GARDENING TIME

Junior and "Jim" - An Excellent Team

One aspect of gardening is demonstrated by J.J. "Junior" McAnally, along with his faithful helper, "Jim". Taking advantage of the recent fair weather, the two get a head start with early plantings. Cultivating the soil is a lifetime hobby for Junior and through his efforts, many of nature's finest homegrown vegetable dishes find their place at his family's dinner table. Junior tends a plot of land on a 135 acre farm known as the Ezell Farm, located in the Pleasant Hill Community. Boasting of having "Already sown mustard and radish seeds, set out onion and cabbage plants, and planted 'taters,'" Junior plans to continue sowing seeds as the season gets well underway and is looking forward to a bountiful crop. Spring officially arrives March 21st.

Ambulance Totaled

This 1977 Dodge ambulance, belonging to Tishomingo County Hospital, was completely totaled when involved in an afternoon collision with a two ton National Guard Army truck. The accident transpired last Friday, March 4, on Airport Road. The truck, driven by Jerry Hudson, was loaded with men who were on maneuvers, but none of them were hurt. Ambulance driver, William J. Rogers, responding to a call in the area, was apparently attempting to pass the truck, which was making a turn to the entrance of the airport. When the two vehicles collided, three members of the T.C.H. medical staff were injured. Rogers suffered minor lacerations. Nurses Edna Barnes and Lynette Holland were transported to Tishomingo County Hospital for injuries they sustained and further observation. No charges have been placed involving the mishap. However, at press-time, county authorities are continuing the investigation.

5% Rate Reduction In TVA Electric Bills

Consumers of TVA power will pay about 5 percent less on their monthly electric bills from April until at least October following approval of a reduction in power rates by the TVA Board of Directors.

The reduction means 2.8 million consumers of TVA power will pay between 4.7 and 5.2 percent less, depending on their size and type of power use, for power than they paid on February bills.

"TVA sets its rates to cover our operating expenses and financial obligations," said Hugh Parris, TVA Manager of Power. "This mid-course correction in our rate schedules should prevent us from collecting more than we need."

Residential consumers who use 1,000 kilowatt-hours per month will pay $2.32 less - a reduction of about 4.9 percent. Small industrial users will pay about 4.7 percent less, and the largest directly-served industries will save about 5.2 percent.

Under the most common residential rate schedule used by distributors of TVA power, the bill for 1,000 kilowatt-hours will be $45.26.

The reduction would apply to electric meters read after April 2, and would stay in effect for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends on September 30. March power bills already are subject to a one-time 10 percent revenue credit from fiscal year 1982 operations.

On February 15, Parris reported that under rates established last August TVA would collect $125 million more than required to meet operating expenses and other financial obligations primarily because TVA's operating and interest expenses will be lower during fiscal year 1983 than originally estimated.

The new estimates show that operating expenses will be lower due to lower than expected power sales and economies in operating budgets. The lower interest expense projected for fiscal year 1983 reflects the cancellation and deferral of nuclear construction projects as well as lower than expected interest rates. The estimates incorporate four months of actual operating experience for the current fiscal year.

Home Improvements For Energy Conservation

With tight credit looking as if it will continue indefinitely, and new housing becoming increasingly expensive, more and more Americans are considering remodeling their present home to meet new needs. Renovation of older houses is receiving renewed attention, also.

Everyone knows that today's new housing construction is more energy efficient, but less attention is being paid to energy conservation efforts made by individuals involved in remodeling and renovation.

Every remodeling or renovation project can be an energy conservation project as well, often for little or no additional cost. Even when additional cost is incurred, while remodeling is the perfect time to make the investment, since many such projects require financing anyway. If you're borrowing money to improve property, you're usually borrowing at the lowest available rates, and a request to borrow a larger amount to finance energy savings will normally be well-received by your lender. And the extra expense will be cost-effective over the years to come.

dinarily means higher heating and cooling costs. More space means more space to heat. At the very least, the heaviest, highest R-value insulation should be used in the walls, the roof, and even the floor, since most additions are built on grade-level slabs or with crawl spaces beneath them. Wide-space double-glazed windows can cut heat loss through the window area.

The addition could be heated by a wood stove or air-circulating fireplace. There are many on the market now. Perhaps the addition should have a separate time-control thermostat because its use pattern differs from other areas in the house. For example, family rooms tend to be used from mid or late afternoon to late evening only. Zoning such a room separately from the sleeping and kitchen/living room areas make very good sense. Also, automatic set-back thermostats may be a good idea.

