Local Law Enforcement Officer Honored For Combating DUIs

A Mississippi Highway Patrol Officer from Tishomingo County was one of fifty-one law enforcement officers in the state inducted into the 100-400 Clubs at an April 17 awards ceremony and luncheon for combating Mississippi's most serious roadway safety problem, driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol and other drugs, during 1997.

The club was established by the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning in 1983 to honor officers who issued 100 or more DUI citations during the previous year. The individuals honored for 1997 made a total of 8,132 DUI arrests, an average of 159 per officer.

MHSP Sgt. Rickie Marlar of Iuka was inducted into the 100 Club based on his 111 DUI arrests during the past year.

"Gaining membership in the 100-400 Clubs is not only about numbers," Public Safety Planning's executive director Ron Sennett said. "By removing more than 8,000 impaired drivers from our state roadways, these officers likely have saved many lives, those of the drivers arrested as well as other motorists. Every year alcohol is involved in more than 300 traffic fatalities."

Sandra Moffett, 100-400 Clubs coordinator, noted that "because the behavior of impaired motorists is not easy to predict, apprehending these individuals often is difficult and sometimes extremely dangerous. The officers honored by the clubs, and other officers who apprehend impaired drivers, deserve the appreciation of every person who drives on Mississippi roadways."

New Stretch Of 4-Laned 72 To Be Opened Thursday

According to Northern District Transportation Commissioner Zack Stewart, two-way traffic on Highway 72 in Benton County will be switched to a recently completed stretch of four-lane highway Thursday at 2 p.m., weather permitting.

"The new four-lane section of Highway 72, which is approximately 8.5 miles in length, lies between the Marshall/Benton County Line and Highway 5," Stewart said. "Barricades on Highway 72 will be removed to allow drivers onto the roadway if the weather cooperates. If the weather is bad, the switch will be performed as soon as possible."

According to Jackie Harris, Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) project engineer, drivers on Highway 72 are asked to pay close attention at the intersections of Highway 5 and Highway 7 and to read and follow all new traffic signs.

"Motorists sometimes tend to drive from habit; however, due to the recent construction, traffic patterns have changed," Harris said. "Motorists traveling through the area are encouraged to use extreme caution when accessing the four-lane highway from local crossroads."

"We added two new lanes parallel to the existing Highway 72," Harris said. "And rehabilitated the existing lanes."

Harris asks motorists to drive slowly and carefully through the area, as incidental work will be going on for the next three months. Lehman-Roberts Co., of Memphis, Tenn., was awarded the contract to pave this section of highway with a low bid of $10.6 million.

Stewart said this project is part of the 1987 Four-Lane Highway Program, a massive legislative act to four-lane 1,086 miles of roadway in Mississippi.

"I am very pleased this much-needed work is being accomplished for the people of Benton County. A good highway system always fosters economic growth and increases safety for the traveling public," Stewart said.

Tishomingo Homemaker Volunteers Club

"Common-looking people are the best in the world; that is the reason the Lord makes so many of them." This was the thought of the month read by Mrs. Johnnie Strickland when the Tishomingo Homemaker Volunteers club met on Thursday night, April 2, at the home of Mrs. Willard Strickland. The meeting had been called to order by the president, Ms Eva Mae Strickland.

Ms. Michelle Strickland, the parliamentarian, led the group in the pledge to the flag, and Mrs. Kathy Byram read the Council Collect.

Mrs. Sabrina Welch gave a good devotion on the familiar "Easter Story", using for her scripture Mark 15:43-16:6, and then led in prayer.

Ms Shirley Thorne, the secretary, did the roll call and read the minutes of the previous meeting, and Willard, the treasurer, gave the financial report.

Final plans were made for the club's bake sale on April 4 at the Tishomingo Bank Annex with the proceeds going to the club.

Plans were also made for the club members to display homemade crafts, give a demonstration on embroidery, and serve refreshments at the Tishomingo Library on April 24 from 2 until 4 p.m. in celebration of National Library Week.

Eva Mae reminded the club members about the Northeast Area Spring Leadership Meeting of the Mississippi Homemaker Volunteers, Inc. at Verona on April 28 and encouraged everyone to attend.

Mrs. Jeannette Thorne gave an informative report on "Winter Weather Techniques". During winter driving on wet and icy roads, you should reduce your speed. Slow down before you approach a bridge or go around a curve. Do not slam on your brakes. Think ahead and have a greater distance between your car and the car in front of you.

Shirley gave an interesting program on "Wildflowers". Seeds are best sown in the fall from September through November, especially the ones that bloom in the spring and early summer. Mix sand with the seeds before broadcasting to help spread them more easily and evenly and then rake around the area to make sure there is good contact with the soil. Wildflowers require little water, fertilizer, and pest control. Because of their wide range of colors, they often attract butterflies and seed-eating birds.

Ms Katie Strickland, a member of the Liberty Church of Christ Lads to Leaders and Leaderettes, gave a very good speech on "Love". She told how Jesus went to Calvary because He loved us so much. We can show our love for Him by keeping His commandments and loving one another. God is love, and love never fails. Do you show people you love them?

The meeting was adjourned with Michelle reading the creed.

Everyone enjoyed a potluck meal.

The door prize was won by

Mrs. Gail Strickland, whom we were proud to have back with us after having been absent for a few months due to sickness.

Also present, not already mentioned, was Ms. Louise Puckett.

Anyone is welcome to come meet with us at our next meeting on Thursday night, May 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Tishomingo Library. We hope to see you there!

