Sure Sign Of Spring

Spring officially arrived Sunday bringing with it beautiful weather and warm temperatures. This is a welcome change from last week's late winter cold snap when temperatures dropped into the teens, setting records in some areas. Normal temperatures for this time of year range from highs near 64 to lows near 40. Area residents are taking advantage of the beautiful weather to clean up and fix up their lawns and gardens. Others take advantage of the longer daylight hours to get the boat and fishing gear out of storage and spend a few leisure hours on the lake where bass and crappie fishermen are reported edly doing well. Milton Miners, retired of Chatham, Illinois, caught this bass Monday while fishing off the pier at Eastport Marina. (Maybe the big one got away?) Mr. Miners and his wife are planning to move to Eastport soon. He is looking forward to doing a lot of fishing then.

The February jobless rate for Mississippi fell to 9.7 percent according to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission. This rate was one percentage point below one month ago, when the rate stood at 10.7 percent. This was 2.7 percentage points below the 12.4 percent reported February 1987. Continued seasonal lows in agriculture, wholesale and retail trade and construction work led to continued seasonally high unemployment for February.

Place of residence employment for February stood at 1,050,000 in a labor force of 1,163,300. There were 4,100 more people employed in February than last month and 47,700 more than February 1987.

Manufacturing establishments provided 233,200 jobs, up 900 from the 232,300 reported in January. Non-manufacturing businesses provided 644,200 jobs in February. Manufacturing jobs increased 900 from one month ago and dramatically 10,300 from February 1987. Non-manufacturing provided 1,300 more jobs this month than last month and 23,000 more than last year. This monthly employment of 644,200 represents the largest number of jobs ever supported by nonmanufacturing industries during February. Most industry divisions showed increase above last month and also when compared to one year ago.

Tenn-Tom Waterway Marketing Program

Representatives of both public and private ports and terminals along the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway have agreed to unite under a common banner to market and promote the port infrastructure in a regional effort.

The group has formally organized as a special committee of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Council with its administration handled by the Council staff, according to Tim Parker, Chairman of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Council.

Mayor, Thomas Griffith of the Amory, MS Port was elected Chairman and Perry

Lucas of Columbus, Mississippi, Comptroller of Tom Soya Grain, Inc., that operates several terminals along the waterway in both Alabama and Mississippi, was elected Vice-Chairman.

The organizational meeting held on the waterway Wednesday, March 16, was attended by representatives of 11 public and private ports from the Yellow Creek, Mississippi Port on the northern-most end of the Tenn-Tom to Port Epes, Alabama to the South.

According to Griffith, the ports, collectively, can do much more to assist development efforts than a single port. As one of the first steps for the new organization, the port officials have undertaken a cooperative marketing program. In addition, they have agreed to assist with a survey to identify prospective shippers along the waterway corridor including use of raw materials, their origins and destination, as well as similar information on bulk-type products manufactured along the waterway. This study, being conducted by the Tenn-Tom Council with financial assistance from TVA, is expected to be completed and available for use by late summer.

In other actions at this first organizational meeting, the port representatives looked at cooperating to lower inspection and insurance costs and other similar concerns. They also are considering seminars on such common concerns as safety and environmental regulation.

Participation in the new ports coalition is open to all public and private port and terminal interests along the Tenn-Tom. More information may be obtained by contacting the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Council, P.O. Box 671, Columbus, Mississippi 39703, (601) 328-0812.

Mrs. Sennett was found by her husband, Charles Sennett, Minister of Westside Church of Christ in Sheffield, around 11:30 a.m., Friday in their ransacked home. Mrs. Sennett, who was still alive, had been stabbed in the chest and neck reports indicate. She was taken to Helen Keller Memorial Hospital where she died in surgery.

According to Colbert County authorities there was no sign of forced entry into the house. Investigations have not determined if anything from the house is missing and no motive has been established. Several knives found in the house were sent to the lab for analysis in efforts to locate the murder weapon.

On Saturday, Alabama law enforcement officials began diving in a pond located some fifty yards from the house seeking to find the weapon or evidence pertaining to the investigation. On Sunday authorities began draining operations on the pond. Metal detectors were then used to scan the pond floor, a fire poker and stand along with a hunting knife has been found. Made In The USA

The Midway Homemakers met on March 8th for their monthly meeting with eleven members present. The president called the meeting to order and gave the thought of the month "one of the most difficult things to give away is kindness — it is usually returned." The devotion was given by Sybil Hodge. Faye Howie gave an educational report on keeping warm by going back to the "good old days" ways of dressing.

Christine Mercer gave an interesting report on the making of The Constitution. The demonstration was given by Frances Goldsmith on "Made in the U.S.A." Some of the reasons she gave for buying USA made products, were jobs, wages, dependability and quality of the product. She encouraged everyone to look for the "Made in the USA" label. She showed two garments, one foreign made and one American made, so the members could compare the quality. Everyone agreed to be more careful when they shopped and look for the "Made in the USA" label.

WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE WORRY ABOUT.....

We think of young people as interested only in clothes, music, movies and other young people. However, some research indicates this is not true.

In a recent study of 8,000 church-going youth, the Search Institute in Minneapolis asked fifth through ninth graders what they worried about. It may come as a surprise to some that young people are concerned about academics. School performance was their No. 1 overall worry.

To help children deal with what's worrying them, parents need to introduce these subjects into conversations. Listen to the child's responses, ideas and concerns. Share your feelings on these subjects but do not preach or overreact. After you are certain that you understand the child's feelings, then ask the child about what he considers to be options in solving or dealing with these problems. Let your child know that you respect his or her ability to think through and deal with important issues.

Some of the concerns listed have no obvious solution. But when you listen, nonjudgmentally, to your child's ideas and feelings, you allow him to diffuse some of the mystery and fear surrounding these subjects. The unspeakable becomes less threatening simply because it is being addressed. You also get to know your child better. Many mothers and fathers have difficulty with parenting because they do not really know their child.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

OPTOMETRIST

EYES IN ERROR:

ASTIGMATISM
If you have a vision problem, you have lots of company. An estimated one out of every two people in the U.S. also have eye problems. One of the more common is astigmatism.

