Northeast Mississippi - A Region In Transition

Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development officials, area elected officials and educational leaders gained valuable information and insight on the major infrastructure changes that have occurred in northeast Mississippi at a conference held on the campus of Northeast Mississippi Community College June 21-23.

Entitled "A Region In Transition," the conference consisted of presentations and discussions on education, health care, utilities, transportation, quality of life, tourism, recreation, training and developing partnerships. Participants toured industrial sites in Alcorn, Prentiss, Tishomingo, and Tishomingo Counties, the NASA site, the Yellow Creek Port area, the Tennessee Tombigbee Waterway and Bay Springs Lake, Tishomingo State Park, and Crow's Neck Environmental Center.

Sponsors of the conference included the Alliance of Alcorn County, Prentiss County Development Association, Tishomingo County Development Foundation, Tishomingo County Development Foundation, Yellow Creek Port Authority and Northeast Mississippi Community College.

According to conference director James Williams of NEM-CC, "we planned this conference to show DECD that we are moving forward in northeast Mississippi."

"We're putting the past behind us (nuclear plant, ASRM, Thiokol) and moving on primarily in the areas of education, health care, utilities, and transportation," Williams said.

"Northeast Mississippi is unsurpassed in quality of life," Williams added.

"There is a strong sense of community in our area. Our recreational facilities are unsurpassed. Tourism is becoming a big business."

Charles Gulotta, executive director of the Alliance of Alcorn County, said he really "appreciates the great interest that the State Department of Economic and Community Development has shown in northeast Mississippi."

Gulotta also stated that the fact that "four counties and the Yellow Creek Port Authority worked together with the community college on this conference indicated a solidarity of purpose for communities of similar size and geographic proximity in northeast Mississippi.

"I hope that we can cooperate and work on other projects in the future."

Doug Mansell, director of the Prentiss County Development Association, said part of the plan for the area is "to improve support for existing industry, promote tourism, promote 'Retire Mississippi,' develop new small businesses, recruit new industries, and think Global."

Tishomingo Development Foundation director Mack Lloyd Wadkins added that he felt the economic development conference was especially helpful because "it allowed us to let the people with whom we are in contact daily visit and see what we actually have in northeast Mississippi."

"It has been a great opportunity to let them actually visually see what we have been telling them about for a long time."

"As a result they should be able to better inform and recruit industrial prospects for our area. Our bringing them to northeast Mississippi should pay dividends on down the road."

According to Wadkins, the land turned over to the state at the NASA site along with the land around the Yellow Creek area makes up about 8,000 acres of publicly owned land that can be used for industrial development in Tishomingo County.

"We need all the help we can get in developing this area, so I am particularly glad that we had the opportunity to show DECD what is available in our area."

Tippah County Development Foundation Director Dr. Eugene Taylor also felt that the conference "provided a great opportunity for DECD officials to get a first-hand look at all the good things in northeast Mississippi."

"I think they were favorable impressed," he added.

Holiday Closing

The Tishomingo County News Office will be closed Tuesday, July 4. All ads and news items should be submitted on Friday or Monday for publication in next week's issue.

Iuka Policemen Suspended 7 Days

Two members of the Iuka Police Department have been suspended by Mayor David Nichols for "dereliction of their duties".

According to sources in City Hall, officers "Trip" Lomenick and Bobby Flynt were suspended for seven days by the Mayor pending action by the Board of Aldermen.

The two officers were accused of leaving their town unprotected by taking at least a two and a half hour break while on duty.

The incident apparently started around 2:30 a.m. Thursday, June 22, when Police Chief Amos Bates received a call that the two officers were at home instead of out on patrol. Bates said he checked both Flynt's and Lomenick's homes and saw the city patrol cars parked in the drives. Bates said about an hour after driving past the two officer's homes, he asked the mayor to come out to also document the incident. Bates said he had received complaints before about the officers taking similar liberties.

About 5 a.m. both officers were summoned to the police department and were placed on suspension pending action by the Board of Aldermen. According to Chief Bates, he does not have the authority to hire or fire an officer. That is the responsibility of the Board of Aldermen.

On Friday afternoon, June 30 at 4:30, a special called meeting by the Mayor was held at City Hall. City Attorney, Mike Cooke, read statements from both the Mayor and Chief detailing the incident and told the Board of the 7 day suspension.

According to the Aldermen, they were told that the Board did not have to act at this time and could have a hearing, which would allow the officers to tell their side of the story. The aldermen decided to wait until their next meeting, July 5th, to act on the subject and hear both sides of the issue. A hearing could not be planned earlier due to the absence of the Mayor, City Attorney, City Clerk, and one alderman who are attending the Municipal Convention in Biloxi this week.

AND GOD SAID, LET THE WATERS UNDER THE HEAVEN BE GATHERED TOGETHER UNTO ONE PLACE, AND LET THE DRY LAND APPEAR...

Livestocks Need For Water

Water is as important as forage in the production of livestock. Clean water and ample forage are essential for livestock to be finished out for market. Inadequate stock water developments in pasture contribute to instability in the livestock industry and to serious livestock losses, and encourage overgrazing near existing water.

Not only must enough watering places be developed for stock needs but they must be properly distributed in relation to available forage.

Enough watering places in pastures encourage more uniform grazing, facilitate pasture improvement practices, and retard erosion. They may also enable farmers to make profitable use for pasture of soil-conserving crops and erodible, steep areas unfit for producing cultivated crops.

