Horace Ledgewood Continues To Seek Chancery Clerk Position

Primary for your Chancery Court Clerk. I am most grateful to each of you, especially those of you who have been so supportive.

May I ask your continued help. To those of you who previously supported others, please join me in my humble effort to become your next Chancery Court Clerk. If you, the voters of Tishomingo County, will join in electing me to this position, I will perform the duties of the office with professional knowledge and ability being courteous to all.

Cecil Phifer For Justice Court Judge wonderful county.

If you see fit to elect me to this most important office, my promise to you is that I will serve all the people with the honor and dignity you so rightfully deserve. The office of Justice Court Judge belongs to all the people, and if elected I can assure you that all will be treated fairly. I will return your confidence in me by being a Justice Court Judge you can be proud of and one you can depend on to be a loyal servant to all.

This has been a hard fought race, and I want to especially thank all my worthy opponents for the clean campaign waged in the First Primary.

Please go to the polls on August 23rd and vote for a man in whom you can place your confidence and trust. Vote for CECIL PHIFER, JUSTICE COURT JUDGE, NORTHERN DISTRICT, and I'll make you proud you did.

THANK YOU, CECIL PHIFER

Lloyd Yow Thanks Voters Of The Third District

I take this opportunity to thank the good people of the Third District for the wonderful support you gave me four years ago and 8 years ago in the First Primary of 1983.

I was led in the First Primary by a small margin of votes, which placed me in a runoff with the incumbent, C. Ryan.

At the end of 1983, Mr. Ryan will have served you for years as our 3rd District Supervisor, which entitles him for full benefits for his retirement. (Give another man a chance to be our 3rd District Supervisor.)

I think that you can see by what Lloyd Yow is sincere wanting to serve you, the people of the 3rd District, as your next 3rd District Supervisor.

Lloyd Yow, am not tied to any organized group or political group. Lloyd Yow, if elected Supervisor of the 3rd District, will be the Supervisor. No individual will dictate to Lloyd Yow. He will stand on his own two feet for betterment of the people of Tishomingo County and 3rd District.

Now I ask you, the voters of 3rd District, to stand on your own two feet. Please do not be misled and deprived of your own decision by the corrupt or organized group.

It is very easy for the corrupt or organized group to put a wonderful picture with smiles and favors. Don't be misled - be on watch for this organized and corrupt group, which is appearing here in the county. Miracles don't happen that way - only for the corrupt and organized groups.

Lloyd has been dealing with the people since 1947. I am qualified to handle the issues that will appear before the Board of Supervisors for betterment of the 3rd District and Tishomingo County. I can and I will lead all of our roads and

George Cutshall For County Sheriff Post

TO THE VOTERS OF TISHOMINGO COUNTY:

Words are inadequate to express my appreciation to you good people for the vote of confidence placed in me in the First Primary. I shall always be grateful. Your continued support is needed now more than ever before.

Those of you that voted for my opponents, I earnestly solicit your vote and help in every way to be elected so that I might again put together a total law enforcement program for all the people of Tishomingo County.

Since I have been campaigning, I have talked with people from all areas of our county and found that your main concern was for the protection of your homes, your property and your lives. That you want a Sheriff's Department that will respond to your calls in a professional manner, when you need help. I can assure you that there will be someone available at all times to answer your calls.

I have made no promises to anyone as to who will be deputy Sheriffs. Whoever is hired for this job will be "Trained Officers", that will carry out the duties in a professional manner.

As your Sheriff, I will continue to work as I have in the past, answering to no criminal element, working for no special interest groups. I will enforce the law, protecting all good honest people of Tishomingo County and their interest to the best of my ability as a trained professional law enforcement officer.

Vote for and elect George Cutshall, Sheriff.

Robert Arnold Seeks Support In Runoff Election

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the voters of the Northern District for the outstanding vote of confidence I received last Tuesday. If elected, I intend to justify your belief in me by running a people's court fairly and impartially. My experience proves me well qualified. My record verifies this.

I have several hours of continuing education in law from Ole Miss. I have attended seminars in Jackson, Oxford, and Boulder, Colorado, sponsored by the American Academy of Judicial Education. These courses consisted of court procedure for civil and criminal processes, such as preliminary hearings on felony cases, bonds and misdemeanor trials.

If re-elected to this office, I will continue to run a fair and impartial court. Let my experience and education work for you.

Vote for Robert Arnold on August 23rd.

THANK YOU, ROBERT ARNOLD

Ricky Cummings Asks For Support On August 23rd

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SECOND DISTRICT OF TISHOMINGO COUNTY:

I, Ricky Cummings, would like to send each and everyone a special thank you for the vote I received in the First Primary. The majority has spoken, and well over 1,000 people have voiced a need for a change.

I have run a positive campaign. I have stayed with the issues that concern the voters of my district. The most prominent concern of the voters has been JOBS. Since 1971 our district has not seen one permanent industrial job. On the other hand, our neighboring county has seen three new industrial developments, which provide jobs for over 2,000 people. The next four years will be critical for the Second District. The appeal for industry is here. We have at our disposal the Tenn-Tom Waterway, a major highway and railway system, and most important we have a dedicated and skilled work force available. In attracting industry, future planning is essential. I've seen no such plans at the local level. Other areas have already made substantial progress in the field of acquiring jobs for the people along the Tenn-Tom Waterway. I believe with careful planning, strong leadership, and a desire to achieve we can bring jobs right here to the Second District.

Another prominent concern is the Tishomingo County Hospital. I will work hard to provide adequate medical facilities for all the people of our county. I will also work closely with the Board of Directors to see that fair and impartial service is rendered to all.

I will see that the funds appropriated for maintenance of roads, bridges, and equipment will be spent accordingly. I will provide long term maintenance of roads, bridges, equipment and county facilities. By doing this we will save tax dollars.

As I have already stated: The majority of the voters have expressed a need for change. I believe a change in this office will bring about new ideas and policies that will benefit the residents of the Second District. I have made only one promise - every decision I make will be made with the people's best interest in mind.

If you believe improvements need to be made, I ask you to go to the polls on August 23 and vote for me, RICKY CUMMINGS, your next Second District Supervisor.

SINCERELY YOURS,
RICKY CUMMINGS

Again, I ask for your support. I need this job to reach retirement, and if you will re-elect me for the one more term I will not ask for the job again. If you will allow me to serve you for the next four

J.W. Southward Wants Continued Support

I, J.W. Southward, would like to thank the people of the South Tishomingo Judicial District for the splendid vote you gave me in the First Primary. Please consider this as an expression of my appreciation and as a request for your continued support in the Second Primary.

Registration-Orientation Set For Iuka Schools

The Iuka Special Municipal Separate School District will hold its registration-orientation for students and parents on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, August 15, 16, and 18, from 6:00 - 9:00 p.m. in each school's cafeteria. At this time, students and parents will complete the necessary registration forms, will pay fees, and will be informed of Board policies dealing with student attendance, and will be advised of curriculum requirements for college bound students. High school students will also pick up their class schedules.

Parents of students who do not live in the school district are reminded that their tuition fee of $150.00 will need to be paid at registration. This tuition is to off-set the taxes that people who live in the school district pay into the school.

Parents of students in grades one through six may register their children on any of the three nights. Parents of students in grades seven through twelve should register their children as follows:

Monday - 6:00 p.m. - 12th grade; 7:00 p.m. - 11th grade.
Tuesday - 6:00 p.m. - 10th grade; 7:00 p.m. - 9th grade.
Thursday - 6:00 p.m. - 8th grade; 7:00 p.m. - 7th grade.

