SHOOTING FATAL TO IUKA MAN

A Tishomingo County man was charged with First Degree Murder last weekend following the shooting death of his first cousin at Danny's Place in Hardin County, Tennessee.

According to a spokesman for the Hardin County Sheriff's Department, Bobby Joe Ledbetter, age 31, of Iuka, was pronounced dead at Hardin County General Hospital

Saturday night, February 11. He died as the result of gunshot wounds to the head and shoulder from a .22 magnum rifle. The shooting occurred around 9:00 p.m. in the parking lot of the establishment, located on Highway 57 South near the Mississippi-Tennessee State Line, as Joe Ledbetter and his wife were walking to their vehicle. Clyde Ledbetter, age 32, also of Iuka, apparently shot his cousin after an argument in the parking lot and then returned to his residence on Eastport Road in Iuka. According to the spokesman, Ledbetter was then arrested by a Tishomingo County law official and waived extradition back to Tennessee. He was charged with First Degree Murder and placed in the Hardin County Jail.

A bond hearing was held Monday, February 13, at 10:00 a.m. at which time Ledbetter was freed on $25,000 cash bond.

No preliminary hearing date has been set, and the investigation is continuing pending an autopsy report from The University of Tennessee, Memphis, Chief Medical Examiner's Office. The investigating agency is Hardin County Sheriff's Department with Richard Hammett being the head investigator.

Bobby Joe Ledbetter was a lifelong resident of Tishomingo County and attended Iuka High School. He worked as a carpenter for T.V.A.

Services were held at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, February 15, at Cutshall Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Bill Hobson officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Donna Ledbetter; a daughter, Nicole Leigh Ledbetter; a son, Casey Joe Ledbetter; his mother, Louise Ledbetter; three sisters, Doris Parsons, Martha Campbell and Lisa Ledbetter; two brothers, Jessie Lee Ledbetter and Ronnie Ledbetter, all of Iuka.

tornadoes, causing more people to die in tornadoes in Mississippi than any other state.

The season of tornado activity is a four month peak, which runs from February through May, with May being the most active month. Remember though that tornadoes can occur at any time during the year.

There is little that can be done about tornado size and frequency in the state. This is why public understanding of severe weather safety procedure is so important.

Helpful hints to remember when a tornado threatens: (1) stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Always protect your head. (2) When in homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level. Get under something sturdy. (3) In schools, hospitals, and public places, move to predesignated shelter areas, interior hallways or lowest floors are best. (4) In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to more substantial shelter. (5) If outdoors, with no shelter available, lie flat in nearby ditch and shield head with arms.

There is no guaranteed safe place during a tornado. The safest thing to do after hearing warnings is to seek shelter immediately. Your life and the lives of those around you may depend upon your actions.

Assessing Winter Damage On Landscape Plants

Harsh winter weather has damaged landscape plants. Plants of borderline hardiness have suffered freeze damage. These include Azaleas, Ligustrum, Pittosporum, Sweet Olive, Evergreen Viburnum, and banana shrub. Hardy species such as hollies, Nandinas, and Euponymus have foliage burn caused by freezing and drying. In both cases, the degree of injury depends on these factors: (1) area of the state, (2) health of the plant prior to winter, and (3) exposure in the landscape. Here are recommendations to assess damage and groom shrubs for spring.

*Look for split bark caused by freezing. The bark cracks and peels away or will slough off as you rub the twig between your fingers. These limbs are dead.

* Scratch thin bark with your thumbnail or knife. Look at the color of the tissue just beneath the bark. If bright spring green, tissue is alive and will be all right. If tissue is brown, gray, black or dark olive green, there has been winter injury and tissue may be dead.

* Brown foliage is dead and will abscise (fall off). If stem tissue is green with no split bark, plants will put out new foliage in the spring. They will look naked until then.

* Wait until the plant has had time to greenup in spring before you do any pruning. You can tell what tissue is dead and alive much better by spring. Then prune dead or damaged limbs as soon as they are identified. This will help prevent and control disease problems which could otherwise develop on

(This is the second part of a two-part series on wildlife conservation.)

There is a grave problem beginning to appear on the horizon for the sportsmen. For a number of years this problem has been rearing its ugly head, but the hunter has failed to recognize or perhaps ignored it until it has become so serious that it can no longer be ignored and must now be faced as a serious menace.