Additions often can be designed to utilize solar energy to provide their own heat, also to supply heat to adjacent areas. Many homeowners are adding greenhouses to their homes, receiving the benefit of indoor gardens or extra living space as well as passive solar heating.

Passive solar heating involves these elements: orientation to the sun (southerly exposure ± 30 degrees), overhanging eaves or other protection from the sun during the summer months, heat storage in the form of heavy masonry (chimneys, fireplaces, planters), earth (in planters or under the floor), flooring (tile or concrete), or even heat storage cylinders of water or special chemicals.

In the near future, new products will be introduced for passive solar design, such as heat-storage ceiling and wall materials, and window materials which will meet sunlight in but prevent heat from escaping.

County Agent's Notes

By: Leon Perry,
Area Extension Agent/
Acting County Leader

Plan Before Planting

The first few days of warm weather usually bring out the green thumb in all of us. To be a successful gardener, a good motto is "plan now and plant later."

Plan your garden based on how much you or your family can use and take care of. It's easy to plant more seeds in a few minutes than will take hours to harvest.

Old gardening hands know how much to plant. Newcomers can get this information at the County Extension Office. We also have information on which varieties will grow best in our area.

In making out your list, consider likes and dislikes. Go slow in planting new kinds of vegetables you or your family may not like. You may want to start on a small scale until you are sure of family acceptance.

If it's been some time since your garden soil has been tested, you should do this before planting. We have all the information you need on collecting a soil sample.

There's a great tendency to want to get the jump on Mother Nature and plant early. Remember that tender vegetables can't take cold soil or weather. Again, our office is the place to get information on when to plant each vegetable for best results.

With the right kind of planning, all that hard work you'll be putting in later should pay off in a bumper crop of fresh vegetables just ripe for harvest.

New Pastures?

If you have ideas about establishing a permanent grass for pasture or hay this spring, now is the time to get started.

Farmers are showing more interest in re-establishing permanent grasses on many areas that are taken out of grass in recent years and planted in row crops. Some of these areas weren't suited for row crops, and productivity has dropped to a point where they no longer can be row cropped profitably.

Soil erosion has taken a terrific toll in many of these areas, and it will take years to bring them back to their original production level. Some producers may think establishing a good grass sod will quickly correct the problem, but that isn't necessarily the case.

A grass or grass clover is the best crop to plant on these soils. Even then, it will take good management to bring abused areas back to a profitable level of production. Your success depends on the present condition of the land.

Other factors should be considered in establishing new pastures on marginal soils. Our office has more details on these and other practices that affect crop production.

THE DOGTROT

Perched among wooded hills north of Iuka, this weather-beaten dogtrot house is a tribute to and a reminder of a way of life long past. It was in homes such as this that the lumberjacks, sharecroppers, hill farmers, and their families lived. The dogtrot was popular throughout this region because of the long breezeway, which stretched the length of the structure, providing air circulation on humid summer days. Pictured above, this authentic example of early Southern architecture is the home of William Davis, whose grandparents once lived here. Commenting on his house, he said, "I wouldn't trade it for any other kind of a house."

CARING FOR YOUR PET

PILLING YOUR DOG

Many people are frustrated when it comes to giving medicine, capsules or pills to their dogs. They try mixing it in with Rover's food and then find nothing but a pill left in the bowl. They grind it up and find that Rover will not eat his food at all. They shove it in his mouth, only to find it on the floor a minute later.

It's really not hard if you tackle the job directly. Any dog can be made to swallow pills, capsules and tablets, if only the right technique is applied. And don't think you're being cruel by "forcing it down his throat". It doesn't hurt, and it would be more cruel to deprive your dog of his prescribed medication.

Grasp his muzzle from the top. Then push firmly in and up on his top lip, just behind his canine teeth. This should get him to open his mouth. With the other hand, push down on the lower jaw and slide the tablet deep down into your dog's throat with your index and middle finger. Then remove your hand and clamp his jaws shut. Rubbing his throat or thumping it gently should get him to swallow his medicine.

Town of Tishomingo Natural Gas System

The local Gas System will be enforcing its "dig" requirements in 1983. Since most natural gas accidents result from construction or excavation close to gas mains, it is important that anybody who does digging or construction or excavation first contact gas operators who will mark all adjacent gas mains. THE NUMBER TO CALL IS 438-6302.

