Mrs. Mildred Ramsey Earns A.R.T. Certification Title

Ramsey's achievement relieves the hospital of securing an outside consultant.

Mrs. Ramsey has four employees working under her supervision in the Medical Records Department. These employees have as little if not the least amount of patient contact as any other department in the hospital, but the function they perform is of a most vital nature to patients, doctors and nurses. Their work is of an extremely confidential nature, having to do with the medical history and current progress of each patient. The duties include assembling patient charts, putting information into a discharge analysis book, transcribing all doctor's dictation, including history and physical of patients, discharge summaries, X-ray and operative procedures, consultations and some pathology, emergency room records, coding, indexing of diseases, birth records, death reports, filing and insurance requests. The Medical Records Department microfilms records in order to preserve them and the microfilming process saves space.

Mrs. Mildred Ramsey has the honor of being the first Certified Medical Records Librarian of the Tishomingo County Hospital.

Mrs. Ramsey has just completed a two year course, sponsored by the American Medical Records Association. The two year course was climaxed by the National Examination given in Memphis last April. Mrs. Ramsey has been advised that she successfully passed the all day test and has been awarded the title A.R.T. (Accredited Records Technician) for her many hours of hard study and her dedication to this particular medical field. The examination covered all facets of hospital procedures including Anatomy, Health Statistics, Medical Records Science, Medical Terminology, Medical Coding, ICD-9CM Coding.

In past years the Tishomingo County Hospital has not had a Medical Records Department Head with these qualifications and has had to comply with medical standards by engaging a consultant who visited the hospital periodically. Mrs.

Mrs. Ramsey began her hospital career thirteen years ago in the Medical Records Department, and shortly after employment she spent time in Bookkeeping, utilization Review, P.S.R.O., Committee's Assistant for Medical Audits, and Admissions. She has been in the Medical Records Department exclusively for the past three years. Association with the different departments, Mrs. Ramsey feels, has broadened her knowledge of hospital procedures and this background is extremely valuable to her in her new position.

Mrs. Ramsey is the wife of Jack Ramsey, who is Vice-President of the First American National Bank, in luka, and they are the parents of two sons, Randy, age 14, and Brian, age 9. The Ramseys reside in luka.

The Tishomingo County Hospital is very fortunate to have Mrs. Ramsey as the capacity of A.R.T., and in turn, Mrs. Ramsey expresses the deepest gratitude to the hospital for its support of her while she prepared herself for this position and for supporting her during this most difficult examination. Mrs. Ramsey is one of the very few who have successfully completed this examination.

Service Releases Latest Figures On Employment

The number of Tishomingo County residents employed edged up some 110 individuals over the month while the number of individuals unemployed dropped some 150 from last month. These changes caused the overall labor force to decline a minimal 40 at mid-April. However, compared to one year ago, both employment and unemployment are up, as well as the labor force.

According to the latest figures prepared by the Mississippi State Employment Service, there were 620 Tishomingo County residents unemployed at mid-April, or 5.7 percent of the civilian labor force. This compares with 7.1 percent last month and 5.2 percent one year ago.

Establishment based employment in the County, composed of manufacturing and nonmanufacturing industries, dipped slightly over the month to reach 9,640 with an increase of 350 from one year ago. Manufacturing employment rose minimally over the month but was offset by a loss in nonmanufacturing. Yearly comparisons indicate that manufacturing employment remained relatively the same while nonmanufacturing contributed a 350 increase.

Statistics also reveal that the total civilian labor force for the four-county area of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, and Tishomingo dropped to 45,090 at mid-April, reflecting a loss of 700 from the previous month. However, from the same reporting one year ago, there was a significant increase of 2,180. The number of individuals unemployed declined from 3,850 in March to 3,220 in April, compared to 2,300 one year ago. The area rate of unemployment stood at 7.1 percent, compared to 8.4 percent last month and 5.4 percent one year ago.

HOME HEALTH

There will be a training meeting on "Home Health" on Monday, June 2, 1980, at 1 p.m. at the Iuka Library, and on Tuesday, June 3, 1980, at 1:30 p.m. at the Belmont Library. The public is invited to attend.

