Juveniles Arrested For Vandalism At Iuka Girl's Softball Park

by Angela Lambert

Three juveniles have been arrested by county authorities in connection with the vandalism of a local ballpark.

Tishomingo County Sheriff David Smith reported that a window was broken out leading into the concession stand and a porta-john was overturned at the Iuka girls softball field late on Friday night, July 10 or early Saturday morning, July 11.

After investigating the incident, the Sheriff received information leading to the arrest of a 17-year-old and two 16-year-old males from Burnsville.

The juveniles were arrested July 16. Two of them were taken to the juvenile detention center in Corinth. The other juvenile was released into the custody of his parents.

Tishomingo County Investigator Steve Vatalaro said that the teens may also be linked with the theft and destruction of 35 to 50 bags of ice from the softball field and with vandalism of the bathrooms at the Burnsville Boat Ramp.

Washed Out—This bridge, located on Rock Crusher Road in Tishomingo County's Third District, was washed out by swift waters during heavy rains in May. The residents and those who work on the east side of the bridge have had to find alternate routes—many through Alabama—in order to get to town, work and church. A bid was accepted this week to repair the damaged roadway; however, it may be over a month before traffic can again travel across the bridge.

Supervisors Award Bid For Rock Crusher Road Project

by Angela Lambert

A bridge on Rock Crusher Road in Tishomingo County's third district which was washed out in early May is closer to getting the repairs it needs after the Tishomingo County Board of Supervisors awarded a bid Monday to a Faulkner Mississippi company.

The Gray Corporation has been selected as the low bidder for roadway repairs with a bid of $96,906.86.

Others bidding on the project were the Bonds Company of Burnsville, Harris Millwright and Construction of Nettleton, Hayes Company of Tupelo and Trax Company of Iuka.

The project will be funded by State Aid road department, according to District Engineer Charles Shelton. This money allocated to Tishomingo County for repairs is from gas taxes, Shelton confirmed.

The project can not be completed for approximately five weeks because of the time it will take for the 12 ft. x 8 ft. precast concrete box culvert to be manufactured by Choctaw, Inc.

When questioned about why the project was not completed earlier, the members of the Board of Supervisors said that those questions would have to be answered by third district supervisor Danny Ryan who was out of town at the time of Monday's meeting.

Representatives from the Hoover Company, a rock quarry located on Rock Crusher Road, were on hand for the opening of the bids Monday. One of the men explained that they wanted to attend the meeting to find out when the roadway will be repaired.

The trucks which haul rocks from Hoover have had to take a new route since May which includes crossing over into Alabama. This adds an extra 10 miles to each trip they make to the quarry each day. Also, many of the drivers had to purchase Alabama stickers in order to go the new route which is an extra out-of-pocket expense for the drivers. The spokesman said that about 99 percent of the loads out of the quarry go back into Mississippi.

The men also commented on the dangerous curves and hills the trucks have to travel on the state line road.

Several residents who live on the road also have to travel the extra distance to get to town and some, to their churches which are only a short distance on the other side of the washed out bridge.

Ladies Quilting Fair at Tishomingo Baptist August 13

Special Guest Linda Roy, of Corinth, Won 1st Place at 1998 American Quilter's Society Show in Paducah, KY

Do you have a special quilt that your grandmother, or great-grandmother made? Or maybe you have one that is special to you for some other reason; maybe it has a special history, or was made to celebrate your wedding or birth.

August 13th you have an opportunity to share that interesting quilt with ladies from all over the county at the Ladies Quilting Fair at Tishomingo Baptist Church.

The ladies of the Women's Enrichment Ministry of Tishomingo Baptist invite all ladies with an interest in quilting - whether you are an experienced quilter, or someone who just has an interest in looking at pretty quilts - to this special night when we will celebrate the art of quilting.

We will have a demonstration by Mrs. Johnnie Hopkins, of Tishomingo, who has been quilting for 20 years, and who specializes in applique quilts. She will be displaying some of her award-winning quilts, two of which have received the grand prize at the Tishomingo Co. Fair.

Our special guest speaker will be Linda Roy, a Corinth quilter who recently captured first place in applique professional category at the 14th Annual American Quilter's Society Show and Contest in Paducah. She will be showing and describing some of her beautiful quilts.

Ladies are encouraged to bring a favorite quilt or two for display the night of the fair. You don't have to have made the quilt to bring it! Almost every quilt, we have found, has an interesting history, whether it concerns its maker(s), or the time period it was made in - or maybe it was made from dress scraps of family members.

The evening will begin at 6 p.m., and light refreshments will be offered. Admission is open to any lady, and you need not be displaying a quilt.

Quilt entry is free, but please call 438-7289 or 438-6634 by August 11th to let us know how many quilts you will be bringing. Complete a registration form (below) for each quilt, please.

All quilts must be at the church by 6 p.m. August 13th, and the owners will retain responsibility for them.

Recipe of the Week

TWO OLD FAVORITES COMBINE IN SUMMER SQUASH AND CORNBREAD CASSEROLE

Nothing says summer in the South like a good old squash casserole made with baby-smooth yellow summer squash and sautéed onions. "Instead of serving cornbread on the side, why not bake it right on top of the squash," says Martha White® baking expert Linda Carman. A plateful of Summer Squash and Cornbread Casserole, fresh green beans seasoned with country ham and sliced ripe tomatoes make for a great summer supper.

SUMMER SQUASH AND CORNBREAD CASSEROLE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 large sweet onion, cut into thin wedges
2 lbs. yellow summer squash, cut into 1/4-inch slices (about 8 cups)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper

1 (6 oz.) pkg. Martha White Cotton Pickin' Cornbread Mix or Martha White Buttermilk Cornbread Mix
2/3 cup milk
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Grease 2-quart baking dish.

