City Elections this June

Qualifying Deadline March 8th

Municipal elections will be held this June in all the cities/towns in Tishomingo County, Mississippi, and some potential candidates for Tishomingo County's towns have already picked up papers, and qualified to run for office.

The qualifying deadline to run for office is March 8th for the June 4th election, and according to area city clerks, only a few have picked up papers to complete for qualifying to run for office.

In Iuka, incumbent alderman James Grisham has qualified to run for another term, and John Castleberry has qualified to run for the office of mayor. Two other potential candidates have picked up papers according to city clerk Benny Gray.

In Belmont, two have picked up papers, and no other papers have been picked up, yet, in other towns throughout the county.

Officials that will be on the ballot are alderman and mayors, and, in Iuka, police chief.

At right are municipal salary and benefit figures reported by cities on the annual Mississippi Municipal League Salary and Benefits Survey, a public record published online and prepared by the John C. Stennis Institute of Government at Mississippi State University.

Iuka Librarian Retires After 34 Years

by Pamela McRae

A lot of towns have a library, where you can get books, maybe use the computer, or do some research, but you might not even know the person at the desk who checks out your books, and it usually doesn't make much difference if you do or don't, anyway.

But Iuka has been blessed to have not just a thriving library, with programs and resources above and beyond your typical small-town library, but for the past 34 years, Iuka Library has had a friendly, enthusiastic librarian who has become, for most people, the face of Iuka Library.

This month, Fredda Sanderson McCune - for all intents and purposes the long-time driving force at Iuka Library - will retire January 23rd, leaving an outstanding legacy of 34 years of service for the city and the little library on Main Street.

"Under her passionate leadership, Iuka's library has grown to become a model library within the Northeast Regional Library System," said Friends of the Library vice-president Frank Thomas. Her fellow library workers praise her endless enthusiasm and energy in running the library through good times and bad - through a major renovation and addition in 1995, and the computerization of the entire card catalog system. Mrs. Bette Nelson worked as a volunteer with the library for 25 years and recalls Fredda organizing and working with her staff and volunteers making sure the jobs were done properly.

"Then again, eight years later, we boxed up every book on the shelves to make way for new carpeting!" said Mrs. Nelson.

Ms. Fredda, in her annual appearance as Mrs. Claus, reading " 'Twas the Night Before Christmas" during the children's Christmas Party one year.

In 1979, circulation was 28,254, explained Ms. Fredda when asked if there was any way to quantify how the library has grown in the last three decades under her watch. Circulation is calculated from the number of books, videos, and other resources that are checked out for patron use from the library, she explained. In 2012, circulation has risen to 65,118. There were 10,399 books in 1979, and today there are 33,413.

The children's programs are near and dear to Ms. Fredda's heart, and she has tried throughout the years to focus on building the children's resources in her library. The summer reading program had 17 participants the first year, she said, and last year there were 120.

"I want them to learn to love books, and to love to read, and to love the library," she says. With huge programs in the summer, annual holiday parties, and a vast selection of children's books for all ages, it's easy to see that she has come close to accomplishing that goal. She's literally worn many hats toward this purpose; Fredda wears a Mrs. Claus hat each year at the Christmas party, bunny ears at the Easter Egg Hunt, witch hats at Halloween, and countless other hats depending on her role in the annual themed summer reading programs! She is far from the stereotypical stern-faced librarian!

Fredda takes pride in an institution that serves all ages of patrons, no matter their economic status, age, or community involvement. The library has become a place for all kinds of organizations to meet, for people to learn computer skills, for the occasional concert and monthly Friends of the Library social and educational programs.

"We want them to walk out with what they came in for," she modestly says of her service.

Please Join The Friends for a Reception Honoring Ms. Fredda

The Friends of the Iuka Library are hosting a retirement reception honoring Fredda Sanderson McCune, to be held at the Iuka Public Library on Tuesday, January 15 from 12 until 2 P. M. The public is invited and encouraged to come tell Fredda just how much we appreciate her years of service in our community.

Fredda says, "I began on September 10, 1979, and I have loved every minute of my job."

Plan to stop by for a few minutes on Tuesday, join in the fellowship and tell Fredda just how much we thank her for all she has done within and for our community and to wish her well as she (to borrow a phrase from Mark Twain) lights out for the Territory ahead of the rest of us.

