ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN YEARS

THURSDAY FEBRUARY 13, 2003 NO. 33

Happy Valentine's Day
Friday, February 14th

Little Miss Veronica Harber is surrounded by the many great toys that make Valentine such a joyful celebration for children. Teddy bears with hearts and big red boxes of candy brighten the faces of young ones on this special day of showing love. Veronica and her Aunt Janet enjoyed the day of shopping for cards, teddy bears, and balloons for her many friends and family. She was especially interested in finding just the right gift for her baby sister, Sophia Layne born January 30th. Veronica is the daughter of Amanda and Heath Ham and Benny Harber all of Iuka. Her grandparents are Pam and Jack of Nashville, Linda and I. W. Harber, Gary Williams, Linda Pruitt and the late Wayne Ham, and Joy Eaton. Grandparents are Cleta Gann, Helen Ham, and Reuben Grisham, of Iuka.

Iuka United Methodist Teens Ready To Make A Real Mark For Children In Need

On February 21-22, more than 15 young people from the Iuka United Methodist Church are making a real mark as part of the annual World Vision 30 Hour Famine.

"I heard that 29,000 children die every day from hunger and other problems," says Dee Deeks, age 15. "When I do the 30 Hour Famine, I know I can save the lives of children everywhere."

During the 30 hours, participants learn more about what life is like in other parts of the world where children don't have enough to eat. The students will spend their time learning about world issues and at the same time find ways to help their own community.

Participants ask family, friends, and neighbors to sponsor them with pledges as they go without food for 30 hours to identify with those who are hungry. Through videos, games, special events, and involvement in local community service projects, they learn about hunger and what they can do to help.

The students participating in the Iuka United Methodist Church are planning to gather food and goods for the food pantry in Iuka, and they will also be doing some minor home repair work in the area for those who are unable to do it for themselves. Anyone interested in making a donation to a Famine Participant in World Vision's 30 Hour Famine can contact Kristi Lin at 423-9764.

The funds raised during the 30 Hour Famine will be used for both emergency relief projects and long-term development projects in countries such as Ethiopia, Peru, and the United States to help break the cycle of hunger and poverty.

In 2002, more than 600,000 teens across the United States raised more than $8 million through sponsor pledges. Worldwide, similar Famine efforts involved more than 1 million participants in 21 countries, who collectively raised more than $22 million to fight hunger through World Vision projects.

Founded in 1950, World Vision is a Christian humanitarian organization, serving the world's poorest children and families in nearly 100 countries. To learn more about World Vision and the 30 Hour Famine, you can visit them on the Internet at www.30hourfamine.org.

HealthWise Program At Extension Office

A HealthWise program will be held at the Tishomingo County Extension Office on Monday, Feb. 17 at 10:30. HealthWise is for any age adult. The program will be held in the Conference Room at the Tishomingo County Courthouse.

Participants will receive a free copy of the 300 page HealthWise reference book, thanks to the Miss. Rural Health Corp. Linda Wilemon, Extension Health Agent, will conduct the program and explain how to use the book. Two versions of the book will be available, one for families and one for older individuals.

If you plan to attend, call the Extension office (423-7016) since books and space will be limited.

More Guns, More Dope Confiscated In County

Arrest At Goat Island Home

Two nights of intense investigation resulted in the apprehension and arrest of two suspects in the theft of guns and distribution of drugs in two separate cases in Tishomingo County.

After being under surveillance for several weeks by the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics and the Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department, Robert Pinner, 42, of 72 CR 346, Iuka, was arrested at his Goat Island residence on January 23, 2003. According to Tishomingo County Sheriff David Smith, Pinner, a convicted felon, was charged with possession of several firearms, two of which were believed to have been stolen from a Memphis man in 1985.

Pinner's arrest also resulted in the recovery of .5 lbs. of crystal meth and .5 lbs. of marijuana.

Pinner has been released from the Tishomingo County jail on bond.

Deputies Rodney Pannell and John David Murphy and MBN officers assisted Sheriff Smith in the apprehension of Pinner.

Burnsville Man Arrested

According to Sheriff Smith, in the second case, a spin-off of last week's Bedrock drug bust, Tim A. McKee, 17 CR 296, Burnsville, was arrested and charged with possession of .5 pounds of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. McKee was arrested after a search warrant was executed at his residence.

MBN also worked with Tishomingo County Deputies Pannell and Murphy on this arrest. McKee is currently out of jail on bond.

These two cases have taken a considerable amount of drugs off the streets of Tishomingo County. Operation "Bedrock" continues to lead to more arrests.

Burnsville Lady Mustangs End Season On Top By Making History

The Burnsville Lady Mustangs made history by winning the five-county tournament on Saturday night, Feb. 8. This is the first time since the history of the five-county tournament that a team from Tishomingo County has ever won the tournament.

The Lady Mustangs finished their regular season by defeating Iuka for the Tishomingo County Championship. They then played their first game in the 5-County Tourney on February 5th against Hills Chapel. The Mustangs defeated them 44-35 to advance to the semi-finals. They played Kossuth on Saturday morning and defeated them 36-27. They played on Saturday night in the championship game against Biggersville, and they defeated them in overtime 35-33.

"Two of our goals at the beginning of the year were to win the County Tournament and the Five-County Tournament," said Coach Chris Higginbottom. "I am very proud of these girls. They are a very hard-working group of girls. They live and breathe basketball," said Higginbottom. These girls worked really hard during the off season as well as the regular season and that is what it takes to win championships. These girls finished their season with a 27-1 record.

They finished their 7th & 8th grade basketball career at Burnsville with an impressive record of 53-1. They have won back-to-back Tishomingo County Championships, and the Iuka, Tishomingo, Hills Chapel, and Michie, TN, Christmas /tournaments. "These girls have earned everything they have accomplished, and they are to be commended for their accomplishments," said Higginbottom.

"To You"
To sit and dream, to sit and read,
To sit and learn about the world
Outside our world of here and now—
Our problem world—
To dream of vast horizons of the soul
Through dreams made whole.
Unfettered, free— help me!
All you who are dreamers too,
Help me to make
Our world anew.

I reach out my dreams to you.
By: Langston Hughes
James Langston Hughes was born on February 1, 1901. To celebrate the centennial of Langston Hughes' birth, on February 1, 2002 the United States Postal Service issued the above stamp. This was 25th stamp in the Black Heritage Series. The stamp art is a 1946 black-and-white photograph taken in New York City by his friend, the renowned photographer Henri Cartier-Bresson. Although Hughes considered himself a poet first, he wrote in many literary genres, from short stories to drama. His innovative poetry combined jazz, blues and the black vernacular with the traditions of poetry in English. Admired in his own time, Hughes is now considered one of the most important American writers of the 20th century.

