ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 2018 NO. 36

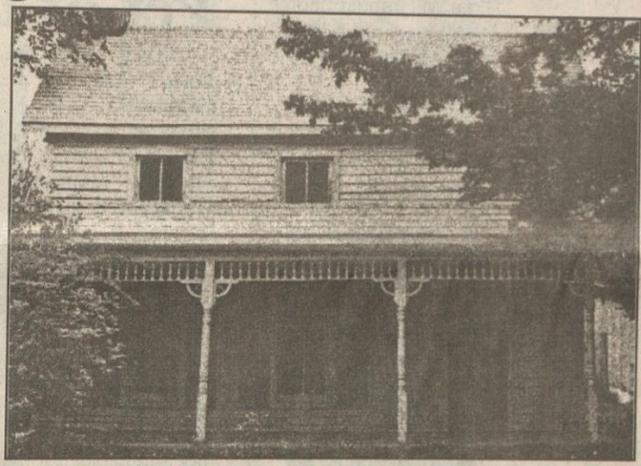

The pre-Civil War structure had been remodeled many times over the years. The old wooden boards had been covered with cedar siding making the outside walls hard to burn.

Historic Stagecoach House Burns

The historical Stagecoach house in Iuka caught fire around 11:15 a.m. Thursday morning on March 22nd. The pre-civil war house standing at the corner of 1st Street and Main Street, was renovated and vacant at the time of the fire. It has been used as a warehouse for many years.

The family living nearest the house was alerted to the fire when their cat started acting strangely, as though it wanted to go outside. When they let the cat out in the early morning hours they noticed the flames and called the authorities.

According to Iuka Fire Chief, Brian R. Grissom, the fire has been ruled as accidental. The power was connected and had been on for a week or so. Several previous renters had reported smelling something on the house. The maintenance people were never able to locate the source because the smell would come and go. There were also reports that rodents had chewed wires in the attic. No indication of an incendiary was found. The firemen went to great efforts to preserve this historic structure. They did make entry multiple times even after I suggested backing out because of safety concerns. Due to the fire and the massive amount of water the upstairs floor was so weak it was like trying to walk on a mattress. I am very impressed that we were able to save as much of the structure as we did and not have any damage to the structures in close proximity. In my opinion the lower floor of the two story portion of the structure is salvageable. That is a choice the owner will have to make." Grissom went on to comment, "I'm thankful to live in a community where people are concerned about our historical landmarks."

The Stagecoach House is one of Iuka's oldest residents.

The history of the home is somewhat obscure. The only information about the house available at the time of press was an excerpt from the "Heritage Day" edition of the Tishomingo County News- Vidette from 1988.

"This home was believed to have been moved from Eastport around 1853. It was the first stop on a stage coach route that ran from Eastport to Tupelo. The first recorded deed at the Iuka Courthouse was in 1868 to a Wood's family. Other prominent citizens living in the house were the Millsaps, Harveys, Ligons, Vinsons, Lintons, and Crawfords."

Former Sheriff Richard Dobbs Dies Unexpectedly

A former Tishomingo County Sheriff, Richard Dobbs died unexpectedly on Sunday, March 25th in Iuka. Funeral services will be held on March 27th at 3 p.m. at Ludlam Funeral Home in Iuka.

Richard Dobbs was visiting his wife at Southern Magnolia Living which he did as a nurse went in to check on Mrs. Dobbs at 6:40 a.m. and Mr. Dobbs unresponsive on the floor. He had arrived earlier to feed Becky her breakfast and died of natural causes.

Dobbs served as sheriff of Tishomingo County from January 1988 until 1992.

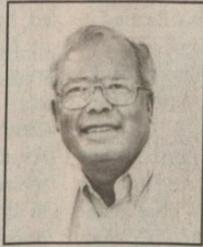

Richard Oryan Dobbs was 72 years old. He was born July 13, 1945. He was an esteemed United States Navy Veteran, previous Tishomingo County Sheriff, and life member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

He was a beloved husband, stepfather, grandfather, uncle, and friend. He was preceded in death by his parents.