Letter to the Editor

THERE SEEMS TO BE A BIG MISUNDERSTANDING ABOUT THE PETITION TO VOTE ON THE SALE OF ALCOHOL. IF YOU WILL READ THIS WHOLE ARTICLE I WILL TRY TO EXPLAIN IT TO YOU

I am not doing this city petition just because I choose to. I am doing this city petition on the count of that it looks to me like the majority of the people that live in Tishomingo County don't seem to think we need these tax dollars off of alcohol sales. I feel like I have given the people more than enough time and chances to sign this county petition. I have spent a lot of time and money on it. The people of Tishomingo County have had two and a half years to sign the petition. What has gotten me disgusted with the county wide petition is that I only need 98 more signatures to finish this with. I have people to come up to me and tell me once it gets to the polls to be voted on I'll vote "yes". I just cannot sign that petition though. I am not talking about 10 or 15 people that have told me this. I will guarantee you there have been between 3 hundred and 5 hundred people that have told me this over the two and a half years. Well, while all these people are sitting back, it has cost me a lot of money and time. So I have decided if they want to sit back so can I. So now I have decided to see what the city of Iuka will do. If anyone out there wants to sign the County petition all they have to do is write to me and I will be glad to mail them a petition to sign. Don't get me wrong I am not dropping the county petition because I have got until I die to finish it. I have decided to just lay it down for a while and just keep letting Alabama, Tennessee, and Corinth, MS, Baldwin, MS, keep on getting all of Tishomingo County tax money. All those other places have all the tax money. Let Tishomingo County keep getting all the garbage. Maybe one day these folks will wake up and realize this. Everybody seems to think that the city of Iuka will win with no problem. I don't know if it will or not. I do know this though, if the city limits of Iuka go wet, all of the rest of the counties and little towns sure will lose a lot of tax money. It would be a lot fairer if I could get the whole county to come on and vote on this. If I don't get this county wide vote and it goes to a city vote only, the people that live in the city limits of Iuka, MS will be the only ones that can vote on it. The people in the rest of the county will have no say-so in it at all. Is that what some of you people of Tishomingo County want? It is not what I want. If I have to go with this city wide vote only, I will. So if you would like to have one of these petitions to sign to vote Tishomingo County wet send me a letter and your address and I will be glad to mail you one. My address is: Charles Aldridge at 1899 Indian Creek Rd., Iuka, MS 38852.

Farmington Officials Switch to Republicans

During an event in Farmington (Alcorn County) yesterday, seven city officials became the newest elected leaders to join the Mississippi Republican Party. The following officials made the switch to the GOP at a ceremony featuring U.S. Senator Roger Wicker: Mayor Dale Fortenberry, Vice Mayor Lowell Gann, Police Chief Tony Holmes, Alderman Johnny Potts, Alderman Mac Grisham, Alderman Bill Herbert, Alderman Earnest Cole. "The Republican Party welcomes these officials to our team", MSGOP Chairman Joe Nosef said. "It is increasingly clear that conservatives in our state have only one home and that is the Mississippi Re-publican Party." Governor Phil Bryant said, "The Re-publican Party of Mississippi gladly welcomes new members to its rolls, and the party's growth is testament to the hard work and dedication of its members and staff. We look forward to continue growing our numbers throughout the state." "It is exciting to welcome new members to the Republican party," said Senator Wicker. "A majority of Mississippians share our conservative principles. Our party is growing, and today's announcements are proof."

Since 2009, the Mississippi Republican Party has welcomed more than 60 elected officials to its ranks. As the party for fiscal and social conservatives, the Mississippi Republican Party is primed for growth. We will continue to protect and promote the values shared by Mississippians and we encourage all who believe in these similar principles to join us in the efforts.

Local Girl Scouts Kick Off Cookie Season

January 4, 2013 - The Girl Scouts Heart of the South council is gearing up to kick off pre-order cookie sales, beginning this Saturday, January 5.

Girl Scouts will begin taking orders this Saturday through January 28. Cookies will then arrive between February 16 and February 21. Booth sales will begin February 22 and run through March 17.

This year, Girl Scouts of the USA is celebrating the release of a new cookie box design. To celebrate, February 8th has been designated National Girl Scout Cookie Day. The goal of this day will be to raise awareness of the five skills that Girl Scouts gain through the cookie program: Goal Setting, Decision Making, Money Management, People Skills and Business Ethics.

Jenny Jones, GSUS Director of Marketing and Communications, said, "The Girl Scout Cookie Program supports girls in their development of leadership skills and so much more. We want to thank everyone for supporting the girls as they begin this year's program. Every time you support girls through the Girl Scout Cookie Program, you are increasing girls' abilities to make the world a better place in your own community."

The Girl Scouts will again be offering the "Savannah Smiles" cookie, which debuted in 2012 to commemorate the 100th anniversary of GSUSA. Other cookie offerings include the traditional varieties: Thin Mints, Samoas, Do-Si-Dos, Tagalongs, Trefoils, Dulce de Leche and Thank You

Berry Munch. Find your local Girl Scout Cookie Professional (Girl Scout) at GirlScoutCookies.org to order your favorite Girl Scout Cookies. Girl Scout Cookies are priced the same as last year at $3.50 per box.