The following tabulation of the average daily consumption of water by different kinds of livestock is a guide for estimating your water needs.

Beef cows and horses - 12-15 gallons of water per day; Dairy cows - 12-15 gallons of water per day; Hogs - 2-4 gallons of water per day; Goats - 2-4 gallons of water per day.

CROP REPORTING DEADLINE IS JULY 15...

Time is running out for MS farmers to report their planted crop acreage or risk losing federal farm program benefits. The deadline for certifying crops has been extended this year to July 15. "Changes brought about by the USDA Reorganization and Crop Insurance Reform Act of 1994 have created a critical situation of MS agriculture," said Acting CFSA State Executive Director Norris Faust. "The earlier deadline, new requirements for reporting acreage on non-program crops, and substantial CFSA staff reduction have combined to cause a potential 'bottle neck' at county USDA offices."

CFSA officials in some MS counties estimate that only about 15 to 20 percent of eligible producers had certified as of June 8. Hesitation by farmers is blamed on program changes and a warm, dry spring which has kept them in the field and out of the office. Also flooding along the MS River has created a problem forcing farmers to replant thousands of acres in late June and early July. Magnifying the problem is USDA's downsizing. Since October, Faust says that CFSA offices in MS have lost some of their workforce. In addition, the Disaster Program has been replaced by the Non-insured Assistance Program (NAP) which requires farmers to report not only their program acreage, but also their planting of non-program crops.

The bottom line is, we are doing more work with fewer employees," Faust said. "Therefore, if the majority of our producers wait until the last minute to certify, we may not have the time or personnel to serve everyone." He emphasized that CFSA offices would do everything possible to ensure that all producers have the opportunity to report their acreage and encourage farmers to visit their local CFSA county office as soon as possible.

CFSA requires producers to report their planted acreage for spring-seeded program crops by July 15. As for non-program crop, farmers must report their planted acreage and any acreage they intend to plant later this summer. Producers must also certify their actual acreage of any late crops within 15 days of the planting date.

"Fruit and vegetable producers need to take special note of the acreage reporting deadline," Faust said. "In the past, Disaster Programs have protected farmers from crop losses brought on by natural disasters. Recent changes, however, replaced those programs with NAP", require that producers report all planting and intended plantings by July 15. Failure to do so will make farmers ineligible for NAP's crop loss protection benefits."

Faust urges MS farmers to make an appointment with their county CFSA office today or as soon as possible to report their acreage. For more information call your Tishomingo County CFSA office at (601)423-5036.

The Tishomingo County CFSA Office will be closed Tuesday, July 4, 1995, in observance of Independence Day.

ALL DISTANCE
SPEC-FREE VISION

The crystalline lens of the eye can change its shape (therefore its power), when required to give focusing at all distances. This procedure is automatic and referred to as our power of accommodation. We are not aware of its taking place. As we mature, this ability decreases until we reach a point at which we are unable to change the lens shape sufficiently to give us the focusing power we need for reading. If you also have problems with distance vision (nearsightedness), your glasses would need more than one correction.

Now there is a contact lens which enables the wearer to see clearly for reading, in the distance and also the often-neglected middle distance. It's called the Natural Focal contact lens. It is a major breakthrough in the field of contact lens design. The only comparable lens is the natural crystalline lens of the eye itself.

Call our office about your suitability for wearing this new contact lens and have spectacle-free vision at ALL distances.

County Agents Notes

TAKE IT EASY WITH THE FERTILIZER

Be careful how you make additional applications of fertilizer to your garden crops! Over application of ammonium nitrate, triple thirteen, or just about any fertilizer material added to plants as a side-dress can easily lead to soluble salts injury. Cucurbits such as squash, cucumbers, cantaloupes, pumpkins, watermelons, pumpkins are especially sensitive to soluble salts injury, as are other vegetables including tomato, peppers, beans, and corn. Excessively high soluble salts hurt garden plants by causing root burn. The burning reduces the ability of roots to absorb water and nutrients. Roots of properly fertilized plants are able to carry out these essential functions without problem, but it's a different story with over fertilized plants. In fact, instead of being able to pick up water, water may actually flow out of the roots of these plants. As a result, your squash plant may wilt and show symptoms of dehydration. The high salts accumulate in the plant and together with the reduced water uptake, cause yellowing and scorching of tips of new leaves and shoots. One of the most common symptoms of toxic accumulations of salts is burning around the leaf margins. Affected plants are usually stunted and produce reduced yields. If you suspect that you have a soluble salts buildup from overapplication of fertilizer, check with the County Extension Office about the procedure for collecting a soil sample for nutritional analysis. The Soil Testing Department at Mississippi State University can conduct a test to determine if you have excessive salts buildup in your garden soil and offer suggestions for correcting the problem.

INSECTS ATTACKING TREES

We seem to be having trouble this year with a variety of different insects attacking trees in our home landscape. I have received several calls about worms feeding on the foliage of trees. Mother Nature usually takes care of any imbalance that occurs but people are concerned about the health of the tree. In general, trees can withstand a large amount of defoliation and survive. Trees will put on new leaves and everything will be fine. The concern is that frequent defoliation will weaken trees, open the door to other problems. One time loss of leaves can overcome but several times during the growing season mean death to the tree.

NEMCC Announces Summer School Registration

It's the favorite, flag-waving holiday that has something for everyone — parades, picnics, fun and games and lots to eat!