This is caused by an imperfectly shaped cornea. This is the window of the eye through which light passes to the lens, where the image is focused. If the cornea is out of shape, the image will be blurred. Instead of rays of light coming together at one point, they come together at two points, creating two separate images instead of one.

The kind of astigmatism you have depends on where the points of focus are. It can be nearsighted or farsighted astigmatism. Or it can be a combination of both.

If you've noticed a blurring of vision when looking at objects close up or far away, you may have an astigmatism. Corrective eyeglasses or contact lenses can take the blur away and make your vision clear again. All it takes is an examination by your optometrist to find out how.

WHAT'S THE BEEF?

How many times has Tishomingo County had the opportunity to change fate? Our cattle producers and beef importers do because the issue at hand this spring involves a promotion and research program for beef and beef products.

Our beef producers fund the program by contributing one dollar for every head of cattle sold. Our importers also pay the checkoff fee for beef and beef products they bring into the United States. This new program was authorized by the Beef Promotion and Research Order of July, 1986, to strengthen beef's position with consumers and create new used for beef.

This is where Tishomingo County comes in. Producers and importers must vote to continue the program and its funding. They will vote May 10 at the Tishomingo County Extension Office.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. If you're going to be out of town that day, you may obtain an absentee ballot by contacting Dr. James Collins, Post Extension Center, P.O. Box 5446, Mississippi State, Miss., 39762, 601-325-3516.

You have from April 1 to April 29 to request an absentee ballot. I have pre-addressed postcard requests for these ballots in my office. If you need one, please come by.

You must meet one of the following requirements to vote: You must have owned or bought cattle from October 1, 1986 through March 31 of this year; you must have imported cattle, beef, or beef products during that same time period; you claim to be producer and/or importer of beef.

See you at the polls.

FIRE ANT MARCH

I'd be happy if the only pests we had to worry about in the spring were armadillos but warm weather brings us a more serious problem to deal with.

Soil temperatures are warming to 60 degrees F., causing imported fire ants to increase in number and activity. Don't let them spoil your spring. For control on your lawn, treat each mound you find by placing 5 tablespoons of Amdro fire ant bait around mound edges.

You can substitute 5 tablespoons of Logic bait for Amdro, or use Affirm bait at label rates. For your home gardens, you can treat mounds with diazinon, orthene, or sevin, using label rates. Don't disturb the mound before or during treatment.

Ask Ochsner

Q. In general, what are phobias and what can be done for someone you suspect may have one? Mr. J.M. Delhi, La.

A. Approximately one in every nine people in this country has an irrational, unexplained fear of something. This is called a phobia.

Some of the more common phobias are fear of high places (acrophobia), fear of speaking in public (phonophobia), fear of crossing bridges (gephyrophobia) and fear of open places (agoraphobia).

Robert Baker, Ph.D., a psychologist at the Ochsner Clinic, says that many people learn how to handle the anxieties their phobias produce and seek therapy only when the phobia begins to seriously interfere with their work or their social life.

One of the first things to find out in treatment is the exact nature of what the person fears. Usually, what the individual fears most is the possibility of losing control because of his phobia, acting panicky or bizarre in public and embarrassing himself. In essence, the person becomes afraid of being afraid.

After tackling this problem, the focus is then on the particular phobia itself. During sessions, the patient and the therapist examine and then try to alter each component of the fear and its resultant anxiety.

For those seeking help with their phobias, Dr. Baker uses a variety of therapeutic approaches, including hypnosis to get at the cause of the problem. In the treatment of simple phobias, drugs are not used. Patients with multiple fears, panic attacks or agoraphobia (fear of open places) may be referred to a physician for medication. The number of therapy sessions usually depends on the severity of the phobia.

Dr. Baker says because phobias vary with each individual, it is wise to check all treatment options with a competent and trusted therapist who will devise a treatment plan to help overcome the phobia.

The microwave also makes apple butter and applesauce quick and easy instead of spending hours in the kitchen.

The recently published Microwave Gourmet book written by Barbara Kafka, will give you numerous ideas on new uses for your microwave, including easy applesauce recipes.

Citrus: Use the peel from oranges, tangerines or lemons to make zest strips. These are great for seasoning stews or adding pulverized to baked foods.

Peel oranges and lemons very thinly with a potato peeler, taking none of the bitter white pith. Cut zest into strips about 1/4 inch wide. Peel tangerines; turn peel orange side down and scrape off the white pith (using the edge of a spoon). Cut zest as above. The zest of 1 orange or 2 lemons, spread out on a double sheet of paper toweling and covered with a single sheet, will dry in the microwave in 2 minutes 30 seconds on high to make 3 tablespoons. The zest of 1 tangerine will take 2 minutes on high and make 2 tablespoons. The zest of 1 tangerine will take 2 minutes on high and make 2 tablespoons.

MAKE USE OF LEFTOVER FOODS

For those of you who are past the microwave mania and have now become complacent about using your microwave ovens, here are some quick but easy things to try with those leftover holiday foods.

Apples: The microwave will bake apples beautifully and the skin will retain a good color. Large or medium apples use the same time in a standard microwave. Smaller microwave ovens will need an additional minute per apple. Core apples; peel top 1-1/2 inches; rub cut sides with lemon; wrap each apple loosely in a square of microwave plastic wrap,

Ex-Addict To Speak At NEMCC Campus

Joseph Jennings, a nationally-known speaker on the subject of alcohol and drug abuse, will be the guest speaker at a seminar on the Northeast Mississippi Community College campus Tuesday, March 29, at 7:00 p.m. in the Seth Pounds Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Northeast Student Government Association and Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD), the seminar is open to any interested persons. High school students are urged to attend.