For homedwellers, natural gas is not dangerous unless it is "loose" in your home or business. Gas people put an odorant into the gas so that you can detect if gas is leaking. This is for your protection. If you smell gas in your home or business, leave the premises and call from a neighbor's. THE NUMBER TO CALL IS 438-6302.

ASCS Farm News

STRONG PIK PROGRAM PARTICIPATION IMPORTANT — The current situation of large supplies and weak prices could be reversed if the payment-in-kind (PIK) program goal of a 23-million-acre reduction in wheat, feedgrains, cotton and rice is reached. The PIK sign-up is underway and will end on Friday, March 11, 1983. "This will be achieved, however, only through large numbers of farmers participating," Howard Bridges, Chairman of the Tishomingo County ASC Committee, said. By further reducing 1983 plantings of these crops from the previously announced acreage reduction and land diversion programs, PIK will bring substantial reductions in surplus stocks and crop production, put agriculture's supply more in line with demand, and create an improvement in market prices. For participating in PIK, farmers will receive a certain amount of the commodity that he or she would have grown on these acres. "Farmers can receive 80 to 95 percent of their established farm yield by participating in the program," Bridges said. PIK commodities will come from CCC Loans, farmer owned reserve and government-owned stocks and will be distributed to farmers during the normal harvest period. The payment-in-kind will be terms of #1 wheat, except #2 for soft red winter wheat, #2 yellow corn, #2 grain sorghum, and the historical area average quality for cotton and rice. Bridges said farmers entering PIK with outstanding reserve or regular price support loans must make the commodities under loan available to the extent of their PIK, to the Commodity Credit Corporation for use in the program in return for liquidation of their loans. "They cannot forfeit or redeem their commodities under loan and then draw additional commodities from CCC stocks," he said. Loans which mature before producers receive their payment-in-kind will be extended and storage will be paid from maturity until receipt of the PIK. USDA officials estimate that PIK will reduce total wheat, corn and sorghum production by 10 percent; cotton by 20 percent and rice by 15 percent. When excess supplies are reduced to a level which is more in line with demand, the program will go out of existence.

CCC LOAN INTEREST RATE RAISED TO 9 PERCENT — Commodity and Farm Storage Loans disbursed in March by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will carry a 9 percent interest rate. The new rate, up from 8.625 percent, reflects the interest rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury in March.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIS

The expected reduction in the price of oil is good news for the overall American economy, but we must not lessen our efforts to develop alternative energy sources which will be needed in future years.

Many of our current economic problems are tied to the rapid increase in oil prices over the past ten years. It stands to reason that lower oil prices will mean faster economic growth and lower inflation. Companies and individuals will be able to divert spending from energy to other goods and services. This is especially good news at this particular time when we are trying to pull out of a recession.

As good as the news is, we must not allow it to lull us into a false security. We already know from experience that a change in oil supply can throw us into economic chaos almost overnight. We cannot expect an abundant oil supply to last forever -- we know that is not true.

We have made great strides in energy conservation in recent years, and we should not lessen our commitment in this regard. Energy-efficient automobiles and more insulated homes and buildings have enabled us to greatly reduce the amount of energy we require. We must not return to our old ways.

Furthermore, we must continue to develop alternative energy resources. Therein lies our future assurance of an abundant supply of energy free from foreign dependence.

Nuclear power has proven its potential, and we must continue to find ways to assure its safety. Much remains to be done toward developing our abundant sources of coal into a more efficient energy supply. Likewise, research should continue into synthetic energy sources and solar power. There is no known limit to what new technology in the energy field may bring.

My efforts here in the Senate will be directed toward seeing that we do not become lackadaisical in our search for alternative energy sources. Furthermore, I believe we in Mississippi can play a key role in supplying new sources and the technology to make these sources efficient. We already have important research underway at our state universities, and I am confident that this is a field in which we can provide a leading role.

Report From Sen. Bill May

With about four weeks remaining in the current session of the legislature, things are beginning to take shape, but there is a lot of important legislation to be finalized and some hard decisions yet to be made. FINANCES. The latest reports on financial conditions is that by cutting about $15 million from appropriation bills which have already been passed by either the House or the Senate, we can even hope to provide for a balanced budget for fiscal year 1984 beginning July 1, 1983. Even with this type of cutting, the state would have a zero balance at the end of fiscal year 1984 with no surplus or cushion. If revenues continue to fall below expectations the state could be running severe deficits almost from the beginning of the next fiscal year on July 1, 1983. GOVERNOR SPEAKS. Governor Winter spoke to a joint session of the legislature on Monday afternoon and urged the legislature to roll back (set up) the 1/2 cent sales tax due to go into effect on January 1, 1984 to June 1, 1983 and to consider an additional 1/2 cent sales tax for prison construction.