He is survived by his wife, Becky Dobbs, his two stepsons, Glenn and Keith Adcock, his granddaughter, Abby Adcock, all of Iuka, two sisters, two brothers, and many nieces and nephews. He was a kind and witty person, a hard worker, and a dedicated and loving husband.

Services will be held at Ludlam Funeral Home in Iuka, Mississippi on Saturday, March 31. Visitation will be from 1-3 p.m. and a funeral service will be directly after, at 3 p.m. You may leave online condolences at WWW.LUDLAMFUNERALHOME.COM feet into a ravine off the side of the road.

Tishomingo County Coroner, Mack Wilemon, stated that it is unclear at this time exactly when the accident occurred but it was reported around 6:55 a.m. Friday morning by a passing driver who noticed the wreck had occurred.

environment that caused the problem in the first place. We offer a safe and healthful environment away from harmful influences. Bridge House started as a ministry of the Bridge of Burnsville with the vision of connecting Kingdom with Community. We have scheduled an open house on Saturday, April 14, 2018, from 11 AM to 1 PM. We are calling it "The Grand Tour of Hope".

Jason emphasized that "we owe a special thanks to Denise Timbes for remodeling the house and allowing us to use this residence for the Bridge House; Jason Wilkins from Farmhouse Flips and Finds in Mount Hope, Alabama, for donating most of the furniture and decor in the house; Gena Black and Linda Downs for being the originators of this vision and the facilitators of day to day care and activities at Bridge House (We could not do without these two champions!); and to every business, individual, and church that has partnered with us to make this vision a reality.

Gina Black, House Manager and Bridge House Board of Directors, emphasized that "we are open to all women regardless of location although our focus is on the immediate region. We are a faith based organization that saw a need and we are putting our faith into it."

Alderman Nie Carpenter and Secretary Board of Directors Bridge House, stated "we receive applications from many sources as drug rehab programs, pastors, law enforcement officials, and others. Applicants must meet certain criteria. Women are tested, must hold a job and must agree to invest 25% of their earnings into a bed fee and 25% into a savings account. The money is theirs to spend as they desire. Women may stay as little as six months or long as one year. When they leave, they can take their savings to help them get started in the community."

Mayor David Nixon reported that "Bridge House meets a critical need, especially for the most vulnerable in our society, to help transition women back into a productive life. We thank the board of directors, volunteers, and donors for making this worthwhile project possible."

Pet of the Week

Congratulations to Lily Bell Hinton! This pretty girl is our Pet Of The Week at Iuka Animal Clinic. Her owners are Jay & Debbie Hinton. This is what they have to say about her- Lily is a 9 month old mixed breed. She was abandoned as a puppy on a roadside. We found her and decided to give her a home. Lily is a very gentle and loving dog. She loves to run and play. Her favorite thing to do is to bark at deer in the fields. We are happy we found a special pet to share life with. Thank you Dr. Perkins and staff at Iuka Animal Clinic for taking care of our Lily Bell.

The Easter Bunny will be here in just a few days! With all the treats and baskets coming our way, we must remember there are some things that pets cant have. Easter grass for baskets can be dangerous. Consumption of artificial grass can cause minor gastrointestinal problems like constipation or vomiting OR major problems like intestinal blockages that may require surgical intervention. So, either place the Easter basket in a safe place or opt for tissue paper fillers. Also watch out for Easter eggs. Real and plastic eggs can be harmful to your pet. Consumption of real eggs can cause an upset stomach when munched upon and can cause a blockage if swallowed whole. And yes, some dogs gulp without chewing! Eggshells aren't readily digested so the effects of eating hard-boiled eggs can cause several days of discomfort. Easter lilies are beautiful this time of year, but beware of animals around them. Cats have a tendency to nibble on the flowers and dogs may gobble them up. These flowers are toxic and may cause GI upset (vomiting and diarrhea) lethargy, and kidney failure. Then, there is the candy that has its own dangers to pets. We all cant wait to eat the ears off our chocolate Easter bunnies enjoy the treat, but dont share it with your cat or dog. Chocolate contains a chemical called theobromine that can cause vomiting, diarrhea, hyperactivity, elevated heart rate and even seizures when consumed by pets. So you can see, avoiding a few things will definitely keep your pet safe this Easter. Dr. Perkins and staff would like to wish everyone a safe and happy Easter holiday. IUKA BAPTIST CHURCH FELLOWSHIP HALL