Langston Hughes wrote during the period known as the Harlem Renaissance; he said, "I tried to write poems like the songs they sang on Seventh Street...(these songs) had the pulse beat of the people who keep on going." In 1926, The Nation published Langston Hughes' essay "The Negro Artist and the Racial Mountain" which boldly proclaimed:

For over forty years Langston Hughes devoted his life to writing and lecturing. He wrote sixteen books of poems, two novels, three collections of short stories, four volumes of "editorial" and "documentary" fiction, twenty plays, children's poetry, musicals and operas, three autobiographies, a dozen radio and television scripts and dozens of magazine articles and edited seven anthologies. Langston Hughes died on May 22, 1967. His residence in Harlem, New York has been given landmark status by the New York City Preservation Commission and the East 127th Street was renamed "Langston Hughes Place."

Still bashful about writing poetry? Here's what Langston Hughes had to say, "...no great poet has ever been afraid of being himself..." So, don't be afraid! There truly isn't a wrong or right way to write a poem. Celebrate both Langston Hughes and yourself: Write a poem today!

ASK YOUR DOCTOR

Contributed by
Diane Davis, CFNP

Q. I have been diagnosed with high blood pressure and put on medication. Will I always have to be on pills to control it?

A. In general, a person usually continues to need medication for blood pressure control indefinitely. However, lifestyle changes and other factors might allow you to reduce dosages and possibly eliminate a medication at the discretion of your Health-Care provider. There changes are: weight loss (as little as 10 pounds can make a difference) smoking cessation, reduction of salt and fat in the diet and regular exercise (walking 30 minutes at least 5 times a week). Do not stop or decrease your medications without consulting your Health-Care professional.

When you're cutting firewood or harvesting timber, check for nearby overhead power lines, including lines which might be hidden in the foliage of trees nearby. If knocked down by a falling tree, these lines can kill. So be safe: look around—look up and live!

Highway Hypnosis

Staring straight ahead while driving long distances is a sure way to develop "highway hypnosis," a trance-like state in which you may lose your contact with reality and/or the ability to accurately judge the speed at which you're traveling. Here are some suggestions:

Keep your eyes moving, even if you're the only car on the road. Glance to the sides of the highway, check the rearview and sideview mirrors, and adjust your focus to various spots on the highway. Look at the dashboard briefly-then shift back to the long view.

Remember, tired eyes cause drowsiness and you can't beat fatigue forever. Be alert for signs of fatigue.

Do your eyes burn? Are you blinking more? Are lights bothering you? Does your own voice sound different. Are there time lapses you can't account for? Has your speed changed because you are not exerting the same pressure on the gas pedal. If yes is the answer to any of these, -It's time to pull over and get some sleep.

WHOM DO YOU SUE?

Before a plaintiff can sue, he must decide whom he is going to sue. This usually depends on the type of accident involved. In the case of a slip or trip and fall accident, the responsible person might be the one who caused him to fall. Other responsible parties include the owner of the property on which he fell, the renter of the property, the owner of the business at which he fell, and the employer of a person (during work hours) who caused him to fall. Regardless of who caused the accident, the plaintiff and other legal issues should be discussed with an attorney. From the very inception of a legal matter, it is essential to speak with an experienced legal professional to ensure that the details are properly handled. For sound advice in matters involving personal injury, car wrecks, wrongful deaths, medical malpractice, civil rights claims, product liability, accidents, or insurance claims, call our office. Contact us for experience and trust.

HINT: Once it has been determined who might be responsible for your accident, they should be sent letters of notification.

Best Time To Spay Kitten

Female kittens mature good deal faster than males. They are capable of becoming pregnant during the first heat period - early as five months - you should not mate a kitten until she is at least one year old.

When your kitten is in heat, she becomes restless, nervous and tense. She may roll around on the floor quite a bit. And her voice can also change, becoming more piercing and demanding. But these behavioral changes are quite normal.

There is no reason to postpone having your kitten spayed unless you do not want to mate her. Most veterinarians feel that the best time to spay a kitten is four to five months, before she has her first heat period. The younger the kitten, the faster the healing process.

Once your kitten has been spayed, her disposition will not change except for the better. She may become less nervous, less noisy, more relaxed, playful and affectionate.

Where has "Carpe Diem" been?

Apparently, the Carpe Diem comments are finding their way to interesting places. If you will share with us any story you may have about where Carpe Diem has been, we will include it in an upcoming issue of the Tishomingo County News. Call (662) 423-1989 to share information.

CARPE DIEM

With tongue-in-cheek, someone once said, "Why do it today when you can wait and let someone else do it tomorrow?" Humorist Don Marquis wrote, "Procrastination is the art of keeping up with yesterday." The word procrastinate comes from a Latin adjective meaning "of tomorrow." Putting off unpleasant tasks is common among humans. We are drawn to the pleasurable while we avoid the difficult. Full schedules often necessitate delaying certain jobs; there sometimes just aren't "enough hours in the day" to attend what needs doing. The danger of procrastination is that if we are not careful, we may allow it to invade too much of our lives: we virtually put off "living" to another day. The key is not confusing the important with the urgent. The important is what we would do if this were our last day.

Bill And Judy Moore Keep Up With Jewelry Industry Trends In Reno

Twice a year, the Retail Jewelers Organization (RJO) attracts the best retail jewelers in the country to its bi-annual show. Last week, Judy Moore and Bill Moore took advantage of the opportunity to learn about what's new in the jewelry industry and buy exquisite jewelry using RJO's buying power. The four-day show was held January 15-18 at the Reno Convention Center.

"I always welcome the opportunity to meet fellow jewelers from different states. I can keep up on the latest trends in jewelry design and attend seminars to increase my knowledge about the products I sell. Our customers appreciate the time I take to learn about the pieces I sell," said Moore. While at the show, jewelry had the opportunity to see their picture taken with a camera. These precious rare stones come from a small village in Brazil, and to expensive mining techniques are valued at over $20,000 per carat. The tourmaline at the Reno show was a specimen that weighed in at just 1.66 carats but commands a price tag of $50,000. "It was a treat to see this rare gem up close," said Moore. "There always is something new and different in the world of jewelry to see, and this tourmaline is one of the rarest in the world."

RJO has over 750 members from all over the country. Only the nation's top jewelers, as rated by the Jewelers Board of Trade, are eligible for membership. RJO enables even small-town jewelers to offer competitive pricing through group buying power. "Besides offering personal service to my customers, maintaining competitive pricing is what keeps main street jewelers in business," said Moore. "RJO helps us to compete with the large chain stores."

John W. Graham Joins Membership Of American Angus Association...

