Tishomingo County Enjoys Tuesday Snowfall

Pamela McRae
After weeks of below-freezing temperatures, and snow flurries more days than not lately, Tishomingo County finally got the snow that "stuck" in the ears of Tuesday, February 11.

The call students have been waiting for since last November came about 6 a.m. Tuesday. Joel Robertson announcing "due to snowy, icy roads, Tishomingo County Schools will be out Tuesday, February 11."

After moms fell back into bed for a little while, children who can't be awakened without a pail of water on their faces (school days) were run through homes yelling, "It's snowing!" It was time to grab a hoodie and head back in there and find your coat,") some non-matching gloves, (or even some socks!) and go outside to play! The best parents prepared "snow cream" for breakfast, and of course, everyone took pictures! A good snowfall in Mississippi is something to be treasured and recorded for posterity!

Some Accidents

For the most part, folks remembered to stay in and keep warm, but a few brave souls ventured out. There were several vehicles that slid off the road, especially on Ridge Road south of Belmont, according to the Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department.

No injuries were reported.

Impacts

In addition to school being let out, basketball games for Tuesday were postponed to Thursday night for TCHS's games hosting New Site for Senior Night. Games are scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday.

Banks, grocery stores, the courthouse, and a few other businesses were closed - but most people stayed at home anyway.

This edition is being sent for early printing and delivery in anticipation of more wintry weather Tuesday night.

More Forecasted

Tuesday night worse weather was forecasted, according to the Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department. Four-to-six inches of snow was expected to accumulate between 9 p.m. Tuesday and 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Authorities urge residents to stay home unless absolutely necessary when the roads are icy.

20 Years Ago County Experienced The Ice Storm

by Pamela McRae

Twenty years ago February 10th, Tishomingo County residents woke to what sounded like gunshots in their yards.

It was the now infamous Ice Storm of 1994. It was a tree-shattering, electric line-snapping ice storm that paralyzed much of north Mississippi and the surrounding region for as much as several weeks. At the height of the impact, as many as 750,000 people were without electricity and drinkable water.

Damage estimates in the region were near $1 billion, like a hurricane - but it was cold the whole time that power lines were down. Timber forests and landscape trees suffered equally - whole trees fell over with the weight of the ice on their limbs - crushing structures, vehicles and power lines unlucky enough to be under them. And that was after many of their branches snapped off and fell to the ground creating a deadly obstacle course for anyone outside.

News reports from 1994 said that the supervisors reported that Tishomingo County spent $300,000 on just brush removal.

The February 24, 1994 edition quoted Tishomingo County Electric Power Association Executive Director Robert Grisham estimating that "almost all power within the county should be restored by the weekend" - fifteen days after the initial storm. People at the end of service lines were without power even longer.

Governor Kirk Fordice declared the affected region a disaster area February 10th, and President Bill Clinton declared a federal disaster ten days later, February 20th, at the urging of Senator Trent Lott.

If you lived through it, you will always remember those days that forced a lot of us back to pioneer times - heating homes with wood fires and wood stoves, heating water for a sponge bath each morning, cooking on a grill or wood stove, families and neighbors working and living together, and leaning on each other for support.

Chainsaws and generators became hot commodities, and reports from the 1994 papers mention that Attorney General Mike Moore was sending four teams of investigators to the area to check reports of price gouging.

In rural Tishomingo County, citizens were lucky enough to at least know how to deal with the situation. Teams of men in trucks hit the road with chainsaws to clear access for neighbors; especially ones in need of potential medical help.

"We'd saw our way in, and then saw our way back out - through all the stuff that fell after we got through the first time," recalled Neil Edmonson.

For months after the storm, the sound of chainsaws filled the air as property owners cleared damage from the storm.

We have had many responses to a request for ice storm stories. We hope you enjoy them, and we hope that by the time this paper comes out, we have not suffered through another one!