Parents are reminded that staff members will be available until 9:00 each night and it will not be necessary for everyone to be at the school at 6:00. By setting these times for each grade, the administration hopes to avoid the long wait.

Parents are reminded that it is necessary for them to accompany their children to register.

All new students in grades seven through twelve are asked to complete pre-registration forms at the high school office between 8:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Democratic nomination with 1,044 votes, continuing as Fourth District Supervisor.

In the District Five Supervisor race, incumbent Leon Cook received 862 votes winning re-election.

In the District 1 Constable race, Bobby James, with 972, was re-elected.

In the District 2 Constable race, Claude N. Cox, with 545 votes, and Ronald Dinger, with 497, will be in a runoff.

In the 3rd District Constable race, Floyd Whitaker won the nomination with 816 votes.

In the 4th District Constable race, Harmon Davis, with 622, and Kenneth Clingan, with 401, will be in a runoff.

In the District 5 Constable race, Sidney "June Bug" Taylor won the primary with a total of 795 votes.

Clarification

Regarding conflicting figures printed in the August 4 edition of The News, we acknowledge the following corrections using the official totals obtained from the Circuit Clerk's Office.

In the Second District Constable race, Claude N. Cox received an official 545 votes. The 445 total printed on the front page was unofficial at press-time and incorrect; however, the 545 total shown on page 3 of the same issue was correct and official.

In the State Senate District 4 race, Rex Larr Tuckier received 2,451 votes in Tishomingo County.

Vote Re-Count Proposed

A re-count of ballots pertaining to the District 3 Constable race in the East Iuka precinct has been requested by one of the three candidates involved in the recent First Democratic Primary.

Alfred Comer, Jr. has furnished Floyd Whitaker and Sammie South, or an 18-year-old member of their family, with letters revealing his intentions and inviting them to attend the re-count, which is allegedly scheduled for Monday, August 15th.

Whitaker won the Democratic nomination by an 87 vote margin, leading the ticket with 816 votes, with Comer receiving 597 votes, and South totaling 132.

Comer told The News that he had worked hard during the election. "I am definitely calling for a re-count of that particular box, G-M, that's the one I'm really interested in. I was up all night during the counting of the votes and saw things go on that I didn't like. Things weren't right!", he stated.

The Democratic Executive Committee will not be involved in the re-count, according to legal advisor to Comer.

Comer asserted that he "Doesn't feel hard at anyone. . . I just want to satisfy my mind."

According to the Circuit Clerk's Office, no other votes other than those involved in the 3rd District Constable race will be re-counted.

Iuka Policemen Apprehend Stolen Vehicle

The driver of the car was a parolee from Pine Bluff, Ark. He is in custody at the Tishomingo County Jail awaiting transfer back to Pine Bluff.

Chatting With Your Home Economist

By: Nellie R. Horton,
Extension Home Economist

Make Sure Your Catch
Is Safe and Tasty

You've just spent a rewarding day hauling in some nice catfish, crappie, or bass.

You're ready to call it quits for the day, but before you do, make sure your catch will be safe to eat when you get it home.

If proper precautions are taken, almost any fish can be safely transported over long distance.

It is most important to keep the fish cold. The colder the temperature, the slower the spoilage. Fresh fish will keep for seven days, under proper conditions.

Handle your fish as little as possible. And dress only the large fish. With larger, dressed fish, pack the body cavity with ice, then smother the entire fish with ice. Extremely large fish should be cut to fit the ice chest.

With a well-insulated ice chest, ice and salt, you can superchill the fish. Begin by lining the chest bottom with three or four inches of flaked or crushed ice.

You can put a rack or tray in the bottom to keep the fish from lying in the water as the ice melts.

Next add salt and mix it with the ice. Finally, add a layer of fish. Now continue alternating layers until the cooler is full. Use one-half pound of salt to five pounds of ice.

Whole fish can be layered unwrapped, but dressed fish, steaks or fillets should be wrapped in clear plastic wrap.

When the cooler is full, top it off with a generous supply of ice and close the lid.

If you're traveling for several days, drain off water at overnight stops and add ice. Don't remove the fish until you arrive home.

One last tip provides the secret to freezing the fish when you get home. Use a protective glaze of a 5 percent salt solution before you wrap and freeze fish steaks and fillets.

To make a 5 percent salt solution, use two thirds cup salt to one gallon of water. Dip the fish and drain it thoroughly. Pack it tightly in moisture-vapor resistant wrap.

Plan on keeping lean fish, such as flounder, snapper, trout, bream and bass, no longer than six months and fatty fish, like catfish, not more than three.

Corn Casserole

Brown 1 pound ground beef and 1 onion with 1 teaspoon salt. Drain. Cook 1 package noodles and drain. Mix and add 1 can cream of mushroom soup and 1 can cream of chicken soup, 1 small jar pimiento, 1 can whole kernel corn and 1 carton sour cream. Place in casserole and top with cracker crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes.

Audio Response System Implementation

Beginning July 29, South Central Bell's Mississippi customers requesting Directory Assistance will notice a slight difference in the sound of the "voice" quoting telephone numbers. According to J.N. McGowen, vice president for South Central Bell operations in Mississippi, the voice will actually be generated by a computer program enhancement to the present Directory Assistance operation. The new service is called Audio Response System, or simply ARS.

With ARS, customers will receive the announcement after an operator has located the desired telephone number and depressed a key activating the computer response. Every requested Directory Assistance number is reported once and then automatically repeated. Under the new system, customers can obtain additional operator assistance by remaining on the line.

"Customers should appreciate the voice clarity, accent and pace of the recording," McGowen said. "Announcements such as that used in ARS are becoming quite commonplace in our society today, and we anticipate that our customers will like the consistency and uniformity of announcements with the new system."

The South Central Bell implementation of ARS in Mississippi is part of a nationwide Bell System conversion to the service. According to McGowen the company will realize annual savings in Mississippi exceeding $1 million with ARS.

"Audio response is another example of our commitment to employ the most advanced technology available to improve customer service while also reducing our cost of operations," McGowen stated.

The Milky Way can be easily seen as a bright haze on a clear summer night.

DISCOURAGE JUMPING UP

Some dogs are by nature very friendly and outgoing. Their owners may also encourage their pets to be sociable. However, the dog should be discouraged from jumping up on people. Although it is only a playful gesture, your guests might not appreciate a hundred pound sheepdog greeting them this way. And surely they won't thank you for the muddy paw marks on their best clothes.

The wisest thing is to discourage their behavior from the beginning. The small dog can be pushed down, nudging him with your foot. The larger one can be knocked off balance with your knee. Be ready when he starts to jump and get that knee up first. Command, as you push his is even more does the dog does "what hit him" knock him off And he'll appreciate the first refrains from you.

DR. PHILLIP GRAY

OPTOMETRIST

"TELEVISIONEYESITIS"

No, this is not another new disease that you have to worry about. Generally speaking, watching television is not harmful to the eyes or to vision. UNDER PROPER CONDITIONS, there is much less focus strain involved in viewing TV than in doing close work such as reading or sewing. BUT, there are factors to keep in mind.

Don't sit too close to the screen. The ideal point for viewing is five times the width of the picture. With a 19" (diagonal) set, is for example, this computes to be about six to seven feet. Children, especially, should be discouraged from sitting up close. If they persist, it might be a sign of near-sightedness.

Don't watch TV in a dark room. Most lighting engineers and optometrists recommend soft overall lighting for television viewing. When the room is totally dark, the contrast between the picture and the surrounding area is too great for comfortable and efficient vision.