Food Pantry and Extension Service Sponsor Crock-Pot Cooking Class

The Helpful Samaritan Food Pantry along with the Mississippi State Extension Service, Tishomingo County Office of Extension Service, and the Iuka Baptist Church Fellowship Hall are sponsoring a Crock-Pot Cooking Class to clients of the Food Pantry and the public at large.

The class was held at the Iuka Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. Those attending were able to learn: cooking skills, how to cook with a food budget, food safety, and how to use a crock-pot.

After lunch those attending received a new crock-pot, ingredients for a crock-pot meal, cook books and door prizes.

The Helpful Samaritan Food Pantry would like to thank MSU Extension Service: Diane Ham and Emily Cox for presenting the program. Iuka Baptist Church for the use of the Fellowship Hall and Kitchen. Don Hopewell for setting up the sound system. Tyler Newsom, Youth & Children Pastor and Brian Jones, Associate Pastor for setting up the computer. Jackie Walker, Kathy Robinson, & Delta Datsis for preparing lunch. And of course, Sandra McBride for answering all those questions.

Most of all we would like to thank the many donors to the pantry who have made it possible for more than 400 families to visit "The Pantry" more than 1300 times this past year but to also be able to offer classes like the Crock-pot cooking class for our clients and citizens.

Losses significant during training...Some crashed in Tishomingo County Courtland Air Field Prepared Pilots for World War II Service

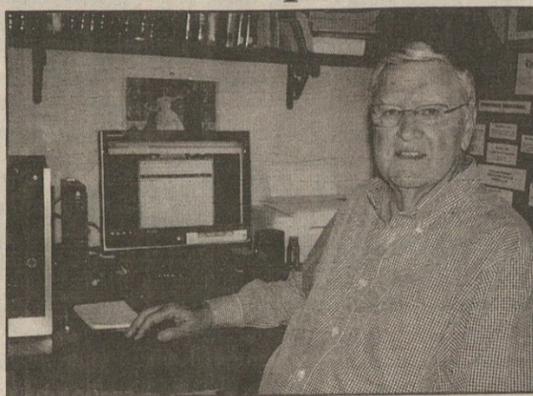

Article appeared in the East Lauderdale News, written by Jim Cox.

Courtland Air Field prepared pilots for World War II service, America entered World War II when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. Following the onset of U.S. Armed Forces involvement, the Army Air Corps initiated an ambitious pilot training program. During its most active period, this program trained over 100,000 pilots per year. In excess of 450 airfields were constructed or improved throughout the United States. North Alabama was considered a desirable location for a large training base because it possessed a climate that permitted year-round flight instruction and minimal congestion of airways. In April 1942, the Courtland site was officially selected through a board headed by Colonel Aubrey Hornsby and Lt. Col. Joseph Duckworth. Several months later, the base runways, roads and most building were constructed on 2,200 acres of land acquired from the Bynum and Shackelford estates. Courtland Army Air Field (CAAF) was activated on December 14, 1942, under the command of the Southeast Air Corps Training Center. The first class of cadets arrived on December 14, 1943. Courtland Army Air Field began service as a basic flight school. At fields all over the U.S., training for over 100,000 pilots per year was planned. That is why over 450 facilities were constructed or improved. Cadet pilots attended four schools... preflight, primary, basic and advanced. The basic flight school at Courtland included ground school classroom and flight instruction. Both day and night trainings were conducted seven days per week. Up to 700 cadets and 240 airplanes were posted at Courtland.

The primary basic flight school training aircraft was the single engine BT-13A Valiant. Eventually, the basic training flight school at Courtland was replaced by a four-engine specialized school. It opened in September 1944.