Jennings speaks from experience having been involved in the drug scene for 17 years. At one time he commanded large sums of drug money; was wanted by the FBI; had been shot 13 times. Three years ago he turned to Christ and is now involved in a National and Canadian ministry to dispell the myth of alcohol and drugs.

According to Jennings, "these are rough times for your youth. In their search for identity, there is a constant battle with alcohol, drugs, sex and peer pressure. At no other time in their lives will the need to make so many critical decisions hang over their heads. Yet, the majority are unprepared to make them".

With his past behind him,

Jennings feels a responsibility to help teenagers avoid the same mistakes he made. He wants youth to know about the massive pitfalls that are destroying our families and society. He's been there.

Originating in the black ghetto of South Bend, Indiana, Jennings was the oldest of his parents' nine sons. He and his brothers, who were among his gang members, participated in a violent lifestyle. Joseph was determined to achieve the "American dream" of material success - by any means. At times, his quest resulted in shootings and stabbings.

As a Black Nationalist, and a violent gangster, he was classified as "dangerous" by the F.B.I. And, during this time, was personally tormented by a fourteen-year drug addiction.

Now that Jennings has turned from his previous lifestyle, he effectively and urgently shares the dangers of drugs and related problems in a way that youth can relate to. With a commanding 6' 1½", 240-pound stature and powerful delivery, he possesses the unique ability to capture and maintain the attention and interest of an audience of any age.

Ten Year Reunion Planned

The 1978 Class of Burnsville High School is planning a ten-year class reunion which will be held in early summer. Class members are asked to call Glenda Parsons Newcomb at 423-1340 or 423-3568 Brenda Kennedy so plans can be completed and a date set.

Special Service

Mt. Zion Church, located on Highway 365 North of Burnsville, will hold special services Sunday night, March 27 beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Visiting minister, Sister Violet Davis, of Counce, Tennessee, will bring the message.

Bro. Gerald Grisham and the congregation invite the public to attend along with a special invitation to the youth of the area also.

Alicia Daniel was the second place winner in a recent essay contest sponsored by the Tishomingo County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Keep Our Land Clean

Please try to keep our land clean. Don't litter and if you see paper lying on the ground, pick it up and throw it in the waste basket. Try to save our trees for the birds. Keep your lawn clean and cut and keep everything picked up. Keep it looking nice and pretty. Littering and starting forest fires is a terrible thing to do. God gave us this land to keep clean and appreciate what we have, not to mess up and make it look like we don't care. If you see somebody littering, starting fires, or cutting trees down for no reason, tell them that it is wrong to mess up our environment. Just like Smokey says: "Give a hoot and don't pollute." And save our trees, it will make our land look a lot better.

Gospel Singing

The Buford Wells Family, from Belmont, will be the featured singers at Palestine Church near Paden on Saturday night, March 26, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

"You And Your Baby" Newsletter

"You and Your Baby" is a month by month newsletter designed to answer new parent's most immediate questions during baby's first year.

The series addresses common concerns, such as baby's health, growth and development, and food needs. In addition, it reflects the individual needs of fathers and mothers during this important year.

Each newsletter focuses on a single month of the baby's first year. This information is available at the "teachable moment" when it is most wanted and needed.

Nellie R. Horton, Extension Home Economist, states these newsletters are prepared by Mrs. Norine Barnes, Extension Child and Family Development Specialist, Mississippi Extension Service.

Miss Horton invites all parents with children, infant to 1 year, to call her at the Tishomingo County Extension Office, 423-3616, to receive copies of "You and Your Baby" newsletter.

Department Of Wildlife Holds Public Hearings

Hunters and fishermen across the state will soon have the perfect opportunity to make their opinions known to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Five public hearings, one in each Congressional district, have been scheduled to get public input on hunting and fishing season dates and lengths, bag limits and local game and fish concerns.

"We hope that sportsmen will attend these hearings and take advantage of the opportunity to stand up and have their say," said Vernon

Girl Scout Camp Offers Fun Summer

Registration is now open for summer sessions at Prairie Girl Scout Council's Camp Tik-A-Witha. For hundreds of girls in northeast Mississippi, the 260-acre camp symbolizes summer fun in the out-of-doors and is open to both Girl Scouts and non-Girl Scouts.

The one- and two-week sessions appeal to a variety of interests for girls in grades 1-12; interests that include horseback riding, canoeing, sailing, crafts and nature lore. In addition, girls receive Red Cross swimming lessons at an olympic-sized pool.

Pat Dows is returning for her 12th year as Camp Director. Her staff includes Program Director, Anne McWhorter, of Starkville, a nurse-in-residence, a dietitian and a specially-trained team of counselors.

In addition to the regular camp sessions, Camp Tik-A-Witha will offer a one-week Red Cross Aquatic School and a week-long session for handicapped children. For more information, contact Prairie Girl Scout Council at 844-7577 in Tupelo. In Columbus, call 328-1930; Corinth, 287-8321; Starkville, 323-1815. Prairie Council is a United Way agency.

Ms. Lori A. Williams Appointed Vice President of Security Savings

Lori A. Williams has been appointed associate general counsel and vice president of Security Savings and the H.C. Bailey Companies, according to H.C. Bailey, Jr. Williams, who received her BA and JD from the University of Mississippi, previously served as corporate counsel for a Jackson-based investment banking firm. She is a member of the Jackson Young Lawyers Association, the Mississippi State Bar and was named to Outstanding Young Women of America in 1981, 1984 and 1986. She is the daughter of Herbert C. and Doris Davis Williams of Dunwoody, Georgia, and is the granddaughter of Margie Smith Davis of Iuka.

Woodmen Of The World Fast Growing

Record income and life insurance sales of over $4 billion in 1987 made Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society one of the fastest growing fraternal benefit societies in the nation, said President John G. Bookout.

Total income in 1987 amounted to $519 million, a 12 percent increase over 1986 income of $463 million. That was the first time in the Society's 97-history that total income exceeded $500 million. The increase in life insurance sales boosted Woodmen's insurance in force to $17.5 billion at year end.