John W. Graham, Golden, Mississippi, is a new member of the American Angus Association, reports John Crouch, executive vice president of the national breed registry organization in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Association, with more than 35,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry Association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on more than 14 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps production records on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef

Joe Ledbetter
Sept. 6, 1952 - Feb. 11, 1984

Cleaning out closets and cabinets, I ran across your baby book. Stated you looked like a football player at birth. Big chest, big baby. Dark curly hair.
By the time you were 1 year old, your hair was nearly to your shoulders. Your daddy, Joe Ledbetter, demanded that you get a hair cut. I finally agreed that you should at least look like a little boy, even if you were too pretty for that.
Then as I flipped through the pages I found your Grandfather's obituary. He died when you were only two weeks old. Joe, was torn between staying with me after you were born, to wanting to be with his father while he was dying. I sent Joe to his father. I told him that I, Nichole and now you, Casey, would be here when he got back. He took a picture of you in hopes your Grandfather would know that Joe Ledbetter had a son.
Then in the middle of all these memories a sliver object slipped from the pages. I opened it up and there it was, your baby curls, a piece of you, a real piece. Not a picture or a memory but part of you. I fell to the floor, I felt you engulf my soul, the feeling was so strong I sobbed. Even now after being gone from this world for four years and your father being gone for nineteen, the essence of you both are always only a memory away.
You are always with me, son. Tell your Daddy he better be watching out over you. I know in my heart that you and Joe are together. Just think of your Momma and Sis every now and then. We think of you both everyday.

Burnsville 3rd Grade Classes Receive Special Treat.... The third grade classes at Burnsville Elementary received a special treat on Thursday, January 30. Mrs. Norma Grissom brought her collection of Ukrainian, Pysanky eggs, for us to view. She told about the history of the Pysanky eggs, talked about how to make the eggs, and showed us her tools. The students had recently done an author study on Patricia Polacco, who writes about the Pysanky eggs. Pictured are Katie Morris, Bethany Butler, Cody Grissom, Mrs. Norma Grissom and Mrs. Cummings.

Mr. and Miss NEMCC; Class Favorites Selected- Lauren Brown of Ripley and Andy Finger of Tupelo (center) were selected Mr. and Miss Northeast Mississippi Community College. Ten freshman and sophomore class favorites were also chosen by the student body in a Student Government Association sponsored election recently. Front Row (l-r): Lacey Hall, Belmont; Elizabeth Owen, New Albany; Brown; Stringer; Tara Tutor, Pontotoc; and Maggie Barnes, Baldwin. Second Row: Kyle Holloway, Amory; Nikki Thompson, Etta; Jennifer Swan, Amory; Marquita Thomas, Jackson; Jill Shumaker, Corinth; Lana Barksdale, Red Bay, Ala.; Jana Haynes, Amory; and Matt Lott, Mooreville. Third Row: Derrick Darby, Sattilo; Seth Howie, Iuka; Steve Sudduth, Tupelo; Trey Hanson, Jackson; Corey Martin, Columbus; Nick Armstrong, Baldwin; Chris Martin, Columbus; and Ben Carson, Tupelo.

they will advance in the tournament. The games are being held at Saltillo, so everyone come out and support your BRAVES! Also, due to the cancellation of last Friday's game, Seniors will be recognized at the Basketball Banquet.

That's a wrap for the week. Everyone, "Have a Happy Valentine's Day, and don't forget to get your sweetheart something special!!!"

In Service

February 04, 2003 (FHTNC)— Navy Airman Christopher A. Gentry, a 2001 graduate of Grand Ledge High School, Belmont, MS, recently departed on a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf while assigned to Sea Control Squadron 22, embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Harry S. Truman, Home ported in Norfolk, VA.

Gentry is one of more than 8,000 Atlantic Fleet Sailors and Marines aboard the ships of the USS Harry S. Truman Battle Group.

Home based at Naval Air Station Jacksonville, FL, Gentry's squadron flies the S-3B Viking, a multi-purpose jet aircraft capable of long-range surveillance of shipping, air-to-air refueling, locating and destroying enemy submarines and other missions as required.

Jehovah's Witnesses Two-Day Circuit Assembly...

The local congregation of Iuka enjoyed two spiritually-uplifting days in Memphis, Tennessee at their circuit assembly program. The theme of the circuit assembly was "Trust in Jehovah and Do Good." It was stressed that their trust in Jehovah is not reserved for special occasions or during times of dire need. It must permeate in their daily lives. A four-part symposium entitled "Manifesting Trust in Jehovah" showed them how to find and apply Bible-based information that can help them build a successful marriage, to handle problems that arise in the family circle, and to meet their material needs.

The following talks entitled, "Guard Against the Vanities of Life" and "Shun the Bad - Be Doers of Good" emphasized how Satan the Devil tries to foist on us a twisted view of what is right and wrong and cause confusion as to what is important and unimportant. The public address delivered Sunday was entitled, "Deliverance From World Distress Is Near." In these uncertain times, Jehovah is the only real source of confidence and stability. The program concluded with the exultation to "trust In Jehovah's Promises."

Cancer Support Group Meeting

one needs to be sure to come to school and do their best.

The TCHS Braves and Lady Braves basketball teams have been in the Division Tournament since Monday. On Monday night the Lady Braves defeated the Hernando Tigers. With this win under their belts, There's an old Japanese saying that says, "One kind word warms three winter months." Really think it's something everyone could keep in mind. As human beings, who are subject to error, we forget how influential our words can be—not just what we say, but the tone of voice that it is spoken with. If after days are spent trying to be the most of what you say rather than belittling everything someone else was saying, then believe the outcome would be much sweeter, just like spring, which is just around the corner.

This week is sure to be one of sweet words and candies. After all, it is Valentine's Day this Friday. To celebrate this day for the Sweethearts of TCHS, FBLA is hosting a Valentine's Dance on Saturday night. Admission is $8 for couples and $5 for singles.

On Tuesday, Student Council wound up their fund-raiser for St. Jude's.

Six weeks exams began on Wednesday. Students had to prepare for these extra hard since we've been out of school so often this six weeks. Every-

Dear Mom,

Did I ever say thank you for all the meals cooked, clothes mended, stories told, and the errands you ran for me?

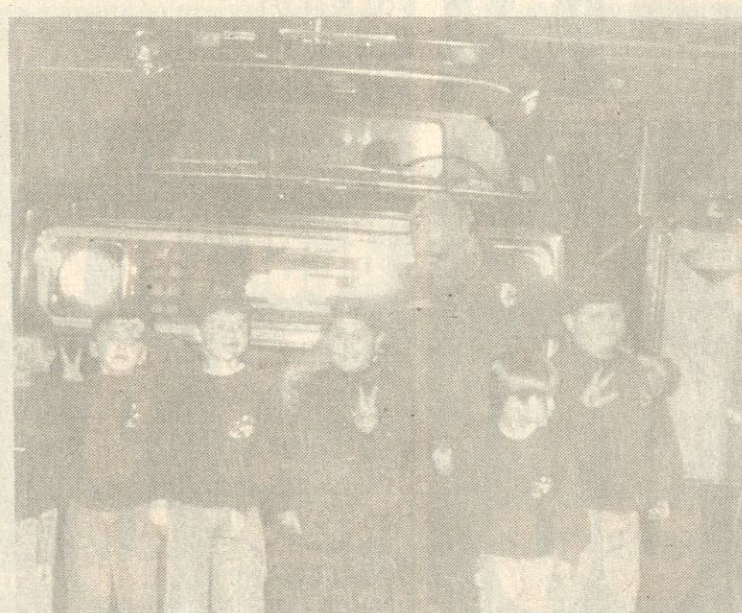

Did I ever say thank you for being such a good listener when I was down, making me feel like I was the most important person in the whole world?