I am speaking of the relations between the hunters and the private landowner. This problem, at the present time, affects the deer hunter most and to some extent the quail hunter, but is gradually spreading to other game and will eventually affect the whole hunting fraternity. We may as well face the problem and try to find a solution. It has arisen from the failure of some hunters to recognize the rights of the landowners and from the landowners judging the whole hunting fraternity by the actions of a few.

Let's consider the problem first from the landowner's point of view. He is the man on whom the propagation of game depends; he furnishes the land, the cover, and a great part of the feed. His land is the natural habitat of the game and, as he feels that it is his private property, can resent anyone killing it without his permission.

Too many hunters have failed to realize this, or have ignored it, and made a practice of hunting when and where they please, without asking the landowner's permission or considering him in any way, thoughtlessly driving through fields, or leaving his gates open. Then there is the hunter who kills any deer they can hit or deliberately kills the last bird in a covey or kills over the limit - the "game hog".

Bad news travels fast, so the bad things the hunters do are talked about most and are more widely known. The good things are taken as a matter of course and discussed very little. Consequently, there is a rising resentment to the hunter and more and more landowners are posting their land, which they unquestionably have a right to do. But, on the other hand, it seems unfair to penalize all hunters for the actions of a thoughtless or unscrupulous few. Yet, can we conscientiously blame the landowners?

But what about the sportsmen born with the same love of the "out of doors" as his neighboring landowner and the inherent love of hunting? Shall he, through the misdeeds of a few, be forced to forego the pleasure of tramping the woods and fields in search of that trophy buck, or the thrill of the sudden whirl of the flushing quail?

About 90 percent of the hunters are real sportsmen; only about 10 percent are "slob hunters". If the true sportsmen doesn't improve hunter-landowner relationships, in the near future the only place to hunt will be on his private property, state or federal land or hunting club lands.

Please respect the right of private landowners; they are the ones who produce the wildlife we all love to hunt.

are some guidelines for applicator selection:

NATURAL BRISTLE BRUSHES are best when working with varnish, enamel and shellac. They should not be used with latex paints.

POLYESTER AND NYLON BRISTLE BRUSHES are suitable for use with latex paints. Brushes are helpful when painting areas with precision, such as corners and trim. Differently sized and angled brushes available include wall, enamel, sash, and angular sash. A quality brush will contain four or more length or bristles for better paint retention and coverage. Your local paint dealer can help you select the brush for use on a particular project.

ROLLERS are excellent for painting large areas in short amounts of time. The cover fabric and the nap length should correspond to the type of paint being used and the surface being painted. Smooth surfaces require short naps, while rough surfaces are best painted with a longer nap. Synthetic roller covers are appropriate for water based paint. Solvent or oil based paints require either a synthetic or lambswool roller cover, and mohair or lambswool covers should be used with lacquers. Power rollers that pump paint from the can through the roller are also AD. APPLICATORS cover faster than brushes and the results are just as smooth. These are especially helpful for painting shingles and shakes.

AIRLESS SPRAY APPLICATORS are most frequently used for hard to reach surfaces such as shut-

CARING FOR YOUR PET

YOUR DOG'S DIET

Feeding your dog is one of the most important things you must do to maintain good health and insure long life. There is no one, single diet which is best. The key here is to choose one which is nutritionally sound and convenient for you to use. Then stick to it. Frequent changes very often result in digestive upsets and disorders.

Nearly everyone agrees that a diet of table scraps is far from ideal. Much better would be one of the commercially manufactured dog foods which come ready to serve, and is a complete and balanced diet. To this you can add whatever table scraps you want, only be certain that your dog is not just picking out the scraps and leaving behind the nutritionally richer ingredients.

Better than table scraps - if you are intent supplementing your dog's diet - would be foods known to be rich in protein, vitamins and minerals. Eggs, liver, cottage cheese are examples. However, you must be careful to add these gradually and in small amounts.

Meadows - Yow Vows Exchanged In Magee

In a candlelight service on December 18, Miss Connie Meadows and Mr. George Mitchel Yow were united in marriage. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilburn Meadows, of Magee, and Mrs. Zeb Yow, of Magee, and the late Mr. Yow.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Timothy D. Dye in the Sharon Presbyterian Church in Magee. The church was beautifully decorated in Christmas greenery, palms, reds, brass candelabra trees and spiral candelabra. The three tier arch was decorated with blue and white poinsettias. The gold decked kneeling bench centered the atmosphere. A unity candle, mounted in a decorated brass candelabra, was placed on the side.