"Changes made over the last three years, including the successful introduction of new products, have resulted in unprecedented growth for the Society," Bookout said. "As a result, we're very optimistic about 1988 and beyond. We plan to build on that success."

Because of increased business during 1987, Woodmen created 44 new jobs in its Omaha office, bringing its total Home Office work force to 492.

A fraternal benefit society founded in Omaha in 1890, Woodmen of the World operates under a lodge system with more than 900,000 members in all 50 states.

Woodmen's assets also showed a significant gain in 1987, increasing over 15 percent to $1.75 billion. That compares to $1.52 billion in 1986.

Bookout said, "Significant increases also occurred in net operating income and premium income during 1987. Net operating income increased to $71.4 million, up from $68 million in 1986." Premium income was $342 million in 1987, an increase of 14 percent over the 1986 total of $300 million.

Dividends paid to members increased to $69 million in 1987, which amounted to 96 percent of Woodmen's net operating income for the year. In 1986, dividends totaled $60.8 million.

Investment income after expenses increased 11.8 percent in 1987 to $153 million, with rate of return of 9.79 percent for the year.

"Our gain in investment income is another indication of Woodmen's overall financial strength," Bookout said. "While many large corporations, including insurance organizations, were hurt by the stock market drop in October, Woodmen's financial status was affected very little because of the diversity of our investments."

The Society paid $33.6 million in death benefits during 1987, compared with $30.2 million in 1986.

Woodmen also spent 8.8 million on its nationwide fraternal program in 1987, compared to $8.2 million in 1986.

"Our lodge members were very active in communities all over the nation in 1987, Bookout said. "They conducted over 96,006 fraternal, patriotic and civic projects on behalf of the Society last year."

Woodmen fraternal projects included providing equipment for fire departments and rescue squads, assisting homes for the handicapped, orphaned and aged, and presenting United States flags to schools, youth groups and other community betterment organizations. Woodmen lodges also sponsor dances, dinners, sports competitions and other social events for members.

To All My Friends And Neighbors:

I want to say thanks to all my good friends and the doctors, nurses, and orderlies at the Tishomingo Hospital for all the loving care I received during my stay at the hospital these past 11 weeks.

Thanks again for all the prayers, cards, food and good wishes. May God bless you all. I'll never forget you!

Something To Smile About

In these later days in which we live, seems all hope is gone with sin an ever hand. But I have something to smile about and cheers me when I am sad.

It makes me love my enemies and pray for them from time to time. And lend a helping hand to those who are in need.

It makes me love the church where I go to worship and praise the Lord.

It gives me courage to keep pressing on and faith to pray for those lost in sin, that they will find a place to pray and seek the Lord before it's too late & receive this wonderful Holy Ghost and have something to smile about too.

Thank You

I would like to express my appreciation to each of you for the kindness shown me during my stay in the hospital and recovery at home.

Thanks for the cards, calls, visits and especially for your prayers.

May God Bless each of you.

The Segars Clinic Report

More About Hay Fever (Allergic Rhinitis)

The Mechanism of Allergy

Allergic symptoms result from a chain of events. First, allergens, such as pollens, reach the mucous membranes of the nose, eyes, and throat after they are inhaled. A variety of allergic symptoms can occur, such as itching, swelling of the mucous membranes lining the nose and throat caused by a widening of blood vessels, and a release of fluids caused by an increase in the permeability ("leakiness") of small blood vessels.

SKIN TESTING

When the cause of an allergic reaction is difficult to identify or important to confirm, skin tests are the easiest way to find out what substances are responsible for the symptoms.

Usually, more than one substance plays a part in allergies. In these tests, a very small, dilute, highly purified amount of a particular allergen is placed on a scratched area of the skin or injected just under the skin. When the substance causes the skin to become red and swollen at the scratched or injected area, the allergen has probably been pinpointed.

Weekly State Crop Report

FARMERS IN 39 Counties Apply For Crop Relief

Farmers in 39 Mississippi counties hurt by the 1987 drought are applying for low interest emergency loans after those counties were declared disaster areas.

Farmers in those counties who suffered at least a 30 percent loss in their farming enterprises because of the drought may apply for the loans with the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). If they can prove they suffered such losses, they will be eligible for low interest loans not to exceed 80 percent of their losses.

"Low interest loans could help farmers sustain their losses, and our intent is to do this," said Larry Waller, a farm program specialist with the FmHA office in Jackson. "If they have sustained a loss, they can still recover if they meet the criteria for the loans."

The 30 percent loss rate is based on an individual's past production record. Each loan applicant must also prove ability to obtain credit from normal sources, such as banks.

"Just because a person has suffered a loss doesn't mean he will automatically get a crop disaster loan,"

Waller said.

After a lengthy application process begun last fall by the state, 10 counties were declared disaster areas by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The USDA also declared an additional 29 counties as disaster areas because they adjoin those 10.

The counties were declared disaster areas by Agriculture Secretary Dick Lyng because of severe losses caused by drought and excessive heat.

Counties named in the first group are: Amite, Benton, Bolivar, Clay, Kemper, Lowndes, Neshoba, Sunflower, Tallahatchie and Tishomingo.

Adjoining counties are: Alcorn, Attala, Chickasaw, Coahoma, Franklin, Grenada, Humphreys, Itawamba, Lauderdale, Leflore, Leake, Lincoln, Marshall, Monroe, Newton, Noxubee, Oktibeha, Panola, Pike, Prentiss, Quitman, Scott, Tippah, Union, Washington, Webster, Wilkinson, Winston and Yalobusha.

In other agricultural news, farmers are fertilizing winter forages and wheat crops while they are at a standstill in planting corn because of wet ground.

Cattle producers are maintaining adequate supplies of hay and grazing for their animals.

Central R.C.D.C.

The RCDC met March 9 in Fellowship Hall of Rocky Springs Church. Twenty-three people were present. Margaret Carson and assistant 4-H leader, Sue Dill, had charge of the program. Each 4-H member told of their project and showed pictures, record books, trophies and blue ribbons they had won.