Beware of signs of fatigue or watering of the eyes while watching TV. TV probably isn't the culprit, but this may indicate a vision problem which needs attention.

Getting Psyched To Lose Weight

I would like to lose 10 to 15 pounds. But I can't seem to stay on a diet. Any suggestions?

You can lose weight initially on almost any diet. The goal, of course, is to keep the weight off. For a cosmetic weight loss of a few pounds, the best "diet" is regular exercise. But for a moderately overweight person, modifications of eating habits in addition to exercise are necessary to lose weight and to avoid the health problems that often accompany obesity.

Obesity, which is defined as being more than 20 percent over one's ideal body weight, can endanger our health by making us more susceptible to such risk factors for heart disease as high blood pressure, diabetes, and elevated cholesterol levels in the blood.

Weight-loss aids and crash diets are potentially dangerous and should be avoided. It is more important gradually to change your lifestyle and attitude toward nutrition.

Before you begin a diet, find out why your previous attempts at dieting were unsuccessful. You may have eaten less, for instance, but returned to your old eating habits once you lost the desired weight.

The following are diet and behavior suggestions to adopt if you are an overweight person who is serious about embarking on a weight-loss program and then keeping those extra pounds off:

People who are overweight may skip meals, eat snack foods, eat at irregular hours and in unusual places, or eat while they're engaged in other activities. The first step in a successful behavior-change plan is to separate eating from other aspects of your life. For instance, when you eat at home, eat in the kitchen or dining room, not in front of the television set or in bed. Confine your eating at work to the cafeteria or a restaurant, not at your desk while talking on the telephone or reading reports.

When you are away from the office or home, eat only in places where food traditionally is served. This means no snacks while driving or walking.

Learn to eat the right foods in the correct amounts, the most difficult aspect of a successful diet plan. Eliminate junk foods from your diet. Keep them out of the house. Don't keep junk snacks in your desk drawer. If such food must be kept at home for others, keep it out of sight - in sealed opaque containers or on a back shelf in the refrigerator or cupboard.

Put away extra food before a meal begins. Use smaller plates so the portions look bigger. Eat slowly. Do your food shopping from a prepared list, and don't shop when you're hungry.

Positive feed back is important to a person on a diet. Encourage an overweight friend or family member to join you and compare notes on your progress.

Keep a chart of the foods you eat and the weight you lose to see a correlation between the two. Intermittent non-food rewards encourage you to stick to the diet. And regular exercise should be incorporated into any weight loss program. Don't be discouraged if you're not losing weight as rapidly as you planned. A gradual weight loss is far healthier than a rapid one.

Iuka Moto Speedway

By: Stan Caston

Honda rider Todd Scott, of Scotts Hill, Tenn., screams at Iuka MX. Scott's first time out at Iuka MX. went rather well for him as he took three straight moto to win the 125cc class over two would-be contenders. Freddy Mathis was second as he battled hard with Tim Norman, who was third.

In the 80cc class it was Jay Dickey all the way. Tim Powell and Jim Smith fought hard for second but Smith had engine trouble and was left with third.

In the 250cc class, Johnny Woodruff was the hole shot in the first moto and went on to win it. It was come from behind Tracy Essary in the second moto as he holeshot Woodruff to take the last two motor and the overall win. The endro class went like this, George Harris scooted away with first and Jerry Stephen and Doug Storment fought for second. Stephens past him in the second moto, but Storment came back in the last moto winning the first place leaving Stephens with third. It was Bill Easter in the open class taking three straight to win the overall. Three-wheelers went like this: it was Robin Freno in the first moto as he took the hole shot with Marty Davis in second and Greg Frederick in third. In the second moto, Davis caught and passed Freno in the first turn and took the checkered flag. In the final, David was leading with Freno on his tail as he tried to pass he whipped out in the back turn leaving him with second. Frederick took third in his first race.

See you next race - August 21st.

TO ELECT

SENATOR

TO THE VOTERS OF TISHOMINGO COUNTY:

I want to thank you for your support during the first primary and your vote on August 2nd. I am happy to report to you that we did much better than I felt we actually had to do in order to win. As a result, I really believe that victory is now certain -- but only if we get all our good friends and supporters out to vote on August 23rd.

To those who supported my worthy opponents, I want to ask you to carefully consider my credentials and qualifications. Cast your vote on August 23rd for Irb Benjamin, the man whose only obligation will be to work for the best interest of all the people of Tishomingo and Alcorn Counties, as your State Senator.

worker. Billie Jean Holland, center, received a certificate for 15 years of service where she serves as Food Stamp Insurance Clerk.

Start Preparing in High School For Dynamic Electronics Career

Electronics is fast becoming integrated into every kind of industry from banking to aerospace. In fact, the Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that jobs in electronics will increase faster than most others throughout this decade.

"High-school students will enter these careers during an exciting and dynamic period," says Mr. Kingsley Bewley, chairman of the Bell & Howell Education Group, Inc., an international network of technical institutes.

Mr. Bewley explains that most electronics jobs require a diploma or degree after high school. For high-school students interested in an electronics career, it's possible to get a head start by selecting the right courses while attending high school.

"Taking the appropriate courses early will help students discover whether they have the interest and the ability to pursue an electronics career," Mr. Bewley says. "Then, if the students do apply to a post-secondary technical institute, they will have a solid foundation on which to build."

Courses Mr. Bewley recommends include:

Mathematics. The concepts of math are basic to all levels of electronics jobs. Courses in algebra, plane geometry and trigonometry will be especially valuable. In addition, mathematics helps discipline the mind to think logically and that's essential in electronics.

Physical Sciences. It's not possible to understand electronics without complete familiarity with the scientific laws that govern the field. High-school courses in chemistry and physics (including lab) introduce students to those laws. Courses in biology will also be an advantage for those who might want to find jobs in an area such as medical instrumentation.

Communications. On the job, electronics technicians must be able to explain, write and present technical information to co-workers and others. Courses in English composition and speech are good preparation for those job skills.

Business. No matter what specific product or service is involved, nearly all electronics jobs will be part of an ongoing business. Students who take business courses will begin to understand how their jobs will fit into the whole picture. †

IMPORTANT NEWS FROM BASSETT'S CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD!

In developing "Bargain Day U.S.A." Bassett Furniture Industries hopes to achieve three primary objectives:
First, to create the largest day of savings in history for America's Homemakers by assisting each participating store to offer important reductions on every item in their selection (not just Bassett products!).
Second, to introduce Bassett's exciting new products to as many consumers as possible in a very short period of time. We feel "Bargain Day U.S.A." with its wide range of appeal should produce the biggest crowds ever at fine stores across America.
Finally, by underwriting and coordinating the largest home furnishings savings event in history, we hope to say a most sincere "Thank you" to the millions of customers, and thousands of retail stores that have made Bassett the world's largest single brand furniture manufacturer. Thank you, and happy shopping . . . from all seven-thousand of us at Bassett Furniture Industries.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIANS

A recent visit to the headquarters of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians revealed significant accomplishments in which all Mississippians can take pride. The Tribe, under the capable leadership of Chief Phillip Martin, has undertaken an industrial development program on the reservation near Philadelphia which is creating good job opportunities for many of the tribe's 5,000 members.

Chahta Enterprises, which opened in February, 1979, produces electronic wiring assemblies for General Motor's half-ton pickup trucks and Buick LaSabre model automobiles. The plant now employs 217 people. I personally toured this facility and saw the high quality of workmanship involved in the production process. I observed, too, the pride these workers take in their jobs.