Nuptial music was presented by Robbin Yelverton, of Clinton, organist. Soloists were Mrs. Darlene Garner, of Magee, and David Elliot, of French Camp.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon with a high neckline and a fitted bodice covered in aloncon lace and seed pearls. It featured bishop sleeves of chiffon that fitted at the waist and were edged in matching lace. The fitted waistline fell into a circular skirt with a chapel length train. The matching headpiece was of French illusion edged with re-embroidered lace with a three-quarter length veil and blusher. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, orchids, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Mary Ann Bridges, of Columbus. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Shirley Meadows, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Sherry Meadows, niece of the bride, both of Mt. Olive, Mrs. Jean Morgan, cousin of the bride, of Magee, and Miss Dana Bridges, niece of the bride, of Columbus. They carried colonial bouquets of three shades of blue poinsettia to compliment their blue chiffon gowns.

The flower girl was Miss Elizabeth Garner, cousin of the bride. She wore a floor-length light blue dress with layers of lace and carried a basket of blue flower petals.

Charles Taylor, of Coldwater, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen included Robert Caveness, of Booneville, cousin of the groom, Charles Evans, Jerry Harrelson, both of Iuka, and Thomas Meadows, brother of the bride, of Magee. Ushers were Charles Meadows, brother of the bride, of Mt. Olive, and E.S. Bridges, brother-in-law of the bride, of Columbus. The ringbearer was David Bridges, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Meadows chose for her daughter's wedding a long blue crepe dress. Mrs. Yow wore a dusty rose crepe dress for her son's wedding. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

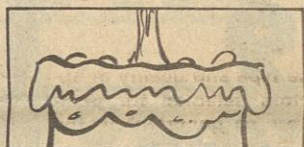

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Janie Dye, of Magee, presided at the guest registry. Assisting with serving were Mrs. Pat Helling, of Clinton, Mrs. Jan Brown, of Wesson, Mrs. Mary Purvis, Mrs. Rita Gregory, Mrs. Naomi Robinson, Mrs. A.J. Garner, Mrs. Jeanette Gregory, Mrs. Sue Maddox, Mrs. Kathryn Yelverton, all of Magee, Mrs. Lynn Caveness, cousin of the groom, of Booneville, Mrs. Wanda Evans and Mrs. Lana Harrelson, both of Iuka. Mrs. Kathy Mullins, of Jackson, directed the wedding.

Rice bags were given out by Bobby Meadows, David Bridges and Elizabeth Garner.

Following a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will reside in Iuka.

Matters of Health

Anorexia Nervosa

Is anorexia nervosa dangerous? How prevalent is it and what are the symptoms?

Anorexia nervosa is a compulsive dieting syndrome that results in starvation and is fatal in five to 20 percent of all cases. It has been quite prevalent in the United States, though it is now declining as bulimia, or bingeing followed by vomiting or laxative abuse, increases. Rarely are males anorexic.

Typically, this problem occurs in wealthier countries and strikes bright, upper middle-class young women who are high achievers. So far, researchers have been unable to identify any specific medical or psychiatric cause. Fashion has been blamed for encouraging anorexia because of its emphasis on ultrathinness. Since the 1950s, role models for women - such as Miss Americas, models, actresses - have become thinner and thinner. Women become anorexic in an attempt to meet these standards and develop a profound fear of obesity.

The syndrome frequently begins with a marginally overweight young woman who decides to diet long after she has reached her ideal body weight.

Anorexia nervosa can also be associated with a stressful situation, such as going away to college or being exposed to parents' divorce. Anorexics often come from overbearing families and use compulsive dieting as a means of gaining control of the family and manipulating them.

One symptom of the syndrome is that the dieter has a distorted body image - that is, she thinks of herself as fat when in fact she is emaciated. Other symptoms include a denial of her illness, absence of menstrual periods, a lack of interest in eating, an increase in physical activity and sometimes an increased interest in nutrition.

Often an anorexic becomes preoccupied with food and continually insists that others eat, though she herself refuses to eat. She may avoid foods containing fat and concentrate on vegetables and protein.

Anorexics may seriously damage their bodies by inducing vomiting and using diuretics and laxatives. These practices can result in electrolyte imbalance and other serious metabolic problems. Singer Karen Carpenter's death was a result of complications of anorexia.

The first and most important step in treating an anorexic is getting her to acknowledge her problem. Those unwilling to do this are the hardest to treat. The anorexic is encouraged to form a trusting relationship with a therapist who specializes in eating disorders. A physician and sometimes a nutritionist also participate in her treatment.