Special music was done by some of the girls. Also, Mary Bonds and Pam Carson did solos.

Door prize for adults was won by Pam Carson and the 4-H member prize was won by Mary Bonds.

A beautiful decorated cake was baked by Edith Carson who used the 4-H emblem in green and white. This was served with punch and other goodies as refreshments.

Sue Dill handed out pamphlets on how to make spicy egg and sweet party pickles.

The meeting adjourned to meet in April with Harmony people. The program to be announced later.

Just Say No

Take the advice of McGruff and these Iuka Elementary students and "Just Say No"

Brown. Back: Becky Brown, Seth Grisham, Blake Holly, and Jamie Grisham. Jill Jour-

dan serves as Guidance Chancellor.

PTA Encourages Drug and Alcohol Awareness

Substance abuse prevention begins at home. Parents are the single greatest influence upon their children and have a major role in determining whether their children will experience alcohol or drug problems.

Parents will be given the opportunity to learn how to recognize and discuss drug and alcohol related health problems with their children from Dr. Judith Rausch, a professional nursing instructor from the University of North Alabama. Dr. Rausch has had several articles published in numerous publications as well as experience in all areas of nursing. She will speak at the Elementary PTA meeting to be held Thursday night, March 24, at 7:00 P.M. at the Commons Building. In conjunction with this program, the Elementary School students have prepared posters on substance abuse prevention. These posters will be on display and winners chosen from each grade level. Please be supportive of the children and make plans to attend.

Homemakers Buy "Made In The U.S.A." Products

"Crafted with Pride in the U.S.A." or "Made In The U.S.A." are labels we should all look for before we buy any product.

Some say "imports" are cheaper, but are they? If you compare the two products you'll see the difference in the workmanship and the quality of material.

Another good reason for buying American products are the jobs, not just the textile workers, but right on down the line from the truck drivers, store owners, service attendants to the youth who work at the fast food places.

So when we buy start a new "habit" of looking for the labels — the red, white and blue. Keep America strong, why send our hard-earned money overseas, keep it in our own country and create jobs here.

We thank Nellie Horton for bringing this very interesting program at our club meeting on Tuesday night, March 15th at the home of Elen Robinson.

Jo Nunley, president, called the meeting to order with the thought of the month: "One of the most difficult things to give away is kindness — it is usually returned."

Ellen Robinson read the devotional from II Samuel 2:4-6.

Roberta Luttrell lead the ladies in prayer.

Sue Borden gave an educational report on Clothing - The Color Program. Be sure and check clothing labels before washing or dry cleaning.

Lillian Booker's educational report was on Public Relations.

Everyone was looking forward to the Quilt fair being held at Golden City Hall on the 15th.

On Thursday, March 17th, the ladies will visit Timber Hills with refreshments and view the new building.

March 22 will be the Dress Revue at Vo-Tech.

March 29 is the District Council Meeting at Miss. State University.

April 18-23 is National Library Week.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served to 10 members. Others present were Jimmie Hampton, Janie Sanders, Margaret Smith, Mildred Booker and Shirley Whited.

On March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, the Eastport Homemakers visited Timber Hills with chips, green punch, cupcakes and shamrocks as name tags.

The ladies enjoyed touring the new building and checking out the crafts.

Everyone reported having a lovely time. Those attending were Lillian Booker, Jimmie Hampton, Jo Nunley, Sue Borden and Ellen Robinson.

Call Before You Dig

South Central Bell is asking for advance notice from area farmers as they prepare land for this season's crops by burning off fields or by doing their spring plowing.

Property owners are asked to cooperate to prevent damage to telephone company facilities during this time, according to T.H. Bailey, District Manager.

Bailey said telephone junction boxes, or pedestals, on private property or road right-of-way are usually damaged more often than any other outside equipment.

"Excessive heat generated by grass or brush fires melts the telephone cables causing service outages which are expensive and quite inconvenient to the telephone customers in the affected area," Bailey said.

Property owners planning agricultural activities where buried telephone facilities are in the general vicinity should call the One Call Center, 1-800-227-6477, toll free statewide. South Central Bell will send a representative to locate and mark any telephone equipment.

"Made In USA" Labels Stressed

The Harmony Homemakers Club met for their March meeting Tuesday night, March 3rd, 1988, in the home of Louise Sanderson.

"One of the most difficult things to give away is kindness—it is usually returned," stated Becky Walker, President, as she called the meeting to order.

Devotion was led by Glen-da Johnson using Titus 3:1-3 as her scripture and giving an interesting article on criticism. Prayer was by Dorothy Hayes.

Minutes of February meeting read for reference by the secretary, Vada H. Kay.

Demonstration was given by Quay Rushing, "Why it matters" to buy "Made In the U.S.A." She reminded us to look for the red, white and blue symbol or the "Made in U.S.A." labels. She also stressed good reasons for buying American made products: jobs, wages, profits, taxes and the economic stability of our country, state, and local community. This keeps people working, buying and investing right here at home, and that's important to all of us.

Attention was given to the Heart Seminar to be held at Tishomingo Hospital on March 26, 1988, at 8 a.m. Each one was urged to attend this meeting.

Members present other than the above mentioned ones were: Margie Davis, Dugdar Daniel, Joyce Robertson, Mary Joe McAnally, Opal Dean, Sara Hayes, Nellie Taylor, Lois Tucker and Nedra Walker.

Meeting adjourned with April meeting to be with Dugdar Daniel.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Natchez Trace Genealogical Society Sponsors Workshop

Unless you are a full-blooded Native American, your ancestors came to America during the past 500 years. Regardless of gender, race, religion, politics, occupation, or social status, most of our forebears left records, many still in existence. If you have ever wanted to learn how to use these records to trace your family's history, the Natchez Trace Genealogical Society is sponsoring a workshop on Saturday, March 26, from 8:30 AM until 4:30 PM, at the First Presbyterian Church, 224 E. Mobile Street, in Florence, Alabama (use Tennessee Street entrance).

