Tishomingo County To Benefit From Transportation Act

Mississippi will receive approximately $184 million under the nation's new Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act signed into law by President Bush, according to John R. Tabb, director, Mississippi State Highway Dept.

During February and March, the Highway Dept. will let seven major contracts using these funds. Highway 25 in Tishomingo County is included in this project, with construction of a 4.6 mile section of four-lane highway between existing US 72 and

J.P. Coleman State Park.

Under the recently expired 1987 Surface Transportation Act, Mississippi received $140 million, a return of only $0.80 on each dollar paid by the state to the National Highway Trust Fund. Under the new act, the return has increased to $0.97 on each dollar.

"This act provides a substantial increase in funds for the Highway Department, which in turn means more jobs and a stronger economy for Mississippi," Tabb said.

New Year's Eve Party At Mineral Springs Park

There will be a party in the Mineral Springs Park December 31, beginning at 6:30 p.m. for all who participated in "Christmas In The Park". Food, fun and a fireworks show will be enjoyed by all. Thanks To All

As 1991 draws to a close, we want to thank everyone who participated in "Christmas In The Park". The spectacular displays and the beautiful music were enjoyed by all.

Our lives have been touched by so many who care and want to share. The outreach of businesses and individuals has been outstanding. The feeling of love, friendship, and peace will linger on as we began a New Year.

The list is too long to name each person or group individually that have helped to make our vision a reality, but we would like to say a special thanks to the City of Iuka for sponsoring this gala event. A lot of hard work and expense have been incurred during this project and we are grateful.

To a special group of men who not only helped with traffic control, but protected our investments and made our park a beautiful and safe place to carry our families. Thank you!

This group of dedicated individuals have devoted their time and talents to helping their fellowman. The cold December nights have not deterred these even from performing their duties as guards allowing the people of our area to rest comfortable, knowing our park is protected. These men are known as the Tishomingo County Rescue Squad. To each of you we extend our thanks and wish you the very merriest of holidays.

"Christmas In The Park" will continue thru the New Year. If you haven't already, visit the park, talk with friends and neighbors, enjoy the special holiday season.

From all of us to all of you. HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

Fireworks Display

Closing out the holiday season with flash and flare, Tim's Fireworks, located in the Elm Shopping Center, has graciously agreed to present a New Year's Eve fireworks display. Winding down the successful "Christmas In The Park". The spectacular display will be the grand finale.

If you would like to help display the expenses of the fireworks display, your donations will be gratefully accepted. This has been a beautiful and memorable Christmas for Iuka, a tradition has been established. The committee who has arranged the "Christmas In The Park" project wishes to thank Rev. Williamson and Tim's Fireworks for their help in brightening their holiday season.

Home Economics Tips

CHILDREN ENJOY GIFT GIVING
Children want to feel included in the joy of gift giving. They like the special smile, hug and thank you that gifts bring.

The age of the child determines the gift. A preschool child who is supplied with construction paper, crayons, bits of paper and glue can create a homemade card for each special person on his Christmas list. The emphasis should not be on the perfection of the product but rather on the child's giving a part of himself to someone else.

Simple gifts can be made by preschoolers. By stringing macaroni on a heavy thread, the child can make a necklace or bracelet. A pasta wreath can be made by dyeing pasta with green vegetable dye, cutting the middle from a paper plate and gluing the pasta to the paper plate wreath form.

Making cards and gifts give the child a sense of pride and allow him to truly take part in the fun of the season. By the time a child is 6 to 9 years of age, the homemade gifts become more intricate.

Coupon books are a good idea at this age. The child selects a number of chores he or she is capable of doing. Then on each coupon the child offers to do a chore usually done by the book's recipient. Raking leaves, taking out the garbage, clearing or setting the table, are some possible chores.

It is important for the child to understand that the chore must be done when the coupon is given. Be sure that a few coupons such as "This coupon is good for a funny song" are included in the book so the child doesn't feel overwhelmed.

Ten to 12 year olds still like to make a few homemade gifts, but they find buying gifts with their own money even more rewarding. Alert the preadolescent several weeks or months before Christmas so they will have plenty of time to save from their allowance. Discuss the gift recipient's tastes and interests with the child so they can put some thought into the selection.