He has also been a long-time collector of Coca-Cola memorabilia. Abe and his wife, Gayle, reside on a Killen postal route in the Center Star community. They are blessed with a son, daughter and two grandchildren. Abe was born and raised in the New Salem community of northern Mississippi. When he was approximately three years old, an airplane crashed near Abe's home. The aircraft was piloted by a young cadet being trained at the Courtland Army Air Field in Lawrence County, AL. The plane went down on the night of December 2, 1943, killing the pilot, Durwood F. Bund, a recent enlistee from Wisconsin. Tragically, this accident was one of eight crashes that night involving student pilots/planes from the Courtland Army Air Field. Abe has recently spent time contacting many people and agencies in person, over the phone and via email to research this topic. He has also found lots of information about these incidents using the Internet. He said that official declassified military records are readily available. Abe even received copies of U.S. War Department documents related to the losses of December 1943. He obtained the documents from Aviation Archeological Investigation Research, Phoenix, AZ. Abe South is shown at his home with his computer, which has proved to be a valuable resource in searching for information and contacting fellow researchers.

pi and south-central Tennessee often witnessed the aircrafts from Courtland on routine training flights. Unfortunately, numerous aircraft and pilots from Courtland were lost during the training process.

Recollections From December 1943

Anyone who serves in the U.S. Armed Forces deserves praise and recognition. No matter the length of honorable service, all contribute to the nation's well being and freedom. Those killed during training may justly be called heroes because they gave the ultimate sacrifice for their country, just as if they had been in battle. Tragedy struck Courtland Air Base on December 1-2 when eight pilots were killed during night flight training. Crash sites were in Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. The assigned route was to fly solo from Courtland, AL, to Corinth, MS, then on to Graham, TN, and finally returning to Courtland. One of the planes, a BT-13A, was flown by aviation cadet Durward F. Bund, of Wisconsin. He was assigned to the 899th Basic Flying Training Squadron. The mission was night navigational training. According to a U.S. Army Air Forces report of aircraft accidents prepared for the U.S. War Department, the incident occurred on "2 December 1943." The only occupant of a BT13A on such training missions was the pilot. Weather conditions were favorable for flying. Visibility was good. Everything seemed routine. Yet, in separate incidents, eight pilots from Courtland Army Air Field were killed that night. Abe South, 76, of the Center Star community on a Killen postal route was born and raised in the New Salem community northeast of Iuka, MS. Even though he was only about three years old, Abe says he remembers everything about the night of the crash.

Bund's plane went down in a wooded area behind the nearby McBride family home. It was in a drainage ditch surrounded by trees and was well hidden. As soon as possible, authorities were notified. Searching began, but with all the other losses that night to contend with, the grim task was extra difficult. Most of the other planes' wreckage was rather quickly found and bodies were removed. However, Bund's plane was not found until December 22. It had been listed as "missing." Abe recalls lots of activity in his community over the next several days following the December 2 incident. Many local folks joined in the search. Ladies made coffee and sandwiches for the volunteers and military investigators. Abe said Effie McBride and her daughter, Rayde, were looking for a Christmas tree on December 22 in the scope of woods near their home when they found Bund and his demolished aircraft. It was a traumatic scene. The plane had been missing for 20 days. Equipment was brought in to respectfully remove the body and then retrieve every piece of the plane. A major inquiry began immediately. On December 18, 1943, the War Department Headquarters of the Army Air Force in Washington, DC, issued a memorandum stating, in part: "A directive has been issued by Headquarters Flying Training Command, that students in basic flying schools shall not be permitted to participate in night navigation missions until they have completed 10 hours of instrument flying and that the aircraft used in night navigation missions shall be equipped with full panel instruments." Apparently, the amount of night navigation training was previously insufficient. Three officers at Courtland Army Air Field... the commanding officer, the director of training and the director of flying...were relieved of duty.