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. Phillip Gray
OPTOMETRIST

The Best Sunglasses For You

Sunglasses are designed to meet two basic needs: comfort and protection from bright sunlight and the glare from snow, glass, chromium, asphalt, and other light-reflecting materials. They are also important in protecting your eyes from ultra-violet (UV) radiation. There are two kinds: UV-A and UV-B. UV-A has been shown to cause serious damage to the delicate vision mechanism inside the eye. Whereas exposure to UV-B over a period of many years can cause cataracts and damage the eye's retina.

Standard, tinted sunglasses will meet most people's needs. A good choice of tint is medium to dark gray because it will not affect your ability to see colors. Sunglasses that are polarized will reduce reflected glare. Some sunglasses are photochromic or light-sensitive. They will darken or lighten depending on the amount of light.

If you want help in selecting a good pair of sunglasses, discuss it with your doctor of optometry.

Notice Of Change In Collections Of Past Due Accounts For TCEPA

Tishomingo County Electric's policy has always been to grant, subject to management approval, occasional extensions of time to pay electric bills. Unfortunately, a number of individual consumers have abused this privilege and caused additional collection efforts and created chronic past due balances.

This abuse has caused the board of directors to establish a more rigid collection policy for past due balances:

1. Approximately 3 to 4 days after the due date of the bill, a past due notice will be mailed to the customer at the same address as stated on the bill. This past due notice will give a date after which service will be terminated. No additional notice will be given.

2. TCEPA's collector will be required to terminate service if the account has a past due balance when he arrives unless the total past due balance is paid to him.

3. Customers who have not received an extension of time to pay within the preceding twelve (12) calendar months may be granted an extension subject to management approval. No more than one extension will be granted in any twelve month period.

4. This policy becomes effective April 3, 1998. All past due balances must be paid by this date.

5. Collections will continue in March under existing policy.

TCEPA provides the following payment options:

1. An automatic draft service for customers who wish to pay electric bills without the worry of missing due dates.

2. Level payment plan for customers with approved credit history.

3. Due date change to the 5th of the month for customers on Social Security or once-a-month retirement benefits with approved credit history.

4. Drop box payment receptacles at the Iuka office and Belmont City Hall.

These District Allied Health Contest Winners from Tishomingo County Voc-Tech will be going to Jackson, MS to compete in the State HOSA Contest. Allied Health students compete in various medical related skills events. Shown are (L-R) Jenny Barnes, 1st place in Nurse Assisting; Kathy Cooke, Allied Health Instructor; Emily Robinson, 2nd place in Nurse Assisting; and, (seated) Bianca Page, 5th place in Medical Math.

Home Economics Tips

April Is Child Abuse Prevention Month For A Healthy Family

You want to do everything you can to be sure your family is healthy emotionally as well as physically. Ask yourself the following:

- Are you aware of what your child is thinking and feeling? You should know how your child is growing mentally. As she grows older, she will be more aware of herself. She will find out who she is and show how she is special. She will gain knowledge and skills that will serve her well for the rest of her life.

- Learn about what you can expect of your child. You can do this by reading, watching or talking with others. Give your child room to grow. At the same time help her with her strengths, put up with her weaknesses and respect her feelings.

- Does the time you spend with your child help the two of you get along well? Most of the time that you and your child spend together should be fun and worthwhile. It also should be free from pressure and tension.

- Are you a good listener to what is on your child's mind? Encourage your child to talk with you about school, friends and activities. Listen carefully without giving advice, criticizing or giving her the third degree.

- As a parent, do you understand and take care of yourself? You should be leading a healthy personal life (including proper diet, exercise, and sleep habits). Set aside time for your own adult friendship, as well as time for meeting your own emotional needs.

Do you take moral and social responsibility for your own life? you are an important role model for your child. Show him your values through actions as well as words.

MHV Leader Training will be held on April 27 beginning at 1:00 p.m. at the Midway Community Center. The topic will be "Butterfly Gardening." The guest speaker will be Mr. Brendix Glasgow, of the Mississippi Forestry Service, and Burke Bonds, President of the Midway Club. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Council meeting will be held at 2:00 P.M.

The Area Spring meeting will be held in Verona on April 28, beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Everyone Is Singing The Praises Of Advantage The Revolutionary Flea Control

As a loving pet owner, you'd do anything to prevent your cat or dog from suffering. After all, they're part of the family. Yet every year when flea season begins, the suffering sets in. It's like an old broken record. Fleas bite and the scratching and chewing starts again. It's a painful and irritating routine for you and your pet. But that's just the beginning because the adult fleas on your pet can actually cause serious medical problems - like flea allergy dermatitis and tapeworms.

Adult fleas jump onto your cat or dog. They bite them and feed on the blood. Then, the fleas produce eggs. Eggs drop from your pet to the ground or carpet. The eggs develop over time into adult fleas, and the cycle starts all over again.

Finding relief from fleas has not been easy. When your pet is suffering from fleas, you want relief immediately. You don't want to control fleas you want to kill them. What you need, is ADVANTAGE.

Protecting your pet with advantage is easy. Once a month, you simply apply a premeasured dose from a easy-to-use applicator tube by parting the hair of your pet (between the shoulder blades of dogs or on the back of the neck of cats) and applying the solution on the skin. Your veterinarian will prescribe the dosage that's right for your pet.

With advantage, there are no special requirements. Pet owners will love the convenience of Advantage. No more trying to get your pet to finish an entire meal. Just a few drops on the back of your cat's neck, and your flea problems are gone.