If the child needs extra money, a parent may pay the child for jobs that are usually done by people outside the household or for jobs customarily done by the parent.

Feel free to suggest gift ideas, but the final decision should be the child's. Regardless of how inappropriate the selection might appear, respect the choice and applaud generosity and consideration.

LESS IS BETTER FOR CHRISTMAS 1991

Americans operate under the assumption that if a little is good, a lot is better. For instance more money, more leisure, more fun, more cars and bigger houses are considered desirable. However, I challenge you to make this a happier Christmas by choosing less.

To experience less stress, consider looking at your expectations and bringing them in line with the realities of your life. Many of us grew up believing that we should have everything we want for Christmas, and as adults, media messages reinforce that perception. We believe that everyone is happy, giving, loving and full of appreciation at this time of the year. The truth is that no event makes everything perfect. Happiness comes from within an individual not from without.

Fewer activities simplify the holidays. If you "Just say no" to some of the invitations you receive, you will have more time to stay at home with family and create holiday fun. You may even enjoy watching TV specials together. The "Grinch Who Stole Christmas" may be the centerpiece of a family evening.

Less spending on Christmas gifts and activities will certainly make the January bills more acceptable. Try making the list of gifts that you can afford and then sticking to the list. A lot of money is spent on just the perfect gift when in reality, a less expensive remembrance would have been equally prized.

Laughter and a relaxed attitude towards life is what you need more of this Christmas. Let the burdens and stresses roll off and just enjoy being happy.

In ancient times, some Europeans believed snow was caused by an old woman shaking feather pillows in the sky.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

DR. PHILLIP GRAY, OPTOMETRIST

SAFE CONDUCT FOR CONTACTS

Have you been thinking about changing to contact lenses when you get your next prescription and wonder how safe they are?

Contact lenses are certainly safe to wear, but because they fit on the eyeball itself rather than on the frame a short distance from the eye, special care must be taken.

Probably the most important thing to keep in mind is the need for cleanliness in handling contacts. If you wear contacts, you should wash your hands before inserting or removing them. This not only guards against bacteria but also against scratching the lens. Even a tiny speck of dust may irritate the eye or damage the lens. You'll be given instructions in a special cleaning procedure for the lens and also tips on handling by your eye specialist. He will also tell you it will take time to get used to wearing the lens. You'll start with short periods and gradually increase the time until you can wear them as long as prescribed within safe limits and you'll hardly be aware of them.

Pharmacy & Your Health

Caring for High Fever in Young Children

Normal body temperature varies and is not a set number, such as 98.6 degrees F, as many persons believe. In children, the normal temperature taken rectally may range from 97 to 100 degrees. The highest temperature readings in children tend to occur in the late afternoon and early evening hours. A low-grade fever (100 to 102 degrees) may occur with minor problems such as an uncomplicated upper respiratory tract infection.

What one should do about high fever in a child has a lot to do with the age and condition of the child. For example, a toddler with a temperature of 104 who is playing and eating well generally is of less concern than a child with a temperature of 102 who is irritable or not eating. On the other hand, a restless newborn or infant with a temperature of 100 to 101 may require immediate medical care.

There are several things one should do or not do when a child has a high fever. For one thing, never give the child a sponge bath in rubbing alcohol or ice water. Rapid lowering of fever often can be achieved with a tepid or warm water bath. Tepid water baths should, however, be reserved for temperatures that exceed 104. Most authorities recommend acetaminophen as the best and safest fever medicine for children. Make certain to use the correct dose based on the child's age and/or weight.

DO-NOTHING CONGRESS

Congress has completed legislative activities for the year, and in my opinion the President and the American people should say good riddance and good-bye. This has been a do-nothing congress, and what it did do something, it did it wrong -- accomplishing very few of the things needed for the country.

We did not really address the problems of the economy, and we took very little action that would create legislative and economic incentives for the economy to grow.