In large skillet, melt butter over medium high heat. Add onion and cook until translucent. Add squash, salt and pepper; cover, reduce heat and cook until squash is tender, about 15 minutes. Remove lid; mash squash gently with fork to break up large pieces. Continue cooking, uncovered, until slightly thickened and creamy, about 5 minutes.

Pour squash into greased baking dish. In medium mixing bowl, combine cornbread mix, milk and cheese. Stir until blended. Spoon batter around edge of baking dish.

Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes or until golden brown. Allow to stand 5 minutes before serving.
6 to 8 servings, the Lee County Agricenter at Verona on August 11, 1998 from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Covered wagon tours will take you to field sites to see cotton production, corn production, soybean production, and new tours this year will be ornamental plant production and vegetable production. There will be educational and commercial exhibits in the main building. It will be fun for the whole family and it's FREE. Call me at 423-7016 for more information.

Letter To The Editor

The captain under the soulful canine eyes in the picture read, "Can You Help Me find My Best Friend?" The goodness of the human spirit is alive and well in Iuka, Mississippi! Because of the ad published in your paper last Thursday, July 23, 1998 and the tender heart of a nameless individual, a beloved friend and companion returns home.

When our Dalmatian, Callie-Ann, disappeared from our yard last Wednesday, I knew our only hope for her return would be to place an ad in the Tishomingo County News. We had searched our neighborhood to no avail, and our answering machine remained strangely silent, containing no message concerning a "Dalmatian sighting." Our plea for the safe return of our family friend would depend upon your readers. Our ad must absolutely contain an appeal that would "get to the heart" of whomever had taken her.

It is very evident to my family and me that there is goodness in even the hardest of hearts concerning "Man's Best Friend." Some unknown person looked into the eyes of Callie-Ann and her best friend Penny as he or she read our ad in your paper, searched deep inside his or her conscience, and safely returned Callie-Ann to our yard less than twenty-four hours after delivery of the paper.

Through this avenue of print, I send a sincere and heartfelt "thank you" to the person who brought our dog safely back home to us. I also send an admonition to those who are tempted to take a member of someone's family away from the companions whom they are loyal to love and protect. Please remember Callie-Ann and the soulful eyes of her best buddy. "Can You Help Me Find My Best Friend?"

Sincerely yours,
Danette Enlow

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. Phillip Gray OPTOMETRIST

Farsightedness

Farsightedness is a type of vision in which seeing is clearer at far distances than at near. When the eye is relaxed, the combined powers of its optical elements are not enough to bring things into focus. The person who is farsighted must maintain a focusing effort to keep things clear when focusing either near or far. This focusing effort frequently causes fatigue and discomfort. Do not assume that farsightedness simply means clear distance vision and blurred near vision. Symptoms of farsightedness include difficulty in maintaining clear vision while reading, fatigue, headaches, tension, nausea and burning eyes.

In farsightedness, also known as hyperopia, the image of an object falls behind the retina and is therefore out of focus. This can be corrected nicely with eyeglasses containing "plus" lenses which are thicker in the middle than on the edge. They bring the image of an object forward, focusing on the retina. This reduces the focusing effort and results in clear and comfortable vision.

Your Dental Health

Running & Swimming: Bad For Your Teeth?

Unknowingly some fitness-conscious people may be damaging their teeth. Long-distance running tones muscles and raises aerobic endurance, but it can cause dental damage in a roundabout way.

Some runners suck wedges of lemon to prevent the mouth and throat dryness that results from exertion and perspiration. Although the lemon stimulates saliva flow, the acids from it can erode the tooth's protective enamel. The result can be an outbreak of cavities and the need for extensive restorative dental treatment.

Tooth erosion itself can be painful. Often marked by yellow or chalky-white discoloration and a feeling of grittiness, the condition can make teeth sensitive to temperature and pressure.

Individuals who swim their way to fitness in gas-chlorinated pools are at increased risk from "swimmer's tooth." Erosion of dental enamel and other changes in the teeth can occur when water in a swimming pool reaches higher-than-recommended levels of acidity. When the chlorine gas mixes with the pool water, it produces hydrochloric acid, which can destroy enamel. If you use a gas-chlorinated pool often, remind the pool manager that the pH (acidity) level of the water is just as important as the chlorine level. If your teeth feel gritty, chalky or sensitive to hot or cold after swimming, give our office a call.

Home Economics Tips

How Food Preservation Methods Work

Canning is the process in which foods are placed in jars or cans and heated to a Temperature that destroys microorganisms and inactivates enzymes. This heating and later cooling forms a vacuum seal. The vacuum seal prevents other microorganisms from recontaminating the food within a jar or can. High acid foods such as fruits and tomatoes can be processed or "canned" in boiling water, while low acid vegetables and meats must be processed in a pressure canner at 240 degrees F (10 pounds pressure at sea level).

Pickling is another form of canning. Pickled products have an increased acidity that makes it difficult for most bacteria to grow. Pickled products are also heated in jars at boiling temperatures to destroy any other microorganisms present and form a vacuum in the jar.

Jams and Jellies have a very high sugar content. The sugar binds with the liquid present making it difficult for microorganisms to grow. To prevent surface contamination after the product is made and thus possible yeast or mold growth, these are either canned, frozen or refrigerated.

Freezing reduces the temperature of the food so that microorganisms cannot grow, however some may still live. Enzyme activity is slowed down but not stopped during freezing.

Drying removes most of the moisture from foods. Thus microorganisms cannot grow and enzyme action is slowed down. Dried foods should be stored in airtight containers to prevent moisture from rehydrating the products and allowing microbial growth.

(See next week's edition for more valuable information on "food preservation".)

the nomination forms and guidelines. Consignments are due by August 20, 1998 and steers will be shipped to Garden City, Kansas in September or October. If you are interested in this program, please contact me at the Extension Office at 423-7016.