This flea season you can have the advantage. Advantage kills 98-100% of existing fleas in 24 hours, prevents reinfestation for up to a month on cats and at least a month on dogs. And it's convenient - especially for cats.

Adult fleas can cause serious medical problems to your cat or dog. Advantage kills adult fleas within 24 hours. No more suffering, no more biting, no more fleas.

To find out why everyone is singing the praises of Advantage, we'll tell you, call us at 423-3470.

Your Dental Health

Vital Facts For Denture Wearers

Wearing full or partial dentures is a daily reality for millions of Americans. A common and potentially harmful misconception is that once someone has dentures, visiting the dentist regularly is no longer necessary. Denture wearers need to continue to see their dentist because the mouth is constantly changing. Signs of serious disease, such as diabetes, often first appear in the mouth. Dentist's also check for signs of oral cancer and examine the gums, tongue and jaw joints.

Regular dental visits and good follow-up home care are essential to keep dentures functioning and looking their best. Dentures may become loose because of changes in mouth tissue. This not only can interfere with speech and cause embarrassment, but constant irritation over a long period of time may cause sores or tumors. Dentures may develop a bad odor from absorption of fluid or bacteria, or color changes due to age or a reaction of fluids in the mouth.

Many denture wearers mistakenly believe that they have to accept speech or eating difficulties. Social withdrawal and inadequate nutrition due to these problems can threaten overall health and psychological well-being. With dentures properly fitted and maintained by a dentist, very few restrictions should exist in diet and social interactions. Eating and talking should be pleasant experiences.

The belief that dental adhesives must be used regularly is a dangerous misconception. Prolonged use of denture creams or powders can mask infections and cause bone loss in the jaw.

Adhesives can be used in an emergency or to keep dentures stable until a dental appointment can be scheduled to regain a proper fit.

Denture wearers should clean and brush their dentures daily to remove plaque, stains and food deposits. They should also brush their gums, tongue and palate with a soft-bristled brush to remove plaque and stimulate circulation. They should never try to repair their dentures themselves, as this could lead to irreparable damage and endangered oral health. If you have any questions regarding your dentures call our office.

Words cannot express what Grandma means to us. She has always been a source of strength and taught us through example good morals and the virtue of working hard. She still plants, hoes, harvests, and cans her own food and loves to share it with others and is also known for her beautiful flowers.

God has blessed her in many ways and also blessed us by making her a part of our lives.

Bethany Harris would like to welcome her little brother, Gregory Logan, who was born January 19th, 1998.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Women Face Special Financial Issues

Provided by:
Debbie Arnold
Call toll free: 1-888-423-9222

You don't have to be a genius to figure out that women are different from men. Yet one of the less obvious differences is the way the two genders manage and invest money.

The 60 million working women in the United States account for 46.2 percent of the labor force and earn more than $3 trillion annually. Census Bureau survey data indicate 48 percent of working wives provide at least half of their households' income. As a result, American women are more financially independent than women of previous generations. But their attitudes about money and their decision-making styles differ significantly from their male counterparts. And furthermore, the financial issues they face are not the same as those confronted by men.

Women can't afford to do as well as men when investing - they need to do better. Statistically speaking, women outlive men, and because they generally earn less than men, they have more ground to make up.

Here are some statistics from the financial publication Ticker about women and finances:

- Half of women over age 65 are widows.
- A widow's average age is 56.
- Divorced women are five times more likely than married women to live in poverty after retirement.
- On average, women earn less than 80 percent as much as men.

- Women receive lower Social Security benefits, smaller pensions and retirement, and have less in savings.
- Women tend to be conservative investors.
- Over the next 20 years, women will inherit $12 trillion.

In spite of these considerations, many financial professionals persist in handling women's financial needs the same as those of men. Although there's no stereotypical female investor, there are certain values to which women generally respond.

Women investors want information and assistance. They seek strong relationships with their brokers, based on trust and respect. These qualities are equally important to men, but men typically only want enough information to make a decision. Women, on the other hand, look for what one expert calls the "mosaic strategy." This satisfies the more comprehensive multiple roles of a woman such as wife, mother, daughter, earner, entrepreneur and caretaker.

The lesson here is that women need to be aware of the different financial issues they face. If you're married, both spouses should share equal responsibility for establishing financial goals, sharing information and working with your financial professional. Only work with professionals who are aware of the financial challenges women face and will help you develop a plan to address them.

Week Set Aside To Honor Volunteers

Volunteers work often goes unnoticed, but a week has been set aside this spring to recognize the efforts of one service organizations in Tishomingo County.

April 26 through May 2 has been named Mississippi Homemaker Volunteers week. These volunteers are active in Tishomingo County and 75 other Mississippi counties, doing community service and education projects and dealing with public policy issues.

In 1997, the 4,200 statewide members provided $4.5 million of volunteer services to the state. Their main project continues to be making 3,000 therapy dolls a year, and gowns and slippers for the Children's Hospital in Jackson. The volunteers also donate clothing and toiletries to the State Hospital at Whitfield.

Tishomingo County clubs have taken part in the Blue Ribbon Campaign to prevent child abuse.

Active in public policy issues, MHV members have worked to get the Buckle Kids for Safety bill passed to save lives of our young Mississippi children.

"WE LOOK FORWARD TO EVERY SUNRISE"

The trouble began in 1990. Nella Johnson was diagnosed with breast cancer. Then in 1993, Lewis, her husband came down with colon cancer. Both turned to Dr. Kalliath and the Tennessee Valley Blood and Cancer Center where they received chemotherapy.