It's also the holiday that requires a little celebration common sense from kids to grandparents. For example:

- Make sure there's always someone "in charge" of grills, campfires and barbecues.
- Appoint an "expert" to handle firework displays.
- Ask responsible adults or older teenagers to supervise sports and games for the kids.
- Remind everyone to eat and drink sensibly and to drive home safely or designate a driver.

So celebrate the "fourth" with safety in mind, and enjoy all the festivities!

The circuit court clerk's office is a very important office because it requires a lot of records being kept for the county. I have 20 years experience working with the public in Tishomingo County where I have been responsible for keeping confidential records, handling bookkeeping procedures, and in general making sure the office runs smooth. This experience has prepared me for the job duties of the Circuit Court Clerk.

I need your vote and support for Circuit Court Clerk on August 8. Your vote, support, and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,
 Donna Henry Dill

Mississippi's Base Closure Victories

Mississippi stood eye to eye with the Base Closure and Realignment Commission on June 22 and 23, and when the dust had settled, the Commission had voted to keep open the Meridian Naval Air Station and Columbus Air Force Base.

Mississippi is one of the few states that has gone through three rounds of base closure proceedings over the past six years and successfully convinced the Base Closure Commissions of the need to retain and in many cases expand our military facilities.

The Commission's 7-1 vote on June 23 to keep the Meridian Naval Air Station open was "a national security decision" critical to meeting the military's pilot training requirements.

I am very proud of the Commission for having the courage to reject the recommendation to close Meridian, a recommendation made strictly for budgetary reasons. The Commission instead based its decision on the security needs of the country.

For that we owe a debt of gratitude to Admiral Mike Boorda, Chief of U.S. Naval Operations, for his support. In his testimony before the Commission, he said unequivocally that Meridian was vital to the Navy's mission and that he could not do without the base. His testimony came in stark contrast to that of Navy Secretary John Dalton whose call to close Meridian appeared to be influenced by political considerations.

But the real credit for our Meridian victory goes to the Meridian community itself and all the people of Lauderdale County. They made the case for retaining Meridian NAS both during the Commission hearings in Birmingham and Atlanta and during the Commissioners' visits to the base, and they were the ones who hit the home run.

Making the case for Meridian NAS has been a long, six-year battle during which too much money was spent to keep open a military base everyone knew we needed in the first place. But to paraphrase Winston Churchill, there's nothing more exhilarating than being shot at three times without effect.

The good news we received on Columbus Air Force Base was expected but still a welcome confidence boost. Columbus had been added to the closure list late in the game for comparison purposes to allow the Commission to better evaluate the Pentagon's recommendation to close Reese Air Force Base. Columbus is the top-ranked pilot training base in the Air Force today, and we knew that if decisions were made on the merits, we would win that comparison hands down. On June 22, we did.

Columbus AFB's inclusion on the closure list cost the Columbus community a lot of effort, work, and money, but, again, it was the unstoppable support and work on the part of the residents of Lowndes County that ensured the victory.

With the end of this round of base closures, I think it is time to say enough is enough. I have put my colleagues in the Senate on notice that a fourth round of closures will take place over my dead body.

We are not saving money as the myth of base closure rhetoric had promised. To date we have spent more to close bases than we have saved. The reality of base closure has been economic dislocation, regional recession, and higher unemployment. In some cases, the process has just given away real estate -- military facilities long ago financed with our tax dollars. Millions have been spent both by states and communities like Columbus and Meridian to defend facilities which should never have been on base closure lists to begin with.

Enough is enough. We need to stop and catch our breath and make certain we are making decisions that are in the best interests of our national security. (6/26/95)

NEMMCC Schedules Orientation

Northeast Mississippi Community College will offer freshman orientation sessions on July 18, 20, 25 and 27.

According to Donnie Sweeney, director of counseling services at Northeast, orientation is designed to assist each student in making a smoother transition into college life.

"Every effort will be made to give students a worthwhile and meaningful experience, one that will help them feel at ease at Northeast," Sweeney said.

"Making the transition from high school to college can be a traumatic experience, and we will attempt to ease the strain through our orientation program.

"Orientation is an opportunity for students to meet advisors, learn more about their major, and register for classes.

"It's a good time to learn the campus and meet individuals they'll be working with at Northeast.

"Really, it's a time when college becomes a reality, and I feel that attending orientation can be a real difference in a student's getting off to a good

Students will be given an orientation date based on their chosen major. The one-day sessions will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at approximately 3:30 p.m. Lunch will be served.

A $20 fee must be paid upon arrival at orientation.

For more information about orientation contact Northeast's Counseling Center at 720-7313.

Letter To The Editor

I am researching the Kay Family. My husband's ancestor was Mary Catherine Kay, born in Anderson County, South Carolina ca. 1835. The Kay family moved to Tishomingo County, MS sometime after 1850 and in 1854 Mary Catherine Kay married Francis M. Archer in Tishomingo County.

I believe, but cannot prove, that the father of Mary Catherine Kay was Gabriel Kay who died before the family left South Carolina. I would like to correspond with any Kay family member who may have researched this family or have any genealogical information they wish to trade.