Value Of Forestry In Tishomingo County

I recently received some information from our Extension Forestry Specialists concerning the value of Forestry in our county. The value has been steadily rising for the last ten years. Our most recent figures are from a 1994 survey which showed that timber value reached an all-time high of $12 million. This doesn't even include value added items such as equipment purchases, jobs for local workers, taxes paid to local government, timber for local mills, lumber for local industries such as furniture manufacturers, mobile home plants and home builders. With this much value associated with forestry, it is important to manage our timber resources. If YOU CUT IT, PLANT IT BACK. This will insure that future generations will enjoy our forests the way we have.

Do Something Special In Iuka - Donate Blood

You can make a difference for area hospital patients by rolling up your sleeve and donating blood with United Blood Services at Walmart in Iuka on Friday, July 24. Each day, 75 units of blood are needed in order to keep our commitment to area hospitals. The families of our own friends and neighbors here in Northeast Mississippi are counting on people like you to make sure blood remains available.

United Blood Services will be collecting blood in the Bloodmobile at Walmart from 3:00 until 8:00 on Friday, July 24. "We are asking all healthy donors ages 17 to 80 to give this Friday and help us recover from typically low summertime blood collections" said Lee Norris, UBS spokesperson. "Just last month, faithful Iuka donors provided 23 lifesaving units of blood at our Walmart drive. Since each donation can potentially save four lives, every donation is crucial to area hospitals." This year repeat donors are being thanked with "Score Four for Life in 1998." This program rewards donors giving for a second time in '98 with a special "Score Four" T-Shirt, with more incentives for three and four donations this year. After a fourth donation in 1998, donors are registered for the drawing of a Big Screen TV!

John Glenn - An American Hero

by: Christian Evans

John Glenn

"I see the moon, the moon sees me. God bless the moon and God bless me!" so goes a child's prayer and nursery rhyme I repeated a thousand times with my mother as we gazed upward pointing toward the earth's mysterious nightlight. It is kind of strange how I still say that when I see a full moon even today. The moon, the stars and everything to do with space have always fascinated me. I can remember being four years old and sitting in front of our big brown color Curtis Mathis television set late one July evening. We watched Neil Armstrong leave the capsule of the lunar lander and ease down the ladder to the final step where he said, "One step for man, one giant leap for mankind." He then literally stepped into the pages of history books forever as the first man on the moon.

This was the crowning achievement of a dream that had eluded man since the dawn of time, at least until our century. Though gliders and balloons have existed for some time, sustained mechanical flight was not realized until the Wright brothers flew at Kittyhawk, North Carolina in 1903. Just to fly was a great achievement yet man looked up at the moon and stars ready for the next step, to go there. It took us nearly sixty years more before America sent a man into space.

The Russians launched the first space probe "Sputnik 1" on October 1, 1957. To the horror and humiliation of the United States, this date marked the beginning of the "Space Race" (and we were behind!). There were a number of setbacks for the early American space program but these would ultimately lead us to some of America's greatest shining moments. In 1959, the fledgling National Aeronautics and Space Administration selected seven "Top Gun" test pilots to form the first class of American "ASTRONAUTS".

I can remember the excitement when we turned to the section of our yellow third grade reader to the section on space travel. What would have been science fiction only a few years before was now real science! As we read in Mrs. Wadkins' class about the rockets and astronauts, I became excited! I even read ahead of the lessons. Names and events were engraved in my mind as I read of mankind's greatest adventure. Some of these were Alan Shepherd, John Glenn, Neil Armstrong, Gus Grissom, Deke Slayton, Buzz Aldren and space monkeys Able and Baker, all of these I could not get enough of. We watched Star Trek reruns in the afternoons after school but THIS was the real deal!

I learned my first Greek and Roman mythology with names like Apollo, Gemini, Mercury, Titan and Saturn. I would daydream as the pen I held in my hand became a rocket blasting off my desk. Dad may have missed his pens but he shared my fascination with these dreams. When I was about 10, I recall our group of two families traveling to Huntsville, Alabama to tour the Redstone Arsenal. This national laboratory for developing space technology held a special place of awe for me. Though I had read several books in addition to the reader by that time, I recall the field of rockets, seeing moon rocks and seeing my first "real celebrity", the Space monkey named "Miss Baker" a.k.a. "T.L.C." who was on display daily for over thirty years at the center. I recall getting freeze dried ice-cream like the real astronauts ate. The gift shop fueled my imagination with models from science and science fiction.

We made several trips during those waning years of moon shots to the new era of Skylab and space shuttles. I remember our family going to the space center to see the prototype space shuttle "Enterprise" riding piggyback aboard a 747 for tests and publicity. (I note with the name "Enterprise", also the name of the fictional star ship in the popular sci-fi sixties series, science fiction's Star Trek finally met reality "to boldly go where no man has gone before.")

There were also a couple of trips to Cape Kennedy to tour the launch site for most of the rocket and shuttle liftoffs. (Dad and many others still call it by the original name, Cape Canaveral.) There was a giant rocket mover with track wheels like a tank or bulldozer to move the spacecraft from hangers to the launch pad. I recall the massive launch pads and the huge support towers to hold the ship in place until the man at mission control counted down "Five, four, three, two, one, ignition," (then a brief pause as everyone takes a deep breath recalling the loss of three Apollo astronauts on the pad on January 27, 1967 and later the loss of the Challenger seven almost 19 years to the day later) then a great roar and cheers broke out when the controller announced "... We have liftoff!"

Many Americans became complacent about the space program over the years. The fascination has never completely gone away from those of us who hold these heroes and memories so dear. I was fortunate enough to work in the United States Senate as an intern two summers for Sen. Thad Cochran of Mississippi. There were many evenings after work on the weekend where I would go to the Smithsonian and just look around. I spent hours in the National Air and Space Museum. I marveled at the Wright Brothers' first plane next to "The Spirit of St. Louis". Underneath the hanging planes sat first American in space Allen Shepherd's capsule.