All proceeds raised through the Girl Scouts Heart of the South Council cookie program remain within the council and help to facilitate the needs of local Girl Scout troops. Buy cookies. Support girls.

Final Seconds - Junior Jay Brock checks the scoreboard during a late time-out Tuesday night, when the TCHS Braves won their first home game of the season against the Itawamba AHS Indians, with a final score of 55-53. It was also the first division win for the Braves, who hope to keep up the good work in 2013. The Braves host Corinth Friday night at home, and hope everyone will come out to support them.

I hope everyone had a very Merry Christmas and all students enjoyed the nice long break! Happy 2013 and may it be one of the best years ever! I hope everyone is able to keep their New Year's resolutions even if it is only for a few months! Whether it's losing weight, keeping healthy, or making new friends, may the force be with you! Even though the students were out of the classrooms during the break, Belmont sure didn't take a break from sports!

The Friday school let out for the holidays, Belmont hosted Red Bay with Jr. High, JV and High School

Eastport, Mississippi: Its Birth and Death

This item, originally published in the Tishomingo County News (Iuka, Miss.), December 9, 1976, was written by Irene Barnes and transcribed by RaNae Vaughn.

All ghost towns are not in the west. Eastport, Mississippi, located at the head of steamboat navigation on the Mississippi side of the Tennessee River in Tishomingo County, is extinct. The river port landing there is now flooded by the waters of Pickwick Dam Reservoir.

Eastport, so early citizens have told, was in two separate localities. The first settlement was made on the water's edge and a disastrous flood came, sweeping away much of the town, but undaunted, the citizens built a better town on the hill, overlooking the bend of the river with Bear Creek in the distance.

A more beautiful location could never have been found! Here on this beautiful bluff, overlooking the scenic Tennessee River, was built a town of good homes, brick sidewalks, two churches—Methodist and Baptist—a Masonic Lodge, a hotel called The Mansion House, and a female college in which were taught higher mathematics, mental and moral philosophy, Latin, French, fine sewing, the making of wax and hair flowers, and various other subjects.

P. Coburn.

Eastport was given its name because it served as the port of contact with other towns and villages. It was to this shipping and supply port that plantation owners and farmers brought their produce for shipment to market and it was from this port that manufactured goods and supplies from other parts of the country were obtained. Wagon trains traveled by day and camped at well-known camping grounds at night. A trip from Tupelo to Eastport usually required three days and nights. Five or six steamboats at a time would often be tied up at Eastport, unloading merchandise and reloading with commodities for shipment to market.

An old timer once told of a trip he made to Eastport when he was 10 years old with his Uncle John from Itawamba County, Mississippi, in a steer wagon. It took six days to make the trip, carrying six bales of cotton in an old homemade tar wagon. The old timer said there were 15 or 20 stores with enormous stocks of groceries and hardware. After Uncle John sold the cotton to a Mr. Briggs and was buying supplies to carry home, he noticed Uncle John frequently visited the open barrels of whiskey stored in a side room. It was raining that day and Uncle John had worn buckskin pants. As they got wet and stretched, he kept cutting off the legs with his knife. When they stopped to camp that night, Uncle John's britches got dry and crawled up to his knees. He had to go back to Eastport and buy him another pair.

As the last of the Chickasaw Indians left in 1837 for their new home in Indian Territory, many white families moved into the new country to establish homes and take advantage of the newly opened territory. Although no data has been found on record to prove its population, tradition says Eastport was a thriving town of some 2,000 people. There were manufacturers, carpenters, shoe makers, saddle makers, tanners, millers, merchants, cabinet makers, physicians, druggists, farmers, and traders of all sorts who came to settle at Eastport.

Two Governors of the State of Mississippi first settled at Eastport. Governor John M. Stone came to Eastport about 1854 from Milan, Tennessee, where he had been a school teacher. He clerked in a store in Eastport for a time before moving to Iuka to become station agent for the Memphis & Charleston Railroad, later known as the Southern Railroad.

Governor Robert Lowery moved from South Carolina with his father to Eastport in 1840 when he was nine years old. He then went to Smith County at the age of 10 years to live with an uncle, and from Smith County, he became Governor in 1881.

George Price Hamerly, born in Athens, Ala., in 1829, came to Eastport, Miss., at the age of 21 years and accepted a position as a salesman for A. T. Matthews. Mr. Matthews came to Eastport from Virginia.

John H. Doan, a merchant, was born in South Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Doan located at Eastport where they reared 10 children.