Today, the Johnsons are regulars at the Center's monthly support group meetings. "We tell the others not to give up. Keep on going. Trust God! And get a good doctor like Dr. Kalliath."

Nella and Lewis practice what they preach. Recently retired, they spend time enjoying their family and friends. To celebrate their recovery and to say thank you for the good medical care they received at the Tennessee Valley Blood and Cancer Center, Nella and Lewis host an annual fish fry at their home for the Center's employees and their families.

"We look forward to being with all our friends from the Center," Nella said with a smile. "They made the difference in our lives."

Old Tishomingo Traces

By: June Bullard

Spring is a time of rejuvenation, planting and rebirth for most people, but for me it is the season for reminiscence. When I see a fragile violet timidly peeking from a cluster of vibrant green leaves, or a yard dotted with yellow dandelion blooms, magically I'm transformed into a flaxen-haired, freckled, barefoot country girl. Once again I am the carefree five year old who played leap-frog with her older brothers, made friends with the birds and butterflies, and liked to eat the wild delicacies Mother found and prepared in the springtime. During the mid-1940's the countryside around our home in Happy Hollow was filled with luscious dandelion greens and tender shoots of poke sallet could be found on the burned-off ditch banks surrounding our fields.

From the front yard of our old homeplace I can clearly "see" Mother as she emerges through the screen door. Her face flushed from the intense heat of the Warm Morning stove where she has been laboring all morning. First, there was breakfast to cook and dishes to wash; now, she must have dinner ready by twelve noon. Under her left arm is a blue and white granite dishpan containing a butcher knife. She is dressed in a faded blue and white checked, gingham dress covered with an apron made from white flour sacks. She grabs an old, patched brown bonnet from its resting place on a rusty nail just inside the door. Mother told me that the bonnet originally belonged to Grandma Mary Bullard who had been badly burned as a young woman. Her black hair had been completely singed to the scalp, and until her death, she would not be seen without her bonnet. This story soon passed from my mind as I wondered where Mother was going.

As mother walked across the rough-hewn planks of the front porch, I asked her where she was going. In the background I could hear Ernest Tubbs singing, "I'm walkin' the floor over you..." My sister Florine sang along as his voice "twanged" from our battery-operated radio.

As her eyes surveyed the yard's edge and the wooded area across the road by the hog lot, Mother told me that she was going to get us a mess of fresh sallet greens for dinner. I eagerly asked her if I could go as I jumped up and down causing little whirlwinds of dust to burst from between my bare toes. She told me I could help her find the dandelion greens, but I must hurry because Papa and my brothers would be home for dinner in a "shake of a lamb's tail." I begged Mother to let me take Baby Snooks, my pet Banty hen who was scratching contentedly nearby.

Clutching Snooks securely I followed Mother across the front yard which was scraped clean of grass and weeds, because back then respectable people didn't allow grass to grow in front of their homes. That was a sign of laziness. I skipped along behind Mother down the high steps that had been dug out in the red clay bank and covered with wide planks secured with wooden stobs. As we walked down the gravel road Mother named the untouchable weeds such as poison ivy, stinging nettle and cow itch vine. She pointed out the beautiful flowering plants with unusual names like Johnny-jump-up, sweet William and black-eyed Susan.

The brilliant pink blooms of the wild rose looked as pretty as they smelled. The entire hillside seemed to be engulfed in their fragrance as they blossomed proudly along the red clay roadside. The wild roses were especially abundant just below our house on the left side of the road where they nearly filled a deep gully and climbed over the russet banks outshining all other vegetation in the area. There the fragrant plants bloomed profusely around my playhouse under a scraggly pine tree. The roses were my "pretend" flower garden. Quickly I learned that they were flowers to look at but not touch because the prickly stems were too thorny to put in my Mason jar bouquet with other wild flowers.

We were near the hog lot when Mother pointed toward a vibrant patch of green as she took the butcher knife from its resting place inside the dishpan. While she cut the tender dandelion leaves, she asked me if I knew how dandelion got its name. As I looked questioningly at her, she went on the leaves that did, indeed, resemble a lion's tooth, at least to the imaginative eyes of a child. A sticky, white fluid oozed from the cut end of the leaves. My inquisitive nature led me to ask Mother about the dandelion's milk. She quickly explained that was where all the vitamins were stored. The juicy greens would help one to grow strong, but I shouldn't eat too much, especially at suppertime, because they might cause me to wet the bed. I thought that my Mother was the smartest woman in the whole, wide world and that she knew everything. That was the "teacher" in her. Her father Sam Littlejohn was a school teacher and I guess she inherited this trait from him.

After the dishpan was filled with greens, we went back to the house and set the pan down by the well on the front porch. Mother drew a bucket of cool water and poured it over the dandelions. I put Snooks down to scratch with the other chickens and followed Mother to the garden at the foot of the hill below the house. (Today, our old garden site is Ruth and Hershel McDuffey's front yard). She gathered some mustard greens and a few green onions to mix with the dandelions.

As we came back into our yard, we walked underneath the bird boxes which Papa had built and erected on tall wooden poles. The purple martins who had claimed these boxes for homes darted down at us as we approached their territory. Screaming and swatting at the ferocious birds, I headed for the front porch. After mother washed and dried the dandelions, mustard and onions, she took our morning's harvest inside to the kitchen where she quickly chopped them into a salad.