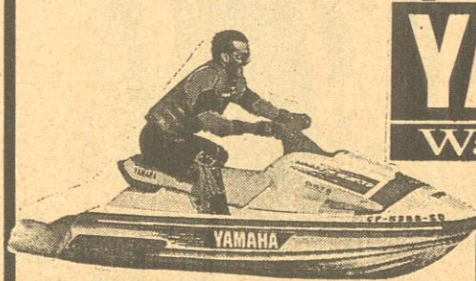

Any Kay descendent wishing to do this may contact me at 4207 Coffee Dr. SW, Huntsville, AL 35805.

Awards Received By Local Student
For Story...

"Back From The Future For Me" is the story of a boy, who finds himself daydreaming about making an important medicinal discovery in a rainforest. With a humorous and surprising ending, it is the fictional creation of Nicholas Langston, a fourth grade honor student at Iuka Elementary School. He submitted his work in the Rain-tree/Steck-Vaughn Publishing's "Young Author's Publish-A-Book Contest", through Mrs. Edna Murrah, the GEMS teacher at IES. The odds of winning or placing were tremendous, since it is a student contest entered nationwide. And the winning record for this contest held by Matthew Lambert, also of Iuka, was a tough act to follow for any student.

However, Nicholas recently received a check, blue ribbon, certificate, bookmark, and letter of congratulations from Rain-tree/Steck-Vaughn, thus notifying him that his story placed in the top ten, of thirty, honorable mention places. Also noted was that Nicholas was the ONLY other student from the entire Mid South who even placed, aside from the first place winner, who was from the (Memphis, Tn.) Presbyterian Day School. This makes the third year in a row that a student from Iuka, has garnered recognition in this nationwide contest. Mrs. Murrah will also receive ten free books, from the publisher, for her classroom as part of the recognition/award.

The announcement regarding the first place winner and Nicholas was featured in a recent article in Memphis' Commercial Appeal newspaper. Selections were made on the basis of nine criteria that included originality, consistent point of view, creativity, appeal to audience, style, and convincing characters, and adherence to the contest guidelines. The contest theme for this year was "The Future".

Nicholas is the son of Danny and Donna Langston, of Iuka. He will be entering the fifth grade at IMS in the fall, and is already thinking about the next writing contest. Nicholas' favorite subjects are science and history, and he thinks that he might like to be a physician or scientist one day. He loves to "visit and help" Dr. Margaret Glynn, a local pediatrician, when her schedule allows. His main comment on his story recognition was "I don't know who's more excited, my parents, or me. I mean, my Mom has called all the relatives. You'd think I had won first place". Yes, his mom was excited.

Tim Reynolds Receives GED

Tim Reynolds, an employee in shipping at Schnadig Corporation, recently received his GED Certificate.

Tim has been enrolled in GED classes at Schnadig since November, when the classes began.

The classes are taught during working hours, and the employees are given release time from their jobs to attend the classes.

Schnadig is one of the first industries in north Mississippi to take advantage of the Adult Basic Education classes which are taught through Northeast Mississippi Community College.

Tim is the first employee to take his test and receive his certificate. He plans to continue his education by taking computer classes at Northeast.

Tim and his wife, Lisa, have three daughters: Alicia, 11, Vanessa, 7, and Sara age 3.

Although Tim was the first to take his test, there are several other employees at Schnadig planning to take their tests in the near future.

Denean White Receives Promotion

Denean White has recently been promoted to Manager of the Southside Office of First American National Bank.

Denean, a native of Tishomingo County, began her career with First American National Bank in 1986. She has held the positions of teller, student loan officer, and loan operations co-ordinator.

Denean is married to Terry White, and they have two children Abby and Luke. They attend Wheeler Grove Baptist Church.

Denean would like to extend a special invitation to her friends and customers to visit her at the Southside Office across the street from the Tishomingo County Courthouse.

July Is Pumpkin Planting Season

July's hot summer days may seem like a strange time to prepare for Halloween, but these days are important for would-be pumpkin growers. Seed catalog descriptions for most pumpkin varieties say they require 90 to 110 days from planting the seeds to harvesting the pumpkins.

Since there are 123 days between July 1 and Halloween, the seeds should be planted during July to have pumpkins in October. Gardeners can plant later in July than commercial growers because gardeners don't have to allow time for shipping and marketing.

Most varieties of pumpkins have vigorously growing vines that take a lot of garden space. Growing the vines on a trellis to reduce space requirements, as is often done with cucumbers and gourds, doesn't work for any but the smallest pumpkin varieties such as Jack Be Little, Baby Boo and Baby Bear.

These varieties produce pump-

Belmont Varsity Cheerleaders Say Thank You

The Belmont Varsity Cheerleaders would like to thank area businesses who purchased program ads during their June sales campaign. The girls will be attending camp in July at Mississippi University. pkins that weigh from one fourth of a pound up to 2 pounds. Most other varieties have pumpkins that are too heavy to be supported by a trellis.

To grow pumpkins, select a weed-free, sunny spot with space to allow the vines to run. The vines of some varieties grow 20 feet long and have leaves 12 inches to 18 inches across.

Pumpkins grow best in a well-drained, fertile soil that is only slightly acid (pH of 6.0 to 6.5). Plant the seeds in small groups of three to five, spacing the groups about 6 feet apart. While the plants are still small, remove all but the two strongest plants from each group.

Keep the soil moist at all times while the vines grow, bloom and the pumpkins get larger. The vines will begin to flower and develop small pumpkins in mid-to late August.