Next to Shepherd's craft was the Mercury capsule in which John Glenn made the first manned orbit around the earth. Nearby were moon rocks and the spacesuit Neil Armstrong wore as he made his historic first moonwalk. Just being in this room should make any true American's heart swell with pride!

It was while running an errand on my job that one of the most memorable moments in my life occurred. I was waiting for an elevator in the Russell Building when a man walked up next to me and pushed the button. I did a double take as I held out my hand. "Mr. Glenn," I stammered, "My name is Chris Evans and I have been an admirer of yours since reading about you in the third grade." He smiled and shook my hand. He asked who I worked for and I told him. We talked about his unsuccessful presidential bid in 1980. I mentioned his stop at the Neshobio County Fair during his stumping days. He smiled, "They said previous winners had set in the rocking chair." It is a political tradition to sit in the old rocker for good luck. "Reagan sat in that old rocker and look at him, Sen. Glenn chuckled, "In hindsight, I wish I had set there."

I ran into Senator Glenn from time to time while I worked in the Senate. Though he could not always recall my name, he did remember me and where I was from. He would simply call to me in those great halls as we spoke, "Hello Mississippi!" and always shake my hand no matter how big of a hurry he was in. I recall asking him about his astronaut days as I had followed him. I don't recall any quotes offhand other than he did tire somewhat of being called "Mr. Right Stuff" after the movie documenting the story of the seven original Mercury astronauts had come out. I told him how I not only admired his courage but his personal convictions. The movie portrayed a scene where Glenn's wife became upset when she was overwhelmed by the paparazzi in the early years of the program. John Glenn stood up to them in the movie and ordered the press to leave his wife alone or they would answer to him! I let him know that I admire any man who protects his wife and family regardless of any potential "Bad Press". In a way, I think I respect him as much if not more for this gallant defense which showed true love for his wife than for his numerous accomplishments in the Space Program and in Congress.

My most memorable meeting with Glenn occurred on a small subway platform while waiting for a ride to the capitol itself. I saw the Senator was in the company of a gentleman so I thought it best to keep quiet. He saw me and said, "Mississippi! Come here a moment!" As he reached to shake my hand he almost whispered, "Mississippi, what is your name again?"

and I quietly told him. He then turned to the man he was with and said, "Neil, I have someone I would like for you to meet. As the man and I shook hands, Senator Glenn introduced us.

"Neil, this is Chris Evans from Mississippi," then he turned to me, "Chris, this is Astronaut Neil Armstrong." In shock I again stammered, "I've admired you since third grade!" then we all laughed. I wonder how many people can say the first man to orbit the earth introduced them to the first man to set foot on the moon? This was not only one of the most exciting moments of my life, it was also an honor and a privilege to be in the presence of two men who were not only my heroes but also America's heroes.

Years later, I received autographed photos from each of these men. I still have them. I met Sally Ride, the first female American astronaut that summer. Though this was a thrill, I can't put it or any other celebrity I have met in the same category with Glenn and Armstrong. (The only two who come close to me were meeting Barry Goldwater and Ray Charles! I'll write about that some other time.)

There is a poem on the wall in an exam room of Dr. Kelly Segars' Clinic. Segars is a Korean war veteran who later became a pilot. The poem is called "Angel Flight". As I read the words recently, I recalled the same poem being read by then President Reagan in a memorial service at Cape Kennedy for the seven astronauts killed in the Challenger disaster in 1986. The final passage reads "... to slip the surly bonds of earth and touch the face of God." When you think about it, we all have this dream in one way or another. Only 508 Americans have been in the American Astronaut program. After Challenger, a number of them were asked if they still wanted to go into space. Every one of them enthusiastically responded "YES!"

Our home of Tishomingo County has been the proposed site of several federal projects, two of which were space affiliated, that never quite got off the ground. These failures parallel those seen in the space program but like the remaining astronauts, the people of Tishomingo County refuse to give up and endeavor to persevere in attracting industry and economic growth to our area. A new facility related to aerospace component products is scheduled to start production soon. Though we have stumbled in our past and fallen let us not use these mistakes to keep from getting up and walking proudly into the future. Let us bravely take a lesson from the astronauts and look to the opportunity we now have and accept this challenge like the astronauts by wholeheartedly welcoming this project with a resounding "YES!"

For over twenty five years after leaving the space program, John Glenn has kept his flight preparedness physicals current. His dream was to go back into space just one more time. His dream is about to come true. The Senator John Glenn once again became Astronaut John Glenn when he was picked last year to fly on a shuttle mission in October 1998. Old friend and colleague Allen Shepherd had told Glenn he wanted to be there to cheer him on. Shepherd passed away on July 21, 1998 the day after the twenty-ninth anniversary of the first moon landing. "I am sure he will be right there with me when I go on the shuttle," Glenn said in a CNN interview upon his friends death. Glenn prepares everyday just as hard as the men and women in the program less than half his age. In 1984, Glenn was awarded the prestigious Harmon Trophy for Excellence in Aviation. He shares this honor with other notable aviators including Charles Lindbergh (1927), Howard Hughes (1936 & 1938) and Iuka native Henry T. "Dick" Merrill who won the international award in 1937.

When President Kennedy challenged Americans to land a man on the moon in his inauguration speech in 1960, he said, "... We do not strive to do these things because they are easy, we do them because they are hard." At 77, John Glenn is the oldest astronaut on record. As Shepherd passes to the ages, his spirit and those of all others who have bravely gone into the new frontier ride with the real rocketman, John Glenn. We who have been touched by his courage and service to his nation gratefully send our cheers and prayers into space with Astronaut John Glenn on this mission. He will always carry our respect and admiration in all he does. Though he is forever recorded in our past, let us again honor the challenge he sets for us today and as we enter the 21st century. From all of us who strive to dream and imagine the possibilities of man's potential, we salute Glenn and those who courageously dare accompany him on this journey to God's speed to a true "American Hero!"