Did I ever say thank you for always being there when I needed you and for having such faith in me? Mom, all, did I ever say thank you for caring?

Shirley Thorne with Hospital Administrator, Jamie Carter

Thorne Honored As luka Hospital's Outstanding Employee

Medical transcriptionist Shirley Thorne has been selected by her peers as luka Hospital's most recent Employee of the Quarter.

Thorne joined the hospital staff in August 1971. She is a 1969 graduate of Tishomingo High School and earned her associate's degree in business administration from Northeast Mississippi Community College. She has completed additional training in medical terminology.

"I love my job because it gives me the opportunity to use my typing skills as I daily learn new medical terminology and the new medicines that are always occurring in the medical field," Thorne said. "I also enjoy the close working relationship I have with my co-workers and all the medical staff."

Co-workers nominated Thorne for the honor because of her hard work and dedication. "She has a positive attitude and seems glad to be here," they wrote. "She is excellent at her job with a very high skill level. She is always professional and willing to help."

Thorne is an active member of the Boggs Chapel United Methodist Church in Tishomingo, where she serves as pianist. She is a past member and secretary of the Tishomingo Homemakers Club. In her spare time, she likes to cross-stitch.

Burnsville Library News

By: Debra Harrell

For all those who believe the Ground Hog's forecast, supposedly saw his shadow. This means we have six more weeks of cold weather!

Burnsville school had their Science Fair January 30, 2003. Congratulations to all the winners, who will go to Burnsville, MS this coming March, 2003.

National Library Week is being celebrated during the week of Feb. 6 - 12, 2003. We are already making plans for a week full of fun and special activities. This year's theme will be "Libraries: Making A Difference In Mississippi."

Ms. Pat Brannon from Burnsville, Ms. is a Mississippi author. She will be coming to Burnsville and do a book signing on Feb. 18, 2003. She will have on display her recent book, titled "Walk Softly - You're Steppin' On My Heart" on Display and For Sale. You will be able to buy a copy of her book for $13.90.

February is Black History Month. Did you know that Rosa Parks was Civil Rights Leader? W.E.B. DuBois (William Burghardt DuBois) was an African-American author and teacher who helped found the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). Frederick Douglas once said, "Once you learn to READ you will BE forever FREE." He was an Abolitionist Leader.

New Book Releases: "The King Of Torts" By: John Grisham, "Full Tilt" By: Janet Evanovich.

J.K. Rowling "Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix" will release June 21, 2003 the 5th Harry Potter book.

Hope everyone has a good week.

Library hours are Monday-Thursday, 11:00-5:00, Friday 9:00-3:00.

Jeanie Morris has written this Poem in memory of her Dad who died as a result of his home catching on fire February 1, 2003.

My Last Wish

So many times I've been around,
And so many times you were busy. But when we were together, it was as though we were one. You had your life and I have mine.
That doesn't mean that I'm not still your child.
Even though I never got to say good-bye, I hope you have known that I have loved you and always will.
Though it seems as a dream, I know it isn't. I just wished I could have hugged your neck one last time before this.
It's too late now and you are gone; so is a part of me. I never thought it would be like this. I never realized how short life is; up until now.

Dedicated To My Father;
James (Bo) Morris.

With Love Forever and Ever,
Jeanie Lyn Morris

In Service

February 03, 2003 (FHTNC)— Marine Corps Sgt. James K. Green, son of Andrea and James L. Green of 6 Creekwood Cove, Belmont, MS, is currently on his fifth month of deployment while assigned to the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit, based in Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Green is one of more than 4,000 Atlantic Fleet Sailors and Marines deployed aboard the ships of the USS Nassau Amphibious Ready Group. Part of his unit is currently providing security for the Combined Joint Task Force Horn of Africa.

During this deployment,

Green's unit has participated in training, humanitarian assistance and peace support operations in Spain, Italy, Kosovo, Kenya and Djibouti, Africa before patrolling the seas and skies in the U.S. Forces Central Command area of responsibility.

Green's unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, aircraft squadron, support group and command element. With this combination, Green's unit supplies and sustains itself for either quick mission accomplishment or clearing the way for follow-on forces.

Green is a 1998 graduate of Belmont High School of Belmont, MS and joined the Marine Corps in August 1998. For more information on the deployment and high resolution photographs please visit the 24th MEU web site at <http://www.24meu.usmc.mil>

Trev Clark from Magnolia Estates will be the speaker.

Letter

To The Editor

To the people that get Galaxy Cable T.V.: If you are tired of paying a high bill for sorry cable T.V., it is time you contact your cable T.V. company. They need to compare theirs to Comcast Cable of Corinth, MS. I personally would like to see T.L.C. added to our cable channels.

Valentine's Day Recalls WWII Crash Memories for Jourdan Browning

Jourdan Browning

Browning in 1944

This article was written by Lynn West, an associate editor, and appeared in the New Albany Gazette in 1995. It was submitted to the Tishomingo County News by Charles Browning, a nephew, just in time for Valentine's Day.

This past week most people have been thinking about Valentine's Day.

Jourdan Browning's thoughts, however, have gone back to a Valentine's Day 50 years ago, when he was a navigator for a B-17 making bomb runs into Europe and even Hitler's Germany in WWII.

Browning was a part of the air group known as the "Bloody 100th," because of the extensive losses they suffered. The group lost 200 aircraft and 86 percent of its original crew by war's end, so Browning was beating the odds everytime he returned to the East Anglia, England base safely.

And on that Valentine's Day in 1945, the odds were getting worse for Browning; he was only six days away from finally having to bail out of his burning Flying Fortress, watching it crash into the Southern France landscape.

Browning survived, unhurt and ended up back in the air, flying 17 more missions—including over Berlin—before being shipped out but some memories do not fade.

Browning, who retired and helped his son, CPA Jim Browning, during the tax season was a native of Tishomingo County, MS. (TCN note: He still has many relatives who live in Tishomingo County.)

He was 26, older than many other volunteers, when he joined the service in 1943. "I figured I was about to be drafted, but the job turned out to be easier than it was in the beginning, when we were just starting to bomb there," he said. "One day only one plane out of 18 came back."

"We had to do 25 missions before we could be shipped back," he said, "but the losses were running four percent. That's one out of 25 so it made it almost impossible to come out alive."

He had just gone back to school after working 10 years, (in Tishomingo County) and married his wife, Eva, a few months before being sent overseas.