As I sat on the bench behind the table covered with red and white checked oil cloth, I closely observed Mother as she fried strips of fatback until they were brown and crisp. All the while she was happily singing,

"Amazing grace, how sweet the sound..." That was her favorite song and to this day I cannot hear that song without crying. My tears are not tears of sadness but tears of happy remembrances of my Mother and her goodness, not only to her children, but to all her friends and neighbors. When all the bacon was fried, Mother crumbled it, "accidentally" dropping a piece on the table for me to sample, and sprinkled it over the greens. She pushed the iron skillet of grease drippings to the back of the cook stove to keep them hot to pour over the dandelion sallet immediately before serving.

Soon our large family was sitting around the dinner table laden with a delectable array of steaming pinto beans seasoned with fatback, a crusty pone of yellow cornbread, a bowl of fresh-churned butter, a gallon jug of buttermilk, and a tasty wilted sallet of dandelion greens smothered in hot grease.

Mother's wonderful cooking skills is still remembered by all who was fortunate enough to have sampled a taste of them. A few years back, I visited my first cousin Strawberry Arnold at North Crossroads. He was terminally ill with cancer. He said he would give anything to have a bowl of dandelion greens like Aunt Irene fixed them. I came back home and tried to find some young dandelions but they were all too tough to make into a salad. I bought some spinach and prepared it the way Mother did the dandelions. I took it to Strawberry. His wife Betty said he really enjoyed eating it.

Today, it has been 28 springtimes since I tasted my precious Mother's cooking. I think I'll go out and find some dandelions!

Yesterday, I received a letter from one of my double cousins Billie Bonds who lives in the Hubbard-Salem Community. She is preparing a story on the Hog College that used to exist in that area of the county. I never heard of it before but it sounds very interesting.

Mississippi House of Representatives News by State Rep. Ricky A. Cummings—District 1

Laws dealing with issues concerning our young people, domestic violence, the death penalty, highway work zones, frivolous lawsuits brought by inmates and toughening bad check penalties were all passed during the 1998 Legislative session.

The following is an overview of some of these laws:

One issue concerning our young people is teenage pregnancy, a major crisis in Mississippi. The state leads the nation in the number of children born out of wedlock. The legislature voted to make it the crime of statutory rape if someone of 17 years of age or older has sexual relations with another person of at least 14 years old, but under 16. Also, anyone who has sex with a child under the age of 14 can be convicted of statutory rape.

Additionally, a task force composed of several state leaders, including the governor and two appointees of House Speaker Tim Ford, was created to study the overall problem of teenage pregnancy.

Another of the important bills we passed was one to allow a private company to construct a juvenile correction facility in Walnut Grove in Leake County. For too long, youthful offenders have had to share prison space with older, hardened criminals. This proposed facility will alleviate that, and others are planned if they become necessary.

We also authorized construction of a prison to be built in Tallahatchie County. A private company will contract with the state to hold its prisoners, and also will be able to attract out-of-state prisoners and federal inmates. The project is viewed as a major economic development tool for Tallahatchie County, which has an unemployment rate above 17 percent.

Another new law makes domestic violence a crime. Cases of this type have skyrocketed in recent years and we passed this legislation in hopes of deterring it.

One of the most important bills we passed was one to require the use of safety seats and seat belts by children of a certain age, regardless of what seat in which they were riding. The law includes enhanced fines for drivers who do not require children to use the safety devices. An average of 27 Mississippi children under the age of 8 lose their lives annually in automobile accidents, and more than 1,000 are injured. Out seat belt usage is the lowest in the country. We hope that by passage of this law, many young lives will be saved.

Another issue concerning young people was tackled by the legislature. A bill was passed which would lower the legal blood alcohol content for minors from .08 percent to .02 percent, in effect providing for "zero tolerance" for kids driving while intoxicated. This, too, will hopefully save the lives of many of Mississippi's youth.

The way in which the death penalty is carried out was changed by a recent bill. Death sentences will now be carried out by lethal injection and will occur at 6 p.m. rather than at the traditional time of midnight.

We proposed a study to develop a public defender system for the state. Some say it will speed up death penalty sentences. Mississippi last executed a Death Row inmate in 1989.