Choctaw Greeting Enterprises is another industry which has opened recently, providing finishing work on greeting cards for American Greetings Corporation. This company, which was the first to be financed through industrial development bonds on an Indian reservation, now employs 230 people.

A new 43,000 square-foot facility is almost complete to house a new industry which will produce electronic wiring assemblies for the Ford Motor Company. This company is the first to use Urban Development Action Grants on an Indian reservation, again demonstrating the initiative of the Choctaw leaders in attracting industry to the reservation.

The Choctaws are demonstrating their ability to work and their determination to become self-sufficient. They have taken advantage of educational opportunities and are training Choctaws for productive careers which will benefit the Tribe and our State.

Most significantly, the Choctaw workers are benefiting from their productivity. Their sense of achievement and pride in their status of self-sufficiency is admirable.

I am confident that the Choctaws will continue to experience economic growth and development as a result of their determination. This tribe can become a model for other reservations throughout the nation.

Summer Refreshers
SIMPLE DESSERTS GO FANCY WITH FRUIT
Summer should be a time of lazy days, relaxed and simple. Yet, summer sometimes brings occasions that require elegant fare.

Home economists in the Betty Crocker Kitchens suggest you meet this culinary challenge by serving simple desserts dressed up with fresh fruits. Now at the peak of their seasons, luscious fruits make even simple desserts festive.

Whether it's a bridal shower, wedding reception, family reunion or birthday gathering, these desserts are most appropriate.

For a real refresher, crown this frozen Coconut Crunch Dessert with fresh blueberries, peaches or other seasonal fruit. A creamy filling of vanilla pudding is sandwiched between two crunchy layers made with coconut-pecan frosting mix and quick-cooking oats.

So convenient, you make it ahead of time and keep it in the freezer until time to serve. Top with fresh fruit just before serving.

Or complement the moist texture of a rich Cream Cheese Pound Cake with one of two fruit toppings. The simple taste of pound cake is so appropriate for summer. Make it in minutes by simply adding cream cheese to convenient pound cake mix.

FRUIT-TOPPED COCONUT CRUNCH DESSERT
1 package Betty Crocker coconut-pecan frosting mix
1 1/4 cups quick-cooking oats

CREAM CHEESE POUND CAKE
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 package Betty Crocker pound cake mix
2/3 cup water

1/3 cup margarine or butter, softened
1 tablespoon milk
1 package (5 5/8 ounces) vanilla instant pudding and pie filling
4 cups mixed fresh fruit or 1 can (21 ounces) fruit pie filling
Mix frosting mix (dry), oats and margarine until crumbly. Reserve 1 cup. Stir milk into remaining crumbly mixture. Press firmly in ungreased square pan, 8x8x2 inches.

Prepare pudding and pie filling as directed on package for pudding. Pour over crumbly mixture in pan. Sprinkle with reserved crumbly mixture. Cover and freeze until firm, about 4 hours. Remove from freezer 30 minutes before serving. Top with fruit. 9 servings.

Sour Cream Fruit Topping or Fruit Topping (below)
Heat oven to 325°. Grease and flour loaf pan, 9x5x3 inches. Beat cream cheese in small bowl on low speed until smooth and fluffy, about 30 seconds. Beat in cake mix (dry), water and eggs on low speed until moistened. Beat on medium speed, scraping bowl frequently, 3 minutes. Pour into pan.

Bake until top springs back when touched lightly in center, 55 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Serve with Sour Cream Fruit Topping.

Sour Cream Fruit Topping: Beat 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened, and 3/4 cup dairy sour cream on high speed until smooth. Serve with fresh fruit.

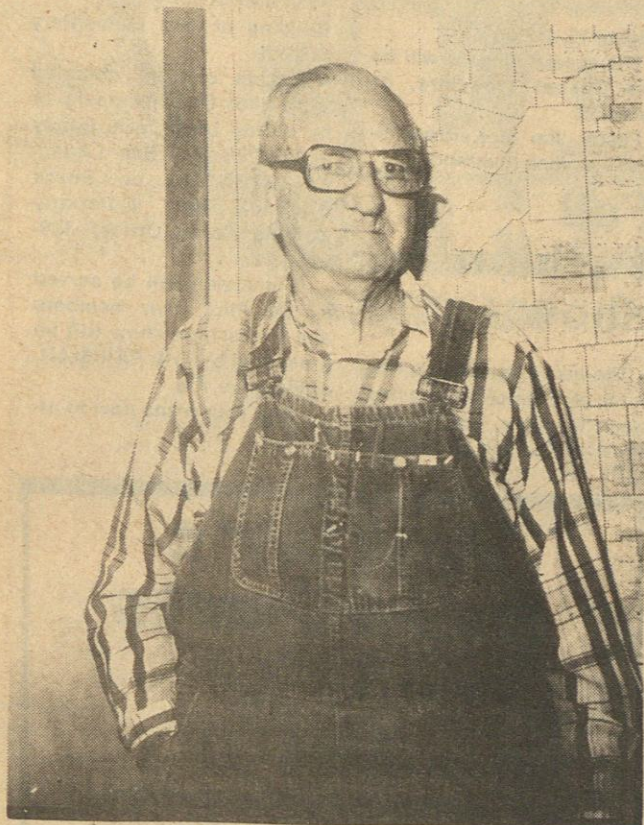

Fruit Topping: 1 can (21 ounces) apricot pie filling and 4 cups cut-up mixed fresh fruit. Refrigerate until chilled.

Nub Hayes To Appear On National T.V.

Grover "Nub" Hayes, of Magerum, will be on CBS Tuesday night, August 16. He will appear on the program "On The Road" with Charles Kauralt, which airs at 7:00 p.m. Hayes, a mechanical tinkerer, has been finding unusual ways of solving problems all his life. He probably is best known for his aerial contraption for getting the mail. A pair of cables go from the hill across Rose Trail to a steel tower. There one cable drops to the mail box. One cable lifts the box vertically and the other pulls it across the road and to the hill above. Hayes designed safeguards to prevent the mail box from being carried across the road and accidentally striking passing cars. He built the system some 13 years ago. Along with his unusual mailbox, other inventions will also be highlighted on the T.V. program.

receives a license. Thirty days before applying for the license, the couple must receive a medical certificate showing them to be free of syphilis. Proof of age is required by showing a birth certificate, baptismal record, armed service discharge or other official document. If either person appears to be under the age of 21, and is without parental consent, the clerk will notify the mother, father, guardian or next of kin.

Q: Is there common law marriage in Mississippi?

A: No. Common law marriage in Mississippi was abolished in 1956. A Mississippi common law marriage is valid if it was consummated before 1956. If a couple entered into a common law marriage in another state where it was valid, then it is considered to be valid in Mississippi. Children of a common law marriage after 1956 are illegitimate.

Q: If married in another state, would the marriage be valid in Mississippi?

A: A marriage legally entered into is equally valid in Mississippi. Marriage in another country, if abiding by all natural laws, is valid. But Mississippi will not recognize marriage between brother and sister or between father and daughter even if another state or country does. When Mississippians attempt to evade this statute by marrying elsewhere, the marriage is considered to be void.

Q: What are the minimum requirements for marriage in Mississippi?

