NEMCC Manufacturing Academy Cuts the Ribbon

Gary Matthews

September 18, 2017, Iuka, Mississippi. A partnership of Northeast Mississippi Community College, Mississippi Silicon, Rural Development Partners, Appalachian Regional Commission, and Tennessee Valley Authority has committed $237,033 to a manufacturing academy at Northeast Mississippi Community College Iuka Campus.

The academy is providing space, furnishings, utilities, high speed Internet for the academy. The funds will be used to provide specialized job training and for gas cards for unemployed and underemployed persons to attend the academy. The manufacturing academy opened on September 18, 2017, and is free to applicants. Mississippi Silicon Human Resource Director Mark Ivey stated that "we are pleased to partner with Rural Development Partners, Appalachian Regional Commission, Tishomingo County, Tennessee Valley Authority, and Northeast Mississippi Community College to help prepare workers for jobs in modern manufacturing. Mississippi Silicon will offer internships and apprenticeships to successful NEMCC program participants."

NEMCC Workforce Instructor Remington Wilson stressed that "our goal is to empower people to be able to get a job anywhere, not just in manufacturing. The skills you learn in this course are applicable to every job. Some of the topics we cover include health and safety procedures on the job, CPR, efficiency methods, precision measuring, interview skills, among others. Graduates of the program earn up to five certifications that employers look for when considering new hires."

Tishomingo County Board of Supervisors President Greg Collier stated that "Tishomingo County has been fortunate over the past decade to be able to recruit many fine industries to our county, industries such as BMSI, Comfort Revolution, Contract Fabricators, G&G Steel, HAGO Automotive, KX Technologies, Max Home, Mississippi Silicon, Roll Form Group, Skyline Steel, Tiffin Motorhomes, Vanleigh RV, Villa International, and others. In addition, we have won several significant industrial expansions and are working on other projects as we speak. Virtually all of the industries that we have mentioned are seeking workers with skills. We urge our citizens to take advantage of NEMCC's manufacturing academy, make a brighter future for yourself, and help us meet the needs of our businesses and industries for skilled and trainable employees."

Nichole Brasel Williams, former Iuka resident, works as an engineer at Cooper Tire's Tupelo plant. She was one of nine Tire Manufacturing Ambassadors who recently visited Capitol Hill in D.C. to communicate the tire industry's contributions and key issues to legislatures. Tire Manufacturing Ambassadors and staff met with several congressional offices on September 15, where Williams shared about her role at Cooper and the contributions the company provides to local communities.

Williams, was selected to participate as an ambassador for her leadership skills, ability to motivate others and for demonstrating professional and ethical excellence. Joining the company in 2013, she leads the Tupelo facility's process capability improvement efforts. She is also a member of Cooper's "Dream Team," a group of early-career employees across the nation who serve as ambassadors in local middle schools to promote manufacturing as an excellent career choice. In 2016, she was honored as a "Women in Manufacturing" STEP (Science, Technology, Engineering and Production) Ahead Award-Emerging Leader, a prestigious recognition for women in manufacturing who are under the age of 30. Oldest "Radio Ham" Operators in Tishomingo County Reminisce Amateur radio operators have been around for over 100 years, and this is still a popular hobby today with over 801,424 licensed operators in the U.S. as of 2016. Mr. Reid has been a Ham operator since 1956 and Mr. Hutcheson started in 1962 when he first obtained his license. "Ham" is a nickname that was adopted by amateur radio operators. These radio Hams use equipment to make contact with individuals all over the world.

Mr. Hutcheson states that he has communicated with people from China, Vietnam and Israel; aside from the usual U.S.A. contact. Once you communicate with someone via the two-way radio system they will typically send a QSL card as something of a receipt of the contact that was made. Collecting these cards becomes a side hobby of the stations because the cards are unique from each Ham that communicates on the radio frequencies.

Back in the day when the men acquired their license; they traveled to Memphis, TN to take the test required to obtain it. Today the whole process for licensure is available online. The amateur radio operators are given an amateur radio license by the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) after passing the exam. A component of the license, gives individuals a call sign used for identification during communication. Today there are currently around three million amateur radio operators worldwide.