"Our basic training was at Miami Beach, then we went to Indianapolis to school," he said. "I got blistered in Miami and then nearly froze in Indianapolis."

Next came a stint in Nashville for classification.

"They wanted pilots, but I wanted to be a navigator or nothing," Browning said. He got his wish; out of 100 candicates he was one of only two elected for navigator training.

After training he was sent to Thorp Abbott in East Anglia where the 100th operated out of. Soon, he was a navigator for the lead plane.

"We used to lead up to 300 planes and I would think, '300 planes all being led by a boy from Tishomingo, MS,'" he said. The entire bombing group could include as many as 1,000 planes, and the group often stretched in the air as far as from New Albany to Jackson.

Browning's Flying Fortress was only slightly different from others in that it contained radar equipment and devices to confuse enemy detection. Because of the limited space, his plane carried only 2,000-lb bombs.

"There were 10 in the crew, and later, nine," he said. "There was the pilot, co-pilot, navigator, bombardier and six gunners (later only five), plus the radar on board."

Although the B-17 was large, Browning had to crouch on a catwalk only 18 inches wide and work at a low, small plywood table. The aircraft bombed from an altitude of 25,000 feet where temperatures were sometimes as low as 55 degrees below zero, so crews had to wear electrically heated suits and use oxygen.

"Some days we were in the air 10 to 12 hours on a mission; we carried 3,100 gallons of fuel," Browning said.

As a lead navigator he only had to fly 30 missions (compared to the 35 for others at the time) before being relieved. Those missions were hardly "milk runs," though. Munster, Bremmen, Cologne, Dresden, Nurnberg, Hannover and Weimar were only a few of the targets, and then there was Berlin toward the end.

While his plane was often shot up with flak and some fellow crew members killed, Browning was lucky. "I was never wounded at all," he said. "I was one of only four from our navigator school who didn't go down and not come back."

When his plane did go down, it was not the Germans, but plain old fatigue from wear and tear. "We were about eight miles this side of the enemy lines and there was a fire in the No. 3 engine," he said. The fire was apparently the result of a broken oil line and could not be put out by diving, so crew members knew they would have to jump.

He wrote a full account of this to his wife two days later and part of the letter said, "I quickly grabbed my dear old parachute that I have petted like a baby all these months, and I snapped it on the back of my harness at the chest."

There were enough parachutes, but they were manually operated and some of the crew had had to put them on first."

Everyone hesitated to jump, especially when he yanked the hatch open beneath his feet to see the layer of clouds below.

"I had a slight sensation of falling through the air and then I seemed to be hanging in space on my back as the plane moved out of sight," he wrote.

When Browning jumped, it wasn't over quickly. "It took me 10 minutes to fall about 15,000 feet," he said.

He landed in forest and found other crewmen, some of whom had landed looking into the rifle barrels of three Free French. Once the French knew the airmen were American, they took the crew to their homes and fed them, later guiding them to Allied positions amid much cheering, waving, and kissing from local residents.

They eventually went to the crash site: and because the pilot had left the plane on autopilot, it had almost landed itself with comparatively minor damage. Browning was able to get some of his equipment that the Germans had left because they had had to be more concerned about shooting at the approaching Russians on the ground than from the air strike.

After May 1945, he was returned to the United States and given a ground job until the war ended. "I was holding my breath, afraid I would be sent to the Pacific, but I made it," he said, and he returned to his life here.

TCNews note:

According to his nephew Charles, Mr. Jourdan Browning died about a year ago (in 2002). Before his death, he served as a Supervisor for the ASCA office over many counties in North Mississippi.

Browning's parents were Tom and Molly Jourdan Browning, and they lived on a farm just outside of the town of Tishomingo. Browning has many relatives who still live in

Chili & Stew Supper....

Harmony-Central Volunteer Fire Department is inviting everyone to a fund raiser supper.

The proceeds raised will go to finalize a well needed F.E.M.A. Grant. This grant was granted to H.C.V.F.D. for new safety equipment for our Vol. Firefighters. H.C.V.F.D. has to raise $2,500.00 to meet the 10% final requirement to finalize the grant. We are inviting everyone to come and enjoy fellowship, great home cooking, and fun.

All while helping support your Vol. Firefighters, E.M.T.'s, and E.M.R.'s. These volunteers give their time and risk their own lives to save lives, homes, public property, and to keep the public safe.

Please come and help to keep them safe for their families. At H.C.V.F.D. Sat. Feb. 22, 2003. Time: 3:00 p.m. - until. Serving: Chili, stew, hot dogs, chili dogs, cornbread, cheese and crackers, or chips, drinks, and desserts. Chili and stew plates: $5.00 ea., 12 and under $3.00 ea., hot dog and chili dog plates: $1.50 ea.

We will appreciate all your donations of money and fund raiser supplies. Thank you and God Bless You All! H.C.V.F.D.

Cinderella's slippers, many scholars believe, were made of fur, not glass. The word verre, or glass, they claim, was incorrectly substituted in early versions of the story for the word vairre, which is French for fur.

Red Ribbon Week Was Celebrated October 28th-31st At Tishomingo and Belmont Schools

The last week of October and two schools very busy in the fight against drugs. Red Ribbon Week was celebrated October 28th-31st at Tishomingo and Belmont schools. There were poster contests, creative writing contest, and best decorated for contest. At Tishomingo there was a basketball shoot off between the middle school students. Prizes were given to each winner. Every day names were drawn and prizes were given to those names drawn. To bring recognition to RR week, the students dressed a certain way each day.

On Wednesday the students received valuable information on how and why to stay drug-free from members of the Mississippi National Guard. Major Deborah Walley, SFC Carrol Walker presented the National Guard's Drug Education Programs when he/she met with the students on the 30th. Using National Guard Members as role models and instructors, one program covered topics such as drinking and driving, Marijuana, Cocaine, Meth., Club drugs, and RAVE. The other program used lectures and video clips containing comic characters to explain the dangers of negative peer pressure and abusing drugs.

Many thanks to Mr. Atkinson, Mr. Chumbley, and Dr. Segars for allowing these important activities to come into the schools. Thanks to each child and teacher that participated in the activities during RED RIBBON WEEK. The kids had fun and learned an important lesson. ONE CAN HAVE FUN BEING DRUG FREE.

4-H Talk

Caring For Ourselves And Others

With Valentine's Day this week and many of us getting ready to give gifts to those we care about, I thought an article on CARING would be timely.

Many of us know we care about our family and we care about our friends. We care when tragedy strikes close to home such as when someone's house burns or a storm destroys property and lives. We care when a national tragedy occurs such as the crash of the Space Shuttle or a major accident is reported on the news.

There are many levels of caring and not everyone cares in the same ways. Why is it important to be a caring person?

Caring people make others feel like they're not alone. Caring people help others when they are sad, hurt, or sick - even if they don't get anything in return. When people care about others, they protect them and make them feel safe. Caring people give love, respect and concern to others. People who care for others end up feeling better about themselves. When people have an attitude of "I don't care," they do sloppy and incomplete work. If you don't care about yourself or others, people start caring less about you.