SENATE ACTION. The Senate voted this week not to roll back (set up) the 1/2 cent sales tax and the obvious mood of the Senate is to try to hold the line with no tax increase of any kind. PRISON CONSTRUCTION. The Senate passed a bill this week to fund $24 million of construction in new or renovated prison facilities to be funded with short term notes. Although the bill was amended on the floor of the Senate to place all of the construction at Parchman, with the exception of 12 community work centers, there is another bill in a conference committee which would place one large unit in another location other than Parchman. Several more votes are likely before this question is decided. WHERE CAN CUTS BE MADE? This is easier talked about than it is done for the following reason: about 40% of the budget is for minimum education. Cuts in this program results in either lowering teacher pay, disruption of the local school programs or severe strains on county and city budgets.

About 60% of the remaining budget is for salaries to state employees in all of the various agencies of government including colleges and universities and elected public officials. This leaves only such programs as Medicaid and mental health, which no one wants to cut. BETTER DAY. In spite of some serious problems and some tough decisions, most legislators believe that a better financial condition is coming. The reports received this week show a strong economic recovery across the nation and the reports and projections for real economic improvement in the state over the next several months.

Iuka Lions

The Iuka Lions met in regular session on Tuesday, March 1, at the "Lions Den". After Lion A.W. Mangum asked the blessing a good meal was served by "Circus Burger" Restaurant.

Lion President Bobby Riley then called the meeting to order and several topics were discussed and disposed of. Lion P.O. Beard then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Bill Cole, State Treasurer, and Mr. Tim Lawrence, also of the State Department. Mr. Cole spoke enthusiastically of the State of the State, and is, apparently, very optimistic concerning the future finances of the state treasury. His explanation of various concepts of state funds manipulation was concise and understandable - even to the layman. The next regular meeting will be March 15, and the public is invited to join and become a member of our organization. Due to an oversight, tures were made at meeting.

Insect Stings Can Be Fatal To Some

With the return to outdoor activities this spring comes once again the hazard of bees and wasps.

For most of us the venom of a stinging insect hurts and is annoying, but is not a serious health problem. But the Mississippi State Medical Association reminds that for some, the bee sting can be fatal. Those are the individuals who are allergic to stings. Insect stings cause more deaths yearly than snake bites. The most common stinging insects are bees, hornets, wasps, yellow jackets, bumble bees and fire ants.

The sting causes pain, swelling, redness, itching and burning. If stung by a honey bee, carefully remove the stinger by gently scraping with a knife blade or finger nail. Wash with soap and water. Place ice wrapped in cloth or cold compresses on the sting area. Soothing lotions such as calamine or a paste of baking soda and a little water are often helpful in relieving discomfort.

Those allergic to insect stings suffer from a condition known as anaphylactic shock. It can occur sometimes from only one sting if the victim has been stung previously.

Insect sting shock symptoms include severe swelling in other parts of the body, such as around the eyes, lips and tongue. Weakness, coughing or wheezing, severe itching, stomach cramps, nausea and vomiting, anxiety, difficulty in breathing, dizziness, collapse, unconsciousness and hives or rash over the body often follow quickly after a sting.

It is important to open an airway and restore breathing. Some experts suggest using a tourniquet in severe reactions where life might be at stake. Emergency insect sting kits available only by prescription sometimes contain a tourniquet. It can be used only if the sting is on an arm or leg. Don't tie it too tight, and loosen every five minutes until medical help arrives. A watchband or belt can serve as a tourniquet.

Place cold compresses on the sting area. Keep the victim lying down unless he is short of breath. Then let him sit up. Keep victim quiet and comfortable. If a first aid kit for insect stings is available use it according to directions.

Conservation Notes

By: Bobby Manley, USDA Soil Conservation Service
Each year in Mississippi 100 million tons of soil are lost from erosion. This hurts both the land by washing away our most productive top soil and the water by polluting and filling our streams and lakes.

Some of the major sources of erosion are number one - sloping cropland. Erosion from cropland produces 50 million tons of sediment each year. Another major source is eroding roadbanks and streambanks. They produce about 10 million tons of sediment annually. Another problem area is gullies of all kinds. They produce another 3 million tons each year. We cannot afford to waste or lose this valuable resource.