Classes for beginners will be taught by Pat M. Mahan, a genealogist with twenty years of experience, the past twelve years in Lauderdale County, Alabama. Mahan's topics include Getting Started, Census Records, and Lauderdale County Records. Class members will receive a free packet of genealogical forms including ancestor charts, family group sheets, and census forms.

For participants with more than two years of experience in the field of genealogy and family history, there will be advanced classes taught by Dallas Lancaster and Darrell A. Russel. Lancaster, a Kentucky native who taught history at the University of North Alabama for thirty-seven years before retiring in 1983, will discuss Patterns of Migration to Alabama. Darrell A. Russel will speak on Unusual Record Sources, Church, Military, and Land Records. Russel has taught genealogy classes at the Florence-Lauderdale Public Library for the past six years and is the editor of THE NATCHEZ TRACE TRAVELLER.

During the morning breaks there will be an opportunity to have your old family photographs copied. Irreplaceable pictures never leave your sight and you will receive a 3 1/2 by 5 inch proof that afternoon for $4.00 per proof.

Refreshments will be served during breaks and a 'browsing room' containing genealogical reference materials not found in local libraries will be open. You may make photocopies for a dime per page.

The fee for the workshop is $10.00 for each person and you may register at the door or mail your check to: NTGS; Box 420; Florence, AL 35631-0420. This is an excellent opportunity for Alabamians and those with roots in the state to begin tracking distant cousins, especially the good cooks, musicians, and storytellers, in preparation for Alabama Reunion 1989.

4-H Communicates

By Mary Cox
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

4-H ENCOURAGES GOOD NUTRITION
The 4-H Fit It All Together project ties in good nutrition with fitness for young people. Youth and teens are considered to have the least desirable food habits of all age groups. Young people need to begin good health habits now, which will carry them through their later lives. Some of the activities in the Fit It All Together project include:

- Learning to use cooking appliances
- Participating in nutrition skits
- Answering a life style quiz
- Measuring ingredients
- Preparing foods for recipes, such as grating cheese
- Learning the parts of physical fitness
- Learning the importance of calories
- Finding out the importance of each food group
- Learning the seasons which are best for fresh fruits and vegetables

- Learning to shop in a grocery store by reading labels and comparing prices
- Preparing different recipes so that 4-H'ers learn to have fun in the process

The 4-H Fit It All Together project combines good eating and exercise habits. In these group meeting project work, our people learn how to develop healthy life. By learning eating habits at a young age, then perhaps they will be able to reduce the risk of blood pressure, obesity, high cholesterol in generation.

If you would like more information about the 4-H All Together project, call me at 423-3616 in the Extension Office.

Tennessee River Announces 1988 Scholarship Plans

Tennessee River Pulp & Paper Company has announced plans for its 1988 Scholarship Program. Two $500 grants will be presented to spring graduates from area senior high schools; one from the three schools in Hardin & McNairy Counties in Tennessee, and one from among Corinth, Alcorn Central, Iuka and Burnsville high schools in Mississippi. The scholarships will be renewable on an annual basis up to a maximum of four years. Included with the awards will be an opportunity to work for the Company during the summers while attending college. The awards are made to encourage and financially assist outstanding high school seniors in furthering their education.

Application forms and instructional material have been provided the guidance counselors at the above schools. The counselors will assist eligible students with the applications which are to be returned to the Company by April 1.

Selection of the scholarship winners will be made on the basis of high school academic records, national test scores, and financial need. The winners will be selected by a panel of impartial judges from one of the state universities. This will be the 34th scholarship awarded by the Company since the beginning of its student aid program twenty-six years ago.

Last year's winner of the scholarship was Laura Lott of

The grand prize, a fully rigged bass boat, will go to a fisherman, not on his ability to catch bass, but how lucky he is in getting his name pulled from a barrel containing all the names of the 500 contenders. Natural Lite and Granger Select have donated over $18,000 in prize money and merchandise. Natural Lite will provide Jimmy Houston as Master of Ceremonies for the weigh-in.

The fisherman catching the largest single bass will pick up a $500 award. Prizes will also be given to the top 50 finishers including a 14 ft. fishing boat, trailer and a 9.9 motor, lures, baron rods, depth finders, graphs, etc.

Students Attend Band Clinic

Over the past several months, I.H.S. band students have been participating in competitions throughout the state. These students have worked diligently in preparation for the contests and deserve area recognition. Left to right: Melinda Bonds, a sophomore trumpet player, was selected to attend State Band Clinic in Biloxi this past December. Timmy Lockridge, a senior tenor saxophone player, attended State Band Clinic in Biloxi;

Mid-South Honor Band composed of students from Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi; and the Northeast Mississippi Band Clinic in Booneville. Carra Kent (clarinet), Chris Bonds (snare drum), Kacia Kitchens (flute), and Melissa

Williams (trumpet) attended the Northeast Mississippi Jr. High Band Clinic held in Booneville. Each student placed within the top half of their sections. The students represented Iuka High School well and Mr. Bruce, band director, offers his congratulations to them.

Adam Gaines To Lead "Pride of Iuka"

The "Pride of Iuka" Marching Band proudly announces that Adam Gaines, son of Ben and Rhonda Gaines, has been selected as the new field commander for the 1988-1989 season. Adam will be a senior band member next year. He will be attending the Bands of America Camp this summer in Whitewater, Wisconsin to hone his drum major skills. The band is looking forward to his leadership next year. Adam will be following Barbara Jim Brown, daughter of Bob and Bettye Brown. Barbara Jim, a graduating senior, has led the "Pride of Iuka" on the field for the past two years. She has received superior ratings at every contest Iuka attended. She also won Best Overall Drum Major at the Hernando Marching Contest this past fall. The enthusiasm and hard work of band members such as Adam and Barbara Jim demonstrates the pride and dedication to excellence the Iuka Band has.