Abe South left Mississippi for Alabama when he got a job at Reynolds Metals Reduction Plant. He was employed at Reynolds from June 1963 until the company ceased operations in 1987. Afterwards, Abe worked 16 years at the Chrysler automotive plant in Huntsville. Abe South retired in 2004. Since then he has pursued his hobbies of local history research, collecting Coca-Cola memorabilia, growing tomatoes, traveling to Civil War sites, and supporting his children and grandchildren in all their activities. Abe has a co-worker friend from Reynolds, Johnny Hester.

Mr. Hester began work at Reynolds when the plant first opened just before America entered World War II. The facility produced pure aluminum from ore. It was deemed vital to the nation's defense. Reynolds then started producing aluminum 100 percent for the U.S. war effort. Airplane bodies and numerous parts needed light-weight aluminum. Of course, there were many other military uses for aluminum.

Hester told Abe South that a contingent of U.S. Army soldiers were housed in one of the buildings at Reynolds and took turns as guards on patrol 24 hours a day. All wreckage from aircraft assigned to Courtland Air Base was taken to the Reynolds plant for recycling. The aluminum quickly melted in the pot room and would contribute a portion of the plant's output. So, in the time, the crashed plane would see action again in the form of products that would be used for making body panels, wings, etc.

When Abe was Reynolds, he noticed chairs in the employee break room resembling seats from an aircraft. These were made from scraps, not recycled.

Many people today are perhaps unaware of what being on the home front during times of war is like. Victory gardens were planted, people took part in drives to sell war bonds, scrap metal was collected, Civil Air Patrol volunteers scanned the sky looking for enemy planes and much more. Employment in defense plants was vital in the production of much-needed goods.

A few days ago, Abe went back to Iuka when he met with Lloyd McBride. It was his mother (Effie McBride) and sister (Effie's daughter, Rayde) who found the wreckage of Bund's plane. Lloyd took Abe to the crash site's piece of history. Abe is the son of the late Elmer and Ruby South.

(Editor's Note: My mother remembered the crash of one of these airplanes in the Redmond Field in the Snowdown Community.)

WORLD WAR II PLANE CRASH SITE - Lloyd McBride, son of Effie McBride, is shown in the New Salem community near Iuka, MS, in a wooded area behind where the McBride family lived during the Great Depression of the 1930s and World War II (1941-1945). On December 2, 1943, a night navigation training mission was held for pilot cadets based at Courtland Army Air Field. They were each to fly their aircraft (BT-13) from Courtland, AL, to Corinth, MS, and then on to Graham, TN. From Graham, the planes were supposed to return to Courtland. At least eight crashed that fateful night. One of them was a plane piloted by Durward F. Bund, a recent enlistee from Wisconsin. His plane went down in a drainage ditch surrounded by trees. The wreckage wasn't found until December 22 when Effie and her daughter, Rayde, went into the woods behind their home in search of a Christmas tree. They found the plane.

Ben South Named State Male Outstanding Choral Student in Alabama

Ben South, a senior at Muscle Shoals High School (MSHS), was recently selected as the State Male Outstanding Choral Student (OCS) by the Alabama Vocal Association earlier this month at their annual choral festival at Samford University in Birmingham. As part of the festivities, he also performed in the All-State Chorus (SATB).

Outstanding Choral Student auditions are held annually in each district to select a male and a female winner who then competes at the state level to be selected as Outstanding Male or Outstanding Female Choral Student. All candidates prepare a resume, perform a vocal solo, and be interviewed after performing at both levels. All district and state OCS winners are honored at the All-State Concert and receive scholarships.

To be eligible to audition for Outstanding Choral Student a student must be a junior or senior and have the character and record of choral participation to represent the district as an outstanding example of the model choral student. Ben is the son of Michael and Selena South of Muscle Shoals, grandson of Abe & Gayle South of Center Star and R.L. & Peggy Risner of Muscle Shoals.

Ensemble. He serves as the director and founder of the MSHS Men's Vocal Jazz Ensemble, president of the MSHS Choral Program, and as a guest conductor and member for the Shoals Chamber Singers, a local community choir. He has had leading roles in his school's productions of Hairspray, Grease, and Les Miserables. He will play the character Captain von Trapp in Muscle Shoals High School's spring production of The Sound of Music on April 12-14. He has been blessed with fantastic choral directors and music teachers who love music and have helped him develop his vocal and musical knowledge and skills. He also uses his ability to lead singing at Highland Park Church of Christ. Ben's younger brother, Sam who is in the 9th grade, is also in the chorus.