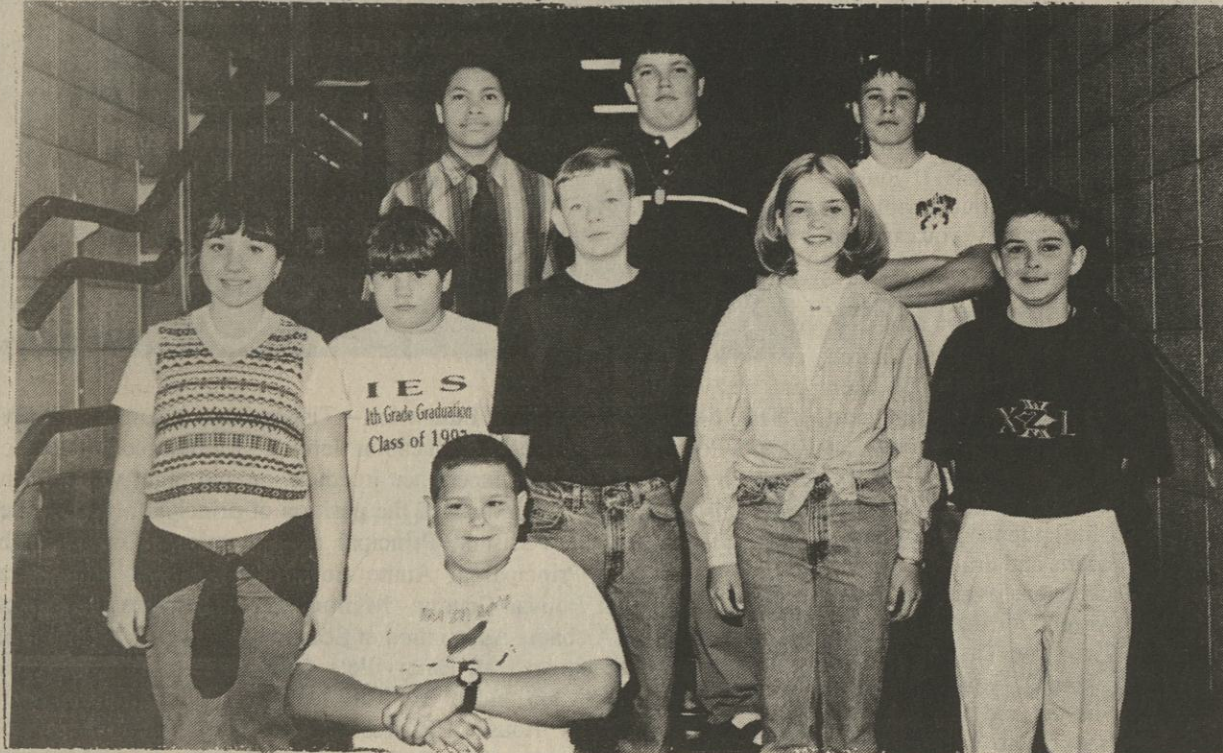

Also passed was "Child Law," named for one of the students killed in the tragic High School shootings last October. This law would revise murder laws for killings occurring on school property.

In other matters, we made a crime to fraudulently use distribute identification cards.

We also enhanced penalties for speeding in highway work zones. Tragically, a highway worker recently died after being hit by a car speeding through work area. This is something we do not want to see repeated.

Other legislation was passed which will stop some of the frivolous lawsuits filed by inmates.

During this session, I was able to introduce a bill which would toughen up penalties for writing bad checks after an individual closes his or her bank account. This bill was passed and is now law.

Tishomingo State Park Helps Host The Tishomingo Athletic Banquet

The Tishomingo State Park helps host the 1997-98 Athletic Banquet. The guest speaker for the night was Lamont Woodberry from Mississippi State University a Senior and also the Wide receiver for the MSU Bulldogs. Shaunta Ballard from Northeast Junior College a Freshman and the Wing player for the Northeast Tigers. Sylvia Powell from Tishomingo plays at Northeast Junior College a Freshman and she also plays for the Lady Tigers. Rodney Alexander also from Tishomingo attends college at Mississippi State University an Engineer Major. A surprise visitor was a player from Northeast Junior College, Junior, Tim Cole, a point Guard for the Northeast Tigers. Also Coach Mike Lewis from Northeast Junior College made an appearance. It was an unforgettable night.

The program started at 6:30, the prayer was given by Mr. Steve Parrish of Tishomingo. The Tishomingo State Park served a wonderful meal. After the refreshments the Athletic Booster President Mr. Dale Cagle of Tishomingo started the program off with Tishomingo Middle School Principal Dr. Danny McClung of Tishomingo gave an enlightened talk to all.

Lamont Woodberry from Florida, told how he hurt his leg and was not able to play for awhile. Then realizing he needed something to always be there to fall back on. Grades and school are the one thing that kept him going. Now he has a football career and also a major. School is one thing he told that you will be glad you put your all into. Because it will pay off.

Sylvia Powell from Tishomingo, graduated from Tishomingo County in 1997 then went on to attend Northeast in the fall. She gave an interesting talk on the importance of school work also having the right attitude for family and friends and of course "sports". Sylvia also made the statement to make sure a person has an education in case you were to get hurt you would have something to fall back on sports is not a guaranteed future.

Shaunta Ballard from Jackson, Tennessee, said his speech was not as good as Sylvia's but it sure was straight to the point to be sure you pay attention to what was going on around you, and to be sure you attend classes and also be sure to keep an open mind about things, and if you don't understand something be sure to ask someone that's what a teacher is there for wanting to see your mind grow.

Rodney Alexander from Tishomingo knows what studying is all about. His talk was about you can excel in studies as well in sports, to know you have a career in something that gives you satisfaction of knowing you have earned a career and will always have something to lean on if he were to choose to go into sports. As he said there is nothing wrong in playing sports of any kind, but if you don't make the grade you will not be playing any game.

Tim Cole from Memphis,

Tennessee was a real smooth talker he let all the kids know that their parents were young at one time too, their hair has not always been short it was long too at one point and time. They know and understand what is going on around them the peer pressure of the fellow classmates and also they want to help make things a lot easier for them. He also told the kids when things start getting a little rough and don't know where to turn you can always depend on

God. "That there is two people that will always be there Parents and God. He said to take a few minutes and give your parents a chance to help. Put God first and everything else will fall into place. Because you are our Future men and women of tomorrow.

Nancy Martin of Tishomingo the Cheerleader Sponsor gave out the 97-98 Trophy's for the cheerleaders, said that she had enjoyed having the girls this year and that she was looking forward to next year. Thanks to all that have made this year a great one.

Coach Anthony (Rock) Stone was also there he said that there was nothing else that could be said only that he was glad to have had the pleasure of teaching these fine young men and women. He gave out the Trophy's and Memory year books to all the young athletic of the 1997-98. Mr. Gary Bostick of Tishomingo had music set up for the evening. They received a night of dancing and just glad to be together for one more event. I want to give a special thanks to Mrs. Mickie Gattlin of Tishomingo for all the help on our memory books, and also to Lesa Fuggitt, of Paden for the beautiful decoration she did at the Tishomingo State Park Lodge. Also to the park manager Mr. Bill Brecken for all the assistance he gave and also the cooks. We would like to also say Thank-you to Dale Cagle (president), Lanelle Young (vice-president) Carolyn Parrish (sec-Treas) Shirl Butler (reporter) Sharon Bostick (comm. chrp).

