvesting. Grain moisture should be about 35 percent and the whole plant moisture should be about 65 percent.

Keep harvesting equipment in good condition. Knives must be sharp enough to get a good, clean cut. Good cutting helps assure proper packing.

WASP PROBLEM:

Wasps are a problem when they build nests under the eaves of homes or in shrubbery.

Night is the best time to destroy wasp nests. Most of the wasps are on the nest at night, so you will kill larger numbers. Because they are less active at night, you are less likely to get stung. It is still necessary to work quickly, however.

Two or three puffs of a recommended insecticide dust or spray will usually kill the entire colony within 24 hours.

SAFETY EMBLEMS:

The fluorescent material on slow moving vehicle signs used on farm equipment often fades within two or three years. Damaged or faded slow moving vehicle signs are difficult to see and lose their effectiveness as warning emblems. Check these important signs on your farm equipment to see if they need replacing. Safety on the farm is an excellent investment.

CARE FOR FIG TREES:

Fig trees need proper care to stay healthy and productive. Applications of fertilizer will help keep them in top shape. The recommended rate is one-third pound of eight-eight-eight fertilizer for one and two year old trees. Apply in mid-July and again in mid-August. Apply fertilizer to older, larger trees in late July. Local County Extension offices have detailed information on caring for fruit trees.

TIME FOR SOIL SAMPLES:

Take soil samples now to determine lime and fertilizer needs for pasture or for row cropland to be planted this fall. Soil testing takes the guesswork out of lime and fertilizer programs. Be certain to obtain a representative sample from each field to be tested. This assures a sound recommendation from the soil testing laboratory. Poor samples will result in inaccurate recommendations. Local County Extension Agents have complete directions for taking soil samples.

The following article recently appeared in the Delta Farm Press:

SAFETY

National Farm Safety Week, to be observed July 25-31, marks the 34th consecutive year for the special safety campaign that is co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A proclamation from President Jimmy Carter has set aside those dates to call attention to the observance.

The theme this year is "Safety is a good investment".

Originated to reduce losses that impaired wartime agricultural production, Farm Safety Week is now focused on accident problems that destroy human and economic resources in agricultural communities.

Its aim is to provide prevention measures for agricultural producers and those who work with and serve them.

This year, emphasis is on the wisdom of making a personal and financial investment in safety in order to help reduce the human and economic losses from accidents.

Accidents in 1976 claimed the lives of approximately 5,400 farm residents and caused about 500,000 disabling injuries. The total dollar loss attributed to the accidents, injuries, and deaths now reaches $1 billion annually.

Agriculture is the biggest industry, the Council points out, with running into hundreds of dollars. Farmers have substantial investments in land, equipment, and of their time, energy, skill, and operation of their enterprise. Making an investment in safety can pay impressive dividends. It can help prevent sadness, and disruption of family life. It can also help keep on the job full-time. Improved safety training, and education, large part responsible for declining death rate in accidents. But as Carter points out, such alone are of little value. Safety is made a personal commitment, and an integral of everyday farm life.

Farmers can achieve investing time and adopting safer ways of playing, and driving.

Hot weather means a bigger bill

Your electric usage rises with any extreme in temperature, either hot or cold -- simply because you use more kilowatt hours to stay comfortable. Right now your air conditioner is probably having to work overtime to keep you cool enough. Also you're probably using more hot water. Your active family is taking more baths and you're washing more loads of clothes.

If your next electric bill is higher than you expected, just remember -- when you use more kilowatt hours, you pay more. It's that simple.

They wore white garden hats trimmed with pastel daisies to match their dresses. They carried white Bibles, a gift of the bride, centered with pastel daisies and ribbon. Miss Tracy Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roberts, of Hamilton, Alabama, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a green gauze dress and dropped rose petals from a white basket. Mr. Jerry Long, of Iuka, served as best man. Other groomsmen were Kenneth Sewell, Carl Parker, Mike Mills and Kenny Phifer, cousin of the groom. Master Jay Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carpenter, served as ring-bearer. He carried a heart-shaped white satin pillow made by Mrs. Veola Duncan, of Dorsey.

Lighting the tapers were Tim Davis, brother of the bride, and Andy Tatum. Also serving as ushers were Benny Phifer and Billy Phifer, cousins of the groom.

Presiding at the registry table was Miss Kathy Morris, of Diana, Texas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a pink, floor-length gown of Quiana crepe. Mrs. Phifer wore an apricot floor-length dress of Quiana. Both mothers wore royal orchid corsages.

Upon leaving for the honeymoon, the bride wore a turquoise blue dress of Quiana. Her gold bar necklace, which was engraved with her new initials, was a gift of the groom. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Davis entertained the wedding party and guests with a reception in the social hall of the church. The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and held a floral centerpiece. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white doves and rainbow colored sugar roses. The cake, which was topped with the traditional bride and groom, was served by Mrs. Barbara Morris, of Diana, Texas.

Serving pink punch from a crystal punch bowl was Mrs. Jane Brown, of Dorsey.

The groom's table held a two-tiered chocolate cake decorated as a baseball diamond. Bullards Visit In Alaska Duane and Vicki Bullard recently returned from a two week vacation in Alaska. While there, they stayed as guests in the home of Art and Sherri Day in Anchorage. Mr. and Mrs. Day are serving as summer parents for Don Robinson, Vicki's brother, while he is playing baseball in the Alaskan Summer Baseball League. Don is a member of the Anchorage Glacier Pilots. While in Alaska, Duane and Vicki visited Mt. McKinley National Park, Alyeska Ski Resort, Portage Glacier, the Matanuska Valley, and took a sightseeing trip to plane to the outer regions of Alaska, not to mention seeing a baseball game everyday and many other interesting spots.