FREEZING PREPARED FOODS AT HOME

Food science and technology have brought big changes in daily meal preparation. With a food freezer you can prepare anything from meat balls to cream puffs, store them in the freezer, and have them ready for busy-day meals or parties.

You can save time, energy and freezing costs by using your food freezer wisely. Keep the freezer, that full-time servant, full the year 'round. Use space not filled with meats, fruits and vegetables for prepared foods. Let cooking for the freezer come with regular meal preparation. One meal will be prepared and the others will be ready as "free meals" when you plan for them. Usually, it is best to package individual dishes - rather than a complete meal. Plan ahead and organize for the job.

Today's freezing techniques make it possible for you to:

Prepare foods at a convenient time.

Increase recipes to use now and freeze for later.

Prepare party refreshments ahead of time.

Prepare meals for busy days or unexpected guests.

Prepare foods for packed lunches, special diets, and snacks.

Reduce shopping trips and take advantage of "specials".

Important considerations

1. It will be to your advantage to freeze those prepared foods which:

Are seasonal and/or plentiful.

Required a little more time to prepare in quantity than in small amounts.

Require a long time to prepare or to cook.

Use a variety of ingredients.

Demand certain skills and care in preparation.

Demand little time and attention from freezer to table.

Maintain their quality for a reasonable storage period.

2. Most frozen prepared foods have a relatively short storage period because:

Color may fade.

Textures may become soggy.

Flavors may be weakened or changed.

Combined foods may not freeze in the same way that their individual ingredients do.

3. No special recipes are necessary; use your favorite or a standard one. If you increase a family-size recipe two or four times, the proportions may differ slightly.

4. Quick cooling is a must because it:

Stops the cooking process.

Helps retain the natural flavor, color, and texture of the product.

Retards the growth of bacteria.

5. Package in family-size, air-tight, moisture-vapor resistant containers.

Label each package.

6. Quick freeze to prevent loss of flavor, texture, and food value.

7. Keep all frozen foods stored at 0 degrees or lower temperature.

CONTROL ATROPHIC RHINITIS

Swine producers should check their herds for signs of atrophic rhinitis. Extension Veterinarian Dr. Ashby Green says this swine disease slows growth and inhibits feed efficiency. Symptoms of atrophic rhinitis include sneezing, sniffing, snorting and coughing. The disease causes the bones in the swine's nose to waste away or fail to grow properly. Control atrophic rhinitis with a vaccination program.

STAKING TOMATO PLANTS

Increase your tomato production by staking plants correctly. Extension Horticulturist Dr. Milo Burnham says when staking tomato plants, place the stake on the side of the stem opposite the flower cluster. This prevents the fruit from being squeezed between the plant and the stake. When tying the plant to the stake, place the tie immediately above the flower rather than below it. This prevents fruit clusters from being torn from the plant as they develop.

FIREANTS

Fireants are a threat throughout the state. Extension Pest Management Specialist Dr. Ted Brook says even though mirex and ferriamicide are no longer available, several other insecticides can be used. Chlordane, diazinon, sevin and dursban are effective against fireants.

To treat a mound, dig a small trench two to three inches wide and two inches deep around the mound. By treating this area, you will reach the foraging tunnels that radiate from the mound. Dr. Brook says gasoline is not recommended, but fumigation is an effective control. Remember to read and follow label directions carefully.

ASCS Farm News

By: Henry L. Knox, County Director

ASCS to measure crops by "Aerial Observation" - ASCS offices in Mississippi have come up with a new method of determining crop acreages this year. Elmer South, Chairperson of the Tishomingo County ASCS Office had this to say about it: "The aerial observation method of determining acreages is resulting in a huge savings to taxpayers over the old way of using photographs and ground measurements. Furthermore, we believe that it will result in greater accuracy of measurements."

South went on to say that the new method called for taking 35mm slides from about 7,000 feet above ground. This is done by cutting a hole in the bottom of a light plane and mounting a camera from which the pictures are taken. When the pictures are enlarged, the crop planted in each field can be detected. The pictures are then projected onto a flat surface from which acreages are determined by planimetry.