County Executive Director

VOLUNTARY FEED GRAIN PROVISION

A voluntary diversion payment provision is in effect for 1988 corn, sorghum and barley. The provision applies to farmers who set aside the required 20 percent of these crops and voluntarily divert an additional 10 percent.

Farmers who divert the additional acreage will receive land diversion payments at a rate of $1.75 per bushel for corn, $1.65 for sorghum and $1.40 per bushel for barley. These payments will be issued in generic commodity certificates in May. The per bushel rates will be multiplied by the program yield established for the farm times the acres diverted.

Farmers participating in the voluntary diversion program take out of production an acreage equal to 30 percent of their base. The minimum participation requirement is 20 percent, and the additional voluntary diversion is 10 percent.

The 1988 Feed Grain Program also authorizes advance deficiency payments. This means that farmers may request 40 percent of the estimated deficiency payment rate for the crop when they sign up. One-half of this amount will be issued in cash at sign up and the balance in generic commodity certificates this May.

Estimated deficiency payment rates per bushel are $1.10 for corn, $1.08 for sorghum, 76 cents for barley, and 30 cents for oats.

Sign up for the Feed Grain and other 1988 commodity programs will be conducted at the ASCS county office through April 15, 1988.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Elledge leave today for the Fair at Birmingham, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robinson and sons leave October 15 for an extended visit to points in Oklahoma and Texas.

Messrs. C.E. Rushing, W. H. Bonds, Will Belue, Reeder Benson and A. C. Haines were business visitors to Sheffield Saturday night.

Married, Mr. Ben Shackleford and Miss Mary Medley. We wish for them a long and happy life.

What came near being a serious accident happened to G. C. Stephens and J. E. Clark, two of our boys, in Corinth during the Fair. The car in which they were riding turned turtle, pinning all of the occupants except Stephens underneath it. One girl got a broken arm, the others escaped unhurt.

O.L. Nixon is behind the counter at C.F. Robinson's, where he would be pleased to have his friends call on him.

Homer and Fannie Bellamy will leave in a few days for Chicago, where they have accepted positions with the I.C.R.R.

Judge Rhine and family attended the Fair last week.

A.C. Haines has purchased a new Maxwell car.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott, of Hackleburg, Ala., are visiting their son, J. D. Scott.

Mr. Luther Frederick, of the I.C.R.R., was a welcome visitor at J. A. Tucker's Saturday night and Sunday.

W. N. Nixon attended Court at Aberdeen the first of the week.

Paden public school begins Monday, October 9.

The bond issue has been voted on and defeated by an overwhelming majority here.

However, there are a faithful few here that have not given up the fight, but will continue to fight for anything that tends to promote the welfare and advancement of our county.

The trouble with a majority of us is that we wear shaded glasses that will let our vision range over a very narrow extent of space. We can't see that anything that helps the County as a whole helps us. If anything don't help us directly we are against it, for fear some of our fellow beings will get more good from it than we ourselves will. This is selfishness pure and simple, but it seems that a majority of our people are afflicted with this disease.

Fifth Annual Easter Lilly & Easter Beau

The fifth Annual Easter Lilly and Easter Beau Pageant has been planned for Friday, April 1, at 6:00 p.m. Registration begins at 5:00 p.m.

Modernize laws dealing with public libraries and establish a statewide library development plan; continue the voluntary Farm Mediation Office established last year to help Mississippi farmers; update laws dealing with municipal court procedures; authorize the designation of five additional enterprise zones under a current economic development program; revise business corporation laws; provide for regulation of home warranties issued in the state; and allow the leasing of some reclaimed submerged lands and tidelands to the City of Pascagoula;

Three bills were approved involving workers' compensation, including boosting the maximum weekly benefits that disabled worker may receive to two-thirds of the average weekly wage in the state, or about $195 at present. The current maximum is $140 a week. Other bills would set up a vocational rehabilitation plan for disabled workers, and let the Workers Compensation Commission set reasonable limits on medical fees that doctors can charge in workers' compensation cases.

The Department of Corrections would be authorized under another bill to set up a "house arrest" system where certain prisoners would be confined to their homes, under electronic monitoring. The only prisoners eligible for the program would be those convicted of nonviolent crimes who have less than eight months prior to being released on parole.

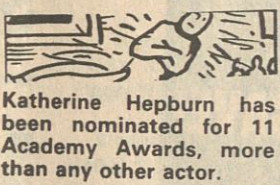

Also passed by the House were bills designed to help reduce paperwork imposed on school teachers; increase the minimum time that a person convicted of a capital offense must serve before being eligible for parole; require insurance companies to give at least 45 days' notice before cancelling an auto liability policy and give a written explanation of the cancellation; limit outdoor advertising along the boundaries of the Natchez Trace Parkway; establish new safety restrictions on work being done near high voltage lines;

Housekeeping

By Rep. Mack Loyd Wadkins

Working at an accelerated pace over the past week, the House of Representatives has approved bills to tighten drunk-driving laws, assist rural fire fighters, more clearly define landlord and tenant rights, and create a special highway fund designed to help lure major industrial projects.

House members voted to raise the maximum weekly workers' compensation benefits for disabled employees, establish a program to help minority-owned businesses get a share of state contracts, and authorized 20 percent pay raises for top state officials and judges.

These were among more than 120 measures gaining House passage prior to the March 17 deadline for original floor action on general bills. Several other bills were rejected or failed to survive the cutoff including proposals to require motorists to have liability insurance, provide a mail-in voter registration procedure, and revise the law on municipal annexation. A bill to permit gambling on jai alai in Tunica County also died.

The emphasis was expected to switch this week to appropriations and revenue bills, which were not subject to last week's cutoff, and general legislation passed by the Senate.

A measure aimed at helping in the area of rural fire protection was among the last bills passed prior to the deadline. The legislation would boost the counties' share of insurance premium taxes for volunteer fire departments from $1.6 million to $4.5 million, the same now going to municipalities. Counties would have to meet certain minimum requirements to receive the money. In addition, the bill would establish the office of Chief Deputy Fire Marshal as a division of the State Insurance Department and place the State Fire Academy under the Insurance Department.