Caring isn't just a matter of how we feel - it's how we act. When we feel love and concern for others, we have to look for ways to show it. What are some things we can do to show we care about others?

We can ask questions about how others are doing and listen well when they answer. When people tell you about problems they are having, ask them how you can help. When you care, you handle things with self-control and gentleness. When someone or something is in your care, you understand that it's your job to help and you give it your best.

When you care about the things you do, you do them with enthusiasm and excellence. When you care about yourself, you treat your body with respect. That means getting enough sleep, eating good food and playing safely.

Remember this week to not only tell those you care most about - your parents, your brothers and sisters, your friends - but also to show them how much you care.

If you CARE about being a 4-H member, call Tishomingo County Extension Office at 423-7016.

Deputy Scott Woodruff Graduates With Honors

Tishomingo County Deputy, Scott Woodruff, graduated number one in his class at the Harrison County Law Enforcement Academy on October 11, 2002.

Scott received the Congressman Larkin I. Smith Memorial Award for being the top honor graduate. He also qualified as an expert in pistol and shotgun and shooting a perfect score three times with his handgun earning him the Firearms Award as well. His family is very proud of him and his outstanding achievements.

The Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department is also very proud of Scott and proud to have him on their force.

Snow Covers Area on Thursday, Feb. 6

Little Evan Stripling was out early last Thursday morning, building a big snowman (with the help of his Dad, Bobby) and playing with his new sled. Mom, Nancy, was inside making ice cream.

The heavy wet snow clung to a few limbs and branches, but thankfully, not to power lines. Most of the snow had melted from the roadways by mid-morning, but the weather did turn colder during the weekend.

counselor, with 15 years of experience working with chemical dependent individuals.

The first step in the fight against alcoholism and drug addiction is intervention and education. It's never too early or too late to get help.

Northeast To Host Fast Pitch Softball Clinic

Northeast Mississippi Community College will host a High School Softball Skills Pre-Season Clinic at the Booneville City Park Saturday, February 15.

Northeast women's softball coaches David Carnell and Jody Long and some of the 2003 Tiger softball players will serve as clinic directors.

Session one runs from 8:45-10:45 a.m. Participants will be instructed in fundamentals of hitting, bunting, throwing, base running and on what it takes to become a successful fast pitch softball player.

From 11:15 a.m. until 1:15 p.m. session two will include instruction in the fundamentals of pitching, catching and the importance of the battery.

Cost per session is $10 (CASH ONLY). Registration for session one is from 8:30-8:45 a.m., and registration for session two is from 11-11:15 a.m. on the day of the clinic.

In the event of inclement weather, the clinic will be held in the Northeast Indoor Facility and the Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

Any female preparing for the upcoming 2003 high school fast pitch softball season is eligible to attend. Participants should wear some type of pants and provide their own glove. Catchers should bring their own catching gear. Players may bring their own bats if marked appropriately.

High School softball coaches may observe free of charge.

Attendees should pre-register by Wednesday, February 12.

For more information or to pre-register call Coach Carnell at (662) 720-7352 or Coach Long at (662) 720-7305. During evening hours call (662) 728-0995 or (662) 728-5701.

Sardis Church News

By: Louise White Family

We at Sardis extend a welcoming hand to all who wish to come together in the name of the Lord Jesus. We've been blessed with another week of life and the opportunity that goes with it of spreading God's Word and enjoying good fellowship with one another.

VERSE OF THE WEEK: "This they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their own selves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God" (2 Corinthians 8:5).

Our lesson this week about the spirit of giving, is from 2 Corinthians 8:1-5, 7-8, 11-14. In this lesson we learn we are to give ourselves to God and then give of our means.

In this book we find that Paul has been accused of being self-serving and he writes to the Corinthians in personal defense. Paul was far from self-serving, he literally gave himself to his ministry and by example we are taught much about giving.

In verses 1-5 we find blessings behind our giving and in verses 7-8 we find opportunities beyond our giving. In verses 11-14 we find that our duty in giving is to begin at once and we are to decide ourselves without pressure from others. We are to give according to our ability. The Macedonians which were poor gave like they were rich.

God knows our hearts and by giving freely without asking "what will I get out of it" we will be giving in the right spirit.

Thank You

The family of Author Underwood want to express our thanks to family, friends, and neighbors for your kindness during the loss of our loved one. Thanks for the calls, cards, food, flowers, and your prayers.

Special thanks to Bro. Herman Clark for the comforting words and Ludlum Funeral Home for being there for our needs.

Thanks to Salem Church for having the doors open for the family.

May the Lord Bless each of you.

Conservation Corner

by James L. Cummins

President Bush has been criticized more times than not about his lack of knowledge about the environment. I was even concerned about his actions. But over lunch at The White House two weeks ago, I was made aware of a transcript of a recent tour of his ranch in Crawford, Texas. It was not a scripted speech with TelePromPters and did not include a team of speech writers hiding behind every rock and tree. It was genuine. It was from the heart. President Bush spoke extensively, knowledgeably and passionately about natural resources and their management. Let's further explore his comments.

The President made almost 100 references to natural resources (trees, wildlife, plants and soil) and their management. He mentioned hardwood or a hardwood species 33 times. He indicated that there are at least 18 different hardwood species on his property and he specifically identified 10 species (hackberry, ash, pecan, burr oak, live oak, chinquapin oak, sycamore, willow, cedar elm and cedar). He referred to at least 10 specific wildlife species (golden cheek warbler, fox, deer, dove, quail, turkey, armadillo, buzzards, cottonmouth and bass) and at least 3 different plant species (poison ivy, Johnson grass and buffalo grass). He made at least 12 direct references to actively improving the natural resources of his land. He even talked about how certain species were important "because they become nesting materials for things like the golden cheek warbler..."

Bush also said, "I'm interested in these trees. This place you learn to fall in love with trees." When asked if he was his element, he replied, "I'm my element here. We like it. It is one of the places where I can actually walk outside my front door and say, I think I'm going to walk two hours. And although I'm not totally alone, I can be wherever I want to walk. I can't do that in Washington like that. I love nature. I to get in the pickup truck and my dogs as the sun is setting look for game."

When a reporter asked how did he learn all this about these trees, President Bush replied, "Well, we've a book. And I knew some of the trees, you know. But I had two professors at Terry & M. They had heard what some beautiful hardwoods. And they came and were pleased with the health of trees and the quality of trees. Another reporter said "Quite the arborist" President Bush replied, "I am. Trees I like trees, but I have come to appreciate them a lot and guarding them..."

In case there was any concern that this President is serious about the health and future of our natural resources, you can now rest easy knowing that "Tree Man" is not only a good steward of his own land by actively managing it for improved health, but he is working to help make it a better place for us to do the same on our own treasured lands and farms.