Sonic Had Record Days

At that time we were in the old Sonic location on Constitution Drive. We never lost power, but everyone else did. We watched the big oak tree in front of the power office crumble.

When it started getting dark, people began to come in for food. We had sent everyone home because of the weather and only my wife and I were there. We did the best we could and random people came inside offering to help us. No one seemed to mind waiting up to a half hour for an order. We had people calling from Selmer, Tennessee, calling to see if we were open.

The two weeks following were the busiest we ever were at that location. They were making onion rings in Amory and trucking them to us because we didn't have time.

Every employee we had worked open to close and we rented a hotel room in Corinth where everyone could take turns showering and washing clothes. The people of luka and the surrounding area have always been good to us. Times like that remind us what a blessing it to be part of the community.

Iguana Couldn't Survive

We had no power for a week, but had gas heat. Also had water since I lived in town. My parents on Red Bud Road and sister in Tishomingo came to get water until they got theirs back. My son lost his iguana since it got too cold for him.

Moving in with In-Laws

We had no power for 21 days. I remember listening to the tree limbs break off. It sounded like gunshots. Luckily, my in-laws had wood heat at the time. We stayed with them. We were able to cook on the wood stove and heat water for baths and laundry.

Railroads Had to be Cleared, Too

Long story short, I worked for Norfolk Southern railroad at the time. Dispatchers reported trees down up and down the line. We cut trees through the night; couldn't see them fall but you could hear them explode! Didn't know where they were going to land. I got home the next day and had no power 14 days; not fun at all.

Shopping by Flashlight

The first day my grandfather and I headed out with everyone's grocery list and a chainsaw. Destination: Nelson's Supermarket, when we arrived we were given a flashlight and a sharpie for our shopping trip. Flashlight for seeing and sharpie for prices! We lived at Mt. Gilead, and had no power or water for 17 days. There was plenty of food; I think my Mom and Grandma cooked everything they had in the big chest-type freezers. The house had to be painted from using the old Tyme coal oil lamps inside. Great memories, but wouldn't want to relive it.

Jennifer Wheeler Harmon

Candles in the Tub

I called my mom to check on how she was doing. She told me her power was out, and knowing there was not any backup heat there, I loaded up a kerosene heater, went and bought a few gallons of kerosene, and headed to Iuka. When I got to Mom's house, the door was locked, and she didn't come when I knocked, so I used my key and got in, and went looking for her. Turned out, she was in the upstairs bathroom, door closed, and about 15 candles in the bath tub, using the toilet for a chair. To my surprise, it was very warm in there. She said she was afraid of fire with so many candles and that is why they were in the tub, and of course, the bathroom is a pretty small place to heat. Pretty smart on her part I think, don't think I would ever have thought of candles in the bathtub as a place to keep warm. Fired up the kerosene heater in the den, and dug out a little propane camp stove, and we made it just fine.

Her electrical service is on the same line as WalMart, and the old Ford Dealer, and they had power restored by that evening. (I guess those were the main revenue generators for the City of Iuka then, and they got first priority)

Fear of Going Into Labor

My memories of the ice storm 20 years ago are filled with fear of going into labor and not being able to get to Tupelo. I was 9 months pregnant with Katie. Thank goodness she waited a week! She was born on the 17th! I was scared to do anything for fear of triggering labor! LOL I didn't even want to go outside. Luckily we were not out of power but just a few days and we had gas heat. We survived and have a good story to tell.

Beth Booker Brown

Back to the Old Days

After hearing the trees beside the house breaking that morning, and thinking, apparently, not much of it, me and my husband of less than a year drove all the way from Tishomingo to the NASA plant to work for about 3 hours before it became clear we all needed to go home. It took us an hour or more to get near our home, and we finally had to walk the last quarter mile in a field, to avoid all the falling branches. We walked right past our house - our driveway was unrecognizable with all the downed trees! I was eight months pregnant with Mary, so my husband parked me on the couch and fetched the Ashley wood heater from the shed -cutting his way there and back to the house with a chainsaw. Using just a dolly, he got it into our house and set up himself (we had just gotten central heat and I was so happy to get that big ole monster out of my living room!) Kent McClung arrived soon after to help clear the driveway, saying, "You might need to have that baby any minute!" Just what a young mom-to-be needs to hear!