We did not pass major energy legislation, and certainly after the Persian Gulf War we should have realized once again the need for a major national energy policy. Already, we're again dependent on imported oil for up to about 50 percent of what's used in this country. That's dangerous. We need to take steps now to prevent that from continuing to be the case in the future.

We did not pass major education reform legislation as the President requested, and unbelievably, we could not even agree on a final analysis of the crime bill for the year.

So several of the major issues just did not get through the process. On a positive note, I think the high water mark for the year came when Congress voted on the Persian Gulf War resolution. Congress did the right thing then, but only after a lot of emotional debate. But we did face the issue, we did the right thing and the war in the Gulf was completed on a positive note.

In the final hours of the session, we did pass a major highway bill. Again, it's not everything I would like to have, but certainly it will help with the highway development program in Mississippi and across the nation.

We also significantly improved the highway formula for funds being returned to the states. Mississippi for instance will go from getting roughly 80 cents on the dollar over the past five years to getting about 97 cents on the dollar in the next several years. When you add to that specific projects that were approved, we'll probably get close to a dollar back on every dollar sent to the highway trust fund. So at least we did get that completed.

Also, we did recapitalize the Resolution Trust Corporation which is working on the Savings & Loan problem in this country, and we had minor bank reform. Basically, what we did in the banking area was to recapitalize the bank fund, and there aren't major problems there anyway.

So looking toward 1992 and beginning the new year, I think you see some of the bills, that we began debating, start to move. We will have major discussion over what to do about the budget deficit -- we certainly should do that. And, I do think that you will see a tax bill early on next year. Hopefully, one that will provide incentives for the economy. If it's just a tax cut that's not targeted in such a way as to help the economy, it could actually be counterproductive. So we will have to watch for that along with other issues which will give the country a do-something instead of do-nothing strategy. (12/16/91)

ASRM Employees Deliver 100 Christmas Food Baskets

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1991 ...The ASRM team delivered twice as many Christmas Food Baskets this year. After delivering 50 last year, the challenge of providing 100 baskets was given to the ASRM employees. Lists were handed out with items needed and money jars were set out to help raise money for the perishables, namely 100 loafs of bread, 100 gallons of milk, and 100 turkeys. Santa Claus and his helper went to all departments to raise money as well. In total approximately $2,500 was collected along with enough donations of sugar, flour, corn meal, canned goods and produce, including 1,000 lbs. of potatoes, 500 lbs. of onions, 1,000 lbs. of apples, 1,000 lbs. of oranges, and 105 dozen eggs to fill 100 Christmas wrapped baskets.

These baskets were filled by employees and volunteers in assembly line fashion, taking much organization and cooperation from all involved. The baskets were packed up and taken to Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi for distribution to McNairy, Hardin, Tishomingo, Alcorn, Colbert, and Lauderdale counties on Friday morning. The welfare agencies in these counties will distribute the baskets to families that have not been on welfare but have come into hardship due to loss of employment, illness, etc. The welfare agency of each county will do the actual delivering of the Food Baskets to these needy families.

Pilot Club Celebrates Christmas Season

The Pilot of Iuka met for their Christmas meeting at the Cafe St. Clair with 26 members present. Beautiful decorations for the tables were provided by Betty Young and Linda Murrah of greenery, red berries and candy canes. President Olivia Jones presided at a short business meeting and the members enjoyed the rest of the evening with good food and fellowship.

Olivia discussed the next project of the club; the lighting of the Christmas Tree in Mineral Springs Park, and reported on the status of the ANGEL TREE. All projects scheduled for 1991 are well underway or have already been completed, and the club looks forward to 1992.

The club will be a hostess club for the Spring Pilot Convention to be held in Columbus, MS in 1992. The convention will include a formal discussion on the proposed Pilot Club By-Law changes, the installation of new officers for 1992 and other business concerning the Mississippi District of Pilot International.

The Pilot Club of Iuka has received several new members who will be installed at the January meeting of the club. They are Judy Ryan, Trev Clark, Carole Gilley, Yvonne Long, and Jan Stegall. Guests at the Christmas Party were Teresa Cutshall and Kathy Reed.