As someone who is concerned about the environment, I am proud to call George W. Bush my President. I have a complete transcript of the President's tour of his Crawford ranch, go to www.wildlifemiss.org.

Photographs On Display At NEMO Reception Planned For Artist

January 14th...

Stephen Kirkpatrick's photography exhibit in Northeast Mississippi Community College Anderson Hall Auditorium titled "Romancing the Land" Tuesday, January 14 at 7 p.m. A reception will follow. Kirkpatrick's exhibit is scheduled to remain in the Anderson Art Gallery until February 14. The public is invited.

Kirkpatrick scheduled approximately 50 personal appearances a year, presenting spectacular multimedia presentations. His dramatic photos are set to moving and narration that reach beyond mere photo descriptions to touch hearts, and in some cases change lives, sharing stories from his extensive travel and thrilling wildlife encounters well as sharing his Christian faith.

The public is invited to visit the Northeast Gallery between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays beginning January 14. For more information about the show, contact Northeast art Instructor J. McLendon at (662) 720-7296 or mmclend@necc.ms.us. Visit the Northeast web site at www.necc.ms.us.

Kirkpatrick's web site is www.kirkpatrickwildlife.com. Kirkpatrick's exhibit is sponsored by Northeast's Division of Fine Arts and Crafts Arts.

Calligraphy To Be Offered At NEMO

Basic calligraphy will be offered by Northeast Mississippi Community College during February.

The course will be offered in two sessions February 12 and 22 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at 119 Haggett Hall. Cost is $10. Julie Dickerson of Nettie will be the instructor.

Spend an enjoyable learning the ancient art.

From An Old Man

absolutely weep for the new generations of life that are growing up in our country today. Their America today is so different from the one in which I grew up. I find myself switching channels every time the evening news comes on. At that point in our country's history did people become so dishonest, and just plain evil?

Whatever happened to loving your neighbor as yourself? When was it decided that living in the back of an old country store was a bad idea to spend your spare time? As an old man now, I ponder these thoughts day in and day out. If I could just go back to the cotton fields for one day. Or maybe go fishing with my bird dog Jim, after an entire day's work. I do realize change is suppose to be good, but in so many ways for change can be so sad.

Memories from times past what get me through each day. Life would be so dull without memories. I can sit in my rocking chair and remember day long. I feel so fortunate at the good memories out of the bad. I can see myself going to the spring to catch a bucket of water for momma, tripping and spilling it all over her as she waited for me on the front porch step. We laughed for years over the incident. I remember my buddies and I, as well as Jim, meeting in the fields on Saturday afternoons anticipating shooting a mess of quail for Sunday dinner. We would get so tickled at Carl when he'd miss a bird. He'd swear he was never going hunting again, though he never missed a hunt. Some of my favorite times were going into town with Momma and Papa to buy groceries on the weekend. They would normally give me a nickel to spend as I pleased. Some of the other kids would get dimes to spend, but Papa knew that the more money I got, the more likely I was to get in trouble. I found out what he was talking about when I was eight. One of the bootleggers at the end of the street sold kids my age pinches of snuff for 7 cents each. I wondered for years how Papa knew about the man, maybe that was how he got hooked on the can. One time I saved my nickel for a week so that I would have enough to get a pinch. I was sick for several days after the older boys told me I was supposed to swallow the juice. I never asked Momma, but I am quite certain that she knew what I had done. It was the first and last time I ever touched the stuff. I suppose you're asking what the difference is in me trying snuff back then, and kids trying drugs today. And I must honestly say that the pressure is the same. However, the drugs today are much more powerful than the snuff was then. The pressure to try something, no matter what it is, will always be great. What I am concerned with is when and how the snuff turned to crack cocaine and heroine. This is one reason why I cherish my childhood memories; they did not involve drugs mainly because they did not exist, at least to my knowledge. Change can be so sad.

I realize that my grandchildren will not have these feelings of wanting to go back simply because they do not live in this better lifestyle which I am speaking of. And this to me is very scary. I see the world only getting worse with every new generation. Changes in technology, which make life easier, also tear us farther and farther away from our roots, the roots I see in my fond memories. My grandchildren will never get to enjoy a good ole fashioned rat-killin' because technology has created rat bait. They will never get to experience a hog killin' because all the small producers have been taken over by large corporations. And they will never get to wipe their butts with corncobs because now they have toilet paper. There has never been a video game with as much excitement as throwing used corncobs at elderly people in wagons after a Sunday night revival. Change can be so sad.

blessed me with good friends and a wonderful family that helped create the memories I have now. But above all, he placed me on a farm in the early 1900's. I do not believe the people or times will get any better than they were then. Life was simple, and we were happy. Today we are striving for far too much. Money seems to be the driving force, yet an ice cream cone only costs a dollar. Just how much more fun could you have than sitting on the front porch with friends and family and eating ice cream? I believe the great Dale Earnhardt said it best, "Happiness is all that matters. As long as you have friends, family, and church, what else do you need? Don't let it pass you by." I have achieved happiness. My memories help me recall the good times. Many say change is good, but as far as I am concerned, change can be so sad.

Wishing you health and happiness,

Pathological Evidence Confirms West Nile Virus Attacks The Spinal Cord And Can Cause Acute Flaccid Paralysis Similar To Polio

Research findings published in prestigious international medical journal.

The discovery by scientists at Methodist Rehabilitation Center that the gray matter of the spinal cord is the apparent site of the West Nile virus has been confirmed by pathological findings reported in one of the world's most prestigious medical journals.

The international journal, Lancet Infectious Diseases, posted on its Web site research which identifies acute myelitis as a cause for the weakness and acute paralysis that is common in patients with West Nile virus. The journal published those findings in its print edition on Jan. 1, 2003.

Based on clinical findings reported by the Center for Neuroscience and Neurological Recovery at Methodist Rehabilitation Center, researchers led by Jonathan Fratkin in the Department of Pathology at the University of Mississippi Medical Center have confirmed that people, just as in animals, have horn cells in the spinal cord that seem to be a target of West Nile virus.

The pathological findings show what we clinically observed in West Nile patients here at Methodist Rehabilitation Center," said CNNR Director Dr. Dobrivoje Stokic. "The article in Lancet is significant because it is the first to show pathological evidence indicates the West Nile virus attacks the spinal cord in humans and can cause acute paralysis similar to polio. More importantly, our research shows that paralysis may not have encephalitis or meningitis."

Prior to the release of the Center's findings in September, local and health guides emphasized that the West Nile virus was an attack on the brain and could cause encephalitis and meningitis. Although this was true, the CNNR research indicated that the virus also attacks the cells of the spinal cord that control muscle function, causing muscle weakness.

Earlier this year, due to the chance of the CNNR diagnosis, the New England Journal of Medicine and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention expedited the release of articles reporting their clinical findings. The Journal of the American Medical Association also published the CNNR article that appeared in the CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Now, with the release of the Lancet article, researchers are again urging public health officials to be aware of their findings.