Like squash, cucumbers and melons, pumpkin flowers are of two types -- male and female. Each plant produces a lot more male flowers with pollen than female flowers, which develop into the pumpkins.

Pollinating insects are necessary to transfer the pollen between the flower types. If you're growing only one pumpkin vine, you might have to fill in for the bees and help Mother Nature along by transferring pollen to the female flowers.

Most pumpkins start out green when small and turn orange as they mature, but some of the newer varieties may be orange while still quite small.

It is extremely important to control insects and diseases from the time the seedlings emerge from the soil. Major insect pests are cucumber beetles and squash bugs. The major leaf diseases are powdery and downy mildews.

Extension Publication 1091, "The Garden Tabloid," available at your county extension office, includes recommended pest control materials.

It is important to control insects such as aphids, stink bugs and squash bugs throughout the life of the plants because they can spread a virus disease that causes pumpkins not to ripen and color properly.

Mississippi gardeners wanting to grow giant-sized pumpkins stand a good chance of being disappointed. The largest pumpkins ever grown are the variety Atlantic Giant, but they are always grown where the weather is a lot cooler than we have in Mississippi.

In Mississippi, once pumpkins get large enough to stand above their vine's leaves, they are exposed to the hot summer sun and end up cooking.

Many different varieties that produce pumpkins in the 10 to 20 pound range are better adapted to growing in Mississippi than the extremely large varieties. These include Connecticut Howden, Spirit Hybrid, Treat Hybrid, Funny Hybrid, Happy Jack and O'Lantern.

For an unusual pumpkin growing the variety which has orange flesh, white exterior.

Old Bethel United Methodist Uses The Past to Inspire Their Future

Church Chosen "Small Membership Church of the Year" At 1995 Methodist Conference

By: Angela Pyle-Lambert

Nestled in the lovely wooded countryside of South Tishomingo County, near the Tishomingo/Itawamba County line, sits a little country church full of life and ever growing in service to the Lord and to the people of the community around

Looking at the modern exterior of Old Bethel United Methodist Church, one would hardly suspect that the roots of this church run so deep; back to a log church which once welcomed the ancestors of many of today's church members. This church, which dates back 1837, was recently recognized as the "Small Membership Church of the Year" from the Tupelo-New Albany District during the Mississippi Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church, held in Tupelo Coliseum.

Old Bethel pastor, the Rev. Donnie Ray Riley, who is serving his third year at the church, explained that the award is given to a church of less than 200 members within the 10-county district for its spiritual growth, as well as for its commitment to improvements within the church. The church's contributions to the fulfillment of its members' needs and to the needs of the community also are considered, he said.

Without a doubt, the members of Old Bethel are committed to doing just that. Of the church's 99 members, approximately 82 attend worship services at the church every Sunday, according to the church records. During the past year, the church gained 13 new members.

Just within the last year, the church has initiated many new activities within the church such as Methodist Youth Fellowship, night services, new Bible study services, and an intensive building program, which has made many physical changes to the church building itself. It also worked to grow in some existing programs such as a community outreach, nursing home program, Christmas Shopping Spree for needy children in the community, missions, and support to organizations such as Salvation Army Children's Home, Red Cross, Methodist Senior Services and relief for disaster victims.

"We seek to enlist everyone in activities for spiritual growth," lifelong church member Louise Northcutt said. "This is the key to making our church what it is." She went on to say that in addition to the commitment and dedication to serve the Lord, the harmonious relationship of the members is also one reason the church thrives.

"Much of the credit for the success we are experiencing now within our church goes to our pastor. The members are very fortunate to have someone as dedicated and caring as Bro. Danny Riley leading them," Miss Northcutt stated. "Also we credit a lot of the church's success to our heritage. We want to give our forebearers credit. Their contributions and dedication are still evident in the church today," she continued. Louise Northcutt's mother, Effie Northcutt, was one of those dedicated members who kept the church alive during her lifetime. According to Louise, she taught Sunday School in the church for 45 years. Every Sunday, her legacy lives on as a bell, dedicated to her memory, rings out throughout the quiet countryside, welcoming churchgoers.

Going back even farther in the history of the church, one can see that the dedication and service to God and community is not just a recent development. Thanks to former Old Bethel Church secretary, Silas Wigginton, who served from 1896-1910, many of the old church activities have been recorded and preserved for today's generation to look back on.

Today's church is filled with his descendants, as well as descendants of many of the others who attend. According to church member, Mrs. Bunny Reeves Townsend, there are descendants of the Reeves, Ivy, Montgomery, Pharr, Wigginton and Whitehead families still in the church. Mrs. Townsend, herself the wife of a Methodist minister, grew up in the church. She and Miss Northcutt both remember attending services in the old plank churchhouse, which replaced the original log building. Although Mrs. Townsend left the church for many years to follow her husband in his service to the church, she returned to Old Bethel upon her husband's retirement.

Both Miss Northcutt and Mrs. Townsend are very active in practically all church activities and functions.

The oldest member of the Old Bethel United Methodist Church is Mr. Ernie Montgomery, who is 83-years-old, according to Miss Northcutt and Mrs. Townsend. They explained that through the years, several of the members there have gone on to work in ministry or church related fields. They estimate that 15 members have gone on to pursue careers in full-time Christian service.

What it all boils down to, is that any church, whether it is a large modern facility or small rural church, situated on a winding, country road, is nothing but a building without a group of dedicated, devoted and loving people, committed to the love and service of God and their fellow men. Old Bethel Church is certainly proof that this combination works.