Ben participates in his high school choir, show choir, Vocal Jazz Ensemble, and Men's Vocal Jazz

Legislative Report

By Bubba Carpenter
Week of March 19, 2018

At this point in the session, a majority of bills have either been sent to the governor to be signed into law or are being discussed in conference.

Conference on a bill occurs when further discussion is needed by members of both the House and Senate to reach the best solution. A conference consists of three representatives and three senators who work together to finalize a bill.

Once a bill is out of conference, it must go to both the House and Senate for a vote before being sent to the governor.

Along with the conferences that were held, the House did meet as a whole to discuss and pass local and private bills, and honor special guests in the chamber.

Some discussion occurred with the introduction of House Concurrent Resolution 56, which calls for the state to submit an application to request a convention of states under Article V of the U.S. Constitution. In order for this to happen, 34 states must submit an application. Proponents of the bill say this would allow for a few helpful amendments to be made to the constitution. Several members opposed the resolution saying that a meeting to amend the constitution would open the doors for more changes than would be helpful or necessary.

The Battle Of Armageddon

Perhaps no battle mentioned in the Bible has been the subject of more conversation and conjecture than the battle of Armageddon. It is interesting that we just finished with the Marriage of Christ and the church, and now we are into a "negative subject" that speaks about death and destruction. It may come as a surprise to some people, but those who study the whole Bible will not be surprised, to learn that Scripture probably says much more negative stuff than positive! I just finished reading through several prophetic books of the Bible, as I do on a regular basis, and I noticed in this reading that the prophets had much to say about God's judgment against sin. I wonder why modern preachers and

Pastor's Tidbits

by J. Briggs King, Evangelist, Rainsville, Alabama (678) 451-0921

those who think they are prophets do not major on these themes, since the world today is at least as sinful as the world of the prophets' times. I would much rather write, preach and teach about heaven, but the sad note is that most people will not be in heaven, thus the need of our day, and any day, is to warn the unsaved, as well as to console believers when needed, that the world is headed for judgment. In our present chapter of Revelation, one form of God's judgment is the battle of Armageddon in Revelation. Revelation 19:11-13 says, "And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and He that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns; and He had a name written that no man knew, but He Himself. And He was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and His name is called The Word of God."

John the apostle, who wrote the Book of Revelation, is seeing a vision, and in this vision he sees one sitting upon a white horse. The context here shows clearly that this is Jesus, who once rode into Jerusalem on a donkey, but is here coming back to earth on a white horse. The horse was an animal used in battle; whereas the donkey on which Jesus rode into Jerusalem almost two thousand years ago was an animal symbolizing peace. The Lord Jesus is not coming at this point in time to call for repentance or to heal the sick; He is coming to judge and make war. He is called Faithful and True, because the judgment He is about to execute is in accordance with the plan and will of God. He will make war in righteousness, whereas most wars started by men are not "righteous wars". Those who think that God is all about love, forgiveness, acceptance etc. need to pay close attention to our passage. Yes, God is a God of all of the things I mention here, but there will be a time when it is too late for any of these, at least for those who have followed their own ways and rejected God and His way!

The eyes of the Lord Jesus, at this point in time, will not be filled with compassion on the unsaved, rather they will be like a flame of fire, symbolizing judgment. (Have you noticed that the "all positive preachers" never cover subjects like the one before us?) There are many crowns on the head of the Lord Jesus when He comes back to whip the battle of Armageddon. Some of these crowns will evidently be those that are laid at the feet of Jesus the saved who have won them in this life (Revelation 4:10). The name Jesus has here is one that only He knows, perhaps because it is a special name given to Him for this particular battle, but this is conjecture, for no one really knows this name or why it is given, except God. The clothing of Jesus is "dipped in blood" showing that the battle He is about to whip will be a battle of human blood shed. Revelation 14:14-20 gives us a preview of the battle of Armageddon and Revelation 16:16 gives us the name "Armageddon" for this battle.