For 21 days we had no power, but used that stove to warm water to bathe, to cook and keep warm. His parents came to stay with us when it was apparent it was going to be a while before power was restored. We ate steak every night - since the freezer was full from a recent "meat man" delivery!

My daddy in Oklahoma shipped us a generator, since there were none to be bought. We watched the Olympics a couple nights!

Mary was born March 6th, and chainsaws ran outside her window for months after she came home. She's been the soundest sleeper ever since!

Pets of the Week!

Congratulations to Molley Ann & Lillianna Crane!! The sweethearts are our Pets of the Week at Iuka Animal Hospital. This is what their owners have to say about them: "Hi, Molley Ann (I am a brown Tabby cat) and Lillianna (I am a white Tabby cat) Crane. It's impossible to tell our color differences in black and white photos. They called our mom to tell us they made Pet of the Week and they needed photos and a story about each of us. It's very difficult to do a short story when we have such full lives with the help of Dr. Perkins, all of his staff and his family.

We are sisters of the same litter. I, Molley Ann, am the first and Lillianna was born the last of four of us. Our cat had a very difficult delivery. Lillianna was born breed end came out first). At first she was wiggly and trying out but suddenly all movement stopped. Our human and Tracey were helping our cat mom, Trixie, deliver. Mom, Rhonda had to get Lillianna out and once out she was lifeless and not breathing but Mom, Rhonda, gently rubbed her face and started resuscitation. After what felt like hours was only a few seconds my baby sister gurgled and started breathing. Ever since, Lillianna has deemed herself loved.

Our parents, Rhonda and Ronnie, love us all the same. We have five cat-kids. We are loved and cared for beyond words. We were born on Memorial Day, May 30th, 2005. Lillianna and I could write a short story about us and it would take up the entire newspaper!" Join Dr. Perkins and congratulate Molley Ann and Lillianna Crane as our Pets of the Week.

Art Gallery Features Black History Month Exhibit in Corinth

by Jebb Johnston, Corinthian

Kimberly Bates enjoys the challenge of telling a story without speaking a word.

She gets the job done with splashes of paint and brushstrokes on a blank canvas. The talents of Bates and other black artists are currently featured at the Corinth Artist Guild Gallery in honor of Black History Month. The exhibit runs through March 8 at the new gallery location at 1115 Fillmore Street.

From landscapes or still life spring forth from her canvas. Her abstracted worlds are left open to interpretation.

I have always loved the idea that we cannot see everything and that there are different planes of existence and reality," said Bates. "Fantasy allows me to peer into those hidden worlds and bring them to life within the hearts and minds of others."

Guild President Sonny Boatman welcomes the opportunity to showcase something different.

"This show is quite unique in a number of ways," he said. "The artwork is larger than we usually have, and we usually have more figurative, realistic paintings. We've had really good reactions to this abstract expressionist work."

Several of the paintings have already sold.

A native of Baton Rouge, La., 28-year-old Bates is studying art and design.

The other artists featured in this collective exhibit are:

• Corinth High School graduate Anthony Legett, who is currently pursuing a bachelor of science in art with a minor in theater at the University of North Alabama.

"I feel my work plays with the idea of what is beautiful and what is expected in society," said Leggett, who is expected to be on hand for Thursday's opening. "I like to take this idea and stretch and exaggerate it."

• Edward Eugene Wade Jr., a resident of Marianna, Ark., who studied graphic arts at Oshkosh University. He produces vivid watercolors of a wide variety of subjects.

• Keegan Love, a 2005 University of Mississippi graduate whose dimensional works have been a part of the gallery collection for some time. He holds a bachelor of fine arts in sculpture.