Pet of the Week

SAY HELLO TO AB-BIE! This pretty girl is our Pet Of The Week at Iuka Animal Clinic. This is what Abbie's owners Terry and Beth Smullins have to say about her. Abbie is a 5 month old Australian Sheppard. She is full of energy and loves to play. She is always getting into some type of puppy mischief. She lives to help her owners with chores around the house, including trying to wash the car. With all of her puppy energy she keeps her owners entertained. When she does relax, Abbie loves to be pampered and sit in her very own chair. She brings such joy to her family.

When you bring a new dog into your life, you make a commitment to its health and well being. During the first few months of your puppy's life, vaccinations are very important. During a puppy's first visit with a vet, it will receive the first of a series of puppy vaccinations, and your puppy will need booster shots every few weeks until they are 4 to 5 months old. These vaccines protect your puppy against distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis, parvovirus, parainfluenza, and rabies. Also deworming is very important to prevent intestinal parasites. Another early dog health care need is spaying or neutering. If you are not planning to breed your dog, you should get them spayed or neutered prior to six months of age. Early spaying or neutering prevents accidental pregnancies and diminishes the likelihood of health and behavior problems like mammary cancer (in female dogs) and marking (in male dogs).

som emphasized that "a lot of people have worked for years to make this free academy a reality. Now, those who desire to create a better future for themselves and their families have a way to do so at no cost to them."

Clarence McGregor, Vice President, Rural Development Partners, stated that "we are impressed with this beautiful facility and gratified to see how the grant funds are being used to help the unemployed and underemployed to acquire job skills that will help them succeed in the workplace and that the project will be deemed successful."

President Ricky Ford said that "Northeast Mississippi Community College is pleased to present this program on behalf of Mississippi Silicon, Rural Development Partners, Appalachian Regional Commission, Tishomingo County, and Tennessee Valley Authority."

Specific aspects of the manufacturing academy include the following: NCRC WORKKEYS. NCRC is the National Career Readiness Certificate. It is an industry portable national credential developed by ACT. The assessment takes approximately four hours to complete. The results of the assessment confirms a person's basic intellectual workplace skills and abilities such as the ability to solve problems, think critically, understand workplace documents and graphic literacy, apply math skills, and locate and analyze information. MANUFACTURING ACADEMY-PART ONE: NECESSARY SKILLS/SMART START. 45-hour course covering career exploration, diversity training, teamwork and problem-solving, communication and listening skills, goal setting and time management, professional image, roles of employers and employees, financial awareness/life skills, workplace documents, applied math, and graphic literacy.

MANUFACTURING ACADEMY-PART TWO: MANUFACTURING SKILLS. 50-hour course includes the CRC exam and expands employability skills listed in the Smart Start section. In addition, the blended learning approach provides knowledge and application in OSHA-10, Heartsaver CPR, production documents (reading ortho drawings, dimensioning and tolerancing), precision measurement (instruments, calculations, conversions, etc.), and high-performance manufacturing (lean, 5S, value stream, quality tools, SPC, quality management systems, etc.). prised of several workstations that measure physical performance in a basic industry environment. Results are reported on a person's ability to lift, walk, bend, squat, pull, stretch, assemble, solve problems, follow safety and task instructions, climb, and use hand tools. GAS CARDS. Applicants attending classes will be awarded a $25 gas card during each week of perfect attendance. Upon completion of the entire program, an additional $100 will be awarded, up to $250 total per person.

INTERVIEWS. Graduates will be guaranteed an interview at Mississippi Silicon. Hiring is at company discretion based on normal hiring practices. Other companies have indicated a desire to interview those who may not be hired by Mississippi Silicon.