Treatments may be given in a hospital if the problem is severe. For example, if a patient is seriously malnourished, aggressive nutritional support is needed, which may include intravenous feeding. Treatment varies with each patient, however. Those suffering from this syndrome can be very manipulative, and most medical personnel who deal with anorexics agree that firm, strict guidelines are necessary for the patient to overcome the problems and begin eating normally again.

ASCS Farm News

By: Henry L. Knox, County Executive Director

ASCS Conducts Sign-Up For 1984 Commodity Programs

Stabilization and Conservation Service began accepting applications for the 1984 wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice acreage reduction programs on January 16th. The sign-up period closes February 24th.

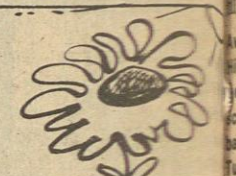

Farmers who meet the acreage reduction requirements are eligible for price support loans and target price protection.

"The acreage reduction program assure farmers a greater net profit per acre," Howard R. Bridges, Chairperson of the Tishomingo County ASC Committee, said. For example, the average wheat program participant would net from $2.50 to $19.00 more per acre than a nonparticipant, depending on yields and market prices, he said. By participating in the programs, farmers minimize the possibility of a return to excess supply situations and low prices. "They can control their own destiny by working together to reduce planted acreage and production to maintain a level of stocks in the line with market demand."

Bridges said the 1984 commodity program also provided farmers:

- Protection weather risks,
 - Conservation of their cropland,
 - Maximum efficient use of land, machine and agricultural chemicals,
 - Increased crop coverage for wheat participants.
- Under the acreage reduction programs, farmers required to take production at least 20 percent of their wheat base, 25 percent of their cotton and rice. Bridges said cross compliance between programs required. Those who the wheat program may an additional 10 to 20 percent of their wheat base receive payment-in-kind to 75 percent of established yield.
- The ASCS official farmers can work together through the acreage reduction programs to help prove crop prices and themselves from economic disaster.

Soil Survey To Be Released Feb. 16

A public meeting will be held Thursday, February 16, at 10:00 a.m. at the Tishomingo County Vocational Complex to explain the many uses of the newly published Tishomingo County Soil Survey. This survey consists of a narrative text and detailed soil maps, which show the locations and types of soil of every section of land in the county.

Many people assume that soils are more or less alike. They are unaware that great differences in soil properties can occur within short distances. Soil properties that affect land use decisions are given in the soil survey for the county.

People attending this meeting will receive a personal copy free of charge during the program.

Classes Challenged

The Iuka Junior High/Senior High PTA Spaghetti Supper and Auction has aroused the ole IHS spirit in many students and alumni in our area. Four of the class presidents from years gone by have gotten together to challenge other Iuka graduates to get involved in this worthwhile cause. Auston Curtis, President of the Class of 1942, challenges his class members and all the classes of the 40's to put forth a special effort to get involved in this PTA project and support the Iuka High School. Ben McRae commented that his class of "1899" would come through for good ole IHS and challenges other classes to just try to top their class effort. Robbie Grisham, 1970 Class President, says that an effort is being made to contact the 1970 graduating class members, and he feels that this class will contribute more to the project than any other. He says the results will speak for itself. He also challenges all the classes in the decade of the 70's to make an effort to get involved. Harold Lomenick, President of the 1966 graduating class, seems to think that this was the very best class to EVER graduate from IHS, and encourages all his former classmates to come out and show these other fellows what a fine and hard working class they really are. The PTA is excited about the new library, which will enhance the learning potential of our children, and we wish to encourage everyone involved or interested in the Iuka School System to participate in this fund raising project to help our children help themselves. REMEMBER... Spaghetti Supper and Auction from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Iuka High School, Thursday, February 23rd.

available for county roads. Cross such bridges very slowly."

Headlights are another important consideration on county highways, he said. "Be sure both headlights are operating before you drive off," Lacy cautioned, "and always dim your headlights if you see an animal on the road or an approaching vehicle. Bright lights can temporarily blind an animal, and it doesn't know which way to go. Both the animal and the vehicle's driver could be killed."