A: Before a marriage license can be issued the male must prove he is at least 17 years old, and the female must prove she is at least 15 years old. But if a reason can be given to a judge of any Chancery, Circuit or County Court that a couple must be married, the age requirement may be waived. Also if the parents give their consent, an underaged couple may be married. Application for a marriage license must be in writing and be on file three days before the couple

THANK YOU

I would like to thank each of you for the votes you gave me on August 2nd. Those of you who helped during the campaign, friends and relatives, your help and encouragement meant so much to me. This campaign has drawn us closer together. I appreciate this and the encouragement for many new friends. Thank you from the deepest part of mine and my families heart.

BOBBY H. JOHNSON

Citizens of Alcorn and Tishomingo Counties

Dear Citizens:

Numerous people have called me concerning an incident which occurred at the National Guard Armory at Iuka, Mississippi, one of the voting precincts in Tishomingo County, on Tuesday night, August 2, 1983, and I would like to clarify what happened for the people of Tishomingo and Alcorn County who know me.

Laura Caveness called me about 10:45 P. M. and informed me that the Election Holders would not permit her to enter the area where the ballots were being counted and that she would like for me to come to the Armory and try to help her explain to the Election Holders that she was entitled to enter in order that she could determine how many votes she and her opponents were getting at the box.

Section 23-3-13 of the Mississippi Code provides in part as follows: "...candidates or their duly authorized representatives shall have the right to reasonably view and inspect the ballots as and when they are taken from the box and counted, and to reasonably view and inspect the tally sheets, papers and other documents used in said election during the proceedings...."

When I arrived at the Armory, I asked one of the Election Holders near the front door who I should talk with concerning the matter and he directed me to one of his fellow Election Holders near the back of the Armory. The Election Holder to whom I was directed to discuss the matter was in the process of reading the votes cast from a ballot when I got to his table, and after he completed the ballot, I asked him if I could talk with him concerning Laura. I had started to explain to him that Laura was entitled to be present at the counting of the votes and to show him the applicable voting regulation when two deputies from the Tishomingo County Sheriff's Office came and informed me that I was under arrest for disturbing the peace. After explaining the laws concerning a candidate's right to be present and showing them the applicable statutes in the Mississippi Code, the deputies apologized to me for their action, and Laura and I were permitted to observe the counting of the votes.

A majority of the Election Holders were courteous to us, but several of them were very rude and two of the elderly Election Holders cursed me on numerous occasions and harrassed both Laura and I, and one of the men tried to provoke a fight with me apparently in hopes of hurting Laura.

Laura's only motive in wanting to be able to observe the counting of votes was to determine how she was doing in her race. She had no difficulty in determining how her race was going at the other precincts and she was upset, as any candidate would be, when she was erroneously informed that she had no right to observe the counting of votes in an election in which she was a candidate.

Cordially yours,
Donald Ray Downs

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT

TO THE CITIZENS OF TISHOMINGO COUNTY:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude for the show of support that you gave me with your vote on August 2nd. Your help and support will be needed again on August 23rd. If elected I'll protect your confidence by being a full-time working sheriff for all the citizens of Tishomingo County, showing partiality to no one.

I would also like to take this means to congratulate my honorable opponents on the clean, hard-fought campaign they waged in the First Primary. You are all to be commended on the fine campaign you ran. To your many friends I would like to ask that you would put the same confidence in me that you showed them by asking for your vote and support in the upcoming second primary. I'll return that confidence by being a Sheriff you can count on at any time.

As the time for the second primary approaches there are many rumors circulating about me. I will take this means to clear up as many as I can. I have in my possession a letter from the Tishomingo County Electric Power Assoc. and a copy of my last three years meter consumption. The letter states that I have never stolen power from them. Anyone who wishes to see this proof, contact me and I will be glad to show it to them.

As for the rumor that I already have my deputies chosen, that is also untrue. I would want qualified men to apply for the job and I would choose them carefully with you, the citizens of Tishomingo County in mind. If elected, I would start a new operation, using the Sheriff's office as a place of business, to enforce the law and to serve you, the public.

As for any other rumors that I don't know about, give me the privilege of contacting me and I will do my best to clear them up.

Again, thank you for your support and confidence in the First Primary. To those of you who did not support me in the First Primary, I am asking for your vote and support on August 23rd. I will protect that vote with hard work and loyalty. Do yourself and Tishomingo County a favor, be sure to get out and vote. Vote for a Working Sheriff that will come when you call!

Sincerely,
Bob Payne

Area Exotic Animal Farmer On ET

On the August 15th edition of "FARMWEEK", Tishomingo County animal breeder Larry Fiske shares the excitement

Larry Fiske's Wild Animal Farm To Be Featured On TV

Some people who have land use it for unusual reasons related to farming. One individual is Larry Fiske, of Tishomingo County, who has an exotic animal farm on 25 acres. Fiske raises many strange animals in his own private "zoo", including llamas, emus, zebras, and toucans. Farmweek reporter Artis Ford tells about Fiske's animal farm on August 15, at 7:30 p.m. on Mississippi Educational Television.

TIMBERLINE

Have you noticed a loss in luster on your favorite shade tree? Are the leaves starting to wilt, droop, or burn around accompanying the birth of a South American Lama at his exotic animal farm. Fiske raises many types of unusual animals; including ostriches, zebras, monkeys, and rare the edges? It could be only that they are suffering from the hot weather.

Now that the days are getting longer, the temperature higher, and we're having less and less rainfall, we need to consider watering our yard trees. Trees, like people, need moisture to survive. Water keeps the tree green and cool, and dissolves the soil minerals so that they can be taken up by the roots.

Young trees particularly need to be watered because their root systems have not developed sufficiently to reach deep down into the soil where they can get to the moisture they need. But during extensive dry periods even the largest trees need to be watered.

There are right and wrong ways to water a tree. Using a lawn sprinkler or just spraying the soil around the tree only gets the top layer of birds. On the broadcast, the 24 year old will give viewers a tour of his "Noah's Ark." "FARMWEEK" airs the latest agribusiness news every Monday night at 7:30 on soil wet and encourages the roots to grow up near the surface resulting in lawn mower obstruction, cracked sidewalks and driveways and damage to the emerging roots. This root distress in turn can lead to insect and disease problems for your tree.

On the other hand, if you water deeply with plenty of water, it will soak downward and the roots will grow down for it.

Watering should be done slowly and gently. When using a hose, turn the water on to a slow stream, just enough to be absorbed by the soil under the tree. Lay the hose down and leave it there for 20 to 30 minutes -- or even longer for larger trees. Don't use a nozzle because the strong blast will gouge holes that will later dry the roots out.

There are things that can be done to aid the moisture holding ability of the soil around the tree. For one thing, you can mulch around the base of the tree with decaying leaves, twigs, pine bark, or needles. This will help the soil hold moisture in and at the same time reduce the need to mow close to the tree. Too, a more fertile soil holds moisture better than a sandy soil, so increasing the richness of your soil during planting can help. When planting your tree or shrubs you can help by constructing a wall of dirt around the base of the tree to prevent runoff when watering and to capture more of the rainfall for use by the plant.

So, next time you're out on a hot summer day and begin to feel thirsty, think about your shade trees and give them a drink too. Then mark Mississippi Forestry Commission at 423-9070 or come by the office at the Tishomingo County Courthouse on Hwy. 25 South.

Coupon Advertising Fastest Growing Medium

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture research, cents-off coupons for use in food markets is the most rapidly growing form of food advertising. The report shows about 80 percent of U.S. households redeemed coupons in 1979.

According to Mrs. Ann Rushing, Extension marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, the coupons distributed by manufacturers skyrocketed between 1965 and 1980, from 10 billion to 90 billion.