INTERNSHIPS. Graduates who meet minimum hiring guidelines will be encouraged to apply for the internship program. Preference is given to applicants who live in at-risk conditions. Up to 16 individuals will be selected to participate in the program. Northeast will hold $54,000 of the grant money submitted by Rural Development Partners to reimburse Mississippi Silicon 50% of the apprentice's salary. Letter to the Editor

No Need for Vicious Talk

I was amazed and sickened by the venom and malicious statements made on social media about the Tourism Tax vote in Tishomingo County. Everyone is entitled to their opinion on whether the 2 percent tax was either a good idea or a bad one, but that's why we have elections. Why couldn't our population choose to agree or disagree? There was no need for the viciousness that came out of some folks who consider themselves Christians.

At the same time, I would suggest that the Board of Supervisors disband the Tourism Council and start over. If so many people in Tish-omingo County lack confidence in the Council, and if they seem to perform service than just advertisements in publications, then the council is not being proactive.

Sincerely,
R. Hudson

Big Headlines in 1975!

This photo appeared in the May 1, 1975 issue of the Tishomingo County News. $15,000 worth of marijuana was seized in the county. The photo shows the 45 lbs of marijuana that was caught near the Mississippi-Tennessee State Line. The men in the photo are officials that had kept the car containing the drug under surveillance. They are, from left: James Martin, intern deputy with the Tishomingo County Sheriff's Department; James E. Timbes, Constable of the 2nd District; Tishomingo County Sheriff George W. Cutshall; Charlie Goforth, Officer with the Mississippi Bureau of Investigation; James H. Bishop, Sheriff's Deputy; and Burt Duncan, MS Bureau of Investigation officer. Two arrests were made from Savannah. The marijuana was packaged in 17 kilos (2 1/2 lbs. each), then bagged in a 30 gallon size plastic trash bag. The marijuana street value was estimated at $15,000 in 1975. According to Sheriff Cutshall, the car the marijuana was in had been under surveillance for some time because of information he had received from a reliable source.

TCHS World Literature Club Visits England

In July, some members of the Tishomingo County High School World Literature Club traveled to England to visit sites throughout the country relating to English literature they studied in the past year.

They visited London, where they were able to visit the Globe Theater and see a theater production, and they even got to see Wicked, the musical. They enjoyed sites like the Tower of London and Tower bridge, and learned all about navigating the "Tube," London's extensive subway network. (Mind the gap!)

They visited Bath, where they toured the Roman baths, and visited Bath abbey and other places that likely inspired author Jane Austen when she lived there with her family.

In the Lake District, they visited the home of Wordsworth, Rydal Mount, and enjoyed a cruise on Lake Windermere.

In tiny Haworth they toured the Bronte Parsonage Museum, in the home where the iconic women authors Charlotte, Emily and Anne Bronte and their family lived their entire lives. The students enjoyed a 5-mile hike on Haworth Moor near Wuthering Heights, near Haworth, and dipped their feet in the beck (creek) at Bronte bridge. They saw many places that inspired the writings of the Bronte sisters and their brother Branwell.

In York, they toured the fascinating York Minster, and were able to wander the ancient streets of that city, including The Shambles, which was the inspiration for Diagon Alley in the Harry Potter films.

In Oxford, they toured the rambling Oxford University, and saw places that likely inspired Louis Carroll to write the Alice in Wonderland stories to entertain the children of the University dean. The excellent guide in Oxford showed them where C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien hung out together during their time there, and the sights they likely saw on a daily basis that inspired them to write great works like Lord of the Rings and the Narnia books. At Bodleian Library at the University, they saw where millions of volumes have been collected throughout the centuries, and some places in Oxford where Harry Potter scenes were filmed. They were able to see treasures like a copy of Shakespeare's First Folio, his collected works first published by friends soon after his death, and a Christmas card hand illustrated by J.R.R. Tolkien himself.

At Stratford-on-Avon, they got a taste of Shakespeare by touring his former home, and the childhood home of his wife, Anne Hathaway. They also visited Trinity Church where Shakespeare is buried, and walked along the Avon river and the streets where the Bard lived his final years.

Huge thanks go to club sponsors Sara White and Chrystal Smith for organizing the trip for the two dozen students and adults! It was a whirlwind trip of a lifetime that really allowed students to relate to the places they read throughout the year, the trip, and give a taste of English