Wetlands, the 1985 and 1990 Farm Bill, and You

Mention the word "wetlands" among a group of landowners, farmers and environmentalists, and you just might spark a heated debate. Why the controversy? One of the main reasons is because wetlands designations have a tremendous impact on how such lands can be used. With the passage of the 1985 Farm Bill, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) accelerated its activities in wetland identification, management and protection.

Wetlands are characterized by shallow or fluctuating water levels and an abundance of water-loving plants. There are many different kinds of wetlands such as marshes, wet meadows, bogs, bayous, sloughs, potholes, wooded swamps, and bottomland hardwood forests. These wetlands provide many important benefits. Among other things, they maintain groundwater supplies and water quality, reduce flood and storm damages, reduce streambank erosion, and provide fish and wildlife habitat.

Historically, wetlands have been perceived as useless wastelands. Consequently, more than 117 million acres of our original wetlands have been drained, filled, or destroyed. Even today, some 200 to 300 thousand acres of wetlands are destroyed each year. The vast majority of wetland losses have been due to agricultural conversion.

By far, the greatest impact on wetlands conservation has been due to the passage of the 1985 Farm Bill. The Swampbuster provision of the law was designed to protect wetlands by making the receipt of USDA farm program benefits conditional on not draining wetlands. Swampbuster does not regulate private property rights. If a producer does not want to participate in USDA farm programs, then that producer is not affected by Swampbuster.

Under the 1985 Farm Bill, a producer could convert a wetland without violation as long as an agricultural commodity was not planted on the converted wetland. The sanction for planting an agricultural commodity on a converted wetland was complete denial of all USDA farm program benefits on all of the producer's farmland.

Under the 1990 Farm Bill, a violation occurs when a wetland had been altered to make the planting of an agricultural commodity possible. After conversion, the producer is ineligible for USDA program benefits regardless of the use of the land, and remains ineligible until the wetland is restored. In addition to existing exemptions allowing relief, the 1990 Farm Bill also instituted a new system of graduated sanctions for unintentional good faith violations that ranges from $750 to $10,000, depending on the severity of the violation.

In light of the 1985 and 1990 Farm Bill, check with your local Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office prior to any clearing and stumping, drainage, or manipulation of wet or possibly wet areas. Your local SCS office can also answer any additional

Unemployment Benefits Change

The Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act, the new law which provides additional benefits for many Mississippians, contains provisions specifically affecting veterans.

Veterans are covered under Unemployment Compensation for Ex-Servicemembers (UCX). The Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act (P.L. 102-164) made several permanent changes to the UCX program.

According to information from the Mississippi Employment Security Commission, the act removes the 4-week waiting period and the 13 week maximum for payment of UCX benefits. The new law also reduces the amount of active duty which reserve personnel must serve to be eligible for UCX benefits.

These provisions affect the following: Ex-servicemembers who filed initial claims on or after November 15, 1991; those with an active UCX claim on November 15; those who exhausted their UCX entitlement, but have an existing benefit year as of November 15 and are currently unemployed; and reservists who served less than 180 days but at least 90 days of continuous active duty in reserve status and who are currently unemployed.

MESC has notified many potential claimants of their possible eligibility. Others who believe they are affected by the UCX amendments and are currently unemployed should report in person to their nearest Unemployment Insurance claims center or itinerant point. They should bring identification and their Form DD-214 member 4 copy.

Happy New Year

No Sin, No God

A lady was interviewed on Dan Rather's news report last week something about cancer and the destruction of trees. "If there is such a thing as sin, then certainly that's a sin," she said on wasting trees. Also last week an author was interviewed on one of the radio news programs. On the topic of venereal disease, AIDS specifically, his statement went something like this: "The removal of sexual inhibitions is one of the great accomplishments of our generation." Oh, blind and faithless generation!

Do folks realize where such atheistic and amoral language leads? And from where it comes? If there is no sin, then the Bible is just a big "hum bug." And if sin has been relegated to such trivial offenses as wasting trees, then the Bible holds nothing relevant for us of the twentieth century. And the Bible's God is dead.