One of the major things the landowner can do to help stop erosion of his sloping cropland is by the use of a terrace system. These terraces would follow the contour of the land and be spaced so they could be easily worked with the individual's equipment. By planting with terraces on the contour, one could substantially reduce the erosion on a sloping field.

Another way, and one that will be used more and more in the future, is minimum tillage. This can be done either by broadcasting your soybeans or by planting directly into the old stubble. This is an efficient method of controlling erosion and also saves time, labor and fuel. It not only saves the soil, but also your money.

As for the gullies, there are practices available that will assist the landowner in smoothing the gullies and either sowing the area to some type of grass or help plant pine seedlings to slow down or eliminate the movement of sediment.

These are things that we as individuals can do to stop erosion and the wasting away of our valuable resource, the soil.

For more information on the practices that are available to the landowner on stopping erosion contact the Soil Conservation Service.

Miss White is a graduate of Tishomingo High School, Northeast Mississippi Junior College, and Mississippi University for Women. She was a member of S.M.A.E. Mr. Langley is a graduate of Itawamba Agricultural High School and a graduate of Itawamba Junior College. He is employed with Blue Bell, Inc. in Guntown, Mississippi.

The couple will be married on Saturday, April 30, at one o'clock in the afternoon at the Tishomingo Baptist Church with the Rev. Langley, father of the groom, performing the wedding ceremony.

March Designated Social Work Month

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, social problems continue to impede our society's progress toward a productive and rewarding life for every citizen; and

WHEREAS, trained professional social workers are addressing our human problems directly and effectively in both crisis and everyday situations; and WHEREAS, the Social Work Agencies in the State of Mississippi under more pressure, because of the economic situation, are working to solve more complex problems of society than ever before; and

WHEREAS, these professionals need the informed support of our community to continually maintain and improve the quality of social services to individuals and groups;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John H. Biggs, Mayor of the City of Iuka, Mississippi, do hereby proclaim the Month of March 1983 as Social Work Month and call on each citizen to join the Social Work Profession in this observance.

FURTHERMORE, I urge each citizen to join and support the social work profession in its efforts to advance the quality of life in our community.

Tishomingo Homemakers

On Thursday, February 24, the Tishomingo Homemakers Club met in the Tishomingo Library at 2 p.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Susie Phillips. She called the members attention to the fact that each of us can preach a better sermon by the way we live among our fellowman than by the use of our lips.

The devotional, "The Minister", Colossians 2:6-13, was given by Effie Greene Aldridge. The Focus Topic, "A Sale is a Sale - Or is it?", was thoroughly discussed by the entire group. Each member learned that the word "Sale" does not really mean a bargain, a worthwhile purchase, or items to be excited about. Many times the majority of people have been deceived by promotional advertising and sales pitches used with a big sale.

Mrs. Susie Phillips demonstrated, "Dressing For Less" by having a club member, Mrs. Liza Rushing, model three new spring dresses she made from inexpensive materials purchased in Memphis. She also demonstrated ways in which garments may be updated by adding colorful scarves and ties, changing shapes of collars, narrowing pants legs, and other means of creativity and ingenuity in dress.

Two educational reports on health were: Crippling Arthritis and Ills Caused From the Use of Tobacco. The County Dress Review, slated for March 15, was discussed and members urged to enter the review. Meat recipes were collected and members reminded to bring vegetable recipes to the March meeting. Mrs. Alecia Thomas served delicious refreshments. The meeting was adjourned until March 17th, at 2:00 p.m. in the Tishomingo Library.

4-H Jr. Council

On March 1, 1983, the 4-H Junior Council met at the Fairgrounds for the annual spelling bee. Donnie Bobo, the new president, opened the meeting. After the greeting, he turned the meeting over to the program

Four students from Tishomingo County have been selected to perform with the Ensemble, an 18-member singing group at Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

Selected from a host of auditioning students, they are Donnie Blunt, tenor, Belmont; Dee Anna Bean, alto; Ladye Love Long, soprano; and Katie Ramsey, alto, all of Iuka.

Man Asks God Answers

The Resurrection
WHAT TWO THINGS ARE THE ANTECEDENTS OF THE CHURCH'S AND THE WORLD'S RESURRECTION?