D.L. Triggs, Jr., State ASCS Director, said, "to qualify for price support and other benefits farmers must certify in the County ASCS Office his acreages of corn, grain, sorghum, wheat, rice, cotton, soybeans, etc. ASCS determines acreages on a random sample of farms to verify the accuracy of the farm certification by the farmer. Farms found to be out of tolerance are subject to lose all benefits to the farmer. Accordingly, it is important for acreage measurements to be accurate."

The aerial observation method of determining acreages began in Mississippi in 1978 with five pilot counties. Since then, the system has been refined. Many innovations tried and developed by ASCS in Mississippi have been put to use in other sections of the country. One such development is the use of infrared film which can penetrate haze and give clear sharp pictures of a farm when other film could not be used. The infrared pictures have considerable other potential benefits for farmers. This film shows crops in stress plainly and many farmers will find this a useful tool in managing the treatment of fields. In counties where available, farmers can obtain copies of these slides for nominal cost or visit the ASCS office and view slides of the farm.

USDA extends comment period on beekeeper indemnity payment program termination - The comment period on a proposal to terminate the U.S. Department of Agriculture's beekeeper indemnity payment program, originally scheduled to end April 29, has been extended 30 days until June 12, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of USDA's ASCS.

Under the proposal, beekeepers whose bees are killed by insecticides approved for use by the government would no longer be eligible for federal indemnity payments. The program originally was scheduled to be terminated May 15.

Fitzgerald said the comment period was being extended to allow interested parties more time to familiarize themselves with the information, determine the impact and prepare their responses.

All comments on the proposal should be sent to Bob Cook, ASCS-EIPA, USDA, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Jehovah's Witnesses Assembled

The Iuka Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses was among a crowd of 746 assembled in Memphis, Tenn., Sunday, to hear a public address by their District Overseer, F.R. Bartell. His sermon, "To Whom Does the Obedience of the People Belong?" discussed obedience within the Christian congregation and within the family circle. He declared, "Jehovah's blessing is actually contingent upon a person's or people's demonstrating obedience to him: His Son, Christ Jesus, now leads all disciples earth wide in a mighty work of Kingdom-preaching and disciple making."

"Now is the time of all time to show that we have the mental attitude that was in Christ Jesus, and that we do indeed submit to his headship today." The Witnesses believe that the "Kingdom" is a real government that will rule the earth from heaven. They emphasize that submission to Jesus' authority will put one in a position to receive the benefits of that government.

NEMJC To Coordinate Carpools

Students who are hesitant about attending summer school five days a week because of the high rise in gasoline prices should worry no more. Northeast Mississippi Junior College is currently making every effort to coordinate a carpool system in your area.

"A first in the history of Northeast, we are attempting to alleviate the student of any undue stress concerning transportation during the summer terms," according to Bobby D. Cox, Director of Student Activities at Northeast.

Tishomingo County News - Vidette - Belmont

The plan, according to Cox, is to identify those students who need transportation to the college and those students who need riders to share in the expense of operating their car. Once the students have been identified our job will be to put them in contact with carpools in their particular area.

Response to the effort has been quite high and we expect it to continue increasing within the next two weeks. Registration for the first term of summer school is May 30, with classes beginning June 2.

Students who are interested in getting into a carpool for either the day or evening classes should contact Bobby D. Cox at 728-7751, or toll free 1-728-7759, ext. 274.

The Nails of the Cross

John tells us that Christ had "prints of the nails" in his hands (John 20:25). Matthew tells us that the mob on the hill of Calvary challenged Christ to "come down from the cross" (Matt. 27:40). What was it that held Christ to the cross?

1. It was not the nails that held him to the cross. He had the power to remove the nails. He could have called "more than twelve legions of angels" to help and remove him from the cross (Matt. 26:53). He who had power to still the storm, feed the multitude, and raise the dead could have removed the nails. That crowd could not have killed Christ if he had not wished to do his father's will. "Therefore doth the father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it up again. No man taketh it away from me, but I lay it down of myself" (John 10:17-18).

2. The father's will and wish held him to the cross. Jesus prayed in the garden and said: "My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass away from me; nevertheless, not as I will but as thou wilt" (Matt. 26:39). It was the will of God that his Son become the "propitiation" that is an atoning sacrifice for our sins (I John 2:2). The Savior's love and our sins held Christ on the tree.