"About 60 percent of the coupons redeemed in food stores were for food, for a value approaching $900 million," she said. "Although coupons still make up the smallest portion of all major food advertising, their value rose from less than six percent of total advertising expenditures in 1970 to 11 percent in 1979."

Mrs. Rushing said this amount is still less than about 25 percent of what manufacturers spent on electronic advertising (radio, television, and less than 50 percent of that spent on printed media or premium offers, such as trading stamps).

The Economic Research Service study also found that: -- Only about one out of 20 coupons issued are redeemed.

-- About 3.3 cents of every $10 spent by the consumer for food goes to cover the cost of coupons.

-- Coffee, prepared foods, breakfast cereal, and flour and flour mix products, which account for 10 percent of the consumer food budget, make up about 60 percent of the value of coupons redeemed.

-- There is no hard evidence that food prices would drop in the absence of coupons because manufacturers could shift to other types of advertising.

-- Manufacturers use coupons to introduce new products, build brand loyalty, and ensure that price reductions are passed on to the consumer.

-- In general, retailers feel coupons reduce their control over shelf space. Some view reimbursement of their handling costs as inadequate and think that doubling the value of coupons cuts profits.

-- Coupons have little effect on the demand for raw farm products because coupons are mostly used to promote food with a low farm price compared to retail price.

-- Coupons are primarily issued for storable, branded items instead of less processed, perishable products.

-- Coupon redemption rates are highest for coupons on the package. Production and handling costs also are lowest for these type coupons.

-- The average face value of coupons is 23.5 cents.

-- Daily newspaper coupons account for more than 50 percent of all coupons distributed and about 40 percent of those redeemed.

-- Lower income consumers use fewer coupons than other income groups.

-- Leading food firms tend to issue the most coupons

1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
¾ cup firmly packed brown

sugar
½ cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
Milk or cream

Pare apples, corn and slice apples. Arrange in an ungreased shallow two quart baking dish. Combine oats, brown sugar, flour and salt. Cut in butter. Sprinkle oat mixture over apples. Bake in pre-heated moderate oven 350° for 30 to 35 minutes or until brown and bubbly and apples are tender. Serve warm with milk or cream.

County Agent's Notes

Fertilize Farm Ponds

A fertilized pond will usually produce three to four times more pounds of fish as one not fertilized. A well-fertilized, well-managed pond normally produces 200 to 400 pounds of fish per acre each year.

Tiny plants and animals called plankton are the key to good fish production. Fertilizer is needed to produce plankton and increase the fish production on any size farm pond.

Water insects and other organisms use plankton for food. Bream and other small fish feed on the insects, and bass feed on the small fish. As the production of plankton increases, so does fish production.

If a pond is stocked at the rate for a fertilized pond, it needs fertilizing four to 10 times a year. If it's fertilized a few times or not at all, the amount of fish stocked per acre should be reduced.

Twice as many fish can be stocked in a fertilized pond as one not fertilized. If fish are stocked at the fertilized rate, enough food must be produced by fertilizing to keep the fish from being stunted.

The type of soil in a pond determines how much fertilizer is needed. Take a soil sample of the bottom of the pond before fertilizing to determine the lime needs. On acid pond soils, applying some types of fertilizer is a waste of time and money.

There are other considerations in fertilizing and managing fish ponds for top production. For more details, contact the County Extension Office.

Diseases May Stop Insects

We've always thought the best way to stop soybean insects is with poison. But natural diseases may control them without the expense of chemicals.

As the season progresses, diseases like fungi and bacteria can play a big part in stopping soybean insects. A full plant canopy also helps because it seems to favor development of the diseases.

The diseases can control soybean insects like the armyworm, velvetbean caterpillar, green cloverworm and looper. Dead worms in the field will tell you if diseases are working in the insect population.

If you find diseased worms that have a whitish, mold-like growth on them, are black and filled with fluid, or just dead worms, this is a sign that the insect population is being reduced naturally. In some cases you may not have to apply chemicals.

When you see diseased worms, hold off treating for a few days to see if the diseases will spread to a level that will control the insects without the use of chemicals.

Early Insect Problems Plague State Farmers

A combination of crop production and environmental factors is giving state farmers one of their worst early battles with crop insects in years.

The factors are combining to dramatically boost numbers of many insect pests in major crops in the state according to Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service insect control specialists.

Pests such as boll weevils and stink bugs have turned up in high numbers in Mississippi crops, including cotton, corn, grain sorghum and vegetable crops.

The insects damage the crops and reduce yields by sucking plant juices, eating plant parts or causing other damage that affects crop production.

Dr. Bob Head, an entomologist with the Extension Service, said high numbers of overwintered boll weevils which survived the mild winter set the stage for current insect problems in cotton crops.

"Overwintered boll weevil populations were the highest in 10 to 15 years," Head said. "They were at least 10 times higher than in 1982."

Producers generally have done a good job in controlling the pests thus far, according to Head, but serious problems are expected later in July and August.

"With the late crop this year, producers can expect insect problems later than normal," Head added. "Treatment will be required well into September."

Head also said other crop pests may build later in cotton crops, including bollworms and budworms, plant bugs and fall armyworms.

Many of the current insect problems are being influenced by weather and other problems affecting crops, said Dr. Roy Reid, Extension area pest management specialist at Stoneville in the Delta.

Reid said late planting and development for major crops combined with low temperatures which set crops back early were major factors in encouraging the insect outbreak.

Large amounts of cropland idled by the government's payment-in-kind program are complicating the insect problem by providing wild host plants on which the insects thrive, Reid said.

"Plant bugs and flea hoppers are in high numbers on wild hosts on idled crop acreage," Reid said. "As these wild hosts mature or are plowed down, the insects are moving to cotton."

Reid said much of the soybean acreage in the Delta was planted late, and these crops usually have more problems with insects such as loopers, podworms and other insects.

Much of the grain sorghum acreage in the Delta also is late. Late crops are more susceptible to insects such as the sorghum midge, armyworms and head worms.

The Tucker family worked hard during the trying times of the Depression Era. Three people engaging in very difficult labor only made $1.50 a day. According to Buster largest crop in acreage, with 3.1 million acres seeded in 1983. About 720,000 acres of cotton, 300,000 acres of grain sorghum, and 160,000 acres of rice were planted this spring.

Boll weevils also are plaguing cotton growers in north Mississippi where record numbers of the pests have been captured in trapping devices.

Dr. Mike Williams, Extension pest management

Tucker, a man who can remember those days, recalling a particularly bitter memory, he said that on one occasion the family's pay check was stolen after they had worked so diligently for made to control the insects.

Another pest - stink bugs - has been reported in extremely high numbers in south Mississippi crops. The insects have moved from wheat to more desirable crops as wheat was harvested.

"High numbers of stink bugs have attacked grain sorghum, corn, watermelons and tomatoes," said Dr. Jim Hamer, Extension pest management specialist. "Soybeans also damaged, but less than crops."

Hamer said the damage appear to be reproducible on corn crops and levels as high as 14 insects of corn on some crops.

Across the state, described insect pests on soybeans as locusts, building. Cutworms, beetles and three-spotted alfalfa hoppers are moderate infestations.

Business Week '83 At MUW

More than 150 high school students from throughout the state learned more about America's free enterprise system during the sixth annual Business Week at Mississippi University for Women recently. Participants heard guest speakers, representing a cross-section of business and industry; toured industries in Columbus; played a model business computer game, which allowed students to see results of corporate decisions; and participated in a variety of other activities planned during the week-long seminar. Among those attending this year were from left, front: Jane Brown and Julie Long, both of Booneville; Michelle Campbell, of Batesville; Robin Bounds, of Macon; Julia Grantham and Chelby Coburn, both of Greenville; Melissa Howell of Amory; (back) Geoff Horne, of Greenville; Bill Shilling, of Iuka; Melanie Dahlem and Jeannessa Frazier, both of Hamilton; Jim Caver and Rod Coggin, both of Booneville; and Keith Brown, of Amory.