Also a special thanks to Tishomingo Middle School Secretary Geneva Ware of Tishomingo and also Coach Charles Black of Tishomingo. GO DAWGS.

JOASH HAS STRUCK THE GROUND WITH HIS ARROWS AS ELISHA INSTRUCTED, BUT ONLY THREE TIMES... ELISHA'S LAST ACT!

NAY NOW!

WHY DIDST THOU STRIKE ONLY THREE TIMES?

HAD THOU SMITTEN THE GROUND SIX TIMES, THOU WOULDST HAVE SMITTEN SYRIA TILL THOU HADST CONSUMED IT!

NOW THOU SHALT DEFEAT SYRIA ONLY THREE TIMES!

AND SYRIA SHALL RISE AGAIN AGAINST ISRAEL!

AND SO JOASH, WHO COULD HAVE GONE DOWN IN HISTORY AS THE KING WHO ENDED THE SYRIAN DOMINANCE OVER ISRAEL, FAILS BECAUSE OF HIS LACK OF CONCERN IN DOING PROPERLY, THE THINGS THE PROPHETS ADVISED HIM TO DO - ALL OF WHICH IS RECORDED IN I KINGS AND II CHRONICLES.

Lord Give Me Something To Do

I got up this morning feeling good.
Just trying to do the best I could
When all at once old Satan come
And placed his snares upon my brain.
I asked the Lord to take him away
Away from me, that He might stay
And then I heard my Saviour say
I'll be with you all the way.
But it is up to you from day to day
I said, Lord what would you have me do?
He said there are people in the nursing home who need you.
I went to the home and to my surprise
Everyone there had a great big smile
I hugged some necks and kissed them too
There I knew I had something to do.
I read the Bible, and said a prayer
Then I saw how very much they cared.
The blessings I have received are too numerous to count
I pray Lord you will never leave me out
When I started to leave, they squeezed my hand.
I said, Lord let me come back again.
Lord, give me grace that I might see,
Just what you have in store for me.
Where you said go, Lord I went
And every moment has been well spent.
And now that I am eighty-two,
Lord I know you still have something for me to do.

My Dad

My dad was always so caring and loving,
He loved life, he lived it to the fullest.
He didn't care if you were a stranger or not,
He liked you.

My dad always made you seem like you were important.
He liked you for who you were and not what you could've been.

That's why my dad was one of a kind.

No one could and never will replace him.

That's what made my dad so special.

I do believe that a little bit of him lives in everyone
That he came in contact with.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on lotion form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Use only as directed.

In Memory of Thurman Randolph Whose Birthday is April 26, 1914

Written by Eddy Randolph

When you feel the midnight of your life is crashing down at noon,
And the songs you sang of life and love
have ended much too soon.
When your back is pressed against despair as the hounds of fate rush in
And when no one seems to know, or care and you're all along, again
When your desperate silent cry for help is met with vacant stares;
There is still someone who understands,
God loves you, and He cares
And so does Daddy.

Cortney's Community Chats By Cortney Compton

This week I want to share with you a poem from a very talented young lady named Alison Faye Wenzel. Her poem really touched my heart. I hope it affects you in a similar way.

I Am Who I Am

As part of our society,
We are to always look our best.
Only the beautiful and the thin are expected,
But what about the rest?
We forget everyone has feelings,
And every human has a heart.
We forget all need attention,
And every soul to be a part.

Who is to say what is good or evil,
What is wrong or what is right?
Who is to say that down is not up,
That black is not white?
Should the world tell me to crawl lower,

Listening to Mississippians

I can always count on my travels throughout Mississippi to give me not only a break from the Washington scene, but a refreshing perspective on the way government should function, and how it should relate to the hard-working people who make our nation tick. My time in the state during the Senate's recent recess is a good example of this positive reinforcement. In the coming months will work to make sure the good suggestions I heard will become much more than simply theory, but real policy for real people.

I attended a number of Mississippi events, listening to a variety of professionals, from small business owners to realtors, district attorneys, Boy Scouts executives and citizens in Centerville. They were a good cross-section of Mississippians who gave me face-to-face feedback on how the bold tax policies of a new Congressional leadership are benefiting our local and national economies. They know tax cuts are a good thing, and wasted no time telling me even more sweeping changes are needed for our tax system. Input from those community leaders indicated new initiatives like capital gains tax cuts, the $500,000 exemption on home sales and the Roth IRA are not only market stimulators, but proof that the Senate leadership is headed down the right road.

However, the journey is far from over. There are growing concerns about the educational system, violence and stifling government mandates. I hear these concerns loud and clear. In fact, the Senate is currently taking on the education issue by considering the Coverdell A+ accounts measure. This bill will allow parents to set up special tax-sheltered accounts for their child's public, or private education. The financial independence provided to families in this bill will go a long way toward addressing those educational concerns expressed to me.

Violence in schools, and on the streets, is also being seriously pondered in the Senate. I believe our current juvenile justice system should be scrapped and replaced with one that can stand toe-to-toe with the violent nature of today's juvenile crime. The current system is simply out of its league. It first protects the violent offender's chances of rehabilitation, while putting justice second. The system's priorities need to be reversed in order to minimize violent acts.