Yes, we can vote, and we intend to do so. We encourage you to vote with us. It doesn't matter who or what gets your vote, it's your chance to let your community, your County and your State, know what you need to your government.

If you have a question and need an answer, write your question on a piece of paper with the name of the particular candidate, sign your name, include a $1.00 donation to the Lions Club, and mail to: Iuka Lions Club, c/o P.O. Box 285, Iuka, MS 38852. All proceeds will go to help the sight impaired.

What more patriotic way can you spend Independence Day than helping the candidates to run a good, just, honest, and compassionate government, to insure many more Independence Day celebrations. And Mom won't spend the day in the kitchen, and Dad won't have to stand over the grill, we'll have the concession stand open with hamburgers and hot dogs. Lawn chairs, your family and friends are all that's required.

The Lions Club members will be enjoying fellowship with you on the 4th, so, our next set-down meeting will be on July 18th, 7:00 P.M., Country Cupboard.

Have a safe, happy holiday - spend it with us in the Park.

What A Day We Had - At The Parsons Reunion

June 11, 1995 - Parsons Reunion

The morning of June 11th was raining and thundering and I said to myself of all the days "Please Lord not today, let us have a little sunshine."

As we gathered our food and basket's to get the Parson's Cemetery we saw a little sunshine peeking thru. As we pulled into the road there stood Luna Faye Curtis and Joy Bitterman waving, "Come On In". The grounds were beautiful decorated with such bright colors and as the day passed more people gathered in, there were Vida Nichols from

Tishomingo and her three grandsons, Daniel Akers, Sam Wilson and Brandon Young and her two granddaughters, Amanda Young and Denise Wilson also from Tishomingo and her daughter Lanelle Young, of Tishomingo; Jerry and Sue Parsons, Faye Curtis, Majell George, Denise Medley, Vernell Wadkins, Marvin Parsons, Rebon Wilson, Ruby Crider, Katey Crider, Eric Crider, Ilene Smith, Curly (Lopez) Marler, Wayne Smith, Leann Wadkins, Dewight Wadkins, Justin Wadkins (Iuka), Joy Bitterman, Sandra Richar-

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SPIES AND SCOUTS

IN BIBLICAL TIMES IT CAN BE SAID THAT AN ARMY WAS ONLY AS GOOD AS ITS SPIES AND SCOUTS. HAVING NO RECONNAISSANCE OTHER THAN THE NAKED EYE TO REPORT WHAT LAY AHEAD OF AN ARMY, THE MEN, DESIGNATED AS SCOUTS AND SPIES, HAD TO BE OUTSTANDINGLY ALERT AND ABLE TO JUDGE THE STRENGTH OF THEIR POTENTIAL OPPONENTS SEEN FROM AFAR. THE SCOUTS MOSES SENT TO SPY OUT THE PROMISED LAND (NUMBERS 13) WERE OF THIS CALIBRE. HOWEVER, IN REPORTING TO MOSES, THEY CLAIMED TO HAVE SEEN GIANTS IN THE LAND AND ADVISED AGAINST GOING FORWARD. ONLY JOSHUA AND CALEB GAVE MOSES A CLEAR PICTURE OF THE LAND AND ITS POSSIBILITIES. FORTUNATELY MOSES GAVE EAR ONLY TO THEIR REPORT! SCOUTS AND SPIES WERE THE UNSUNG HEROES OF EVERY CONQUERING ARMY, AS THEY ARE TO THIS DAY, THOUGH SOPHISTICATED WARFARE HAS THEM THUNDERING THROUGH THE SKIES AS "THEY SEARCH OUT THE LAND!"

THIS DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THESE BUSINESSES WHO ENCOURAGE ALL OF US TO ATTEND WORSHIP SERVICES.

The topics that will be covered in the class include recognizing emergencies, sunshine safety, water safety and first aid techniques for insects, snakes and

"The participants will also complete a self-evaluation to see if their daily habits are safe ones or if they do things in their daily routines that could result in accidents or injuries," Taylor said.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

Little Jimmy was a bad boy. One day his mother asked, "How do you expect to get into heaven?"

"I'll just run in and out," he answered, "and keep on slamming the door until St. Peter says, 'Come in or stay out!' and I'll stay in."

But if you're not a Christian before you die, you'll not become a Christian after you die. If you're not a child of God over here, you'll not become a child of God over there.

Isn't it better to be sure than sorry? Then why don't you become a child of God right now?

Receive the Lord Jesus as your Savior, and you'll receive power not only to become a child of God, but to behave like one. Say - isn't that wonderful!

Card of Thanks

The family of John Junior McAnally would like to express our thanks and appreciation to all of our family, friends, and neighbors for the many prayers and expressions and deeds of consolations shown to us during our loss. VA Begins Compensating Sick Persian Gulf Veterans

On Feb. 3, VA published a final regulation on compensation payments to chronically disabled Persian Gulf veterans with undiagnosed illnesses. While these categories represent the signs and symptoms frequently noted in VA's experience to date, other signs and symptoms also could qualify for compensation. A disability is considered chronic if it has existed for at least six months.

The undiagnosed illnesses, which must have become manifest either during service in the Southwest Asia theater during the war or within two years thereafter, may fall into 13 categories: Fatigue - headache - joint pain - neuropsychological sign/symptoms - sleep disturbances - cardiovascular signs/symptoms - menstrual disorders - signs/symptoms involving skin - muscle pain - neurologic signs/symptoms - respiratory system signs/symptoms - gastrointestinal signs/symptoms - abnormal weight loss.