Compulsory Attendance Law in Miss.

Mississippi's children aged 6 and 7 who are medically able are required to attend school this fall under the state's new Compulsory Attendance Law.

Parents of children of these ages who are not able to attend because of medical problems must present sufficient documentation such as a physician's statement. Other children aged 6 and 7 must be enrolled in a private, public or parochial school or a home instruction program.

A certificate of enrollment must be filed with the clerk of the youth court in the county of residence by September 15 for all children enrolled in non-public schools and who have attained age 6 but are not age 8 on or before September 1. Enrollment certification forms are available in city halls and county courthouses.

Children attending public schools will be accounted for through the school systems.

"All parents who have not enrolled their children or whose children are unlawfully absent will come to the attention of the attendance officers hired throughout the state," said Budd Hughes, executive director of the Governor's Commission for Children and Youth (GCCY).

"The attendance officer will make every effort to help each family in overcoming problems which are hindering the youngster's enrollment in school," he said. "When all attempts fail, the parents will be subject to prosecution."

According to Hughes, a parent, guardian or custodian of a 6 or 7-year old child not in compliance with the law is guilty of educational neglect, and, if convicted, would be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisoned up to one year or both.

The new law is being implemented on a staggered basis. Each school year after 1983-84 one year of age will be added to the age of pupils required to attend school. In the 1989-90 school year, every child 6 years of age through 13 will be required to attend school.

"Compulsory school attendance is among several approaches Mississippi is taking to improve the education of our children and youth," said Hughes.

"Governor Winter's 'educational package' which resulted in the Education Reform Act of 1982 has gained national attention for its contribution to better education, he said. "In addition to compulsory attendance, the act also mandates immediate implementation of reading improvement programs in the first grade as well as implementation of statewide kindergartens beginning in the fall of 1988, school consolidation for more efficiency, teacher upgrading and better school financing."

Prior to the act's passage, Mississippi was the only state without an enforceable attendance law and state funding for kindergartens.

"For many years, Mississippi has been plagued by serious education deficiencies," said Hughes. "Our state has next to the highest illiteracy rate in the nation, and Mississippi has the second lowest graduation rate for high school students. Our state also has the highest school dropout rate in the nation and the nation's highest military rejection rate.

"A good education is an important investment in the child's future and the future of our state," he said. "We hope that parents will want to have their children get the best education they can, but when this is not the case, the new law will be there to help."

Further information on the Education Reform Act of 1982 may be obtained from the Governor's Service Line by dialing, toll free, 1-800-222-7622.

High Heat Hinders Health

High summer temperatures are causing havoc for many Mississippians! Those people who appear to suffer the greatest risk from the heat and high humidity of Mississippi summers are the elderly, persons with heart conditions, and infants.

"Although most people can tolerate extreme heat, those whose bodies cannot adjust are subject to heat stroke, heat exhaustion, and heat cramps," says Clara Fortner of the Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation. Of these conditions, heat stroke causes the most severe damage.

The Mississippi Department has available free energy and health related publications on "What Everyone Should Know About Heat Stroke, Heat Exhaustion and Heat Cramps", "Food Ideas for the Heat Wave", "High Heat Hinders Health", and many other publications on summer cooling and how to cut the cost of "Cooling Your Home".

To ask a question or to obtain your free copies of any of the above printed materials, call the toll-free Energy Answerline, 1-800-222-8311. In Jackson, the number is 961-4733.

Or write: Energy Answerline, 510 George Street, Watkins, Building, Suite 300, Jackson, Mississippi 39202.

COME TO CHURCH

We all have times when things go wrong,

And Fortune's in reverse;

Yet we're expected to be strong,

Though things could not get worse...

A strength of which the Scriptures name

Examples plain to see:

Like Job, whose faith remained the same

Throughout adversity.

So why not go to Church this week,

Whichever one you choose,

And listen to the Bible speak;

There's not a thing to lose!

Then, what those passages command

You'll follow to the letter;

And let God take your life in hand,

To change it for the better! —Gloria Nowak program on July 1, which permitted farmers to make preliminary planting decisions and financial commitments for their crop, while the Congress continued deliberations on target price freeze proposals.

"Since legislative action on the proposed target price freeze is now before the U.S. Senate, it is up to the Congress to decide which option they want to choose," Block said. "It is important to get this issue resolved in order to assist farmers in making their management decisions."

He listed the following 1984 wheat program options:

-- If new legislation freezes the target price at $4.30 per bushel, the acreage reduction requirement will be 25 percent and there will be a payment-in-kind program of 10 to 25 percent for farmers who divert additional land. The payment-in-kind compensation will be 80 percent of the program yield.

-- If Congress does not freeze target prices and the target price automatically escalates to $4.45 per bushel, the acreage reduction requirement will be 30 percent and there will be a payment-in-kind program of 10 to 20 percent for farmers who divert additional land. The payment-in-kind compensation will be 75 percent of the program yield.

Producers participating in the payment-in-kind program and having both reserve and regular loan grain would be required to make their reserve grain available for PIK. Those farmers who have neither will be eligible for participation in the payment-in-kind program by volunteering to harvest for payment-in-kind.

In addition:
-- Land taken out of production must be devoted to a conservation use. This land must be acreage that would have been devoted to small grains or row crops in 1984.

-- The national average loan and purchase rate will be $3.30 per bushel. The Food and Agriculture Act of 1981 permits the loan rate to be set at this level since the season's average price for the 1983 crop is expected to be less than 105 percent of current loan rate.

Block said the current loan rate is above market clearing levels and places U.S. producers at a competitive disadvantage in world markets. "This reduction will begin to restore competitiveness in world markets and send a signal to our export competitors that we will no longer maintain a 'high price umbrella' which allows them to undercut us in the world market," Block said.

Mississippians To Benefit From World's Fair Traffic

Mississippi can expect about 1.4 million new visitors and $266 million to enter the state next year.

The 1984 World's Fair, scheduled for New Orleans in 1984, is the source of the predicted bonanza of both people and dollars.

The figures, compiled by the Gulf South Research Institute, show Mississippi is a prime position to capitalize on the attraction. The advantage comes from the fact that 72 percent of the two million people expected to visit the world's fair must travel through Mississippi to get there.

The same Gulf South Research Institute report emphasizes that Mississippians should focus on the state's tourist resources that appeal to couples and families.

In order to accomplish that, many communities and cities are examining what they have to offer and are planning campaigns to make their communities look better to the travelling public.

During a recent Community Appearance workshop, sponsored by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Land Use Center, some community leaders gathered to tell chambers of commerce leaders, garden and homemaker club leaders and public officials how a few local communities are planning to spruce up.

One successful campaign to improve community appearance is Tupelo's "Operation Tree Cover."

The city is concentrating on planting three kinds of trees including sycamores, crepe myrtles and sugar maples along highways and streets that have high visual impact.

Boyd Yarbrough is coordinator of the Tupelo campaign. He said the project appeals to many Tupelo residents and especially those who want to plant a tree in honor of someone.

"The project has been a great success so far, but it is only the beginning," Yarbrough said.

He said the trees are a stepping stone to neighborhood identification. Cleanup campaigns and community signs are expected to follow.