The reader will observe that Jesus Christ, the central figure of the Bible spoke of sin in plain and simple language. He said that it defiles man. (Matt. 15:19-20) He forgave sins. (Matt. 9:2) And He said that those who reject Him as the Son of God will "die in their sins." (John 8:24) If there is no such thing as sin, forget Jesus Christ as the savior of the world. As a matter of fact, why would the world need a "savior" if the world isn't lost in sin?

But God exists. And Jesus is God's Son. And He died for the sins of the world. (John 3:16; Rom. 5:8-9) His victory over the grave proves the gospel. (1 Cor. 15)

To misunderstand sin is to minimize Christ, God, and what God has said. "Sin is the transgression of the law." (1 John 3:4) "All unrighteousness is sin." (1 John 5:17) Of course, righteousness is defined by God - in His word the Bible. And while little of its space is given to the topic of wasting trees, quite a bit is said about the sin of uninhibited sex - fornication.

Some folks would like to have a God without sin. But they will have to fabricate a god without the resurrected Christ on their side if they do.

Six People Are Big Winners

The rain didn't keep people away Saturday as Earl and Donna Solomon, owners of Sports Plus, gave away $1,000 cash to six lucky winners.

As the crowd began to gather for the "must-be-present-to-win" drawing, local police and highway patrol directed traffic on busy Highway 25 South to assure public safety.

By three o'clock, when the drawing began, hundreds of people stood shoulder to shoulder inside the store and hundreds more crowded outside looking through the windows and listening to the P.A. System that was installed outside for the event.

Bill McClain and Scott Kelly of WFXO Radio served as Masters of Ceremony and directed the drawing and announcing of winners. Seeing many bright, happy faces of children in the crowd, Bill McClain asked for volunteers to do the drawing and before the crowd of onlookers several children drew the names of the lucky winners and handed them to the M.C.'s.

Winners of $100 were: Joe Robertson of Hattiesburg, formerly of luka visiting family for the holidays was the first winner; Essie Martin of luka was the second winner; $100 winner number 3 was Peggy Whitfield of luka; after drawing five times we finally got our fourth winner, Edith Busby of luka; Gail Johnson of Belmont was the final $100 winner. It took only two drawings for six year-old Patrick Moore to draw the name of the $500 grand prize winner, Ann Bates of luka.

"The Week Before Christmas"

The week before Christmas
Just we three
Stayed clear of the woods
Looking for trees

We played it cool
Went to the tree farm
Where the salesman could help us
And keep us from harm

We went early
About 1 o'clock
There was no danger
Being caught after dark

The trees were just perfect
And we were in luck
They fit so neatly
In our old pick-up truck

We paid the salesman
Then hurried away
He didn't know
He'd just made our day

We hustled and bustled
And got our trees trimmed
We spent a fortune
On each of the limbs

Our friends and our loved ones
They all came to see
What a beautiful sight
Our perfect trees

Then what to our wondering
Eyes should appear
It was covered with spiders
They were everywhere

They invaded our gifts
And were crawling the walls
They covered the drapes
And on down the hall

All the time and the money
That we all spent
Went right out the door
Not worth a cent

Now we're all wishing
We hadn't gott'em
Why we'd rather been back
In Palestine bottom

All the scratches the bruises
The wet feet in creation
Wasn't nearly as bad
As all this frustration

All the beauties of nature
You'd think we could see
That after they're cut
There's no perfect tree

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Now that Christmas is over and all the presents are unwrapped and everyone is well into their leftovers, I hope your Christmas was as good as mine. The enjoyment you get doesn't come from the number of gifts under your tree with your name on them. It comes from spending time with family and friends. Or from helping out someone less fortunate than you. Through giving to others, we receive more than the gift given.

The Christmas Season is a feeling that should be carried over all year long. As we begin 1992, let's try to make a difference in at least one person's life. Studies show that one caring adult can overcome many negatives in a young person's life. I'm sure this is true for others - not just the young.