Persian Gulf veterans in Mississippi can contact the Jackson VA Regional Office by calling 1-800-827-1000 for information and assistance on filling a compensation claim with VA.

Veterans or members of their families can also call VA's new Persian Gulf Information Helpline at 1-800-PGW-VETS (1-800-749-8387) for information on medical care and other benefits available from VA. The helpline, which was activated February 2, is headquartered at VA's St. Louis Regional Office and staffed by Persian Gulf War benefit specialists who are available weekdays from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Recorded information is available 24 hours a day, seven Williams Earns Doctor's Degree From Southern College Of Optometry.....

Dr. Phillip Andrew Williams of Belmont was among the 103 candidates receiving the Doctor of Optometry degree at Southern College of Optometry's [SCO] graduation ceremonies held Thursday, June 1 at the historic Orpheum Theatre in downtown Memphis.

SCO President William E. Cochran, O.D., conferred the degrees during the ceremonies, which culminated four years of graduate study in optometric education for each of the new doctors, who will now be independent, primary health care providers. As optometrists, they specialize in the examination, diagnosis, treatment, and management of disease/disorders of the visual system, the eye, and associated structures as well as the diagnosis of related systemic conditions.

Siu G. Wong, O.D., Indian Health Service Optometry Consultant, delivered the commencement address. She was honored with the Doctor of Ocular Science, and honorary degree recognizing outstanding leaders in the optometric profession.

Also receiving a Doctor of Ocular Science degree was Tallahassee, Florida practitioner, Wyatt R. Taylor, O.D., for his dedication to the profession and service to SCO as a member of the Board of Trustees. Memphian Nat Baxter received the Doctor of Humane Letters honorary degree for his decades of service to the community and for his contributions to optometry, as an SCO Board member.

The Optometric Oath was administered by SCO Professor Bobby W. Montgomery, O.D., who was recognized as a Professor Emeritus; he is retiring June 30 after twenty-five years of service to SCO.

Southern College of Optometry is an independent, not-for-profit institution educating men and women in the art and science of optometry.

and the only job opening was with Don McNeely mowing grass at the park. This happened over twenty days after Officer Mitchell was told she was placed on indefinite leave by the Mayor, meaning that she was not drawing compensation from the city nor unemployment from the state.

I do not feel that she was treated fairly by the board, mayor, or chief of police, Amos Bates. As I told Chief Bates, she was used for a purpose, and when she served that purpose, she was discarded.

The truth, if not provable, is that she was hired because pressure was being brought to bear to hire a minority on the police force. She was hired, as a woman, thinking that she would not pass the academy. After being on the force eight months, and satisfactorily completing the police academy in Tupelo for the five weeks, it became apparent that Iuka might conceivably have a permanent black woman on the force. I believe, and was told by a major law enforcement official in the county, that a call was placed to the academy, to fail Officer Mitchell, if possible. I realize that the previous statement is powerful, and not at this time provable, but true.

The board told Officer Mitchell that she had to go by the book. The Book applies to all. Wake up Iuka. Do not believe everything that you are told. Go to the board meeting and see the truth for yourself.

Letters to the Editor

I would like to put to rest some of the rumors concerning the situation involving Anita Mitchell, law enforcement officer for Iuka, MS.

Anita returned from the police academy in Tupelo after completing five weeks of training. After passing the test for five weeks, she failed the firing range by four points, as stated in the newspaper. As provided in the laws, an officer has one year to complete the police academy. At her dismissal, Officer Mitchell had only eight months on the force. The City of Iuka has an officer listed as the firing instructor for the Iuka Police Department, but she was not afforded any training before entering the academy. Anita was told that she could not carry a firearm, after failing the academy, so she could not work for the department. She worked for the department prior to her entering the academy for eight months, carrying a gun. What's the difference!

During a board meeting concerning the termination of Officer Mitchell, the board and Mayor were in disagreement. In a meeting with Mayor Nichols, Officer Mitchell was told that she was being laid off the police force

Proper Planning Will Keep You Running During The Summer

Although summer may not be the most appealing time to exercise because of heat and humidity, it is not the time of the year that should deter running or any other outdoor exercise, says Doug Blackwell, assistant track coach at The University of Mississippi.

Heat and humidity have a positive side, says the Ole Miss coach. The added stress that causes the body to work overtime increases metabolism and endurance. The training effects of running in high humidity and heat -- though not the same as altitude training -- offer benefits somewhat as good as altitude training.

Whether you're an experienced runner or a beginner, the precautions that should be taken are the same. With a few extra safeguards, even novice runners should be able to make it through the summer, sticking to newly found exercise regimens. To persevere through these hot months and remain guilt free for not abandoning your exercise program, Blackwell offers these hints:

■ Double or possibly triple liquid intake. During a long summer run, a person can lose as much as five pounds of water. If you urinate three or four times a day, you are properly hydrated. If running more than five or six miles or exercising for more than an hour, you will need to drink additional liquids while exercising.

■ Prepare, plan and prevent. Exercising outdoors during the summer requires extra planning and preparation. Drink plenty of liquids several hours before you run. In addition, scout out possible emergency "watering holes" along your route. After exercising, take time to cool down outdoors before going indoors or taking a cold shower. Monitor your body for a couple of hours after running, noting sudden temperature changes, dizziness, nausea or cramps - signs of dehydration or heat exhaustion.