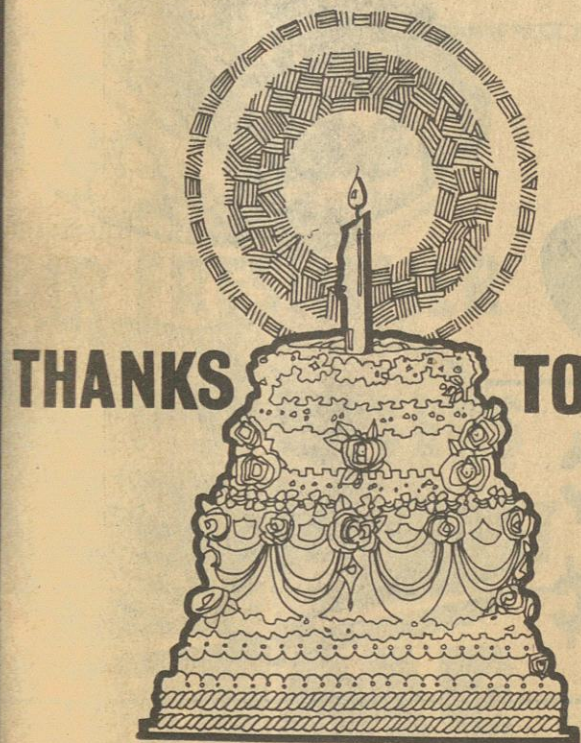

"Many dangers on county roads are indicated by signs," he noted. "Watch carefully for these signs, and heed the warnings."

"Drunk drivers who may think they're safer on county roads and dangers that are spotted too late should be the concern of all persons driving on county roads," Lacy said. "Don't let the lack of heavy traffic or other 'innocent' features of county roads lull you into carelessness. You could suffer a lonely death or hours of being injured without any medical assistance."

The nation's first Presidential mansion was at No.1 Cherry Street, at the corner of Franklin and Cherry Streets in New York. President and Mrs. Washington lived there from 1789 to 1790.

SEIZURE MEDICINES

In ancient times it was called "falling sickness" or "sacred disease". It was closely associated with the supernatural and considered by many to be a work of the gods and the spirits. This ancient problem is still with us today under more familiar names such as "convulsions", "epilepsy" or "seizures". All of these modern names describe a disorder of the nervous system in which control of brain activity at times is lost. It has been described as "electrical storms" in which the brain sets off a convulsion or seizure.

It is estimated that about one-half of the two-million Americans who have epilepsy can be adequately maintained with conventional treatment procedures. It is also felt that a large part of those remaining can experience a reduction in the frequency of seizure attacks with such treatment. What role do drugs play in control of seizures? As it turns out, prescription drugs are the mainstay of nearly all seizure treatment efforts.

There are some 12 to 15 different medicines which are prescribed for seizures. Sometimes it becomes necessary for the physician to try several different drugs - either one at a time or several together. With the help of such medicines, seizures are fully controlled in a large percentage of the persons who receive them.

COME TO CHURCH

We all have times when things go wrong,
And Fortune's in reverse;

Yet we're expected to be strong,

Though things could not get worse...

A strength of which the Scriptures name

Examples plain to see:

Like Job, whose faith remained the same

Throughout adversity.

So why not go to Church this week,

Whichever one you choose,

And listen to the Bible speak;

There's not a thing to lose!

Then, what those passages command

You'll follow to the letter;

And let God take your life in hand,

To change it for the better! —Gloria Nowak

Betas Installed At Tishomingo High Tishomingo High School auditorium was the scene for installation of eight new members into the Tishomingo High School Beta Club. The ceremony was held Monday, February 6, during a Beta assembly. The new Betas were installed by Mrs. Ruth Dawson, sponsor, and were then given Beta pins and certificates. This new addition made the club 30

Junior Beta Club Organized At Burnsville

A local chapter of the National Junior Beta Club, a leadership-service organization for junior high school students of America, was established on January 23, 1984 at Burnsville High School, according to T.H. Woodlin. The National Beta Club with over 4,500 local chapters in the Junior and Senior Divisions and approximately 195,000 members in the schools of 35 states, is now in its 50th year. The Junior Beta Club Division, established in 1961, now has a membership of approximately 90,000 in 2,055 chapters in 35 states. Objectives of this non-secret, leadership-service organization are: to encourage effort, to promote character, to stimulate achievement among its members, and to encourage students to continue their education after high school graduation. Ms. Teddie Hall, the librarian, was appointed as faculty sponsor for the local chapter. Permanent officers for this year are: Brian Barnes, president; Mitzi Jourdan, vice-president; Betsy Barnes, secretary; Ann Wright, treasurer. The local organization is composed of the following students who have fulfilled the requirements necessary for membership in the National Junior Beta Club at Burnsville High School. Shown above, back row, left to right: Ms. Teddie Hall, sponsor, Candice Elledge, Lynette Rorie, Betsy Barnes, Alta Skeens, Ann Wright, Brian Barnes, Kevin Creasy. National DECA Week At Iuka High

February 13-17

By: Robyn Gann

February 13-17 has been designated National DECA Week. The IHS DECA Club has been busy making plans for the week ahead.