Resolution of the Tishomingo Board of Supervisors
 This matter on to be heard on the petition of Joseph Bostick, Member of Bostick Properties, LLC, James Nathan Bostick, Ryan Bostick, Members of Fertile Soils of MS, LLC for abandonment and closing of a certain portion of County Road 82 to Section 65-7-121 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended, and the Board finds the motion is well sustained. fore, the Board does find that there shall be a public hearing on the question of whether or not to abandon said section of County Road 82 and that notice of said public hearing shall be published in the county paper for at least two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing.

Resolution of the Tishomingo County, Mississippi Board of Supervisors

Call this matter on to be heard on the petition of Timberland Investment Resources, LLC for the abandonment and closing of a certain portion of County Road 232 pursuant to Section 65-7-121 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as annotated and amended, and the Board finds the motion is well taken and is hereby sustained. Therefore, the Board does hereby find, order and resolves as follows:

That the Petitioner, Timberland Investment Resources, LLC is the property owner of 3rd District of Tishomingo County, Mississippi and has presented a petition to close a portion of County Road 232 and the Board having considered said petition finds that the land serviced by the portion of County Road 232 is wholly owned by the Petitioner and does not provide primary access to occupied properties; and

The Board further finds and resolves that the traffic on said section of road has been intermittent and of such low volume for a period of the last ten years that no substantial public purpose is being served by the section of road remaining a public road; and

The Board further finds and resolves that for a period of at least the previous five years that County has not maintained such section of County Road 232 as part of the county road system; therefore

The Board does finds that there shall be a public hearing on the question of whether or not to abandon said section of County Road 232 and that notice of said public hearing shall be published in the county paper for at least two consecutive weeks prior to said hearing; and

The Board does hereby set the public hearing to determine this issue for the 2nd day of April, 2018 at the Tishomingo County Courthouse at the Boardroom of the Chancery Clerk's office at 1008 Battleground Drive, Iuka, Mississippi at 10:00 a.m. or as soon thereafter as may be heard.

istry. Each month we help individuals and families across Tishomingo County. We thank you for your continued support.

This is a great opportunity to return boxes if you haven't already done so. Every box that is returned each month means more funds for food instead of having to replace our box supply. A box may not seem like much but when you have to purchase 50 or 60 at a time, adds up. Please remember to return your boxes each month.

Hope to see you on April 7th, be sure to bring your appetite.

Local Guardsmen Leave from Iuka and Surrounding Cities for Deployment to Middle East

This past weekend our soldiers left the Iuka Armory and headed out for the first phase of their deployment. Families gathered to say their good byes as their husbands, fathers, brothers, and sons left in buses headed for Jackson, Mississippi to their destination for three month training in Fort Bliss, Texas before heading to the Middle East.

Members of C-Troop 1-98 CAV REG Iuka wait with family and friends early Saturday morning for the bus that will take them to Fulton to meet up with other guardsmen and travel on to Fort Bliss, Texas.

Leaving out of Prentiss County 1-98 CAV B-TROOP F.R.G.

Mary Osborn of Burnsville, MS snapped a picture of her nephew Sergeant Issac Jordan Vuncannon as he boarded the bus early Saturday morning in Booneville heading for deployment with the Mississippi National Guard.

Soldiers from Tishomingo County were included in the groups which left out of Iuka, Booneville, Fulton and Corinth. Vuncannon along with several others from Tishomingo County were of the 1-98th Cavalry that left at 3 am from Booneville, MS Saturday heading to Jackson, MS to board a plane to Fort Bliss, Texas for few weeks then on to the Middle East for few months.

Sgt. Vuncannon was surrounded by his family as he left for duty. He and his wife Katelynn have two children and he is the son of the late Lisa Vuncannon.

Sending him much love are special family Jessica and Josh Clingan of Iuka, and Aunt Mary Osborn.