Government mandates are also finally being questioned in Washington. Probably the most encompassing mandate is our cumbersome 40,000 page tax code. We often forget, and some people many not even know, that our nation exists without an income tax until the early years of this century. Based on what I have heard, people in Mississippi want, and deserve, to again be free of excessive and intrusive taxation. For example, after speaking to a group on the Gulf Coast April 14, I conducted an informal vote asking those gathered which tax they preferred: consumption taxes, like those on sales, or the flat income tax, in which everyone would pay the same percentage of income.

They choose the consumption tax by a 34-to-16 margin. Obviously, the overwhelming two-to-one endorsement of the consumption tax carried no off-weight like decisions on Capitol Hill, but my colleagues in the Senate should note.

It was the reason for this informal vote's outcome which I found to be most interesting. This group did not choose the consumption tax because of its fairness, but because it would put the Internal Revenue Service out of business. No consumption taxes as the primary financing mechanism for government, the IRS would be obsolete. Taxes would be paid immediately as we consume goods and services. There would be no more tax forms, tax deadlines, or IRS audits. This something to think about, especially since we are seeing evidence that some IRS are abusing their power.

Only time will tell if the IRS will be abolished, but I am glad we are talking about it in Mississippi. I will work toward bringing this dialogue to Washington as well. (4/20/98)

The FBLA Chapter will be leaving the Vo-Tech Center at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, April 22nd and will arrive back in Tishomingo at approximately 6:30 p.m. on Friday, April 24th.

Two chaperones and eight students will be attending, including winners from District Competition and two students who served as chairperson of chapter events. Club President Mandy Todd will be competing in Ms. FBLA, Treasurer Elizabeth Grisham will be competing in Machine Transcription and will also represent the Community Service Project, and Parliamentarian Valerie Barnes will host our Local Chapter Annual Business Report.

The Community Service Project, led by club-member Elizabeth Grisham won first place at the '97 State Conference. Therefore, it is hopeful for similar results this year. This year's Community Service Project was to help at least three "angels" off the Angel Trees in Tishomingo County during the Christmas season. The Future Business Leaders of America far succeeded this goal by sponsoring nine "angels" from the Tishomingo County area. Congratulations!

Valerie Barnes was

Chairperson of the Local Chapter Annual Business Report for the '97-'98 school year. This is approximately a 30-page report that summarizes all the activities the FBLA has participated in throughout the year. This report was written by Heather South last year and received 5th place at the State Conference.

This will be a busy week for the Tishomingo County Vo-Tech FBLA, so wish us luck as we travel to and from Jackson and as we participate in the activities. The Future Business Leaders of America is an important organization for anyone interested in the business world and who is looking to be successful in such an environment.

FLASHPOINT

A WEEKLY LOOK AT THE IUKA FIRE DEPARTMENT

It is 2:00 in the morning and you are awakened by the sound of your smoke alarm. Your sleep-induced stupor quickly fades as you realize what the sound means. Your house is on fire. After a frantic call to 911, you are outside, wringing your hands and fervently wishing the fire department would arrive. But you wait, it seems, for an eternity. Flames are now visible at the back of the house and heavy smoke is pouring through the gable vents.

You are joined in your heart-pounding vigil by a police officer and a passer-by. Two or three volunteer firefighters come skidding into the drive, but they are powerless without their apparatus, which is on its way. The fire department is not a mile away, but it is an all-volunteer department. Someone had to receive the call, get out of bed, get dressed and then drive to the station to respond with the truck. All this is taking valuable time, but that's the way it has to be. You live in a small town lacking the funds to hire a full-time crew.

You are sleeping soundly when the tone on your fire radio goes off. Any tone wakes you up, but this is the one that summons your volunteer department. You are wide-awake in seconds, grabbing anything you can find to wear, running out the door to your car. You are the volunteer closest in proximity to the fire department, so you radio the others and tell them you are going to get the fire truck. Another volunteer arrives at the department just as you do, and he leaves before you in the mini-pumper.

When you arrive on the scene, the mini-pumper has already been emptied of the 320 gallons it holds. The house is rapidly being engulfed, with smoke billowing from the windows and doors and flames flickering above the roofline. The closest fire hydrant is several hundred yards away. You drive the truck to the hydrant, and after attaching a hose, drive slowly back to the fire scene, laying a line. You can't help but think that the house might have been saved if only you could've been here sooner.

The above scenario is based on a real incident, and it is not at all uncommon. Ninety-nine percent of fire departments in Tishomingo County are volunteer departments. Small cities and towns simply do not have the budget needed to hire full-time firefighters. Volunteers bear the burden of fire protection in these areas. They are dedicated and hardworking, doing their best with what they have to work with. Many times they are over-worked and under-appreciated, but they continue to give of their time and energy to the communities they serve. The next time you see a volunteer firefighter, tell him or her that you appreciate all they do — it might just make their day.

Thank You

Snake or Lizard? ...

Herbert Cox of Cherokee, Ala. was walking along a bottom, off Buddy Durham Road by Bear Creek, Monday morning, April 13, when he notices an unusual looking creature coming out of the weeds. Mr. Cox said he was not sure if it was a snake or a lizard. He explained that when it crawled down into the pathway where he was walking, he killed it with his walking stick. "I had never seen anything like this before," Cox explained. A conservationist later identified the creature as a leg-less glass lizard. It was about 2 ft. long, with a pointed head and a thick, leathery skin. It was mainly brown in color, with blocks of black and white arranged symmetrically down the length of its body.