Wilson Family Gathered At Mineral Springs Park For Annual Reunion

The families of this family met Saturday, July 18, 1998 at the Iuka Mineral Springs Park Youth Center for their Thirty Third gathering. The park is still beautiful - as always. Family members that attended this year come as far away as Fort Lauderdale, Florida, Kenoisha, Wisconsin, Memphis, TN, Pontiac, MI and several parts of MS. What a lovely day it was for this reunion.

Everyone had a good time talking, laughing, hugging, kissing and enjoying each other and reminiscence times gone by. Also a lot of picture taking. The highlight of the day was the bountiful table of food each family had brought for us to enjoy at the noon hour.

We all gathered around the table and ask our cousin Bill Watson to give the noon prayer.

Family members present: Lyle, and Elise Pace of Kenoisha, WI; Thomas A. Wilson, Fort Lauderdale, FL; J.C. & Catherine Wilson of Pontiac, MI; Rebron Wilson of Iuka; H.T. Wilson of Tishomingo; Russ, Judy, Marlena and Jodi Robinson of Iuka; Cecil Phillips of Glen,

Scholarships Offered By Iuka Businessman

by Angela Lambert

Two area residents who would not have been able to attend college this year will now be able to go thanks to scholarships sponsored by an Iuka businessman.

John Bates, owner of Page Motors in Iuka, said he will offer two scholarships to Northeast Mississippi Community College in Booneville to two Tishomingo County residents beginning this fall. The scholarships will cover full-time tuition and books.

Criteria for applying for the scholarships include financial need and a sincere desire to improve their lives through education. A letter must be written by applicants to Bates explaining why they need the scholarship.

Bates will select the scholarship recipients from the letters he receives and award the scholarships in time for the upcoming fall semester. He said he wants to ensure that the scholarships go to students who maybe do not qualify for other financial aid, such as pell grants, and who do not have other scholarships, but who want the opportunity to go to college. He wants to catch the "kids who sometimes fall through the cracks"—they have the desire and ability, but not the resources to attend college.

Bates said he would also like to challenge other business owners and community leaders to sponsor scholarships.

"These kids are the future of Tishomingo County," Bates said. "They will be the ones who will be responsible for bringing in the industries and businesses in the future. If you want a growing, thriving community, you have to educate and train your own people."

Bates also extended a challenge to the young people of the area: "If you are tired of the present conditions in your county, then get involved in the community and take time to vote. That is the only way change can come about."

Anyone interested in applying for the scholarships John Bates is offering may write to him in care of Page Motors, 104 Highway 25, Iuka, MS 38852.

Bates is also trying to garner support from other area businesses and individuals to begin a home for youth in our area who, for whatever reason, do not have anywhere to live.

"I think there is a real need for such a place in this county," Bates said. "If I see we have the support of other businesses and community organizations, I am willing to help attain a house for these youngsters."

For more information on the scholarships or on the home for youth, contact John Bates at Page Motors.

On Tuesday, July 14, directors of The Peoples Holding Company approved a stock repurchase program through which up to 5% (292,973 shares) of the company's 5,859,472 outstanding shares of common stock may be repurchased.

From Your Alderman

To the people of Iuka this is your alderman, George Long, well have been your Alderman for a while over a year now and this is year #2. I would like to let everyone know the aldermen and mayor meet the first Tuesday of each month and everyone is welcome to come to the meeting. I have noticed things going on in Iuka that I know, people know, is wrong and will not speak-up or do anything about it. I would like to remind you, the people of Iuka, that you gave the Aldermen, Mayor, and Chief of Police their job with your vote and if you are not happy with the job that they are doing, you need to let them know the next time you will vote for someone else. The poor and the black in Iuka has the same right as everyone else, but you will have to stand-up, speak-up and demand your right. My brother went to board meetings for eight years before the city would pave the street in his neighborhood. I hope nothing like that ever happens to anyone while I am a member of this board of Alderman.

If you have a problem the first step of action is to call City Hall. If your problem is not taken care of call the Mayor. If you still are not satisfied come to the meeting on the first Tuesday of the month. If the problem is still not resolved you need to keep coming to the meetings until your problem is taken care of.

I would like to thank the people of Iuka for the raise that the Aldermen have received since we were elected. If you don't know about the raise, it's all on record, at City Hall, and anyone can check them.

Your Alderman,
George Long

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx® and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 PGC. ## Sardis Church News By: Ova Reno

How were people saved in the old Testament? The high priest went into the Tabernacle, with the blood of animals and put it on the mercy seat. This was done only once a year. The Bible says the Law was faulty, and so He sent His only Son to take away our sins once and for all. The scapegoat went into the wilderness with all the sins of the children of Israel upon it, so our sins were nailed to the cross with Jesus who took away our sins once and for all. Hebrews 7:12-27. For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by which we draw nigh unto God.

Hebrews 10:10 by which we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once and for all. amen. Central Truth. Receive God's Atonement: Which was Jesus Christ. Devotional: 1 Peter 1:3-9. The Compassionate Christ. Thanksgiving: For the new birth and fourfold inheritance. Verse 5. For preservation unto final salvation. Verse 6. For perfecting of faith through sufferings. Text of lesson: Leviticus 16: 6-9. They brought two goats, one for the priests offerings, the other one was a sin offering for the people. Aaron would put his hands on the goats head and recite all the sins of the people then the goat was led into the wilderness where it stayed until it died. No one was allowed to touch it. This was a symbol of our sins nailed on the cross with Jesus for once and for all. Now not only can we come to Jesus by faith, but we can come at anytime, at any place and as many times as we need to come, our sacrifice 1 Peter 18, 19. Ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as a lamb without spot or blemish. The priests atoned for the sins of the people once a year, but Jesus did it once for all. It is tragic that many people don't want to hear about the blood of Jesus. Many think we emphasize far too much; but without shedding of blood is no remission of sins.