On returning from Alaska, Duane and Vicki stopped off in Chicago to spend some time with Rickey Bullard, Duane's brother. Rickey is in medical school at the University of Illinois School of Podiatry. While in Chicago, Duane and Vickie saw the National Science Museum, Lincoln Park Zoo, Woodville Mall (largest shopping center in the world), and the Chicago Cubs, along with quite a few other places. The following is an article that appeared in the Anchorage Daily News, July 8th, and brought to Don's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Robinson, by Vicki and Duane:

A PILOT BLITZ, 6-1
By Ben Grenn

Daily News Sports Editor
If Mrs. Robinson is wondering where her son, Don, is... he's alive and pitching well in Kenai.

Robinson, a Pilot hurler from Mississippi State, scattered five hits, enroute to his third straight victory as the Anchorage Glacier Pilots routed the Peninsula Oilers 6-1 Thursday in Kenai.

The lanky right-hander gave up five singles in going the distance for the first time this season, raising his record to 3-0.

Robinson, a second-year Pilot, was backed up by a 16-hit attack, five of those by shortstop Greg Cypret, who had a perfect night at the plate, going 5-5, all singles.

The Pilots, rebounding from a 3-2 loss to Fairbanks on Wednesday night, banged out 14 safeties and two doubles off two Oiler pitchers.

The Oiler starter, Rick Keeton, 3-2, lasted six and two-thirds innings, before he got the hook from Manager Mark Neuman in favor of John Butcher.

Keeton was shelled for 13 hits, two walks, and he struck out one. He allowed all the Pilot runs.

Butcher, making his last appearance for the Oilers, surrendered three hits in the two and one-third innings he worked. Butcher signed with the Texas Rangers of the American League.

The Pilots, who boost their Alaska League record to 16-5 and 21-7 overall, got at least one base-hit in every inning.

The loss drops the Oilers to 8-13, eight games behind the league-leading Pilots. The Pilots started the uprising in the third inning, when Skeeter Rivas, the Pilot second baseman rapped a single to left after two outs. Rivas came around to score on a double to right by catcher Chris Bando, who went 2-5 on the evening. The Pilots added two more insurance runs in the seventh, behind two hits and three Oiler errors.

With one out, Hicks picked up the 12th Anchorage hit, a single to left. Designated-hitter Jamie Allen fanned, but Steve Michael, the only Pilot not to get a hit, lined one off Keeton for an error, plating Hicks on the play. Cypret, lined his fourth hit of the night, a single, knocking in Michael. Exit Keeton. Enter Butcher, who stopped the rout from going any further, giving up a hit in the eighth frame and two more in the ninth.

Robinson, who pitched six straight shutout innings, was touched for the only run in the seventh.

After two outs, Schapiro drew a base-on-balls, the fourth one issued by Robinson. Second baseman Dave Perez then singled sending Schapiro to third and snuffed Robinson's chance for a shutout as Bob Burnell's grounder to Cypret was gobbled up, but the throw to first was wild of the first base mark. Manager Marcel Lachemann is going with left-hander Steve Howe, 3-1, for tonight's game in Kenai. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

The Pilots wind up their stay in Kenai on Sunday with the fourth game of the current series.

IHS VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

They attended the Northeast Cheerleader Camp at NEMJC July 5 through 9, and received five superior ribbons for their outstanding performances. They also brought home a Super Star

Locals To Attend University

Two Iuka residents recently participated in a Counseling and Pre-Registration conference at the University of Mississippi. Barry Dale Grisham and Angela Paulette South will begin their studies at Ole Miss this fall.

The purpose of the series of five-day conferences for high school graduates and transfer students is to give new students a preview of life at Ole Miss.

Professional counselors aid students in selecting courses of study, and students are allowed to pre-register for fall semester.

Students also are given an opportunity to participate in summer campus activities and to meet students, faculty members and University officials.

Park Scene Of Scruggs Reunion

A reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. Phinn Scruggs families was held on June 12, at the Iuka Spring Park. This was the first such event to be held, but was decided to make this an annual gathering. Family members started gathering around 9:30; then by noon a good number of relatives had arrived. A bountiful lunch was spread under the huge oaks, and everyone enjoyed the good food. Most of the day was spent getting acquainted with those seldom seen, and reminiscing of events in times past. Also, there were moments of remembering those loved ones who are now deceased. Milton Scruggs acted as spokesman for the clan. He recognized the oldest relative there as Mr. Jobe Scruggs, who is 78. However, later in the afternoon, another relative, Mr. R.C. Grisham, who is 89, came by for a visit. They both looked "spry as spring chickens". Also, little Matt Scruggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Scruggs, of Florence, Alabama, was recognized as the youngest of the clan. Billie Scruggs Royal and husband, Bill, were recognized as having traveled the longest distance to the reunion. There was a close second with Mr. and Mrs. John Scruggs, Jr., who drove up from Natchez, Miss. The Royals came from Columbus, Ga. A total of 80 relatives signed the register. Those who attended were: Jobe H. Scruggs, Anna Scruggs, Mary S. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. R. C.