"It is important that physicians and public health officials in areas with active West Nile virus transmission realize that muscle weakness and acute flaccid paralysis could be a manifestation of West Nile poliomyelitis," said Dr. Art Leis, CNNR senior scientist and project lead investigator. "If doctors see patients with symptoms that suggest involvement of the gray matter of the spinal cord - particularly in combination with fever, chills and headaches - with or without meningitis or encephalitis, then these patients should be tested for West Nile virus by sending serum to the Department of Health. Such awareness will help avoid the morbidity associated with unnecessary diagnostic procedures and inappropriate treatment."

West Nile poliomyelitis should also be considered in recent organ transplantation or blood transfusion recipients who develop muscle weakness or acute flaccid paralysis said Dr. Leis.

"What we've discovered is significant and will enable physicians and public health workers nationwide to better characterize this illness," said Dr. Stokic. "Our findings have greatly advanced the understanding of the spectrum of clinical presentations of West Nile virus infection."

The first outbreak of West Nile virus in the United States occurred in 1999 when 62 people were hospitalized and seven died in New York. While reading the first autopsy reports, Dr. Leis noted that the brains were mostly unaffected and that all four patients were profoundly weak, suggesting that muscle weakness may be a significant risk factor in predicting morbidity and mortality.

"More than half of the confirmed West Nile cases have displayed severe muscle weakness," Dr. Leis added. "Yet, this important symptom had previously received little scientific scrutiny."

CNNR researchers suggest that physicians be aware of four symptoms of possible West Nile poliomyelitis:

- Asymmetrical muscle weakness - where one arm or leg is weaker than the other.
- An absence or decrease in deep tendon reflexes.
- Acute change in bowel or bladder function.
- Respiratory muscle weakness especially where endotracheal intubation and mechanical ventilation is necessary.

CNNR researchers hope that an increased awareness that the virus may target the spinal cord will result in better diagnoses and more appropriate treatments.

"A more accurate diagnosis and treatment will also lead to more accurate assessment of the effectiveness of prevention activities and mosquito control in humans," added Dr. Leis.

For more information about the Center for Neuroscience and Neurological Recovery at Methodist Rehabilitation Center or to learn more about West Nile virus, log on to www.methodistonline.org.

A team of physician-scientists at the Center for Neuroscience and Neurological Recovery at Methodist Rehabilitation Center translate basic neuroscience research into useful therapies that benefit patients suffering from neurological illnesses and injuries. By building on the hospital's reputation and strong commitment to research, this team is able to quickly move research findings from the laboratory to the patient's bedside, thus bridging the gap between biomedical discoveries and their clinical application.

Methodist Rehabilitation Center provides comprehensive medical rehabilitation programs for people with spinal cord and brain injuries, stroke and other neurological and orthopedic disorders and treats patients from all of Mississippi's 82 counties and from other states. The Jackson hospital is one of only 17 in the country designated as a Traumatic Brain Injury Model System by the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research.

PET OVERPOPULATION

Did you know?

One female cat can be responsible for 450,000 kittens in 7 years.
One female dog can be responsible for 67,000 puppies in 7 years.
Can you imagine how many puppies and kittens 1 male dog and 1 male cat can be responsible for?
An estimated 20,000,000 animals were put to sleep last year in the USA.
With these facts in mind we must be made aware of pet birth control.
Female cats can be spayed (ovariohysterectomy) when they reach at least 2 1/2 pounds of weight. This is before they come into heat.
Female dogs need to be spayed (ovariohysterectomy) before 6 months of age. Some dogs will begin their heat cycle at 6 months of age.
Male cats need to be neutered (castrated) as early as 7 months of age.
Male dogs can be neutered (castrated) as early as 6 months of age.
Remember these ages are the earliest dogs and cats need to be neutered (castrated or ovariectomized). After these ages surgery can be performed at anytime or ask your veterinarian what is best for your cat or dog.
Just remember to be a responsible pet owner and not allow unwanted animals to be brought into the world.

I ask for the privilege of not being born,
Not to be born until you can assure me of a home and a master to protect me,
And a right to live as long as I am physically able to enjoy life.

Anon

To help with pet overpopulation, Dr. James Perkins at the Iuka Animal Clinic, offers a reduced rate spay and neuter program for the month of February. Call (662) 423-3470 for further information.

County SWCD

An old Chinese proverb says "One generation plants the trees; another gets the shade." The Tishomingo County Soil and Water Conservation District is celebrating Mississippi Arbor Day a tree sale. It is a perfect time for you to plant a tree that will serve as a gift to your children and future generations. It's a time to think about the many gifts we get from trees-like paper, lumber, medicine, and food. It's also a time to commit to do something for trees. Planting the right tree in the right place around your house could save you a bunch on heating and cooling costs. And, it would make your backyard more pleasant for you and your wildlife friends.

Mississippi's Tree Planting Week will be held February 14-20, 2003. Mississippi's week long "Celebration of Trees" is held each year beginning on the State's legally designated Arbor Day (second Friday in February).

The District will present school programs and distribute pine seedlings to the Tishomingo County Kindergarten Classes in cooperation with the Mississippi Forestry Commission on February 14, 2003. The annual event recognizes the importance of trees in the environment as well as the economic importance of the forestry industry in Mississippi.

Tree Planting Week features special planting events at schools, on public parks and streets, and on private residential sites. Communities, clubs, and other associations are also encouraged to plant trees.

The District will continue its practice of selling "bare root" seedlings in recognition of Arbor Day and Tree Planting Week. Flowering Dogwood, Silver Maple, Pin Oak, Common Lilac, and Hardy Pecan will be sold at a cost of $2.00 per seedling. Trees go on sale February 10, 2003 at the District Office located at 240 Kaki Street in Iuka, MS.

The Flowering Dogwood is a beautiful, small tree with a spectacular display of white "flowers" in spring and red fruit. In fall the leaves turn a dark red color. It grows 8-20' tall.

The Silver Maple leaves are deeply separated into 5 doubly-toothed lobes; opposite, simple, silvery below. Seeds are used by songbirds and small mammals. It prefers moist or moderately drained soil and grows 1-3' per year until it reaches full growth of 60-80'.

The Pin Oak leaves are 3-5" long, 2-4" wide with 5-7 deep lobes nearly to midvein. Turkey, wood duck, grouse, and blue jay eat its acorns. It tolerates poorly drained, wet sites and grows 50-90' tall.

The Common Lilac has good density and provides cover for many birds and mammals. This extremely fragrant shrub grows best on moist to dry soils and needs full sunlight. It grows 20' tall and 15' wide.

The Pecan leaves are compound; 20-22" long; 11-17 leaflets, each 2-7" long; finely saw-toothed margin; alternate. The nut is 1-2" long. It prefers moist, well drained, bottomland soils and grows to 100' tall.