Another project sponsored by the Merritt Ridge 4-H Club in Madison County also drew attention.

The 4-H'ers have launched a nature-exercise trail, which has required the construction of exercise stations, tree identification stations, bird houses and picnic tables. The club's work changed a 10-acre strip of undeveloped land into "Friendship Park."

"The 4-H'ers have gained experience and a love for their community," said Marian Quinn, Madison County 4-H Youth Agent.

"There is still plenty to be done, but our goal has been reached."

Libby Hitt, training specialist, Department of Development in Jackson, at the community workshop are directed to the overall campaign for tourism.

"If the small cities and towns are attractive, the state will be more attractive," Ms. Hitt said.

RELIEF IN A CAN

In the not-too-distant past, the use of consumer products packaged in aerosol cans was considered to be a luxury. Aerosols tended to be much more costly than similar products packaged in glass or plastic containers. Advances in aerosol technology coupled with mass production have now made use of aerosols a "way of life" for most persons in industrialized countries.

Several drug products are packaged in convenient aerosol containers. Many of these are intended for application to the skin, and some are designed for inhalation (in relief of asthma symptoms).

In the future, an "old time" drug that has been used by millions in the tablet form may be available as an aerosol. A recent article in the medical journal Circulation reports on the use of nitroglycerin aerosol sprayed on the tongue to provide relief of angina pain. Nitroglycerin tablets intended for use under the tongue are relatively unstable - they lose their effectiveness with time. Further research with nitroglycerin aerosol in a larger number of test patients may prove that this convenient form is both effective and stable. In the future, angina sufferers may find their relief in a can instead of a tablet.

Wind Force Downs Trees... Damages Property

Several trees were blown over in the path of strong, gusty winds in the south end of Tishomingo County last week. Shingles were blown from homes in the immediate area as thunder, lightning, and heavy rain accompanied the summer storm. The homes and property of Mrs.

those which suffered damage.

Roof Removed During Storm

A small community on Red

of Belmont, reported exten-

and property during a sudden

"twister" that struck last Thursday around 4:30 p.m. As a result of the storm, the roof of an out-building, belonging to Mrs. Steve South, was lifted off and toppled to the ground as the cloud continued east.

USE YOUR SEATBELT!
Allan R. Magie, Ph.D., M.P.H.

Increasing the use of seatbelts and child safety seats in motor vehicles is one of the most important public health measures to save lives and prevent injuries.

Highway crashes claim more young lives in America than any other single cause, with nearly 50,000 people dying yearly.

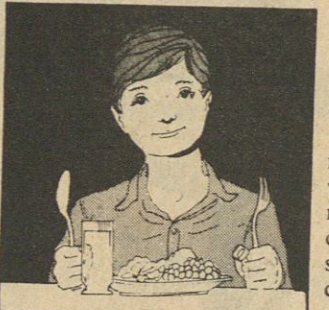

The solution to the problem is really very simple: if every occupant in every car would buckle up their seatbelts, and if every child under four would use an approved child safety seat, the human and economic losses from these crashes would be dramatically cut.

Consider what resulted after the Canadian Province of Ontario enacted a safety belt use requirement. The use of such safety devices increased from 17 to 65 percent. That increased usage resulted in:

1. 16 percent fewer persons killed.
2. A 14 percent decline in injuries.
3. 16 percent fewer hospitalizations.
4. A 10 percent decline in in-patient hospital costs - in spite of a 10 percent inflation in the overall cost of hospital care at the same time.
5. A 13 percent reduction in average stay for accident victims, with a nearly 30 percent decrease in those hospitalized from 15 to 30 days.

Such obvious savings in lives and dollars are as yet unrealized in the United States because only 11 percent of the drivers use this lowered intake could easily be reached by most individuals. A well-balanced diet, free of visible fats such as rich gravies, butter, margarine, mayonnaise, etc., contains only about 20 to 25 percent fat. 2. Eliminate or greatly reduce pickled, salt-cured and smoked foods, including bacon, sausage and smoked fish. In Iceland, Japan and China, where such foods are frequently consumed, there is a higher than expected number of cancers of the esophagus and stomach. These foods often contain nitrosamines and other chemicals known to cause cancer in animals. 3. Eat more vitamin- and mineral-rich fruits and vegetables. Especially recommended are foods rich in beta-carotene, such as carrots, squash and other yellow and dark green leafy vegetables, and vitamin C-containing oranges, tomatoes, broccoli, and green peppers. Sufficient amounts of both vitamins are associated with lower cancer rates in humans. There is no evidence to support the cancer-reducing value of larger doses of these or other vitamins, such as vitamin E. In fact, larger amounts can be toxic.

In conclusion, the report supports the value of eating moderate amounts of a wide variety of unrefined foods.

Tishomingo Public Library

By: Lonette Southward

School children of all ages found a pot of gold at the Tishomingo Public Library during the 1983 Summer

Reading Program.

Following a theme of "Reading Rainbow", the library helped children to discover that books could be fun.

The following children received certificates at the close of the program: Rodney Alexander, Michelle Barnes, Sabrina Crowe, Gwen Durham, Stephen McClain, Tammy Oaks, Heather Robinson, Jason Southward, and Kimberly Whitlock. Each participant received a membership card, bookmarks, reading record and at least one prize during the program, which lasted from July 1 - 27.

The reading program is coordinated annually by the Mississippi Library Commission.

Mississippi's table eggs were produced by 3.9 million commercial layers. In addition, more than 2 million broiler breeder layers produced the eggs used to hatch the broilers in 1982.

Mississippi's poultry industry has an estimated $520 million invested in production and processing facilities and equipment. The industry has an annual payroll of more than $320 million.

More than 10,000 people are employed directly by the Mississippi poultry industry. Among 2,500 farm families produce the eggs or broilers under contract with commercial broiler and egg companies.

the belts available to them. Fortunately the use of child safety seats is higher—around 45 percent for infants (under one year) and 20 percent for toddlers one to four years old.

What can be done? First, people need to learn what a safety belt does, how to put it on and how to adjust the belt for maximum comfort and fit. The same applies to child safety seats.

Next, people must be persuaded to use the available safety devices. This may require motivation, such as incentives which reward the user monetarily (reduced insurance rates) or increased prestige (special parking lots). Hopefully these will modify the individual's behavior so that a habit pattern is formed.

Lastly, this behavior change, which will hopefully last over a person's entire life, needs to be reinforced, using educational techniques which establish such behavior as the norm...the desirable behavior in today's world.

A DIET TO PREVENT CANCER?

Allan R. Magie, Ph.D., M.P.H.

That's what some have claimed for years. Others have suggested that a balanced intake of mostly unrefined foods can greatly reduce one's risk of getting cancer. The latter is probably closer to the truth, at least in the light of a recent report of the National Academy of Sciences, which gives guidelines for what is meant by eating right.

While a prudent (sensible) diet may not insure a cancer-free life, by controlling what is eaten one may avoid diet-sensitive cancer. These are cancers which animal tests and human population studies have shown to be associated with certain specific dietary components.

In addition, since most, if not all, cancers thrive because the body's defenses have been weakened, a diet which optimizes the body's immune system would prevent or delay the development of such life-threatening abnormalities.

What specific modifications need to be made to improve one's chances of avoiding cancer? There are only a few relatively simple changes necessary to have a rather dramatic effect on the incidence of cancer.

1. Cut fat consumption, at least by 25 percent. The lower the fat intake the better one's chances of resisting such cancers as breast, colon and prostate. Since most Americans eat diets that are close to 50 percent fat,