3. God's eternal purpose held Christ to the cross. Jesus died to purchase the church with his own blood (Acts 20:28). The church is the institution through which the eternal purpose of God is to be made known to the world (Eph. 3:10). Without the death of Christ, God's purpose for the world would have been aborted. Thus his love for God and man held him to the cross and not the nails.

4. The joy set before Christ held him to the cross. In the Hebrew letter we learn that "the author and perfecter of our faith" disregarded his suffering and "FOR THE JOY SET BEFORE HIM ENDURED THE CROSS, DESPISING THE SHAME" (Heb. 12:2). The mocking by the angry mob at the feet of the cross was ignored by Christ because of the "joy set before him."

Neither the lack of power

nor the nails held Jesus to the cross. His resignation to the will of God and his love for the souls of mankind bound him to the tree on which he died. Our love for God and his Son should cause us to remain faithful in the kingdom of God, despite the mockings of all who would have us depart from the path of duty.

The Love of a mother

Mother's Day comes during the lovely month of May when the outdoors in its adornment of flowers, green grass, blossoming trees, blue skies, and nostalgic days.

In the following lines, famous people write about what the love of a mother has meant to them: "My memories of my mother will never cease to be a blessing to me." Thomas A. Edison. "A mother's love outlives all things." Oliver Wendell Holmes. "All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." "No man is poor who has a Godly mother." - Abe Lincoln.

And in God's Word, the Holy Bible, there is much which is said about mothers. In the fifth commandment, it says, "Honour your father and your mother." As children, we obey our parents and after we grow up, we honour them.

In Proverbs 31:10, we find these words: "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." And in a summary of the rest of this chapter, we find these thoughts: "She does her work with love in her heart; . . . she stretcheth out her hand to the poor; . . . she is wise, . . . she is kind, . . . her husband praiseth her and her children call her blessed; and let her works for her children and for the Lord praise her in the gates."

The Bible is full of the stories of Mothers. For instance, there is Jochebed, the mother of Moses. Think of the great faith she had in God when she placed her son in the crude basket in the bullrushes. God in His infinite wisdom made it possible for her to care for and to train her own son in the ways of the Lord.

Hannah prayed to God asking for a son in return promised to give him to serve the Lord. Her heart must have been broken, but she kept her promise and Samuel served the Lord under the guidance of Eli and later became a priest for God. You, too, can see that your children serve the Lord by early leading them to Him.

The story of Rizpah pulls at the heart's strings, for she watched by the dead bodies of her two sons, chasing the animals away at night by a torch lighted from the fire and from scavenger birds during the day. She did this for days until they could have a decent burial for these two sons who had been killed in battle. The love of a mother for her own continues even after death.

Timothy, his mother, Eunice, and grandmother, Lois, lived together with the love of God indwelling them. When Timothy was "born again" and saved from his sins, God was not new to him. His mother, Eunice, and grandmother, Lois, had seen to it that Timothy was trained in the Scriptures. The Bible counsels: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Prov. 22:6)

Jesus held home ties as sacred ones, and even on the cross, He thought about His mother and His words, as He looked to Mary, were: "Woman, behold thy son!"; and then He saith to the disciple (John the beloved), "Behold thy mother!" (St. John 19:26-27).

A Godly mother finds time to spend with the Lord each day in training her children in the way of the Bible. This means praying, going to Church School and church, reading, hearing, and studying the Bible, following its teachings, and working for the Lord. Feed upon the Word of God so that you may grow spiritually and hence be an example to your children.

$200,000,000 Newsprint Mill Planned For North Miss.

Plans for a $200,000,000 newsprint mill will be located in north Mississippi were announced last week by Governor William Winter.

At capacity, the single machine mill will produce 200,000 tons of newsprint annually. Subject to the results of a feasibility study, start up is scheduled for early 1983.
The Governor said the existence of a mill in the northern part of the State will provide an excellent and sustaining market for the pulpwood located in a 100-mile radius of the mill site.