Monday was named DECA t-shirt day. Tuesday was named Teacher Favor Day, and all DECA members will be giving gifts to IHS teachers. Tuesday was also designated as "Support the Chiefs at District Tournament" and all students are urged to cheer on the Chiefs at Booneville. On Thursday, DECA members will be hosting a tea for the teachers and for the merchants who employ co-op students. Thursday night there will be a pot luck supper in the school cafeteria which will begin at 7:00 p.m. The climax of the week will be Friday when "A Round-Up of Beauties" will be held in the auditorium at 1:15. This beauty review is one with a switch, the contestants competing for the title will be boys. All interested citizens are asked to attend the event. The cost of admission of .50 and the proceeds will go to the library.

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is the only national student organization operating through the school systems to attract individuals to careers in marketing, merchandising and management. The club is designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution. Any student enrolled in the Distributive Education Program or Cooperative Education Program at Iuka High School may become an active member of DECA. By being members of this organization, students develop in the areas of leadership development, social intelligence, vocational understanding, and civic consciousness. Students in DECA further learn by participating in competitive events at the local and state level in all areas of marketing and distribution. Because of the efforts of DECA clubs, DECA members learn to serve as leaders and followers in their school and communities.

Legislative Report

By: Senator Irb Benjamin

Senators spent many hours in committee meetings this week studying the hundreds of bills that have been introduced. The first deadline of the session is rapidly approaching. February 22 is the deadline for introduction of general bills and constitutional amendments. All bills other than revenue, appropriations or local and private must be prepared and introduced by this date in order to be considered during the 1984 regular session.

A number of bills were passed by committees this week and sent to the Senate floor for consideration. The following are some of the bills which passed the full Senate this week and await action by the House of Representatives:

- an act to increase from $10,000 to $25,000 the jurisdictional amount for county courts. Senators favoring the bill noted that this would help relieve the heavy circuit court load by allowing some cases formerly heard in circuit court to be heard in county court.
- An act to allow persons 18 years old to consent to medical treatment. One intent of this bill is to allow students away from home to consent to medical treatment which would be particularly helpful in emergency cases.

The bill which the Senate passed last week appropriating $4 million in emergency funds to the Medicaid Commission was rejected this week by the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee.

Several bills have been approved by committees and await action by the full Senate. Among these are:

- a bill to allow jury selections by computer.
- A bill to permit more than two grand juries each year.
- a bill to reduce the number of post-conviction prisoner appeals.

I would like to hear your views on any proposed legislation. You may contact me at 948-7321 or write to the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39205.

STUDENTS AT IHS are excited about the new library being constructed on the school campus. The 2,400 square foot facility should be completed in April, 1984. Approximately $14,000 will be needed to furnish and equip the library over and above the allocation to the school for this purpose. The PTA is hoping to raise a substantial amount with a spaghetti supper and auction February 23.

Patricia Hogeland, Julie Johnson, Jan Jones, Sandy Ortnier, Cindy Wigginton, and Mrs. Nancy Daniels, School Librarian.

THE IUKA JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH PTA salutes the cafeteria staff at Iuka High. These ladies will be preparing the Spaghetti Supper on February 23rd, which precedes the benefit auction. The proceeds from the spaghetti supper and auction

THE IUKA LIONS met in regular session at the "Lion's Den" on February 7th. After the invocation by Lion A.W. Mangum, a good meal was served by Circus Burger. The meeting was called to order by Lion President Bill Brewster, and several topics were discussed. Visitors included Bill Flynn, of the Tishomingo County Development Foundation, and Lions Charlie Keenum, David Norman and Elmer Strachan, of the Corinth Breakfast Club, who were very welcome. Lion Norman is an aspiring candidate for Governor of District "L". Lion P.O. Beard appointed a panel, composed of Lions Tony Mobley, J.R. Long and Charlie Dean, to discuss and answer questions concerning ways and means to further the progress of Tishomingo County. After the panel had given their views on various aspects of progress, Lion Beard called on Lion Rex Tuckler to summarize the remarks of the panel. Lion Tuckler spoke very briefly, stating that the key word to any project, whether civic or state-wide, is very definitely INVOLVEMENT! All agreed with Lion Tuckler's statement. Pictured above, left to right: Lion's Club visitors on February 7th: Charles Keenum, of the Corinth Breakfast Club; Bill Flynn, of the Tishomingo County Development Foundation; Lions David Norman and Elmer Strachan, of the Corinth Breakfast Club.