Hebrews 9:22. If you ever hope to be right with God and enter heaven, make sure you have Grace through faith in Jesus, received atonement for your sins. What is faith? Hebrews 11:1 now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Hebrews 10:12. But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins forever, sat down on the right hand of God John 3:16. For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. The life itself is eternal, man's possession of it does not change, it's nature or existence. It is eternal whether man ever gets it or not. It is always eternal through Jesus Christ. There is so much I would like to write that is so good, But if I can some how reach a lost soul and bring them to Christ, it would be worth it all.

Our little lady came back to church Sunday and I learned her name was Alaina, I hope I spelled it right. She is the daughter of Jerry and Betty McCoy, Jerry and Sue brought 3 of their grandchildren and Kathleen brought 3 of her's. Remember God loves you and He isn't but an arms length away from you all the time.

Edward Jones Investment Representative Wins Award for Outstanding First Year

Debbie Arnold, of the financial-services firm Edward Jones, believes you never get a second chance to make a first impression. So she decided to make her first year as a Jones broker a great one. That attitude paid off recently when she won the firm's Ted Jones Prospecting Award.

The coveted award, given to first-year investment representatives who achieve high levels of success, is named after the legendary son of the firm's founder, Ted Jones. He understood the selling of securities to individual investors better than anyone else and actually established the firm's branch-office concept.

Despite the urgings of his father to open offices in large cities, Ted Jones opened the firm's first branch office in rural Mexico, MO. He believed that there were people in rural areas of the country who could not get one-on-one investment information without Jones.

"I'm very proud to receive an award named after Ted Jones," Debbie said. "It is because of him that our office exists, and I believe we are serving an important need here for one-on-one investment information. I plan to do my best to continue meeting that need."

Debbie was one of only three investment representatives to receive the award this year. She received the award at the Jones regional meeting in Panama City, Florida.

John Bachmann, the firm's managing principal, said the award is a strong indicator of a broker's future success.

"We recruit and hire our investment representatives from among the best in the industry, so we expect our brokers to do well," Bachmann said. "But to achieve such success in the first year is outstanding, and I commend Debbie for her performance and dedication."

Edward Jones is the largest financial-services firm in the nation in terms of offices. Plans are under way to expand to 10,000 offices in the next decade. Still, Jones is the only firm that serves individual investors exclusively, offering a variety of investments including certificates of deposit, taxable and tax-free bonds, stocks and mutual funds. The firm traces its roots to 1871 and today serves more than 2.5 million customers.

Don't Seek Investment Advice From Strangers

Provided by:
Debbie Arnold
Call toll free: 1-888-423-9222

Investing is serious business. No one wants to lose hard-earned dollars. Sorting through the multitude of choices, understanding the benefits and risks of each type of investment, deciding which are right for you, and then monitoring their performance — these tasks are not to be taken lightly.

So why do people expect strangers to be able to provide personal financial advice in five minutes or less?

A woman inherited about $25,000 and wanted to invest in mutual funds for the long term. To get the answers to her questions, she called a man giving financial advice on a radio talk show.

The woman asked three reasonable questions:

1. Was the market too high to invest all her money now?
2. Would it be more sensible to dollar cost average, investing her money in installments?
3. Should she put all the money in one fund or spread it among two or more?

The man on the talk show had instant answers. He said the market was not too high, and therefore the woman should not be afraid to invest all her money now. The market could continue upward, making mutual fund shares more expensive later, he said.

As for dollar cost averaging, the man didn't feel it was necessary. He said this systematic form of investing serves two purposes: (1) It makes investors feel more secure to dribble money into the market, and (2) It allows people with small amounts of money to invest.

The man also advised the woman to put all the money in one fund — but if it made her feel better, she could divide the money among a couple of funds she "liked."

This financial specialist knew nothing about the woman's age, years to retirement, financial goals, income needs or other investments. How did he know these were the right answers for her?

His advice not to worry about the height of the market is generally appropriate. No one can predict the best time to invest. More money has been lost by investors who stayed out of the market fearing a downturn than by those who went ahead and invested. Solid companies that earn money and pay dividends have always proved to be good investments over the long term. Most financial professionals agree, the best time to invest is when you have the money.

As for whether the woman should dollar cost average, that is a personal decision. Dollar cost averaging may be appropriate if it would make her feel more comfortable. The woman could avoid a commission with each installment and obtain the discount usually allowed for lump sum deposits by signing a letter of intent with the mutual fund.

Finally, suggesting the woman put all the money in one fund or find a couple "she likes" is chancy. Unfortunately, too many investors "like" the funds showing the biggest gains in recent months. Typically, these funds also carry more risk.

Rather than picking a fund you "like," investigate a variety of funds and choose only those that meet your financial objectives and risk parameters before you even consider investing. Over the long term, mutual funds with a consistent growth pattern often exceed riskier funds with erratic performance. Allocating your money among several of these funds will minimize your risk even further.

Again, these are general principles. There are as many ways to invest as there are individual investors. Don't expect personal answers from the media. We can only convey general guidelines that have proven successful over time. For specific guidance, talk to a competent professional who takes the time to understand your situation and goals.

By: June Bullard

Elmer and Liller McDuffy

Every summer, no matter where I lived, I always made it a point to come home in August for the Littlejohn and Bullard Family Reunions, and to visit relatives on both sides. Even though it has traditionally been the hottest month of the year, it is one of the most beautiful. Most of the "old time" flowers such as marigolds, zinnias, petunias and scarlet sage are in their peak blooming season. In the early mornings, especially on the backroads, one can still see farmhouses with older couples sitting under spreading oak trees. They are busily peeling apples or shelling peas, getting ready for the cold months ahead, while they try to escape the heat under the shade of large trees in the front yards, and wave at passersby.