One of the most hotly debated bills last week was the landlord-tenant rights' proposal. Backers maintained the legislation was a reasonable approach to deal with the problem of substandard rental housing in the state, saying similar laws are in effect in all states except Mississippi and Alabama. Opponents maintained the legislation, as presented to the House, contained some technical flaws and warned it could cause many property owners to get out of the rental business, thus reducing the availability of tenant housing.

The bill was defeated on a tie vote when first called up but passed the following day after some key amendments were adopted. One of the revisions would let landlords and renters agree to waive any rights or duties specified in the law. The amendment removed some of the objections raised by a number of lawmakers, but others believed it severely weakened the bill.

Other key measures passed by the House during the week included:

—A bill creating a special "Economic Development Highway Fund" to build roads in areas which show an immediate potential to attract a major industrial project with a capital investment of $100 million.

—A measure eliminating the discretionary powers of judges to give suspended sentences to repeat offenders for violating the law against driving under the influence of alcohol.

—Four bills involving changes in the civil justice system, including measures to reduce the statute of limitations from six to four years on most damage cases and to discourage filing of frivolous suits. The bills were part of the controversial "tort reform" package; other bills in the series died earlier in committee.

—A bill providing a method for compensating crime victims. Originally, the program would have been under the state Attorney General but an amendment was approved moving it under the District Attorneys.

—A plan to assist in redrawing school board districts in several school districts involved in a federal lawsuit, granting discretionary powers to local school boards to initiate the revised district lines. Other school districts would have similar authority under a related bill.

The House voted to make several revisions in state purchasing laws, including raising the amount of public purchases that may be made without competitive bids from $500 to $1,000. The measure also would make the bid-purchasing law apply to various types of services in addition to the purchase of commodities, equipment and supplies.

A number of bills were approved involving alcoholic beverage laws, including a sharply debated measure to permit liquor and wine advertising in Mississippi. In addition, the House voted to authorize the sale of alcoholic beverages on election day and permit bed-and-breakfast inns serve liquor.

Other bills gaining House approval during the busy week would extend the state Medicaid program to include additional pregnant mothers, infants, and elderly citizens; impose new restrictions on tinted or reflective material used on windows of motor vehicles; extend the sovereign immunity of state and local governments from damage suits for another year; provide for licensing of

For All The People

BILL WHEELER

This past summer as I drove miles and miles, knocked on your door, and spoke at each community speaking in Itawamba and Tishomingo counties, we all talked about helping our rural fire departments. We said it was not fair that people in northeast Mississippi had to pay such high insurance premiums and received so little help from the state government. A majority of Mississippians live in rural areas, almost fifty-five percent, paying the greatest amount of the insurance premium tax 3 % of each policy, yet they receive 3 million dollars less than the larger cities for fire protection.

When I arrived in Jackson, I worked to obtain an appointment to the insurance committee as well as the insurance subcommittee on rural fire protection. This past Thursday evening at 9:30, the legislature dealt with the last bill before deadline death. Our efforts paid off. The State House of Representatives passed a massive restructuring of fire protection and investigation on the state level, while establishing as a top priority a new commitment to fire protection for rural Mississippi. I was proud to be one of the authors as well as one of the main floor leaders in the debate concerning this legislation.

Our rural fire protection bill now goes to conference committee where House and Senate members will work out differences in the legislation before sending it back to each chamber for final passage. As the legislation stands now, the House bill provides 4.45 million dollars for volunteer fire departments. This is an increase of almost 3 million dollars from the 1.6 million received at present.

The legislation also establishes a simple system of financial accountability. Each year the state auditor will read a disbursement form to the County Board of Supervisors and another usage form to each volunteer fire department. This way we can know where the money goes and how it is spent. With this system of accountability, we can more easily get appropriations in the future.

Further, the bill requires some local effort. Several committee members felt that communities should collect one mill before receiving state money. I argued, however, that our people contribute voluntarily through cake walks, fish fries, and other community events. Thus, we inserted in the legislation that a volunteer contribution through a water system in a fire district could serve in the place of a one mill charge. Several of our fire districts already have this voluntary collection system.

Some people argue that insurance rates in northeast Mississippi have risen due to arson. We addressed this problem through requiring that each county have one individual with some minimum training in arson investigation. An arsonist will now know that in all 82 counties there is a person trained to spot his acts. Curtailing arson could substantially reduce our insurance premium.

This legislation also brings the State Fire Academy under the Insurance Commissioner's Office while establishing a Deputy State Fire Marshall to oversee fire protection in the state. Each county will appoint a fire coordinator to assist with municipal and rural fire protection. It is our intent that current employees fill these positions, thus siphoning off none of the money intended for our volunteer fire departments.

Again, I am proud to have been involved in helping shape this legislation and guide it through an exciting debate on the House floor. But, more importantly, I want to thank you and all the volunteer firemen who came to Jackson and testified in behalf of this legislation.

Thank you. If I can be of any assistance to you, call me at 359-3770 or write me at the State Capitol, Jackson, MS.

Bear Creek Float Trip

The Bear Creek float trip at Tishomingo State Park will resume on Saturday, March 26. Tishomingo is the only state park with a float trip.

Two trips daily are offered, at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Reservations are suggested, and canoeists are asked to be at the park office 30 minutes before departure. The park reserves the right to cancel a scheduled trip due to inclement weather or extreme fluctuations in the water level on Bear Creek.

Everything needed for the trip is furnished by the park: canoe, paddles, life jackets, and transportation. Total cost of the trip is $10 a canoe, limit two to a canoe.

The eight mile float passes through some of the most beautiful scenery in Mississippi. Bear Creek at times flows under a canopy of foliage; at other times the creek runs through rock outcroppings and occasional rapids that provide an extra thrill to the trip.

Tishomingo State Park is located three miles north of Dennis, off Miss. 25. For reservations call the park at 438-6914.