James Garfield, the 20th U.S. president, was both a canal bargeman and a professor of Greek and Latin before entering the White House.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Biggs:

We are amazed that so many people are uninformed regarding hazardous waste dumps. They do not know that there has never been a successful dump. They do not know that the Environmental Protection Agency has stated again and again that man does not know how to make a container that will not leak. They do not know that the so called "state of the art" dumps leak within months. They do not know that ground water cannot be purified once it is polluted. They do not know that it is for this reason many American citizens must drink only bottled water. They do not know that these dumps can be almost as dangerous as nuclear dumps. And in addition to "not knowing", often people are disinterested. But an application to dump hazardous waste in Mississippi has been filed. We are in grave danger of having waste from most other states and several foreign countries dumped at Shuqualak, Mississippi in Noxubee County.

Many more industrialized states where hazardous waste dumps have existed for long years are now realizing the dangers and are closing dumps. In many cases Superfund money is being used to clean up these sites. Where do the companies who do the clean up work put the material which is "cleaned up"? They take it somewhere else and dump it again, ultimately creating other Superfund sites. All thinking, responsible citizens recognize the fact that manufacturers create a lot of waste. But we also recognize that manufacturers can dispose of their own waste on site with technology currently available, but more time consuming and a little more expensive in some cases than burying waste in our precious land. And then it's out of sight, out of mind until your water is contaminated. All dumps leak. It is only a matter of when.

We feel that the State of Mississippi has been forced by manufacturers to consider a hazardous waste dumping facility for Mississippi. Why in the world would we ever consider the worst technology available? EPA says burying should always be the last resort and yet Mississippi is making it the first resort.

We ask that Mississippians unite to keep the state from allowing any hazardous waste dumping. This matter is as critical as allowing the Federal Government to dump nuclear waste in our state. Waste destroys, whether it is nuclear or hazardous. Let's not accept the worst for Mississippi when better methods are available.

Write your state senators and representatives. Write our governor. This is a situation that is not going away. It cannot be ignored. It needs your attention. Please help.

Many states now have groups organized to fight hazardous waste dumps. We need such an organization in Mississippi. If you are interested - and we feel you must be - please contact me at my address.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Thomas

United Gas Has Rolled Up Its Sleeves To Lower The Cost Of Natural Gas

Everyone knows that times are tough. Even though a recovery appears to be in sight, the effects of the recession are still with us.

And will be for a while.

We know that the cost of fuel for heating homes and fueling industry is more important than ever. And because a maze of regulations influence supply and transportation contracts, lowering the delivered cost of natural gas is not easy.

But we're working hard to do so because the cost of energy is of critical concern to home and industry.

So we've rolled up our sleeves. We've cut our budgets where appropriate, reduced our expenses while maintaining the safe and efficient operation of our natural gas system. We've lowered our delivered price for natural gas by exercising available options in gas purchase contracts, renegotiated some other contracts downward and negotiated more favorable terms in transportation agreements. We've reduced the level of our capital spending.

We've brought United Gas to a new high-level of strength and efficiency.