Back in 1987, on a typical August day, I was driving down Highway 365 between Burnsville and Doskey when I felt a compelling urge to stop and see Liller and Elmer McDuffy. My sister Audrey Gross, who was visiting from Houston, Texas, and I, living in Quincy, Illinois, had met at our brother Denzel Bullard's house on the outskirts of Corinth. We were on our way to visit our first cousins Dutch (Bullard) and James Cole at North Crossroads.

As I turned off the pavement onto a dirt road, which cut through a field in front of Liller and Elmer's farmhouse, Audrey asked me where I was going. In my anticipation of seeing the families of my childhood, I had failed to tell her that we were stopping to see Liller and Elmer. We had arrived quicker than she expected, and her sense of direction was a little distorted because of the new roads. It's strange how roads are shorter, hills are not quite so high, and destination are reached much quicker than they were years ago. Elmer and Liller were our friends from long ago. Liller was our kin, too. Her grandmother was Jimima Bullard Curtis, who was a sister to our Grandpa Ben Bullard, which made us second cousins.

When we drove into the yard, chickens scattered in all directions and a gray-speckled rooster flapped his sturdy wings and crowed loudly to announce our arrival. Liller, in her nightgown and with failing eyesight from old age and diabetes, peered through the patched screen door as we walked up the steps and onto her front porch. As soon as she recognized us, her face creased into a friendly smile and she gave each of us a warm "country" hug. She told Elmer to drag up some chairs under the large beech where we could sit and it would be cooler under the shade. She said that the house was hot because she had just a little while ago finished making apple jelly. She said Elmer was wearing her out by bringing in so much stuff to can or freeze. Every time he came into the house he had an armload of work for her.

Elmer, in his faded overalls and straw hat with a green sun visor on the brim, inspected the metal lawn chairs to make sure they were free of spiders or bird droppings, and asked us to take a seat. Liller, a tall, robust woman, pulled up her apron and wiped perspiration from her lined, sun-browned face. She took a side comb from her hair and gathered up a wisp as she replaced the comb. Liller was a wonderful story-teller and remembered everything she had ever heard or seen, good and bad alike. I asked her to tell some tales about the Bullards as I retrieved my pen and note pad from my shoulder bag.

She smiled, looking pleased as she said, "You don't want to write about stuff I remember? It ain't worth nothing." I assured her that those tales of days gone by were, indeed, worth a great deal to me.

She began with a chuckle, "When I was a young girl about fifteen I went over to Uncle Ben's and Aunt Mary's, your grandpa and grandma. Aunt Mary kept a plug of tobacco in her apron pocket, always carried a pocket knife to cut it with. I went to spend the night. After we had supper, Aunt Mary takes out a plug of tobacco and cuts her off a big chew. Uncle Ben gets up and is stoking the fire in the fireplace. Aunt Mary spits a big mouthful of tobacco juice and hits Uncle Ben right square on his hand. His hand is dripping with the brown, slimy spit, and his face turns red while he wipes his hand in the ashes. I think he wanted to cuss, but he didn't good me. Me and Aunt Mary got us a before laugh out of that one. After supper Aunt Mary and me walked over to Uncle Cal Bullard's place, just a little ways down the road from Uncle Ben's. Uncle Cal was a big, red-faced man with white hair and a mustache. He was a Civil War veteran. He shore didn't have nothing good to say about Yankees. He was awful bad to cuss and Aunt Mary told me to pay no attention. That was the way he was but he don't mean no harm by it. We sat for a spell, and you know, while we was there, Uncle Cal didn't say one dirty word. When we left, Aunt Mary said that was the first time she had been around Cal that he didn't cuss."

Without my asking her any more questions, Liller went on with, "You remember hearing about Dick Morgan? Well, he wasn't no Morgan. Him and Grandpa Bill Curtis was good friends. Grandpa Bill married Jemima and Dick married Rebecca Bullard, your Grandpa Ben's sisters. Well, as the story goes, one day Uncle Dick told Grandpa Bill that he had made up his name. I think it was that he had been out West - maybe Missouri. He says to Grandpa Bill, "I ain't no Morgan. I took that name to hide from the law." We thought he might of been with the James boys - but don't know for sure. He just dropped off in Iuka and stayed and nobody knows where he came from."

Liller was wound up and I didn't say anything, just smiled and nodded. She went on, "From what I heard about my great Grandma Billings, Jemima was her name. She was a rounder. She'd take off on a big horse, riding like a man. One day she took some hen eggs over to Henry Massey's Store, which was on the branch below where Marian Robinson's house is today. She'd take eggs to trade for groceries. After she had took some, she was back in the store one day. Henry Massey tells her that the last eggs she brought him were bad. They had little chickens in them, and for her not to do that no more or he won't take them for trade. Grandma Billings says, "Durn, ye, if'n ye don't shet up, I'll make you pay ME fer them baby chickens."

I could have listened to Liller's stories all day, but it was past lunch time, and my stomach was growling and we had more kinfolk to visit. Liller and Elmer both invited us to eat with them but we kindly declined the offer, since we were there unannounced. Liller said, "I got a pone of cornbread and a mess of new string beans just waiting for us in the kitchen." I knew we were missing a treat because I had tasted her beans before.

After our goodbyes and promises to drop by to see them next year, we drove about two more miles down 365 and turned on 25 and went about another two miles. We stopped at Otha's Country Store. But, much to my delight, there were three or four tables set up in the back of the store and a menu written on a blackboard that read, "Pinto Beans, Onions, Slaw and Cornbread - $1.35." After a hearty meal of beans and all the trimmings, and the reminiscences about relatives and old times, I thought to myself, "This is what Tishomingo County means to me - good food, friends and an extended family who can bring me closer to my beginnings."