As we begin the New Year, many of us will be making New Year's

Welcome Key West Inn!-The

owner, Key West Inn-Iuka; Jenny McKinney, representing the Duncan Co., general contractors; Mayor David Nichols; John R. Duncan, President, RDIG II; Joe Cobb, Vice-president, Independent Bank, Florence, AL; Cory

Jackson, Sr., President Key West Inns, Inc.; Shelby Warren, Ronald Warren, owners, Key West Inn-Iuka; Martha Segars, President, Iuka Chamber of Commerce; and Gregg Pounders, owner, Key West Inn-Iuka.

Resolutions. Most of these resolutions are to improve something about ourselves. Just as with other areas of our lives, when it comes to making New Year's Resolutions, we need to set goals that are measurable, obtainable and worthwhile. The method used to reach the goal should be identified and something the goal-setter can live with. A time period to reach the goal should be established. This helps prevent the "I'll start tomorrow" syndrome.

And finally, the goal-setter should evaluate the job and the goal. Does a new goal need to be established? Was the time period long enough to achieve the goal? Was the method used to achieve the goal appropriate for the goal?

Once the goal is reached a reward for the goal-setter might be given to encourage a continued change. I hope everyone has a terrific 1992 and that all the New Year's Resolutions are achieved.

Many adults (and children) attend parties on New Year's Eve. I thought these recipes using dairy products might be enjoyed by youngsters, as well as adults, enjoy!

Christmas For The "Angel"

Decorations For "Christmas In The Park"

First American's Float "The Gift Of Love"

Sharing

Enjoying the festive holiday atmosphere and taking pride in community involvement, employees of First American National Bank have been extremely busy this month.

The month began with the holiday season opener, the annual Christmas Parade. Nine adorable "Angels" represented First American, riding on a float beautifully decorated with poinsettias and glittering reeds. The theme of the float, carrying out the theme of the parade, was "The Gift Of Love". An impressive silver cross was constructed in the center of the float, with nine little angels complete with wings and halos, sitting gracefully along the sides. Their message, "the greatest gift of all, is the gift of our Lord, the gift of love". First American received the first place trophy in the commercial category of floats.

Following the parade, focus was turned to "Christmas in the Park". Excitement was in the air as plans were being finalized. Employees chose the main entrance of the park as their project. Following thru with the theme of the float, the entrance was decorated with an illuminated star burst, with 6 foot Angels placed on either side to welcome the spectators into the park. The 8 foot Christmas Card proclaims our wish for the new year, Peace on Earth, Goodwill to Man. The 3 choir boys placed to the right in a field of snow and holly, appear to be repeating the message, Peace on Earth.

As celebrations and parties were being planned, it was suggested that rather than exchange gifts in the traditional manner, the employees of First American would "adopt" an "Angel" from the Pilot Club's Angel Tree. Twenty four employees chose a child in need. The warmth and excitement that went into the selections of gifts was contagious! The support of employees has been outstanding, sharing their gifts with 30 children through out the community.

In closing out the year of 1991, First American wishes to say "Thank You" for allowing us to be a part of this community and share with you, in the spirit of Christmas. Merry Christmas to all and all the best for the New Year!

Sardis Church News

BY: Ova Reno

When you read this the 25th of December will be past; but I hope we keep Christmas in our hearts every day. Money can't buy a handshake, a smile, a card, a letter, a telephone call, a soft "I love you", or tell a lost person Jesus loves them.

Bro. John's message started with Rev. 22:21. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen. He then went back and told the wonderful story that is so old, but always new.

We made pictures Sunday and after church we delivered fruit baskets to our shut-in members and friends.

God's promises? They are never ending!

If you feel you have great gifts read 1 Corinthians 12 & 13.

Truth in a nutshell: God said it! I believe it! and that settles it!

Bro. John and Burton Stockton attended the Ashely reunion at Golden Saturday. This is Burton's relations. The Stocktons are planning to have their Christmas Tuesday, December 24.

Bro. Milton and Corrine Phifer had their Christmas Sunday, December 22 all the children and grandchildren were home but son Lannie who is in Germany. Son Terry attended church with his father Sunday.

Bill and Phyllis Thorn will have her family and her father, Frank Jaynes, with them Christmas.