The project will provide substantial employment at the mill. In addition, jobs will be provided for cutting and hauling in the woodlands.
Ownership will be a three-way partnership consisting of Mississippi landowners, a group of 13 Southern newspaper publishers and an established newsprint producer. The Governor emphasized that an agreement in principle has been reached among the three partner groups.

The plan calls for the landowners to commit woodlands to supply at competitive prices the necessary pulpwood for the mill's operation.
This is estimated to be approximately 250,000 acres.
The publisher group will guarantee the purchase of 100 percent of the mill's output. The producer will supervise the engineering and construction and will operate the facility.

The manufacturing process will be thermo-mechanical pulp, a method which uses only a small percent of chemical pulp and which is odor free and relatively free of other forms of air and water pollution.

The landowners' group will form a cooperative to seek major financing for the plant's construction from the New Orleans Bank for Cooperatives.

The publisher group represents newspapers in nine Southern states, all located within a 500-mile radius of the mill site. Chairman of the publishers committee is Cyrus MacKinnon, president of the Louisville Courier-Journal & Times.
Owen Cooper, former chief executive officer of Mississippi Chemical Corporation, heads the group organizing the landowners' cooperative. A series of landowner organizational meetings are planned for later this month in Grenada, Pittsboro, Oxford, Eupora and Winona.

Site selection has not been made but negotiations are underway with several landowners in northern Mississippi.

This project has been a coordinated state agencyuniversity team effort with the involvement of the Mississippi Department of Economic Development, the Food and Fiber Center, Cooperative Extension Service, Mississippi State University, the Mississippi R & D Center, and assistance from utilities and other development groups.

The Mississippi Department of Economic Development (formerly A & I Board) funded the initial feasibility study and coordinated efforts to bring the project to a successful conclusion. The Food and Fiber Center has and will continue to be involved in working with the farmer organizations, providing educational and technical services.

FmHA Proposes Changes

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is placing increased emphasis on energy conservation in its loan and grant programs, according to Alex Mercure, Assistant Agriculture Secretary for Rural Development.

FmHA, the credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has issued proposed changes in its housing regulations to encourage greater energy efficiency and the use of solar systems where possible.

The agency has also issued directives to its staff throughout the country to give a higher priority to conserving oil and natural gas when considering loans and grants for business and industry, community facilities, water and waste disposal systems, industrial development, rural planning grants and farmers programs.

Under the proposed changes, FmHA will issue minimum passive solar design standards and give "appropriate appraisal credit" to builders who install solar or other energy conserving features. Borrowers would benefit through lower utility costs and may be eligible for energy tax credits.

Builders using FmHA financing would be required to consider energy conservation when selecting housing sites and to construct buildings so they face the south wherever that is practical.

Before any rent increases for FmHA financed apartments could be approved, managers would have to obtain an energy audit and may be required to install energy saving features. Additional FmHA assistance would be available to cover the cost of such improvements, Mercure said.

The public is invited to make suggestions and comments by July 7, on the rule changes which appear in the May 7 issue of the Federal Register.

National Hospital Week Observed

On Thursday, May 15, the second annual fete was held for all hospital employees. The department supervisors and the administration treated each shift with a meal planned and cooked by the supervisory personnel. This was done to honor the employees and as recognition of the fine job they do in service to the sick. This year's theme was "We Are America's Health Team". The theme is especially appropriate as medical care demands more and more team work with the new discoveries and medical equipment being used to develop better health care.

At 6:00 a.m. the day of celebration began with preparation of a pancake breakfast. The "master" pancake turner, R.E. Lambert (Hospital Administrator) cooked huge stacks of pancakes while others prepared sausage, bacon, coffee and juice. The 11-7 shift and the 3 shift were invited to the breakfast treat. After the smoke and dirty dishes were cleared away, preparation began for the spaghetti supper, which was to be served to the 3-11 (P.M.) shift. The delicious spaghetti was served from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. and the celebration ended and the last dirty dish had been washed and put away. The day's activities served to remind the supervisory group that their regular responsibilities were not nearly as difficult as they had previously believed.

The departments providing help for the event were Laboratory, X-Ray, Dietary Administration, Education Nursing, Pharmacy Respiratory Therapy, Surgery Social Work, Maintenance Purchasing and Housekeeping. All reported the occasion a success and a fine "change of pace".