• Terrance Thomas, a West Tennessee native who takes an impressionistic approach with a touch of realism in his acrylic paintings.

February 17th is Random Acts of Kindness Day

Each year "Random Acts of Kindness Day" is observed on February 17th.

An influential publisher, William J. H. (1873-1962), stated: "Your greatness is measured by your deeds ... and your real greatness is measured by the dedication you have for the service of others."

To contribute to this special day, the Tishomingo County Historical & Genealogical Society (TCHGS) located at the Old Courthouse Museum in Iuka, Miss., wants to inspire people to practice genealogical kindness. The Society is dedicated to providing genealogical tools and resources, and to that end, we want to offer a special act of genealogical kindness. ### Tawanna Van Studdard Helton Sweetheart going on 18 years. Honey Valentine's Day is here. There is not a day that I don't shed plenty of tears knowing that you are gone. I have no one here to spend this day with. I miss you day and night. The only way I can make it is to talk to Jesus Christ. I talk to Him quite a lot asking Him to get me out of this spot. There will never be a day that I will not have you in my heart each and every day and especially on Valentine's Day. We all miss you very much in a loving, hurting way. We hope to be together again someday.

CONSERVATION CORNER Hypothermia

by James L. Cummins

While for the most part we live in a warm state, Mississippi can get very cold, especially when considering our high humidity. For example, a few years ago a friend came to visit from Colorado and wanted to go for a jog early one January morning. I told him it was cold - about 35 degrees Fahrenheit - and he reminded me he was from Colorado and could handle it. When he returned, he said if felt much colder than what he was familiar with out West.

When we are in a cold environment, our bodies can lose heat faster than it can generate it. The body will adjust by constricting blood vessels at the surface of the skin, shutting down perspiration and increasing muscular activity, which we call shivering. This is the beginning of hypothermia. Hypothermia is one of the leading causes of death among outdoorsmen. Wind-chill can also greatly reduce the time it takes for hypothermia to set in.

Some symptoms of hypothermia (defined as body temperature of less than 95 degrees Fahrenheit) may also include slurred speech, incoherence, numbness and impaired gait. Shivering is valuable clue, but hypothermic individuals whose body temperature is lower than 90 degrees Fahrenheit may not shiver or even feel cold. The individual may appear corpse-like due to the pale color of his or her skin, lack of spontaneous motion and a faint pulse.

Odds are, medical attention is needed, but until that can be accomplished, you need to begin gradually re-warming the affected person. First, remove all wet clothing and place the victim in dry blankets in a warm environment. Offer non-alcoholic fluids. Movement of the victim must be limited and gentle. The goal should be to get the victim to a hospital as soon as possible. The potential complications are many and some can even be fatal.

To help prevent hypothermia from happening to you, wear suitable clothing and protect your exposed areas. Heavy clothing is preferred over gloves. Wear layers of loose clothing. Wear pairs of socks - cotton next to skin on top will help protect your feet from frostbite.

If you are camping, use the proper sleeping bag for the temperature. Heating up water, putting it in a bag and placing it in the sleeping bag will help keep one warm also.

Remember that certain people are very susceptible - the elderly with circulatory problems (peripheral vascular disease, diabetes, peripheral neuropathy, Raynaud's syndrome) and those on certain medications such as beta-blockers (for hypertension and heart problems). You certainly want to take your medication, but be aware that it may put you at increased risk for cold-related problems. You should have prolonged exposure to the cold.

Every Person On Election

I am posing this question, because I have some people say everybody is elected. I've already stated in a previous article that the word "election" has indicate that some are, and some are not. There are several references in the New Testament will help us with this question. First, I will use 1:1: "Paul, a servant of God, and an apostle of Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, the acknowledging the truth which is of Godliness." This verse states that God's elect have faith in God, so not one could be elect because some people only do not have faith in God! We see also that who are God's elect know the truth, and the truth that is Godliness. Those who claim that they are elect, yet are living according to the dictates of the flesh, are not in line with what is taught here!