Among others at Eastport were: J. M. Nelson, merchant from S.C.; Thomas Billings, grocer, Tenn.; John Briggs, merchant, Ireland; George Wingo, saddler, Ala.; J. Wheelock, carpenter, Mass.; W. B. Terry, planter, Tenn.; J. H. Hill, trader, England; John Barnett, farmer, S.C.; W. H. Muse, merchant, N.C.; Samuel Dewoody, druggist, Tenn.; R. T. Rutledge, merchant, S.C.; H. S. Brown, merchant, Va.; George Shehan, clerk, Ireland; Amber Bugg, farmer, Ga.; A. M. Scruggs, physician, Tenn.; J. B. Moore, physician, S.C.; Dan Castleberry, farmer, Ga.; J. McMahan, farmer, Ireland; G. W. Harvey, physician, Ireland.

Eastport had her part in the Civil War. In one instance, after the Battle of Shiloh, the Federal gunboats pushed up the river and assembled at Eastport. A report from Brig. Gen. Sherman's headquarters at Shiloh, dated April 2, 1862, says "Eastport Landing during the late freshet must have been about 12 feet water, but at the present stage the landing is the best I have seen on the Tennessee River. The levee is clear of trees and snags, and a hundred boats could land there without confusion." His object was to dislodge the enemy from batteries recently erected near Eastport. The old "breast works" thrown up throughout the hills surrounding Eastport are still plainly visible and souvenir hunters still rake the hill sides for relics of the Battle at Eastport.

A detachment of 500 men and three cannons had been sent from Gen. Forrest's headquarters in North Alabama to Eastport. They took a position on the hill overlooking the river landing and at daybreak opened fire on the Federal gunboats lying at anchor in the river. The Federals cut loose from anchor and pushed off to drift out of range of the cannon fire. This left the Union soldiers in camp near the landing in panic. Many Negroes had attached themselves to the Union forces, and remembering what had happened to the Negroes in another battle a short time before, they were seized with consternation. A great number of Negroes plunged into the river and tried to swim to the retreating gunboats and hundreds drowned, according to the report. Forrest's men, who were few in number compared with the Union forces, soon withdrew, having accomplished their mission of putting fear into the Union forces. The main struggle at Eastport occurred October 14, 1862.

The first post office was established at Eastport on May 30, 1842, with John Buttrill as postmaster. Those who followed were: Samuel Dewoody, Sept. 23, 1850; Wm. C. Phillips, April 30, 1856; Joseph S. Leake, Feb. 12, 1857; Wm. C. Phillips, Aug. 6, 1857; James H. Gillespie, May 5, 1858; John B. Alexander, Nov. 9, 1865; Benjamin Bence, Aug. 18, 1869; Wm. H. Banner, June 15, 1877; John W. Price, Aug. 18, 1879; Pinckney H. Davis, Sept. 13, 1880; Wm. H. Banner, Oct. 12, 1881. The office was "discontinued to Iuka" on Dec. 18, 1883, but was re-established April 28, 1887, with Amelia Price as postmaster. It was discontinued again to Iuka on Nov. 9, 1889, but was re-established Feb. 20, 1892, with Rufus Skinner as postmaster. The post office was finally discontinued on Dec. 12, 1892.

Mr. Skinner was also the last merchant left after Eastport had met its doom. In 1892, he still conducted a general mercantile business in an old rundown shinghaied building, some 30 feet wide and 75 feet long. A number of similar buildings were along what had been "Main Street," but they were being used by colored families who had taken possession of them for living quarters. A few comparatively nice dwellings still remained at this time and were occupied by local farmers.

All went well with Eastport until the coming of the railroad. When the railroad surveys were made those in charge of the enterprise made propositions to the people of Eastport looking to building of the road by that place. They asked for a donation of $50,000 as a bonus. The short-sighted people at Eastport refused to do anything, probably thinking the railroad would necessarily be forced to come by, and at that time, they had good transportation by water anywhere. After it was too late, they saw their error and read the doom of their town. The railroad was completed in 1855.

Who the first white settlers were will never be known. Living so far from civilization, there were no gravestones erected to mark the last resting place of these pioneers. Later when the town of Eastport ceased to exist, sacrilegious plows are said to have desecrated the graves of those where tombstones were erected. A few who were buried in private grounds are still intact, but they are not among the earliest settlers.

The hand of time has completed its work and now the town of Eastport is no more. Eastport is now a boat dock and fishing resort. The Pickwick Reservoir Waterfront, which surrounds the scenic hills of Old Eastport, is flanked with beautiful homes and cabins where owners come to enjoy the peace and solitude of this lovely spot.

To those who know its history and love its stories and legends, Eastport must always be an enshrined place. It was through this port that many of our ancestors came more than a hundred years ago to establish homes and tame the wild country. In its ruin there is glory!