Herman and Ova Reno will have their daughter from Corinth, Jean and Frank Johnson and granddaughter Shalom for Christmas day.

I got a telephone call from Thomas Otha Reno Sunday night. He and his wife Evelyn are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, December 29th at the assembly of God Church in Water Valley, MS. He invites all his friends and relatives to come.

Our sympathy goes to all those who have lost loved ones this Christmas season and especially to the Bernice Hodgen family of Tishomingo.

Now back to The Monkeys view of Evolution: Bombers, tanks, cannons and booby traps. Just anything now to kill Vit Cong and Japs. I can't number the things that man has done, since God drove him out in the rain or ASRM plant, the Tishomingo County Rescue Squad, the New Comers Club, New Salem Baptist Church and the Iuka Methodist Church. In addition to these there were several other groups providing help for children and families this year. In all over 300 children will receive gifts for Christmas!

Applications for needy children were taken by the Pilot Club in October, and from these names have been made available to any one in the county who wanted to help and to share Christmas with someone less fortunate. The Tishomingo County Department of Human Services and the Pilot Club thanks everyone who participated and wishes all a very Merry Christmas!

Several groups took names of children and families in early December including, the National Industrial Constructors at the Yellow Creek taining weed killers. Dogwoods are highly susceptible to herbicides. Broadcast on top of ground and water in. Mulch with pine needles or bark 4-6 inches deep around trees.

Doyle Johnson Joins Vanderheyden Const.

Doyle Johnson, former Director of the Hardeman County, TN Chamber of Commerce has joined Vanderheyden Construction Company as Field Marketing Manager. Doyle is currently working on a part-time basis with Vanderheyden, but will begin full-time this coming January.

"We are certainly glad to have a person with such an extensive background in our Department," stated Mark Grey, Director of Marketing & Sales with Vanderheyden. "Among other responsibilities, Doyle will be responsible for field marketing/public relations work through keeping in contact with potential customers throughout our market area. Doyle will be covering the West Tennessee and North Mississippi area currently by calling and visiting industries, businesses, etc., designated in those areas. Getting our name before people in need of our services will be Doyle's main concern. I feel that Doyle will be a valuable asset to our marketing efforts," added Grey.

While at the Chamber of Commerce in Bolivar, in addition to his service as Director, Doyle served as the County's Industrial Recruiter. Doyle also brings with him over 35 years of management/marketing experience with him from the Proctor & Gamble Corporation.

Vanderheyden Construction Company is a general contractor with offices in Whiteville, TN and Iuka, MS.

Student Of The Month-Greg Whitehead has been chosen student of the month at the Tishomingo County Vocational Center. Greg's Auto Mechanics instructor, Mr. Eudell Crane, nominated him for this honor. Greg is a 10th grade student at Tishomingo County High School. He came to the Vocational Center because he was interested in learning more about Auto Mechanics. This year is his first at the Center where Greg says he has learned more about resetting valves, rebuilding motors, and teaming up with other students to get a job done. Greg plans to attend a Technical College after high school, either Northeast or Nashville Auto-Diesel College, and hopes to use the skills he has learned in Auto Mechanics.

Pilot Club Angel Tree Complete

The Pilot Club of Iuka wishes to thank each and every one who participated in the Angel Tree this year. Thanks to your caring 170 children in Tishomingo County will have a Happy Christmas! The children included on the Angel Tree were those not selected by other organizations who have participated in providing help for children and families this year. The Angel Tree project seeks to provide for every needy child in the Tishomingo County area.

Several groups took names of children and families in early December including, the National Industrial Constructors at the Yellow Creek

ASRM plant, the Tishomingo County Rescue Squad, the New Comers Club, New Salem Baptist Church and the Iuka Methodist Church. In addition to these there were several other groups providing help for children and families this year. In all over 300 children will receive gifts for Christmas!

Applications for needy children were taken by the Pilot Club in October, and from these names have been made available to any one in the county who wanted to help and to share Christmas with someone less fortunate. The Tishomingo County Department of Human Services and the Pilot Club thanks everyone who participated and wishes all a very Merry Christmas!