(1) The fall from perfection into sin, imperfection and death through Adam: Rom. 5:12, 17, 18, 19 - By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin. By one man's offence death reigned by one. By the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation. By one man's disobedience (the) many were made sinners. 1 Cor. 15:21, 22 - By man came death; . . . for . . . in Adam all die.

(2) The ransom from sin, imperfection and death through Christ: 1 Tim. 2:5, 6 - The Man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a ransom for all. Rom 5:15-19 - The grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto (the) many. . . . The free gift of many offences unto justification . . . They which receive abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ . . . By the righteousness of one the free gift came (shall come) upon all men unto justification of life . . . By the obedience of one shall (the) many be made righteous. 1 Cor. 15:21, 22 - By man came (shall come) also the resurrection of the dead. For . . . in Christ shall all be made alive.

COME TO CHURCH

We all have times when things go wrong,

And Fortune's in reverse;

Yet we're expected to be strong,

Though things could not get worse...

A strength of which the Scriptures name

Examples plain to see:

Like Job, whose faith remained the same

Throughout adversity.

So why not go to Church this week,

Whichever one you choose,

And listen to the Bible speak;

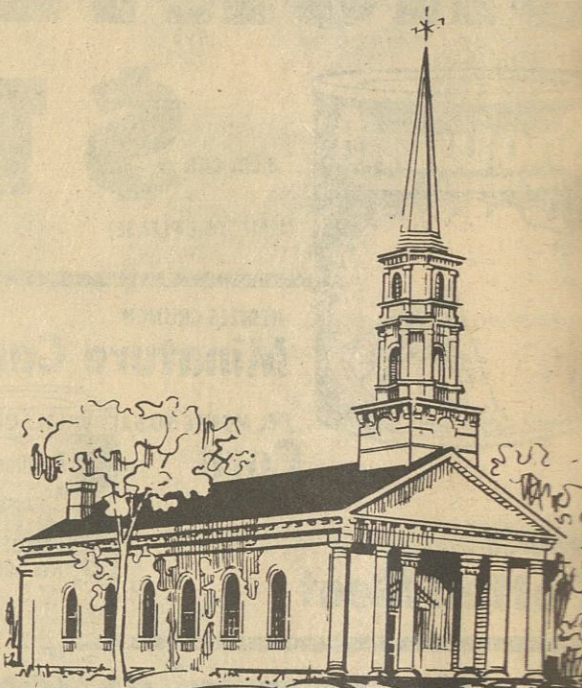

There's not a thing to lose!

Then, what those passages command

You'll follow to the letter;

And let God take your life in hand,

To change it for the better! —Gloria Nowak

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

DR. PHILLIP GRAY

OPTOMETRIST

COMMUNICATION COUNTS

Some people do not view kindly being asked a lot of personal questions. They obviously expect the optometrist to ask about the nature of their visual complaint, but they also should be prepared to answer a number of other relevant questions - particularly if it is a first visit.

The nature of your occupation, for instance, may help the optometrist determine how you use your eyes. It is also possible that your eye problem or symptoms might be job-related. Furthermore, the final prescription should take your job into consideration.

You should also expect general health questions. Certain physical conditions can, and do, affect your vision. Remember to mention all medications you are taking. Some drugs have side reactions which may affect your eyes. It might be good to prepare a list at home with all the names and dosages. Certain eye conditions are hereditary; and you should not be reluctant to provide your optometrist with the relevant information.

JOHN H. BIGGS, MAYOR, CITY OF IUKA

Letter To The Editor

The sixth grade teachers at Iuka Elementary School express our sincere appreciation to the people of Iuka and the surrounding area who supported our sixth grade, and helped to make our trip to Jackson possible. This trip was an educational and rewarding experience for everyone involved.

To perform in the State Capitol is an honor few people receive. Our sixth graders performed with much poise and dignity. We felt a deep sense of pride in our nation, state, and city as patriotic songs, the pledge to our flag, and the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" echoed through those hallowed halls.

Our student's faces glowed with excitement as they were allowed to sit in the very seats of our legislators and talked with the Speaker of the House. We all learned many facts about our legislature and Capitol. The tours of the Old Capitol and the Natural Science Museum were equally as rewarding.

Everywhere we went the students were commended for their behavior. They were a real credit to the City of Iuka, our school, and their parents. They are the leaders of tomorrow. Our nation will be in good hands.

We feel it is a great honor to teach in a school system which is supported so strongly by the people of the community. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

SINCERELY,