■ Rotate your exercise program. Even during a single outing, Blackwell recommends rotating between walking and running to prevent exhaustion. "This is a good time to go with the philosophy that quality is as good as quantity." Whether walking or running, a solid cardiovascular workout should last at least 30 minutes, three to four times a week.

■ Supplement outdoor exercise with inside activities. Although heavy weight training is discouraged for distance runners, summer is a good time to visit the weight room, says Blackwell. High repetition exercises with light weights will improve tone and flexibility but not increase muscle mass. Also, try riding a stationary bike or swimming a few laps before hitting the streets.

Safe Swimming Tips Make Summer Sport More Fun....

Warmer weather and a hint that summer vacation is just around the corner cause most folks to think about swimming. One of the most popular summer sports, swimming is great fun when proper safety precautions are exercised, says Dr. Kim Beason, assistant professor of exercise science and leisure management at The University of

Mississippi.

Even experienced swimmers should heed a warning particularly important this year. Underwater obstacles are a known hazard and account for numerous accidents when people dive into the water without first checking the swimming area. Because of extensive damage to trees and other foliage following this winter's ice storms, many Mississippi waters will have an over abundance of underwater obstacles, he said.

"Check for fallen limbs and branches and for riffraff that may have floated down river," Beason cautioned. Other swimming safety tips include:

■ Never swim alone. The buddy system goes a long way in the water. Also, when possible, swim in areas supervised by a trained lifeguard.

■ Stay in designated swimming areas. Steer clear of areas for boats, water skis and jet skis. From many motorized water vehicles, swimmers are difficult to see. Beason said it is possible to get under the stern of a boat, with the driver unable to see you at all.

■ Swim within your limits. Even if your buddies want to swim to that nearby sandbar, don't attempt to tag along unless you're certain you can easily get there and back.

■ Stay out of the water during thunderstorms. If lightning threatens, get out of the water and seek shelter away from metal objects, large trees and open areas. Also, avoid the water during high winds and other heavy weather conditions.

■ Get out if you're cold. Chilled muscles can quickly become stiff, less efficient and cramped. Swimming in very cold water without neoprene protection can cause hypothermia.

■ Protect your skin. Too much exposure to the sun can cause serious damage to your skin, Beason said, and newer studies also show adverse affects to a person's immune system from severe sunburns. Cover your skin with a waterproof sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15. The Ole Miss professor also noted that many sunscreens that promote significantly higher SPFs -- 30 or better -- often come with expensive price tags without offering significantly greater protection from the sun's burning rays.

■ Water and alcohol do not mix. One of the most often quoted warnings, this advice is the best to remember, Beason said.

Healthful barbecue recipes for easy al fresco dining

For millions of Americans, summer means rolling out the grill and lighting up the charcoal for a barbecue. Often this event means grilling such family favorites as hamburgers and hot dogs.

These days, however, many people are thinking more about what they eat. All over the country, Americans are avoiding red meat and its saturated fat and cholesterol.

A marinated vegetable kebab is a mouth-watering alternative to the old barbecue standards. The recipes below can be prepared ahead of time, so all that needs to be done immediately before serving is grilling the vegetables. This way you can enjoy the lazy days of summer to their fullest, even at your own barbecue.

These recipes are reproduced from the revised 15th anniversary edition of Mollie Katzen's Moosewood Cookbook (Ten Speed Press).

MULTI-BEAN SALAD

Try making this salad with a combination of 1 cup each: pinto, kidney, black and garbanzo beans. Dry beans need to soak at least 4 hours — preferably overnight. Pinto, kidney and black beans can be soaked, and then cooked, together. Garbanzos should be done separately.

- 4 cups dry beans, soaked
- 6 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon minced garlic
- 3 to 4 tablespoons lemon juice
- 6 to 8 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- lots of black pepper
- ¼ pound fresh green beans
- 2 medium stalks celery, finely minced
- ½ cup very finely minced red onion
- up to 1 cup (packed) finely minced parsley
- 1 small red or green bell pepper, minced
- optional: a small amount of minced cucumber (peeled and seeded)
- optional garnishes: cherry tomatoes, sieved hardboiled eggs

1. Cook presoaked beans in plenty of gently simmering water, partially covered, until just done. Keep the agitation to a minimum during the cooking, so the beans don't explode. Begin checking the beans for doneness at the 45-minute mark, just in case they are getting done early. The goal: perfectly tender, distinct little morsels.

2. Combine oil, garlic, lemon juice, vinegar, salt and pepper in a large bowl.

3. Trim the tips of the green beans, and steam until tender (5 to 8 minutes, or to your preference). Refresh under cold running water and drain well.

4. Drain the cooked beans and add them, still hot, to the bowlful of dressing. Add the remaining ingredients and mix well. Let marinate for at least 2 or 3 hours (even longer is better).

5. Serve cold or at room temperature, garnished with cherry tomatoes and, if desired, sieved hardboiled eggs.

VEGETABLE KEBABS

Marinade: (can be doubled, if you like lots of extra for basting)

- ½ cup olive oil
- ¼ cup red wine vinegar
- 5 medium cloves garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon salt
- lots of freshly ground black pepper
- ½ teaspoon marjoram or oregano