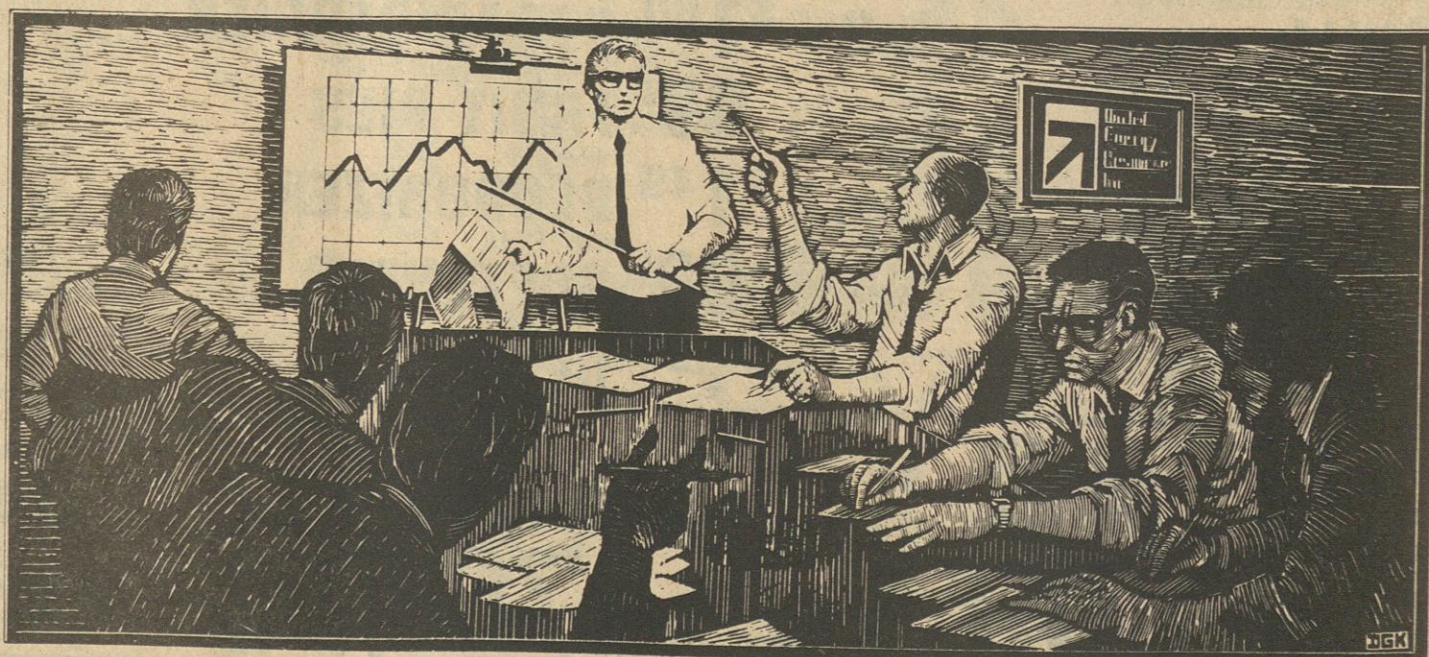

We know how important energy is to the continued well-being of home and industry. Natural gas is the most efficient fuel ever produced by man or nature. It is our objective to continue bringing this premium energy to you at the lowest possible cost, as we have worked to do for more than 50 years of service to the Gulf South.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Maintain Conservation Practices

Proper maintenance of your conservation practices is just as important as proper maintenance of your tractor.

If you don't follow the maintenance schedule recommended by your tractor manufacturer, you will sacrifice many, many hours of tractor operation. In the same way, conservation practices will fail before their time without periodic checks and the work needed to return them to their original condition.

depend on the practice, since each one has its own needs. Terraces, for example, can lose their capacity as a result of one year's tillage operations. The result is storm water overtopping the weak sections. Grassed waterways may develop bare spots due to drought, intense traffic, or a tractor operator who forgets to raise the implement when the waterway is crossed. Terraces with underground pipe outlets need to be checked for damaged risers and debris blocking the risers.

Subsurface drainage systems are not immune to failure when maintenance is neglected. Outlets may become blocked by debris or sediment deposits. Check animal guards to insure small animals cannot invade the system and cause problems. Drains should be checked to insure peak operating efficiency.

Open channels and field ditches should be checked for blockage. Debris and sediment causing blockage should be removed. Undesirable vegetation can also cause serious problems. Channel vegetation should be evaluated at least annually and treated as needed to provide designed channel capacity.

Conservation practices constructed of soil such as ponds, lagoons, and sediment basins should be checked. Be sure spillways are free of trees, brush, and are capable of carrying the water. Repair the ruts on the fill, remove woody vegetation from the dam, and repair bare spots with suitable grasses. If rodents have invaded the earth dam, they should be removed, and their habitation areas repaired.

If you need assistance in maintaining your conservation practices contact the Soil Conservation Service Office in Iuka. The office is located at 115 Front Street and the telephone number is 423-6272.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Tishomingo County Humane Society will hold a special meeting Tuesday, February 21, at 7:00 p.m. at the Iuka Library to elect officers for the remainder of the year.

Efforts to establish a society chapter began last fall with a small but determined group of individuals. The fund raising effort in December was most encouraging, but we are still a long way from realizing our goal of helping homeless, abused and neglected animals. As with any volunteer-based organization, the Humane Society is heavily dependent on public support and involvement, and this is why we are asking you to do our part by attending this very important meeting. Membership will be open and required for those seeking an office; most of all, we ask for your presence and interest.

As of this date, the Tishomingo County Humane Society has looked into three cases of reported animal