Matthew 24:24 says, "there shall arise false prophets, and false prophets, shall show great signs and wonders; inasmuch as if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

These false Christ prophets will appear during the tribulation to give those dwelling on earth, yet the elect will not be deceived, for our Lord indicates that it will not be possible to deceive the elect. This shows clearly that not all people are elect, for no one would be deceived, if that were the case! Matthew 24:31 says that God will send angels, and they will gather together His elect from one end of heaven everybody will be in this gathering! Luke 18:7-8 says, "And shall not God avenge His Own elect, which cry day and night unto Him, though He bear long with them? I tell you that He will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth." It is God's elect who will be avenged concerning those who have mistreated and misused them, not the whole world! Romans 8:33 says,

"Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth." Nobody can bring any charge against God's elect and make it stick, since God has already justified the elect! This certainly is not true of everybody, for the unsaved will have charges laid against them by the Lord Himself! Colossians 3:12-13 says, "Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long-suffering;

Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye."

Here we learn that the saved are also called "the elect", for we are told that Christ has forgiven us, thus we are to forgive others. We also learn that the elect are not yet perfect, for the Colossian church was admonished to put on certain things that it evidently had not fully put on before. So, the word

"elect" refers only to those who are saved, or to those who shall be saved at some point in their earthly life, and everybody is not in this group! (By J. Briggs King, Evangelist, Burnsville, MS (662) 427-0350)

American Legion Post Reaches Milestone

By Donald Grant
Commander Legion Post 15

Iuka's American Legion Post has recently reached a milestone in its organization. Its membership reached 139 in January of this year, which is the highest membership of Iuka's Post since 1933. At that time the Post high was 132 members.

Originally formed in 1920 as Post 126 and named for two WWI Veterans who were classified as DIA (Disappeared in Action), the Smith-Scruggs Post struggled to remain open through the years and in June 1925, the organization lost its Charter. It only had

In November 1933 it reformed and was chartered as Tishomingo County Post 15 and its membership had remained approximately 110 between 1934-1943. In 1947 the Post built its present lodgings, across from the present day National Guard Armory on Spring Street. The membership began to decline and several years ago it was down to about 12 members. Thanks to the present day dedicated officers, the Post has steadily grown to its present membership. "We will continue to grow with qualified, interested Veterans from our area."

PUBLIC HEARING

Resolution of the Tishomingo County, Mississippi Board of Supervisors
Came this matter on to be heard on the petition of Nolan Wells for the abandonment and closing of a certain portion of County Road 68 pursuant to Section 65-7-121 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as annotated and amended, and the Board finds the motion is well taken and is hereby sustained. Therefore, the Board does hereby find, order and resolves as follows:
That the Petitioner Nolan Wells is an adult resident citizen of 5th District of Tishomingo County, Mississippi and has presented a petition to close County Road 68 and the Board having considered said petition finds that the land serviced by the portion of County Road 68 is wholly owned by the Petitioner and does not provide primary access to occupied properties; and
The Board further finds and resolves that the traffic on said section of road has been intermittent and of such low volume for a period of the last ten years that no substantial public purpose is being served by the section of road remaining a public road; and
The Board further finds and resolves that for a period of at least the previous five years that County has not maintained such section of County Road 68 as part of the county road system; therefore
The Board does find that there shall be a public hearing on the question of whether or not to abandon said section of County Road 68 and that notice of said public hearing shall be published in the county paper for at least two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing; and

The Board does hereby set the public hearing to determine this issue for the 18th day of February, 2014 at the Tishomingo County Courthouse at the Boardroom of the Chancery Clerk's office at 1008 Battleground Drive, luka, Mississippi at 10 a.m. or as soon thereafter as may be heard.
So found, ordered and resolved this the 3rd day of February, 2014.