Robert Lambert, Administrator, Tishomingo County Hospital, assumed the title of "Master Pancake Turner" for the day of May 15, as the hospital celebrated National Hospital Week. As a part of the celebration, and as a special thank you to hospital employees, the supervisory personnel and administration planned and cooked a meal for each shift on this date. This year's theme for the annual event was "We Are America's Health Team."

Department Heads prepared and served food to the doctors and employees of the Tishomingo County Hospital in observance of National Hospital Week. Dr. Kelly Segars (left) enjoys the meal with several hospital employees.

TVA Citizen Action Lines

TVA is extending the hours of operation of its Citizen Action Lines effective June 2 to give better service to the public in the evenings and on Saturdays.

New hours for the toll-free lines will be from 8:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays (Eastern time). The additional service is being provided to accommodate people who cannot call during normal business hours, and to allow the staff to better respond to the increasing volume of calls received since the service was started in the fall of 1978. Current hours of operation are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

"Right now citizens can leave messages on a recorder when the lines are not open. But we have found that a lot of people don't like talking to a machine and they hang up rather than leave a message," said Dawn Ford, Director of the Citizen Action Office. "The new hours will also help us reach a segment of people who are poorly served because they cannot call during regular working hours."

According to Mrs. Ford, the number of calls has been steadily increasing in recent months. At the present time, a call counter indicates that as many as 50 to 60 callers per day are hanging up after hearing that all office lines are either busy or being answered by a recording machine.

The Citizen Action Lines have answered more than 35,000 calls from inside the Tennessee Valley region and throughout the country since service started. The toll-free number for residents of this area is 1-800-251-9242.

Tishomingo Pentecostal Church Scene Of McKee Carpenter Vows

The Tishomingo Pentecostal Church was the setting on April 5, for the lovely wedding ceremony uniting marriage Miss Jan McKee and Johnny Carpenter. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William Burcham, pastor.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McKee, of Tishomingo. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Wade Carpenter, of Robbinsville, N.C.

Even in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satin, styled in princess lines and adorned with a combined cape and train of imported chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned by the bride's mother. The bride's bouquet was of yellow silk roses, accented with orange rose buds and yellow orchid. Maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Taylor, of Tishomingo. Other bridesmaids were Tammy Van Winkle, of Allsboro, and Shelaene McKee, sister of the bride. They each wore identical gowns of yellow dotted swiss and carried bouquets of yellow roses and orange rose buds, carrying out the color scheme of yellow and orange. Serving as best man was Randall Carpenter, brother of the groom. Billy Horne, of luka, and Scotty McKee served as groomsmen. Candelights were Keith Carpenter, brother of the groom, and Scotty McKee, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a three-piece white and brown knit ensemble. The groom's mother chose a dress of yellow knit. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Organ music was provided by Michael Burcham, of Booneville. Mrs. Sue Floyd, of Booneville, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "You Light Up My Life". The wedding was under the direction of Mrs. Becky Jourdan.

The reception was held in the bride's home. Barbara Berry and Renee Taylor served as hostesses. The three-tiered wedding cake was done in yellow and baked by the bride's mother.

After a honeymoon to Lookout Mountain, Ruby Falls, Gatlinburg and Smokey Mountains, the couple spent a few weeks in Pennsylvania, where Mr. Carpenter was employed.

They now reside in luka where Mr. Carpenter is employed on the Tenn-Tom. Future plans are to make their home in North Carolina.

Garden & Craft Club Met

On Tuesday, May 6, the Garden and Craft Club met in the home of Mrs. Kim Black. The group was pleased at having four new visitors, Mary Lee Love, Marie Caldwell, Carolyn Williams, and Carol Scott.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Ann Harwell, giving the thought for the month - "Make one person happy each day - even if it's yourself", followed by the devotional.

A motion was made to take CPR and First Aid classes. It was discussed and will be voted on at the next regular meeting.

The craft display of crochets was shown by Mary Lee Love. The Garden and Craft Club will meet in the future at "The Crafts Galore Country Cottage Florist" on Coleman Park Road.

Refreshments were served after the meeting, and the door prize was won by Marie Caldwell.