I have many other memories of Liller and Elmer. They were wonderful people whom I am proud to call kinfolks. Even though both have passed on, they are still very much alive in my memories and in others who loved them so dearly.

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF TISHOMINGO COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO ISSUE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS IN A MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED SIX MILLION FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($6,400,000) FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING AND EQUIPPING A FACILITY NECESSARY FOR OPERATION OF A PROJECT FOR INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT PURPOSES, AND DIRECTING PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF SUCH INTENTION.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Tishomingo County, Mississippi (the "Governing Body"), acting for and on behalf of Tishomingo County, a political subdivision of the State of Mississippi, hereby finds, determines, adjudicates and declares as follows:

1. The Governing Body, acting under authority of House Bill No. 1050, Chapter 907, of the 1985 Local and Private Laws of the State of Mississippi, (the "Act") heretofore established the Tishomingo County Economic Development Authority (the "Authority") on August 9, 1985.

2. Alliant Techsystems, Inc., ("Alliant") has entered into an agreement with the Boeing Company ("Boeing") under which Alliant is to build certain components for the Boeing Delta IV Composite Structures project, and Alliant proposes to use and operate such manufacturing facility to build such components at Tri-State Commerce Park in Tishomingo County, Mississippi (the "Facility").

3. For Alliant to build such components, it is necessary for the Facility to be equipped with an autoclave measuring 20 feet by 60 feet and other related equipment (the "Autoclave").

4. The Act authorizes the Authority to equip facilities necessary for use and operation of projects for industrial or economic development purposes.

5. Building of components of the Boeing Delta IV Composite Structure project is an "industrial enterprise for the manufacturing, processing or assembling of...products of agriculture, mining or industry," and the Autoclave constitutes a "project" as defined by Section 57-3-5 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 and thus, is within the authority of the Act (the "Project"). Such Project would foster the industrial and economic development of Tishomingo County and is thus for industrial or economic development purposes.

6. Equipping the Facility, with the Autoclave, including without limitation purchase and installation, is necessary and convenient for the planning, development, use and operation of the Project.

7. The Authority, at a duly called meeting held on June 23, 1998, and at which a quorum was present, adopted a resolution requesting, pursuant to the Act, the Governing Body to issue bonds to purchase and install the Autoclave, the principal and interest on which bonds are payable solely out of the revenue derived from leasing of the Project and its facilities or other sale or operation thereof.

8. The contract for acquisition and construction of the Autoclave is to be entered into upon the basis of public bidding pursuant to Section 31-7-1 et seq. of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GOVERNING BODY AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The Governing Body does hereby declare its intention to issue industrial development revenue bonds of the County in the maximum principal amount of Six Million Four Hundred Thousand Dollars ($6,400,000) to raise money for the purpose of acquiring and installing the Autoclave.

SECTION 2. The Governing Body proposes to direct the issuance of said bonds in the amount and for the purpose aforesaid at a meeting of the Governing Body to be held at the Tishomingo County Courthouse on August 17, 1998, at 10:00 a.m., which date so fixed will be not more than seven (7) days after the last publication of this resolution, as directed by Section 3 hereof, and not less than twenty-one (21) days after the first such publication. If a written protest against the issuance of such bonds signed by not less than twenty percent (20%), or two thousand (2,000), whichever is less, of the qualified electors of the County shall be filed on or before August 17, 1998, 10:00 a.m., then an election on the question of the issuance of such bonds shall be called and held as provided by law. If no such protest be filed, then such bonds may be issued without an election on the question of the issuance thereof, at any time within a period of two years after August 17, 1998.

SECTION 3. This resolution shall be published once a week for at least three (3) consecutive weeks in The Tishomingo County News Vidette and Belmont News, a newspaper published and having a general circulation in the County, the first publication to be not less than twenty-one (21) days prior to the date specified in Section 2 hereof and the last publication to be not more than seven (7) days prior to such date.

SECTION 4. The Clerk of the Governing Body shall be and is hereby directed to procure from the publisher of the aforesaid newspaper the customary proof of publication of this resolution and to have the same before the Governing Body on the date and hour specified in Section 2 hereof.

The foregoing Resolution was proposed in a motion by Supervisor Ryan, seconded by Supervisor Sanders and the question was put to a roll call vote as follows:

Supervisor Dale Price	Aye
Supervisor Leon Cook	Aye
Supervisor Danny Ryan	Aye
Supervisor Arlie South	Aye
Supervisor David Sanders	Aye

Whereupon, the resolution having received a majority of affirmative votes, the President of the Board declared that the Resolution had been passed and adopted on this the 20th day of July, 1998.

Cortney's Community Chats

By Cortney Compton

We can do anything for one day!! So, just for today, let us be unafraid of life, unafraid of death, which is the shadow of life, and unafraid to be happy. Give us all the ability to enjoy the beautiful, and to always believe the best.
Because a person who is to be happy must actively enjoy his blessings. This past week I enjoyed the wonders of Maywood Christian Camp. It was a week filled with laughter, happiness, and lots of terrific people yearning to learn more about the Lord. I apologize for not having an article last week, but as I said earlier, I was at camp. For several years, I have attended Maywood Camp as a camper. This year I attended for the 1st time as a counselor for the twelve year old girls. We memorized lots of memory verses, stayed up really late, and shared girl talk to the wee hours of the morning. It was a time to make new friends and reunite with old buddies. Lessons were taught and bible stories read. It seemed the nights got longer as we crawled into bed. But as the week quickly came to an end, we shared a common love for the Lord our Savior and friend. So just for today, forget to be afraid, and only believe the best. And as Maywood Christian Camp always says

"Have A Great Day In The Christian Life!! Until next week

remember, you can do anything for just one day! So start today!
